MOM'S DAY. A gala Mother's Day weekend begins at SUI today with three noteworthy events. See Page 5 for the story.

COACHES CLINIC. A two-day High School and College Coaches Clinic sponsored by the SUI Athletic Department begins today. It will be climaxed by an intra-squad scrimmage in the Stadium. See Page 4 for story.

OPERA. A Student Art Guild Classic "A Night at the Opera" will be shown tonight at 8 at Shambaugh Auditorium.

IN THE CITY--

A RECONNAISSANCE survey to determine flood damage along Ralston Creek will be made by the Army Corps of Engineers within the next few weeks, engineers told an informal meeting of the Iowa City City Council Thursday night.

L. A. Carlson and R. G. Stearns, Corps engineers from Rock Island, explained that the survey will determine where and how much flood damage occurs along the creek. Stearns said the Corps would contact persons along the creek to obtain estimates of damages caused by flooding. The survey will take time, "but that's the way the Federal Government works," he explained.

IN THE STATE--

BOOZE. Don't fret, readers. You'll find your liquor news on page 5 of today's Iowan. In short, the bill is currently snarled in the house. Will they vote today? Maybe, just maybe.

IN THE NATION--

INTEGRATION. The nation's ever-spreading segregation crisis moved out on two fronts Thursday — in Birmingham, Ala. and Trenton, Ga.

In Birmingham, police arrested more than 450 hoodlums playing Negro school students as waves of racial demonstrations engulfed the downtown area.

And in Trenton, curious townspeople watched silently as a group of "freedom marchers" filed by on their way to Alabama where officials have said jail cells are waiting. The marchers are attempting to carry out the pilgrimage of a Baltimore postman, William L. Moore, who was shot to death April 29 near Attalla, Ala.

HE'S SINGING. Gov. George Romney of Michigan tried to impress reporters that he is not a candidate for the 1964 Presidential race by singing this cute refrain:

I am not a candidate for president
And I am not going to become one.

VENOM, LIES. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.) denounced Thursday "self-styled patriotic groups" who he said are terrifying thousands of Americans with unadulterated venom, hoaxes and lies. He referred specifically to the John Birch Society and the "anti-Semitic hate sheet of Gerald L. K. Smith."

NIXON'S MOVING. Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon is moving away from sunny California. He will move to New York City on June 1 where he will join a law firm.

IN THE WORLD--

TWO AMERICANS have carried the Stars and Stripes to the summit of Mt. Everest, the world's highest mountain. The names of the two were not released. A member of the 13-man expedition was Richard Pownall, a former Iowan and graduate of Iowa State University. He is a nephew of Fred M. Pownall, professor emeritus of journalism and former publisher of The Daily Iowan.

WANTS PROBE. A Japanese Socialist leader Thursday night demanded an immediate government investigation into the sinking of a prized Red Chinese freighter on its inaugural run to Japan.

But Japanese government officials discounted any story that said the ship was torpedoed, saying the vessel apparently hit a reef or mines laid in the area by the Red Chinese during the Korean War.

Van Allen, Summerwill Cited at SUI Banquet

Thirty-eight students, one faculty member and one Iowa Citizen were "tapped" Thursday night for membership in SUI chapters of Omicron Delta Kappa, upperclassmen's leadership honor society, and Mortar Board, senior women's honor society.

The ceremony was part of the annual Leadership Banquet at the Union under the sponsorship of the Retail Merchants Division of the city's Chamber of Commerce.

William Summerwill, president of the Iowa State Bank and Trust Co., was presented a plaque as "Outstanding Community Leader" by the Retail Merchants Division.

The award to Van Allen was the first of what is to become an annual award. It will be presented each year in recognition of leadership in the state of Iowa. The award is made jointly by ODK, Mortar Board and the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce.

Iowa City Residents Warned of Imposters

Iowa City residents were warned by police Thursday of two men attempting to enter homes by posing as wiring inspectors.

Officials of Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Co. told police the two men, driving an automobile displaying Arkansas license plates, have not been authorized to conduct inspections.

—Dr. Warren N. Cole, former President American Cancer Society

For the cancer patient today, his life hangs largely by a knife or by a beam. Now more aggressive than ever the knife — the surgeon's scalpel — enters the labyrinth of the body to cut out the monster of cancer. And the beam — the X-ray — now penetrates more deeply than ever to dissolve the growing offender.

Yet despite the success of these methods in halting cancer in millions of victims to date, almost all medical authorities, agree that the knife and the beam have reached the outer boundary of usefulness. Without additional help from some quarters, they cannot materially improve current cure rates.

THE ASSISTANCE may come from chemicals added to surgery in the hope of clearing out the remnants left behind even by the most sharp-eyed surgeon. It may come from chemicals that make the cancer sensitive to X-rays. Or scientists may find a way to stimulate the body's defenses against the left-over cells. Finally, the knife and the beam could do better if they caught the disease before it sends out wandering cells to invade distant organs of the body.

Your Chances Today

Most of this is for the future. What does the cancer patient face today with only surgery and radiology to help him? And what happens when they fail? Can nothing help him live a useful and longer life? In short, what are his chances?

Your odds on beating the cancer once you get it depend on your sex, type of cancer and the skill of the surgeon or radiologist. Tricky new methods add only fractional points to these odds in most cases.

Recent California surveys revealed that the chances for life under threat of cancer also depend on your education and economic status. Poor people discover their cancers later, get less effective treatment and die sooner.

Cancer gives men and women different chances at life. While a woman is more likely to get cancer and to die of it than a man, once a woman gets cancer she can survive it better than a man. Only one man with cancer in five will be alive at the end of five years, but half the women will be.

Indiana Students Indictment Is 'Monstrous' Says SDC

Following the indictment of three Indiana University students Wednesday on charges of subversive activity and advocating the violent overthrow of the U.S. Government, the executive committee of the SUI Socialist Discussion Club (SDC) Thursday night issued the following statement:

"The Grand Jury indictment of the students composing the leadership of the Indiana Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) is a monstrous attack on the freedom of the academic community. Such an attack, if it ends in the imprisonment of these students, will enroach violently upon the freedoms of all those who take seriously the promises and guarantees of the Constitution.

"The prosecutor's case is misleading on three charges:

1. The YSA does not and never has advocated the violent overthrow of the Government.

2. The statements in question were made by a guest lecturer at an open meeting, not by the three students.

3. The YSA was originally attacked by Prosecutor Thomas A. Handley for its role in the riot on the Indiana campus during the Cuban blockade. Changing the focus of the attack now in order to concentrate upon statements made at a meeting two months later is to make obvious the fact that this is a harassment of a politically unpopular group.

"This is obviously an attack on academic freedom and the right of students to hear opinions which differ from the 'official reality,' and we think all students have a stake in protesting such a miscarriage of the democratic process."

The indictments will provide the first court test of Indiana's anti-Communism statute. The indictments charged the three with assembling March 24 "for the purpose of advocating or teaching the doctrine that the Government of the United States or state of In-

Piro Says We're Part Of 'U' Family

BY ERIC ZOEGLER News Editor

Whitey Piro, assistant Iowa football coach, views the Hawkeye intercollegiate football program "as just one part of the University family.

"We try to do our job just as the professors and administrators do. In short, we all are pulling for the betterment of the student and the University as a whole."

Piro is just one of many hosts who will entertain and instruct visiting high school coaches attending SUI's High School Grid clinic here today and Saturday.

Piro, who has been active in his profession for 25 years, became interested in coaching by accident and through the efforts of some now very prominent figures in the game.

He didn't even expect to play football when he enrolled at Syracuse University after an outstanding football and basketball career at a Nassau County (N.Y.) high school.

But Piro went out for football as an end and was tutored by Ossie Solem, who had just come to Syracuse from SUI.

During his playing days Piro, a business major at the university, "never even gave coaching a thought as a career." But after a season with the Philadelphia Eagles, he was hired by Solem as an assistant. Piro has been coaching ever since.

During his days at Syracuse, he was influenced by Bud Wilkinson, now a highly successful coach at Oklahoma and Biggie Munn, athletic director at Michigan State University.

Piro came to SUI along with Forest Evashevski in 1952, a move which eventually brought his "biggest thrill in sports."

Under the Evy regime, Piro worked to help bring Iowa football from oblivion to the Rose Bowl and National Championship in 1956.

In his job, the 45-year-old coach operates under the philosophy that the football program is offered "as just one way in which our boys can better themselves here.

"If every student would give himself the opportunity, they could get a tremendous education here."

Piro feels, "Just like any other department here, the football program has its proper place with the other activities on campus. I don't think there should be over emphasis in our department in relation to any others."

To achieve this goal, Piro explains the program has cut the hours spent by players and "has put more stress on the player's academic work. We demand more from our players today both on and off the field."

Sees Need For Closer Cooperation

ARNOLD TOYBEE At Long Last!

Arnold Toynbee, one of the world's most noted historians, will speak on "The Need for Closer Cooperation among the Religions of the World" at the Union, May 16 at 8 p.m.

Toynbee is appearing through the courtesy of Grinnell College, where he is spending this semester as the John R. Heath Visiting Professor of History.

Toynbee is probably best known for his 10-volume work "A Study of History" which advances the thesis that civilizations are the significant units of historical study.

He has participated in lecture series at leading universities in Canada and the United States several times since 1945.

Born in London in 1889, Toynbee had a classical education at Winchester and at Balliol College, Oxford. He worked for the British Foreign Office during the World Wars and was a member of the peace conference at Paris in 1919 and 1946. From 1923 until his retirement in 1953, Toynbee was director of studies at the Royal Institute of International Affairs.

During his stay in the U.S., Toynbee is scheduled to make 12 public addresses in Grinnell. He is also making about 35 appearances throughout this country.

Investigative Spirit Is Very Important, Van Allen Says

Arguing that a scientist is a human being and that a scientist can also be a humanist, Dr. James Van Allen told the Leadership Banquet audience Thursday night, that science is a personal activity, the most important aspect of which is the investigative spirit.

This investigative spirit, he continued, is one of the fundamentals of human nature. Science results from human investigation and the process of scientific investigation is personal, subjective and whimsical, Van Allen maintained.

He proceeded to dispel some of the "smog which overhangs science." Refuting the statement that science is exact, Van Allen told of an instance in which he was 10 billion units off in research he did for a space project.

Estimating that only 2 per cent fit the myth that scientists are geniuses, Van Allen said, "the other 98 per cent of us have a good time anyway."

Using his seminar in theoretical physics as an example, Van Allen dispelled the belief that science is wholly objective. Discussion in this seminar, he explained, has resulted in statements such as "My intuition disagrees with yours."

Scientists are neither gentle, devoted creatures working for the masses, nor sinister monsters plotting the annihilation of the human race, Van Allen argued.

He continued explaining the human factors involved and the problems which must be overcome in the process of scientific research.

"Freedom of spirit is essential to creative enterprise," Van Allen concluded, illustrating what he considered the very fundamental human element involved in science.

BASEBALL FATALITY

DENVER — A 15-year-old high school sophomore, Thomas McCollum, died in a hospital Wednesday of a head injury received when hit by a baseball.

Ginsburgs Injured in Two-Car Crash

George Ginsburgs, assistant professor of political science at SUI, was listed in fair condition at University Hospital with an eye laceration after a Thursday evening car accident.

Ginsburgs' auto collided with another at the corner of College and Church street at about 7:45 p.m. His car then swerved onto the lawn of the Christus House, 124 E. Church, and crashed into the front door of the building.

Police said Ginsburgs was headed south on Dubuque when his car collided with a vehicle driven by Arnold Kamble, 610 Church St., who was driving west on Church Street.

Ginsburgs' car then traveled over the lawn of the Christus House and crashed into the front doors of the building, police added. Both doors of the house were torn off and glass was scattered across the lounge inside. No one was in the room at the time.

Both cars received extensive damage. A third car, owned by James H. Gardner, 50 Highland Dr., was parked on Church Street and received minor front-end damage.

No charges were filed.

Kudos for The Iowa Legislature

We would have liked to have been in Des Moines on Monday, sitting in the House gallery, so that we could have broken the courtesy rules of the House by applauding — very vigorously — the legislators gathered there. Let this act as our silent applause.

For on Monday the House passed a resolution, by a voice vote, urging the public and private high schools and colleges of Iowa to teach a course in COMMUNISM.

The resolution, which had been passed earlier by the Senate, said that "The youth of Iowa must have a knowledge of Communism if we are to successfully combat and defeat the Communist conspiracy."

The idea behind the resolution is to make it possible to contrast in our classrooms the American system of government with the strategies, tactics, principles and purposes of Communism.

This is a forward-looking and courageous action. It is still virtually impossible to teach Communism, or to even make reference to it, in most states. You can't even teach evolution in Tennessee yet.

In our nation education is tantamount to freedom. The lack of knowledge of Communism foisted the McCarthyism ear upon a largely unknowing population who were taught that Communism could simply be equated with a bad word.

With equal simplicity the nation's population, with lynch-law "justice," condemned thousands of people as semi-traitors or worse, merely because they were connected with Communism (it did not matter whether these people were teaching it to awaken the public and preserve our way of life).

This same lack of public knowledge about Communism made it possible for the policy of "Containment" to be effected without engineering equally important tactics for the eradication of the real problem. This is almost analogous to a surgeon outlining in indelible ink the periphery of a cancer without bothering to worry about its removal. Ah, but we know where it is!

Here at SUI where, theoretically at least, many of the leaders of tomorrow's nation are being trained, the teaching of Communism is buried. It comes out in a cursory and innocuous fashion in the Political Science and Religion departments.

We are thankful that academic freedom on this campus has at least enabled a few knowledgeable professors to give us a glimpse of what Communism is really all about — and in the proper context.

American college students have been highly criticized for their being unable to defend, in an adequate manner, the American political-economic system while traveling in Communist countries. The plain fact is that unless the student received his education on Communism clandestinely, he probably did not receive it. Therefore, when confronted in a debate with highly politically indoctrinated Communist students, the American youth fought back with what he had — a blind sense of love for his nation and an isolated knowledge of how it operated. Did he really do a bad job? Was he really to blame?

There is no doubt that by the official encouragement of the teaching of Communism in the schools of Iowa, the Legislature has made a significant effort in the final defeat of Communism. —Dennis Binning

Things Look Up For the Governor

Looks like Harold Hughes may be emerging from the gloom of frustration into the light of happiness. Right now his buddies in the legislature are talking about buying him a brand new airplane . . . while smiling on that liquor bill.

Defender's Donhowe Assails Iowan's Finkbine Coverage

By PETER DONHOWE Editor, Iowa Defender

Being the editor of a paper which more people label than read is often a frustrating experience; but the plight of the public speaker is much worse, not so much in relation to the audience present at the time he gives his address, but in relation to the much larger audience who come to know of his talk through reports in the press.

This observation was impressed upon me once again as I read The Daily Iowan report on the speeches delivered by SUI President Virgil Hancher, Robert Downer, and C. Maxwell Stanley at last Thursday's Annual Finkbine Dinner honoring SUI student leaders.

PRESIDENT HANCHER'S address was the only one which received anything approaching adequate coverage. As is usual, Dr. Hancher's speech was well-delivered and well-written, offering the DI reporter — who was no doubt struggling to meet a deadline — two well-rounded quotes which found their way into print. But the president's remarks were wrongly reported to be the main address.

Mr. Robert Downer, a law student who spoke for the students, addressed himself to the problem of maintaining alumni identification with the University. The DI reported that he "suggested that stronger participation in student government might provide a remedy for the situation." What Mr. Downer, who is a past president of the SUI student body, actually suggested was that a possible means of increasing alumni identification with the University would be expanding the role and influence of students while they attend the University — specifically by increasing the scope and power of student government. The stronger student government he called for was not one which merely had increased participation — not a mere expansion of insignificant and powerless student committees — but one which would allow the students to play a major role in directing student affairs.

THE SPEAKER who suffered the most in the DI report, however, was Mr. C. Maxwell Stanley, a prominent Muscatine businessman, who spoke for the alumni and delivered the major address of the evening, perhaps the most significant address that has been given at a Finkbine Dinner in some time.

Mr. Stanley "challenged the present day Finkbine men to top the leadership of his generation in order to lead the world out of a perilous future."

What Mr. Stanley actually discussed was the importance and primacy of change in the modern world and the challenge that change presents to those who would be world leaders. He said that the significance of living in a world of change was ignored when he graduated from SUI in 1926 and was still, he feared, being denied the recognition it deserves by those who are offering advice to the "leaders of tomorrow."

MR. STANLEY WAS specific about the changes he had in mind. Among those he mentioned were the nuclear arms race and the need for world government, the population explosion which could perhaps result in state control of family size, the end of colonialism and the advent of the newly independent and developing nations, the changing patterns of world trade which will have far-reaching effects on American economic life, and the problems of modern industrial society which may require new forms of government if they are to be adequately solved.

He stressed that change was not just the delusion of crack-pots and radicals but a reality that the wise leader would not try to resist as much as he would attempt to recognize and channel for human betterment.

It was unfortunate that Mr. Downer had to suffer the frustration of seeing his ideas misrepresented in the DI report and that Mr. Stanley had to see his challenging remarks reduced to one confusing sentence; but such a fate remains a peril of public speaking as long as journalists are more interested in meeting deadlines and working under the dictum "All the news that fits we'll print" than they are in adequately and accurately reporting ideas.

She Defends Free Expression

To the Editor:

With regard to your editorial of April 30, "Tell the Ministers to Stay Home," I feel compelled to defend the right which you so generously exercise, i.e., the basic American right of free expression.

It is not my purpose to debate the liquor-by-the-drink question. Rather, I am concerned with your references to "the invasion by the clergy" and the "other ecclesiastical do-gooders (who see a moral issue that isn't there)."

As long as this controversy involves men, then there are men who will analyze the controversy from a moral and ethical viewpoint. Perhaps, as you have implied, we should be more concerned with the economic aspects of the question. However, to assert that the question is wholly one of economics indicates a limited analysis.

One would do well to note your citation of a need for a liquor law enforcement void of hypocrisy — "something that any reputable state should strive for." One might ask if you have not implied a set of ethical or even "moral" standards for a state when you declare such a goal.

If such standards, whether they be Christian or not, are applicable to a state; then surely, similar value judgments may be applied to men.

Certainly, one may disagree with the moral analysis, but to ban or even discourage the presentation of that viewpoint is doing an injustice to an essential part of a democracy, i.e., public debate.

Granted, the ministers may not be the most professional or skillful lobbyists. But to ban this lobbying because the "ecclesiastical do-gooders" are concerned with man as a spiritual and moral being is an attempt to ban an inescapable aspect of human existence.

'Distasteful' Editorial

To the Editor:

Regarding John Scholz distasteful editorial in Saturday's Iowan "The Ghost in the GOP Closet Is Stirring Again."

Where have you been since the 1960 fraudulent election? In reality many loyal Americans believe that Richard M. Nixon was the victor at that time.

Are you willing to throw away human decency by keeping the pot boiling against him because he dared to speak his mind against Communism and fought for the good of this nation? I take it from your editorial that you would gladly join the ranks of the Johnny Milk Toasts and thereby soft pedal procedures of every action taken about which we as American citizens have a right to know.

I advise you to read some of the constructive comments made in reference to Mr. Nixon's speech to the Editors — including one by Roscoe Drummond. . . .

Fortunately not all of us are willing to sacrifice loyal dedication for cheap unreliable politics.

The Constitution of these United States guarantees every individual citizen the right to freedom of speech and I believe Mr. Nixon has that right along with all the rest of us.

I wish we had more dedicated Americans of the caliber of Richard Nixon. If we did, we could be assured of a better America.

Utilizing Time Better

To the Editor:

I noticed an editorial favoring "staggered" lunch hours for University office employees. I feel that such a situation would be highly desirable. However, I think that if office hours were staggered, there would be even greater effects.

At present, most office workers are "on the job" from 8 until 5, with an hour out for lunch. Why not have some people work from 7:30 until 4:30, others from 7:45 until 4:45, others from 8 until 5 and still others from 8:15 or 8:30 until 5:15 or 5:30? This way, people would be able to use the services of the offices over a greater span of hours and "rush" periods would be reduced. With staggered hours, rush hour "traffic jams" would not be as serious. In many cases, expensive equipment and building space would be better utilized.

On Bail, Bribes And Bombs

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the concluding article in a three part series on four SUIIowans — John Goulet, A3, Cedar Rapids; Ross Danielson, A3, Burlington; Don Flockhart, A3, Boone and Dale Hurliman, G, Iowa City — and their venture to Clarksdale, Miss., in order to deliver food and other aid to destitute Negroes.

"We tried to figure out what to do," Goulet said. "We were worried about Hurliman, the car and truck, and also the drunks that might be coming in. In fact, we moved our bunks over to one corner for protection. Then we sat there for about an hour-and-a-half listening to the phone ring."

Although the SUIIowans didn't know it at the time, the phone calls concerned them. Hurliman had notified the FBI, The Daily Iowan, KXIC radio station, and a station in Waterloo, asking them to call the jail and inquire about the three students so the police would realize that many people knew they were holding them.

HURLIMAN HAD GONE to Henry's Drug Store to make the calls and confer with the NAACP head. Henry knew the Negro entertainer Dick Gregory and had been in touch with him. Gregory called Attorney General Robert Kennedy to inform him of the situation, but he was on vacation.

After waiting in the cell an hour-and-a-half, an old Negro man walked into the station and posted the bond of $201 for the three students. The Negro had been sent by Henry and drove the three to the drug store.

"We were very relieved," Goulet said. We had a malt and considered our chances if we were to return for the trial. We called a lawyer in Jackson, Miss., who was a representative for the NAACP, to hear his opinion."

"He told us we wouldn't have a chance on the traffic violation charges but that we could appeal the resisting arrest charge and possibly win."

When they asked Henry what to do he replied, "You know us, we'd rather fight than eat." So the four decided to return for the trial.

THE STUDENTS THEN got into the truck and station wagon and Mrs. Pigeo led the way out of town. A police car followed them to the city limits.

"We drove non-stop back to Iowa City," Goulet said, and arrived early Sunday afternoon. Monday, FBI men arrived in Iowa City and questioned the four about their stay in Clarksdale.

Later in the week, Hurliman talked to Henry who told him about a mass protest meeting held in Clarksdale the Tuesday after the students had returned to Iowa City.

At the meeting, attended by Dick Gregory, Sammy and his Negro friend stood and confessed that they had been bribed by the police to threaten the SUIIowans.

"One of them was paid $10," Goulet said, "and the police had something on the other one that they said they would disregard if he would cooperate with them."

THE TWO NEGROES testified the police told them to go into the Pigeo home and threaten the boys.

"If we had ever begun fighting with them," Goulet said, "the police intended to charge us with inciting a riot."

In the meantime, the four were making their plans to return to Clarksdale for the trial scheduled for Thursday, April 11.

Monday night, April 10, Flockhart called Hurliman from his home in Boone. He said after talking to lawyers he decided not to go to the trial because he felt it was too risky.

"There was not much point in the rest of us going," Goulet said, "since Flockhart was the one charged with resisting arrest. That was the only charge that we might have had a chance with."

"Flockhart had a point," Goulet continued. "The charge of molesting Negro girls that was told to The Daily Iowan after we got back to Iowa City, showed that the Clarksdale police didn't want us to return to the trial. We could have been arrested for anything if we had gone back."

THE STUDENTS CALLED Henry Tuesday night to tell him they weren't going to return to the trial. He was "very disappointed."

"They had lawyers to represent us," Goulet said, "and Sammy's friend was going to testify that the police had bribed him. He said he understood our reluctance though, and that they would continue to fight."

Thursday night, when the trial was supposed to have been held, Henry's home was bombed by two white men and the living room was destroyed by fire.

"I don't think the bombing had anything to do with our trial," Goulet said.

SARE has no further plans to go South during the present school year, according to Goulet. "But if the need arises next year, we'll help in the same way," he said.

However, it's a good bet that John Goulet, Ross Danielson and Don Flockhart won't be making any more trips to Mississippi this year or next, for if they do, they can be arrested again, this time for jumping bail.

SUI Housing Units Plan Mother's Day Activities

This Mother's Day Weekend will see a large scale invasion of the campus by the mothers of SUIowans. The housing units will be particularly ready this year, having planned an abundance of activities to keep the mothers entertained.

Both Currier and Burge Halls have programs scheduled. Currier Hall will be open to guests and parents from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. tomorrow afternoon. A tea sponsored by the Student Council will be held at the same time. Currier activities will continue on Sunday with a luncheon for the two Currier "Mothers of the Year," one of whom will be present and the other chosen from mothers not attending.

Each house of Burge Hall has planned its own events, aside from the dormitory open house, which will be held on Sunday from 4:30 to 6 p.m. Wardell house will have a breakfast at 8:45 a.m. Sunday morning to honor its "Mother of the Year" and their newly elected officers. Clara Daley house has planned a coffee hour at 10 a.m. Sunday, and Beth Wellman house will have dinner for the mothers at 5:30 p.m. tomorrow. There will be a breakfast for McBroom house at 8:45 a.m. Sunday to honor its "Mother of the Year" and to install new officers. Various activities in the social fraternities and sororities will keep both the members and their mothers busy. Most sororities will be holding cozies tomorrow night to show the mothers the kind of fun the girls have during the year. Photographs of mothers and daughters will be taken at Sigma Delta Tau, Kappa Alpha Theta and Gamma Phi Beta houses. In the morning, most mothers will be surprised by breakfast in bed. Mothers of fraternity men will be staying in the houses of Delta Upsilon, Lambda Chi Alpha and Pi Kappa Alpha.

Mothers clubs will be meeting this weekend and in the case of the Delta Chi's, will be donating gifts to the house. Other activities for the mothers will be brunches at the Alpha Epsilon Pi, Alpha Phi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Epsilon Pi houses. Sunday dinner will honor the mothers at Delta Delta Delta, Alpha Xi Delta, Sigma Phi Epsilon and Phi Kappa Psi. The Alpha Tau Omega's and the Beta Theta Pi's are holding buffets for their mothers. Kappa Kappa Gamma is planning a banquet, and Chi Omega mothers will be treated at the Elks Club tomorrow evening.

The mothers will have to cooperate at the Delta Gamma house, where a bridge tournament and a "look-alike" contest will be held. Mothers of participants in University Sing will no doubt attend, and the Sigma Nus are holding a party afterwards for their moms.

Coming - A New Kind of Blonde

NEW YORK — There's going to be a new kind of blonde — serene, sedate and unrimed! Blondes have long endured the reputation of being dizzy, noisy and bleached, but the new blonde breed will be different — thanks to recent experiments with tranquilizers.

Britain's famous Cardiff Royal Infirmary reports that a new drug, Mephenesin Carbamate, not only calms a woman down, but also tints her hair. Four female subjects who used the drug were transformed from brunettes to platinum blondes without the assistance of a hairdresser.

Dr. John Spillane, who conducted the experiments, said that further testing produced the same reaction in male users of the drug. What's more, he reported that all of the subjects were delighted with the unexpected side-effect.

HAWKEYE SPORTS SCOPE

By Bill Pemble

HARK—hear you croaking and groaning. Yes, it's the fabulous DI nine loosening their soupbones for another in the series of monumental struggles on the Women's Recreational Diamond with their erstwhile opponents, the Poly Sigh bunch.

DI Player-coach-general manager-publicity chairman Doug "Wheel" Carlson has announced that the DI has procured the services of hurler Jim "Tex" Neatherlin, and that Tex should mow the Pinko's "murderers row" down with ease. Should Neatherlin falter, the DI will have Joe "Hoyt" Lippincott in the bull pen.

Coach Carlson announces an impressive array of infielders. Slated for action around the initial sack are Tricky Dick Papke, of Ad-side, Charlie "Pee-wee" Ragan, and Easy Ed Portmann. Second base will be capably manned by either Carlson, or Bubbling Bill Sherman. Playing the other half of the DI's keystone combo will be either Jarrin John Klein or Jimmy Joe Collier, an Ex-Shocker paper pedler.

CUSTODIAN of the hot corner will be either Larry "lino" Wallace, another DI vet, or Doug "The Voice" Iden.

A host of outfielder's await Carlson's call to the fray. Included in the outer-guard patrolers are Ed "Here Sam" Bassett, and Jerry "Big Daddy" Elsea, both returnees from last year's victorious crew, along with Jimmy "Willy or Tommy" Davis, Carol "Hamlet" Peterson, Terry "Irish" Shea, Dennis "The Menace" Binning, Fred "Oranges" Parish, and Eric "Weak Stick" Zoekler.

Behind the plate will be stalwart mitt and mask men, Gary "Sturg" Spurgeon and Van "Yogi" Tyson.

The squad is also blessed with several valuable utility men, men of such high caliber that it behooves them to be restricted to any one position. Such a man is Hot Rod Jensen, Mighty Mo Idrees, Meek Bob Hansen, Goose Gerlach, Rapid Robert Nandell, Up-N-Atom Atwood, John "Hot hands" Lewarne, and Rilla Mills.

A WHOLE HOST of loyal DI fans are expected to descend on the diamond to root their heroes on to another easy victory. Leading the cheerleaders will be Big Cele "Cheer-or-else" Ferner, Nadine "Little Bit" Godwin, Joan "Happiness" Anderson, and former Michigan cheerleader, Jovial Jeff Friedman.

The Yellows are expected to field a strong outfit, and will be attempting to unofficially end the long series with the Pinkos. The Shaeffer Hall based team claims to hold a 2-1 lead, but the first two wins have been officially protested by the DI. The scores will be held in suspension until the commissioner of baseball hands down a ruling. Therefore, officially, the DI will be attempting to protect their one game edge in the series.

THE CARLSONMEN will take to the field Sunday in a warm-up against the Computer center men. The IBM's have not programmed a lineup as yet, but they say that they will be unable to play on the Women's Athletic Field for fear that mighty blasts off their bats might injure some private property.

The Yellows, however, are looking forward to the May 10 encounter with the Pinkos, scheduled for the WRA field. We'll hear the Polysciars side of it tomorrow. . . .

MURBLING Bob Nelsen passed along the information that WSUI will be airing the intra-squad football game on Saturday. The correct game time is 1:30 p.m. and the pre-game commentary will start on WSUI at 1:15.

Hawk 9 Skirmishes With Wolves Today

Defending national champion Michigan will play host to the Iowa Hawkeyes this afternoon as the Hawk baseballers start an important road trip.

Coach Dick Schultz will start ace righthander Jack Wiland against the Wolves star southpaw Fritz Fisher. Fisher, after winning his four non-conference starts ran into trouble at Illinois last weekend and suffered his first loss. Wiland has a 5-0 record, including a brilliant 3-2 victory over Minnesota in the series opener last weekend. Both runs scored off Wiland were unearned.

An interesting defensive battle could shape up as both teams have tightened up their infields in preparation for the Big Ten season. The Wolverines of Moby Benedict suffered a serious loss however as shortstop Dick Honig suffered a fractured wrist after being hit by a pitch at Illinois. Honig's place has been taken by senior Jim Newman.

Today's probable lineup:

Iowa	Michigan
Krause, cf	Jones, 2b
Reddington, lf	Newman, ss
Szykowny, 2b	Tate, rf
Lee, 1b	Spalla, cf
Petersen, 3b	Campbell, 1b
Isher, ss	Steckley, lf
Sherman, rf	Chapman, 3b
Freese, c	P. Adams, c
Wiland, p	Fisher, p

Outfielder Ron Tate leads the Wolves at the plate with a .404 average, 3 homers and 19 RBI's. Newman and left fielder Jim Steckley are the only other men over .300. Iowa's attack is led by Duke Lee with a .339 average followed by Szykowny and Isher with .303 and .300 respectively.

The Wolverines, preseason favorite along with Minnesota and Ohio State, will play Iowa (2-1) in a single game Friday and take on Minnesota (1-2) in a doubleheader Saturday.

Wisconsin took over the pennant lead with three straight home victories, one over Ohio State and

Heavy Drills For Gridders On Thursday

Friery contact drills highlighted Thursday practice as Hawkeye footballers prepared for their spring game Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in the stadium.

The spring contest is being staged as part of the Iowa coaching clinic held here Friday and Saturday. An officiated full scale game with kick-offs, point-after and the usual earmarks of a football game is slated with the free-rub ruling in effect.

"We have been concerned with the running of plays at this week's practice sessions," said coach Jerry Burns. "The performances of our ends and line-men have been very good."

In the final practice before the Saturday game, the Hawks divided into two groups running against a rugged defensive unit and practicing plays against manned dummies.

The opposing teams in Saturday's contest will each feature a varsity and freshman quarterback.

Piloting the Gold squad will be Fred Riddle and frosh Gary Snook. Bob Wallace and first-year Mickey Moses will be calling the plays for the Blue squad.

The two teams got together for a few minutes following the Thursday practice and polished up on point-after and punts.

Moses will do the booting for the Blues and end Cliff Wilder and Warren Renader for the Golds.

The Hawks will be given the day off today because of the coaching clinic. Several members of the first units will present a football demonstration in the Field House as part of the clinic.

The squad will also engage in another game on Saturday, May 11 when spring football practice officially closes.

two over Indiana.

The Badgers now will have to prove themselves on the road, facing Northwestern (1-2) in three games.

The remainder of Friday's slate of single games: Illinois (2-1) at Ohio State (2-1), Minnesota at Michigan State (1-2) and Purdue (2-1) at Indiana (0-3).

Other Saturday doubleheaders are Illinois at Indiana, Iowa at MSU and Purdue at Ohio State.

The leading batters in the young season are Arnie Chonko, OSU, .875; Dale Peters, MSU, .600; Gary Raasch, Minnesota, .571 and Denny Howe, Wisconsin and Dave McKenzie, Purdue, each .545.

Cards 4, Cubsies 3

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Stan Musial tied Babe Ruth's all-time extra-base hit record at 1,356 with a decisive, three-run double in the seventh inning Thursday night as the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Chicago Cubs 4-3.

Ray Washburn, the Cards' unbeaten right-hander, won his fifth straight although he was chased by Ron Santo's three-run homer with two out in the ninth.

Musial, who now holds or shares 42 National League and 15 major league records, tied the Babe's mark with a ringing, bases-loaded drive off the left center wall that broke open a duel between Washburn and ex-Cardinal Larry Jackson. It put the Cards in front 4-0 and enabled Washburn to stagger through to the victory.

Washburn, who had a no-hitter for six innings and a two-hitter going into the ninth, gave up a double to Ken Hubbs and an infield single to Billy Williams with two out. Santo promptly drove his third home run to the pavilion roof for three runs. Ed Bauta replaced Washburn and walked Ernie Banks before closing out the Cubs by getting Andre Rodgers on an infield grounder.

Mets Bomb Colts In Cellar Battle

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets bombed Houston with 13 hits Thursday and won the first chapter of their 1963 battle of the cellar 10-3 before 2,020 chilled fans.

Charlie Neal's four straight singles led the Mets' attack that ended Don Nottebart's three-game winning streak.

Larry Burright, back in the lineup at second base because Ron Hunt suffered from a respiratory infection, drove in the first Met run with a triple in the second and knocked in two more with a double in the four-run seventh.

It was the first time the Mets had gone into double figures in scoring this season. The defeat shoved the Colts, who beat the Mets 13 out of 16 last year, deeper into the National League cellar.

The Pirates got their lone run off Marichal in the sixth when Bob Skinner led off with a triple and scored as Roberto Clemente bounced out to second.

The San Francisco right-hander struck out seven and walked only one en route to this third victory. He has lost two.

Alou's home run, his third of the year, cleared the left center-field wall in the third inning and knocked in Jose Pagan, who had led off with an infield single.

Tennis Team Travels To Minneapolis Today

By PAT KIRBY
Tennis Writer

The Iowa netmen resume Big Ten play this week end when they travel to the University of Minnesota to engage in a four-team meet.

In addition to the Hawks and the host Gophers also present at the meet will be Wisconsin and Northwestern.

Making the trip for the Hawks are Steve Wilkinson, Dave Strauss, Denny Ellertson, Dick Riley, Marc Mears, and Gary Fletcher. The Hawks record thus far this season is 8-4.

Friday afternoon the Hawks will face the Wildcats of Northwestern for the third time this season. Northwestern defeated the Hawks 9-0 in both previous meetings.

Commented Iowa Coach Don Klotz, "Northwestern is almost out of our class but they sure give our boys good practice. This is especially helpful with the Big Ten meet only two weeks away."

The Wildcats have posted an impressive 15-1 record this season. Their only loss was at the hands of the University of Miami who has won more than a hundred consecutive meets.

Saturday morning Iowa will meet Wisconsin and in the afternoon Minnesota.

"If the boys keep up their fine play," continued Klotz. "We have a very good chance of defeating both the Badgers and the Gophers."

"Our doubles team have improved the most the past several weeks," concluded Klotz. His tentative doubles' teams for this week end find Wilkinson playing with Strauss. Ellertson with Fletcher, and Riley with Mears.

Doris Fuchs Wins Pan-Am Gymnastics

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — A petite dental technician from Rochester, N. Y., grimacing in pain, won two gold medals for the United States Thursday in gymnastics to add to the two she won Wednesday as the 4th Pan-American Games moved to a climax.

Little Doris Gudrun Fuchs took the balanced beam crown and the uneven parallel bars championship on top of the individual all-around and team medals she won previously. This made her the Games' outstanding individual star.

Americans won two additional titles in women's gymnastics and two in the grueling military pentathlon to bring the United States total of gold awards to 83. Brazil with 7 is the nearest challenger, and Canada and Argentina each have six.

Other gold medalists in women's gymnastics were: Dale McClements, 18, University of Washington co-ed, side horse vault with 19.43 points; Avis Tieber, Austin, Tex., floor exercises, 19.43 points.

Robert L. Beck of Boston, Mass. led the United States to a 1-2-3 sweep in the pentathlon, scoring 4,934.52 points. Richard M. Stoll of Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., was second with 4,912.36; and James W. Moore of San Antonio, Tex., was third with 4,808.88 points. They also won the team gold medal. Brazil was second and Mexico third.

But Miss Fuchs was the star of the day. She won despite a sprained right foot.

"It made me sick at the stomach at times," she confessed afterwards.

The Games concluded this weekend with 10 events in men's track on Friday and Saturday, and the United States favored in nine of them, and four in women's track with United States entrants favored in each.

Sunday the traditional equestrian events wind up this North and South American version of the Olympics.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus shot a record 8-under-par 64 Thursday to take the lead in the first round of golf $60,000 Tournament of Champions.

The 23-year-old National Open champion shot a spectacular 33-31-64 to set a record for the tournament and finished the round two strokes in front of the co-favorite, Arnold Palmer.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Injured Argentine boxer Alejandro Lavorante may leave for his homeland Saturday, a spokesman at California Hospital said Thursday. Lavorante, 26, has been semi-conscious since he was knocked out last Sept. 21.

The 1965 tourney finals also was sought by Billings, Mont., and Sheridan, Wyo.

The 1963 Legion championship will be in Keene, N. H., and the 1964 meet in Little Rock, Ark.

MOSCOW (AP) — The 16th game of the world chess tourney was declared a draw Thursday after the 53rd move. The first 40 moves were made Wednesday.

Mikhail Botvinnik, the defending champion who played the white pieces in this game, now trails challenger Tigran Petrosyan, 8.5 points to 7.5. The 17th game will be started Friday.

Today's Hole

Want to know what the driver of the car in this picture is probably thinking? "Boy, I'm sure glad I'm not the guy coming down the other side of the street," would be a good guess of what he thinks as he drives by Iowa City's hole of holes. Yes dear readers, once again it's one section of Maiden

Lane. Another section of the Lane's muddy terrain was pictured earlier this week in the Iowan. We have only one concern about running this particular hole. If the people of Mechanicsville see it, they might get down right jealous. Another hole will appear in Saturday's Iowan.

Liquor Bill Drive Snarled in House

DES MOINES (AP)—Portions of a so-called "dry" liquor bill were attached to a measure to legalize liquor by the drink Thursday as the Iowa House raced to complete action on the bill before week's end.

Backers of the Senate-passed measure were seeking an agreement with the House leadership to remain in session today until a final vote is reached.

They had hoped to pass the bill Thursday, but the drive became stalled in a prolonged wrangle over an amendment to let city and town councils change their minds and reverse themselves after they had once issued some liquor licenses.

Rep. William Scherle (R-Henderson) charged that delaying tactics were being used to hold off a vote on the liquor measure until the Senate acts on a bill to raise the sales tax from 2 to 3 per cent.

A "full measure" provision requiring bartenders to pour a full ounce of liquor in each drink, was one of the portions of the "dry" bill adopted by the House.

It rejected a proposal by Rep. Dewey Goode (R-Bloomfield) to require a county-wide local option election before liquor by the drink could be sold, and another by Rep. Raymond Fisher (R-Grand Junction) to allow liquor by the drink establishments stay open until 1 a.m. on Sunday, instead of closing at midnight Saturday as provided in the Senate bill.

Rep. Fisher is the chief sponsor of the "dry" bill, which gets its name from the fact that most of its backers are non-drinkers.

weekend. Huit also said the fraternity has not had a faculty adviser present at many house meetings.

Tom Stone, A2, Keokuk, said the action was being studied by the chapter. He said the "pledge incident" last fall involved a pledge running down the street dressed "only in a robe." The minimized the importance of the water fight.

A Sigma Chi spokesman said that Mr. and Mrs. Delos Dooley, Marshalltown, parents of a fraternity member, John D. Dooley, LI; Mrs. Florence Kerrigan, housemother and Mrs. Rex Van Alstien, Sigma Nu housemother were present at the formal last weekend. He admitted, however, that a faculty representative was not present.

The spokesman said that, although Derby Day is "ka-put" this year, "we'll come back big and strong next year."

Fraternity members are meeting today with Dean Huit to discuss the matter.

A native of Oklahoma City, Dr. Nash received his liberal arts and medical degrees at the University of Oklahoma, Norman. He received special training at the SUI College of Medicine and the Veterans Administration Research Hospital in Chicago.

He is the 16th member to win the honor society award. All are former SUI alumni.

Known as a magazine writer and the author of 10 novels, Spence graduated from SUI in 1930.

Between 1930 and 1940 he was a member of United Press wire service. He left United Press as a bureau chief to do research with George Gallup, after which he began a highly successful career as a free lance writer.

Iowans To Attend P.E. Conference

Dr. Louis Alley, department head; Dr. Arthur Wendler, associate professor; Dr. Donald Casady, assistant professor; Dr. Gene Asprey, assistant professor and several graduate assistants of the Men's Physical Education Department will be in Minneapolis this weekend at the national convention of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Research in physical education will highlight the convention discussion. Hubert Humphrey, U.S. Senator from Minnesota, Ann Landers, newspaper columnist and R. Sargent Shriver, Peace Corps director, are some of the featured speakers.

British Physicist Tours SUI

Brig. Ralph A. Bagnold (ret.) eminent British physicist, toured the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research at SUI Wednesday and Thursday. He is in the United States as a consultant to the U.S. Geological Survey.

Brigadier Bagnold, who raised and commanded the daring Long Range Desert Group in the Middle East in 1940-41, presented his views on "The Underlying Physics of Sediment Transport" at a mechanics and hydraulics seminar on the SUI campus Wednesday. Bagnold has been a consultant on movement of sediments by wind and water since 1956.

In the 1920s and '30s he was stationed in Africa, where he became an expert on the movements of blown sand and dunes while conducting several explorations in the Libyan Desert.

Bagnold's Long Range Desert Group operated over hundreds of miles of barren sand, harassing Italian troops in the Libyan Desert and deceiving the Italian commander as to the actual strength of British forces in Egypt.

Doctor Must Be Careful Where His Knife Goes

Cancer —

If you get lung cancer, your chances are about 4 in a hundred of living five years or longer, 2 in a hundred for cancer of the esophagus and 8 in a hundred of cancer of the stomach. A woman with breast cancer, on the other hand, will go the five years in half the cases.

The Spin-Off Peril

The surgeon does his job by carefully removing not only the growing ball of flesh but by also adjoining glands that may hide cancer colonies. In this, he cautiously avoids too much handling of the cancer to keep bits of cancer from flying loose.

YET EVEN THE most meticulous surgeon cannot control the spinoff of cells in many cancers. Scientists have re-captured these cells circulating in the blood vessels throughout the body. In one test, performed by one of the most skilled surgeons, cells raced through the body during the operation.

All these factors point up sharply one of the current unhappy mysteries of the surgical treatment of breast cancer. Despite improvement in surgical techniques and the addition of X-rays, the death rate from this disease in women has remained steady for a generation.

THIS FACT means that surgery of breast cancer has gone about as far as it could go. It could also mean that surgery only relieves the painful symptoms of the disease but does not alter the long-term course. To be sure, the "cure" rate of breast cancers caught when the lump is small runs up to 75 per cent. But are those cancers caught early because they are slow growing?

On the other hand, the death rate from cancer of the uterus continues to fall, probably because doctors catch them very early, thanks to the smear test for examining womb cells.

Radiation Drawbacks

Even so radiation has its drawbacks in treating cancer. It can cause uncomfortable illness if the rays affect too much normal tissue. The patient may feel nauseated, headachy, and completely without vigor. If the rays strike bones, they may produce anemia. So the radiologist walks the line between therapeutic dose and toxic dose.

Doctors also implant radioactive pellets of radium and other substances near cancers. They inject radioactive gold to control rapidly growing cancer cells in the abdomen. And they use radioactive cobalt instead of a high voltage X-ray machine. The cobalt emits X-rays equivalent to those from a multi-million volt X-ray machine.

Out at Brookhaven National Laboratory, the scientists have treated brain tumors by bombarding them with neutrons, the atomic particles that have no electrification. Before the neutron beam hits the brain, the doctors have treated the patient with boron and when the neutron enters the boron, the boron becomes radioactive. The method is still under evaluation.

Failure? Then What?

And if this fails, then what? There are still chemicals that can prolong life in some instances. Surgery and X-rays can be used to relieve pain and other discomforts. But most important of all is the psychological treatment of the patient.

Doctors still argue over whether a patient should be told he has cancer and whether he should be told his chances. Some say each patient must know so that he can plan for his future and family. Others say, no; the psychological pressure is too great and they simply tell the patient he is seriously ill.

WHEN THE cancer finally has made its victim quite ill, the doctors have various methods for making him comfortable: special drugs to relieve swelling, pain and affects on other organs. Unfortunately, too many physicians abandon the advanced cancer patient at a time when he needs a doctor most for solace. Many cancer experts are campaigning for a reversal of this attitude.

Looking back over the decades, can one say that cancer patients are better off today? Modern antibiotics, anesthesia and other techniques have made cancer surgery much safer. Studies of groups of patients show that new methods can increase the survival of the patient and the advanced cancer patient can be made more comfortable.

ALTHOUGH MOST post-1950 victims lived longer, the differences were tiny in most categories. Before 1950, 47 per cent of women survived five years if they were treated for cancer of the uterine cervix (the mouth of the womb). After 1950 the score was 53 per cent.

Nevertheless there has been a steady improvement in survival over the decades in most cancers. There has been no increase in the spontaneous disappearance of cancer which now stands at one case in 100,000. So it doesn't pay to count on that.

Indonesian Evening Planned

An evening of Indonesian music and dance will be presented in Shambaugh Auditorium in the Library Saturday at 8 p.m.

Mantle Hood, head of the Department of Ethnomusicology at the University of California at Los Angeles will direct an ensemble of players, and Miss Hazel Chung, on the right, and Hardja Susilo, left, will perform dances from the Southeast Asian republic.

The entertainment is being offered in connection with the Peace Corps training unit now on the SUI campus preparing for service in Indonesia.

The "gamelan," as Indonesian musical ensembles are called, consists of a variety of exotic instruments unfamiliar to Western eyes and ears. These have been brought from Los Angeles and from Madison, Wis., by several of the players who will participate in the concert.

In addition, members of Eugene Helm's Collegium Musicum at SUI have been recruited and are beginning to learn the music. Helm is an assistant professor of music. A full schedule of rehearsals is planned under the direction of Hood.

Quad Revamp To End Fires, Add Comfort

Remodeling of Quadrangle Dormitory will begin soon to increase its general livability and to eliminate fire hazards, according to Dorm Director T. M. Rehder.

Rehder would not say when the remodeling would start. Included in remodeling would be rewiring, adding electrical outlets, and installing new doors and windows.

To dampen noise between rooms and in the halls, acoustical tiles and other sound-proofing devices will be added. Plans also call for extensive replastering, adding more closet space, new plumbing, and improved rest rooms and showers.

Rehder said wasted space in the corners of the dorm will be used to greater advantage.

"We are not trying to increase the number of beds, but we are not trying to lose any either."

In tentative plans, dorm residents will be moved from section to section in the dorm or into Hillcrest and South Quad while different areas come under construction.

4 SUlowans To Attend Parley

Four State University of Iowa educators are on the program for the 48th annual conference of the National University Extension Association (NUEA), May 5-8 at the Radisson Hotel, Minneapolis, Minn.

The SUlowans are: Lee W. Cochran, director of SUI's Extension Division, chairman of the NUEA Division of Audio-visual Communications and board liaison to the NUEA Committee on Research; Hugh F. Seabury, head of the speech department at University High School, member, NUEA Committee on Discussions and Debate Materials; John L. Davies, director of Bureau of Instructional Services member, NUEA Committee on Research; and R. J. Blakeley, dean of Extension Division, member, Ad Hoc Committee on NUEA members. The theme of the program is "Higher Education in World Affairs: Opportunity and Challenge for University Extension." The University of Minnesota is host.

Attending the NUEA meeting will be representatives of 96 leading colleges and universities from Massachusetts to Hawaii and from Alaska to the Gulf.

Moore Business Forms To Double Plant Size

Richard C. Hedstrom, plant manager of Moore Business Forms, Inc., announced Thursday that work is beginning immediately to enlarge the local plant to double its present size.

The plant, one of 23 Moore-operations in the U.S., currently employs 110 persons. The new L-shaped addition to the present plant site on South Riverside Drive is expected to bring the number of employees to about 200.
