

ON CAMPUS—

SUI STUDENTS are putting themselves in the place of the opposite side today as they represent the Soviet bloc at the United Nations Model Assembly being held at Iowa State University, today through Sunday.

Countries represented by SUIowans are Russia, Bulgaria, Hungary, Albania, Poland, Rumania and Czechoslovakia. SUI foreign students are joining delegates from other colleges in representing their own countries.

THE MECCA BALL will be held tonight at 8 in the Main Lounge of the Union. The Mecca Queen and St. Pat will be presented at the dance.

THE SUI Opera Workshop will present the second American performance of Haydn's two-act comic opera, "L'Infedelta Delusa," at 8 p. m. Saturday in MacBride Auditorium.

No tickets are necessary for the performance, which is open to the public.

CORRECTION

"Alder" was the clue which led engineering students to the Blarney Stone at the old Alder school Wednesday, not "adler" as reported in The Daily Iowan Thursday.

IN THE CITY—

DEAN STONER, 42, former electrical inspector in the SUI physics department and with WSUI Radio, was named Iowa City electrical inspector, City Manager Carsten Leikvold announced Thursday.

Stoner succeeds George Unrath who will continue as city electrical maintenance man.

IOWA CITY police Thursday handled one breaking and entering case and received complaints from three SUIowans involving thefts. See page 5 for details.

IN THE STATE—

DES MOINES — The Senate asked its Cities and Towns Committee Thursday to take another look at a bill which the committee voted out Wednesday with a recommendation that it be killed.

The bill would specify that the over-all 30-mill tax limit for municipalities for seven operating funds excludes moneys and credits tax receipts and all other revenue.

The state auditor has contended that the moneys and credits tax revenue should be included in computing the maximum receipts permitted under the 30-mill limit.

IN THE NATION—

CHICAGO (UPI) — Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz Thursday prodded the nation's railroads and their on-train employees to "do everything possible without delay" to reach a settlement in their featherbedding dispute and a union spokesman said five brotherhoods would "press for new talks between the parties."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Central American Presidents are considering an appeal to President Kennedy for prompt action by the Organization of American States (OAS) to fight communist subversion in Latin America, it was learned Thursday night.

Diplomatic sources said the heads of state hoped to get United States' support for an emergency conference of the hemisphere's foreign ministers soon after Kennedy starts talks in Costa Rica next week.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Republican National Committee accused the Kennedy Administration Thursday of leaking results of recent polls on U.S. prestige abroad in "a transparent effort to distract public attention from critical national problems which remain unsolved."

JACKSON, Miss (UPI) — Negro John Frazier said Thursday night he had been denied admission to the all-white University of Southern Mississippi for the spring quarter which begins next week.

Frazier, president of the student body at Campbell Junior College here, said he was turned down "allegedly" because he did not submit a complete application in time.

IN THE WORLD—

GENEVA (UPI) — Neutral nations delegates to the 17-nation disarmament conference failed anew Thursday to agree on a compromise plan to break the East-West deadlock in negotiations for a Nuclear Test Ban Treaty.

PARIS (UPI) — U.S. Presidential Envoy Livingston T. Merchant ended his mission to West Europe Thursday with apparent support in principle by a majority of Atlantic allies for President Kennedy's NATO Nuclear Force Plan. But U.S. officials said many details still have to be thrashed out.

CAIRO (UPI) — Official delegations from Syria and Iraq met in Cairo with United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser Thursday in a conference aimed at forging a union among the three major Moslem powers. See page 5.

Iraqi Radio Tells Moscow 'To Shut Up'

Red Demonstrators Hurl Ink, Snowballs At Iraq Embassy

MOSCOW (UPI) — Two thousand Soviet and Arab demonstrators Thursday pelted the Iraqi Embassy with ink bottles and snowballs in a protest against Iraq's crackdown on Communists.

Blue-coated Soviet policemen stood by watching but not interfering, as the demonstrators broke windows and splattered the building's gray walls with red, black, and green ink stains. Although the Soviet Government said the demonstration was "spontaneous," the police let it run for about three hours before urging the crowd to go home.

Baghdad radio, heard in Beirut, Lebanon, bluntly told Moscow radio to "shut up" its criticisms of the Iraqi revolutionary regime. It said Russia's "stupid and foolish rulers" should let Iraq alone.

In Damascus and Baghdad, state radios called for unity and advised listeners to await "an important statement which will make the dream come true which will build unity on a firm basis."

The MENA Agency quoted AREF as saying realization of Cairo-Damascus-Baghdad unity requires meetings and consultations "to draw up the measures until all three parties reach final unity."

"The next stage would be unity of the five liberated Arab countries — the U.A.R., Syria, Iraq, Algeria and Yemen," AREF added, according to MENA.

Algeria was granted independence by France last summer. Pro-Nasser revolutionary forces overthrew the monarchy in Yemen later in the year.

You May Get Chance As City Fireman

SUIowans who dreamed of being firemen when they grew up may soon be.

According to Mayor Fred Doderer, Iowa City's fire department is now understaffed. A proposed bill in the Iowa Legislature may further reduce the department's strength. The proposal calls for a reduction from 63 to 56 hours per week for firemen. The same number of men now in the department would work fewer hours resulting in further shortages.

Although no definite meeting has been scheduled to discuss the proposals, City Manager Carsten Leikvold said he intends to study the idea of using students.

"There might be something there," he said, "and we could probably do something about it." Doderer said the council will study several ways of increasing the fire department staff. "There will be several proposals and we will consider them all. The force must be brought up to full strength in the future," Doderer said.

Neither Leikvold nor Doderer were sure of the legal requirements for firemen, such as residency, but said something could be done to allow students to qualify for the jobs.

"My understanding is that student firemen were used at Ames at one time," he said.

Mecca Smoker Honors Outstanding Engineers

Even leprechauns spreading traditional Irish blarney couldn't have raised spirits as high as those shown by persons attending the Mecca Smoker Thursday night in the River Room of the Union.

The program presented by SUI engineering students included the interviewing of the 10 Mecca queen semi-finalists and the 10 St. Pat candidates; a beard shaving contest; the presentation of awards by various engineering groups and the showing of skits created by the engineering departments and the faculty.

The shaving contest took place with the queen semi-finalists gathered behind Keith Wittsock, E3, Dubuque, Jack Wallace, E1, Winterset, and Dennis Zmolek, E4, Toledo. The three students flicked on their electric shavers at the signal, and began cutting away at their beards. Wallace took first place; Wittsock, second and Zmolek, third. All three engineers received electric shavers as prizes.

Various awards were presented to students and a faculty member by engineering organizations. Chi Epsilon, civil engineering honor fraternity, presented the most outstanding senior civil engineer award to Paul Berthouse, G, Perry, and an outstanding sophomore award to David Toerber, E1, Stanwood. Edward Hronik, E3, Oxford Junction, received the most outstanding electrical engineering sophomore award from Eta Kappa Nu.

The Associated Students of Engineering award was presented to David McDougall, instructor in mechanics and hydraulics. James Ashton, E3, Davenport, was awarded the Theta Tau Award. This award is given primarily for participation in engineering activities. The Associated Students service award was presented to Harry Marker, E4, Iowa City.

Richard McKinley, E1, Cedar Rapids, was given the Pi Tau Sigma Award. Iowa Transit keys were awarded to Thomas Breese, February graduate, Iowa City, and to Gene Schwarting, Tau Beta Pi awards went to Terry Noonan, E2, Fort Madison and David Toerber, E1, Stanwood.

Charge Says Cuba Brews Subversion

Soviet Troops Still Exiting From Cuba

Military Aid Planned For Latin America To Fight Communism

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Russia appears to have removed almost 2,000 military personnel from Cuba in the past month and indications are that another 1,500 will be taken out today or Saturday, U.S. officials said Thursday.

In another Cuba-related development, Assistant Secretary of State Edwin M. Martin was disclosed to have told Congressmen the United States is ready to send military help to any Latin American nation threatened by a Communist takeover if the aid is requested.

Martin also told the subcommittee that the risk of nuclear war would have been "accelerated very greatly" last fall if the United States had continued its blockade of Cuba. He said "we would have raised the level of confrontation with the Soviets to a level which might well have become intolerable for them."

But Thursday night, Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) joined other Republicans who have said recently the United States never should have lifted its Cuban quarantine. In a radio interview, Scott urged a new selective blockade of oil and weapons shipments to Cuba and said, "I don't think it would bring about a war if one of Khrushchev's stooges were strangled economically."

Officials said the Soviet ship Nakhimov, listed as having a normal passenger capacity of 1,450, appears to be loading Soviet military personnel at a Cuban port with indications she will sail before Sunday.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has promised to pull "several thousand Soviet troops out of Cuba by mid-March."

10,000 Riot In Panty Raid

DE KALB, Ill. (UPI) — Police Thursday night fired tear gas to disperse a milling crowd of nearly 10,000 college students during a panty raid which erupted following a campus-wide power failure at Northern Illinois University.

Fifteen squads of police and several fire units were at the scene. An underground cable shorted out about 7:10 p.m. Thursday night, plunging the campus, scene of a scheduled high school basketball tournament, into darkness.

The University's 8,500 students poured from their dormitories and were joined by other persons, converging on Neptune North, a girl's dormitory.

City, State and University police arrived and managed to prevent them from entering the dormitory but the crowd halted traffic and then marched two blocks west to the field house, where the high school basketball fans had vacated moments before.

In Human Rights Meeting—

SUI Bias Policy Is Attacked

By DEAN MILLS Staff Writer

The new committee on Human Rights held its first formal meeting Thursday with a promise from its chairman that it is ready to "commence work." The committee, created Feb. 21, is designed to investigate discrimination and promote racial understanding at SUI and in Iowa City.

The meeting Thursday, in the Senate Chamber of Old Capitol, was the first in a series of monthly meetings. Chairman Willard Boyd, professor of law and other committee members outlined their progress so far for the press and the public.

For Kidnaping—

Feguer Scheduled To Hang Today

By JOE LIPPINCOTT Staff Writer

FORT MADISON — Still hoping for a last-minute reprieve, Victor Harry Feguer spent his last hours quietly, waiting for this morning's dawn when he was scheduled to die.

The 27-year-old bachelor, who was sentenced to the gallows for the 1960 kidnap-slaying of Dr. Edward Bartels of Dubuque, talked by telephone to federal district attorneys, asking them to delay the execution so that he could give them evidence he says he refused to let be known at the trial.

The Rev. B. E. Brugman, a Catholic chaplain at the Fort Madison penitentiary, said Thursday afternoon that Feguer would like an opportunity to tell more about the abduction and slaying. But U.S. Marshal C. W. Week of Dubuque, who was to spring the trap, said, "He had many opportunities to do so in the past and did not."

THERE WAS NO indication late Thursday night that Feguer's life would be spared.

"He (Feguer) has been very busy here," Father Brugman said. "Among other things, he has written a long article for the prison paper which points out how persons in his situation could rehabilitate themselves before they are too far gone." The article will appear April 10.

Father Brugman has been with Feguer since March 5, for two hours every day and one each night, at Feguer's request. The Rev. John Bremner, SUI graduate student, acted as assistant chaplain to Father Brugman during Feguer's last hours of life.

FEGUER REQUESTED only an olive, with seed, as his last meal. "This apparently represents to Feguer the fruit of the tree of peace," the priest said.

Warden John Bennett said Feguer has corresponded with and received letters daily from two aunts in Michigan, but has not been in contact with his father, last heard of on Chicago's Skid Row. His mother died when he was 7.

Feguer requested that no one claim his body.

In Argentina—

Peronist Bid Stirs Armed Forces Alert

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — Argentina's armed forces went on full-scale alert Thursday and the divided government debated its course in the face of a new Peronist bid for power.

A reported Vatican decision lifting excommunication against ousted ex-President Juan D. Peron, now in exile in Madrid, Spain, raised hopes of his followers girding for a comeback in June elections.

Obviously alarmed at signs of Peronist resurgence, military leaders ordered the full-dress alert. Federal police also took security measures at key installations but these were ordered lifted later in the day.

Extra guards made no immediate move to leave various communications centers, however.

The military, professed opponents of any Peronist revival, had shown mounting anxiety after a court ruling that certified a Peronist front party, Union Popular, for the nationwide elections June 23.

The Navy in particular has vowed that the Peron "era of dictatorship can never return." Naval forces were reported in a state of "battle readiness."

Civilian members of President Jose Maria Guido's government are in favor of Peronist participation in the election campaign. The Cabinet was summoned into full session Friday to consider the situation.

Guido came to power a year ago when the military deposed President Arturo Frondizi following sharp Peronist electoral gains. He has refused to resign or go into exile.

MOGADISCIO, Somalia (UPI) — The Somali Parliament voted 74-14 Thursday to break off diplomatic relations with Britain because of a territorial dispute over Northern Kenya.

Thirty-two other members of Parliament were absent during the vote. Last Monday Premier Abdullahi Ali Shermarke called on the legislators to cut off relations with Britain because of Colonial Secretary Duncan Sandys announcement that Kenya's northern frontier district will be made one of the country's seven regions when Kenya is granted its independence.

Somalia has claimed the territory, most of whose residents are Somalians.

Soviet Union Is Aggressive, House Says

Economic Programs Draw Committee's Fire In Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — An "alliance for violence" is brewing in Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuba to send "agents trained in sabotage, espionage and revolutionary techniques throughout Latin America," a House subcommittee reported Thursday.

It said the Soviet Union must be held accountable for what it called a program of "subversive aggression" against the free world nations, going far beyond what is normally called a subversive activity.

IT DESCRIBED the campaign as "paramilitary," concluding from that finding that economic aid alone cannot cope with it.

"In fact, the success of the Alliance for Progress or any other long-range economic aid program for the region is depending on reducing and finally eliminating the threat of subversive aggression to the hemisphere," the subcommittee report.

The report, issued by the Inter-American Affairs subcommittee headed by Rep. Armistead Selden, (D-Ala.) after weeks of hearing top intelligence experts and Cuban exiles, called for quick development of collective security measures against the new form of aggression. It said the American republics have been slow in that area.

AS ONE MEASURE of defense it urged that the United States "seek the complete diplomatic and economic quarantine of Communist Cuba by other nations of the Americas."

Five Latin-American countries still maintain diplomatic relations with Cuba. One of these, Mexico, "remains a neutral ground," for Castro Communist traffic and travel in the Americas," the report said.

Senate Nixes Hughes' Bid

DES MOINES — The Iowa Senate rejected Governor Harold Hughes, nomination of Corbin Crawford to the State Board of Control Thursday.

It was the first of 35 nominations Hughes had sent to the Senate for confirmation that was turned down.

At the same time the Senate confirmed the appointments of Mrs. Joseph Rosenfield of Des Moines to the State Board of Regents and Mike F. Zack of Mason City to the State Conservation Commission.

Hughes named fellow Democrat Crawford, 59, of Ainsworth to succeed Walter Conval, Muscatine Democrat, whose term expires June 30. The governor now can send another name to the Senate.

The possibility of placing seals on the display windows of downtown merchants who fulfill non-discriminatory qualifications was mentioned. Boyd said the Committee would be considering the possibility further and might work to put it into effect by next year.

Russell Weintraub, associate professor of law, chairman of the advisory committee, said his committee has almost completed recommendations for the mechanics of hearing cases of discrimination.

The advisory committee will meet some time next week to iron out some procedures, he said, and it will make a report to the Committee on Human Rights later.

On Judge's Errors And Championships

THE NEWSPAPER Iowa "depends upon" informed its Wednesday morning readers that Big Ten Commissioner Bill Reed has "set a dangerous precedent" in overruling finish judges at the recent Big Ten track meet.

The "dangerous precedent" essentially is: Commissioner Reed examined photographic evidence which indicated that Ken Burnley of Michigan rather than Trenton Jackson of Illinois finished fourth in the 60-yard dash. That seemingly insignificant turnabout adds two more points to Michigan's meet total, enough to pull the Wolverines into a conference championship tie with Iowa.

The conference crown, prior to Reed's decision, had been awarded solely to Iowa, the Hawkeye's first title in 34 years.

Bob Lawson, Iowa State University track coach, agreed with the paper's summation and told how he had lost a conference championship under similar circumstances when he was track coach at Southern California. Except in Lawson's case, as he tells it, photographs showed that his team should have won the meet, but the judges refused to change their decision.

Lawson states his feelings about the matter bluntly: "I think Iowa is getting the works."

We believe that if Coach Lawson had been approached on the subject at the time (1956) he probably would have expressed similar feelings about Southern Cal "getting the works" when it wasn't allowed to share in a conference championship which it rightfully should have.

Significantly not mentioned by the newspaper in its condemnation of Reed was the fact that SUI Coach Francis Cretzmeier was instrumental in calling the error to Reed's attention.

Cretzmeier and Indiana Coach Jim Lavery, members of the Big Ten Games Committee, reviewed the film of the meet, noticed the error and immediately notified Reed.

We hope the SUI Athletic Department states clearly and emphatically that SUI wants nothing to do with undeserved championships.

Coach Cretzmeier's action has been exemplary thus far. We only hope our University makes it clear that championships should be based on an athlete's performance and not a judge's error.

Our Choice Between Economy and Liberty

MANY FOLLOWERS of Thomas Jefferson these days are selective in their approach. They like to draw from his philosophy only the points which harmonize with their thinking.

One admonition universally ignored by those of whom we speak is:

"That government governs best which governs least."

Another is this view expressed by Jefferson in 1816 about the danger inherent in debt:

"I place economy among the first and most important virtues, and public debt as the greatest of dangers to be feared. To preserve our independence, we must not let our rulers load us with perpetual debt. We must make our choice between economy and liberty, or profusion and servitude."

"The same prudence which in private life would forbid our paying our money for unexplained projects forbids it in the disposition of the public money."

A Chance To Improve

WINTER'S MANTLE is off. The occasional imperfections of the Iowa City landscape are once again exposed. The splash of Spring color is not yet with us. Little can be done now about the permanent eyesores. Some of the casual eyesores, however, can be removed.

The west slope overlooking the University Theater on North Riverside drive is littered with paper and other rubbish. As a consequence the entire area appears to be run down at the heels.

Several Greek houses have the slope as a back yard. Without attempting to fault these houses for the condition of the slope, we do wonder if a concerted effort by the membership couldn't improve the situation.

Advise and Dissent

By TIM CALLAN
Editorial Associate

IT'S A novel experience to spend an evening listening to a million-dollar corporation, if not necessarily an enjoyable one, as at least a few of the several thousand folk who sat in bleachers in a Moline gym Saturday to hear the Kingston Trio would probably agree.

Musically, the boys have really gone downhill. They no longer make any pretense at being folk-singers... they're now chromium-plated jukeboxes, belting out ethnic-tinted ditties at the drop of a buck.

Some of the spectators at the concert seemed to take it poorly... after trying to cope with inaudible words and over-amplified instruments, inept lighting (a red/blue spotlight that changed color with an awe-inspiring clonk), and squirm-inducing patter ("Show me a cowboy who rides sidesaddle and I'll show you a gay ranchero"), some of the members of the audience began straggling out of the place.

Too bad, in a way. They missed the JFK impersonations, the travesties of old hits, and the omnipresent yokel dialogue. As for us, we sort of got our Beverly Hills bellies full.

It can be argued that it's hard for folk-singers to be intimate with a whole auditorium. Still, artists like Pete Seeger manage it, and there's only one of him...

DRAFTWISE, gentlemen, there's still someone on your side. This week, the House voted 387 to 3 to extend the draft for another four years. But among the three dissenters was Iowa's Own H. R. Gross.

"I can't understand for the life of me," he said, "with all the stories about the unemployed youth of this country, why the armed forces can't get all the manpower we need on a voluntary basis."

Way to go, H. R.! You're A-1 in our books. Just so we're not I-A in yours...

THIS WEEK'S Time magazine says that the Society for Indecency to Naked Animals (SINA) and its genial president, Clifford Prout, are slightly fraudulent.

Prout's real name, they say, is Buck Zuckerman, and he's actually a writer for the Garry Moore show. In a frenzy of innuendo, Time hinted that the whole animal-clothing movement might revolve around a new record, "Inside SINA," narrated by SINA's national vice-president.

HUMBUG, we say, for President Prout warned earlier this week that there was evil afoot. In an emergency press conference at his Greenwich Village apartment, he admonished SINA's 50,988 members that they would be expelled immediately with dishonor if they were found possessing the recording in question.

"The perpetrators of this recording slyly solicited my permission to record an actual SINA membership meeting," he said, "and then they planted their own hecklers in the audience... it is a shocking disgrace. I don't intend to publicize this recording further by making an issue out of it."

The press conference concluded with all members raising and singing the SINA Marching Song, "Wings of Decency," accompanied by Miss Cynthia Lansing York at the piano.

Fooyey on Time! Decency marches on.

ORCHIDS to the courageous few who put morality first... witness SUI Iowan Joe Lippincott, who valiantly tried to uphold SINA standards this week by putting a bra on a naked cow. Orchids also to Iowa City dairyman John Dane, who concurred that it was the decent thing to do.

The only one involved who didn't think much of the whole idea was the cow, a shameless hussy named Pigeon. She would not stand for it... indeed, she did an immediate belly-flop in the mud.

She obviously agreed with old-time moralist Mark Twain, who decided, "Man is the only animal that blushes... or needs to."

GET READY, leaders of tomorrow. Here's an upcoming movie campaign: "Where to take your date... off campus? Do something different and whisk her away to the fab banks of the Ganges, to a strange, romantic world of sights and sounds so breathtaking you'll remember them the rest of your lives... Sound exciting? Every minute of it!"

The movie, by the way, is "Nine Hours to Rama." It's about the assassination of Gandhi.

'Ardele' Review

The Elevation of Ideal Love— Erratic but Worthwhile

By LLOYD FERER
Written For The Daily Iowan

In contrasting the physically — deformed but idealistically pure Ardele with physically normal but morally dissipated characters, Jean Anouilh elevates ideal love in "Ardele," the play now being performed at the Studio Theatre.

These characters are not inherently evil, and Ardele, who is never seen by the audience, seems to symbolize that instant of true love which each of the characters has known at one time, but which has since been lost in a complex, sophisticated world of assignments and love affairs.

THE STRUCTURE of the play directs all the thematic material at a realistically drawn young couple who, having once loved and parted, are drawn together again despite the fact that she is now married. Each act closes with these two left alone on the stage attempting to solve their problem in the light of what has gone before in the act. Anouilh has them choose the conventional path at the close of the play; it is the wrong path according to his thesis, and the symbol of love dies.

Obviously, the idea presented here is not a simple one. Characters who choose conventional morality are equally as mistaken as characters who choose to flaunt morality. For Anouilh, only the moment of true love is actually moral, and this moment is worth the suffering which will come when the moment has passed.

The Studio Theatre production of "Ardele" had a particularly weak opening performance Wednesday evening. The major reason was the lack of a unified tone which the production should have gained from its director. The styles of acting among the characters ranged from farce through realism, with some of the actors even changing their style during the course of the play.

THE OPENING of the first act was rather dull until the entrance of the Countess, her husband and her lover. Their scene was played on a delightfully farcical level, slightly but delicately overacted by Nancy Duncan, Dan Alkofer and James ap-Hugh, respectively. Now overacting is a tricky business and the two gentlemen are better hands at it than the lady, who went a little overboard here and there. But only Mr. ap-Hugh consistently retained this level of style throughout the play, giving a nice performance all the way. Mr. Alkofer and Miss Duncan became quite serious and realistic as the play progressed.

In contrast to the above performances, the young couple, played by Rebecca Cox and Lawrence Sorenson, were highly realistic in direction. They constituted a second crucial weakness in the production since their scenes which closed each act were particularly poor.

BOTH the first and the second acts seemed anti-climactic because Mr. Sorenson lacked force and sharpness in his character. In the final scene, he began to show sparks of life, but he left Miss Cox sadly behind. Never did her portrayal of Nathalie seem plausible or believable. She demonstrated little of the ability which she has shown in her many Studio Theatre performances.

As the Count, Mr. Alkofer turned in the most exciting performance of the evening. He created a character broad enough to encompass the change in tone and still retain believability. His farce was well handled, and he brought about with charm and ease the only truly touching moment in the play during his extremely difficult second act monologue.

Lawrence Gordon captured the age and stature of General St. Pe, but it limited his variety to the point that his extended speeches became somewhat monotonous. However, he had excellent moments, and was at his best in the lighter ones.

NAN WITHERS, as the General's wife, was not strong enough to dominate the stage for that sequence in the final act. She put forth a valiant effort in the right direction, but a bomb must explode on the stage at that moment and it simply failed to go off. The cramped blocking at this point certainly gave Miss Winters little help.

Even though the performance is erratic, Ardele remains a worthwhile evening at the theatre because of the theme and character to which Anouilh has given existence and expression. If the spectators can manage an insight greater than the banal conclusions that love is better than morality, then Anouilh has proposed a stage life worthy of observation.

Letters to the Editor— On the Other Hand, A Chinese View

To the Editor:
The March 12 article by Mr. Mohammad Idrees is baffling. On one hand, as Chinese, we feel slightly flattered. But it is not the kind of flattery any conscientious Chinese would want to accept. On the other hand, as Chinese, we find the article distasteful and academically naive.

Mr. Idrees took all the space are 700 million Chinese in the world today and "if other things remain the same," with the addition of countless millions of Chinese in the next few years, "everything will be rolling the Chinese way."

If Mr. Idrees's conclusion is valid, we must interpret his basic premise "if other things remain the same" as that the other people in the world stop reproducing — a proposition too ridiculous to consider.

TO SHOW HOW ignorant Mr. Idrees is about the problem he is discussing, we shall condescend to refute him on some trivial points:

1. He said: "The cold fact is that within the next few years several hundred million more Chinese will come to life in this world." We shall take it literally. A few years is anywhere from two to six or seven years. The present birth rate of China, as far as it can be estimated, is two per cent. That is 14 million a year. Computed compounding, over a time span of six or seven years, the increment will still fall short of the several hundred million Mr. Idrees promised us.

2. Evidently, Mr. Idrees was talking about Red China, which has a population of approximately 700 million. Then:

a. Women in Red China don't wear tight-fitting Mandarin dresses with high slits.

b. Confucian replicas, Buddhist stupas, and carved jade incense burners are relics of the past.

c. Chow Mein is only an American concoction.

d. The Chinese, for that matter, anywhere, don't ride in rickshaws, except for the benefit of hunting tourists and Hollywood movie makers.

3. To call the "Chiang Kai-shek dynasty" the Kai-shek clan" is equivalent to calling the "John F. Kennedy dynasty" the "John Fitzgerald" clan. Kai-shek may rhyme with Kennedy. But Kai-shek is a first name and Kennedy is a family name. Any competent observer on the Chinese problem should at least know this.

WE ARE DEMONSTRATING the fact that Mr. Idrees lived in a static world, where the Chinese still wore queues, and that he has contributed toward perpetuating national stereotypes.

For the sake of world sanity, we strongly recommend that Mr. Idrees writes only after he is reasonably familiar with the topic, and only when he has any substantive point to make.

Cheers For Idrees

To the Editor:
Cheers to Mohammed Idrees for his thought-provoking, as well as, entertaining article on the Chinese.

It is no secret to the world that their frontiers are at the bursting point. Their population would have only to double and chow mein vendors might very well put American pizza parlors and Jack Paar out of business.

Aggressive expansion, to the Chinese, is not so much a matter of extending diplomacy as it is economic necessity. They must have war. They have everything to gain and nothing to lose, even if half of them go up in nuclear smoke.

As for their treatment of racial minorities, as Mr. Idrees has wondered, one has only to recall the fate of Tibet!

The Thing Is Hilarious

To the Editor:
Mr. Idrees Writes Good "Like a Cigarette Shout."

Fulbright Scholar Mohammad Idrees sits down, lists all the cliches he has learned from advertising and mass media, puts them together randomly, and the DI readers are treated to discussion on the Chinese population problem.

Mr. Idrees's Americanization is impressive. He even knows the beverage jingles. But surprising it would be, if he knew anything about the subject he purports to be discussing.

The whole thing is hilarious. I don't mean the article. That the article is not even funny is what is hilarious.

Mr. Idrees may have exhausted his reservoir of cliches. So, if he plans to write a sequel, perhaps he should try some other sources of information, for instance, Edgar Snow's "The Other Side of the River," particularly Chapter 54.

Then he may have something to say.

Sometimes it helps. "Or so they say."

A Step in the Right Direction

To the Editor:
Even though I am not a resident of the state of Iowa, I find myself in direct sympathy with State Representative Tom Riley and his bill which would allow parents or guardians of college students a maximum of one thousand dollars deduction on their state income tax.

When the cost of an education is as high as it is today and when some parents find themselves putting not one but sometimes two or three of their offspring through college, I'm sure this bill will be greatly welcomed by them and most people directly concerned with the cost of a higher education. The savings from this bill may not be very much, but it is a step in the right direction...

The Daily Iowan is basically a newspaper for the students of SUI and therefore it should be commended for a favorable outlook on this bill.

Local Hospitals Get Accreditation

University, Veterans and Mercy are among the 4,000 hospitals in the nation accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. The commission is an agency of the American Colleges of Physicians and Surgeons, and the American Hospital and Medical Associations.

Accreditation means a hospital has submitted to a survey of its facilities and patient care. "It is a badge of recognition which the hospital can display to its community to prove that it conforms to high standards," Dr. Kenneth Babcock, commission director said.

COOKING TIPS

Count on using an eight-ounce container of cottage cheese for stuffing 20 medium-size pitted cooked prunes. Serve on crisp greens with mayonnaise or French dressing for a nutritious luncheon salad.

Ever add a suspicion of finely grated onion to old-fashioned cooked salad dressing? This combination is delicious on salads and in many sandwich spreads.

Gosal, Indonesian Sprinter To Observe Training Methods

By HARRIETT HINDMAN
Assistant Sports Editor

To appear for the third time in the Olympic Games — that's one of the ambitions of Johannes Gosal, Indonesian track star who arrived in Iowa City Wednesday to study the Hawkeye track program.

The Indonesian sprinter competed in the 1956 and 1960 Olympics and said, "I hope to compete again next year as I didn't do too well the other times. I guess I was relying too much on my past accomplishments."

GOSAL COMPETES in the 100 and 200-meter events. His best time for 100-meters is :1.4. He was officially time at :21.6 in the 200-meters, but jokingly commented, "I ran it in :21.5 unofficially."

One of 32 athletes from 20 countries now touring the United States as part of a program sponsored by Sports International, Gosal may serve as a consultant on Indonesia for Peace Corps personnel in training here. Sports International is a non-profit organization and is not part of the Peace Corps, but is associated with the U.S. State Department.

Gosal, who is from Djakarta, the capital city of Indonesia, arrived in New York March 5, and has not yet had a chance to become acquainted with track training programs in the United States.

"I don't expect very much difference, though," he explained. "We have American coaches in our country, I had Bill Miller of Penn State and Tom Rosandich of Wisconsin as my coaches there. We have three American coaches for our Olympic team."

THE 27-YEAR-OLD sprinter, who plans to become a coach, attended a physical education school in Djakarta and is now a graduate student there. "I wanted to come to Iowa so I could learn how SUI coaches instruct athletes," he commented.

Gosal has not yet met Iowa Coach Francis Cretzmeier, who has been ill this week, but the athlete worked out with the Hawk thin-clads Thursday "to get the kinks out. I'm anxious to start running again."

Ineligible to compete as part of the Hawk track team since he is not an SUI student, Gosal will run exhibition at a number of Iowa events this spring. He said he would like to attend the Drake Relays, but won't be able to compete since he is not associated with any track club and the Relays no longer have an open class.

Gosal said he hasn't been in Iowa City long enough to form an opinion of the University, but his first impression is "very good."

Tommy Bolt Leads

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Tommy Bolt, who seems to be taking a fresh grip on life at the mid 40s, peeled seven strokes off par Thursday to take the lead in the $25,000 St. Petersburg Open Golf Tournament.

Bolt wheeled around the 6,537-yard course in 65 for a one-stroke first round edge.

Just behind was Billy Maxwell of Las Vegas, Nev., who had a 66 and mourned two missed opportunities to do better. Another stroke back at 67 were young Raymond Floyd of Fayetteville, N.C., veteran Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N.C., and Dave Marr of New Rochelle, N.Y.

Defending Champion Regis Rifle Tournament Beats Regina; Keokuk Wins Set Here Saturday

Defending state champion Cedar Rapids Regis defeated Regina of Iowa City, 75-65, Thursday night to gain a berth in the sub-state finals against Keokuk in the Field House Saturday night.

Keokuk came from behind to defeat Ottumwa, 68-67, in the first game Thursday night.

Regina, facing Regis' full-court press from the opening whistle, took an early lead and held a 20-15 margin at the end of the first quarter. In the opening minutes of the second period, the Regals widened the gap to 22-15 before some hot-shooting by Cedar Rapids' Steve Beckman and Jim Cummins tied the score at 30-30.

Two free throws by John Miller put Regina out in front, 32-30. Then a basket and two free throws by Cummins put Regis in the lead, 34-32, before Dan Delaney's layup with :41 seconds remaining in the half gave Regina a halftime tie, 34-34.

As the second half opened, Rick Louk of Regis, whose 21 points for the night were well above his average, put the Royals ahead, 38-34, and then Cummins led them to a 43-37 advantage with 5:22 remaining in the third quarter.

Regina came back to trail, 43-42, with 4:30 left and finally tied the score at 48 all with 2:58 to go in the period. The Regals jumped to a 51-50 lead and then a 52-51 margin, but Cummins evened the score again at 52-52. A goal by John Miller and last second basket by Tony Rios gave Regina a 56-52 margin at the end of the third period.

The fourth quarter proved disastrous for the Regals as they were outscored, 23-9. After leading the first half of the final period, Beckman tied the score, 61-61, with 4:25 left and the score was tied again at 63 before Regis took command for good.

Regis' all-star Cummins went to work in the final minutes and finished the game with 27 points, three points above Regina's top scorer, John Miller, who left the game on fouls with about three minutes remaining.

Keokuk had its problems with favored Ottumwa in the opening game of the evening. The Chiefs, who boasted a 12-9 record going into the game compared to Ottumwa's 18-3 mark, held the lead throughout the first half, and had a slight 31-30 margin at intermission.

Three minutes without a field goal as the second half got under way left Keokuk trailing, 34-33, with 5:30 remaining, but the Chiefs then

One of the 1963 National Rifle Association Intercollegiate Sectional tournaments will be sponsored by the SUI Rifle Club and will be held in the Iowa Field House, Saturday, starting at 7 a.m. with the winner presentations at 3 p.m.

Twenty-two collegiate rifle teams, four shooters per team including girls as well as boys, will compete in this sectional. The schools to be represented are: University of Wisconsin, Iowa State University, Southern Illinois University, Creighton State College, Drake University, University of Missouri, Bradley University and SUI.

SUI will be represented by three men's teams and two women's teams.

Participants are:
SUI team No. 1: Paul Douglas Carlson, Davenport, Iowa; Frank L. Bauer, Army Chemical Center, Maryland; Larry L. Points, Belle Plaine, Iowa; and William C. Stanley, Corn in Iowa.

SUI team No. 2: John W. Miller, Waterloo, Iowa; Dow D. Voss, Iowa City, Iowa; Thomas R. Schunk, Center Point, Iowa; and Kerry Albert, Lake Forest, Illinois.
SUI Air Force ROTC: Jim Church, New London, Iowa; David Jensen, Hawatha, Iowa; Steve Wilson, Clinton, Iowa; Bob White, Keswick, Iowa.
SUI Women's team No. 1: Sue Mitchell, Billings, Montana; Ellen Taylor, Allen Park, Illinois; Jeannette Murray, Burlington, Iowa; and Joyce Christensen, DeWitt, Iowa.
SUI Women's team No. 2: Mary Lou Matter, Freeport, Illinois; Helen Montford, Iowa City, Iowa; Barbara Russell, Ida Grove, Iowa; and Carolyn Heizer, Burlington, Iowa.

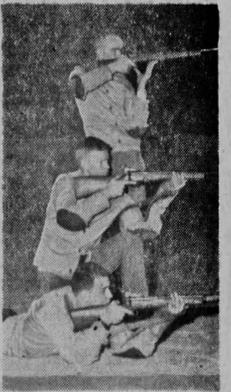

Based on this year's rifle competition, SUI's Sue Mitchell, Frank Bauer, Doug Carlson and Larry Points should be among the top shooters.

MSU Gets Okay To Play in NCAA

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Supreme Court Judge Robert Gillespie agreed Thursday to suspend a chancery court order prohibiting Mississippi State University from playing in the National Collegiate Athletic Association Basketball tournament.

The state attorney general's office, charged with acting as counsel for the State College Board, sought the ruling to suspend the effectiveness of the lower court order pending a hearing on the merits of the matter.

The suspension will remain in effect pending a hearing on the entire matter. The suspension means the original order blocking Mississippi State from playing against Loyola of Chicago at East Lansing, Mich., Friday night will not be in effect.

Big Ten Statistics Show Why Hawks Finished 8th

Iowa's cage team, which finished eighth in the Big Ten conference with a 9-9 record, had the lowest field goal shooting percentage and was weakest on the boards, according to Big Ten statistics released Thursday.

The Hawkeyes shot 38 per cent from the field and collected 1110 rebounds during the season. Co-champion Illinois led the league in field goal shooting, hitting 45 per cent of its shots from the floor. Michigan, led by 6-8 sophomore Bill Buntin, was the leading rebounding club with 1268 rebounds.

Iowa finished ninth in free throw shooting, connecting on 65 per cent of its attempts from the charity lie. The leading team in that department, runnerup Indiana, set a new conference record for free throw shooting, 76 per cent.

Despite a losing team, Iowa fans pushed the Hawkeyes into fourth place in attendance. Iowa drew an average crowd of 8,687.

Illinois and Ohio State are the first teams to share the title since 1957 when Indiana and Michigan State were co-champions. The Illini have won or shared 11 basketball titles while the Buckeyes have won or shared 10.

Ohio State is the first team to claim at least a share of four straight conference cage titles since Chicago during the 1907-1910 era. The Buckeyes won the championship outright in 1960, 1961, and 1962.

Clay-Jones Plan Rematch In Late May

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cassius Clay and Doug Jones Thursday were offered a return heavyweight contenders' fight at Madison Square Garden, probably on May 22 or 29, because of their excellent and controversial first bout.

Harry Markson, managing director of Garden boxing, made the offer at a Garden press conference where many angles of last night's 10-rounder, before a sellout of 18,732, were discussed.

Unbeaten Clay, the Louisville Lip who won a unanimous but thunderously booed decision, said he would be willing to fight Jones again if he didn't challenge for the heavyweight crown in September.

At Miami Beach, Champion Sonny Liston said: "If Cassius is handled by anyone with any sense, they wouldn't let him fight me. He can't punch. He couldn't break an egg if he threw it up against the wall."

Cassius said, "If I do fight Jones again I'll probably pick eight for the round I'll knock him out in."

Vogel Still Coach — Schultz Will Assume Added Baseball Duties

Dean of the Iowa coaches, Otto Vogel, Hawkeye baseball coach since 1925, will be absent from the coaching lines this spring.

Director Forest Evashevski said Thursday.

Vogel will still retain his position as head baseball coach, but Dick Schultz will handle the team during the games. Evashevski revealed that doctors had recommended that Vogel not participate in running the team in the field for fear that it Seems that everybody wants to drive our station wagon.

- Why? Is it the three 5-foot seats? They hold the regular driver plus 9 junior drivers.
Or 7 more adults.
Is it because the back seats are removable? Or because the side doors open 4 feet wide?
Slide a seat out and you can slide in a made-up crib.
Take both seats out and you've got room for a full-length bed.
Is it because the Volkswagen gives you more usable space than the biggest conventional wagon, and yet is a good 4 feet shorter?
It fits neatly into parking spots the big boys have to pass by.
Is it the legendary Volkswagen mileage? The rear-engine traction?
Is it the sunroof?
It's also a moonroof.
A rainroof, too. When the sky looks threatening, just slide the roof shut. It's windproof.
Is it the 23 windows to look out of?
Your guess is as good as ours.
Why not come in and see why. For yourself.

Arab Heads Meet; Aim for Unification

CAIRO (UPI) — Official delegations from Syria and Iraq met here Thursday night with United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser in a conference aimed at forging a union among the three major Moslem powers.

In Damascus, the Syrian government announced that a joint Egyptian-Iraqi-Syrian commission was formed to negotiate a federal union between the three countries. Syrian Premier Salah El Bitar said the proposed union would be open to Algeria and Yemen if they wanted to join it.

The meeting was held at Nasser's residence. It coincided with an announcement in Damascus by the new Syrian revolutionary regime pledging itself to forming a unified Arab country with the U.A.R. and Iraq which eventually would become a world power.

Gen. Louay Attassi, Syrian military commander-in-chief said last Friday's bloodless Syrian coup "marked the beginning of true Arab unity finally ending imperialistically-imposed barriers. He said the revolution 'embraces Cairo, Damascus and Baghdad and removes the difficulties preventing the rise of a solid Arab state which will grow . . . until it becomes a great unified Arab country and a leading world power."

The question of unity has vexed the Arab nations for decades. It has become a particularly sensitive issue since the rise to power of U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Observers said the obstacles to real unity are formidable. They cited individual jealousies and ambitions as well as temperamental and economic differences.

The Iraqi delegation from Baghdad was led by Vice Premier Salah El Saadi. Vice Premier Nihad El Kassem headed the Syrian delegation from Damascus.

18 Firms Interview At SUI Next Week

Representatives from 18 U. S. industries will interview SUI students interested in jobs in accounting, advertising, purchasing, science, and math the week of March 18-22. Interviews are being arranged by the Business and Industrial Placement Office.

Companies which will hold interviews are: Archer Daniels, Midland Co., Minneapolis; Bemis Brother, Bag Co., Minneapolis; Mead Johnson, Evansville, Ind.; Rath Packing Co., Waterloo; Bank of America, San Francisco; United States Steel, Pittsburgh; The Pillsbury Co., Minneapolis; Travelers Insurance, Des Moines; Ernst and Ernst, Chicago; U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, Ames; Swift and Co., Chicago; Banker's Life Insurance Co., Des Moines; Kimberly Clark, Neenah, Wis.; Green Giant Co., Le Sueur, Minn.; Illinois Farm Supply, Bloomington, Ill.; Morrell's, Chicago; Amsted Industries, Chicago; and McCann Erickson, Inc., New York City.

Color Photograph Course To Be Held Here April 19-21

A four-lecture weekend course in color photography, taught by John W. Doscher, owner-director of the Country School of Photography at South Woodstock, Vt., will be held at SUI April 19-21.

The lecture series, sponsored by the University Camera Club, will include discussions of the Doscher System for exposing color film, how people respond to pictures, the techniques of assembling a slide exhibition, and the principles behind color bas-relief and montage arrangements. Lectures will be in Shambaugh Auditorium.

Additional information on the color short course may be obtained by contacting Daryl Yoder, treasurer of the University Camera Club, 1108 E. Burlington St. Registration fee is $12.

Wirtz Urges Rail Unions To Negotiate

Talks Stop Wednesday After Brief Argument; Injunction Ends Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government requested the nation's railroads and their on train worker unions Thursday night to resume negotiations in their stalemated work rules dispute.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz made the request in a public statement. Talks were broken off in Chicago Wednesday after they had resumed for only an hour and a half.

"The parties share the obligation to do everything possible without delay to reach a settlement of this controversy," Wirtz said in his statement.

A Labor Department spokesman said Wirtz meant by this the carriers and unions should resume talks without delay.

The Labor Secretary said it will take until about March 29 for a recent Supreme Court decision regarding the dispute to become effective. Until then an injunction is outstanding against the carriers, putting their desired manpower economies into effect.

The court decision upheld the railroad's right to make the economy moves. Under court procedures, however, it will take until March 29 for the high court mandate to become effective.

Geology Teachers To Hold Meeting Here on Saturday

The Central Section of the National Association of Geology Teachers will hold its 23rd annual meeting Saturday at SUI.

The theme of this year's program will be "Should course work in stratigraphy be made a more important part of undergraduate curriculum?" The program was arranged by Professor Rudolph Edmond of Augustana College, Rock Island.

Papers will be presented in the Geology Lecture Room Saturday afternoon by Professors John Burger, Beloit College; Larry Sloss, Northwestern University, and William Furnish, SUI, and Gordon Rittenhouse, Shell Development Company.

Lucien Brush Jr., SUI professor of mechanics and hydraulics, will conduct a tour of the sedimentation laboratory during the morning session.

Maps May Show Future Oil Sites

Geologic structures in 20 southeastern Iowa counties, which could reveal possible oil sites, can be seen on preliminary maps at the offices of the Iowa geological survey, 16 West Market St., after 1 p.m. Tuesday.

The map, according to H. Garland Hershey, state geologist, is part of a paper being prepared by Stanley E. Harris Jr. and Mary C. Parker, G. Coralville. It is on "The Stratigraphy of the Osage Series in Southeastern Iowa."

The preliminary map shows the Burlington formation of the Mississippian system. It is expected to be of current interest to the oil industry.

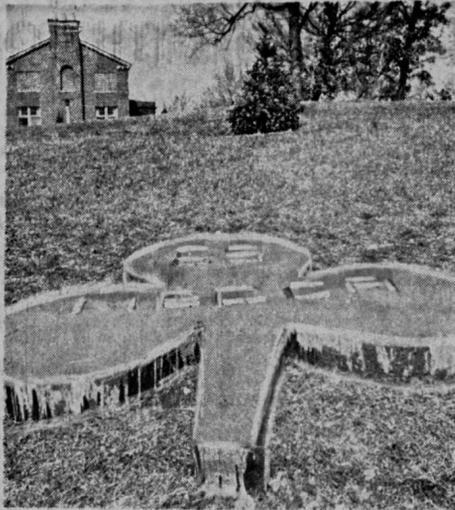

Oil was discovered recently near Keota, about 30 miles from Iowa City. Hershey said the map should help in selecting other areas for further oil exploration.

Seven Candidates Up For Election

Seven students have been named as candidates for the Board of Trustees of Students Publication, Inc. (SPI). One one-year member and two two-year members will be elected during All-Campus Elections March 27.

One-year candidates are, Lawrence Crain, A3, Cedar Rapids; Richard Lehmann, A3, Roseburg, Ore.; and Allan Touch, A3, Springfield, Ill.

Two-year candidates are, James Orris, A2, Letts; Marille Teeagan, A2, Davenport; and Larry Travis, A2, Clinton.

Sham Shamrock Rock

This huge cement shamrock appeared mysteriously near the SUI Law Building Thursday morning, but there's some question as to who put it there. Law students deny its existence. And Engineering students deny putting it there. The green slab measures 6 feet in diameter and is 6 inches thick. Incidentally, both the Engineering students and Law students claim St. Patrick as their patron saint. And Mecca Week ends tonight at the Mecca Ball. —DI Photo

3 Students Report Thefts to Police

One breaking and entering complaint and three thefts from SUI students were reported to Iowa City police Thursday.

Bill Brown, manager of the Hawkeye Shell service station, 104 West Burlington, called police at 7:57 a.m. to report $212.39 in checks and cash had been taken from the station.

Entry was apparently gained through a window on the west side of the building after a window pane there had been broken. Checks and cash were in a money pouch in the rear of the station.

In another report, Mike Welton, A1, Burlington, said clothing valued at $25 was taken from a washer in the basement of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity house sometime between midnight and 12:30 a.m. Thursday.

Don Conkle, A2, Polk City, reportedly saw someone leaving the house carrying clothes at approximately that time. He was unable to make an identification.

A theft was also reported in the parking lot south of the Union, Alan Hartsock, A3, Meadow Brook Trailer Court, reported Thursday the keys to his 1962 model auto and his trailer house were taken from his car while it was parked in the lot late Wednesday morning.

Rod Heddlston, G, Omaha, reported his lightweight bicycle stolen from in front of the Physics Building sometime between 12:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

The black bike has a carrier on the front and the license number 6717.

Exiled?

No Salt Mines For Ousted Play Girls

MOSCOW (AP) — Irate Siberian housewives have protested against exiling big city play girls to their villages.

Speaking for the aroused village women, Mrs. V. Marina of Irkutsk, voiced the protest Thursday in a Moscow paper.

Mrs. Marina said she was incensed by reports from Leningrad that a young woman of easy virtue named Tosca was slated for exile to Siberia to mend her ways.

"This is simply offensive and insulting for us Siberians," she wrote. "Won't this piece of goods from the capital find admirers even in a new place? She probably will."

The exiles are supposed to be re-educated through manual labor on the farms. But reports indicate they are mostly drinking, brawling, thieving and loafing.

Understanding Animals —

Produce Camels' Milk, Nikita Tells Farmers

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev urged Russians Thursday to produce more camels' milk and told farmers they "must understand the language of animals" to increase the milk supply.

In a wide-ranging speech published Thursday Khrushchev said that bureaucracy bogs down farm production. He attacked those farmers who expect to produce more milk simply by posting resolutions and directives.

"You do not understand, comrades, that cows do not read your directives and resolutions," the Premier told an assembly of farm experts.

"If a cow could speak, it would say, 'esteemed managers, you want to receive milk from me. I can go in for a fair exchange. You should be raised and the value of their products received from them," he said.

A doctor at the Bronx Zoo in New York said that Khrushchev obviously knows his milk.

Camel's milk is "very similar" to cow's milk, said Dr. Charles P. Gandal who recently conducted tests comparing the milk produced by the two mammals.

Really, there is no significant difference," said Gandal. "The great white father over there apparently knows what he's talking about when it comes to milk."

"This is a valuable animal, producing milk, leather and excellent wool," he said, adding that during the milking period a one-humped camel can produce about 4,000 quarts of milk.

"These undemanding animals

Far-Out Films Set for April

A series of "far out and seldom seen" films are planned to begin here in April.

The series will feature films from non-Hollywood studios, most of them independently produced in New York and California and some of them experimental foreign films.

Mark Flanders, G, Bellingham, Wash., and Mike Gillette, A4, Iowa City, will sponsor the private non-profit enterprise to be called Iowa City Cinema 16. The series is not connected with any campus organization, they said.

Tentative plans call for film showings over a period of eight Sundays in April and May. The films will be shown both in the evenings and the afternoons.

Flanders and Gillette said they decided to take on the project because they felt there is a need for specialized films not ordinarily available for viewing here.

A ticket selling drive is now under way, they said. Tickets will be sold in blocks of four of the eight showings at $2.75 a block.

At least 80 persons are needed to finance the venture, Flanders said. All money will go for film rental and postage. A membership deadline is set for March 23.

Many of the films are too short for a full performance, the students explained, so a number of films will be incorporated into one program.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning Flanders at 8-5952 or Gillette at 8-7141.

Moscow Defends Ideological Stand

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union Thursday defended its stand in the ideological dispute with Communist China amid official silence on the invitation to Premier Khrushchev to visit Peking.

Western diplomats expressed divided opinions on whether Khrushchev would accept the Chinese offer. There was agreement he might suffer a humiliating setback if he gave the appearance of going to China hat in hand. But the trip was not ruled out, particularly if he could show it as a sign of how far he was prepared to go in the name of Communist unity.

Campus Notes

Honor Pledges

Thirty-nine freshmen coeds have received invitations to pledge Alpha Lambda Delta, freshmen women's scholastic society. Pledging ceremonies will be March 19 and 20 in the House Chamber of Old Capitol at 4:30 p.m.

To be eligible for membership a girl must have a 3.5 grade average after completing a full course load. Any coed meeting these requirements who has not been notified should call Miss Helen Reich, assistant director of student affairs, ext. 2191.

Matrix Invitations

Those who received invitations to the annual Matrix Banquet must make reservations by Tuesday, at the Communications Center.

The banquet, honoring outstanding Iowa City and campus women leaders, will be held March 21 at 6:30 p.m. in the Main Lounge of the Union.

Teaching Interviews

A representative from the Bureau of Indian Affairs at Gallup, N.M., will be on campus Wednesday afternoon, interviewing for teachers. Anyone wishing to talk with him may call the Educational Placement Office (Ext. 2171) for an appointment.

Camera Club

The University Camera Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Pentacrest-Room of the Union.

Prints and slides by members on abstractions will be judged by Beverly Bayne, G. Smithland. The club is also planning a three-day lecture course in color photography to be presented by John W. Doscher, the owner-director of the Country-School of Photography in South Woodstock, Vermont.

The weekend of photography will be held between Friday, April 19 and 21 at Shambaugh Auditorium. It will concern the principles of taking and making effective color slides.

Theatre Today

Noah, an early English morality play, will be presented at 3:30 p.m. today in the Studio Theatre of the Old Armory.

This Medieval cycle drama deals with man's relationship with God. Directed by Steve Schultz, G. Iowa City, the production will feature Jerry Sotman, G. Wilton Junction. Agamemnon, originally scheduled for today has been postponed. The plays are a part of the Studio Theatre series.

New Committeeman

John J. Flagler, associate professor and program director of the SUI Bureau of Labor and Management, has been named to the committee for a regional observance of the U.S. Labor Department's Fiftieth Anniversary celebration in Kansas City, Mo.

The observance, to be highlighted by a luncheon talk by Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds, will draw leaders of labor and management from a six-state region, including Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and the Dakotas.

Theatre Party

Wesley Foundation will sponsor an after-theatre party and discussion of the Studio Theatre presentation of "Ardele" following to night's performance. Cast members will be present to discuss the play in the Music Lounge of Wesley Foundation.

Workshop Series Set

Ten Iowa high schools will be represented at a string ensemble workshop Saturday at SUI. The workshop is the third in a series of four workshops this year. This year marks the 16th annual series sponsored for high school students and teachers by the SUI Music Department in cooperation with the School of Fine Arts and the Extension Division.

The discussion leader for the session will be Emmanuel Wisniewski, head of the Department of Music and instructor in violin at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln.

Pres. Hancher Talk

A recording of a talk made by President Virgil M. Hancher to the SUI faculty last week will be broadcast over radio station WSUI Monday at 7 p.m.

President Hancher's remarks were recorded during a faculty meeting March 6. His talk dealt with legislative matters which affect the University.

Plas Lecture

The annual Plas Memorial Lecture will be given here Monday at the College of Medicine by Dr. Willard M. Allen of Washington University, St. Louis.

The lecture is presented in memory of the late Dr. Everett Plas, who was professor and head of obstetrics and gynecology at SUI from 1926 to 1952.

Dr. Allen will speak on "The Story of Progesterone" at 4:10 p.m. in the Medical Amphitheater at University Hospital.

The speaker is professor of obstetrics and gynecology at Washington University School of Medicine and chief of obstetrics and gynecology at Barnes Hospital and St. Louis Maternity Hospital.

A 1932 graduate of the University of Rochester (N.Y.) School of Medicine, Dr. Allen served on that school's faculty before accepting his present position in 1940.

Baritone Horn Recital

Ernest Goeres, A4, Dyersville, will present a baritone horn recital Friday at 8 p.m. in the North Rehearsal Hall of the Music Building.

Goeres will be assisted by Barbara Stueky, A2, Spencer, on piano and French horn and Evelyn Clothier, A2, Chariton and Roger Beerman, A4, West Union, both on cornet.

The program includes: Aria and Allegro by Tenaglia-Krieger, Andante and Allegro by J. Ed Barat, Concert Etude by Alexander Goedicke and Legend and Cannon by Houston Bright.

News of Indonesia Begins on Monday

Special broadcasts in conjunction with the Indonesian Peace Corps training program now under way at SUI will begin Monday over University radio station KSUI-FM.

Although the broadcasts will be directed to the Peace Corps trainees at SUI, they are designed to be of interest also to the general listenership in eastern Iowa.

The broadcasts will be from 6:30-7:30 p.m. and 10-11 p.m. each Monday through Friday until May 16. KSUI-FM is heard at 91.7 megacycles on the FM dial.

Realism Exhibition Here Sunday

An exhibition of 83 paintings of Charles Sheeler, a leading pioneer of Cubist-realism, will open Sunday from 4 to 6 p. m. in the new gallery of the Art Building.

The public is welcome to attend the opening of the show which will run through April 14.

Mrs. Lillian Dochterman, graduate assistant in art, collected the works by securing their loan from 19 museums and 23 private collectors. The 83 art works were completed by Sheeler from 1910 to 1959.

Sheeler is credited with originating the Cubist-realism style of painting in 1917. He used realistic subjects, but incorporated them into Cubist designs.

The exhibition will show Sheeler's evolution from an early realistic style, through the Cubist influence and then to the Cubist-realism style.

Sheeler's works, whose subjects are mainly landscapes and skyscrapers, have been included in all major exhibitions throughout the country in the past 30 years.

The exhibition is in honor of Sheeler's 80th birthday. He will be unable to attend the showing because of his health.

In 1962 Sheeler received the Academy of Arts and Letters Award for his distinguished contribution to American Arts.

The SUI exhibition will be the largest and most comprehensive exhibition of Sheeler's works ever assembled and it will be their first major presentation in the Midwest.

The New Gallery hours are from 10-11 a. m., 2-5 and 7-9 p. m. on Tuesday through Saturday. Sunday hours are from 2-5 and 7-9 p. m. The gallery will be closed on Mondays.

$15,000 Awarded To Iowa City Pair In Court Decision

Two cases involving the Iowa State Highway Commission have been settled in Johnson County District Court.

A jury awarded $15,000 damages to James and John Grolmus of rural Iowa City Wednesday. The Grolmuses had asked $65,000 for 11 acres of land the Highway Commission condemned in Aug. 1961 for construction of Interstate 80 northeast of Iowa City. The 11 acres taken by the Commission bisects the Grolmuses' 120 acre farm.

In the second case a Highway Commission employee, Glen Larson, 1126 North Dodge, was sued by Charles Neely for $38,000. Larson was operating a snow plow involved in an accident in March 1960 on Highway 6 two miles west of Tiffin.

A jury was selected Thursday morning, but the case was settled out of court later in the day. The details of the settlement were not disclosed.

Six SUI Students Win Fellowships

Six SUI students have been awarded Woodrow Wilson Fellowships in a year-long nationwide selection of future college teachers.

They are Donald D. Adams, A4, Grand River; Harold W. Babbit, A4, Des Moines; David L. Campbell, A4, Oxford; Sidney A. Coon, A4, Ainsworth; Judith A. Wonders, Clinton, A4, and Mark E. Schantz, A4, Wellsburg. Schantz was nominated before his selection as a Rhodes Scholar and will be an honorary Wilson Fellow.

The awards, made by the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, carry a living allowance of $1,500, plus family allowances and full costs of a year's graduate study at any university in the United States or Canada.

This year, 1,475 Wilson Fellows were chosen from 9,767 candidates in 907 colleges and universities.

"It is our hope that these newly-elected Woodrow Wilson Fellows will continue as decisively as possible toward the attainment of the Ph. D.," said Sir Hugh Taylor, foundation president. "All these winners were chosen as 'good bets' for college teaching."

SUI students given "honorable mention" include Steven W. Bainco, Mason City; Michael S. Bird, Tama; James K. Bulgren, Anamosa; James A. Erb, Floyd, and Mrs. Patricia Brown Hockett, Leawood, Kan.

NO PROPERTY DAMAGES EDINBURG, Scotland (AP) — A court ruled Thursday that destruction of property in face of an advancing enemy was an act of necessity and dismissed a claim for damages of $168 million by the Burma Oil Co.

French Troop To Present 2 Plays Here

Le Troupeau de Paris, a troupe of French professional actors, will present two plays by contemporary French authors Thursday, March 22, at 8 p.m. in Macbride Auditorium.

One of the plays, "L'Apollon de Belloc," a comedy by Jean Giraudoux, deals with a young girl whose problem when seeking a job is over-firmidity. At an office where she's applying for a job, Agnes encounters a man from Belloc who tells her the way to get along in a man's world is to tell all men they are handsome. The advice works so well that Agnes can even make a chandelier light up when she praises its beauty.

"Orpheus," an updated Greek tragedy by Jean Cocteau, concerns a poet's dealing with death out of love for his wife. Death is treated as a myth in the play.

The troupe's performance marks its first appearance in Iowa. The group's tour is sponsored by the French Government and the cul-

Melodrama Slated By I.C. Theatre Group April 4, 5, 6

The Iowa City Community Theatre has announced the cast of its production "Angel Street" by Patrick Hamilton, to be presented April 4, 5, 6 at 8 p.m. at Montgomery Hall at the 4-H fairgrounds.

The cast of the melodrama includes Mrs. Willard Hartup as Bella Manningham; Richard Blum, cinematographer of the Extension Audio-Visual department, as Detective Rough; Mrs. Steve Schultz as Elizabeth; and Mary Lynne McRae, NS, Des Moines, as Nancy.

Tickets for the play may be picked up at the door for $1.25 but reservations are necessary. Reservations may be made by calling the Recreation Commission Office, 8-5493.

PEACE CORPS IN PERU LIMA, Peru (AP) — Another 300 U. S. Peace Corps volunteers will be sent here within the next six months, says Frank Mankiewicz, Peace Corps director for Peru.

About 200 corpsmen are in this country. The placement test is not competitive and anyone with a high school education is eligible to take the test. There is no passing score. The test helps determine overseas assignments for which applicants are best qualified.

Doctor Declares — Too Much Sleep Hurts Alertness

CHICAGO (UPI) — Sleeping more than eight hours at night does not increase a person's efficiency the next afternoon, a researcher reported Thursday.

Nathaniel Kleitman, Santa Monica, Calif., a doctor of philosophy, cited a study of sleep and performance in which physical and mental tests were given in the afternoon.

Writing in the journal of the American Medical Association, Kleitman said when the night's sleep was increased from one to six hours, efficiency increased sharply.

When the length of sleep was increased from six to eight hours, the rate of improvement was much smaller, he said, and no improvement was noted when the length of sleep was boosted from eight to 10 hours.

Kleitman said the amount of sleep varied both from person to person and from time to time.

A Chicago doctor of philosophy, also writing in the journal, said one or two cups of coffee was likely to have little effect on the sleep of a coffee drinker.

"The anxious, tense individual may actually find coffee a relaxant, and it would be expected that in these persons a cup of coffee might facilitate sleep," Jack Arbit, Chicago, said.

However, Arbit said, even a small amount of coffee would produce some feelings of insomnia in a person who drinks little or no coffee, and a coffee drinker who drank a large amount of coffee might feel the same results.

3rd Bomb Hoax In Week Here At S.E. Junior

Burford Garner, Iowa City superintendent of schools, said Thursday he is getting tired of bomb threats after the third such scare in a week here forced evacuation of Southeast Junior High School Thursday morning.

A caller warned that a bomb in the school was set to go off in 47 minutes. The 635 students and 40 staff members were evacuated in 10 minutes, according to John Moore, principal. School was dismissed for the entire day. The Board of Education has scheduled Saturday, June 1, for students to make up the day's work.

MOORE

Moore said the caller was an unidentified male and judged it was "a teenage voice." He added that 600 chicken dinners were inside waiting to be eaten.

Police Chief Emmett Evans said the Police Department "is working on it, but we don't want to release any news."

Earlier in the week Regina and City High were evacuated following hoax bomb scare calls.

O'Neil Play Not Obscene Says Director

"If 'Long Days Journey Into Night' were obscene, we would not consider staging it," says Dr. Lael J. Woodbury, director of the forthcoming University Pulitzer prize-winning production by Eugene O'Neil.

Woodbury, associate professor of dramatic arts, was speaking in reference to a recent incident at Baylor University in Waco, Texas. The play was closed in mid-run by the president of the Baptist school, after the director refused to delete profane language from the script.

The play will be presented at the University Theatre at 7 p.m., a special curtain time, March 28-30 and April 1-4. SUI has received special rights to produce the play by promising to stage its entire three and one-half hours.

The exceptional length of the play presents some difficulties, Woodbury says. Usually a play takes about four weeks to rehearse. This one is taking seven weeks.

"But the major problem of staging a play of this length is sustaining the audience's interest," Woodbury adds.

According to Woodbury, this play is one of two biographical plays written by O'Neil. "Ah, Wilderness" told the happy side of the author's family life. The tragic moments are portrayed in "Long Days Journey Into Night."

The play's cast includes: Bill Larson, G. Peru, Neb.; Mrs. Pat Severns, Iowa City; James Dunlavy, G. Mount Pleasant; James Buss, A4, Cedar Rapids and Nancy Scott, A3, Tipton.

Tickets will go on sale March 21 at the East Lobby Desk in the Union. Season ticket holders may pick up their tickets March 18.
