THIS MORNING

ON CAMPUS—

The faculty of the College of Liberal Arts has recommended the ROTC program requirement for freshmen be reduced.

All freshmen would be required during their first semester explaining the ROTC program, under the faculty resolution.

The resolution came as a recommendation to the Board of Regents which must make the final decision. Two years ago the Board of Regents reduced the ROTC requirement from two years to two semesters.

Nursing students, disgruntled with a test Wednesday night, hung their chemistry professor in effigy below the railroad bridge between the Union and the Iowa Ave. bridge.

Two signs were attached to the figure, one saying "Burton" and the other claiming, "We would have called a nurse, but they all flunked."

PRESENT CERTIFICATES. SUI President Virgil M. Hancher presented certificates of recognition to retiring staff members who are completing their full time service at the University. The staff members were honored at the Faculty Recognition Dinner in the Union. See story on page five.

IN THE CITY—

INMATE ESCAPES. Iowa City police reported that a Ft. Madison inmate receiving treatment at University Hospital for a kidney infection escaped from the hospital Thursday afternoon.

Kyle Augustus Jacks, 35, serving a 25 year term for armed robbery, was last seen about 4 p.m. wearing prison denims.

Jacks was described as being white, 5' 10", 143 pounds, hazel eyes, grey hair, and having a light complexion.

IN THE STATE—

MINISTER MISSING. The blood-smeared car of an Iowa clergyman, found in an Albert Lea, Minn., bowling alley parking lot Thursday touched off a search in the area for the owner, last reported seen Wednesday night.

Police Chief Clifford Bailey said the car was listed to the Rev. B. E. Nyjordet of rural Northwood, Iowa, and pastor of a small church at Silver Lake in Iowa, near the Minnesota boundary.

BRAVE GUNMAN. Iowa Secretary of Agriculture L. B. Liddy was praised for "using his head and keeping people from getting hurt" after a young gunman had terrorized Liddy's office staff Thursday.

"Liddy was real cool, and used his head," said E. J. McCarthy, chief of detectives, who disarmed the gunman. "If he had not a lot of people might have gotten hurt." McCarthy said charges of carrying a concealed weapon would be filed against Raymond Carroll Beighler, 22, of Des Moines, with a recommendation that the youth be hospitalized for a psychiatric examination.

IN THE NATION—

MIAMI MEETING. The American Legion, which canceled its scheduled convention in New Orleans because of racial problems, announced Thursday that it would meet instead at Miami Beach.

Some 60,000 persons are expected to attend the get-together Sept. 6-12.

BOOM. The Atomic Energy Commission announced an underground nuclear test shot was fired Wednesday at the Nevada proving grounds. It was described as intermediate-yield device, which means it ranged anywhere from 20,000 tons up to one million tons of TNT equivalent.

The test was the sixth and biggest since President Kennedy last Feb. 11 ordered underground trials resumed.

IN THE WORLD—

NO DELIRIOUS TALK. Soviet Premier Khrushchev, in a gay farewell to Fidel Castro, vowed Thursday night he will rebuff "delirious talk" about going to war to promote world communism.

In an impromptu speech, Khrushchev said the idea that Communist world victory can come only through war violates Marxism-Leninism. He appeared to be laying down the Soviet line for the July meeting.

POPE IMPROVED. Pope John XXIII, apparently rallying in his struggle against energy-sapping illness, stood at his studio window for three minutes Thursday as thousands in St. Peter's Square cheered him.

Vatican sources said he received a blood transfusion Thursday night. He has been receiving transfusions at intervals. "The Pope was better today than yesterday, and yesterday he was better than Tuesday," one Vatican source said.

All in a Day of Housemoving

Out of A Parking Lot—

City Council OKs Yocum Housemove

Objections by neighbors to a housemoving by Max Yocum were overridden by the Iowa City Council Thursday afternoon on condition that the owner fulfill requirements of the city building ordinance.

William Suelpe, city attorney, said that, in its present condition, the house does not meet the requirements of the city regarding plumbing and electrical wiring.

THE MOTION, which the council passed at a special meeting in the Conference Room of the Iowa City Civic Center, will allow Yocum, councilman and housemover, to apply for a moving permit for the house.

The house, now sitting in a municipal parking lot, is to be moved to 1416 Broadway St. for Ralph W. Roberge, 1217 Friendly Ave. Yocum, who is well known for his feuds with the city concerning his housemoving, said, "This house is like finding a diamond in a trash pile. It's a good house."

"I can see why there have been objections from this area," councilwoman Thelma Lewis commented. The houses in this particular block are small, and the house to be moved is of a "different character," she explained.

Yocum hastily pointed out that the house in question was one and one-half stories high, and the houses on both sides of the lot are of the same height.

"The house is a mess now," Mayor Fred H. Doderer said. However, he commented that he was certain "Mr. Roberge will fix it up and make it look neat."

THE COUNCIL deferred business on a new house-moving ordinance for the city until the next regular council meeting. Suelpe said he is working on a draft of the ordinance at the present time.

The Yocum legend has grown around Iowa City not only from his housemoving activity but also from his garage and service station moving. City officials have often sought injunctions to prevent Yocum from moving structures when it appeared that serious traffic problems would occur.

Explaining his reason for running for the city council, Yocum once said that he felt he had had a lot of experience with the general problems of the public. He said he also ran because of the treatment he and thousands of others were getting from the city manager and the city council.

IN OTHER ACTION Thursday, contracts were awarded by the council to Ray Bertelli and Sons, Inc., Cedar Rapids, for widening and paving Iowa Avenue and Washington Street. The company submitted a low bid of $44,182.50 for Iowa Avenue, and a low bid of $24,359 for Washington Street.

The council also awarded a contract to L. L. Pelling Co., Iowa City, for asphalt paving and improving downtown streets for $77,856. The G. L. Tarleton Co., St. Louis, Mo., was given a contract for construction of the water treatment plant.

SUI Senate Plans Spring Cultural, Educational Program

Cultural and educational aspects of the tentative SUI spring festival were discussed Thursday night in a planning meeting of the Student Senate's Festival sub-committee.

Ideas discussed included a concert by SUI's well-known String Quartet and the Old Gold Singers. Lee Theisen, A4, Sioux City, brought up the possibility of having

Exams Correction

The final schedule printed in the May 14 Daily Iowan listed Friday night's exams incorrectly. The exam schedule for that time should read: Friday, May 31, 7 p.m., classes which meet first on Tuesday at 10:30; all sections of Chemistry 4:8; Russian 4:1:106 and Art 1:42.

SUI Material To Be Used In Satellite

Equipment designed and built at SUI will be used in the Mariner satellite to be sent past Mars in 1965.

James Van Allen, head of the Department of Physics and Astronomy, said Wednesday night in Cedar Rapids, that the University has been "definitely accepted" to participate in the project.

Members of the department have already begun working on the flight to Mars, he said.

Van Allen spoke at a dinner-meeting of the Cedar Rapids section of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, of which he was a member.

His talk was designed to bring members up to date on research on trapped radiation particles in the earth's atmosphere, Van Allen's specialty.

He also talked about studies of the decay rate in man-made radiation belts. The United States and Russia have set up nine belts with nuclear explosions in the atmosphere.

HUMAN RIGHTS POLICY

The Committee on Human Rights will announce a new University policy regarding discrimination in off-campus housing at a public meeting Monday at 4 p.m. in Shambaugh Auditorium of the University Library. The committee was appointed by President Hancher in January.

ing James Van Allen, head of the physics department, lecture on the work being done in his department.

Theisen, student commissioner of university affairs, saw part of the festival as "a collection of SUI's nationally known accomplishments." Some areas mentioned included SUI's work on earth satellites, the national testing services conducted by the University, and the writer's workshop.

"We are planning entertainment and amusement for the festival," Theisen said, "but I feel one of the most important aspects of the program is that of showing the intellectual and productive atmosphere at SUI."

He told the committee that the more serious parts of the festival plans had been overlooked by some students.

Student Body President Mike Carver, A3, Waverly, also attended the meeting. He said he felt there is enough student interest in a Spring Festival "we should be able to have one."

Also attending the meeting were AWS President Ann Howard, A3, Cresco and AWS Treasurer Sue Reynolds, A2, Waterloo. They discussed the possibilities of AWS and the Student Senate working together with spring festival and University Mother's Day activities on the same weekend.

Theisen said his committee would continue to work out complete plans for a spring festival and the plans will be announced later.

Committee member Tom Stone, A2, Keokuk, said the committee has a number of ideas now and will have to test their feasibility before final plans for the festival can be presented for approval.

Theisen hopes that the spring festival "can come to mean as much to students in the spring as the Homecoming activities do in the fall."

Salvation Army Reports Services

The Salvation Army has reported it has provided the following services for the past four months in the Iowa City area:

Clothing for one family including four children, $3.04; groceries for three families and nine children, $25.43; meals for 42 transients, $31.48; furnishing travel for needy people, $29; lodging for transients, $7.50; and furniture for 2 families, $45.

"National Salvation Army Week" will be observed in Iowa and throughout the nation, May 19-26.

"I'm Pro-Castro"

Indiana Socialist Raps State Dept.

One of three Indiana University students indicted for advocating violent overthrow of the U. S. Government said here Thursday night that he is "unequivocally pro-Castro" and the U.S. State Department is the biggest threat to peace in the world.

Ask Drinking, Coed Visits At Grinnell

GRINNELL (AP) — More than half of the students enrolled at Grinnell College signed a petition Thursday objecting to portions of a report on drinking, women visiting men's dorms, and vice versa.

The report under fire was prepared by the Faculty Council on Student Affairs.

The petition, signed by 671 of the college's 1,150 students, requested an increase in the number of times each week men would be allowed to visit women's residence halls, and vice versa. It also proposed "the adoption of closed doors during open room visits."

The petition, which was presented to Howard R. Bowen, college president, also urged adoption of a proposed rules change which allow students over 21 to drink in their rooms.

The students said they agree with the idea of a closing hour for women's residence halls, but added:

"We are, though, opposed to the inflexibility of this hour mid-night on weekdays and Sundays, 12:30 a.m. on Saturday nights and would propose a system of late credits."

The faculty report on student behavior released Wednesday said the visiting privilege has resulted in some problems. The council recommended that open rooms be continued on Friday evenings from 8 to 11 p.m. and on Sundays from 2 to 5 p.m., but that penalties for unauthorized visits be suspension for one semester.

The report also said there has been an increase in sexual misconduct on campus during the last year.

Rolvaag Signs Bill, Colored Oleo Legal

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag signed late Thursday the bill permitting sale of colored oleomargarine in Minnesota. The product will be taxed at the rate of 10 cents per pound when sales start July 1. Rolvaag signed the measure after the Legislature had formally adjourned Thursday morning, completing a session only four days short of its 120-day deadline.

2 U.S. Teams Meet Near Top Of Mt. Everest

First Time Ascent Is Achieved From Peak's West Ridge

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — The American Mt. Everest expedition jubilantly announced Thursday that two of its teams met near the top of the world's highest peak Wednesday after scaling it from different sides.

It was the first such meeting in history, the first time anyone had ever made it successfully up the perilous west ridge, the first time anyone went up one side, crossed the top and started down the other side and the first time any nation had four of its citizens atop Everest on one day.

"We are all very proud," said U.S. Ambassador Henry Endicott Stebbins when expedition leader Norman R. Dyhrenfurth, Santa Monica, Calif., flashed the news here by radio.

Crossing the summit, said Dyhrenfurth, has been "the dream of mountaineers for decades."

He said Barry C. Bishop, Washington, D. C., and Luther G. Jerstad, Eugene, Ore., reached the summit via the traditional south ridge.

They looked for William F. Unsoeld, Corvallis, Ore., and Thomas F. Hornbein, San Diego, Calif., who they knew were struggling toward the 29,028-foot peak up the previously unconquered west ridge.

Not seeing them, they turned to go down and then discovered the other two had reached the summit, crossed the top and also started down the south side.

The four met at the south summit, which is slightly lower than the peak which all had scaled.

The meeting was at 9 p.m. and darkness was rapidly setting in. The climbers were unable to find camp — at 27,400 feet — in the dark and were forced to bivouac outdoors at 28,000 feet without tents, without sleeping bags and probably without oxygen.

Thursday morning they set out again.

An expedition spokesman in Katmandu emphasized that Unsoeld and Hornbein accomplished their feat at great personal risk.

They pushed onto the summit from the previously unclimbed western ridge when they had no line of retreat behind them. There were no oxygen supplies cached there and no ropes left fixed on the steep rocky places they had come up with difficulty.

Dyhrenfurth, a Swiss-born American citizen and veteran of five Himalayan expeditions, emphasized the team effort behind the triumph.

Counting James Whittaker, Redmond, Wash., who made a successful ascent May 1, five Americans have reached the top of Everest. This is more than any other country has placed at the peak.

Legislature Commended By Hughes

DES MOINES (AP) — The 1963 Iowa Legislature formally closed Thursday and received a "well done" from Gov. Harold Hughes.

The gavels ending the longest regular session in Iowa history were banged simultaneously by House Speaker Robert Naden (R-Webster City) and Lt. Gov. W. L. Moaty at 2:52 p.m.

Hughes listed a number of the major achievements and failures of the session, and said there is plenty of work left for the session two years from now.

"You have differed often among yourselves during this session," Hughes said. "A majority of your membership has sometimes differed with me. But this is a sign of a healthy democratic system and is no cause for alarm."

Among the successes of the session listed by Hughes were enactment of liquor by the drink, state regulation of public utilities, an appropriation for medical aid to the aged, permission for local government to invest operating funds at interest and a law making it unlawful to discriminate on racial or religious grounds in hiring of employees or labor union membership.

Among the failures he mentioned property tax relief, control of billboards along interstate highways, abolishment of the death penalty and equalization of property valuations for tax purposes.

COMMUNIST IN PARLIAMENT.

Britain's august House of Lords has its first Communist member.

Lord Milford, 61, inherited membership when his father died last September. Some politicians thought he might not take the seat, but Wednesday his Red Lordship arrived, signed the role and was in.

Burglary Results In Fire

A fire was discovered at 4:30 a.m. Thursday in Roseland's Grocery, 322 E. Benton St., apparently set by a burglar who broke into the store, taking $60 from the cash register. The fire, started when a match or cigar was dropped into some cartons and papers, damaged only the area around the counter and cash register. It was discovered by a Daily Iowan circulation employee, Darrell Truitt, A3, Burlington, while he was distributing carrier bundles. For story see page 5.

A State Gambles— For Better Schools

THE NOT-SO-RADICAL State of New Hampshire recently approved a bill which would make gambling a hand-in-hand partner of education.

The new approach evidently won over anti-gambling interests in the state when two facts became apparent: 1. New Hampshire wanted more money for its school districts.

2. They didn't want to raise taxes. The sweepstakes, although modest in comparison with such national lotteries as the famous Irish Sweepstakes, will give education an additional $4 million or so a year.

THE TRADITIONAL arguments against gambling as a moral issue were voiced before adoption of the measure. But the majority of legislators evidently consider low-quality education caused by lack of funds and overcrowding an even more immoral situation.

The New Hampshire bill seems to be typical of other state legislatures which are taking a more realistic view toward gambling — the view that it is not something which can be fully prohibited by the state but which can provide badly needed revenue if it is state-licensed.

WE LOOK HOPEFULLY to the day when Iowa gets a majority in the Legislature with that outlook. It may not be too optimistic to expect a close battle for some sort of gambling-control measure by the next session.

In the meantime, state leaders might examine closely the New Hampshire approach. Their gamble for education will, we hope, pay off.

In fact, we're betting on it.

Praise In Order For Dorm System

Casual readers of the recent news stories prompted by the critical comments by two Board of Regents members about the dormitory system at the University of Iowa could well have ended up with a distorted picture.

For one thing, it should have been made clear that the buildings pointed to by the two women were constructed, and are being maintained and amortized, without so much as one penny of state money.

UNDER A SYSTEM pioneered by the Iowa State Board of Education (later to be known as the Board of Regents), students at our three state institutions of higher learning have financed their own dormitories at what could be described as "bargain rates."

Thanks to this approach, which has involved long-term borrowing from private lenders, the state today finds itself in possession of an outstanding dormitory system with a total value running into the tens of millions.

Early in the program, it was discovered that building well constituted a good investment. When the choice was between materials of limited use-span and materials of extended use-span, the former have always been given priority.

THE RESULT is a dormitory system comparable with, if not superior to, the facilities which might otherwise have been available to students. But always the cost factor has been taken into account. Repayment on loans in advance of the specified dates has been the unvarying rule.

If the austerity identified with the process of higher education in an earlier day is a virtue per se, providing attractive lounges and tiled bathrooms to students would be open to criticism.

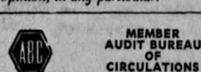

But even if the matter is approached from this premise, the fact that the dormitories have been financed entirely by those who enjoy the extra comforts would have to be set down as an extenuating circumstance.

On the whole, it would seem to us, the system which has been good for students and more than good for Iowa's tax-payers is more to be praised than censured.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

Hughes Shows Iowa The Way

When Harold Hughes was running for the governor's seat, he pledged strong leadership and an end to the fence-riding maneuvers that were the marks of his predecessor.

Nobody can argue he hasn't delivered. Iowa's Constitution doesn't arm the state's governor with much power. He has his prestige and the powers of appointment and veto.

Hughes, a Democrat in a Republican sea, has used his powers to good advantage. He hasn't side-stepped any issues. His views are outspoken. (Of the Senate tax bill, he said plainly: "It stinks.")

His threat of vetoing the tax bill brought an amendment he favors, the withholding provision into the House bill — and he still had his doubts.

Knowing his bread is buttered in the cities, where most of Iowa lives, the governor is going to champion city causes, like a tax bill of at least equal value to city and farm.

In a legislature whose balance of power is rural, his counterforce brings Iowa closer to two-party, two-interest government. It forces compromise where the necessity for compromise never existed.

Republican governors have seldom displayed the vigor and concern that Hughes has brought to the statehouse. Leo Hoegh did — and the GOP couldn't dump him fast enough. Republican governors have usually been more progressive than their legislatures, which isn't saying much, but they have been chained to the status quo.

A Republican governor who seriously challenges his Republican legislature runs into political trouble within his party. Even Norman Erbe offered some fairly sweeping reforms in his State of the State message, but he had the political wisdom not to press for them.

At the same time, however, Republican governors are finding they can't ride the tide with the legislature and expect the restlessness to return them to office.

Iowa is on the verge of being responsive to its people. The response will be reluctant, half-hearted, and grudging. But it's in the cards.

Unions Should Reassess Beliefs

President Kennedy has said it, we believe it. Even Frances Perkins, first woman cabinet member — now 80-years old — has added her voice to the chorus. It's time for AFL-CIO and other union spokesmen to reassess their assumptions.

Reducing the 40-hour work week to 35 hours will not create more jobs. It could conceivably bring a material reduction in the number of jobs available to American workmen.

This is true, first of all, because there is practically no unemployment today among the skilled and competent workmen of the nation.

The unemployed, in general, are the unskilled and the untrained, primarily youths. And one big reason why the openings are few for the untrained and unskilled is because the AFL-CIO has raised the wage level to the point where industry must automate to promote the maximum efficiency if it is to remain successful.

There simply are fewer jobs for the unskilled and the untrained. Secondly, it certainly could be expected that a shorter work week would increase the practice known as "moonlighting" — the holding of a second job.

Miss Perkins in commenting on the 35-hour work week says the alternatives for her would be "moonlighting" or going nuts watching TV in her idle hours.

Because the skilled and trained are in demand, they would find numerous opportunities to hold other part-time work in addition to the shortened 35-hour week.

Past history bears it out and the present situation would seem to confirm that the shortened work week would have an effect exactly opposite the labor leaders' forecast.

President Kennedy, certainly no enemy of organized labor, has given expression to this point of view on a number of occasions.

Cuba Still Unresolved

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — When John J. McCone, Director of the Central Intelligence Agency, and all of the intelligence chiefs of the Pentagon combined are unable to convince the Preparedness investigating subcommittee of the Senate that Soviet offensive weapons have been withdrawn from Cuba, something needs to be done about it.

I believe that something can be done. Before attempting to suggest one course of action, I want to point up the central findings of the Stennis committee and to examine whether these findings are supported by reasonable, fair-minded men. After a long exhaustive, secret testimony from the entire intelligence community of the government, including State, Defense, and the Joint Chiefs of Staff, plus more than 70 non-official witnesses, the Senate committee unanimously concluded: "Strategic weapons may or may not be now in Cuba. We can reach no conclusion on this because of lack of evidence."

DRUMMOND

All of the witnesses and all of the testimony from the Administration said just the opposite — that strategic missiles and offensive weapons have been removed. But the Stennis committee was unpersuaded. It has grave doubts that it is true.

The committee has grave doubts not only because the evidence of withdrawal is inconclusive, but also because our own past surveillance had these serious shortcomings:

There were several "substantial errors" in evaluating the intelligence because top officials were "subjectively" convinced that the Soviets wouldn't try to put missiles in Cuba.

Not until long after their arrival, not until after the President had spoken on Oct. 22, did we confirm Soviet ground combat battalions were in Cuba.

Even into late October we were more than 100 per cent off in our estimates of the number of Soviet personnel on the island.

There is inadequate information today on the number of Soviet troops leaving Cuba — and the number arriving. "Some sources estimate that as many as 40,000 Soviets are now in Cuba."

With these doubts in mind, the Senate committee reports as follows:

"To a man the intelligence chiefs stated that it is their opinion that all strategic missiles and bombers have been removed from Cuba. However, they readily admit that, in terms of absolutes, it is quite possible that offensive weapons remain on the island concealed in caves and otherwise. They also admitted that absolute assurance on this question can come only from penetrating and continuing on-site inspection by reliable observers and that, based on skepticism, if nothing more, there is reason for grave concern about the matter."

When a Senate committee reaching this conclusion is predominantly manned by such able and objective people as Democratic Sens. John Stennis (Miss.), Stuart Symington (Mo.), Henry Jackson (Wash.), and Republican Sens. Leverett Saltonstall (Mass.) and Margaret Chase Smith (Me.), it cannot be ignored.

Why shouldn't President Kennedy renew his urgent exchanges with Mr. Khrushchev to establish the on-site inspection which the Soviet Premier himself proposed?

If the offensive weapons have been removed — as stated — and if Soviet troops are to be withdrawn, as promised, then on-site inspection should be welcome to Moscow.

Unless Castro, in objecting to on-site inspection, is doing exactly what Moscow wants, he is now in no position to refuse to fulfill Premier Khrushchev's promise to President Kennedy.

The time is opportune to re-open the inspection issue — and to re-open it with urgency. I think most Americans will agree with the Stennis committee's unanimous appeal: "The entire Cuban problem, both military and political, should be accorded the highest priority."

by our governmental officials to the end that the evil threat which the Soviet occupation of Cuba represents will be eliminated at an early date."

Says Choices Not Biased

To the Editor:

In years past the selection of Pom-Pom girls and Yell leaders was made by a committee of Pep Club Officials, Faculty members, and Past Yell Leaders. When the selections were announced, there were always cries of "favoritism," "greek-domination," and so on because it usually worked out that different social groups might have more than one representative in the above positions. Consequently, this year the Hawk-I Pep Club Council made the selection process so that any cries of "favoritism" could be easily grounded.

The Pom Pom girls and the Yell leaders were picked by a committee composed of Norman Holzhaeppel, head Gymnastic Coach, Bill Bueck, a graduate assistant, and Mr. James Rhatigan, sponsor of Hawk-I Pep Club. These people had no idea of any type of social affiliation of the 70 candidates for the two positions. Hence, there can be no cries of favoritism. The chosen candidates were picked solely on their ability. All candidates had an equal chance. They were selected because of their ability alone and for no other reason. The integrity of the selection committee bears me out. The Pep Club would like to thank these men for their efforts that took a great deal of time.

Towards Better English?

Tom Swifty's

By DENNIS BINNING

Editorial Page Editor

A new, ridiculous and habit-forming word game came to my attention while reading the "Trade Winds" column in the May 18 issue of the Saturday Review. The game is known as "Tom Swifty's."

To play the game you try to create choice bits of dialogue, which combines the old Tom Swift form of dialogue with "totally ridiculous verbs, adverbs and phrases."

Here are two Tom Swifty's gleaned from the "Trade Winds" column which serve as excellent examples: "That makes 144," he said grossly.

"Enough of your fairy tales," he said grimly.

According to University Rhetoric instructors there are a good many student on campus who are masters at Tom Swifty's, but aren't aware of it. There are others who study the language quite diligently and find it an endless source of amusement. Whether you are aware of how to use English correctly or not, you can have a lot of fun playing with Tom Swifty's and learn a valuable lesson in English (especially how not to use ridiculous verbs, adverbs and phrases).

Being susceptible to habit-forming (word) games, I couldn't wait to write a few of my own candidates for the growing Tom Swifty list. Like them or not, they follow below: "Lie down over there," the doctor said patiently.

"I'm flat-footed," she said archly.

"I'm not snarling," he said doggedly.

"I see," he said dimly.

"That's very puzzling," he said cryptically.

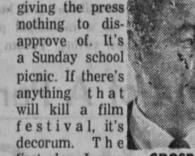

And finally: "I saw no mistakes in the DI this morning," said Tom erroneously.

Sailors Ashore— Looking At Girls

By JOHN CROSBY

CANNES, France — The big talk at the international film festival here is the fact that there is no big talk. Brigitte Bardot was discovered here at Cannes. But no one has been discovered this year and there was the clear feeling in the air that no one around was discoverable. The air was absent of electricity.

Alas, alas, the starlets have behaved with shocking decorum. They've kept their bras and their pants on, giving the press nothing to disapprove of. It's a Sunday school picnic. If there's anything that will kill a film festival, it's decorum. The first day I was here, I met a worried little French girl press agent who confided to me: "We're trying to fix something up. Just a tiny scandal. A little one." They must still be working on it, because no whisper of scandal has ruffled the air.

CROSBY

This leaves nothing to talk about except the movies. And the movies! Some of these movies could kill escapism altogether. Men'll go back to looking at their own wives because they're better looking and more interesting.

Some years ago, a Hollywood producer had a real dog of a picture that was dying at the box office and he was moaning to Herman Mankiewicz: "What'll I do? What'll I do?" and Mankiewicz said: "Show the movie in the streets. It'll drive the people into the theaters." There were many pictures like that here.

This is my first international film festival and I find the audience on the whole more fascinating than the pictures. It is a tough audience and in many ways a terrible one. They're hostile, frighteningly knowing, and, if they were really displeased, damned rude.

It takes guts to sit through one of your pictures here. Of course, if they love you, they burst into applause. On the other hand, Nico Papatakis, director and producer of "Les Abysses," walked out of the auditorium into the glare of footlights into a storm of hisses and boos delivered while he was posing for the newsreels.

The streets here are full of what I call the international film producers, all of whom look alike. The international film producer, whether he's German, American, Hungarian, Japanese, English, French, has the same lineaments — jowled, balding, bespectacled, fleshy, cigarred, with a fixed look of permanent despair. They're a

I saw a Frenchwoman staring at our aircraft carrier saying: "It must be American. No one else could afford it." I assured her we can't afford it either. We bought it on time. A little bit every month and in a couple of generations we'll have it paid for.

A friend of mine was looking at it admiringly the other day: "Just think. There are enough hydrogen bombs aboard that thing to blow all of France out of the water. Doesn't that make you feel secure?"

Well, it doesn't, actually. It just makes me nervous. Especially since all the sailors seem to be ashore looking at the girls.

The popular word in Washington these days is "proliferation." The reference is not to the growing young family in the White House, but to the spread of nuclear capabilities throughout the world.

The new liquor by the drink bill has put most country clubs in a situation that seems to have no solution. They can now buy a liquor license and sell drinks to their members by the glass legally. But if they do they can't sell these drinks on Sunday, the day on which most country clubs would do 50 per cent of their week's business.

Manager of Currier Retires

Has Served SUI Twenty-one Years

After being employed at the State University of Iowa for twenty-one years, Miss Helen Goodenow, now manager of Currier Hall is retiring at the end of this school term. Miss Goodenow was honored recently at the Senior Banquet.

She said the past twenty-one years have been anything but monotonous. Each year has been different, and she has enjoyed watching the changes from year to year.

Miss Goodenow, a native Iowan from Battle Creek, graduated from the University of Washington with her masters degree in institution management. She then worked at the University of Oregon for ten years, where she was assistant director of the dormitories and the head dietitian. In 1942 she became employed in the SUI dining service, and in 1959 she became manager of Currier.

Miss Goodenow has many memories of her years here at SUI. She distinctly remembers Currier Hall during World War II. There were few men on campus at that time, so all the heavy work and lifting was done by the waitresses at Currier. The food was rationed; the supplies of sugar, flour, meat, and vegetables were limited. Desserts at this time were a rarity. In fact, Miss Goodenow recalls that cupcakes were often made with barley.

Miss Goodenow plans to make her home here in Iowa City for awhile. She has no immediate plans for work, but plans on taking a vacation.

Bologna cups

If you leave the casing on bologna slices, they'll curl when you heat them in a skillet in a little butter. You can fill the bologna cups any way you like — with a little thick cheese sauce, scrambled eggs or creamed vegetables. The cups won't hold very much so you can sometimes use up odds and ends of food this way and have an attractive dish.

General chairman for the event was Mike New, A3, Nevada.

ENRICHED FLOUR

Seeing that your family has the nutrient-rich foods needed daily for good health is of prime concern to all you homemakers. An easy way to assure getting three essential B-vitamins and mineral iron is to check for the word "enriched" on the labels of the flour you use for home baking and on all the commercially prepared flour products you buy.

Why You Should Wear ACCUTRON Instead of a Watch

- Keeps time by the constant vibrations of a tuning fork activated electronically. It doesn't tick, it hums.
- Does away with the hairspring and balance wheel, the parts which limit the accuracy of all conventional watches.
- Just 12 moving parts. So rugged, so trouble-free you can forget about usual watch maintenance and repair.
- Never, never needs winding—even on your wrist. Power cell lasts one full year.
- So astonishingly accurate it has been purchased by the U.S. Air Force for every pilot in the X-15 project.

An ideal gift for the graduate who deserves more than just a watch.

Big 10 Champs Meet Minnesota

CLOYD WEBB
A New Discus Record?

Iowa's new Big Ten outdoor track champions will make their only home appearance of the season today when the Hawkeyes meet Minnesota on the Iowa track at 3 p.m.

Iowa Coach Francis Cretzmeier said that Iowa can't be named the favorite, "Remember, Minnesota beat us in an indoor meet."

The Gophers defeated Iowa at Minneapolis, 58½-55½, indoors, but placed seventh with 11 points at the conference outdoor meet last weekend.

Iowa's biggest problem is lack of balance. The Hawks won seven first places to five for the Gophers indoors when the Minnesota balance paid off.

Cretzmeier called Dale Lamski of the Gophers "a real fine hurdler and broad jumper" and cited Leroy Anderson and Burton Ewing as two more Minnesota standouts. Anderson and Ewing will challenge Iowa's Don Gardner, Big Ten champion in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles.

Creighton Fleming and Bart Uplinger will carry Minnesota's hopes in the open quarter against Hawkeye speedster Gary Hollingsworth, Big 10 indoor champion who finished second outdoors.

Cretz commented, "Several new track records could be set. The mile relay record of 3:12.8 by Northwestern in 1958 could fall, and possibly the :47.4 record in the 440-yard run as well as the 1:50.9 mark in the half." He added, "However, we have some pretty tough track records after holding the conference meet here last year."

The Hawkeye mile relay team broke the Big Ten record last week, with a time of 3:11.2. Bill Frazier and Roger Kerr were clocked at :46.6 and :47.1 for their quarters in the relay. Frazier tied the half-mile record last year, but ran the 880 a half second slower last week. Kerr will be competing in the 660-yard run, in which his time of 1:17.4 is the fastest recorded by an American.

Three men who missed conference championships by slight margins will see action. Ralph Trimble will run in the two-mile, Gary Fischer in the mile and Hollingsworth in the 440. All three placed second last week.

Big Ten champion pole vaulter Chuck Morrow, who cleared

15 feet last Saturday, will lead the Gophers in the field events while Iowa's Cloyd Webb, who competes in the discus throw, is the Hawkeyes' hope.

Webb threw the discus 167-10 at the conference contest, almost five feet better than the Iowa track record of 163-2½.

The last event of the meet is scheduled for 4:20 p.m. so that Iowa fans may see both the track meet and most of the baseball game with Purdue.

Six Feet from Leaving Stadium—

'Hardest-Hit Ball'—Mantle

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Mantle's space age homer Wednesday night left even his teammates in awe. The screaming liner off the facade of the third deck missed by six feet being the first fair ball hit out of Yankee Stadium since it was built in 1923.

Mantle hit the ball in the 11th inning of a game with Kansas City, breaking a 7-7 tie. With one swing, he also shattered Bill Fischer's perfect 6-0 pitching record.

"That was the hardest ball I ever hit," said Mantle, who has hit some hard ones, including a 565-foot job at Washington, April 17, 1953. He also hit one off the same stadium facade, May 30, 1956, but that was a fly ball coming down. This was a liner still going up. No telling how far it might have gone if it hadn't hit the facade, 367 feet out and 108 feet, 1 inch up.

"I saw it in the haze that comes over the roof when the lights are on," he said. "I knew it was going places. I wouldn't have been surprised if it had gone out of the joint."

MICKEY MANTLE
'A League by Himself'

Ralph Houk, Yankee manager, had a realistic comment: "I wish it could have been cut into singles and we would have had enough hits for a week."

"Mickey now has beaten his record. This was the most." "That would take four of my best shots," said little Bobby Richardson, who specializes in double plays and singles and seldom hits the long ball.

Whitey Ford slyly needed his buddy. "I hit 'em that hard," said Ford, "only they don't go that far."

Frank Crosetti, veteran Yankee coach who dates back to the Babe Ruth era, said, "That's the hardest I've ever seen anyone hit a ball. Jimmy Foxx, Ruth, anybody. I don't believe a man can hit a ball harder. It went out like it was shot out of a cannon."

Over in the other clubhouse, the A's also were shaken. "He ought to have a league of his own," said Norm Siebern, a former Yankee. "He's too much for everybody else."

"He gets $100,000," said Fischer, the victim. "He has to be making it for some reason."

Eddie Lopat, the ex-Yank pitcher who now manages Kansas City, has seen many a booming drive in Yankee Stadium.

"I'm a pitcher," said Lopat when asked his reaction. "I know the sound. I just turned my back."

Hawks Battle Boilermaker Today

Hawkeye Hurler

Jack Wiland, who has a 6-1 season's record and an ERA of 3.33, will be the starting pitcher for Iowa today when the Hawkeyes begin their showdown series for the Big Ten title. Iowa meets Purdue today and league-leading Illinois in a double-header Saturday.

Iowa's baseball team, one-half game behind league-leading Illinois, meets seventh place Purdue at the Iowa diamond at 3:30 p.m. today. The Hawks will close their bid for the conference title Saturday with a double-header against Illinois starting at 1 p.m.

Iowa now has a 7-4 record in Big Ten play and has won five of its last six games to move into the role of a surprise contender.

Up to last Saturday, Purdue was one of five teams tied for second, but the Boilermakers dropped a triple-header to the Illini allowing Illinois to take over first place.

"We must beat Purdue so I plan to start Jack Wiland," said Coach Dick Schultz. "Steve Green, who has pitched some fine ball in relief, is the probable starter for the first Illinois game. In the second Saturday game, it will be either Bob Gebhard, Dale Miner or Jim McAndrew, the choice depending upon what pitchers might work in relief in the first game."

Wiland has a 6-1 season's record and an ERA of 3.33. In the conference he has a 2-1 mark and an ERA of 3.99. Green has a 1-0 mark and in 12½ innings of conference hurling he has an ERA of .75. Gebhard is 3-1 for the season and 1-0 in the league; Miner is 2-3 and 1-1; and McAndrew is 3-0 and 1-0.

The Hawks are hitting better as the outfield trio is finding the range. Bob Sherman is now batting .258 and Joe Reddington .257. Sherman hit two homers against Wisconsin last weekend. Iowa's top hitters for the season are Jay Petersen at .303 and Rich Lee, .302. Jim Freese is sixth among league hitters with .261 and is tied for the most runs batted in, 13.

Purdue has a season's batting average of .252. Tom Pugh, second baseman, has .333 for the season and Dick Lui, third baseman, has .300. Probable pitcher for the Boilermakers is Allan Rezak, who is 5-2 for the season and 2-1 in conference play.

"We could solve everything by winning three games for a 10-4 record, but it will take our best baseball if we are to accomplish that," Schultz commented when asked about the title race. "There are endless possible combinations which cannot be figured because bad weather might cancel games."

Ohio State, for example, could finish 10-5 by beating Indiana, occupant of the Big Ten cellar, three times and Minnesota could sneak in with a 10-5 mark by beating Illinois Friday and Purdue twice Saturday.

In Major League Action—

O'Toole Hurls Reds To 2-0 Victory

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Cincinnati's Jim O'Toole edged Milwaukee's Denny Lemaster in a brilliant southpaw pitching duel Thursday as the Reds defeated the Braves, 2-0.

O'Toole fired a three-hitter for his seventh victory against three defeats as the Reds boosted their winning streak to four games and moved into the first division.

Lemaster suffered a heart-breaking defeat, allowing only four hits and striking out eight. However, he was the victim of two unearned runs as his record was evened 2-2. Baltimore Defeats Washington, 6-0; Takes A.L. Lead

BALTIMORE (AP)—Robin Roberts pitched the Baltimore Orioles into the American League lead Thursday night as he stopped the Washington Senators, 6-0, on two hits and ruined the managerial debut of Gil Hodges.

Hodges, replacing Mickey Vernon as Washington manager, saw the Senators drop their 11th decision in 12 starts and fall deeper into the league basement.

Oliver's Home Run Gives Cards Win

CHICAGO (AP)—Catcher Gene Oliver's homer, a fifth-inning drive into the left field catwalk, powered the St. Louis Cardinals and Ernie Broglio to a 1-0 win over the Chicago Cubs Thursday.

In picking up his fifth victory among six decisions Broglio limited the Cubs to five hits. He fanned five and walked two.

Lefty Dick Ellsworth, victim of Oliver's fifth homer of the season, went down to his third loss.

It was Broglio's ninth career taming of the Cubs in 11 decisions. St. Louis . . . 000 010 000—1 4 1 Chicago . . . 000 000 000—0 5 2 Broglio and Oliver: Ellsworth (8), W—Broglio (5-1). L—Ellsworth (5-3). Home run—St. Louis, Oliver (3).

U.S. 2-1 Favorite As Walker Cup Matches Begin

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP)—The singles match between Richard Davis of Pasadena, Calif., and the man he succeeded last year as British Amateur golf champion, Mike Bonallack, features opening fireworks today in the 19th battle for the Walker Cup.

The Americans, a mixture of veterans and eager youngsters, are 2-1 favorites to win the amateur trophy which they have lost only once in the series dating back to 1922. The United States won the last competition at Seattle two years ago, 11-1.

Jimmy Piersall Traded To Mets

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jim Piersall, who gets into trouble about as easily as he snags fly balls, was sold to the New York Mets Thursday, apparently in exchange for release of Gil Hodges to become Washington manager.

The terse announcement of the deal, for an unannounced amount of cash and a player to be named later, didn't tie the two developments together but there were strong signs that they were connected.

"I've been in baseball 16 years," said Piersall, as he collected his equipment before leaving to join the Mets. "You never know what's going to happen."

More room.

This '63 Volkswagen is the most. It has more legroom in the cab and more power in the engine than any other VW Truck in 13 years. There's more room to stretch your legs because the interior headlight moldings have been flattened out. And a new adjustable driver's seat has been added. Just put the seat in reverse and slide it back until your legs feel comfortable. Alongside is a new oversize passenger seat, big enough for one well-upholstered rider. It's standard equipment. Back in the engine room is our new air-cooled "1500" (displacement is 1,500 cc. or 91.10 cu. in.). It's 25% larger and

More brmmmm!

It develops 25% more horsepower than any other VW engine ever. That's why this '63 truck can outspeed, outclimb, outdo any other VW Truck on the road today. The engine—plus the larger brakes it requires—is optional at extra cost. If you don't take it, you get our "1200" engine as standard equipment. That's the power plant that we've never stopped improving on. Either way you get an engine that averages 24 mpg, that can't freeze or bail, that's mounted in back for extra traction in snow, mud, sand. What more could you want? Hmmm?

Outstanding Junior

Robert G. Gitchell, A3, Cresco has been named recipient of the 1963 Penningroth Award. The award is made annually to an outstanding junior student at SUI on the basis of leadership, scholastic achievement and participation in student activities. The Penningroth Award was established through the SUI Foundation by Dr. Paul W. Penningroth in the name of his parents, William and Elizabeth Penningroth. Dr. Penningroth, a 1922 graduate of SUI, now resides in Atlanta, Ga. A permanent endowment fund providing an annual income for the Penningroth Award was established three years ago by Dr. Penningroth.

J-School Wins Medallion

The SUI School of Journalism will receive a bronze medallion and a permanent scroll as a result of their eighth place over-all finish in the William Randolph Hearst Foundation Annual Awards Program for schools and departments of journalism. According to Randolph A. Hearst, Trustee of the foundation, the points accumulated by all entrants, and especially by Cele Ferner, A3, Sioux City; Gary Gerlach, A4, St. Ansgar; and Joe Lippincott, A2, Iowa City, the three Hearst Foundation winners, contributed to this achievement.

SUI Grad Co-Authors

A SUI graduate, Eloise M. Jaeger (Ph.D., 1952), is co-author of a newly revised tennis book. Her book, "Teaching of Tennis for School and Recreational Programs," gives help to coaches and teachers of tennis.

Dr. Jaeger is director of the University of Minnesota department of physical education for women.

Her co-author, Harry "Cap" Leighton, is co-director of the Leighton-Barta Tennis School for Teachers in Des Plaines, Ill.

Planning, Coordinating—

Homecoming Plans Already Underway

By BOB BARON
Staff Writer

The planning, coordinating, and carrying out of the many programs and activities of the 1963 Homecoming celebration is now underway by the University Homecoming Committee.

The committee, composed of many smaller, more specific units, is under the control of President Hancher, who makes appointments upon recommendation of the chairmen.

Co-chairmen of the committee are Robert E. J. Snyder, instructor of marketing and Royce Beckett, professor of mechanics and hydraulics.

The main source of finances for the committee are the Homecoming Badge sales, which are directed by a sub-committee of the larger group. This committee is responsible for selection of the design as well as the actual distribution of the badges.

One of the most colorful aspects of Homecoming is the float competition in the Homecoming parade, which is directed by another sub-committee. This committee works with the participating housing units and selects a panel of judges for the parade.

The actual production and organization of the parade is carried on by another sub-committee of the Homecoming Committee, assisted by a detail of AFROTC students.

The Homecoming Committee also sponsors a Union open house. Aided by the Central Party Committee and Union Board, the committee provides free refreshments, exhibits, Hawkeye game films, and informal dancing for SUIowans and their guests.

Another weekend highlight is the Homecoming dance, which last year featured Stan Kenton and his orchestra.

The Associated Students of Engineering each year plan and construct a monument on the west slope of the Pentacrest, which is burned after a Hawkeye victory. The Saturday morning of Homecoming all SUI schools and colleges United States. They were chosen by the New York AFS officer after screening by the local chapter.

Selected were Susan Evans, A3, Fairfield; Mary Lockwood, A4, Rock Rapids; and Frank Bower, A4, Arsenal Springs, Md.

hold alumni coffee hours, which are coordinated by the Homecoming Committee.

The Miss SUI Pageant, under the direction of the Pageant Board, is also overseen by the Homecoming Committee, as is the water show put on by the Dolphin fraternity.

AFS Elects Stokstad As President

The SUI chapter of the American Field Service (AFS) has elected Arden Stokstad, A1, Cedar Falls, president.

Other officers are Susan Evans, A3, Fairfield, vice president; Margaret Larsen, A3, Newton, secretary; and Karen Countryman, A3, Nevada, treasurer.

The group recently obtained formal recognition from the Student Senate as a campus organization.

AFS is made up of SUI students who spent the summer between their junior and senior years of high school in foreign countries as a part of the national American Field Service exchange program.

Persons interested in the activities of AFS may also join.

The purpose of AFS is for members to keep up contact with people they met when they went overseas and to meet others who traveled with AFS.

Members also help promote contact between people of different countries.

When high school AFS students visit America this year, three SUIowans will serve as bus chaperons as the group tours the

After Trying To Cash—

Man Confesses To Check Theft

A former Fort Dodge man Thursday admitted to Iowa City Police that he broke into the Keith Wilson Hatchery, Inc., Tuesday morning and stole $8,000 in checks.

Edward L. Gerdes, 32, signed a confession in connection with the break-in and also admitted forging endorsements on four of the five checks he had in his possession at the time of his arrest. Gerdes told police that he threw the other checks away.

The former convict is also being questioned about a burglary and fire at Roseland's Grocery, 322 E. Benton St., early Thursday morning.

A Daily Iowan circulation employee, Darrell Truitt, A3, Burlington, discovered the blaze at approximately 4:30 a.m. while distributing carrier bundles. He went to a phone and notified the fire department.

Gerdes was arrested shortly before noon after he tried to cash a check at the First National Bank. Bank officials followed him to a tavern and called detectives.

Police said theft of the checks was not made public because they did not want to scare the burglar into throwing the checks away. Bank officials were notified, however.

Shortly after police detectives arrested him, Gerdes said he recently had been released after serving 12 years at Ft. Madison for check forgery. Gerdes had been living in a hotel here and had made reservations to fly to Ft. Dodge at 5 p.m. Thursday.

Fire damage at the grocery was limited to an area around a counter and cash register. The store's merchandise and fixtures were damaged by smoke and water.

Detectives said the fire apparently was started by a burglar, accidentally or purposely, when a match or cigaret was dropped onto some cartons and papers. Burglars took at least $60 after removing a rest room screen and forcing a door open to the main store.

Detectives said the fire might also have been started to cover up fingerprints.

Benz Tours Europe

Lester G. Benz, professor of journalism, began a five-week trip to eastern and central European cities Thursday with the American Newspapers Study Mission.

His trip will take him to such cities as Copenhagen, Helsinki, Leningrad, Moscow, Bucharest, Sofia, Belgrade, Budapest, Vienna, Prague, Warsaw, Berlin and Paris. He will return to SUI June 29.

At Recognition Dinner—

SUI Honors Retiring Staff

Twelve senior faculty and administrative staff members who will complete their full-time service to SUI this academic year were honored Thursday evening at a Faculty Recognition Dinner in the Union.

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher presented special certificates of recognition to the long-time staff members at the dinner.

Those honored were: Harvey H. Davis, SUI provost, who was appointed in 1950, after coming to SUI as executive dean of the Division of Research and Teaching and dean of the Graduate College in 1948.

Earl E. Harper came to SUI in 1938 from the presidency of Simpson College, Indianola. As director of the SUI School of Fine Arts, Harper coordinated the departments of art, dramatic arts and music. Dr. Harper was honored recently by Evansville (Ind.) College, where a new dormitory was named for him. He was president of the Indiana school from 1927-36.

Olive C. Farr, chief physical therapist at General Hospitals, joined the SUI staff in 1942 as a physical therapist.

William Gower, associate professor of music, is head of brass instrument instruction and instrumental techniques in the SUI music department. He joined the faculty in 1946.

Clara Hinton, who headed the SUI library circulation services until 1962, and Helene R. Miller, of the law library, both came to SUI in 1931. Lettie Oldaker, catalog librarian at University libraries, began her service in 1948. She retired last year.

William R. Kern, associate professor of dentistry, was a demonstrator and instructor in the SUI College of Dentistry from 1919-30. After thirteen years on the faculty of Northwestern University, he returned to SUI in 1933 as assistant professor in the crown and bridge departments. Dr. Kern is a native of Des Moines.

Dean M. Lierle, professor and head of the department of otolaryngology and maxillofacial surgery since 1928, came to SUI in 1923 as an instructor. Former students recently recognized the long-time department head by establishing a development fund in his honor.

W. Ross Livingston, professor of history, and curator of British documents for the SUI library, has been at SUI since 1925. Livingston has been on leave of absence this year.

Raymond J. Phillips, superintendent of the SUI physical plant, began working at SUI in 1936. As superintendent, he directs the activities of the 350-man operation responsible for maintaining and safeguarding SUI's buildings and campus.

George R. Schneider retired last year as associate professor in the department of mechanics and hydraulics of the College of Engineering. He joined the engineering faculty in 1956, after nearly 25 years in government service.

Reserved Parking Will Cost More For Staff Members

Reserve parking lot fees for faculty members will be increased from $20 to $30 per year, beginning next fall according to a bulletin released by the University Thursday.

The new rates will not affect student parking fees.

Revenue from the reserve lot increase will be used to maintain present parking facilities and help finance new lots. Some of the money will go toward the construction cost of the parking ramp under construction east of the Iowa Memorial Union. The new ramp will be available for University guests, students and faculty.

Campus Police estimate the new rates will cost the user of reserve facilities 11 cents for each working day. Using parking meters the same number of days would cost some $97 — a year.

Chance Held For Indiana YSA Students

Student Body President Mike Carver and Vice President Pete Placek received a letter Thursday in reply to one they sent the Indiana University Student Body President concerning the indictment of three Indiana students May 1 for subversive activities.

The three students were members of the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) at Indiana and were charged in connection with a meeting March 24. Thomas Hoadley acted as prosecutor in the indictment proceedings involving an anti-communist state law.

The letter Carver and Placek sent to Indiana encouraged the student body president to make his own investigation into the charges of subversion. It also contained a clipping from The Daily Iowan with the account of the indictment.

The letter from Indiana Student Body President Steve Smith read as follows:

"Thank you for your kind concern and the clippings from The Daily Iowan. We, of course, certainly have our problems with the ambitious Mr. Hoadley but generally the student leaders and students have reacted more against the actions of Monroe county's prosecutor-politician than against the rights of YSA. The consensus is that the case against the students doesn't have a chance and that the Indiana state anti-subversive law will be declared unconstitutional as well."

Iowan Given SAC Award

Col. Everett A. McDonald, son of Mrs. Orma I. McDonald, 620 Fairchild, Iowa City, has been awarded the Legion of Merit by Lt. Gen. Hunter Harris, Strategic Air Command (SAC) vice commander.

Colonel McDonald was cited for exceptional meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service to the United States while serving as chief of the mission branch, operations plans division, directorate of operations at SAC headquarters from Sept. 13, 1960 to June 20, 1962.

McDonald, a graduate of the University of Texas, has been in the service 22 years.

Pupils Reinstated; New City Council In Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—New hopes for racial peace surged through this Deep South city Thursday with the return to school of a thousand Negro pupils, ousted for street marches, and the seating of a new government that pledged immediate steps for progress.

Under court order, 1,081 Negro children suspended Monday went back to school. They were among about 2,400 Negroes arrested in month-long demonstrations protesting segregation.

The government changed hands under an Alabama Supreme Court decision which turned over City Hall reins to Mayor Albert Boutwell, a comparative moderate, and nine councilmen. They succeeded a three-commissioner government which fought a special election change.

Roy Williams, business manager of Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. in Iowa City, has reported an increase in station-to-station calls made from Iowa City after 9 p.m. since a reduced rate went into effect April 4.

Iowa Avenue Gas Lines Get Replaced

Iowa Avenue, East of Old Capitol, is being "torn up" by the Iowa-Illinois Gas Company in order to replace old lines from the street to buildings and to clamp joints on the east iron main, according to Jim Stewart, district manager.

Stewart said the Company is doing the work now so the street will not have to be disrupted after a resurfacing and widening operation of Iowa Avenue begins this summer.

The Daily Iowan incorrectly reported Thursday that the Company was tearing up the three block area to check for gas leaks.
