THIS MORNING

IN THE STATE—

SYMPATHY GATHERING. About a dozen members of the Des Moines branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People gathered around the statue of Abraham Lincoln on the Statehouse grounds Monday for a prayer of sympathy for the Negroes' battle against segregation in Alabama.

Robert Wright, an attorney and president of the Des Moines branch of the NAACP, said the demonstration was part of a nationwide movement.

HOME RULE BILL SIGNED. In Des Moines a bill granting limited home rule to cities and towns was signed Monday by Gov. Harold Hughes.

In general, the measure provides that municipalities have whatever powers are not prohibited by law. However, it says they must have specific authority to levy any taxes.

SUES FOR DIVORCE. Mrs. Estella M. Denman, Monday filed suit for divorce against her husband, state Rep. William F. Denman of Des Moines.

Mrs. Denman charged her husband with cruel and inhuman treatment impairing her health and endangering her life.

PLEADS PRICE-FIXING. The Anaconda American Brass Co. of Waterbury, Conn., Monday was fined $35,000 on price-fixing charges. One of its executives, Justice Lockwood, was fined $5,000.

Originally, the company pleaded innocent following a federal grand jury indictment last September. However, on April 15 the company changed the plea to no contest in U.S. District Court before Judge M. Joseph Blumenfeld.

RUSSIANS IN CUBA. In Washington Monday, Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.) said the Russians are building 16 industrial plants in Cuba, including an oil refinery and three metallurgical factories.

Mundt, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in a report to constituents that Moscow radio had confirmed this commercial activity.

PENTAGON MOVIES. In Washington the Defense Department is tightening ground rules under which it helps the movie industry make military drama films.

Pentagon information chief Arthur Sylvester told newsmen that, for one thing, the Defense Department is requiring movie companies to specify exactly what cooperation they expect in shooting a picture.

There will be no more blank-check authorizations for the use of troops, planes, ships and other equipment, Sylvester said.

IN THE WORLD—

VIETNAMESE PROGRESS. South Vietnamese forces continued what is probably their most successful antiguerrilla operation of the year. American sources said 40 Communists were killed Monday.

The government had already claimed 90 killed and 25 captured in weekend attacks on a Communist guerrilla training center on the Cambodian border.

REJECTS CHARGE. Britain has rejected a Soviet charge that the United States is endangering life and agriculture in South Viet Nam with poisonous chemicals.

A British note Monday said the United States employed only normal weedkillers to destroy brush used by Communist guerrillas for ambush.

PEARSON CHALLENGED. Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson was confronted Monday night with the first formal challenge to the life of his minority government.

Former Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker moved in Parliament for a vote of no confidence in the Liberal leader who ousted Diefenbaker's Conservative regime last month.

Diefenbaker charged that Pearson's program as outlined to the House of Commons during the day failed to live up to his campaign pledges.

Pearson heads a Government four seats short of a majority in Parliament, and must count on support from the Social Credit and New Democratic Party to survive.

Hawkeye Happy!

Staff members of the 1963 Hawkeye distributed 3,012 copies Monday in the Communications Center. In the left photo, Jeanne Hilderbrand, A1, Freeport, Ill., presents her receipt to Mary Carr, A3, St. Paul, Minn., as crowds of anxious students await their turn. In the right photo, Margi Dower, A1, Bettendorf, and Jill Olsen, A1, Mount Vernon, make it as far as a shade tree outside the Communications Center before examining the contents. Hawkeyes may be picked up daily from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the south entrance of the Communications Center. ID cards are required and each person may pick up his own copy only. Separate lines will be formed to distribute free copies to seniors.

Birmingham Negroes Expelled, Suspended

Move To Be Challenged By Law, Report Leaders

BIRMINGHAM (AP)—Negro leaders here decided Monday to use legal means to fight an order by the board of education to expel or suspend more than 1,000 Negro students from school for their part in anti-segregation demonstrations.

"We are authorizing our lawyers to look into the legal aspects of this matter and file suit in federal court on the grounds that the pupils had been expelled without a hearing," said Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The board of education ordered principals at 30 schools to immediately expel or suspend 1,081 pupils arrested in protest marches over the past several weeks.

"We will not call for a mass walkout or boycott of the schools," King said, "nor will we call for a renewal of demonstrations at this point."

"We will not seek to correct an unwise act by moving hastily into another unwise act."

KING SAID earlier on his arrival from Atlanta that Negro leaders had no agreement with the school board concerning the pupils, "but we felt the board would be reasonable enough to deal with this problem in a different way."

In Washington, it was learned that Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace has given President Kennedy his personal pledge that local and state civilian authorities would maintain law and order in Birmingham.

This was backed up by Kennedy's assurance to the governor that federal troops sent to Alabama for prospective riot duty would not be used unless there is a fresh outbreak which gets out of hand.

King said a meeting of the pupils affected has been set for 9 a.m. Tuesday at a church.

Two other Negro leaders talked of a mass school boycott and possible renewed demonstrations.

The board of education ordered principals at 30 schools to immediately expel or suspend 1,081 pupils arrested in protest marches over the past several weeks.

ABOUT 1,300 law enforcement officers are on call in this steel city and about 3,000 federal troops, dispatched to two Alabama bases, remain on standby for possible use in Birmingham after night bombings and rioting more than a week ago.

The board of education's action further threatened the already shaky biracial agreement. Shuttlesworth said Negro leaders had been assured no action would be taken against the pupils.

Both had said earlier they would stick with the agreement with white businessmen. The May 10 agreement called for gradual desegregation of downtown store facilities; better jobs for Negroes; continued efforts for dismissal of charges and settling of the pupil issue, and reopening of biracial talks.

Billups said the pupils would go on strike of their own accord as a sympathy gesture. He said most Negroes boycotted schools during recent demonstrations when expulsion was threatened.

Mavrias Case To New Court

A change of venue has been granted to Ronald Mavrias, 22, who was charged with arson May 6.

This means the preliminary hearing on the charge will be heard in justice of the peace court instead of police court.

Justice of the Peace Carl Goetz will hear the case at a date which is not yet set. Police Judge Jay H. Honohan was to have heard the preliminary hearing Monday when the change of venue was granted.

Mavrias, 420 South Clinton, was arrested and charged with setting four fires at the Campus Hotel March 22. Police said he admitted setting the hotel fires.

He has also been questioned about other fires in Iowa City in the past 13 months. Police have not released the results of the questioning.

At his arraignment, May 7, Judge Honohan set a maximum bond of $10,000. It has not been posted, and Mavrias has remained in the county jail.

Supreme Court Rules—

Peaceful Sit-ins Are Legal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled Monday that a state or city may not interfere, in any fashion, with peaceful racial integration sit-in demonstrations in public places of business.

But the multiple rulings did not clearly spell out the legal position of the individual shopkeeper who may wish to restrict his clientele without the support of segregation laws.

THE TRIBUNAL not only struck down laws and ordinances against peaceful sit-in demonstrations, but barred action or statements by officials that might influence shopkeepers to turn away Negro customers.

It was a decision with more far-reaching impact on racial relations in daily life than any since the school desegregation decrees of nearly a decade ago.

This new historic ruling was laid down in seven cases, mostly centered on arrest during the 1960 campaign to integrate lunch counters and other businesses in the South. Involved were cases from Alabama, Louisiana, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Maryland.

THOSE APPEALS involved 44 individuals but about 3,000 other demonstrators adjudged guilty in similar cases long have been looking to the Supreme Court for word that might free them of these convictions.

The nine justices were unanimous in laying down the principle that public officials cannot interfere with sit-ins so long as they are peaceful. However, the court did not draw a clear line of when a shopkeeper may on his own refuse to serve Negroes or call police to have them evicted from his property.

But a dissenting justice said a shopkeeper's right to bar certain customers on his own "has certainly become a greatly diluted right, if it has not, indeed, been totally destroyed."

Troops Stop Revolution In Turkey

Chief of Staff: 'No Ground for Worry'

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Revolutionaries led by a former colonel attempted a coup d'etat in Turkey early today. Loyola Government troops quickly crushed the plotters in Istanbul but the outcome remained in doubt in Ankara, the Turkey capital.

A voice on radio Ankara announced the coup under former Col. Talat Aydemir at 4 a.m.

Within an hour another radio Ankara communique said the coup had been thwarted and the plotters were being rounded up.

But a third radio Ankara announcement said that "on behalf of the revolutionary committee of Talat Aydemir" Turkish armed forces controlled the capital, indicating that some army units went over to the revolutionaries.

Radio Ankara then went dead and communications between Istanbul and Ankara were severed.

However, Turkey's chief of staff, Cevdet Sunay, announced over the Turkish radio network that the Turkish armed forces loyal to 78-year-old Premier Ismet Inonu's Government were in full control after an attempted putsch by dissident army units.

"A handful of adventurers cannot seize power in Turkey," Sunay said. "They will be punished. Land, air, naval and gendarmierie forces are under the orders of the government. There is no ground for worry."

Hickenlooper Raps Feed Grain Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signed Monday a two-year extension, with some changes, of the voluntary feed-grains production control program.

As the President signed the measure, Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) charged that it had been "surprisingly and secretly" speeded out of Congress to the White House by Democratic leaders.

He also protested that there was no opportunity for opponents to challenge on parliamentary grounds the bill which was passed last week.

At ROTC Show SUI Welcomes Hughes Today

Gov. Harold Hughes will review approximately 1,200 Army and Air Force ROTC Cadets and speak at a luncheon at the Union during today's Governor's Day celebration here.

The cadets will begin their march in review at 11 a.m. to the music of the SUI ROTC Marching Band and the Scottish Highlanders. Parade ground activities will include the presentation of awards to 20 Army and Air Force ROTC cadets. The public is invited.

A luncheon for the Governor will be held at 12:15 p.m. in the Main Lounge of the Union, and will be followed by a performance by SUI's Old Gold Singers.

At 1:30 p.m. Gov. Hughes will address ROTC cadets and faculty members in the Main Lounge. The address will be broadcast by WSUI.

Other officials expected to attend the ceremonies are: Maj. Gen. Junior Miller, adjutant general of Iowa; President Virgil M. Hancher; Harvey Davis, SUI provost; Mayor Fred Dodder; Dewey Stuit, dean of the College of Liberal Arts; Col. W. N. Holm, professor of military science, and Col. M. N. Mikulak, professor of air science.

Army, Mounted Police Called To Combat Quebec Terrorists

MONTREAL (AP)—Premier Jean Lesage of Quebec turned Monday night to the army and Royal Canadian Mounted Police for help in combatting terrorists who have set off bombs in Montreal and threatened foreign diplomats meeting in Ottawa.

Lesage acted after another bomb exploded in Montreal and dynamite sticks were found planted in Quebec City mail boxes earlier in the day. He also offered a $50,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the terrorists.

The incidents were believed to be the work of an outlawed underground organization which has taken responsibility for a number of recent bombings in its avowed campaign to try to force independence for French-speaking Quebec Province.

No casualties resulted from the latest terrorist acts, but Lesage told newsmen these activities must stop.

Until last Friday, when an army demolition expert was critically injured attempting to disarm a bomb in a Montreal suburb, the investigation was officially led by the Montreal police. Then Quebec provincial police took over.

Lesage told newsmen the terrorism could harm foreign investment in the province.

"These people — terrorists — think they are rendering service to Quebec. They are doing enormous harm, enormous harm, to Quebec, as well as to French Canada."

Quebec City postmen found uncapped, unfused dynamite sticks in about 18 mail boxes when they made their morning rounds. Chief detective Aime Guillemette said the lack of detonators minimized the danger.

Each stick bore a tag marked "F.L.Q." — the initials for the French words meaning "Quebec Liberation Front." This is an outlawed underground band pledged to use violence to wrench Quebec from the Canadian federation.

Police have not officially blamed the FLQ for the bomb which exploded behind a Montreal armory early Monday.

It was referred to as the "Kennedy round" because of his administration's efforts in getting Congress to adopt the Trade Expansion Act of 1962. This authorizes tariff reductions up to 50 per cent, and even more in some areas.

A compromise formula offered by the United States on Sunday night recognized the Common Market's position that some U.S. tariffs were higher than European tariffs. But it rejected the demand for automatic adjustment of the disparities.

The Common Market turned this down and made a compromise suggestion of its own. This accepted the American principle of across-the-board cuts but insisted on some mechanism for correcting inequalities.

A U.S. DELEGATION spokesman expressed irritation that this proposal was given to newsmen before being officially submitted to the U.S. delegation. He said if the proposal as reported was put to the United States it would be unacceptable.

Christian A. Herter, former U.S. secretary of state, heads the American delegation. His main opponent is the six-nation Common Market of France, West Germany, Italy, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg.

Monday was the next-to-last day in a week of tense negotiations. The delegates were not dealing with anything as specific as the tariff rate on any item, or even the percentages by which rates should be cut. Such matters would be handled by negotiators next year — if and when the Kennedy round gets started.

Council Sets 3 Hearings

The Iowa City City Council will hold three public hearings at its meeting tonight at 7:30 in the Council Chamber of the Civic Center.

The Council will hear plans and specifications for the new water treatment plant. Bids will be taken on the project. One bid has been received and rejected as being too high.

The Council will hear plans and specifications for widening Iowa Avenue to permit center parking, for widening Washington Street between Linn and Dodge Streets and for resurfacing parts of nine streets.

The third hearing will deal with a proposed subdivision ordinance. Bids will be taken on a new fire truck. Working plans will be presented for the new Community Center. If the councilmen approve the plans, a date will be set for a public hearing on them.

Arrest 300 Negro Demonstrators

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Mass arrests of Negroes demonstrating against segregation policies resumed here Monday night and in Durham, some 55 miles to the east.

About 1,000 singing, hand-clapping Negroes converged on downtown business establishments here and at least 300 were arrested. They were taken to the Central Carolina Hospital, where about 500 other demonstrators have been held in temporary jail facilities since Saturday morning.

At Durham, arrests of an undetermined number followed the march of about 1,500 Negroes from City Hall to the main business section.

At Greensboro, demonstrators were arrested in a downtown business section.

Kudos To Our Man Cretz!

For the first time in the 63-year history of the Big Ten outdoor track meet, the Iowa team brought home the first place trophy. This victory was a tribute to the coaching skills of Francis X. Cretzmeier — don't call him that — say "Cretz" and he'll know who you are talking to. The likable Iowa coach was an outstanding trackman himself for the Hawkeyes in the middle-thirties, and took over the head track coaching job at his alma mater in 1948.

Track at the University of Iowa has never been a strong team sport, but the University has produced some strong individual performers and a couple of Olympians.

Cretzmeier has been faced with a problem of a limited amount of talent from which to recruit, coupled with a general apathy toward track by Iowans.

Cretz set about to correct the situation. He was able to produce two fine distance runners in Ted Wheeler and Deacon Jones, but the Hawkeye team efforts were still at best mediocre. Finally the Iowa coach corralled a bunch of eager youngsters, many of whom had not had the benefit of a high school track.

These lads formed the nucleus for the championship track team and are probably the finest group of middle-distance runners in the history of the University of Iowa. Cretz's tutelage enabled the raw talents to blossom into a championship flower.

Included in this formidable group is captain Roger Kerr from Wapello, Bill Frazier from Princeton, Gary Fischer from Dubuque, Garry Hollingsworth from South English, Gary Richards from Corning, and Scott Rucker from Bettendorf. These young men were joined by distance men Ralph Trimble from Cedar Rapids and Larry Kramer from Belmont, discus thrower Cloyd Webb from East St. Louis, Ill.; high jumper Wes Sidney from Clencoe, Ill., and hurdler Don Gardner from River Rouge, Mich. All of these men earned at least two points in the meet, the Hawkeye's margin of victory.

Inasmuch as the championship has focused attention on the track team, we should like to point out that Cretz was a moving force in getting the new cinder track for the Iowa team. The track is one of the finest of its kind in the country and was the scene of the Big Ten championships last year.

The Big Ten champs will be entertaining Minnesota in a dual meet here on Friday. Here's a real chance for Iowans to honor the coach and the team who boosted Iowa to the top in track.

End of Liquor Books

In the wide discussion of adoption of a liquor by the drink law for Iowa little attention was given to the fact that the state legislature almost simultaneously passed a bill eliminating the use of liquor permit books at state liquor stores.

This will cost the state about $260,000 a year in lost book fees of $1 but should be more than made up by profits from purchases in areas such as Scott County where many residents have not bothered to get a book but have made purchases in Illinois.

Liquor books contributed little to control and were more or less of a nuisance. The man who had a liquor book had it in the coat of another suit at home when he wished to make a purchase or did not have it with him when he had the same desire while in some other Iowa city.

The law eliminating the necessity for using liquor permit books will go into effect by publication some time before July 1. As a result 300,000 books prepared for use in the calendar year starting then will be destroyed.

Effects of abolishing need for books in Iowa liquor stores will not be apparent for perhaps six months. Even then the totals will be somewhat obscured by the new sales to legalized taverns, hotels and motels where bars are operated.

"Those Alabama Stories Are Sickening, Why Can't They Be Like Us And Find Some Nice, Refined Way To Keep The Negroes Out?"

Peddlers of Fright

By RALPH MCGILL

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—U.S. Senator Thomas H. Kuchel, Republican, from California, recently stripped from the fright peddlers of the nation their protective covering of falsehood and fakery and left them naked for all to see. It was a good deed. It included reproductions of some of the stupid, inflammatory, defamatory and fraudulent pamphlets distributed by the Birch groups, the anti-Semites, and the various self-styled patriotic organizations engaged in peddling fright and doubt.

His talk, for which there is room here for only a short synopsis, was thorough and documented. It was one of the more useful services of the year. All these organizations have one thing in common. They peddle the lie that the sovereignty of this country is being turned over to the United Nations or that there is a plot to do so.

Senator Kuchel included photographs. One was sent out by the anonymously supported "U.S. Flag Committee," of Jackson Heights, N.Y. "Soon," said the committee, "you will not be a citizen of a free America." Under that heading the U.S. Flag Committee, unidentified by the name of any individual, charged that the "Director" of "The Disarmament and Arms Control" is a dictator over whom neither the President nor the Congress has any control. The pamphlet declared that the law setting up the agency required the director to collaborate with and receive orders from a Russian, Eugene Kislev, Secretary of the United Nations. The pamphlet went on to say that the U.S. military centers will be abolished and all arms and soldiers given over to the U.N.

"Uncle Sam," said the fright pamphlet, "cannot move his finger without permission from the U.N. . . . There is more of this bilge. Senator Kuchel took it apart. There is an agency, first created by the Congress during the Eisenhower Administration, now called the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. Strong support for it came from General Alfred M. Gruenther, General Lyman L. Lemnitzer, Henry Cabot Lodge, then our ambassador to the U.N., Christian Herter, and Robert Lovett.

The agency is directed to acquire, under the direction of the Secretary of State, a fund of practical and theoretical knowledge about disarmament and is directed to conduct research in that field. It has no power to disarm the country. It can do nothing save conduct research. It reports to the President and Secretary of State and does not, and cannot, act independently. There is no Russian colonel. It is interesting, however, that in most of the fright pamphlets this ubiquitous Russian colonel turns up as ready to take over the U.N. and this country. Senator Kuchel exposes a play written in the early 1950's by an anti-Semitic group, denounced in an Un-American Affairs Committee report.

That people believe such things — and pay money to subscribe — is eloquent testimony to their extreme gullibility, their self doubts and their disloyalty. The old hate monger and anti-Semite Gerald L. K. Smith is revealed as still in business. Senator Kuchel used one of Gerald's frauds. Said Gerald, in a sheet

Tax Bill Defeated

SUI Tightens Its Belt

By GARY SPURGEON
Managing Editor

The Iowa Legislature adjourned Saturday after failure to pass a tax bill which would have increased the state's revenue. Consequently, Board of Regents institutions received $2 million less in capital improvements than originally contemplated, but overall the Regents were treated quite fairly.

Previously the legislature had passed a bill which gave the Regents $50 million annually for operating expenses over the next two years. The capital improvement budget now stands at about $16 million.

THE FINAL appropriation for general operating expenses is $4.9 million less than the amount requested by the Regents, but $3.2 million more than the amount recommended by Gov. Harold Hughes. The capital improvements appropriation was $2 million less than the amount recommended by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

SUI will receive $25,828,050 of the $50 million appropriated to the Regents for general operating costs. For general education expenses, SUI will receive around $16 million while the rest has been appropriated to the University Hospital, the Psychopathic Hospital, the Hospital School and the Bacteriological Laboratory.

In the area of capital improvements, SUI will be able to go ahead with many of its major building projects. The $2 million dollars that was lopped off the budget Friday will mean that the Library addition will have to be curtailed since only $600,000 will be available instead of $1.5 million.

HOWEVER, SUI will be able to continue with plans of an office-classroom building, a new psychology building, a speech pathology building, an Art Building addition and smaller remodeling and renovation projects.

In comparison to the 1961 appropriations, SUI received an increase of $4 million. There is a $3 million increase in the general educational expenses and capital improvements is up nearly $6 million.

Historically, this was one of the biggest increases over the past decade in general educational expenses. Previously, the Board of Regents have received appropriations which have held the line in most of the years with giant steps in selected years. For example, the 1961 expenditures for Regents institutions was $6 million more than in 1960. The same was the case in 1957 and in 1953. The years in between had only slight increases.

IN RELATION, to the Legislature's failure to pass a new tax program, SUI fared quite well. The state's revenue is holding the line except for the increased money which will be received from general economic growth and from the liquor bill.

Meanwhile, the Board of Regents received a budget which had generous increases. SUI was given around 90 per cent of its original budget request. The other institutions under the control of the Regents did as well.

Nevertheless, the cut in the Regents' request will mean that belts will have to be tightened somewhere along the line. It will probably mean that many of SUI's faculty members will not get the raise that they should have. It will mean further that some of the SUI faculty will depart for better paying jobs at some other institution.

SUI WILL also not be able to build as many new classrooms as might be desired. Many of the temporary classrooms will have to be used for at least two more years. Needed improvements on present buildings will have to be postponed.

New equipment for research and general education will not be purchased at as high a rate as SUI staff members would like. Students will have to get along as best they can with facilities which may be obsolete or nearly worn out.

But things could have been worse. The Legislature could have chosen to hold the Regents' appropriations at the present level. That would have meant that many of the activities now possible would have been scrapped.

THERE SEEMS to be no reason to press the panic button. A few top faculty members may depart for better paying jobs, but who is to say that they would have not left anyway.

Students and faculty may have to do without new classrooms, equipment and offices, but this does not necessarily reduce the quality of education.

The Iowa Legislature should not be commended for the action they took on the budget request submitted by the Regents. But there is no room to condemn. The Legislature treated SUI and the other Regents institutions very nicely when one considers that revenue is holding the line and when the pressing needs of other state programs are considered.

Rockefeller—Ready To Go

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Republican politicians, who have been wishfully hoping that Nelson Rockefeller would sidetrack himself because of his remarriage, are in for a surprise.

Gov. Rockefeller is not in the least thinking about stepping aside. What is more, there is good reason to report that he will shortly step up the timetable of his drive for the Republican Presidential nomination.

Mr. Rockefeller is quite aware that his divorce and remarriage have raised some doubts about his ability to get the nomination and to win, if nominated.

BUT HE DOES not accept the view that these doubts will be of long duration. He is known to feel that they are now being exploited by those who are against his nomination anyway, and he believes they will be substantially dissolved before long. Many of his closest advisers are convinced that it is important for the Governor to declare his candidacy openly sooner than he otherwise intended in order that apparent uncertainty on his part cannot be used against him.

This suggests an acceleration of the Rockefeller campaign timetable and an earlier willingness on his part to let his backers in different parts of the country be active and overt efforts to line up delegates.

Mr. Rockefeller does not accept the view that any substantial segment of public opinion will long be disposed to punish him politically because of his remarriage.

PART OF the basis for this conviction is that his headquarters in New York is receiving an unabated number of requests from party leaders throughout the nation to speak and to appear at important fund-raising dinners.

Neither George Hinman, Republican National Committeeman from New York, nor other Rockefeller intimates are yet authorizing his volunteer supporters to start organizing on a nationwide basis. But they are continuing to receive numerous requests. They are not only being welcomed, but in each instance quiet low-key activity is being encouraged.

My information is that after the Governor returns from his wedding trip in Venezuela, things will begin to move. There will be a new intensity to the campaign and it will rest on these premises:

That Mr. Rockefeller is going all out for the nomination.

That he is not going to be deterred by those — Republicans or Democrats — who want to use his remarriage against him.

That on the basis of his experience in the Federal government and on his record of Governor of New York state, he can make the most effective campaign and the strongest case against the Kennedy administration.

MR. ROCKEFELLER intends to work diligently to promote unity in Republican ranks in order that the nominee, whoever he is, will have the best possible chance of winning.

If there is any one thing which could cause the Governor to turn aside from the pre-convention campaign, it would be evidence of a Republican party irretrievably divided right and left.

800 Grad Student Grants To Be Offered

More than 800 U.S. Government awards will be available to qualified American graduate students for study or research in any of 49 countries during the 1964-65 academic year.

The fellowships, available under the Fulbright-Hays Act of 1961, are administered by the Institute of International Education as part of the educational exchange program of the State Department.

Students currently enrolled at SUI and interested in applying for 1964-65 scholarships should consult campus Fulbright adviser, W. Wallace Maner, in 111 University Hall.

General eligibility requirements for all types of grants are: U.S. citizenship at the time of application, a bachelor's degree or its equivalent before the beginning date of the grant, language proficiency sufficient to carry out the proposed study project and good health. A good academic record and demonstrated capacity for independent study are also necessary.

There are three types of awards

Diet Therapy Meeting Set For Thursday

A conference on "Gastrointestinal Disorders," fourth and last of a series on "Diet Therapy . . . U.S.A.," will be held Thursday at the Union.

Under the direction of Margaret Olson, director of the Department of Nutrition at University Hospitals, the series for diet therapists is sponsored by the Iowa Medical Society, Iowa Hospital Association, Iowa Dietetic Association and the Iowa State Department of Health.

SUI faculty and staff members who will participate in the program are Dr. C. Adrian M. Hogben, professor and head of physiology; Dr. Harold P. Schedl, research assistant professor of internal medicine; Dr. James A. Clifton, associate professor of internal medicine; Margaret A. Ohlson, professor of internal medicine and director of the Department of Nutrition and Mary Ellen Slaack and Shirley Goldstein, both therapeutic dietitians.

Dr. Richard D. Eckhardt, chief of medical service at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Iowa City, will also participate.

Among the topics to be discussed are management of selected malfunctions and diseases, liver disorders and their management, tailoring the diet to fit the patient and community resources and the dietitian.

Three previous conferences in the series included "Weight Control and Prevention of Obesity," "Diabetes Mellitus and its Management," and "Cardiovascular Diseases and Management."

Kiwanis Meets Today

H. Clay Harshbarger, professor and chairman of the speech and dramatic art department, will conduct a high school scholarship program at the Kiwanis International meeting today at noon in the Hotel Jefferson.

Hay Raffner, vice president for instruction and dean of the faculties, will speak on "The Nature of the University."

offered. U.S. Government full grants provide round-trip transportation, tuition, books and maintenance. Joint U.S.-foreign government grants with the U.S. providing travel and the foreign government travel-only grants are intended to supplement maintenance and tuition scholarships from a university, a private donor, or a foreign donor.

Since the academic year 1948-49, approximately 12,000 American graduate students have studied abroad under the programs which are now covered by the Fulbright-Hays Act.

The Institute of International Education seeks to encourage international understanding and educational development through programs of international exchange.

Cuban Exiles Join Forces In Committee

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Politically divided exiles joined forces Monday and formed the Cuban Committee of Liberation to wage a "second independence war."

The 35-member committee was selected by some 150 exile leaders who signed a charter of Cuban unity.

The unity charter calls on all Cubans to fight for liberation. In Washington, an aide said Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy had no advance information about the newly organized group. The attorney general is generally considered abreast of Cuban exile developments.

Exiles reported they had reached agreements in conferences with agents of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency for anti-Castro programs including guerrilla warfare, sabotage, infiltration of a r e m e d forces and ultimate invasion or bombardment from an island near Cuba already selected.

Some exiles said the new central body has the blessings of the U.S. government. But, in Washington, a state department spokesman would say only that the U.S. government welcomes moves among the exiles to get together. And, he added, the U.S. government does not formally support any particular exile group at this time.

The State Department spokesman said also the U.S. government does not favor free lance raids by exiles on Cuba.

SUI Receives Gifts Totaling $131,570

Gifts and grants totaling $131,570 were received by SUI during April. Included in the total were $98,063 for research, $21,955 for scholarships and fellowships, $175 for student loan funds, $7,600 for training grants and $3,777 for miscellaneous purposes.

Funds provided by research grants will be used for studies in such fields as pediatrics, physics, biochemistry, internal medicine, cardiac research, physiology, biophysics, ophthalmology and mechanical engineering.

The largest grant, $27,900, was received from the National Science Foundation. Other large grants were made by the National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases, $24,908; the National Cancer Institute, $20,440 and the Department of the Navy, $15,985.

Rail Rider Reaches Required Retirement

It may be the year's most unusual retirement story . . . Nobody remembers where he came from. The old hands who took the Norfolk & Western freight trains rolling recall only that he showed up one day, years ago, in the switching yards.

He was very friendly, and so were the boys who ran the switch engines in the yards at Hopewell, Va. They took to letting him climb aboard and ride in the cab with them.

And so he decided that trains and trainmen were going to be his best friends. Soon he was off bumming rides on longer hauls. Train crews passing through Hopewell told of seeing him as far west as Cincinnati, as far south as Tampa.

He acquired a lot of friends, and in return for his companionship, they took care of him. They made sure he had a place to sleep and plenty to eat of his favorite dish — bacon and eggs.

He still loves to ride freight trains, but he's getting old now, and the end of the line is near. He's going blind.

True, he's been a hobo all his life, but not the sort of hobo people always read about.

"He's just a plain brown mongrel dog who can't stop moving." His name? They call him "Hobo."

Rail Strike Seen If Talks Collapse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators seeking to settle the railroad "featherbedding" dispute moved quickly to the central issue Monday — elimination of 40,000 firemen from freight and yard trains.

If the railroads and five operating unions can agree on this point, it probably will clear the way for settlement of most other issues in the work rules controversy.

But if no agreement is reached by June 12 in the new round of bargaining sessions which began Monday, a nationwide rail strike may result.

The railroads contend that outmoded work rules (featherbedding) cost them $600 million each year in unnecessary operating expenses.

J. E. Wolfe, chief spokesman for the railroads, described the opening session as friendly, and said, "There was an indication of mutual cooperation."

Wolfe, chairman of the National Railway Labor Conference and Roy Davidson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, met with newsmen at the end of the closing meeting.

They said that, by mutual agreement, discussions already have begun on the recommendations of a three-man presidential board last week for gradual elimination of unneeded firemen. Bargaining sessions resume Tuesday.

The report of the presidential emergency board was a final step in federal strike-delaying machinery. By law, a strike can come 30 days after the report is delivered.

Both Wolfe and Davidson refused to speculate on prospects of a strike. But Wolfe noted that by mutual agreement the June 12 strike deadline can be extended.

"I am positive that both sides realize their responsibilities and a very sincere effort will be made to settle this," Wolfe said.

When he received the report from his emergency board last week, President Kennedy urged both sides to quickly get down to serious bargaining.

The emergency board last week recommended elimination of unneeded firemen by attrition, as they retire, die or move to other jobs.

Negro Vote Drive Draws Only 38

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — A Negro register-to-vote drive failed to produce a mass turnout Monday, but a campaign leader said it was still encouraging.

Approximately 38 Negroes appeared during the one-day session of the Dallas County Board of Registrars in response to an appeal by leaders of their race for a large-scale effort.

Bernard Lafayette, field secretary for the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee, which sponsored the registration campaign, said he had hoped for a heavier turnout.

Atom Smasher Ready Soon

By LYNN SAMPSON Staff Writer

A new Van de Graff accelerator, commonly called an "atom smasher," will soon enable the Physics Department to induce a larger range of nuclear reactions to advance the study of atom splitting processes. At present, little is known in the scientific field of the whole processes of nuclear reactions.

On July 1, the half-million dollar accelerator will be placed in the Ion Accelerator Building, now half completed, north of the Electrical Engineering Building.

Housed in a 85-foot tower, the "atom smasher" will induce larger ranges of nuclear reactions with heavier lithium ions.

At SUI only lighter ions (hydrogen, helium) have been used in the present accelerator, according to Richard Carlson, associate professor of Physics.

The old accelerator under the lawn east of the Physics Building was installed during the early 1940's. "It requires an excessive amount of maintenance work. Many of the parts are 20 years old and there are many breakdowns," Carlson said.

There is also need for higher energy for experimental work which the old machine lacks, he added. By using a heavier ion, such as lithium, nuclear reactions require more energy, which the new machine will provide.

The "atom smasher" itself is 20 feet high and 8 feet in diameter, and looks similar to a slender capsule. A large sphere tops the accelerator, while a belt shaft and accelerator tube extend from the sphere, through the bottom of the capsule, and to the ground level of the tower.

In essence, the nuclear reactor operates on an electrical charge principle, producing high voltage in protons to shoot them toward nuclei in an effort to split the nuclei.

A belt, working on a pulley system, runs up the belt shaft. Small metal needles are located near each end of the belt. Assuming the needles at the base of the belt are positively charged with protons, the protons are transmitted to the belt, conveyed to the sphere where the other set of needles collect them. Dispersing in the sphere, the protons collect around the outer edges of the sphere.

At the same time an ion source compartment, located at the base of the sphere and extending into the accelerator tube, produces more protons. A metal filament is heated in the compartment, ions (hydrogen, lithium) are released into the ion source, and the negative electrons are driven by the heat from the ion source, leaving only the protons.

Since like charges repel each other, the protons in the ion source are repelled by the sphere protons. Aided by high electrical voltage, the ion source protons speed to the base of the accelerator tube where a magnet then bends them in a horizontal path to the target room.

After bombarding either gases or foil, the proton-packed ions break, scatter, or pass through the nuclei of the experimental particles.

Detectors in the target room note the reactions and data is recorded. The target room in the new building is a one story structure with the tower holding the "atom smasher" on its southwest corner.

The $400,000 Ion Building is financed by state funds while the $550,000 Van de Graff accelerator and an additional $100,000 of associated equipment are gifts to SUI from the National Science Foundation.

School Experts Meet

A working conference of leading specialists in preschool education is being held at SUI this week. Organized by Prof. Ruth Updegraff of the Iowa Child Welfare Research Station, the conference is supported by a grant from the New World Foundation.

The group project, for which the University of Minnesota is sharing sponsorship, involves planning for the evaluation of curricular aspects of education at the preschool age level. This week's conference will open a year's work by some 15 participating specialists. The study will close with a meeting at the University of Minnesota a year from now.

Institutions represented at the conference include Stanford University, Cornell University, Columbia University, the University of Wisconsin, Pennsylvania State University, Merrill Palmer Institute, the University of Tennessee, Pacific Oaks College, the University of Minnesota, Iowa State University, the State Board of Education of Connecticut, Vassar College, Oregon State College and Yale University.

Rusk Hails NATO

OTTAWA (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk hailed Monday the military strength of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) as a tremendous achievement and called for new efforts to bring the 15 allies closer together on political and economic matters.

He acknowledged that differences exist among the NATO countries on future courses but expressed confidence that they will be resolved.

Rusk flew here for a three-day ministerial meeting of the NATO Council after a conference with President Kennedy and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara in Washington. The meeting begins Wednesday.

Rusk's arrival coincided with a critical session of the Canadian Parliament on Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's decision to honor Canadian commitments to arm Canadian forces at home and abroad with U.S. nuclear warheads.

Pearson's new liberal government lacks a majority in Parliament by a few seats, but it is expected to weather opposition motions of non-confidence.

Also disturbing the Canadian capital were bomb threats attributed to an underground organizing session of the largely French-speaking Quebec from Canada.

There seemed little doubt that the proposed nuclear command would be created during the meeting.

At the Ottawa airport, Rusk was asked by a newsman where the United States stands in the confrontation between international and national viewpoints within NATO. The secretary replied:

"I think they know in Moscow that that type of confrontation has been overstressed. They know perfectly well that on essential principles and on fundamental policy we are united. It is true that there are differences among us on the way we should organize our future courses. These undoubtedly will be discussed at this conference and I have no doubts that they will be straightened out."

Yell Leaders Named

The Hawk-I Pep Club has announced the names of the male Yell Leaders for next year. They are Jerry Davidson, E2, Ottumwa; Bill Parks, A2, Centerville; Bob White, A2, Rock Island, Ill. and Arnie Manvitz, A2, Omaha, Neb.

The selection was made by a committee of Norman Holzapfel, head gymnastics coach; Bill Buck, a graduate assistant and James Rhatigan, sponsor of the Hawk-I Pep Club.

The Yell Leaders and newly-selected Pom-Pom girls will lead the cheers at football and basketball games next year.

Minnesota Homers Drop Boston to 2nd

BOSTON (AP)—The Minnesota Twins shelled Boston out of the American League lead Monday night, downing the Red Sox 6-5 on home runs by Earl Battey, Bob Allison and Harmon Killebrew, plus tight relief pitching by Bill Dailey.

Dailey came on in the seventh after the Red Sox had scored three times against Camilo Pascual and Garry Roggenburk and fanned Frank Malzone, the league's leading batsman, with two men in scoring position.

The Twins reliever then set down Boston in order the final two innings.

The loss dropped the Red Sox from first to fourth, one game back of Chicago and Baltimore and one-half game behind New York.

Wagner Smacks 2 More; Angels Still Lose, 7-5

CLEVELAND (AP)—Consecutive homers by Willie Kirkland and Tito Francona in the third-inning powered Cleveland to a 7-5 victory over Los Angeles Monday night despite two home runs by the American League leaders' Leon Wagner.

Kirkland's first homer and Francona's third off loser Don Lee gave the Indians a 3-2 lead they never relinquished.

With the home run support and four unearned runs contributed by the Angels, Jack Kralick, with relief help from Gary Bell, won his first game for the Indians since he was acquired in a trade with Minnesota.

Houston Shuts Out Slumping Pirates

HOUSTON (AP)—Dick Drott pitched a five-hit shutout Monday night that led the resurgent Houston Colts to a 2-0 victory over Pittsburgh's slumping Pirates.

Houston now has won eight of its last 11 games while Pittsburgh has lost six of the last seven.

Drott stopped a first inning threat with back-to-back strikeouts, then settled down to outduel Don Cardwell. The Colts managed only four hits off Cardwell in the seven innings he worked, but bunched two of them for a run in the fifth and got an unearned run in the seventh.

Bob Aspromonte led off the Houston fifth with a single and scored on Johnny Temple's two-out triple.

In the seventh, Bob Lillis singled, stole second, continued on to third on catcher Smoky Burgess' bad throw, and came in on John Bateman's sacrifice fly.

Dick Schofield opened the game with a double, then took third on a ground out, but Drott stranded him there by fanning Bob Skinner and Bill Mazeroski.

The 26-year-old right-hander struck out seven over-all and walked two in posting his second victory against one loss. Cardwell is 1-4.

Baltimore Orioles backed the five-hit pitching of Milt Pappas with four home runs Monday night and whipped the Detroit Tigers 6-0.

The unusual display of power in spacious Memorial Stadium included solo homers by Jim Gentile and Jerry Adair and two-run homers by Jack Brandt and Boog Powell. The homer output was only one off the record for a home game.

Pappas completed his fourth game in six starts and upped his record to 4-0. He struck out seven, including former teammate Gus Triandos, who made his first Baltimore appearance this season. He took a called strike as a pinch hitter, ending the game.

Brosnan Saves Chisox In Win over Senators

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jim Brosnan, making his seventh appearance since he was acquired two weeks ago, saved another game for Chicago Monday night with 2½ innings of sharp relief pitching in the White Sox' 5-4 victory over Washington.

Brosnan, who won the second game of Sunday's doubleheader against Baltimore, gave up a run-scoring single to pinch hitter Don Lock in the seventh and then shut the door. He has allowed only one earned run in 11½ innings since he was acquired from Cincinnati in a trade.

Brosnan finished with a flourish, striking out pinch hitter Dick Phillips and Lock with the tying run on base in the ninth inning to preserve the victory for Ed Fisher.

Chicago . . . 100 022 000—5 8 1
Washington . . . 010 200 100—4 9 1

HALF THE BATTLE

NEW YORK (AP)—After getting four hits in eight trips in his first two games at Kansas City, Mickey Mantle of the Yankees felt good about his fine spring start.

"A good start is half the battle," Mantle said.

That afternoon, in the Yankees' home opener, he cracked his second home run, a drive that landed deep in the Yankees' right field bullpen. However, in the fourth game he went on the injury list with a muscle pull.

Injury Forces Never Bend Out of Belmont

NEW YORK (AP)—Cain Hoy Stable's Never Bend, second in the Kentucky Derby and third in the Preakness, apparently is out of the third big race in the Triple Crown series — the Belmont Stakes at Aqueduct June 8.

The horse's owner, Capt. Harry F. Guggenheim, said Monday Never Bend is being pulled out of racing until he recovers fully from an ankle injury suffered at Keeneland this spring.

"I don't know how long that will be," Guggenheim said. "It certainly seems doubtful that he will be able to run in the Belmont."

Never Bend ran a good second to outsider Chateaugay in the Derby, 1¼ lengths back and ahead of the favored Candy Spots. However, he was a disappointing third in last Saturday's Preakness at Baltimore.

Candy Spots won the Preakness, 3½ lengths ahead of Chateaugay, who was 4½ lengths in front of Never Bend.

Withdrawal of the Cain Hoy flyer from the Belmont would turn that 1½-mile classic into a two-horse race between Candy Spots and Chateaugay.

Bushy-Haired Armenian Wins World Chess Title

MOSCOW (AP)—Tigran Petrosyan, a bushy-haired Armenian who works as a janitor as a boy, is the new world chess champion.

The 32-year-old native of Tbilisi clinched a victory over the aging defending titleholder, Mikhail Botvinnik, Monday by drawing the 22nd game on the 11th move.

The draw gave Petrosyan a 12½ to 9½ point lead in the 24-game title series and made it impossible for the 51-year-old Soviet grand master to catch him.

Arizona Prep Gymnast Stars With One Leg

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—Teenager Dick Williams is a remarkable gymnast. He has but one leg.

The Scottsdale Coronado High School junior's left hip and leg became useless after a polio attack when he was 6 years old.

Even so, he was second in still rings and fourth in all-around competition in the recent Arizona gymnastics meet.

Dick wore a brace for seven years, discarding it when he entered high school.

His bad leg is strapped to his good right leg to keep it from hindering his performance. He hopes on his good leg to each event. But this handicap is overlooked once he performs.

Arizona Prep Gymnast Stars With One Leg

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—Teenager Dick Williams is a remarkable gymnast. He has but one leg.

The Scottsdale Coronado High School junior's left hip and leg became useless after a polio attack when he was 6 years old.

Even so, he was second in still rings and fourth in all-around competition in the recent Arizona gymnastics meet.

Dick wore a brace for seven years, discarding it when he entered high school.

His bad leg is strapped to his good right leg to keep it from hindering his performance. He hopes on his good leg to each event. But this handicap is overlooked once he performs.

Yankee Manager Houk Has 'Greatest Infield in Baseball'

NEW YORK (AP)—In 1910 when the Man in the Moon was only a nursery rhyme, the Philadelphia Athletics had a red hot infield. Inspired by the play of Stuff McInnis, Eddie Collins, Jack Barry and Home Run Baker, a baseball writer dubbed the group, "The $100,000 infield." In the days of the nickel beer and the free lunch, that was a lot of cash.

In this era when schoolboys don't start talking until a scout gets up to $100,000, the price of infielders has risen, naturally.

When Til Ferdenzi, baseball writer of the New York Journal-American, was talking to Ralph Houk about his Yankee infield, he asked him to set a price.

"I've got nothing against those players (1910 A's)," said Houk. "I never saw them play. But I don't care how good they were. My men are better. It's a $5 million infield. Yes, it is, and go ahead and write that if you want."

"I'm serious about this," he said. "Compare it with any Yankee infield — and there have been some good ones. All that I can recall had one, or maybe two, slow guys or guys who were getting a little over the hill."

"This one is different. They are young and with the exception of Joe Pepitone — an outstanding fielder — they've got experience. And they are all well under 30 years of age."

"All of them have great range to either side. All of them are fast. Pepitone has done a fine job at first base."

"He's got a big glove and he has got much range that Bobby Richardson can cheat more toward the bag. That makes us stronger up the middle because, with Bobby shaded more that way, Tony Kubek gets a lift, too. And what gets past Cleve Boyer at third base?"

"It's the best defensive infield in baseball."

After 63 Years — Thinclads Are Champs

To the Victors Belong the Spoils

Iowa's new Big Ten track champions proudly display the championship plaque and the mile relay trophy they won Saturday. Pictured are: back row, Cloyd Webb, Gary Richards, Gary Fischer, Bill

Cretzmeyer: 'Great Bunch Of Fighters'

By JIM PIPER
Assistant Sports Editor

Iowa's determined track squad climaxed a highly-successful outdoor season by winning its first Big Ten championship in 63 years at Minneapolis Saturday.

Francis X. Cretzmeyer, the personable Hawkeye mentor, called his thinclads "a real great bunch of fighters." "Everyone had to come through, and they did," he beamed.

The championship wasn't determined until the final event, the mile relay, in which Gary Richards, Gary Hollingsworth, Bill Frazier and Roger Kerr stormed to a new Big Ten record with a 3:11.2 clocking.

Unofficial watches had Frazier timed in :46.6 for his quarter and Kerr, the anchor man, :47.1.

Wisconsin's second-place finish in the mile relay gave the Badgers 46 points in the meet, a scant two points behind Iowa.

Refusing to single-out any performers, Cretzmeyer called the championship "a real team victory."

He did, however, laud Kerr's

Hawks Split with Badgers; Fall to 2nd in Standings

Iowa's baseball team dropped from the top spot in the Big Ten standings Saturday when the Hawks split a double-header with Wisconsin. Iowa fans may see the deciding game in the conference battle Saturday when the Hawks meet league-leading Illinois in a double-header beginning at 1 p.m. at the Iowa diamond.

Iowa defeated the Badgers, 15-9, in the opener Saturday as Joe Reddington and Bob Sherman hit their first home runs of the year. The Hawkeye outfielders collected seven hits between them. Sherman had a pair of singles and a double in addition to his homer and Reddington had a pair of singles. Jack Wiland posted his seventh win of the season against one defeat, but was relieved by Jim McAndrew in the fifth.

Iowa held a 3-0 lead going into

Belinsky May Be Headed for Minors

CLEVELAND (U.P.) — Is Bo Belinsky, the colorful southpaw pitcher, headed for the minor leagues?

That's a decision for Los Angeles Angels General Manager Fred Haney.

The Los Angeles Herald-Examiner indicated in a story Monday that may be the fate of the 26-year-old playboy hurler who has been hit hard this season and has a 1-7 record.

Bud Furillo of the Herald-Examiner wrote that Rigney gave this response to a query about Belinsky's future:

"See me Tuesday. I don't know if he has any major league options left. I haven't seen Bo throw it once this year the way he did in spring training."

Rigney said the Angels haven't discussed trading Belinsky either. "We're not trying to peddle him," he said. "We want him to pitch for Los Angeles the way we know he can pitch."

the bottom of the fifth in the second game, but the Badgers peppered starter Dale Miner for five runs. Wisconsin's Rick Reichardt hit his second homer of the afternoon and Al Nau hit a four-bagger for the Badgers while Sherman connected for his second homer of the day.

Iowa tied the game, 7-7, in the top of the seventh, but a bases loaded single by Dave Tymus gave the Badgers the win in the bottom of the inning.

Joy Reigns in Hawkeyeland

It was celebration day at the Iowa track Monday and Bill Frazier found time to smile at the cameraman while four of his teammates, Roger Kerr, Scott Rucker, Gary Richards and Don Gardner, who felt he wasn't acting like a champion, preceded to teach him a lesson.

Netmen 5th in Big Ten; Northwestern Wins Crown

Iowa's netmen placed fifth in the Big Ten tennis meet held at Northwestern Thursday through Saturday.

Iowa Coach Don Klotz's earlier predictions prevailed as Northwestern won the title easily with Michigan second and Indiana third. The Wildcats dominated the meet as they took five of six singles and one of three doubles championships.

Northwestern's Marty Riessen captured his second consecutive singles title but had a hard time accomplishing this feat.

In the semifinals Riessen was almost upset by Iowa's Steve Wilkinson. Wilkinson lost the first set 6-3, came back to win the second set 6-4, and was leading the third set 6-5 before Riessen rallied to win, 8-6.

Then in the finals Riessen lost the first set to Ray Senkowski of Michigan, 6-2, but came back to take the final two sets 6-4, 6-1 to capture the crown. Riessen combined with teammate Clark Graebner to take the doubles championship by defeating Iowa's Wilkinson and Dave Strauss, 6-2, 6-3.

record-breaking effort in the 660-yard run. Kerr broke his own day old standard of 1:18.2 set Friday in the preliminaries.

KERR'S TIME of 1:17.4 is an unofficial national record. Since the event is not run in many meets, there is no recognized national record; however, the best previous time was 1:17.9 by Jack Yerman of California, a member of the 1960 Olympic team.

Several Hawkeyes overcame injuries to provide valuable points. Wes Sidney, bothered by a leg injury, cleared 6-4 in the high jump to place fourth. Larry Kramer, also bothered by leg injuries, placed fourth in the two mile run for a valuable two points.

Bill Frazier, who also has been hampered by a bad leg all season, won the half-mile run in 1:50.8, five-tenths of a second over the record he tied last year.

DON GARDNER established a Big Ten record in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles since this was the first running of the event. His time of :37.7 was slower than his :37.1 effort in the preliminaries which will be the recognized conference record.

Other point contributors were Gary Fischer, who placed second in the mile run, Gary Hollingsworth's second in the 440-yard dash and Cloyd Webb, who placed second in the discus. Ralph Trimble, ran a 9:15.3 for a second place finish in the two-mile.

Scott Rucker's third in the 660-yard run and Gary Richards' fourth place finish in the 440-yard dash rounded out Iowa's 48 point total, the highest point total the school has ever accumulated in the outdoor championship. The newly-crowned champions conclude their season Friday at 3 p.m. at home against Minnesota. It will be the only home outdoor appearance for Cretzmeyer's thinclads.

KWAD Sets Lectures

Dormitory residents will be able to get answers to last minute questions about large lecture courses before final exams by listening to dormitory radio station KWAD.

According to Bob Katz, A1, Chicago, who organized and scheduled the series, professors will be on the air answering questions phoned in by listeners. Between phone calls the professors will discuss their courses with students in the studio, Katz added.

Dolphins Eat Nine Pints To Win Ice Cream Crown

Two "gluttons" reigned supreme at the annual Dolphin Gutter Ice Cream Eating Contest Saturday and won china pips.

Defending champ Richard Neff, E3, North Muskegon, Mich., was tied by freshman Mike Fuller, E1, Cedar Rapids, who ate and "held" nine pints within the two hour limit.

By tying Neff, Fuller became the first freshman to win a share of the gutter crown. Fuller also broke the existing freshman record of eight pints.

Faculty Club Elects Dunlap As President

Leslie W. Dunlap, director of libraries, has been elected president of the Triangle Club for 1963-64. He succeeds T. R. Porter, associate professor of science education.

Other new officers of the men's faculty club are Stanley Wawzonek, professor of chemistry, vice-president; John P. Hummel, associate professor of biochemistry, secretary; Richard B. Gibson, administrative assistant, Division of Student Services, treasurer; Lloyd Knower, professor of mathematics, bond auditor; Walter C. Thietje, curator of the University Museum, storekeeper and Leigh Sowers, professor emeritus of English, historian.

Former Prof Dies in East

Dr. Gerald Yoakom, 76, professor emeritus of education at the University of Pittsburgh and a one-time principal of University Elementary School here, died Friday, May 17 of complications after an apparently successful operation at Clinton, Md.

Yoakom received bachelor's, master's and doctor's degrees from SUI. He was a principal, superintendent and county superintendent of schools of the state and University school principal in 1919-20.

After receiving his doctor's degree in 1922, Prof. Yoakom was director of teacher training at State Teachers College, Kearney, Neb. He was a professor and head of the Department of Elementary Education at the University of Pittsburgh from 1923-32, and was professor of education and director of courses in elementary education from 1932 until his retirement.

Yoakom's interests were varied, but he was best known for his research and publications in reading. He wrote four books on reading that were widely used. The last, "Basic Reading Instruction," was published in 1955.

Troubles Mark Everest Climb

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — The American conqueror of Mt. Everest disclosed Monday that he and his Sherpa guide ran out of oxygen on the 29,028-foot summit and had to make a 3 1/2-hour climb down to camp breathing only thin frosty air.

James Whittaker of Redmond, Wash., told of the troubles he and Naway Gombu encountered on their successful climb May 1, in his first radio talk with Katmandu from the 17,000-foot base camp.

Whittaker said that for most of the final assault, the wind was "so bad there was no communication other than by jerks on the rope."

Whittaker and Gombu reached the summit virtually side by side, a spokesman at Katmandu reported.

Whittaker added that they planted a 4-foot aluminum pole with a U.S. flag on top of Everest, driving the pole down into the snow.

"When we left, the flag was unfurled and flapping in the high wind," he said.

Centerville (AP)—John Henry Weidman, 22, of Centerville, was killed late Monday when the excavating tractor he was operating was covered with dirt when a trench caved in at the Farnsworth stone quarry south of here.

Schmidhauser Says Residency Laws Check U.S. Voting Turnouts

So many Americans are now changing jobs and moving to different sections of the country that state residency requirements deprive eight million Americans of the right to vote in 1960, according to John R. Schmidhauser, professor of political science.

Of the 104 million eligible voters in 1960, these eight million were mobile adults unable to meet state, county or precinct residency requirements set by state statutes, he said.

Some people contend that the 17th amendment to the Constitution guarantees that "the states alone possess the right to establish qualifications for voting." In 1961 Sens. Kefauver and Keating proposed an amendment which would lower the state residency requirements for presidential and vice-presidential electors to ninety days, but current prospects for adoption of the amendment are exceedingly slim, said Schmidhauser.

Persons most likely to be denied their right to vote are caught up in the two major historic streams of domestic migration — from farm and small town to city, and from the South to other regions of the United States, said Schmidhauser.

Many states have made other modifications in their residency requirements. Six states have reduced their requirements for voting. Two states now permit persons who left the states to use the absentee ballot.

On the other hand justification for congressional intervention can be found in the 14th amendment. This provision would inhibit the setting of residency requirements for voting by the states by reducing a state's representation in the House of Representatives when the right to vote "is denied of any of the male inhabitants of such states, being 21 years of age and citizens of the United States."

The SUI professor pointed out that the unusually long residency required for voting in several of the Southern states may well constitute "discrimination" against poor whites and Negroes who by occupational necessity are forced to migrate seasonally. The residency laws also have a great impact on professional and skilled workers, noted Schmidhauser.

Against this backdrop of non-uniformity and strong emphasis upon states' rights conceptions of requirements for voting, many groups advocate Congressional action to alleviate the voting problems of "interstate movers," Schmidhauser continued.

Court decisions such as Pope vs. Williams (1964) bring the problem of residency requirements within the scope of the equal protection clause of the 14th amendment, continued Schmidhauser.

The SUI professor's analysis of voter disenfranchisement by state residency requirements appeared in the University of Michigan Law Review.

The minimum residency requirements for voting vary from six months in 12 states, including Iowa, to a high of two years in four states.

The need for national rather than state action has been increasing during the past few years, the SUI professor commented.

SUI and ISU Aid Reforms In Peruvian Farm Problems

Complementary resources of SUI and Iowa State University in Ames are being brought to bear on one of the major problems in the Americas — agricultural reform in the South American country of Peru. The Iowa-Peru project is part of the Alliance for Progress program.

SUI, with its College of Law and Agricultural Law Center, and ISU, with its many specialists in agriculture and economics, have entered into a $1.5 million contract with the U.S. Agency for International Development (AID) through which it hopes the groundwork for dramatic economic change in Peru can be laid.

Nine faculty members from the two schools serve in Peru, four of whom are now there. Some will stay for a year or more, while others will go there for periods of a few months as consultants. Some Peruvians are expected to study in Iowa. All of this is designed to help ease the steps in what is generally regarded as inevitable — a change in the agricultural situation in Peru. The program is well underway with a pilot operation now being initiated.

Members of the advisory committee for the project include Professors Ladd, Timmons, and Mann; Karl A. Fox, the head of economics at ISU, who visited Peru earlier this year; Samuel Fahr, SUI professor of law, who heads the committee of the Agricultural Law Center, and who will be a short-term consultant in Peru this summer, and Melvin Blase, assistant professor of economics at ISU, who will be on the staff in Peru.

In a broadly planned reform, legal problems of a most basic nature need to be considered in making an equitable distribution of land, Mann continued. As it is now, there are almost no provisions for land tenure forms, property title transfer, water rights, means of clearing titles, and inheritance and fragmentation of land, he said.

In addition, there is the need for training Peruvian Indians in the use of fertilizers, pesticides, and other modern methods so that they can produce enough to support themselves.

"The problems we face in Peru are those of trying to compress generations of time into the space of a few short years. But we know that if we do not succeed in this short time, it may be too late to ensure that inevitable, long overdue changes can be accomplished without disruption of the Peruvian economy and the resultant hardship to the people," Mann concluded.

Red Chinese Release 500 Indian Army Men

TOKYO (AP) — Four hundred and ninety-eight Indian military personnel captured in the India-China border fighting last fall were released Monday on the Northern side of Bank Pass by the Chinese Communists, the New China news agency reported.

The agency said 382 other captured Indians will be released in the same area Saturday in pursuance of Red China's announced policy of returning all Indian prisoners.

Sarah SUMMER-STORED HER WOOLENS AT HOME . . .

She didn't get the protection of our Fill-A-Box storage service. Sad girl, Sarah. Moths made a meal of her woolens after she tried to store them safely at home. Every year people like Sarah make the same mistake. Last year the loss from moths ran up to 60 million dollars.

Susan CHOSE Fill A Box GARMENT STORAGE SERVICE

Susan is smart. She took the big Fill-A-Box hamper, put all her winter garments inside and returned it to us. We cleaned, pressed and stored every item on hangers in our vaults, insured safe from every summer danger. She'll get them back in the Fall, sparkling fresh and ready to wear.

Does a man really take unfair advantage of women when he uses Mennen Skin Bracer?

All depends on why he uses it. Most men simply think Menthol-Iced Skin Bracer is the best after-shave lotion around. Because it cools rather than burns. Because it helps heal shaving nicks and scrapes. Because it helps prevent blemishes. So who can blame them if Bracer's crisp, long-lasting aroma just happens to affect women so remarkably? Of course, some men may use Mennen Skin Bracer because of this effect. How intelligent!

Wheat Control Referendum Set for Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farmers vote today on a Kennedy administration tight-control plan for wheat in a nationwide referendum that could set the pattern for controversial federal farm-aid programs for many decades.

The question is whether farmers want rigid controls and high supports or no controls and low price supports.

Somewhat overshadowing the wheat proposal itself, however, is the question of whether Uncle Sam should move further ahead on rigid control programs in all agriculture started in 1933, or pull back toward a more nearly free competitive market system.

Leaders on both sides of the issue shied away from making forecasts on the results. This is the 13th referendum held on a control plan for wheat, and in all previous elections more than the required two-thirds majorities of house voting have made them effective.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said he does not make it a practice to forecast results of farm referenda. But top aides said they were confident of a favorable vote.

City Peace Corps Open for Chicago Area Students

Chicago area college students who plan to spend the summer at home will have the opportunity to swell the ranks of Chicago's own "domestic peace corps."

This corps of more than 600 college volunteer tutors plans to carry out three pilot projects offering recreational and educational programs to children living in Chicago Housing Authority projects on the south and west sides.

Interested students are asked to volunteer a minimum of three hours a week. No special training is required of volunteers who will conduct play and game periods, pre-school reading projects, and remedial tutoring sessions.

For additional information, students may write to: Mrs. Mary Jeanne Carlson, Chicago Commission on Human Relations, Mayor's Committee on New Residents, 211 W. Wacker Dr., room 1310, Chicago 6, Ill.

Parking Ramp Nears Completion

SUI's new parking ramp, now under construction east of the Union, should alleviate parking problems on campus, when it is completed this fall.

Although the new ramp will be primarily for visitors at the Union Guest House, students and faculty will be able to use it also.

Parking meters will be installed to provide revenue for maintenance and to pay the debt on the building. Time restrictions for parking have not been determined yet.

The seven story ramp extends from Madison Street to Capital Street between the Dental and Geology Building. Capacity will be 267 cars.

Entrances will be on the east and west side of the ramp. Parallel staggered inclinations on both sides of the building will enable motorists to travel from one level to the next level.

Tinsley, Higgins, Lighter, and Lyon from Des Moines are the architects. The SUI Architect's Office was in association with the planning.

The $5,747 ramp is being constructed by the W. A. Klinger Construction Co., Sioux City, Iowa.

Presbyterians 'Take Action' Against Bias

DES MOINES (AP) — The United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. launched a special task force Monday, equipped with men and money, to get on the firing line in the fight against racial discrimination.

"The time has come to act with the boldness and purposeful courage that matches the eloquence of our words," the denomination's governing assembly declared, in setting up the new program.

Funds totaling half a million dollars were allocated to support it.

The Rev. Dr. William Angus Morrison, of Philadelphia, general secretary of the Church's Board of Christian Education, described the step as the most important to come before the assembly, and said: "God is confronting us in the crisis. Our response to Him must be in the form of action. For too long we have depended on words."

The new operational force, called the Commission on Religion and Race, was authorized to act vigorously on many fronts, in cooperation with interfaith and interchurch groups to meet the "crisis in race relations."

At the same time, the assembly, representing 3.25 million member Presbyterians across the country, plunged into debate on a proposed report defining sharp boundaries between church and state.

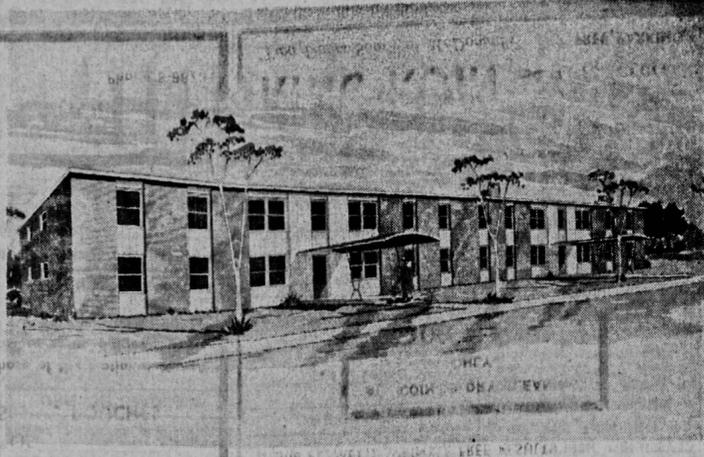

Among other things, it opposes Bible reading, prayers and religious-holiday activities in the public schools, Sunday closing laws, tax exemptions for churches, and direct government aid to parochial schools.

Assailing the report, Gilbert Lincoln, a New York City delegate, said it would "endorse a national secular state, as in East Berlin and Moscow." He argued that church and state are mutually under "the rule of God."

VOLCANO

CATANIA, Sicily (AP) — Tongues of flame shot skyward Monday and a stream of lava poured down from a crater on the northeast side of Mt. Etna in a new eruption.

The new lava stream ran a quarter mile down the mountain slope, over old lava beds, to within 200 yards of the nearest pine forests. No villages are within miles.

Syria Vows Union with Egypt, Iraq

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Premier Salah Bitar waved a peace offer toward President Gamal Abdel Nasser Monday, promising to lead his Ba'ath Socialist government into a federation with Egypt and Iraq, then step down.

From Cairo came word indicating that Nasser may be switching to a more moderate stand in his dispute with the Syrian Ba'athists.

The rift between Nasser and the Syrians threatened to torpedo the federation even before it started.

Informed sources here said a speech made in Cairo by Nasser was more moderate in tone than had been expected. Nasser avoided any direct attack on the Ba'athists, who took full control of the Syrian government eight days ago.

Nasser is opposed to union with a Ba'ath-dominated Syria, although he has had no objection to Ba'ath rule in Iraq.

In a speech welcoming home Egyptian troops from Yemen, Nasser made only a veiled reference to the Syrian Ba'athists.

Speaking of changes in the Arab world, he said, "I consider as an offense to sacrifices by our men in Yemen any deviation from our great aims due to personal interests, especially from elements who regard themselves as part of the revolutionary forces."

10-Year Plan—

Married Housing Innovation Set

By ROBERT HIBBS
Staff Writer

Married student housing on the SUI campus will have a new face in ten years according to projected housing construction plans.

When someone mentions married student housing now, it is natural to think of the "tin sheds" that dot the campus.

But this will not be the image 10 years hence. The picture will then be similar to that above — a complex of two-bedroom apartments west of Iowa City known as Hawkeye Apartments.

Today 670 temporary barrack apartments — 335 buildings with two apartments each — house most of the married students who live in University housing. These apartments are to be dismantled at the rate of 100 per year starting in 1968 and ending with the removal of 270 in 1972.

The Hawkeye Apartments complex now consists of four buildings of eight apartments each and ten buildings of sixteen apartments each, for a total of 192 apartments.

Expansion of Hawkeye Apartments calls for 208 additional apartments by fall, 1966. Then 100 additions each year are planned, ending with a total of 1,000 apartments by 1972.

The barracks, which the University bought for one dollar each after World War II, were originally used as both married and single student quarters as part of the Veterans Housing Program.

When built in 1946 they were so placed — even in the Quadrangle Courtyard — so as not to obstruct future building by the University.

The barracks have provided about 13,300 calendar years of living for some 30,000 people in 7,000 different families in the 17 years here.

In 1955 the first four-story, 53-apartment unit of Parklawn Apartments was completed. Similar units were also planned but the apartments — 39 one-bedroom and 14 without bedrooms — proved to be inadequate for the needs of most student families.

Married students indicated that they preferred two-bedroom apartments, as in Hawkeye Apartments, so no more Parklawn-type units are now planned.

Hawkeye Apartments cost about $20 more than the barrack apartments but a stove and refrigerator are furnished. These appliances are not furnished to barrack tenants.

Presently the barracks rent for $62.50 per month unfurnished. Furniture, if rented from the University, costs an additional $6 per month.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Borden of Daventry, who went to the gravel pit to fish, discovered the body.

Dr. V. W. Swayze, county medical examiner, said a Social Security card found in the man's possession bore the name Harold Fay Reed. No address was found. Dr. Swayze said death apparently was from natural causes.

Capital Celebrations Await Cooper Today

Astronauts Will Join White House Festivities

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's capital is preparing its official down-to-earth welcome for astronaut Gordon Cooper today.

President Kennedy will pin a medal on him, congressional orators will be quiet and listen to him, school children will rush from their classes and "screech joyously" at him.

The day will be a full one for the astronaut who looped around the earth 22 times last week, and the highlight of this fullness no doubt will be the ceremonies in the rose garden of the White House.

There, President Kennedy will pin the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Distinguished Service Medal on Cooper, 36, honoring the Air Force major "for outstanding contribution to space technology."

COOPER'S DAY in the capital area will begin about 11:30 a.m., when his plane from Cape Canaveral, Fla., will touch down at Andrews Air Force Base in nearby Maryland.

With Cooper will be his wife, Trudy, and his two daughters, Camala, 14, and Janita, 13. Also along will be most of the other astronauts and their families.

But John H. Glenn Jr., the first American to orbit the earth, will be among the missing, vacationing in Japan. And Malcolm Scott Carpenter, the second orbiting astronaut, probably will be absent because of an illness in his family.

But Walter M. Schirra Jr., Virgil I. Grissom, Alan B. Shepard Jr., and Donald K. Slayton definitely will be there to help shoulder some of the honors heaped upon Cooper during the day; the astronauts think of themselves as a team and try to take their honors that way.

Nevertheless, the day still will belong to Cooper — the spaceman who orbited the earth more times than any American before.

From Andrews Air Force Base, Cooper and the rest of the NASA party will drive to the White House for their meeting with the President. The ceremonies are expected to begin there at 12:15 p.m.

After the rose garden ceremonies, Cooper and vice president Lyndon B. Johnson will lead a 20-car motorcade from the White House a mile and a half along Pennsylvania Avenue to Capitol Hill.

IN ONE OF the cars just behind Cooper, a proud mother, Hattie Cooper of Oklahoma City, will sit and beam at the thousands of Washingtonians lining the wide avenue to cheer her son.

At 1:30 p.m., both houses of Congress will assemble in the House chamber to hear Cooper. After the address to Congress, Cooper will leave the Capitol for a luncheon at the State Department.

The luncheon will end the official activities of the Coopers in Washington, but they will stay in the capital overnight.

Wednesday morning, they will leave Washington and fly to New York, where Cooper will receive the traditional hero's welcome of the nation's largest city — the ticker-tape parade up Broadway.

Tragedy Strikes Twice, So Father Hangs Himself

SIoux CITY (AP) — Tragedy struck twice at Lawrence Christiansen, 33. And now he is dead.

Dr. Thomas L. Coriden, County medical examiner, said Christiansen hanged himself in the basement of his home Monday.

Dr. Coriden told this story: On Saturday Mrs. Christiansen gave birth to their eighth child, at their home. The father assisted in the delivery. The baby died a few hours later at a hospital.

Christiansen blamed himself for the child's death. About noon Monday Christiansen received notice of a divorce action by his wife.

A short time later, when relatives went to get Christiansen to take him to the baby's funeral, they found him dead. Christiansen was taken to a funeral home about the same time his new daughter's funeral service was being conducted from the same establishment.

PRISONERS RELEASED TOKYO (AP) — Three hundred and eighty-two Indian military personnel captured by Chinese Communist troops in the border fighting last fall will be released at the northern side of Bang pass Saturday, the New China news agency reported Tuesday.

This is part of China's announced program to return all prisoners captured in the border fighting.

Photogs' Choice

Nancy Laughlin, Al, Freeport, Ill., will represent Iowa next month when candidates from 50 states will compete in Jackson, Wyo., for the title of Miss National Press Photographer.

The 18-year-old language major was crowned queen of the Iowa Press Photographers at their annual convention Saturday night in Cedar Rapids. She won over five other finalists.

Miss Laughlin is Interfraternity Pledge Council queen and was a finalist for Dolphin queen and Mecca queen. Last year, she was Miss Freeport.

The newly-crowned Miss Iowa Press Photographers was sponsored in the contest by her sorority, Kappa Alpha Theta. She was nominated as a queen candidate by Daily Iowan Chief Photographer Joe Lippincott.
