A pledge to inform the state of Iowa of increased academic awareness of SUI students and a proposal for a "comprehensive reorganization" of the Student Senate executive structure were the primary planks presented Wednesday by candidates for leadership of the student body.

campaign platform as follows:
New Ideas:
1. Inform the people of Iowa of the increased academic awareness of the students at the State University of Iowa, eliminating outmoded opinions that may exist.
a.) Make SUI students available to speak throughout the state.
b.) Continue the work of the Legislative Action Committee.
c.) Strengthen the relations between the SUI Alumni Association and the student body.

following campaign platform:
1. A comprehensive reorganization of the Student Senate executive structure;
2. Cooperation with other campus organizations through both formal and informal methods including an All-University Student Government Conference each fall;
3. A much expanded emphasis on Project AID with a minimal goal of doubling the Project AID fund;
4. Re-establishment of a Student Faculty Forum and the establishment of a Student Senate lecture series, bringing to campus men of national or international fame and excellence;
5. Extension of non-discriminatory pledge cards to all approved householders and homeowners who use the unapproved housing list in the Office of Student Affairs and coordination with the President's Committee on Human Rights in the area of discrimination:

6. Sponsoring an annual Conference on International Affairs similar to the conferences held by other major universities around the country;
7. Initiating an annual Spring Festival with departmental displays, cultural exhibits, entertainment and social activities — this to be a three-day festival each spring;
8. Begin an International Student Exchange Program with an interested foreign university;
9. A major effort through People-to-People program to further foreign student relations on this campus;
10. The addition of student seats to university committees, many of which presently have only administration or faculty personnel.

Before the final vote, the House rejected a last-gasp attempt by the Republican economy bloc to slash most items in the measure by about 5 per cent. This was turned down 258 to 149.

U.S. Denies Shooting Red Fishing Ship
Soviets Claim Affair Took Place Friday Off Virginia Coast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States flatly denied Wednesday night that any U.S. naval vessel fired on a Soviet fishing ship last Friday 70 miles east of Norfolk, Va., as Moscow charged earlier Wednesday.

A statement issued by the State Department after a day-long investigation said there was no firing within the area east of Norfolk but that the nearest surface ship was 12 miles away.

The statement replied to a Moscow protest charging that three U.S. warships fired dummy shells at a Soviet trawler. The protest denounced the firing as "an act of sheer wantonness which could have grave consequences."

The U.S. statement said: "A thorough investigation has positively established that the Soviet protest of an alleged firing of a U.S. naval vessel on a Soviet trawler 70 miles east of Norfolk on March 8 is without foundation."

The statement did not identify the surface ship which it described as having been in the general area and a state department spokesman said he did not know whether it was a Soviet vessel.

But the statement asserted that anti-aircraft ammunition being used by the nearest destroyer had a maximum range of seven miles, which it said was five miles short of the distance to the surface ship.

Slump Warned By Kennedy
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy said Wednesday the U.S. economy could slump if Congress comes up with the "wrong answers" to three of his key proposals — a tax cut, a record high budget and an increase in the debt ceiling.

Speaking to a meeting of the Advertising Council, Kennedy said that "an unrealistic debt ceiling or budget cut today" would trigger a slowdown in defense contracts, a stretch-out in Government payments, a cash drain on business "and ultimately another recession."

He said recent history "clearly warns us . . . that the wrong answer to each of these three questions would spell downturn for the American economy as a whole."

Kennedy recalled that there were two recessions from 1957 through 1960 and said "the errors of a Republican Administration and a Democratic Congress during those critical years have been . . . acknowledged by members of both parties."

He cited the 1957 decision "to keep the debt limit unrealistically low, to cut back and stretch out budget expenditures, to tighten monetary policy and to reject all efforts at tax reduction."

"The harsh realities of those decisions are still with us," the President said.

"Well it so happens back on campus my term in the Student Senate was considered qualification in itself!"

Blarney Stone Is Found At Deserted Adler School

A senior engineering student picked up a bundle of cloths out of a dusty box at the deserted Adler school and ended the four-day search for the Blarney Stone.

Harry Marker, E4, Lewis, one of nearly 40 engineering students searching the Adler school grounds, located six miles north of Iowa City on old highway 218, uncovered the famed stone at 8:10 Wednesday night.

The engineering students were led to the Adler school by a clue found at the South Anama cemetery. The clue was: "Many a lad has obtained his education in a wooden school, but few have risen to a princely rank."

According to the chairman of the drive, John Thompson, E4, Haverdorn, "the main clue was in the words 'wooden' and 'princely.' The engineering students found 'Adler' in the dictionary. It means both 'wood' and 'prince.'"

William Ashton, G, Davenport, the student who hid the "Blarney Stone," said, "The undergraduate engineers have worked steadily since Sunday to find the stone, and they have done an excellent job. Every clue which the graduate students planted for them, they solved without seeking help from the grads."

Personality Profile— Prof's Knowledge Aids Peace Corps

By ERIC ZOEGLER
News Editor

Gerald S. Maryanov was born and reared in the bustling environment of New York City, but has chosen to dedicate his life primarily to the study of primitive, slowly-changing Indonesia.

And at the present time, this interest places the SUI assistant professor of political science in the position of director of area studies for the Peace Corps Indonesian training program at SUI.

His goal with the 25 Peace Corpsmen here is to "play up the flavor and appreciation of Indonesian life in hopes of easing the process of adaptation."

The Peace Corps volunteer may be a little surprised at what he will see in one of the seven areas of Indonesia he will visit upon completing his training here, Maryanov says.

"THEY'LL SEE THINGS that are strange and exotic — a jumble of color, sounds and even smells that will be different," observes Maryanov, a man who has spent three years in the South Pacific islands and studying about them for the past 10 years.

What are the Indonesians' biggest need?
"It's the need to be left alone."
"They've got to have the chance to find themselves," Maryanov feels. "The pressure of constant advice, the pressing of their own problems and rapid solutions prevents them from working out a destiny of their own."

Maryanov cautions that Americans should be careful when regarding the Indonesians as primitive.

"THERE IS A CHANGE going on in Indonesia. But we have nurtured the notion that everyone wants to become like us."

"What we don't realize is that these people in our own way consider themselves modern and their leaders sophisticated and would rather not be pushed into something different," the 35-year-old professor argues.

If the Indonesians don't want to be pushed, what's the purpose of sending Peace Corpsmen there?
"They say they need help to fill shortages in manpower," Maryanov says. "Where the Peace Corps can be of help is to provide this manpower to work directly with and in the same positions as the Indonesians as a stopgap measure until they have their own people trained to fill in."

Maryanov, a graduate of Columbia University and a Ph.D. recipient from Indiana University, says the Peace Corps collectively "has been an amazing success for two reasons:

FIRST THE OUTSTANDING quality of volunteers in the sense of responsibility and secondly due to the fact that for the first time Americans are trying to live up to the American dream — we're not just talking, but doing."

After graduating from Columbia, he spent 1953-55 working there on an English teaching project. He studied Indonesian history in The Netherlands in 1955-56.

After working on a Cornell University Modern Indonesian Project in 1957, Maryanov returned to the area for another year.

Following graduate work — including a dissertation on regional government of Indonesia — he taught at the University of Illinois for one year before arriving here in 1960.

Red Chinese Leader Cites Shaking Unity

Red Chinese Frown On Mr. K's Peaceful Co-existence Plan

MOSCOW (UPI) — Chinese Communist Party Leader Mao Tze-Tung has invited Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev to Peking to try to settle the ideological rift the Russians say is "shaking the unity" of the Communist world, it was disclosed Wednesday night.

Diplomatic observers in Moscow said publication of the invitation indicated the Soviet leader was giving it serious consideration. No date was set for the visit in the Sino-Soviet exchange of letters of greeting to settle differences.

The Chinese urged Khrushchev to stop off in Peking on his forthcoming visit to Cambodia. Khrushchev has signified acceptance of an invitation to visit Cambodia during a tour of North Viet Nam and Burma, but again no date was set.

The Sino-Soviet differences center around their interpretation of Marxism-Leninism. Khrushchev has espoused a policy of "peaceful co-existence." The Chinese believe this is heresy and insist on a much harder and warlike line.

The rift reached its peak in recent weeks when Peking broadcast a 100,000 word defense of its own position and attacked Khrushchev as cowardly for backing down during the Cuban crisis and removing Soviet missiles in the face of U.S. determination. Wednesday Peking offered to end such attacks.

The Soviet Communist Party, in a letter made public by the Chinese Communists, admitted openly that the differences were "shaking the unity of the fraternal parties and seriously damaging our common interests."

"All those who treasure the great cause of peace and socialism cannot but be seriously concerned about the state of affairs which has recently arisen in the Communist movement," the Soviet letter said.

Moscow said the "enemies of socialism" were using the rift to strengthen their own position and that the imperialists "are unable to vanquish the united socialist family by means of war, therefore they put their main stakes on disrupting our unity . . ."

Washington Sees Huge Propaganda Battle
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Red China's invitation to visit Premier Nikita Khrushchev to visit Peking for peace talks looks very much like an effort to put Russia on the defensive in the continuing ideological battle in the Communist camp.

That was the immediate reaction of authorities on Sino-Soviet affairs here. They expressed considerable doubt that the Soviet leader would accept an invitation to such a meeting, which would be likely to turn into a free-for-all propaganda match.

It was considered more likely that Khrushchev would accept one of the alternative Chinese suggestions — that a Chinese Communist delegation visit Moscow for bilateral talks to try to mend the rift.

Auden Tells SUIowans— Poet's Work Isn't His Own

"What a poet writes does not belong to the poet himself but to all of mankind," W. H. Auden told a capacity crowd in the Union Wednesday night.

The 56-year-old poet, playwright and critic said that the poet often wonders if his writing is authentic. Not only is he concerned about repeating others, but "It is difficult for him not to repeat himself."

Auden, English-born but an American citizen since 1939, leaned on the lectern and spoke in a conversational tone.

In discussing "The Poet and His Poems," Auden defined the poet's place as a member of the human race and discussed what a poem should do. He illustrated many of his points by reading selections from his own poetry.

One significant distinction made by the lecturer, who arrived here Wednesday following an appearance at Iowa State University, was between a work of art and a work of craft. The work of art, he pointed out, follows a pre-determined plan. "You can't tell what a work of art will be until it is finished," he explained. "A work of art should arouse the imagination."

Auden aligned himself with the "New Critics" in stating that the private life of the poet has nothing to do with what his poem says. "The work stands alone," he emphasized. A poem — for both poet and reader — said Auden, must be a thing of beauty and show insight into life. "We expect it to look into reality, for the true and the significant."

This appearance by Auden was the fourth program in the SUI lecture series of 1962-63.

The poet will speak to two classes in the SUI English Department today — Contemporary Critical Theory at 1:30 p.m. in Room 122, Schaeffer Hall and the Writers Workshop at 3:30 p.m. in Union Temporary A.

He will leave Iowa City Friday morning.

RED CHINA PROTESTS
TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China has protested against repeated "intrusions" by Indian troops into Red-held Tibet and warned of the dangers of renewed border tensions, the Communist New China news agency said Wednesday.

French Official Set To Honor SUI's Aspel

French Consul-General Jean Beliard will discuss "The Present Crisis of European Alliance" and present the Legion of Honor medal — one of France's highest awards — to an SUI professor during a visit to the campus Monday and Tuesday.

Beliard will speak at 8 p.m. Monday in the House Chamber of Old Capitol and will award the medal to Prof. Alexandre Aspel of the SUI Department of Romance Languages at a luncheon Tuesday in the Old Gold Room of the Union.

Consul-General of France since 1958, Beliard was official interpreter for French President Charles de Gaulle during his state visit to the United States in 1961.

Before assuming his present position in Chicago, Beliard was deputy director of the press and information services at the French Foreign Ministry in Paris and was a delegate to the United Nations Security Council. He is a graduate of the Institute of Political Science at the University of Paris.

During World War II, Beliard served as intelligence agent in England, spent two years in a German prison, escaped and finished the war as intelligence officer in the U.S. 7th Army.

The award to Prof. Aspel "Chevalier de la Legion d'honneur" — is being given for his contribution to the spread of French culture in other nations. Only a few Frenchmen and citizens of other countries are selected for the honor each year.

Prof. Aspel has had 11 books on French literature published, and has also contributed to many world literary histories published in France. He has taught at the Universities of Paris and Besancon, in the School of Political Science in Paris and has lectured widely in this country on French culture and literature.

Prof. Aspel became a U.S. citizen in 1952. In 1962 he was chairman of the section of "Romanticism of the Modern Language Association of America. He now teaches 19th and 20th Century French literature and seminars in French stylistics at SUI.

British Lawyer Proposes Plan for World Peace

By Staff Writers

A plan for world peace that centers around national disarmament of major world powers was proposed by British barrister James Avery Joyce Wednesday night.

Joyce developed his plan for peace in his speech "Is Disarmament Possible?" before a small audience at Wesley House. Earlier Wednesday Joyce spoke to the Iowa City Lion's club and at an informal coffee hour at Wesley House.

All that is coming from the United States at the Geneva disarmament conference is the clamor for a reduction of arms. But does the United States have a plan for national disarmament? Joyce asked. "This is the question."

What should be behind disarmament in United States policy, he feels, is a long range plan to shift from the development of military arms to the development of peace goods. "This cannot be done overnight," Joyce said. "But if the people of the United States have the benefits of disarmament presented to them effectively then they will have the incentive to disarm."

Joyce cited the major benefit of a disarmament policy as a step toward a new kind of international statesmanship that gets at the problem of achieving peace.

He indicated that the Russians charge the West as being the aggressors in the cold war because their economies depend upon the production of military arms.

"Peace, however, cannot be achieved unless we have a strong plan for disarmament which is really armament in reverse," Joyce continued.

"Peace — the rebuilding of the world — is not negative; it is a positive way of life."

"Today we must live together in one world, or we won't live at all." Hence, Joyce concluded, when we talk of peace, we must speak of it as a plan that can lift our lives to a new level of constructive statesmanship. "This is the challenge for the United States."

Street Loop Plan Aired

Iowa City's street congestion problem was discussed Wednesday by Public Works Director Lane H. Mashaw in a speech before the Optimists Club.

Mashaw said Iowa City must have a workable street construction program before the Federal Government will consider urban renewal.

He illustrated a plan to construct two loops which would bring about a smoother flow of traffic. The inside loop circling the downtown area would be most important, he advised, since motorists waste about half an hour going to and from work each day.

The other loop would channel highway traffic around the city and would play an important part in connection with the soon to be completed Interstate 80.

Mashaw also discussed the possibility of another bridge across the river to combat the daily bumper-to-bumper tie-up on the two existing bridges. "The big question is where to build the bridge," he said.

Young GOP Parley Set This Weekend

Free Show Set for Saturday— Workshop To Give Haydn Opera Here

The SUI Opera Workshop will give the second American performance of Joseph Haydn's two-act comic opera, "L'Infedelta Delusa" (Deceit Outwitted), at 8 p.m. Saturday in Macbride Auditorium. The American premiere of the work was presented by the SUIwans Monday night at the National Biennial Convention of the Music Teachers National Association in Chicago.

The opera has a concise plot, employing only five main characters within a simple story of the triumph of true love. Sandrina (played by Deirdre Aseford, G. Milford, Pa.) is in love with Nanni (James Pfafflin, G. LaCrosse, Wis.), but Sandrina's father, Filippo (Eric Gier, G. Minneapolis, Minn.) has arranged for her marriage to Nencio (William Abbott, G. Iowa City), a wealthy countryman. In addition, Vespina (Janet Steele, A3, Davenport), Nanni's sister, is in love with Nencio. By a plan involving several disguises, Vespina manages to prevent the marriage of Sandrina and Nencio, finally winning Nencio for herself and enabling her brother Nanni to marry Sandrina.

In addition to the five principal characters there are two servants, played by Douglas Pulse, A4, North Mankato, Minn., and Philip Hisey, G, Shreveport, La.

The production staff for the opera includes Wendell Whalum, G, Iowa City, assistant musical director; Allan Keller, G, Danville, stage director; Jose Mariscal, G, Key West, Fla., accompanist; Sidney Murray, G, Blackpool, England and Philip Hisey, G, Shreveport, La., stage managers and Douglas Pulse, A4, Jefferson, lighting. Thomas Schunk, G, Defiance, Ohio, has costumed the opera under the direction of Prof. Margaret Hall.

No tickets will be necessary for the Saturday presentation, which will be open to the public.

During his long musical career, Haydn wrote numerous operas to be staged by marionettes and at least 13, of which "L'Infedelta Delusa," is one, for live performers. Ten years ago none of the 13 was available in a workable edition, but since 1959 ten have been published. "L'Infedelta Delusa," the most recently published of the ten, had had only two modern-day presentations prior to its performance Monday by the SUI Opera Workshop.

Kuharich Resigns at N.D. Devore Named as Successor

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Joe Kuharich stepped down as head football coach at the University of Notre Dame Wednesday after four years without a winning season.

The university said the 46-year-old former Washington Redskins and Chicago Cardinals coach would take an administrative post in the National Football League.

The freshman coach, Hugh Devore, was named interim coach for the 1963 season.

The Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, executive vice president of Notre Dame, called Kuharich an able coach and said the Irish were sorry to lose him.

"We know it was a difficult decision for Mr. Kuharich to retire from the active coaching ranks," Father Joyce said.

Kuharich had a 2-2 mark against Iowa in his four years at Notre Dame. In 1959, the Irish upset the Hawkeyes 20-19, but Iowa won decisively 28-0 and 42-21 in 1960 and 1961. Last fall N.D. took an easy 35-12 win.

Kuharich's specific post in the NFL was not announced. He was professional coach of the year in 1955 while guiding the Redskins.

The South Bend native and Notre Dame alumnus left the Redskins to become Irish football boss in 1958. His teams broke even with 5-5 records in 1959, 1961 and last year, but his 2-8 slate in 1960 was the Notre Dame's worst mark in 68 years.

Devore, 52, was interim coach for Notre Dame in 1945 while Frank Leahy was in service and guided the Irish to a 7-2-1 record.

He later served as head coach at St. Bonaventure and on the staff of the professional Green Bay Packers. Devore returned as freshman coach at Notre Dame the season before Kuharich was hired.

Father Joyce said the present coaching staff would be retained. In New York, the NFL announced Kuharich will be director of officials and undertake other administrative duties, assuming the job April 15.

Regis of Cedar Rapids continues its defense of the 1962 state cage title tonight against Regina of Iowa City. The Regis-Regina game will follow the Keokuk-Ottumwa game which begins at 7 p.m. in the Field House.

Keokuk defeated Burlington in tourney play after being defeated by Burlington twice during the regular season. Ottumwa scored a 75-71 overtime win over Ottumwa Walsh, which had lost only one game during the season, to advance to the sub-state contest.

Regis defeated Regina by two points in the final seconds of the only meeting between the two teams this season.

The winners of tonight's games will meet in the Field House Saturday night after the consolation game which begins at 7:30 p.m. were involved, the Angels said. Duren, 34, appeared in 42 games with Los Angeles last season, winning two and losing nine. He had a 4.44 earned run average.

MOSCOW (AP) — Yevgeni Andreyev, holder of the record for delayed-opening parachute jumps — nearly 16 miles — was awarded Wednesday the title of Merited Master of Sports, highest sports award in the Soviet Union.

Andreyev jumped from a balloon Nov. 1 from 83,502 feet, falling 80,360 feet before opening his parachute. Pyotr Dolgov, who jumped with him, was killed.

LONDON (AP) — Stirling Moss, still unsure whether he will ever race on the auto tracks again, announced he is going in for industrial design.

He said he has joined a designing firm and plans to turn out everything from a new automobile to a suspender belt that won't show when a girl wears a tight dress.

The 33-year-old British ace, seriously injured in a crash on the Goodwood racing circuit last April, faced a news conference with a newly grown beard and scars still showing above and below his left eye. He has undergone two bone grafting operations to correct a defect in vision resulting from the crash.

BRASILIA, Brazil, (AP) — A 1,000-voice choir will sing as President Joao Goulart lights the symbolic Olympic torch for the Pan-American Games in Sao Paulo, April 20-May 5.

The ceremony April 14 will be held in the capital's Plaza of the Three Powers, a huge square ringed by the congress, supreme court and presidential palace.

Relays of runners will bear the torch the 800 miles to Sao Paulo, where it is scheduled to arrive the opening day of the games, April 20. The flame for the torch will be made by Indians from central Brazilian tribes. The Indians will ignite the flame with flint rock then give it to the president who in turn will ignite the torch.

Cassius Clay Wins; Unpopular Decision

Crowd Boos Clay; Cheers For 3-1 Underdog Jones

(UPI Sports Writer)

NEW YORK — Unbeaten Cassius Marcellus Clay failed to knock out Doug Jones in his predicted round or any round Wednesday night, but his long-armed jabs and straight rights did win him an unpopular, unanimous 10-round decision in their heavyweight contenders' fight.

The jammed crowd of 18,732 booed Clay for more than five minutes after the verdict in Madison Square Garden was announced. And they cheered to the rafters when Jones' New York handlers raised his arms as a sign that they thought he should have won.

Clay, 21 and known as the "Louisville Lip" because of his loud boasts of his prowess, registered his 18th straight victory as a professional. However, the fight not only broke his knockout string at nine straight, but it robbed him of much of his prestige as a puncher and particularly as a prophet of the round in which he would score the key.

Weighing 202½ pounds to Jones' 188, Clay apparently lost all chance of getting a summer shot at the Heavyweight crown.

Six-foot Jones of New York, three inches shorter than the highly touted Clay and 14½ pounds lighter, gave Clay the hardest fight of his professional career and forced much of the action in every round.

But Cassius, with his long arms and side to side maneuvers, landed the most blows. Each was knocked back onto his heels several times during the excellent fight, and Cassius' nose was trickling blood at the finish.

Clay went into the ring favored at 3-1. Both he and his handlers were positive he would score his 13th round-picked knockout on March 13. Early in the fight it seemed that Clay might get knocked out himself. His knees were buckled by a right to the jaw in the first round and again in the second. Then Clay increased his own pace and did well until late in the fourth round when his knees again were buckled by Jones' pressing but countering straight lefts and rights.

Clay took the third, ninth and tenth rounds on the sheets of three ring officials.

On a rounds basis they awarded Cassius the unanimous decision as follows: Referee Joe Loscolzo, 8-1-1; Judge Frank Forbes, 5-4-1, and Judge Artie Aidala, 5-4-1. The United Press International also had Clay winning: 6-3-1.

From now on," scowled Cassius Clay Wednesday night, "no more predictions on what round I'm going to finish my opponents. People are so hypocritical."

The 21-year-old Clay had just won a unanimous 10-round decision from Doug Jones, a tough hombre who can shake off a punch like a raindrop.

"They came to see me whipped," he complained. "They hated to see me keep winning. I hit Jones twice as much as he hit me. That's why they were upset."

Injunction Signed To Keep Miss State Out of NCAA

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Chancellor L. B. Porter signed a temporary order Wednesday to prohibit Mississippi State University's basketball team from playing the National Collegiate playoffs at East Lansing, Mich., Friday.

Porter signed the temporary injunction at Brandon and attorneys filed it with the Hinds County chancery clerk here.

It forbids spending State's money for mixed athletic activities outside the state and from breaching what it termed the public policy against integrated athletics.

State Sen. Billy Mitts of Enterprise and B. W. Lawson secured the injunction against the State College Board, its members and Mississippi State University officials.

In Starkville, Coach Babe McCarthy declined immediate comment.

The State basketball team was scheduled to leave Thursday for the NCAA tournament and play Loyola of Chicago Friday night. Loyola has four Negro starters.

In the order signed by Judge Porter, the two men said the decision of the State College Board to permit the trip previously authorized by MSU President D. W. Colvard "is contrary to the public policy of the citizens in this state and the majority of the citizens of this state do not uphold the board."

A spokesman for Mississippi State University said Wednesday night the school's basketball team has no intention at present of withdrawing from the NCAA basketball tourney.

"We have received no official word and have not gotten any court orders," said the spokesman, who declined to be identified by name. "As of 9:30 tonight, we are going to the tournament. We will leave as scheduled tomorrow."

Allen Says—

Iowa Swimming Outlook Is Good

By DOUG IDEN
Staff Writer

"Despite the swimming teams losing record in dual meets this season, the boys worked hard and gave it all they had," commented Coach Bob Allen.

"We beat Illinois in the Big Ten meet last week," stated the affable Allen with a smile, which was a big moral victory for us. The Western Conference is probably the toughest swimming conference in the country he added.

At the start of the season, according to the swimming coach the squad did not have much depth and had to rely on sophomores to supplement the consistent point-getters, Denny Vokolek, Ralph Laughlin and Jim Cook. These three veterans distinguished themselves in the Big Ten meet.

At Purdue, Michel LeVois and Jim Robbins took 11th and 10th respectively in the 3-meter diving event. Jim Cook, Denny Vokolek, Bill Sjostrom and Harvey Schutte joined forces for the ninth in the 400-yard medley relay while Craig Nichols, John Jones, Harvey Schutte and Ralph Laughlin placed tenth in the 400-yard freestyle relay.

Two boys did not return to school this year, forcing Allen to re-align his attack. Many swimmers were forced to compete in events other than their specialties. This required additional training and extensive practice sessions.

Allen lauded the efforts of sophomores Michel LeVois, diver; Gary Grey, individual medley and butterflyer Bill Sjostrom.

"We have a good freshman squad this year and we expect to do considerably better next season." In particular, Allen pointed to Ron Berry, Mike Peterson and Ralph Beckstein who all broke the existing freshmen records in competition.

Berry is a breast stroker and freestyle expert and Peterson excels in free style. Beckstein competes in the breaststroke, free style and individual medley. "Swimming is becoming very specialized," commented Allen, "but I like to see all-around boys too."

Rounding out the freshman squad are Tom Nestrud, Stephen Christenson, Jerry McGill, Bob Hall and John Hoffman.

Allen stated that Michigan, Michigan State, Wisconsin and Indiana all had fine freshman squads and he expects the conference to tighten up next year.

The upper half of the quarter-final bracket will be played Saturday night with fourth seeded Memphis meeting the Fordham-Memphis State winner and top seeded Wichita playing the Villanova DePaul winner.

The lower quarter-finals bracket gets under way Tuesday night with second seeded Providence meeting the Miami-St. Francis winner, and third seeded Marquette playing the LaSalle-St. Louis contest.
