

ON CAMPUS—

STUART C. DODD, University of Washington, will give a lecture entitled "Mass Acts" at 8 p.m. tonight, in the Senate Chamber of the Old Capitol.

He will also speak on "Counter Acts" Thursday night, at the same time and place.

The lectures are the fifth and sixth of the Sociology Department's Probable Acts of Man lecture series.

"LA FIESTA BRAVA" — "the festival of the brave" — begins a four-night run in Studio Theatre tonight at 8. Tickets are available in the East Lobby of the Union between 9 a.m. and noon Saturday. The play attempts to contrast the Spanish and American concepts of manhood.

TODAY'S HOLE, one of our favorites in the downtown area, appears on page three.

THE IOWA STRING QUARTET will present its final concert of the season tonight at 8 in Macbride Auditorium.

The quartet will perform compositions by Haydn, Casella and Beethoven.

Members of the quartet are Charles Treger, associate professor of music, violin; John Ferrell, associate professor of music, violin; William Preucil, assistant professor of music, viola and Camille Duppman, cello.

J. H. PLUMB, eminent British historian, will speak on "Progress and the Historians," tonight at 8 in Shambaugh Auditorium.

Plumb's lecture is being sponsored by the Humanities Society, the Graduate College and the Department of History.

IN THE CITY—

SELECTION OF JUDGES. The final step in changing the method of selecting Supreme Court and District Court judges was completed Tuesday when Gov. Harold Hughes signed the judicial reform bill.

The bill implements the constitutional amendment approved by the voters last year under which judges will be appointed by the governor from lists submitted by nominating commissions.

LAWYERS HONORED. Two Clinton lawyers were named Tuesday night as outstanding legislators by newsmen covering the 60th Iowa General Assembly.

They are Sen. David O. Shaff and Rep. Lawrence D. Carstensen, both Republicans.

IN THE NATION—

BIG VOICE. The Defense Department announced plans Tuesday to set up worldwide voice and other communications networks to link U.S. military installations and tighten command control.

Two specialized networks are planned to provide automatic switching systems for voice, Teletype and data communications among overseas bases and between the United States and overseas points.

D. C. EMPLOYEES. Employees of the District of Columbia government would be required to live in the district under a bill introduced Tuesday by Rep. Fred Schwengel (R-Iowa).

"This is a practice followed by almost every major city in the country," Schwengel said. "Because of the district's acute need for revenue, it is all the more important that this requirement be instituted here."

PRIEST ATTACKED. Roman Catholic authorities in New Orleans said Tuesday night they had filed assault charges against a resident of Belle Chasse in neighboring Plaquemines Parish in connection with the man's alleged attack on a priest who conducted an interracial retreat for Roman Catholic children.

Lawyers acting for the archdiocese of New Orleans filed a sworn affidavit with Justice of the Peace Melba Lange in Belle Chasse charging Leonard Henry Mackenroth had assaulted the Rev. Frank Ecmovich Saturday.

MITCHELL RELEASED. Newburgh, N. Y. City Manager Joseph Mitchell, nationally known critic of free and easy municipal relief handouts, was acquitted Tuesday of engineering a $20,000 rezoning shakedown.

"I think I've cleared not only my name but the name of Newburgh," said Mitchell, 41, as he headed back to the Hudson River Valley city to resume his controversial career in City Hall.

IN THE WORLD—

MORE RIOTS: Students set off more demonstrations Tuesday night in Amman, Jordan against King Hussein. One demonstration was near the American Embassy. For Hussein's comments on the current strife, see Page 3.

—Traded for 24 Americans—

Cuban Prisoners Freed

BULLETIN
HAVANA (AP) — Four Cubans freed from U.S. jails in a swap for 24 Americans held by the Castro regime returned to Havana Tuesday night. One charged he had been subjected to subhuman treatment.

Looking fit, convicted murderer Francisco Molina del Rio, 31, said prisoners in the United States "only receive as nourishment bread and potatoes and a little milk if one can call that which they give for breakfast."

HE SAID the convicts "live in subhuman conditions and are subjected to the most cruel of abuses. Molina was found guilty in the slaying of a 9-year-old Venezuelan girl, a bystander during a shooting brawl between supporters and foes of Prime Minister Fidel Castro in a New York restaurant in 1960.

The Havana newspaper La Tardé said Molina was unjustly sentenced to 25 years. The sentence was 20 years to life.

Molina and three other Cubans who were held in New York under charges of sabotage arrived from Key West, Fla., in a Soviet-built Cuban airliner. They landed at a Cuban air force base outside Havana where troops flanked the runway.

"I AM HERE to carry on my fight for thee, Cuba, my fatherland," La Tardé said Molina cried as he stepped from the plane.

Another of the freed Cubans, Jose Garcia Orellana, 42, returned with his wife and two American-born daughters, aged 10 and 12. He said he had rejected an offer to let him stay in the United States.

The two others returning are Roberto Santiesteban Casanova, 27, and Antonio Suevo, 23. They, with Garcia, had been indicted for conspiring to gain information about U.S. defense installations and to learn how to use explosives to blow them up.

Developments came quickly in the United States in the swap. In Washington officials tended to downgrade the cloak-and-dagger aspects of the deal. Instead, they called the swap smooth, quiet and relatively open.

OFFICIALS in Washington gave credit to James B. Donovan, the New York lawyer who has had outstanding success in negotiating delicate exchanges with Communists.

Molina, Santiesteban, and Suevo were Cuban citizens. Garcia, a native of Cuba, was a naturalized American citizen who ran a costume jewelry shop in New York.

Their release came quickly after a plane had brought the 21 Americans to Florida Monday morning.

Late in the afternoon Justice Department attorneys asked U.S. Dist. Court Judge Thomas F. Croake in New York to dismiss the charges against the three indicted men.

Croake did so. The three men then were quickly taken in black limousines, protected by security cars, to the off-limits north end of Idlewild Airport in New York.

Meanwhile, in a separate move, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York announced that he was commuting Molina's 20-years-to-life sentence. He was taken from prison and put on the same plane as the three other Cubans.

About three months ago Donovan, who was negotiating with Castro about the American prisoners, informed the State Department that Cuba would not release them unless the United States, in turn, freed the four Cubans.

Donovan told the State Department that Castro would not accept anything less. The State Department, after consultation with other agencies including the Justice Department, agreed to go ahead with the deal.

Postal Department Cuts Expenditures

Big Offices Told To Curtail Services; Smaller Towns May Be Affected Later

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taking drastic steps to match congressional budget cuts, the Post Office Department clamped down Tuesday on new hirings and overtime pay in its 68 biggest offices and told them to curtail their service if necessary.

There was a hint that the restrictions may extend later into other communities. But the order would be wiped out if Congress relents and gives Postmaster General J. Edward Day the money he says is needed to keep his department at full steam.

Congressional reaction was mixed. Some members said the department had no choice and should get more money. Others said economies should be found elsewhere than cutting down service.

HOUSE REPUBLICAN Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana said Day's department is "trying to blackjack Congress." And Rep. Ben F. Jensen of Iowa, senior Republican on the House Appropriations Committee, said "they would have hollered if we had cut them only $5."

Asst. Postmaster General Frederick C. Belen, chief of the department's Bureau of Operations, notified the postmasters of the order in a telegram saying: "Initially these restrictions will be limited in application to the 68 largest post offices."

The postmasters were told to take two immediate steps: not hire any new employees, and to limit overtime in any future accounting period to the amount paid out during the four-week period that ended last March 29.

Thresher Sinking To Be Examined

The probable causes of the sinking of the nuclear submarine Thresher will be discussed today by Myron E. Lunchik when he addresses a seminar in advanced mechanics in 109 Engineering Building.

Lunichik, of Booz-Allen Research, Inc., Bethesda, Md., will speak at 3:30 p.m. His topic will be "Plastic Instability of Shells for Deep Sea Vehicles."

All interested persons are invited to attend.

ing the four-week period that ended last March 29.

As Day had told Congress earlier, Belen said the personnel pinch may make it necessary to cut down on service to postal customers. The first action, where "absolutely necessary," will be to halt plans for extending mail delivery to new office buildings and housing developments not now served, Belen told the postmasters.

DAY MENTIONED as additional cutbacks which may be necessary the elimination of Saturday mail deliveries and a shutdown of the parcel post service.

Dodge St. Repairs May Be Completed By Monday: Evans

Police Chief Emmett Evans said Tuesday that repairs on Dodge Street are nearing completion and the street should be open to traffic again next Monday.

Police said traffic has been moving along smoothly in the downtown area following the rerouting of traffic from Highway 1 onto Dubuque Street to speed up repairs.

The traffic Tuesday was unusual, light, Police said, and rerouting created no complications even at the evening rush hour.

Erhard Is Nominated For Chancellor Post

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany's strongest party overruled the objections of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer Tuesday and nominated Ludwig Erhard to head the next government.

It was a bitter blow for the chancellor, now 87, who is committed to retire from the No. 1 job this fall. He considers Erhard, 66, lacks political skills necessary to run the government.

West Germany can be expected to remain firmly in the Western camp under Erhard, although Erhard may lean more toward Britain than France as Adenauer has done.

Adenauer took his defeat at the hands of Erhard as gracefully as a losing politician can.

THE TWO SHOOK HANDS and promised to work together after Erhard had been picked, 159 to 47, at a meeting of parliamentary representatives of their Christian Democratic party and its close ally, the Christian Socialist Union of Bavaria.

But Adenauer looked angry and brushed reporters away impatiently at the end of the two-hour session. "You'll find out all about it from the others," he said. On the other hand, Erhard was beaming. "I am very happy about the result," he said. "I look forward to the future with confidence and to my work with the chancellor. I will cooperate with him fully and unstintingly until the day I take over."

Erhard has been minister of economics for 13 years. If everything goes as planned, he will take over the chancellorship when Adenauer steps down.

HEINRICH VON BRENTANO, the Christian Democrats' leader in Parliament, was designated to inform President Heinrich Lübke of the nomination.

When Adenauer resigns, Lübke will send Erhard's name to the Bundestag, the lower house in Parliament. The Bundestag elects the chancellor.

The two Christian parties do not have a majority in the Bundestag. They work in a coalition with the Free Democrats, a right-of-center group. But the Free Democrats announced after the vote that they are ready to continue the coalition under Erhard.

Adenauer and Erhard have worked in the same government since the West German Federal Republic was formed in 1949. Adenauer was largely responsible for the political task of bringing his country, defeated and disgraced in World War II, back to a position of respectability and influence among nations. Erhard is generally credited with bringing it from ruins to prosperity.

Neutralist Truce Team To Seek Laotian Peace

Three-Nation Commission Set for 'One-Sided Effort'

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — A three-nation commission, barred from operating within lines of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao, is sending a truce team today or Thursday to the neutralist side in the Plaines des Jarres campaign in a one-sided effort for peace.

Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma said Tuesday the commission's observers — representing India, Canada and Poland — can at least see "who is firing the rifle shots."

There had been a 48-hour lull in the shooting, but heavier fighting threatened. Rightist Gen. Phoumi Nosavan said he would send his regulars into action as allies of the outnumbered neutralists if the Pathet Lao completed its conquest of the Plaine, a strategic plateau 110 miles north of Vientiane.

A Pathet Lao broadcast from the interior asserted that two of Phoumi's crack paratroop battalions had been dropped in the Plaine des Jarres area Monday and Tuesday. It said this proved the United States and the rightists "did not want to end the present military conflict." Phoumi denied similar Pathet Lao charges last week.

Abroad, a series of developments reflected concern of the United States and other powers at the menace to Laos' neutrality and independence that was guaranteed by a 14-nation Geneva conference last July.

Units of the U.S. 7th Fleet were reported moving to the South China Sea area off the Gulf of Siam as a precaution against a Communist takeover. Laos itself is landlocked, but it is a potential stepping stone to its Southeast Asian neighbors — some pro-Western and others neutral.

JFK Loses Show To 17-Month-Old

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 17-month-old girl, waving her arms and making faces behind his back during a speech, stole the show from President Kennedy in the White House rose garden. The chief executive, accustomed to irrepressible young ladies — having one of his own — took it with a grin.

Kennedy was paying tribute to 100 Fulbright scholars from abroad who were accompanied by about 40 wives and 50 children. Karima Khalil stood behind him on the steps leading from the covered portico outside his office.

Karima, clad in a pink dress and sweater, at the outset hollered for "Mommie, mommie!" just as Kennedy was saluting "some of the brightest minds from abroad." The youngster kept up the action during his talk.

At the end, Kennedy turned to the little girl with a broad grin, indicating he was not excluding her from the bright minds. Karima is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hassan Khalil.

Senate Gets Revenue Bill For Debate

(For other state Legislature stories, see page 3).

DES MOINES (AP) — Debate on the Senate version of the revenue bill already passed by the House was set for 9 a.m. Thursday after it was reported out by the Ways and Means Committee Tuesday.

Like the House measure, the bill recommended by the Senate committee would boost the sales tax from two to three percent and extend it to hotels and motels. It also would repeal all but one mill of the monies and credits tax and all of the personal property tax on household goods. The corporation income tax would be raised from three percent to four percent.

COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN David O. Shaff (R-Clinton) said it would produce an estimated $43 million more for the state for each of the next two years. He said the sales tax increase would bring in about $40 million and the higher corporate income tax and sales tax on hotel and motel services about $1.5 each.

The committee vote to recommend the bill was 12-9, barely the two-thirds minimum needed to report out the measure.

The backers of the bill won enough support to get it out as purely a revenue raising measure despite strong sentiment for attaching an earmarking provision to insure that some of the money would go for some form of property tax relief.

AT ALMOST the same time that the Ways and Means Committee acted, the Senate Sifting Committee reported out for debate two measures aimed at relieving property taxes.

One would pay the agricultural land tax credit in full at a 20-mill level, instead of at the 15-mill level now in effect. The other would raise the maximum homestead tax credit for $62.50 to $80. The bills were assigned to the Senate Appropriations Committee.

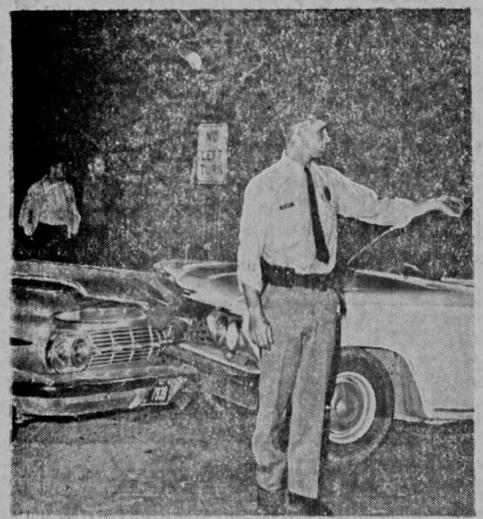

The bill as reported out by the Ways and Means Committee was similar in many respects to the measure passed by the House. However, the Senate committee did not go along with the House in adding one cent to the cigarette tax.

In another revision, the Senate version would levy a sales tax only on the first 28 days of rent on a temporarily rented sleeping room. The House version would have collected a tax on all hotel and motel room rent regardless of the length of stay.

A Little Warmer
Fair and warmer today with highs in the 50s. Fair and warmer tonight. Partly cloudy and warmer Thursday.

Tickets are now on sale for a new dance to be performed here Saturday by Erick Hawkins. Tickets cost $1.75 and are available in the East Lobby of the Union for the dance to be presented at 8 p.m. in Macbride Auditorium.

Hawkins, who created the new dance entitled "Here and Now With Watchers", uses a series of duets and solos in eight parts to "rediscover sources of immediacy in pure movement."

A Perilous Intersection
... That Needs Attention

Needed: A New Light Control Plan

There are seven intersections controlled by traffic lights between the west boundary of Coralville on Highway 6 and the southern boundary of Iowa City at the intersections of South Riverside drive, Highway 6, and Highway 1.

Six of these traffic light-controlled intersections have overhead lights supplemented by post-mounted signals. One does not. The intersection lacking overhead traffic light control is one of the most heavily traveled in Iowa City, where North Riverside drive branches off Highway 6 south of the Art Building and east of Westlawn dormitory.

A high rate of accidents occur at this intersection.

Lane Mashaw, director of public works for Iowa City Monday morning said he plans to ask the Iowa Highway Commission to recommend a change in traffic light layout at this intersection.

Mashaw said he thinks an overhead light, supplemented by the already-existing post-mounted signals and new overhead signs, might be the best solution to the problem.

The intersection in question is heavily traveled by married students from Templin and Riverside parks, students from fraternities on North Riverside drive and Ellis avenue, law students, and art and theater students. A new light-control plan definitely is needed.

We urge the city to implement such a plan as soon as possible.

Respect Their Plight

The seven month long controversy involving Buchanan County Amish farmers is a disturbing one.

Next fall a district court is expected to rule whether the Amish fathers are breaking the law by sending their children to schools which are not accredited by the state.

It is not difficult to sympathize with these people who seek to perpetuate their harmless existence by guiding their children toward the same simple life. For if they do not, they fear their society will vanish.

On the other hand, we have the law which is maintained to ensure the betterment of the whole society. And this includes education for the youth of every community.

Perhaps we are observing a paradoxical phenomenon in which a fragment of our citizenry can suffer legal prosecution by adhering to its established concept of domestic tranquility.

We must respect the plight of the Amish. They are fighting extinction.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

Cardona's Action: 'Irresponsible'

(The Miami [Fla.] Herald)

Dr. Jose Miro Cardona's use of the word "criminal" to describe United States policy on Cuba, plus other abusive wordage in his version of dealings with President Kennedy, was rash and irresponsible.

This country is no product of rag-tag coups and humpty-dumpty revolutions. The American revolution was thought out and fought by patriots who could and did rise to peaks of emotional fervor, but who also kept a rational grasp on their sense of national purpose.

Cuba is first of all a nation currently run by a Cuban whom many other Cubans oppose. This is tough on the anti-Castro Cubans, and they have received a generous measure of U.S. sympathy of a tangible kind.

Cuba is secondly a small close-by neighbor of the United States which has gotten tangled up in the worldwide menace which Communism poses to the leader of the free world. In Washington, the Cuban "problem" has to be dealt with on this basis. Our foreign policy is our own to control. It is not subject to changes determined by how loudly a troublesome ally shouts his own contrary policy.

The U.S. State Department's response to Dr. Miro holds that his statement is "a gross distortion of recent history." It says further that "the United States cannot coexist with a Soviet satellite in this hemisphere."

We believe this.

A Switch From Farming to Fun?

(Wall Street Journal)

With the Agriculture Department determined to encourage farmers to shift their cropland into recreational projects, it may be instructive to consider the case of J. C. Sharpe.

Mr. Sharpe has 250 acres near LaFayette, Ala. Until about 10 years ago he was a dairyman with a 32-cow herd. But help was hard to get and he wasn't making much profit. So Mr. Sharpe began to turn his farm into a recreation area which he calls "Dizzy-Land."

Today he has a rough but playable golf course, a couple of softball fields, six ponds (fishing fee: 50 cents), facilities for badminton, shuffleboard and horseshoe pitching, a playground, picnic tables and a meeting place for clubs, church organizations and the like.

It's nothing fancy; Mr. Sharpe made all the children's swings and other equipment from his own timber. And he's just about doubled his previous dairy earnings.

If the switch from farming to fun really catches on and if enough acres are turned over to golf and picnicking, maybe it will solve the whole dairy farm surplus problem. Or would the government then have to launch a program for stockpiling golf balls?

The Lunch Hour Lock-Out

(Iowa Defender)

... it has struck us that the quaint custom of closing most of the University's offices from twelve to one in the afternoon, while all office help enjoys a simultaneous lunch hour, is a policy that ought to be seriously considered for revision. Many of the offices, such as the Office of Student Affairs, the Registrar's Office, and the Placement Office, offer services which do not require their entire staff and which can be handled or supervised by clerical personnel. Such offices could be kept open by merely staggering the lunch hours of the office personnel thus making various services available at what is often a convenient hour for students' business transactions.

Something We All Know About

(Cedar Rapids Gazette)

Governor Hughes brought back some good ideas from promoting tourism from his trip to Kentucky to visit with the governors of Illinois, Kentucky and Indiana. He also brought back information that most asked about tourist attraction in Iowa, so far as this particular conference was concerned, was the Amana Colonies. This only bolsters what a loyal Iowan has known for a long time — that the Amana Colonies are a great attraction for tourists.

The Farmer: A Paradox

(Craig Colo. Empire-Courier)

A farmer is a paradox. He is an overvalued executive with his own home office; a scientist using fertilizer attachments; a purchasing agent in an old straw hat; a personnel director with grease under his fingernails; a production expert faced with a surplus; and a manager facing a price-cost squeeze.

An SUI Instructor Writes —

A Guatemalan Surveys His Country's Politics

By CARLOS H. MONSANTO
Written for The Daily Iowan

A free Guatemalan is something of a rarity ever since a handful of "brave and patriotic men" have taken the country by sheer force with the pretext of protecting it effectively against the Communist menace. After living in this country for several years, however, I find it impossible to stop feeling a free man, and to keep from exercising the right to speak my piece. I know I will not be put in jail, and leave my family without its head. You Americans are very very lucky.

It is all too obvious that what happened in Guatemala several weeks ago was a planned effort to keep ex-President Juan Jose Arevalo from returning to the country to stand free elections in November. That the whole thing was pre-planned is clearly shown by the graceful manner in which President Ydigoras left the Guatemala White House. No one fired a shot to keep him in office. He becomes the first man in history to admit that his having been overthrown is good for his country and continent. Let's forget Mr. Ydigoras that for whom that unfortunate country where he has chosen to retire, a country whose wonderful people for a number of years, have lived a sort of dynastic-republic where the presidency is handed down from father to son.

About Mr. Peralta, the man who has taken over, the American public already knows about his tactics and ambitions. There are, then, two other men who have been mentioned in the political drama that is now unfolding in my little Land of Eternal Jacob: Juan Jose Arevalo and Jacobo Arbenz. About these men I want to talk briefly because too many journalists and news commentators in this country are committing the error of associating them very closely.

AM I QUALIFIED to do this? My father, Dr. Adolfo M. Monsanto helped write the 1945 Constitution of Guatemala, which ended centuries of tyranny. He served also as secretary and diplomat during Arevalo's presidential term (1945-51). Dr. Arevalo is my God father in the Catholic faith, and I enjoyed a visit with him in Mexico last summer.

Now, to the comparison. Arbenz is a man of extreme ideas, who wants and wanted to carry reforms without moderation, and without hesitating to share the presidential desk with pro-Russian elements. In fact, he is in Havana hoping to get Fidel to help him, for otherwise he knows he does not have a chance. He does not have the clear-cut and well-expressed ideals of Arevalo. The latter has defined himself as a "spiritual socialist." A famous American news commentator smiled when he described Arevalo as such. Of course, our newsman does not understand, and does not bother to understand what Arevalo means by this term.

To define it as Arevalo uses it is not an easy task, for great men quite often express themselves with a great style. I can only hope to come close to his definition.

AREVALO REJECTS the mate-

Franklin D. Roosevelt, praises and exalts a world of superior values, without which human life stops being human. This is what Arevalo means by spiritualism, a belief, and practice of these higher values. President Roosevelt's brand of spiritualism, so strong that it kept together and united such a vast and diversified country during the dark years of war, was religious in origin. We all remember the many Bible quotations in his speeches. Arevalo's brand of spiritualism, however, although very similar to that of Mr. Roosevelt's, is a philosophical one, inspired by the idea that man has a body and a soul. It is a type of spiritualism that was born in the university classroom, where Arevalo has spent many days of his life. Let's not forget that Arevalo is known everywhere for his important contributions to the fields of Educational Psychology and also to the history of political thought. Anyone doubting this may consult our general library, under his name.

ARBENZ, ON the other hand, is incapable of such an ideology. It is not surprising, then, to find great differences between these two men. Arbenz did not hesitate to surround himself with professional blood-bathers — Castro style — in his obstinacy to change overnight a semi-feudalistic system that has existed for centuries. When U.S.-Guatemalan relations were strained during his Administration, he asked and got help from iron curtain countries. There were all too many abuses and tortures during his days as president, and Guatemalans know it.

UNIVERSITY BULLETIN BOARD

University Bulletin Board notices must be received at The Daily Iowan office, Room 301 Communications Center, by noon of the day before publication. They must be typed and signed by an adviser as a member of the organization being published. Purity social functions are not eligible for this section.

HAWKEYE EDITORIAL and business staff positions will be selected for the 1964 yearbook. The First Glimmers of Progress Dawn

To the Editor:

Himmel: The first glimmers of progress dawn on The Hawkeye (or Corn) State:

- The State Senate approves a timid liquor-by-the-drink bill.
- The Board of Regents approves a $2.5 million, 10-story addition to Currier Hall (from whence the coeds will trudge through knee-deep snows to the drafty temporaries).
- Johnny Hart dares to tamper with religion in B.C. and at least one Iowa paper runs the strip.
- The Daily Iowan gets bend-day rules.

When I left Iowa almost a year ago for greener pastures, I was, by and large, in agreement with the pundit who said: "There is a move afoot in Congress to make Iowa a federal reserve, so that Americans may come here and see how people lived in the 19th Century."

However, I now know that not all the idiots are in Iowa. Witness, for example:

- The Florida Legislature recently passed — and the U.S. District Court approved — a bill that provides majority representation in the Legislature by 29 per cent of the state's population (here, we call the throwbacks Pork Choppers).
- The State Road Department recently decided that since a proposed four-lane, trans-state highway would compete with the toll Sunshine State Parkway, several 20-mile stretches would be left uncompleted in the new freeway.
- Hundreds of refugee Batista thugs go to Dade County Junior College free, while U.S.-born Negroes attend night school and work as janitors, or worse.
- Bible-reading and fundamentalist devotions are a daily part of elementary and junior high classes, although the Supreme Court may soon forbid this.

Let us hope that Iowa can show the way to less progressive states in outlawing capital punishment.

A Reply To Frenkel

To the Editor:

Really Mr. Frenkel, where has this "dynamic attorney general" been hiding himself? Perhaps the Hultman you speak of is not the same Hultman we watched argue the Republican sponsored "Shaft" Plan as a "virtuous" method of protecting the city dwellers from their own actions by carefully allocating the majority of the House seats among 24 per cent of the people of Iowa.

Are you speaking of the "experienced" Attorney General who recently uttered the Farm Bureau plan of "freedom" to the farmers and businessmen of Johnson County? The freedom he speaks of is freedom to plunge further into economic disaster. It is the freedom to go bankrupt and to join the ranks of the urban unemployed. It is also the freedom to lose one's farm to the wealthy speculators who prosper on the misfortunes of others. The Republican Party and the Farm Bureau have continued to cry out for a return to Benson style prosperity (e.g., economic disaster) while ignoring the basic problem.

I challenge you, Mr. Frenkel, to produce examples of concrete actions undertaken by the Republican Party of Iowa which by the most liberal interpretation can be classified as dynamic. We have heard many dynamic words from the Republican Party but have seen few dynamic legislative actions which have attempted to put Iowa into the 20th Century.

Hounding By the Law

To the Editor:

It is highly unfortunate that an Indiana University coed should be the victim of a dope ring. It is also highly unfortunate that she should be hounded by the law for her political beliefs.

The Associated Press story carried by the Iowan stated that the prosecutor "had had Miss Dillingham under surveillance about a month because of her activities in the Young Socialist Alliance, a group accused of involvement in Castro sympathy demonstrations on the campus at the time of the Cuban blockade last fall."

So what's wrong with demonstrating for Castro? I refer you to that subversive document, the Constitution of the United States of America, which guarantees that we can disagree with our government any time we want to, as long as we are orderly.

Campus Notes

Religion Talk

The Inter Religious Council (IRC) of SUI will offer the first of two talks on the theme of "Morality in World Politics" — with special reference to Cuba Friday. This free lecture will be heard in the Shambaugh Auditorium at 4:15 p.m.

In these talks both the Catholic and the Christian Science approach to this vital question will be under focus.

The second talk on the same topic will be given by Father Smith of St. Ambrose College, Davenport, at a date to be announced soon.

Chemistry Banquet

Willard Boyd, professor of law, will be the guest speaker at the annual spring banquet of Phi Lambda Upsilon, national chemistry honor society, today.

The banquet will be held at Zuber's Restaurant in Homestead.

Education Discussion

Contrast of the elementary education systems in Western Europe, Turkey, Japan and Russia with that in the United States will be discussed Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the School Study Council meeting at South East Junior High School.

The discussion, led by Dr. J. A. Buckwalter, professor of surgery, will begin with a panel representing the various countries including Mrs. Daniel Wiltfang, Western Europe; Dr. Ehren Ovack, Turkey; Dr. Jun Kimura, resident in internal surgery, Japan and Dr. Max Oppenheimer, chairman of the Department of Russian, Russia.

SARE Meeting

The Student Association for Racial Equality (SARE) will meet today at 7:30 p.m. in East Lobby Conference Room 2 of the Union. The public is invited.

Ross Danielson, A3, Burlington, will speak. Danielson was the SUI representative to the Human Relations Conference for Iowa Students last weekend at Ames.

Spring Party

The International Student Association will hold a spring party on Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the River Room of the Union. All members of the Association are invited free of charge. Guests and others are welcomed at 25 cents per person.

Berlin Wall Talk

Gabriele Richter, AX, Kiel, Germany, will speak on "The Meaning of the Berlin Wall" at an Iowa Conservative Club meeting tonight at 8 in the Pentacrest Room of the Union.

Miss Richter, who attended the Free University of Berlin, will accompany her talk with slides.

China Lecture

A lecture demonstration on the use of china, glassware and silver will be presented by William Nusser of Hands Jewelry Store Thursday at 4:30 p.m. in Conference Room 3 of the Union.

The lecture which is open to the public is sponsored by the Campus and Personal Life Committee of the YWCA.

Semantic Talk

Walter Steigleman, SUI associate professor of journalism, will address a high school journalism conference at Wartburg College, Waverly, Friday. His topic, "Say Now Shabbath," concerns semantic problems in mass communications.

Hawkeye Staff Positions

Letters have been sent to all housing units informing students of the selection of 1964 Hawkeye editorial and business staff positions. Those interested in applying are invited to the Hawkeye coffee hour, Tuesday, April 30, at 7:30 p.m. in the lounge of the Communications Center.

At the meeting the editor and business manager will help fill out applications and answer questions. A list of positions and a statement of the duties involved will also be available.

Biophysics Talk

Charles Duttweiler, G, Coralville, will speak on his work in biophysics at 7:30 p.m. Thursday before a meeting of Beta Beta Beta, honorary biological society, in Science Hall Auditorium at Iowa Wesleyan College, Mt. Pleasant.

Duttweiler, who is a 1962 graduate of Iowa Wesleyan, is presently carrying out a study at the SUI Medical Center concerned with the growth, development and behavior of animals under the effects of high gravity. The study is expected to contribute greatly to later studies in space biology, where human factors are involved.

West Point Selection

Aaron Coe, EI, New London, has been selected for the next entering class of the United States Military Academy at West Point. Senator Jack Miller (R-Iowa) announced Wednesday.

Coe was selected by the Academy board from four candidates nominated by Senator Miller to take the final competitive examination. Coe will report to West Point July 1.

French Book

"Les Faux Dieux," a book by Helene Scriabine, assistant professor of Russian, is now available in Iowa City bookstores.

The book, written in French, deals with the humor found in the writings of Michel Zostchenko, who wrote about the everyday life of a common Soviet citizen and Marcel Ayme, whose "deadpan" technique demonstrates the paradox of French "civilized behavior".

French critic Robert Escarpit has praised Prof. Scriabine for the method she uses in studying "the struggle with 'false gods' in European society."

Prof. Scriabine, a native of Russia, lived eight years in France before coming to the United States in 1950.

She now teaches in elementary and intermediate Russian composition and conversation and readings in representative Russian literature.

House Defeats Bill On Dairy Selling

DES MOINES (AP) — A bill to define and outlaw unfair dairy marketing practices failed by one vote to pass the Iowa House Tuesday.

The vote was 54-49 in favor of the bill, but it requires 55 votes for a measure to pass the House.

It was the second trip through the House for the measure, which ran into a parliamentary snarl in the Senate after the first time around and made repassage by the House necessary. Previously the bill passed the House on March 21, 1957. It squeaked through the Senate April 8, 28-22.

Rep. Cheeser Hougen (R-Cedar Falls) filed a motion to reconsider the vote.

Lawyer members of the House made 15 attempts to amend the bill to spell out assurance that persons accused of violating the act would have the right of appeal to the court from administrative action suspending a dealer's license. All 15 attempts were voted down.

The bill would prohibit the low cost sales of milk, cheese, ice cream and most other dairy products except butter.

It also would make it unlawful for any dairy processor or distributor to give a retailer a subsidy or rebate.

Rep. Elmer Den Herder (R-Sioux Center) the chief sponsor of the bill, said it was necessary to protect Iowa dairymen from the "dumping" of surplus milk into Iowa by processors outside the state.

HE CONTENDED that most independent dairies and small creameries already have been forced out of business in Iowa because of what he called unscrupulous practices of large national dairy companies.

Rep. Tom Riley (R-Cedar Rapids) a lawyer, made several attempts to amend the bill to provide for court hearings before the state could suspend the license of a business man accused of violating the act.

"We even give the right of a court hearing to the drunken driver," Riley said. "Why do we want to deny the privilege to a person accused of violating this act?"

Another lawyer, Rep. William Denman (D-Des Moines) termed the bill "unwieldy, unworkable and unwise" in the form in which it passed both the House and the Senate.

Iowa Senate Votes ADC $4.25 Million

DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa Senate Tuesday defeated two attempts to increase the state funds for and to dependent children (ADC) while approving a bill appropriating $17.5 million for the State Department of Social Welfare each of the next two years.

The measure was passed 47-0 and sent to the House.

The appropriation approved for welfare included $4.25 million a year for ADC. That figure is $1 million under Gov. Harold Hughes recommendation and nearly $3 million less than the department's request. ADC currently has an appropriation of $4 million a year.

Sen. Jake Mincks, (D-Ottumwa), attempted to amend the measure to raise the ADC appropriation to the amount sought by the Governor.

He said the amount contained in the Senate bill would pay only 60 per cent of the need because of increased case loads and costs. Minck's amendment was defeated 36-10.

University Schools Art Display Shows Varied Techniques

Art work by students of the two University Schools is currently on display at two different places on campus. The displays represent art work completed during the current school year.

An exhibit by University High School students will be shown through Sunday in the Main Gallery of the Art Building. It is open to the public from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. on weekdays and from 1 to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

The University Elementary School art exhibit can be seen in the Terrace Lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union through Monday. The IMU is open from 7 a.m. to 10:45 p.m. daily.

Techniques represented in the exhibits include tempera, crayon, linoleum prints, pencil marker, pen and ink, mixed media, melted crayon, chalk, colored tissue, cut paper, collage, prints made from vegetables.

The University Schools art program is under the direction of Prof. Frank Wachowiak, art education department head and Theodore Ramsay, supervisor of elementary art.

Iowa Hydraulics Board Sets Iowa City Meeting

Eight members of the Board of Consultants of the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research will meet in Iowa City Monday and Tuesday.

The meeting will mark the first visit of the board to the SUI facility in three years. In addition to the present board, two former members will attend the meeting. The board chairman is Prof. J. W. Howe, head of the Department of Mechanics and Hydraulics in the College of Engineering.

Comprised of prominent scientists and engineers from throughout the country, the board was organized in 1946. Its primary function is to advise on matters pertaining to the research programs of the Institute and the planning of technical conferences. Each appointment lasts for three years.

Professor Huntov Rouse, institute director, said the consultant will

For World Communications—

Pentagon Outlines 5-Satellite System

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Pentagon communications official outlined Tuesday a plan to put five or more satellites into orbit with a single rocket to build a system that would flash messages to command posts around the world.

Rear Adm. Jack S. Dorsey said the Defense Communications Agency hopes to be ready in about two years to demonstrate the feasibility of its communications satellite plan. Preliminary contracts may be let within the next two weeks, he said.

Dorsey and Lt. Gen. Alfred D. Starbird testified before the House Military Operations subcommittee. Starbird is director of the communications agency, Dorsey is deputy director in charge of the communications satellite project.

Starbird said the armed services need an instant communications system that would survive a nuclear attack. In addition, he said, the system must be flexible so that it can be expanded swiftly to provide "reliable communications to out-of-the-way areas where tension develops."

COMMUNICATIONS satellites offer the greatest promise of meeting those needs, Starbird said.

The program calls for a system of lightweight satellites launched into random polar orbits, 5,000 to 10,000 miles up. He said five or more satellites could be packed into the nose cone of an Atlas-Agena missile and injected into orbit at varying speeds so they would spread out.

Coupled with air-transportable ground stations, Dorsey said, the system "will provide secure, survivable and flexible communications to the worldwide military command and control systems."

Dorsey said the system would be reliable and difficult for an enemy to knock out. With a 30-satellite system, he said, failure of six satellites would still leave a 98 per cent reliability rate.

Multiple orbiting techniques need further development, Dorsey said but should not delay creation of the system.

"A payload of five or more satellites per booster is an exceptionally attractive feature of the medium-altitude system approach, since each launch represents an investment of about $10 million," Dorsey said.

FRENCH PEACE CORPS

PARIS (AP) — France is planning its own version of the U.S. Peace Corps, Cooperation Minister Raymond Triboulet announced Tuesday. The program will be carried "by Volunteers of Progress."

The first group of young men will be sent next fall to various former French colonies in Africa.

Rains Slow Fire Spread In East U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Rain dampened the drought-stricken East Tuesday, but the danger of further brush and forest fires remained high in many areas.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York inspected fire-ravaged sections of Staten Island by helicopter and car for two hours and described the scene as a "real tragedy."

The Small Business Administration declared the island and four counties in New Jersey disaster areas, making individuals and others eligible for emergency loans.

Property damage from brush fires that broke out Saturday and lasted through Monday is estimated at $2 million. More than 116 buildings on the island were destroyed. Hundreds were left homeless.

Fires still burned in sections of New Jersey where Acting Gov. William E. Ozzard was declared a state of fire emergency.

"The rain we've gotten so far has slowed up the fires for a while this morning, but as soon as the wind comes up we're going to have trouble again," said Fire Warden R. Wesley Davis of New Jersey.

Losses from forest and industrial fires since Saturday are estimated at $20 million in New Jersey.

Hussein Vows To Preserve Jordan Unity

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — King Hussein Tuesday described assassination as an occupational hazard among monarchs and vowed never to quit the fight to preserve Jordan, menaced by hostile Arab neighbors.

Smiling and appearing confident the king, 27, spoke to reporters a few hours after police with clubs dispersed a student demonstration that echoed the pro-Nasser disorders of last weekend.

The demonstrators, high school students, shouted "Go away boss" and called on Jordan to join "one Arab nation, one Arab army."

Hussein, flanked by his newly appointed premier, Sharif Hussein Ibn Nasser, charged demonstrators Saturday were an organized affair aimed at destroying Jordan. The demonstrators had demanded an end to the monarchy and a union of Jordan with Iraq, Syria and Egypt in the new United Arab Republic.

Hussein said he intended to serve Jordan "whether I am a king or an ordinary person." He recalled a statement he made several weeks ago that he would be willing to abdicate to help Arab union.

He told the news conference that he was ready "if ever I was an obstructionist to carry out any sacrifice."

"Let me make it clear. I am no quitter. I feel stronger than ever," he added.

Cairo broadcasts have often called for the assassination of Hussein. As for such a possibility, the king called assassination "an occupational hazard which one takes as a normality. My life does not mean anything to me if it is not in the service of my people."

Hussein said Jordan was prepared to take part in an Arab union on a proper basis but did not define the basis.

The king said a new Parliament will be elected within four months. He termed the former Parliament a "mockery." It had voted out a Cabinet he had installed in an attempt to placate advocates of union with the Arab federation.

Drive For Sales Of Savings Bonds Begins May 1

May 1 to July 4 is the period for Iowa's Freedom Bond Drive. H. Clark Houghton and Ben E. Summerwill of Iowa City, volunteer county savings bonds chairmen announced Tuesday.

May 1 is the 22nd anniversary of Series E savings bonds.

"Organizations throughout the nation are participating in the drive," the chairmen said. "Our goal is to have every family buy a savings bond before July 4."

The chairmen also reported that sales of savings bonds in Iowa exceeded those of last year for the third consecutive month. March sales in all Iowa were $10,455,945, giving the state a three-month total of $35,941,737 for 31 per cent of the 1963 goal.

March sales in Johnson county were $190,600, boosting the three-month total to $602,281, for 29 per cent of the county's 1963 quota.

CARRIER SPOTLIGHT

RICK RUPPERT, 16-year-old sophomore at City High School, rates the "Carrier Spotlight" today. Rick, who carries more than 70 DI's on Evans Street, east to Clapp Street and on Iowa Avenue north to Rochester Avenue, has been a member of The Daily Iowan carrier force for two years. A conscientious young man, Rick was a winner in The Daily Iowan "Carrier Service Awards" contest held last semester. Rick is active in a host of organizations. He is a member of the Luther League, Boy Scouts, DeMolay, and Explorer Scouts. At City High he is a member of the Latin Club, Band, Drama Club, and participates in tennis, swimming and track. His church recently honored him with the "Pro Deo Et Patria (For God and Country)" award for his achievements in the Boy Scouts. Rick is the son of Mrs. Edith E. Ruppert, 1923 E. Court St. His mother is the assistant director of nursing services at University Hospital.

U.S. Team Grabs Up More Pan-Am Medals

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — The United States boosted its gold medal collection to six Tuesday with a victory in pistol shooting, won another baseball game, sent two women into the tennis semifinals and seemed set for one-two sweeps of both men's and women's diving at the Pan American Games.

Uncle Sam lost the last of his men's tennis players when Allen Fox of Los Angeles bowed to Carlos Fernandes of Brazil in a quarter-final match 6-2, 6-0, 3-6, 2-6, 6-4. Frank Froehling, America's No. 2 ranked Davis Cup star, was an upset victim Monday.

Meanwhile, cries of "professionalism" were raised against the Cuban baseball team, which smothered the United States 13-1 in the opening game and now is the favorite for the championship.

In the first major controversy of the games, Victor Luque of the Mexican mission said he was investigating reports that the Cuban team included players from the former Cuban professional leagues.

"If I find it true, I will protest

tion Patsy Willard of Mesa, Ariz. and Barbara McAlister of Phoenix, Ariz., were first and second at the completion of their five compulsory dives. Dick Gilbert, 19-year-old Indiana University sophomore, and high schooler Ken Sitzberger, 18 of River Forest, Ill., were at the head of the list after the first half of the men's three-meter springboard event.

Darlene Hard of Los Angeles, America's top-ranking woman tennis player and Carole Ann Caldwell of Santa Monica, Calif., both won quarter-final matches.

Miss Hard crushed Maureen Schwartz of Brazil 6-3, 6-1 and Miss Caldwell won over a Brazilian also, beating Maria Helena Amorim with equal ease 6-1, 6-3.

The U.S. baseball team, rocked 13-1 by Cuba in its opening game, won its second straight with a 5-4 extra-inning decision over Venezuela and seemed sure of another shot at the Cubans in the round robin tournament windup next week.

No International Flareups Noticed in Pan-Am Games

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Cuba apparently is out to win friends — Americans included — as well as gold medals in the Pan-American Games.

Revolutionary dogma has been muted and obscured by the friendly "abrazo," or hug, and gifts of cigars and other non-political momentoes of Cuba.

It may be too early to evaluate the durability of the friendly front. In the highly volatile arena of sports, today's camaraderie sometimes easily turns into tomorrow's sharply honed animosity.

But in the Games' first three days, the engaging friendliness of the Cubans has caught the attention of many fans.

"I wish I'd known they were going to do that," said U.S. baseball coach, Archie Allen of Springfield, Mass., after receiving a gift box of thick, rich-looking Cuban cigars. "We should have brought something for them."

2 Men Hurt In Grid Drills Here Tuesday

Following a two-day layoff the Iowa Hawkeyes began their second week of spring football practice in crisp fall-like weather. Monday's practice was called off because of rain.

Coach Jerry Burns said following practice that he was satisfied with the performance of his squad Tuesday as they ran drills in forty degree weather.

Injuries plagued the Hawkeye camp as two backfield men were sidelined.

Gary Swain a sophomore full-back hopeful from Garrettsville, S. D. suffered a broken left hand during warm-ups while working on the sled.

Gary Tucker (5-11, 195) suffered a sprained right ankle while playing defensive halfback in contact drill. Tucker is a sophomore from Galesburg, Ill.

The Hawkeys drilled in three separate revolving units against man-dummies in pass plays.

Lee, Jay — Petersen Brothers Spark Hawkeyes

BY HARRIETT HINDMAN
Assistant Sports Editor

Sportswriters and sports announcers abide by a well-known superstition that when a pitcher has a no-hitter going, it just isn't talked about until the last man is out.

How do the pitchers feel about it? Lee Petersen, who pitched a no-hitter for the Hawks in their 5-0 win over Luther Saturday, commented, "I'd just as soon the announcers didn't say anything about it."

"I knew I had a no-hitter going," Petersen said, "but you can't really tell. You always figure the last man up is going to get a hit. It happened to Ron Reifert last year when, with two men out in the ninth, the batter got a scratch single."

Jay, Lee's younger brother who plays third base for the Hawks, said he didn't think too much about Lee's no-hitter during the game. "I just tried to keep from getting killed out there at third," he stated, yet admitted that he really likes playing the hot corner.

The no-hitter was nothing new for the 6-2, 175-pound junior from Clinton. Lee pitched a no-hitter when he was a junior at St. Mary's High School in Clinton and a perfect game during his senior year there.

Now a junior majoring in business, Lee attended St. Ambrose College in Davenport for 1½ years before coming to Iowa. "St. Ambrose doesn't have intercollegiate baseball," Lee explained.

Jay, now a sophomore majoring in political science, came to Iowa as a freshman. He played shortstop on St. Mary's baseball team and was a guard on the cage team while Lee earned his prep awards as a pitcher in baseball and quarterback in football.

When asked if they would like to take a crack at major league baseball, the brothers looked at each other, laughed and said, "Well, we haven't been asked yet." Both agreed, however, that if the opportunity presents itself, they might give it a try.

The Petersens are looking forward to the Big Ten season which opens Friday. "I think we have the potential to do real well in the conference race, but the competition is going to be a lot rougher than it has been," Lee said with a confirming look from Jay.

Lee and Jay both enjoy water-skiing and hunting and Jay adds hiking to his list of recreational activities.

Sports Briefs

NEW YORK (AP) — The next extra base hit will be a momentous one for Stanley Frank Musial.

The veteran St. Louis outfielder needs one more to tie Babe Ruth's record for most long hits in a career.

Ruth poked 1,356 doubles, triples and home runs in his 22-year career in the major leagues. Through Tuesday's games, the Cardinal star has hit 716 doubles, 175 triples and 464 home runs. That makes a total of 1,355 extra base hits.

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The real dark horse for Thursday's $25,000-added Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland — and possibly the Kentucky Derby — is Walnut Hill Farm's Gray Pet.

The son of Revoked is improving with every race, trainer Junior Serna said Tuesday. "I think you've got to consider him a real contender in both races," he said.

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Chet Jastremski, University of Indiana star from Toledo, Ohio, produced the first United States' swimming gold medal with a 10-foot triumph in the men's 200-meter breaststroke in the Pan-American Games Tuesday night.

Jastremski gradually wore down teammate Ken Merten, 18 from Paicoma, Calif., and won easily.

Third was John Kelso of Canada, a 23-year-old graduate student at the University of Denver. Kelso, from Ocean Falls, B.C., was another 10 feet behind Merten. Jastremski finished in a games record time of 2 minutes, 35.4 seconds, trimming two seconds off the mark he set in the qualifying heats.

Ex-Iowa Back Jeter Listed by Packers

Former Iowa halfback Bob Jeter was named to the 60-player roster announced Tuesday by the Green Bay Packers. Included on the squad are 36 veterans and 24 first-year men.

Star halfback Paul Hornung's name was not on the list. He has been suspended indefinitely by National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle for betting on games.

Jeter was Green Bay's second choice in the 1961 player draft but decided to play Canadian ball. He returned to the Packers last fall in hopes of making the squad this season.

Orioles Hold 1st; Topple Twins, 1-0

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles held onto first place in the American League, beating Minnesota 1-0 Tuesday night as Milt Pappas allowed only five hits and Jerry Adair drove in the only run with a sacrifice fly in the second inning.

Pappas, winning his second without a loss, struck out eight as he pitched his second complete game before 4,055 fans, who shivered in 49-degree temperatures chilled by wind gusts up to 30 miles an hour. Minnesota 000 000 000 — 0 5 0 Baltimore 010 000 000 — 1 8 1 Stigman, Moore (3) and Bailey; Pappas and Orsino. W — Pappas (2-0). L — Stigman (1-2).

968 See Cubbies Win at Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Chicago Cubs went on their biggest one-inning scoring binge of the season with a six-run fourth inning Tuesday and rolled to a 7-2 victory over Pittsburgh.

Big blast of the inning was a three-run homer by Jim Schaffer, his first of the year.

A slim gathering of 968, smallest Forbes Field crowd in 20 years, watched the afternoon game under lights in 42-degree weather.

Chicago 000 000 000 — 7 9 3 Pittsburgh 000 010 010 — 2 8 0 Jackson and Schaffer; Cardwell, Sturdevant (5), Maddix (3) and Pagliaroni, Plaskett (5). W — Jackson (2-2). L — Cardwell (1-2).

Runs — Chicago, Schaffer (1), Brock (1).

Rakow Hurls A's Over Detroit, 3-1

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Ed Rakow pitched Kansas City to a 3-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers and put the A's into at least a temporary tie for first place in the American League.

Rakow struck out six of the first 10 men he faced and got two more before the game was finished. He didn't walk a batter.

Phil Regan, who started for Detroit, was the victim of sloppy support. The Tigers made three miscues and none of the Athletics' runs was earned. Regan gave up only five hits in his seven innings. Detroit 010 000 000 — 1 5 3 Kansas City 000 210 000 — 3 5 8 Regan, Anderson (3) and Triandos, Freeman (2); Rakow and Bryan. W — Rakow (2-1). L — Regan (1-2). Home run — Detroit, Cash (3).

Fregosi's Homer Nips Senators, 5-4

WASHINGTON (AP) — Los Angeles shortstop Jim Fregosi wrecked Washington with three hits Tuesday, including a game-winning home run with two out in the 10th as the Angels won 5-4 to gain a split in the two-game series.

Washington's Chuck Hinton had a

Cards Rap Colts; Broglio In 2-Hitter

HOUSTON (AP) — Ernie Broglio pitched a masterful, two-hit shut-out, the Cardinals pounded four Houston pitchers for 17 hits and St. Louis blasted the Houston Colts, 15-0 here Tuesday before 2,551 businessmen's special fans at a noontime game. The victory gave the Cardinals a sweep of the two-game series.

St. Louis 101 502 024 — 15 17 1 Houston 000 000 000 — 0 2 4 Broglio and Sawarski; Golden, Kemmerer (4), Cardinal (4), Zachary (7) and Estem, W — Broglio (2-0). L — Golden (0-1).

Giants Edge Reds; Marichal Wins, 4-2

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda each drove in a run and scored another Tuesday pacing San Francisco to a 4-2 victory over Cincinnati.

The Giants regained a share of first place in the National League. Right-hander Juan Marichal checked the Reds on six hits.

In recording his second victory against one setback Marichal struck out five and issued only one walk.

Cincinnati 000 000 011 — 2 6 2 San Francisco 010 100 200 — 4 10 3 Nuxhall, Worthington (3) and Edwards; Marichal and Haller. W — Marichal (2-1). L — Nuxhall (0-1). Home run — Cincinnati, Gonder (1).

Chem Annex Tours Saturday

SUI's Department of Chemistry will host to the Mid-America State Universities Association Chemistry Department Chairmen's Meeting Thursday and Friday, and will hold Open House Saturday in the newly completed Chemistry Annex.

Department chairman Stanley Wawzonek, professor, said the meeting will cover problems of administration of a chemistry department. Changes in undergraduate curricula required for American Chemical Society standards and new trends in professional training of graduate students will be discussed. Eight other universities will have representatives at the session.

Wawzonek also announced that guided tours will be conducted at the Annex Open House from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. to display the new research laboratories and offices of the building.

The Chemistry Annex was financed by a grant from the Iowa General Assembly and a grant from the National Science Foundation. The building has been in use since September, 1962 for undergraduate classes, since January, 1963 by graduate students.

C.R. Speech For Rembolt

Dr. Raymond R. Rembolt, director of the University Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children, will address seminars on treatment and education of the handicapped Friday in Cedar Rapids.

The Iowa State Services for Crippled Children in Iowa City and the Hospital School are among the sponsors of the nurses' seminar. Constance Dunbar, nursing service supervisor for the Iowa State Services, is a member of that seminar's planning committee.

Former SUI Prof Returns for Talk

Austin Warren, literary critic and former SUI professor of English, will speak on "Grandfather Mather and His Wonder-Book" Monday at 8 p.m. in the Senate Chamber of the Old Capitol.

Warren, who is now a professor of English at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, is noted for his study and writings in three areas of literature — American literature of the 17th-19th centuries, English literature of the Neo-Classical period, and literary criticism.

Among the books Warren has authored are "Alexander Pope A Humanist," "Rage For Order," and "Theory of Literature," written with Rene Wellek. Warren also has written a book on the English poet Richard Crashaw.

PEOPLE-TO-PEOPLE

Study Plan in High Gear

BY DOUG CARLSON
Managing Editor

The prospect of studying in a foreign university and living among thousands of strangers would be a difficult adjustment for most students.

To ease the adjustment problem, the University-People-to-People program was founded in 1961 to promote understanding between students of different nationalities and cultures. The program is not designed to "win over" the foreign student to American political beliefs, but rather to give the student an understanding of the people, culture, and political system of the country.

The program is shifting into high gear at SUI this year, and the leaders of the local program are enthusiastic about its potentialities. Judy Steelman, A2, Zearing, executive committee chairman, says the work is being done in five areas: student ambassador, brother-sister, job placement, hospitality, and forum.

The student ambassador program sends students to a foreign country for three months during the summer. It is designed to give them a chance to live in homes abroad and to give them the same sort of feeling a foreign student probably experiences when he comes to the United States to study. TWO ILLINOIS girls, Carol Ann Heeren, A1, Moline, and Beverly Becker, A3, Geneva, were selected as student ambassadors from SUI. They will attend a week of orientation in Washington, D.C., in June before departing by plane for Europe from New York City.

Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy will conduct some of the orientation sessions in Washington. Another week of orientation is planned for the students after arriving in Europe. Then they will begin their pre-planned itinerary which includes scheduled dates for visits to four family homes, three days at each.

NEARLY 400 students across the United States are now participating in discussions with professors and foreign students on the customs, political set-up, and other information about the country to which they will travel. The discussions are open to students participating in the Student Ambassador program and to all students who are planning to travel abroad this summer. The host countries for the American students are all in Europe. Work is being done in the job placement area to help foreign students find jobs, especially during the summer months. Questionnaires are being sent to the students asking them what type of job they seek and how long they would be able to hold the job.

National industrial offices currently send lists of employers who are seeking foreign students for their organizations. An American student accompanies the foreign student in his search for work in hopes that the visitor will be able to be placed easier.

THE HOSPITALITY program will make the opportunity available for the foreign students to visit industry and farms in surrounding areas. The students will also be able to spend weekends in American homes to give them a closer look at and a better understanding of American life.

The forum program plans to establish discussion groups for for-

Maplecrest Suit Settled Out of Court

The legal fight over control of Maplecrest Cold Storage, Inc., Iowa City, was settled out of court Tuesday.

Attorneys would not reveal terms of the settlement, but did say Newton L. Margulies, plaintiff, would no longer be connected with the firm. Details of the settlement will be made public today.

Margulies had petitioned the court to put control of the company into the hands of a receiver. Margulies claimed ownership of 48.24 per cent of the corporation's stock and sought $100,000 in claims against the company.

Margulies was also attorney for the estate of C. Urban Kelly, founder of the firm. Margulies named the trustees of the firm as defendants, who then sought Margulies' removal as attorney of the estate.

Texas Geologist To Give Lecture

R. A. Baile, president of the Independent Exploration Co. of Houston, Tex., will lecture on "Some New Concepts in Geophysics" at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Geology Auditorium.

The lecture will be illustrated by motion pictures and slides which will show the use of several types of geophysical prospecting devices and surface initiated energy systems.

2 Foreign SUlowans Visit Farms on Weekend

Two SUlowans will participate in the international student weekend on Iowa farms Friday through Sunday to have an opportunity to experience farm life and informal neighborhood gatherings.

Rattan Aggarwal, G, Ferozepore, Panjab, India, will visit the Ed Luetz home in Delmar, and Eugenia Kuttler, G, Mexico, will visit the Glen Paisley home in Independence.

At Finkbine Dinner—

'Most Likely To Succeed' Students To Be Honored

Eighty-one SUI students who have been selected by deans and department heads as "most likely to succeed" in their profession will be honored Thursday at the 46th annual Finkbine dinner.

They will be joined by some 100 other students who have attended previous dinners. Approximately 100 alumni, faculty and staff members will also attend.

President Virgil H. Hancher will deliver the main address at the dinner, and Hugh Kelso, associate professor of political science, will be toastmaster.

C. Maxwell Stanley of Muscatine, who heads the Stanley Engineering Co. there, will be the alumni speaker. He received a B.S. from SUI in 1926 and M.S. in engineering in 1930.

SPEAKING IN BEHALF of the students will be Robert Downer, Newton law senior. A former president in the SUI student body, Downer also was the student speaker at the 1961 Finkbine dinner.

The Rev. Robert J. Welch, professor of religion, will deliver the invocation. Music for group singing will be played by John Simms, professor of music, and Earl E. Harper, director of the Union and of the School of Fine Arts, will direct the singing.

The dinner was inaugurated by the late W. O. Finkbine, a former Des Moines businessman and an 1880 graduate of the SUI College of Law, and the late Carl Kuehnle, an 1882 graduate of the College of Law from Denison.

This year's dinner will be held in the Main Lounge of Iowa Memorial Union. It will begin at 6 p.m.

Those who have been invited to the dinner are listed below by home towns.

Research Vessel Arrives to Film For Missing Sub

NORFOLK, Va. — The oceanographic research ship Atlantis II arrived Tuesday in the area where the nuclear submarine Thresher vanished with 129 men aboard.

Atlantic Fleet headquarters said the Atlantis would lower a still camera to the ocean bottom to take photographs of "various designated points, one of which may be the Thresher."

The camera would be towed slowly over the designated points and then the film returned to the Atlantis for processing.

"If pictures of the Thresher are obtained," a fleet spokesman said, "the film will be forwarded to the naval court of inquiry at Portsmouth, N. H., "investigating the disaster."

The court of inquiry met privately Tuesday, reportedly weighing testimony and deciding what to do next.

Foreign Traveler

Owner Richard Vardaris, G, Garfield Heights, Ohio, still doesn't know how it happened. Somehow his small foreign car traveled from a parking space on the north side of the Mechanical Engineering Building to the intersection of Washington and Madison streets Monday before coming to rest on top of a "No Parking Any Time" sign.

Unfit Mothers May Lose Children

RALEIGH, N.C. — The North Carolina Senate passed and sent to the House Tuesday a bill that could have women with three or more children born out of wedlock branded unfit and permit the children to be taken from her.

Children of unfit mothers could be placed in foster homes. Sen. Robert Morgan of Barnett County said it was an attempt to benefit the children, not to punish the mothers.

Maremont: Backer Of Birth Control

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — The Illinois Senate executive committee approved, 17-4, Tuesday the appointment of Arnold Maremont, chairman of the Illinois Public Aid Commission who espouses a controversial birth control program.

Gov. Otto Kerner's nomination of Maremont now comes before the entire Senate for confirmation.

One of those voting for Maremont was Sen. Morgan Finley (D-Chicago) who has proposed a bill limiting the birth control program only to those women living with their husbands. Finley said he approved Maremont's administration otherwise.

The program would permit giving birth control information and contraceptives to applicant mothers whether married or living with their spouses.

CHICAGO — The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen was ordered Tuesday not to strike against the Santa Fe Railroad.

Judge Julius J. Hoffman of U.S. Dist. Court issued a temporary restraining order, pending a hearing on a temporary injunction, that prevented the union from striking at 6 a.m. Wednesday. The hearing on the temporary injunction was set for Monday.

Involved in the Santa Fe and BRT dispute are work-change proposals which first were presented by the union to the carrier in 1956.

The railroad contended before Judge Hoffman that a strike would be a violation of the National Railway Labor Act in that it would disrupt the status quo.

George Neibank Jr., railway attorney, argued that some of the issues in the Santa Fe dispute are being considered now by a presidential emergency board attempting to bring an agreement on rules changes involving the nation's railroads and operating unions.

John J. Naughton, attorney for the BRT, contended the issues in the Santa Fe dispute are of a local nature, whereas the presidential emergency board is considering issues on a national scale.
