Dr. R. F. Ray Sketches How SUI Can Remain First Rate

by ERIC ZOCHLER

Editor's Note: Dr. R. F. Ray is a man who holds a key job in TVT, the University's major fundraising organization. He has been with the university for three years and has seen it grow from a small fledging organization to one of the largest in the country. Dr. Ray will be addressing the SUI student body at the first campus-wide meeting on Wednesday, November 1st.

The following is an interview with Dr. R. F. Ray conducted by the Editor of this publication.

I. The Environment

Dr. Ray says that the University of Iowa is in a unique position to attract and retain high-quality students. He believes that the University of Iowa has a strong tradition of excellence and a commitment to academic freedom. He also believes that the University of Iowa has a strong sense of community and a commitment to student development.

II. The Organization

Dr. Ray says that the University of Iowa has a strong tradition of excellence and a commitment to academic freedom. He also believes that the University of Iowa has a strong sense of community and a commitment to student development.

III. The Challenges

Dr. Ray says that the University of Iowa faces many challenges, including the need to maintain high-quality instruction, to attract and retain high-quality students, and to support the research and creative activity of its faculty.

IV. The Opportunities

Dr. Ray says that the University of Iowa has many opportunities for growth and development. He believes that the University of Iowa has a strong tradition of excellence and a commitment to academic freedom. He also believes that the University of Iowa has a strong sense of community and a commitment to student development.

Eddie Ray is the University's director of development. He is responsible for raising funds for the University's programs and facilities.

Faubus Says

Guard Pilots Invaded Cuba

Claims Recruitment

Was Made Secretly. Others Deny Charge

by LUCAS B. JERVIS

Governor Faubus charged in Little Rock Tuesday night that the federal government had used "drug-infused" recruitment officers to entice young men to join the armed forces.

"In one instance, a 19-year-old high school student was paid $500 by a representative of the United States armed forces to join the army," Faubus said in his weekly telecast. "I think it is immoral and unethical to use such tactics to recruit young men into the armed forces."

Faubus also charged that the government was using "false promises" to lure young men into the military.

Manager's Note

The University of Iowa is one of the largest universities in the United States, with a student body of over 30,000. It is located in Iowa City, Iowa, and is home to the University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics.

Hancher Proposes Budget Amendment

by DOUG CARLSON

Hancher, the University's budget chief, has proposed a $500,000 budget amendment for the fiscal year 1975-76. The proposal includes a $250,000 increase in the budget for the University's research and development programs, and a $250,000 increase in the budget for the University's educational programs.

The proposal also includes a $50,000 increase in the budget for the University's athletic programs, and a $100,000 increase in the budget for the University's student activities programs.

The proposal will be considered by the University's Board of Regents at its meeting on Wednesday, November 1st.

The Weather

The weather is expected to be sunny and warm throughout the week. There will be a slight chance of rain on Friday.

CSL To Consider Changes

in SUI Housing Regulations

by DEAN MILLS

Students of sophomore standing in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences have until January 1, 1975, to decide whether they want to live in a residence hall or in a single room. Those who want to live in a residence hall must apply for a room by December 15, 1974.

The CSL will hold a hearing on Tuesday, November 1st, to consider the changes in SUI housing regulations.

Scholarly said that the CSL would be happy to accept the recommendations of the faculty and the students.

The CSL is made up of faculty members and students who are elected by the faculty and the students, respectively.

The meeting will be held in the CSL office on the second floor of the University of Iowa Administration Building. The meeting will begin at 2:00 p.m. and will be open to the public.

In One Ear

BY AMBROSE HOYT

Although the newsreels have been working to devise in their stories of the cameramen who are making the film, the air is thick with exultation over the famous bicyclist of the moment. Whether or not the latter was on the track, the exultation was evident. A crowd of bicyclists gathered to watch the film. With the exultation came a sense of participation in the excitement. Even the uninvited came to watch the film. No one in any way associated with the bicyclists was disappointed by the exultation.

People who are not particularly interested in bicyclists have always come under the influence of the bicycle as a powerful item. It is nice to see that the bicycle as a result of the exultation has been raised to a higher plane. People have already come under the influence of the exultation as a result of the film. This is what the Student of the Student Council is reporting as a matter of concern for the Editorial Committee.

Chapter 17, Regulation of the Rhythm of Life

This might more appropriately be titled "The Art of the Rhythm of Life," or, better, as it appears to be, "The Rhythm of Life." The book is in short order. As will be noted, the book is in three parts: the first, "The Rhythm of Life," and the second, "The Rhythm of Life." These are the parts that are most necessary.

The students of the Student Council are grateful that they should be abolished - or at least that the provision seems to be more tenable.

The provision is that no one else can be admitted to the Student Council, and this provision is being enforced with the utmost severity. The students are grateful that they should be abolished - or at least that the provision seems to be more tenable.
