THIS MORNING

IN THE STATE—

KILLED BETWEEN TRACKS. A Chicago North Western freight train ran over and killed a man Tuesday as he lay between the tracks within the Cedar Rapids city limits.

Police identified him as Oswald Edward Van Hutton, 56, of Silver City, Nev.

CLOCKED AT 97. James Cavin of New Orleans was held under $400 bond in Montezuma jail Tuesday after the Iowa Highway Patrol said it clocked his car traveling at 97 miles an hour on Highway 6 east of Grinnell.

Patrolman John Flannery charged Cavin with speeding and operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

FILES COMPLAINT. Atty. Gen. Evan Hultman has filed a complaint in the Iowa Supreme Court to halt what he said is the unauthorized practice of law by a justice of the peace.

The complaint, against Alfred Rowold of Wheatland, a real estate dealer and justice of the peace, will come up for hearing before Chief Justice Theodore Garfield July 15.

IN THE NATION—

CHANDLER LOSES. Edward T. Breathitt Jr., a comparative newcomer to Kentucky politics, smashed former Gov. A. B. "Happy" Chandler's hopes of nomination for a third term by rolling to a clear-cut victory in the Democratic primary election.

With 1,832 of 3,005 precincts reporting, Breathitt had 197,821 votes to 164,971 for Chandler. For earlier story, see page 6.

JFK GETS AWARD. In New York the Protestant Council of the City of New York will present its 1963 Distinguished Service Award to President Kennedy, the first non-Protestant so honored by the council.

Announcing the selection of Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, for the award, George Champion said Tuesday that the President will receive it at a dinner here Nov. 8. Champion, board chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank, won last year's award.

The award recognizes service to the cause of human rights and democratic freedoms.

PLANE CRASHES. A chartered Constellation carrying 65 soldiers and a crew of 5 crashed and burned on landing at the Manhattan Kansas Municipal Airport Tuesday.

The manager, Nick Dellare, said there were no known fatalities.

The information officer at nearby Ft. Riley reported two military men were admitted to the station hospital, apparently with only minor injuries, and he knew of no others.

One of the men was reported to have a foot fracture.

SEARCH NARROWS. In Portsmouth, N.H., the Navy Tuesday narrowed the area of its search for the sunken nuclear attack submarine Thresher with the recovery of 15 small boxes of metal rings from the ocean floor.

The Navy said the parts had been recovered Monday by a research ship working "drag lines in the area of prime interest."

The recovered parts were described as common to many Navy ships.

The Navy said they had been found near the last known position of Thresher when she sank with the loss of 129 lives April 10 about 220 miles off Boston.

Capt. Frank A. Andrews, who heads the search, left for Woods Hole, Mass., for a two-day conference on the progress to date.

With him at the oceanographic institution was a technical advisory group from the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations, Washington.

IN THE WORLD—

48 KILLED. The roof of a railroad station collapsed Tuesday afternoon in Lisbon, Portugal, killing at least 48 persons in a lethal rain of cement slabs and iron girders. At least 36 were reported injured.

The disaster occurred during celebration of the 37th anniversary of the revolution that brought Premier Salazar to power. Rumors mentioned Communist saboteurs in connection with the collapse.

SOVIETS FIRE ROCKETS. The Soviet Union announced Tuesday it had fired a series of 1963-model rockets 8,000 miles down the Pacific May 18 and 25.

A Tass statement did not say how many rockets had been launched nor precisely where they had landed. It claimed the rockets had hit a present target, but did not specify which one.

ARMY PLANE HITS MINE. An American Army transport plane hit a land mine planted by guerrillas as it landed on Tan Henp airfield south of Saigon on Monday, but the crew got out safely. An American military spokesman said the plane was extensively damaged by the mine but could be repaired.

JFK 'Healthy' on His 46th Birthday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, celebrating his 46th birthday today, was praised Tuesday by White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger for having missed only two days work because of illness.

Salinger also said the President has a stubborn skin ailment, chronic back trouble and an unwanted reminder of wartime malaria, but "His health is excellent."

Salinger pointed to Kennedy's record of rarely canceling his official schedule during 28 months in office as evidence of the chief executive's energy and — within obvious limits — fitness. The press secretary is the principal source of information on Kennedy's physical condition. The two White House physicians, Dr. Janet Travell and Rear Adm. George Burkley, are discouraged from discussing the subject with newsmen.

NEITHER OF KENNEDY'S doctors has held a news conference since June 22, 1961, when Dr. Travell reported on a virus infection that kept the President in bed for the day.

The only other time Kennedy missed a day at the office because of illness was on Dec. 18, 1961, when he was sent to bed briefly with a heavy cold and earache. During his months in office, Kennedy has gotten a bit grayer around the temples, but you still have to look closely to see the gray hairs.

In addition, Kennedy has lost weight. Salinger says the weight loss has been accomplished deliberately through dieting.

KENNEDY'S WEIGHT Tuesday morning was 173 pounds — about seven pounds less than on inauguration day in January 1961. Salinger says the President, a 6-footer, was overweight at the end of the grueling 1960 election campaign. The President recently told a group of visitors that his latest diet has enabled him to shuck off five pounds. Despite the diet, however, Kennedy still raids the White House refrigerator, as evidenced by the finger he sliced while cutting bread for a midafternoon snack earlier this month.

At Dr. Travell's 1961 news conference, she reported Kennedy was being given minimum doses of corticosteroids — a pill designed to counter what has been termed a mild adrenal insufficiency stemming from a wartime bout with malaria.

KENNEDY'S MOST OBVIOUS physical difficulty involves, of course, his back.

A weak spot in Kennedy's spine has been a source of recurrent trouble since his student days at Harvard.

Birmingham Schools Handed Ultimatum

Voluntary Integration Preferred by Judge

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Federal Judge Seybourn H. Lynne told Birmingham school officials Tuesday that he will order them to draw up a desegregation plan unless they apply a pupil assignment law without discrimination this fall.

Giving the officials a chance at voluntary integration, Lynne denied a requested injunction against school segregation but said he would hear immediately any further complaints.

Lynne said school authorities had assured him they would comply with the law.

"This court will not sanction discrimination by them in the name of the 'placement law,'" he said, "but it is unwilling to grant injunctive relief until their good faith has been tested."

LYNNE HELD that Negroes seeking a sweeping injunction against separate schools had not exhausted remedies under a 1956 statute which bestows almost unlimited pupil assignment powers on school boards.

Negro attorney Orzell Billingsly Jr. said the decision would be appealed immediately to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

School board members and Supt. Theo R. Wright withheld comment. Their attorney, Reid Barnes, earlier said he was confident that the officials would not violate any court decision.

Basing his opinion on the validity of the state placement law, Lynne followed a 1958 federal judge panel's decision that the law "furnishes the legal machinery for an orderly administration of the public schools in a constitutional manner by the admission of qualified pupils upon a basis of individual merit without regard to their race or color."

THE U.S. Supreme Court has affirmed the lower court ruling on the placement law, without warning against unconstitutional use of the statute.

Mayor Albert Boutwell, former state senator and lieutenant governor, helped draft the law — originally aimed at maintaining segregation.

Boutwell said Tuesday that legislators believed the law was "just and fully adequate to meet the problems of education."

IN OTHER racial developments: An Alabama legislative committee killed a bill designed to set up a state-supported private school system on a segregated basis by first supplying free bus service for all private school children.

A Negro woman charged in Englewood, N.J., that her 6-year-old son had been stabbed in a sit-in at the predominantly white Cleveland Elementary School, Dr. Mark R. Shedd, superintendent of schools, denied the accusation.

Monday afternoon's warning to youthful troublemakers by Police Judge Jay H. Honohan, an alert police force, and the beginning of final week at SUI apparently cooled off tension between SUI and high school students by Tuesday night.

Midnight found Iowa City streets relatively deserted after a weekend in which groups of more than 200 students roamed the area in an explosive atmosphere of rumor, threatened reprisals and general hooliganism.

The beating of an SUI freshman Friday night triggered off the events of the weekend and set in motion talk of retaliation by SUI students who felt local law enforcement was slow in controlling teenagers who had been allegedly molesting college students over the past few months.

Iowa City Police Chief Emmett Evans told The Daily Iowan such feeling was groundless and explained that although he had received several reports of high school students molesting SUI students, few of the persons bringing the charges would sign the complaint.

Evans said his officers are unable to make an arrest unless they witness a crime being committed or unless a complaint is signed.

Evans pointed out that the arrest of James Casey, 18, 254 Black Springs Circle, in connection with the beating of Rollin Perkins, A1, Davenport Friday night was made minutes after the complaint was signed Monday.

Judge Orders Negro's Admission to Ole Miss

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Protests against rigid segregation barriers at Jackson, Miss., were marked Tuesday with intermittent violence at a lunch-counter sit-in.

Battering fists and other violence failed to break up the lunch-counter sit-in at Jackson, but Memphis Norman, 21, a Negro of Wiggins, Miss., was knocked from a stool and beaten severely.

The flare of violence at the Woolworth store came after five pickets, three Negroes and two white persons, had been arrested on downtown streets.

Police made no effort to remove the sit-in demonstrators or to control the jeering crowd that besieged them, squirting mustard and catsup from plastic bottles taken from the counter.

Medgar Evers, head of the Mississippi branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said the Justice Department had been notified of the sit-in violence.

While trouble flared at Jackson, U.S. District Judge Sidney Mize at Biloxi, Miss., ordered a Negro, Cleve McDowell, admitted to the University of Mississippi Law School for the summer term beginning June 5.

Mize, a graduate of the Ole Miss law school, originally had rejected Negro James H. Meredith's plea for enrollment in the university. Higher courts reversed his decision, and Meredith was admitted last fall.

Mize issued a temporary order restraining the university and the State College Board from denying McDowell's admission. He set a hearing for Monday on a motion for a temporary injunction, the next legal step in the case.

Pope's Condition Still Grave; Millions Pray

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Further weakened by internal bleeding that brought him close to death, Pope John XXIII, 81, lay closely watched early today as Roman Catholics around the world waited and prayed

Some slight improvement in the Pontiff's grave condition was reported during the night, but little hope was held for any significant change for the better.

"Only a miracle can save him," said some inside the Vatican. The Pope himself was described as resigned to death if God wishes.

The Vatican disclosed the Pontiff has an abnormal stomach growth and he was said to be suffering. Specialists and medical attendants hovered at the bedside of the Pope after several hemorrhages Monday.

THREE DOCTORS attended the Pope during that critical period and were reported to have administered a massive blood transfusion to enable the Pontiff to overcome the crisis.

Cool It Coeds

LSU Officials Urge Cool Companionship

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Louisiana State University officials are asking spooning students to practice cooler companionship.

A Baton Rouge newspaper said a general assembly was held warning coeds that necking on campus could be grounds for expulsion.

The account said female students would have to discontinue excessive courting and prolonged kissing in front of school dormitories.

Trouble spots were designated as residential areas near the campus, the lake areas of the campus and parked cars in front of dormitories at check-in time.

The coeds were asked to re-evaluate their dating standards or possibly suffer penalties for unbecoming actions, the paper said.

Legal Snarl over Insurance—

Liquor by the Drink May Be Slowed

DES MOINES (AP) — Issuance of liquor by the drink licenses may be delayed until at least mid-July because of a legal question over dram shop insurance, officials said Tuesday.

Representatives of the Iowa Liquor Control Commission, the attorney general's office and State Insurance Department met for an hour and a half Tuesday to discuss the problem.

THE DIFFICULTY centers around the Iowa dram shop law, which says holders of liquor licenses can be sued for damages caused by an intoxicated person to whom the licensee has served liquor.

Liability insurance to protect the bar owner from such damage claims is required by the new liquor law before a liquor license can be issued. The law goes into effect July 4.

But it now appears that insurance companies will not be able to write such policies until later in July — if at all.

THE LIQUOR bill passed by the 1963 legislature says liquor license holders can be sued under the dram shop provision only for actual damages or loss of family support caused by an intoxicated person.

But there also is on the books an older dram shop law which allows bar owners to be sued for punitive — or exemplary — as well as actual damages.

Representatives of two private insurance companies at Tuesday's meeting said they probably would not write the liability insurance if it had to cover punitive as well as actual damages.

STATE INSURANCE Department officials and liquor commissioners tentatively agreed that any insurance must cover both kinds of damages if the insurance was to satisfy the requirement for a liquor license.

The time it will take to solve this problem — if it is solved — could hold up the issuance of the liquor licenses until the latter part of July.

Another problem centers upon insurance Department approval of dram shop liability insurance.

Insurance companies cannot submit proposed policies to the department until the Liquor Commission sets out definite rules and regulations on exact minimum coverages.

THESE RULES are not expected to be completed for about a week. Then the insurance companies must draw up proposed policies and submit them to the department.

Robert Link, an attorney for the Insurance Department, said it would take at least three weeks and probably a month to study and approve the proposed rates and policy forms.

Work of Police Needs Your Help

A CAR STRUCK an unidentified pedestrian at Washington and Clinton Streets Monday night. The pedestrian was not injured and he refused to file charges even though the car did not stop.

The refusal to file charges is a blow to our police system. The pedestrian abrogated his right to see that the driver is punished for his deed.

It is entirely illogical that the pedestrian would not file charges. He could have suffered serious injury or even have been killed. The unthinking driver deserves maximum punishment for failure to yield the right of way.

Instead the pedestrian showed a lack of "guts." He did not have the gumption to file a charge and later swear as a witness against this hit and run driver.

Such actions, if followed by many citizens, could result in the uselessness of a police force. The police need the help of offended citizens in order to protect the city. If this help is not offered, the police are helpless.

However, help must come through legal processes. There is no room for vigilante type groups such as those formed by University students last Saturday night. These groups only hinder the police in carrying out their duties.

A couple of weeks ago, County Attorney Ralph Neuzil made a plea for more positive action by citizens in reporting unlawful acts. Neuzil said anyone seeing a car running a redlight should have the "guts to take the license number, file charges and testify against the driver."

Neuzil indicated that such action would make the law enforcing agency's job much easier.

The county attorney's point is well taken. Active citizen participation is important in democratic government. With police protection playing an important part of our government, it becomes imperative for citizens to help the police.

Law violators deserve to be punished. But they cannot be punished if citizens decide not to act because they do not want to cause trouble.

An Illusion of Apathy

APATHY? COMPLACENCY? Is this the mood of most Americans today? It must be so because the news commentators say it is. On the surface at least this is a moment of relative calm, which means economic curves that trend upward and cold war issues that lie coiled and sleepy in the summer sun.

But what lies under the surface?

There is an unprecedented concern about the slow growth rate of the American economy, and both parties are ready to take extraordinary steps through new tax legislation to spur it. A new and courageous approach to Europe's dynamic Common Market is at work.

In the South the revolt of colored races has rolled onto the American scene. It is collapsing the timetable of social change for the American Negro.

Even the basic struggle to bring the population rate under control is now, for the first time, a subject of almost universal effort and concern.

It is only an illusion of apathy that stills the barometer. It exists because broad, constructive policies are at work in today's society holding the more violent forms of explosion in check.

We would like to remind people of the genuinely terrible years when a weak world yielded continually before Hitler, and to recall the wild, uncontrolled economic swings of the twenties and thirties, and to suggest that today's apathy be put in context. As a society we have shortfalls, many of them. We ought to be working harder at them. But this apathy, if that's what it seems to be, is also earned. It rests on an already enormous effort to keep the ugly side of human life under restraint and to free men so they can cope with society and with themselves. We are not doing so badly.

Letters to the Editor—

Complaint from a Fan(?)

To the Editor:
 In Friday's Major League Baseball Standings, The Daily Iowan neglected to list the Washington Senators. Perhaps, the editors do not consider the Senators a major league team.

However, I would like to call your attention to the fact that Washington is an exceptional team. It has more college graduates than practically any team in the league and it has as many "nice guys." The Senators have a top player in Chuck Hinton. Now, if it can get only seven other players and about four pitchers it will be in good shape.

I have been disappointed with the coverage of the Senators all season. The Washington Baseball club holds many records. With nine other teams it is tied for the record of most games played in the Eastern time zone. It is right behind the Mets in most games lost in the Eastern time zone. It holds the record for most consecutive years of playing 161 games in a 162 game season. (Somehow, there is always one game when the team fails to "show up.")

While the Yankees are known as a "come from behind team," the Senators are a "go from ahead team." I have not carefully studied the records, but I believe that it holds the record in "most leads blown in the ninth inning." What other team can lead the Boston Red Sox 12-5 with two out and nobody on with Boston up in the last half of the ninth inning and lose 13-12? This effort took teamwork — Five walks by the pitchers, three errors by the infielders and two by the outfielders, along with a few Boston hits.

A team like the Dodgers could never work so well together.

What other team (even the Mets) had a pitcher who lost sixteen games in a row? (He lost some heart-breaking one run decisions 9-8, 11-10 and so forth). What other team had a third baseman who made four errors in one inning?

The Senators are the first team in several years trying to lose 100 or more games for three years in a row. I think that it is shameful that you do not include them at the bottom of the major league standings — at the very, very bottom. They are a truly exceptional team.

To the Editor:
 Scene: Quad dining room, with SUI coaches convening for coffee. As we enter, we hear football coach Jerry Burns speaking:

"If I just had a quarterback who could throw that ball, I'd be able to win a few," said Jerry airily.

"My compassion for you, Burnsy, but I need a seven foot center," loftily declared Sharm Scheuerman.

"You guys and your troubles. I have a twenty-four foot jumper coming next fall, but no vaulter," broke in Cretz, a broad grin accompanied by both a lofty and airy manner.

When McCuskey, fresh cigar in hand, joined the group, he offered a light by Dick Holzzapfel. Dave expected some practical joke, so he decided not to fall for any of the tricks and selected his own matches. Dick kidded him about his reticence, remarking that he hadn't uncovered any good prospects for next year.

"I haven't either," Don Klotz interjected, "but I do have some lovely tennis players coming up," he added, his mouth set in firm lines.

Just then Jim White arrived at the table. "Has anyone seen Evy," he asked woefully.

"Yes, I have," Schultzie answered. "He went over to talk to Otts and the ball players," Dick finished without batting an eye.

"That's quite a flowery speech for you, Dick," said Hilgenberg, as the coaches rose to go to the fieldhouse for their annual spring meeting.

(I hope I am early enough to get credit for being the first one to try to stop the game, Tom Swiftly.)

The Headlines Aren't All Bad

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Nobody ever said the decade of the '60s was going to be soft or tranquil. Nobody ever said there would not be long and anxious periods, even national nightmares, caused by a Birmingham, a Laos, a Berlin, or even the bearded one in Havana and Moscow.

But it is not a sign of weakness or wishful thinking to report that everything is not going to pot, that when as a nation we take something in our hand it does not automatically crumble in our grip, that, indeed, there is good news along with the bad.

Some people think that too many newspapers give prominence only to conflict and gloom. But in the span of two days of papers this past week, unexpectedly welcome developments hit the eye — front-page, back-page, and in the middle — almost a gusher of good news prominently displayed.

Here are the headlines, and when you put them together the sum is even greater than the total of the separate parts:

TRADE — "U.S. and Common Market Agree on Tariff Cutting." (Stalemate predicted; stalemate averted. Useful negotiations go forward in good climate.)

DEFENSE — "NATO Gives West Europe Bigger A-Defense Role." (French objections were expected; no French objections were raised. This action represents a modest but meaningful beginning toward a European nuclear capability usable by the Europeans for the defense of Europe.)

CASTRO — "Cuban Exiles Form Anti-Castro Organization." (New unity is achieved in the Cuban exile groups. More than 150 refugee leaders agree on the membership of a Cuban Committee of Liberation to combat Castro and win freedom for their country.)

JUSTICE — "Court Upsets Sit-In Convictions." (The Supreme Court unanimously reverses the convictions of demonstrators in Greenville, S.C., Durham, N.C., New Orleans, La., Birmingham, Ala., and Savannah, Ga. on the ground that state power was used unconstitutionally to enforce segregation.)

LIBERATION — "Viet Nam Troops Force Back Communist Guerrillas." (The battle for the safety and survival of Viet Nam's anti-Communist government is looking up.)

RECORDS — "President's Jet Sets Record Flying Non-Stop to Moscow." (U.S. Air Force plane makes the 5,094-mile trip, Washington to Moscow, in 8 hours, 32 minutes and 42 seconds — fastest flight yet — burying another Soviet myth that there was no American plane that could fly such a span non-stop. It broke 14 other records en route.)

COLD WAR — "U.S.-Soviets Agree on Atoms for Peace." (U.S. and U.S.S.R. signed two-year agreement to exchange scientists and information to harness atom for peaceful purposes.)

And then there was Maj. "Gordo" Cooper, who in Washington, New York and Houston stirred the pride and admiration of the nation for his almost flawless 22-orbit achievement in space.

In themselves these events are not going to guarantee a tranquil or a peaceful world. But they are the stuff out of which progress is being made.

It is, of course, most understandable that the pressures of the cold war, the anxieties of an uncertain peace, the strain of achieving racial justice should at times seem burdensome and frustrating. Instead of holding to the idea that we are living in the worst of all possible worlds, I venture the personal conviction that we are living in one of the most privileged periods of all human history when by our own stamina and resolution as a people and as a nation we can shape the conflicting forces loose in today's world.

I believe we need never fear the future when we are willing to face the present.

Blonde, Beautiful—and Smart

By JOHN CROSBY

CANNES, France — The movie starlet has an international face. Like the international movie producer, she transcends national boundaries. Hair blonde — the color of dumbness. Eyes covered with dark glasses — the color of mystery. Mouth O-shaped — the international symbol of invitation.

The other day, I was lying on the sands at eight in the morning.

Had the beach to myself. Except for one gorgeous thing in a bikini.

Beautiful morsel with marvelous muscles in the most interesting places. I asked her her name, thinking to myself I will get some nice dumb blonde quotes. They're very readable — dumb blonde quotes. Her name was Taine Berlyll.

Dumb? She's 21 years old, has been in movies three years, and speaks four languages — German, French, English, and Italian.

Dumb, eh? I thought to myself: Crosby, you haven't even mastered English yet. She moved like a panther and I asked her if she was a dancer.

"I'm a classical ballerina. In fact, I have a job with the Paris Opera next winter. I'd love to go to America and work with Balanchine."

"Or Jerome Robbins. He is a true genius, Mr. Robbins," she said simply. "He's learned how to say things to people, a whole new language of movement. You can't say anything anymore with classical ballet. I saw Mr. Robbins's 'Ballet, U.S.A.' in Paris.

Dumb?

Just as a shot in the dark, I thought I'd ask her about politics. What did she think of Adenauer. An exasperated moue: "He outlived his usefulness and his ideas a long time ago. But Germans like assurance. They see things are going all right for 10 years, they think they will go all right for another 10 years. Germans get used so easily."

I asked her if she were interviewed as well as photographed at film festivals. She shook her head, laughing: "In France, the people prefer to see a bikini and what is in it than a head and what is in it."

Very nice girl. Very bright, too. If Jerome Robbins is looking for a stunningly beautiful blonde, with Mediterranean blue eyes, who moves like a panther, is trained in modern and classical ballet, speaks four languages, and harbors liberal opinions, I know one.

— Advice from an Old Hand —

How To Beat the Test

By STEPHEN LEACOCK

Sir: You are kind enough to refer to certain of my writings in regard to the difficulties and fallacies of written examinations. You ask me if there is any way — if I have your phrase right — to "get by." I think there is.

Every student should train himself to be like the conjurer Houdini. Tie him as you would, lock in as you might, he got loose. A student should acquire this looseness.

For the rudiments of education, there is no way around. The multiplication table has got to be learned. They say Abraham Lincoln knew it all. So, too, the parts of speech must be committed to memory, and left there. The names of the Wessex Kings from Alfred (better Aelfydd) to his Danish successor Half-Knut should be learned and carefully distinguished from the branches of the Amazon.

But these rudiments once passed, education gets easier and easier as it goes on. When one reaches the stage of being what is called a ripe scholar, it is so easy as to verge on imbecility.

Now for college examinations, once the student is let into college, there are a great number of methods of evasion. Much can always be done by sheer illegibility of handwriting and by smearing ink all over the exam paper and then crumpling it up into a ball.

But apart from this, each academic subject can be fought on its own ground. Let me give one or two examples.

Here, first, is the case of Latin translation — the list of extracts from Caesar, Cicero, etc., the origin of each always indicated by having the word Caesar, etc., under it. On this we seize as our opportunity. The student doesn't need to know one word of Latin. He learns by heart a piece of translated Caesar, selecting a typical extract, and he writes that down. The examiner merely sees a faultless piece of translation and notices nothing — or at least thinks that the candidate was given the wrong extract. He lets him pass.

Here is the piece of Caesar as required: "These things being thus this way, Caesar although not yet did he not know neither the copiousness of the enemy nor whether they had frumentum, having sent on Labienus with an impediment he himself on the first day before the third day, ambassadors having been sent to Verrecingetorix, lest who might which, all having done, set out."

Cicero also is easily distinguished by the cold, biting logic of his invective. Try this: "How now which, what on Catiline, infected, inflected, disinflected, shall you still perfrage us?"

To what bonds, to what vinculation, to how great a hyphen? I speak. Does he? No.

Cicero. In (and through) Catiline.

The summation of what is called the liberal arts course is reached with such subjects as political theory, philosophy, etc. Here the air is rarer and clearer and vision easy. There is no trouble at all in circling around the examiner at will. The best advice is found in the use of quotations from learned authors of whom he has perhaps — indeed, very likely — never heard, and the use of languages which he either doesn't know or can't read in blurred writing. We take for granted that the examiner is a conceited, pedantic man, as they all are — and is in a hurry to finish his work and get back to a saloon.

Now let me illustrate. Here is a question from the last Princeton examination in Modern Philosophy. I think it correct or nearly so.

"Discuss Descartes' proposition, 'cogito ergo sum,' as a valid basis of epistemology."

Answer: "Something of the apparent originality of Descartes' dictum, 'cogito ergo sum,' disappears when we recall that long before him Globulus has written 'Testudo ergo crepilo,' and the great Arab scholar, Alhalloher, writing about 200 Fahrenheit, has said, 'indigo ergo gum.' But we have only to turn to Descartes' own brilliant contemporary, the Abbe Pate de Foie Gras, to find him writing 'Dimanche, lundi, mardi, mercredi, jeudi, vendredi, samedi,' which means as much, or more, than Descartes' assertion. It is quite likely that the Abbe was himself acquainted with the words of Pretzel, Wiener Schnitzel and Schmierkase; even more likely still he knew the treatise of the low German, Fisch von Gestern, who had already set together a definite system or scheme. He writes: 'Wo ist mein Bruder? Er ist in dem Hause. Have ich den Vogel gesehen? Dies ist ein gutes Messer. Holen Sie Karl und Fritz und wir werden alle ins Theater gehen. Danke Bestens!'"

There, one can see how easy it is. I know it from my own experience. I remember in my fourth year in Toronto (1891) going into the exam room and picking up a paper which I carelessly took for English philology; I wrote on it, passed on it and was pleasantly surprised two weeks later when they gave me a degree in Ethnology. I had answered the wrong paper. This story, oddly enough, is true.

Costs Too High —

Physical Plant Criticized

By JOE LIPPINCOTT
Staff Writer

More than 100 men labor daily to maintain the permanent structures and fixtures in and on the SUI campus. These are the men of the Physical Plant. Every day they labor, they cost departments of the University money — too much money in the opinion of some department heads.

The Physical Plant exists because of University insurance commitments and for emergencies, although its primary purpose is maintenance.

One of the main complaints voiced by department heads about the Physical Plant is lack of competitive bidding on jobs. According to Fred Moore, assistant superintendent, there is no truth in this accusation. "Outside firms can do jobs the Physical Plant is equipped to do if their estimate is lower," Moore said.

If the job concerns electrical wiring or plumbing, Moore said, "we want something to say about the work being done to prevent a mediocre job." He said specifications are needed for competitive bids, and these cost time and money. By going through the Physical Plant, the middle step can be eliminated. He added, "We try to make an honest estimate."

Moore said the Physical Plant is interested in all jobs done on permanent structures or fixtures by outside firms because his department is responsible for maintaining the work and making necessary repairs. "We want everything to be in A-1 condition," he said.

When a job requiring Physical Plant labor occurs, a department sends a requisition to the Physical Plant office. According to Moore, departments can get "what we feel is an honest estimate." The job is charged on an hourly rate which is determined by the Physical Plant superintendent and the University business manager.

They arrive at the hourly rate by taking the base wage of the employe and adding non-chargeable time (vacation, sick leave, and holidays) and expendable items such as small tools. The hourly rate varies with the job, but no employe of the Physical Plant, with the exception of supervisory personnel, is paid more than $2.70 an hour. Charges for the work, however, sometimes exceed $4.50 an hour. The excess pays the salaries of supervisors, timekeepers, and secretaries.

Although all electricians, plumbers, carpenters, and laborers aren't paid the same wage, they earn the same rate per hour for their respective tasks. In other words, a journeyman costs the same as an experienced employe, although the experienced man's hourly wage rate is somewhat higher. For example, men who move and set up equipment are paid $1.90 an hour, but they cost whatever department they are working for $3.25 an hour, when the charges are billed.

Another facet in the cost of a job done by the Physical Plant is hidden expenses. On parts and supplies, the department for which the job was done is billed for the actual cost of the items plus a two per cent business office charge for processing bills and a 15 per cent charge, according to Moore, for stocking and handling the parts in the University General Stores.

Many departments were willing to provide examples of what they considered excessive charges by the Physical Plant. Other departments were unwilling to disclose information, while still others commended the Physical Plant for charging such reasonable rates.

Two examples that stand out as being excessive are the installation of a buzzer and the installation of an electrical outlet extension.

Last October, a two-way buzzer, similar to an ordinary doorbell, was installed in the Communications Center. The buzzer is designed to notify darkroom personnel of phone calls. It runs about 20 feet from an office into a darkroom. Although Moore said he "can't find any mistake," the job cost $67.73, almost twice the outright purchase price of a telephone.

Parts for the buzzer system actually cost $11.77, but with added University handling and billing charges they totaled $13.78. More important, according to the bill, the labor cost $49.00. Two men worked 12 hours at an hourly wage of $4.15. On top of that, the job cost an extra $4.15 for a truck driver to taxi the electrician and his helper from the Physical Plant office to the Communications Center and back.

On the extension outlet job, completed last December, the department for which the work was done received a bill for $112.39. The extension runs from the middle of the room to the wall, a distance of less than 20 feet. Two outlet plugs were installed on the wire.

In the billing, another job was added to the extension bill to make a total of $112.39. The extension work actually cost $45.99. Upon investigating the $122.39 figure, Moore discovered the $66.40 error and said it would be corrected.

Moore stressed that departments with complaints should notify the Physical Plant immediately upon receipt of their bills, while the records are readily obtainable, so mistakes, if any, can be corrected.

According to the assistant superintendent, any profits over expenses from Physical Plant work are used to purchase equipment that depreciates, such as vehicles and power tools.

A change of superintendents and a change of headquarters of the Physical Plant will occur this summer. Superintendent R. J. Phillips is retiring July 1. He will be succeeded by Duane Nollisch who has been an engineer at the University power plant. Sometime in June, Physical Plant headquarters will be moved from Old Dental Building to the corner of Burlington and Madison Streets.

Hughes Would Have Capital Items Ignored

DES MOINES (AP) — Governor Harold Hughes said Tuesday he thinks administrative departments should ignore provisions of bills requiring Legislative Interim Committee approval of capital improvements expenditures.

The legislature, as has been its practice for several sessions, wrote into capital improvements appropriations bills a requirement that various departments must submit plans and specifications to the Interim Committee for approval before spending the money.

Atty. Gen. Evan Hultman has issued an opinion saying this is an unconstitutional delegation of power by the legislature to a committee. The legislature, however, insisted on leaving the provision in the capital appropriations bills, despite efforts by Rep. John Ely, (De-Cedar Rapids) to remove it.

Hughes said he isn't familiar with the attorney general's opinion except for what he read about it in news accounts. But he added:

"I understand he (Hultman) said it was unconstitutional. I don't know what the various department heads are going to do, but if I were in their position I would be inclined to ignore that provision of the capital appropriations bills."

Hughes said he has asked his office staff to obtain a copy of Hultman's opinion for analysis.

Thursday Marks Opening Of City Swimming Pool

Memorial Day, Thursday, marks the opening of Iowa City's municipal swimming pool for 1963. It will be open from 1 p.m. until 9:30 p.m. daily until Labor Day.

Improvements made since last season include a new concrete walk on the west side of the pool and joints re-caulked with pool joint sealer. The pool has been freshly painted.

Single admission prices are 25 cents for children through high school and 40 cents for adults. Wednesday is "family day" with a 20-cent admission charged for all.

A family season ticket can be purchased for $15, entitling each member of the family admission daily. There are also 20-swim tickets available at $4 for children and $8 for adults.

Filling of the pool with 750,000 gallons of water began Tuesday.

Medical College Gets 5 Year, $159,030 Grant

A five-year, $159,030 grant from the National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases will be used to support a training program in gastroenterology (study of the stomach and intestine and their diseases) at the SUI College of Medicine.

One of the few gastroenterology programs in the nation to emphasize preparation of physicians for careers in academic medicine, the training program is under the direction of James A. Clifton, associate professor of internal medicine and head of the SUI Division of Gastroenterology, and Harold P. Schedl, research associate professor of internal medicine.

The grant provides for $30,834 for each of the first two years and $32,454 for the three succeeding years. The funds will be used to pay the salaries of three trainees each year, to support in part their research projects, and to finance their study programs. Each will spend two years in training.

In addition to Clifton and Schedl, the program staff includes Kenneth A. Hubel, associate in internal medicine and C. Adrian M. Hogen, professor and head of the SUI Department of Physiology.

Lee, Wiland Lead Iowa; Most Wins Since 1942

Rich Lee, Iowa's first baseman, led the Big Ten runners-up in hitting with a .306 average according to statistics released Tuesday. Lee got 30 hits in 98 times at bat and drove in 16 runs.

Catcher Jim Freese was the leader in RBI's with 22 and had the second highest batting average, .294. He was followed by Jay Petersen batting .289, Joe Reddington .285, Ron Isler .271, Matt Szykowny .269, Bob Sherman .254 and Paul Krause .224.

Sherman hit the most home runs, three, all away from home. Two of his homers were hit in the clutch double-header with Wisconsin a week before the season's end. Szykowny, Krause and Freese each hit two round-trippers during the season.

Mile Relay Team Runs in DM Saturday

Iowa's mile relay team, holders of the fastest time ever-recorded in the Big Ten, will compete in the Iowa Track and Field Federation meet in Des Moines Saturday.

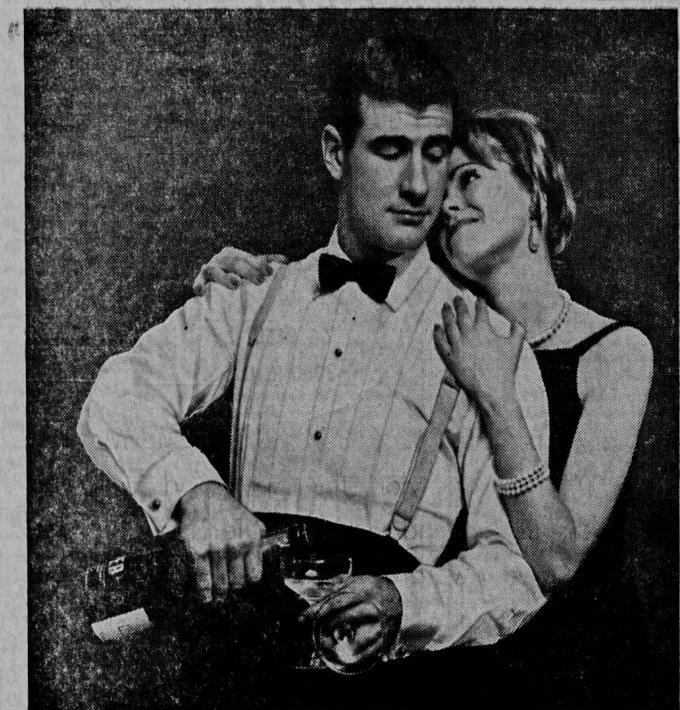

Made up of Gary Hollingsworth, Gary Richards, Bill Frazier, and Roger Kerr, the relay team is preparing for the upcoming Central Collegiate Championships to be held at South Bend, Ind., June 8.

"Roger Kerr and Bill Frazier might run the half mile at the Federation meet," said coach Francis X. Cretzmeier, "but I'm not sure."

The National Collegiate Meet, slated for June 13-15 at Albuquerque, N. M., does not have a mile relay so Iowa's runners will be split up to participate in individual events.

Does a man really take unfair advantage of women when he uses Mennen Skin Bracer?

All depends on why he uses it. Most men simply think Menthol-Iced Skin Bracer is the best after-shave lotion around. Because it cools rather than burns. Because it helps heal shaving nicks and scrapes. Because it helps prevent blemishes.

So who can blame them if Bracer's crisp, long-lasting aroma just happens to affect women so remarkably?

Of course, some men may use Mennen Skin Bracer because of this effect.

How intelligent!

Indianapolis Features New British Car

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Racing car buffs are enraptured by the various sounds exploding from exhaust pipes.

They make tape recordings of them. They think there's nothing like spending a cozy night at home listening to the snarl of an accelerating Offy or the ear-drum splitting howl of a 700-horsepower Novi.

Now there is a new noise at the Indianapolis Speedway that really has them shaken. It's the crazy-like shriek of the revving Lotus Ford.

This little hybrid that looks like a cigar in a wrapping of wheels became the darling of many fans during qualifying runs for the "500".

The British car with a very modified American passenger engine appeals to the average guy several ways. For instance, the exotic fuels the others use would just make it cough. Pump gasoline is its drink, and powder. And four twin-choke Italian Weber carburetors down it.

Its engine, mounted in the rear, is an aluminum block, pushrod V8 that churns 376 hp at 7,200 rpm's. This windup is what emits that swoon song from its twin exhaust loud speakers.

While your car takes four or five quarts of oil, the tank on this baby carries 4.8 gallons. Its gasoline capacity is 50 gallons.

But despite this load, it weighs far less than a ton of coal — 1,130 pounds.

Two qualified high for the "500" under lead-foot rides by Grand Prix drivers Dan Gurney and Jim Clark. Clark won a second row position with a 10-mile average speed of 149.750.

The 6-foot-2 Gurney — who looks as if he wears the 50.5-inch high machine when he is shoe-horned into the cockpit — made the fourth row with 149.019.

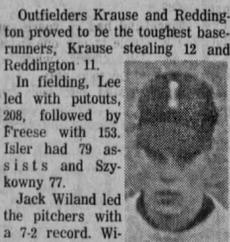

The Lotus Fords are well-regarded challengers for the brutish, four-cylinder Offys which have won the "500" the last 16 years.

The main thing is if they can hang together for the grueling 200 laps.

Colin Chapman is among those who think they will. The dapper 36-year-old engineer turned a youthful craze for fast cars into his 180-man Lotus engineering works.

BOYERS RANKS FIFTH
NEW YORK (AP) — The Boyer brothers, Ken of the Cardinals and Cleve of the Yankees, rank fifth in their respective leagues among the batting leaders. Kenny, at .331, is hitting four points more than his kid brother.

"For me it's great," said Cleve, for Kenny, it's probably a so-so year."

Outfielders Krause and Reddington proved to be the toughest baserunners, Krause stealing 12 and Reddington 11.

In fielding, Lee led with putouts, 208, followed by Freese with 153. Isler had 79 assists and Szykowny 77.

Jack Wiland led the pitchers with a 7-2 record. Wiland pitched 73 innings, almost twice as many as any other Hawk pitcher, and finished with an ERA of 3.20. Jim McAndrew finished 4-0, winning three conference games in relief, and had the lowest ERA, 2.33.

Iowa's nine conference wins were the most since 1942, and the second place finish with the best since the Hawks shared the title in 1949. Iowa played all scheduled home games, 18, the first time no games have been rained out at home. Only one game was rained out during the season, the second game of a double-header with Michigan State at East Lansing, but this may have cost Iowa a tie for the crown since champion Illinois had a 10-5 record and Iowa finished 9-5, one game back.

Putt Gives Player Tie with Nicklaus

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — National PGA champion Gary Player sank a 15-foot pressure putt on the 18th green Tuesday to tie National Open champion Jack Nicklaus in their match headlining National Golf Day.

Player was fighting from behind all day. He sank a 30-foot putt to pull even with Nicklaus on the first nine holes as each came in with a 1-under-par 35.

Then Player had to come from behind with the pressure putt on 18 to gain a deadlock with Nicklaus.

Each had a 3-under-par 68 over the 7,037-yard DAC Country Club Course, which will be the scene of the National PGA July 18-21.

A crowd of 3,000 turned out to watch Nicklaus and Player perform.

Trouble Mounts Again in Sports Rift

MacArthur Asked by AAU President To Settle Dispute

NEW YORK (AP) — Gen. MacArthur has been called back into the sports war between the AAU and the college-backed U.S. Track Federation.

AAU President Louis J. Fisher, president of the AAU, said Tuesday he has written the general that the college group has shown a lack of spirit of fair play and is confusing athletes.

MacArthur, at the request of President Kennedy, recently patched an agreement between the AAU, which has long controlled amateur sports in this country, and the college federation.

Fisher said the federation, which is sponsored by the NCAA, had continued to advise its college members to withdraw from the AAU and refuse to lend facilities to AAU meets.

The AAU president also charged "a paid employee of the NCAA sabotaged a proposed track and field meet in San Jose, Calif."

Fisher said the employee, whom he refused to identify, had demanded the meet get college sanction. It was to be held at a San Jose high school.

A spokesman for Gen. MacArthur said the general was not immediately available for comment.

MacArthur brought the two sides together at a meeting here and ruled that the federation would control college track and the AAU would continue control over open competition. He also said he would arbitrate any dispute between the two groups.

The makeup of the American team which will tour Russia in July and the 1964 Olympic team are threatened by the dispute.

Some colleges have interpreted NCAA instructions as telling them to keep their athletes out of the AAU national championships at St. Louis June 21-22.

The team for Russia will be picked there.

Manhattan, an eastern track power, has already decided to compete in the AAU nationals. Ken Norton, Manhattan athletic director, said the situation was so confused he intended to go along as he had in the past and allow his athletes to run.

An AAU source here, asked if the organization wanted a further ruling from MacArthur or a new hearing, said:

"All we want is the athletes to feel free to compete this summer without fear of reprisal from either side."

Mets' Hunt, Indians' Davalillo Top Rookie of Year Picks

NEW YORK (AP) — Second baseman Ron Hunt of the New York Mets and center fielder Vic Davalillo of the Cleveland Indians probably would win hands down if the 1963 Rookie of the Year poll were to be taken now.

Each is a standout in his league. Davalillo, the fleet-footed Venezuelan, who is only slightly taller and weighs no more than Albie Pearson, the major's shortest player, stands heads and shoulders above the rest of the rookies in the American League.

Hunt, the young St. Louisian who has an allergy for each one of his 22 years, has more competition in the National League. Pressing him close for top honors is Ray Culp, the 21-year-old pitcher who finally is beginning to pay dividends in the $100,000 investment made by the Philadelphia Phillies three years ago.

Those with the best chance of overtaking Davalillo are Bill Freehan, Detroit's $100,000 bonus catcher; Pete Ward, Chicago White Sox third baseman; Dave Morehead, Boston's 19-year-old right-hander; and Max Alvis, third base team-mate of Davalillo.

Hunt has been the Mets' most solid player all season. The scrappy infielder did not officially become a Met until the middle of this month when the Mets handed over the balance of the $50,000 due to the Milwaukee Braves to close out the optional purchase.

Through games of Monday, May 27, Hunt was the leading Met hitter at .290, with three home runs and 13 runs batted in. At Austin last year, Hunt batted .309 and was voted on the Texas League's all-star team.

The 23-year-old Davalillo is batting .293 with the Indians. He leads the club in hits (46) and runs scored (22) and is tied for second in doubles (7) and runs batted in (16). He is a fine defensive player with a strong, accurate arm.

Culp, a 6-foot, 200-pound right-hander, began the season in the bullpen and worked his way into the starting rotation. He hurled a three-hit shutout against Cincinnati, striking out 12, in his last start to boost his season record to five victories against three defeats.

Iron Peg May Make History

EPSOM, England (AP) — American owned and Kentucky bred Iron Peg will try for an upset victory Wednesday in the 184th English Derby over the rolling downs of Epsom and if he pulls it off it will make horse racing history.

Iron Peg is owned by Capt. Harry F. Guggenheim of New York, who took the 1953 Kentucky Derby with Dark Star in the upset of Native Dancer. Iron Peg is a son of Dark Star.

No owner has won both the American and English Derbies, and Iron Peg is a longshot at odds of better than 30-1.

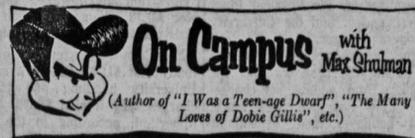

He is one of five American-owned colts in the field of 26 expected to start in the 1 1/2-mile classic for 3-year-olds.

At one time Iron Peg was favorite for the race, but his odds rocketed after failing in his only two starts this season. He did not run as a 2-year-old.

Failure of so many fancied colts in pre-Derby races has sent the British on their biggest betting spree in 10 years.

"It's the biggest betting Derby since Pinza won 10 years ago," said William Hill, prominent British bookmaker.

The American colt given the best chance of success is Corpora, owned by Robin Scully, interna-

TILL WE MEET AGAIN

With today's installment I complete my ninth year of writing columns in your college newspaper for the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes. In view of the occasion, I hope I may be forgiven if I get a little misty.

These nine years have passed like nine minutes. In fact, I would not believe that so much time has gone by except that I have my wife nearby as a handy reference. When I started columning for Marlboro's, she was a slip of a girl—supple as a reed and fair as the sunrise. Today she is gnarled, lumpy, and given to biting the postman. Still, I count myself lucky. Most of my friends who were married at the same time have wives who chase cars all day. I myself have never had this trouble and I attribute my good fortune to the fact that I have never struck my wife with my hand. I have always used a folded newspaper—even throughout the prolonged newspaper strike in New York. During this period I had the airmail edition of the Manchester Guardian flown in daily from England. I must confess, however, that it was not entirely satisfactory. The airmail edition of the Guardian is printed on paper so light and flimsy that it makes little or no impression when one slaps one's wife. Mine, in fact, thought it was some kind of game, and tore several pairs of my trousers.

But I digress. I was saying what a pleasure it has been to write this column for the last nine years for the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes—a fine group of men, as anyone who has sampled their wares would suspect. They are as mellow as the aged tobaccos they blend. They are as pure as the white cellulose filter they have devised. They are loyal, true, companionable, and constant, and I have never for an instant wavered in my belief that some day they will pay me for these last nine years.

But working for the makers of Marlboro has not been the greatest of my pleasures over the last nine years. The chief satisfaction has been writing for you—the college population of America. It is a rare and lucky columnist who can find an audience so full of intelligence and verve. I would like very much to show my appreciation by asking you all over to my house for tea and oatmeal cookies, but there is no telling how many of you my wife would bite.

For many of you this is the last year of college. This is especially true for seniors. To those I extend my heartfelt wishes that you will find the world outside a happy valley. To juniors I extend my heartfelt wishes that you will become seniors. To sophomores I extend my heartfelt wishes that you will become juniors. To freshmen I extend my heartfelt wishes that you will become sophomores. To those of you going on into graduate school I extend my heartfelt wishes that you will marry money.

To all of you let me say one thing: during the year I have been frivolous and funny during the past year—possibly less often than I have imagined—but the time has now come for some serious talk. Whatever your status, whatever your plans, I hope that success will attend your ventures.

Stay happy. Stay loose.

Homers Help Red Sox: 11-6

Errors Hurt Pirates in 5-1 Loss to Philly

Hot Twins Win Eighth Straight

BOSTON (AP)—Gary Geiger and Lou Clinton hit two-run home runs and Ed Bressoud drove in three runs Tuesday night as Boston outslugged the New York Yankees for an 11-6 victory.

The Red Sox collected 15 hits off Yankee pitchers in spilling the start of a long New York road trip.

Boston put the decision safely in right-hander Bill Monbouquette's pocket with four runs in the sixth after the Yankees had come back from a 7-1 deficit to trail 7-5.

Bressoud singled in two runs in Boston's four-run second inning and tripled home a run in the three-run third. He also had a single to start a four-run assault on reliever Luis Arroyo in the sixth.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Johnny Callison's opposite field home run and Tony Gonzalez's similar triple powered Philadelphia to a 5-1 victory over shoddy fielding Pittsburgh Tuesday night.

First baseman Donn Clendenon's second error of the game, and the Pirates' third, paved the way for three unearned runs off Friend in the fifth.

Gonzalez tripled off the scoreboard, scoring the first two. Wes Covington then singled home Gonzalez.

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)—Bob Allison's three-run homer in the last of the ninth inning gave the surging Minnesota Twins their eighth straight victory, 6-3, over Washington Tuesday night.

Allison, breaking out of a slump, smashed his 11th homer just fair to left field in two out. Allison had gone 0-for-15 before powering the Ron Kline fastball with Lenny Green and Vic Power aboard. Green doubled and Power walked to set up Allison's clincher.

Twins southpaw Jim Kaat sailed into the ninth inning with a 3-0, three-hit shutout. It didn't last long. Minnie Minoso tagged Kaat for his third hit and second double of the game in leading off. Chuck Cotter then singled Minoso home, and Don Lock tied the game with a long home run to left.

Kaat finished the frame, however, to get the victory and even his record at 4-4. He struck out 11.

Cardinals Win 8-7, Goss Has 6 RBI's

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Curt Flood's run-producing double in the 10th inning gave the St. Louis Cardinals an uphill 8-7 victory over Houston Tuesday night despite six runs batted in by the Colts' Howie Goss.

The Cards tied it with four runs in the seventh inning, then finally knocked off the Colts in the 10th on a single by Gene Oliver, a bunt single by Charley James and Flood's key double to right field.

Flood's game-winning blow, off Ken Johnson, was the Cardinals' 18th of the game, their high for the season.

Goss, the Colt center fielder who went into the game hitting only .235, drove in six runs on two homers and a triple.

The Cardinals tied the game at 7-7 in the eighth on a four-run uprising after pinch-hitter James led off with a single. Flood doubled and Bill White, Dick Groat and Ken Boyer singled. Leo Burke hitting for George Altman, doubled to the center field wall.

Orioles Win Ninth in Row

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A three-run homer by Al Smith and strong pitching by Robin Roberts carried the American League-leading Baltimore Orioles to their ninth straight triumph Tuesday night as they defeated the Kansas City Athletics 4-2.

The victory, Baltimore's 14th in the last 15 games, increased the Orioles lead over second-place New York to 3½ games. The Yankees lost to Boston 11-6.

The Orioles scored four times in the fifth inning against Ted Bowsfield. Luis Aparicio doubled home the first run and Smith wrapped up with his homer after Jerry Adair beat out a hit.

Koufax Shuts Out Braves in 7-0 Win

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Los Angeles southpaw Sandy Koufax fired his fourth shutout of the season Tuesday night, a six-hitter, and beat the Milwaukee Braves 7-0 with the aid of Frank Howard's seventh-inning homer and a six-run burst in the ninth.

Koufax struck out eight and walked two in posting his seventh victory against two defeats and lowering his earned run average to 1.52.

Howard broke up a left-handed pitching duel between Koufax and Milwaukee's Denny Lemaster with his ninth homer. Lemaster blanked the Dodgers on three hits and had retired nine batters in a row when Howard teared off on a 3-2 pitch with one out in the seventh.

The blast cleared the wall near the left field foul pole 320 feet from the plate. Milwaukee left fielder Len Gabrielson narrowly missed snaring the ball with a high leap.

Debate on Nuclear Power Will Mean Talks for Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sharp debate between the United States and Britain over formation of a new nuclear force is opening up the possibility of an early meeting between President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Macmillan, who is grappling with domestic political difficulties, has been pressing for a meeting with Kennedy during the President's trip to Europe in June. For various reasons, Kennedy apparently has been reluctant to change his travel plans though he has expected all along to see Macmillan later in the year.

Fastest Field in '500' History Ready for Finals Thursday

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The fastest drivers in 500-mile race history gunned their cars through a rain-delayed final tuneup Tuesday, and a blown engine almost put a twice-bumped pilot back in the Memorial Day lineup.

Pole driver Parnelli Jones of Torrance, Calif., reeled off one lap at 151.1 miles per hour and two at 150 m.p.h. while hard luck befell Bud Tingelstad of Dayton, Ohio. His engine blew during the two-hour carburetion tests in which 27 cars were sent through their paces.

Tingelstad had no spare engine, but was able to buy one from co-owner John Chalik, whose three entries failed to qualify.

If Tingelstad had been unable to make the starting line by 11 a.m. EST, Thursday, it would have enabled 1962 runnerup Len Sutton of Portland, Ore. to get back in the race.

Sutton was bumped twice from the lineup of 33 starters selected in qualifications which ended Sunday.

Jones, who set a four-lap qualifying record at 151.133 m.p.h., pleased car owner J. C. Agajanian. "I'm very happy with the way things went," said Agajanian. "Parnelli was running those hot laps in traffic."

A. J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., the 1961 Speedway champion, was closest to Jones Tuesday with a 150 m.p.h. lap.

The fabulous weather luck of the 500 seems designed to hold for the 47th race. More than 200,000 are expected to watch the grand Thursday for purse money totaling about $450,000. Mild, mostly sunny weather was forecast.

Only in 1915 did the rain cause a postponement. In 1926 rain shortened the race to 400 miles and in 1950 to 345 miles.

Death, which has struck often enough in this grueling showdown of men and machines, really would take no holiday if rain added to the skidding hazards in blazing slams into the turns from the 3,300-foot front and back stretches and the 660-foot straights at the ends of the 2½ mile oval.

Besides a speed record for the fifth straight year, Thursday's race may be the most interesting from a technical viewpoint in speedway history.

The path to victory lane always has hinged on skill in the pits as well as daring on the track. This time, the pilots of the conventional Offenhauser-powered roadsters, including defending champion and two-time winner Roger Ward, may try to gun tradition into the dust.

Last year, Ward — making three well-timed pit stops in his Leader Card Special requiring only 62.6 seconds — won by 11 seconds over runner-up Len Sutton.

Theater TV May Be Used for U.S. Sports Coverage

NEW YORK (AP)—Paramount Pictures announced Tuesday a plan for pay theater television in four Canadian cities of the Toronto Maple Leafs 1963-64 road hockey games. Paramount said the move foreshadowed eventual expansion of pay theater TV of sports events into the United States.

The plan to televise all 35 Maple Leaf road games in nine theaters grew out of an experiment of one Toronto theater last season.

Paramount signed a four-year agreement with the Maple Leafs. The road games will be televised to the theaters at the same time they are being shown to home pay TV subscribers in the Toronto suburbs. Paramount also owns the home service.

Williams, Santo Lead Cubs, 5-2

NEW YORK (AP)—Ron Santo's two-run triple and an inside the park homer by Billy Williams powered the Chicago Cubs to a 5-2 victory over the New York Mets Tuesday night.

Dick Ellsworth, a 23-year-old Cub lefty who entered the game leading the majors in earned run average, picked up his sixth victory against three losses although needing relief help from Lindy McDaniel in the ninth.

Santo's first-inning triple off the left field wall drove in Ken Hubbs and Williams, on base with singles. Santo scored the third run of the inning on Ernie Bank's long sacrifice fly.

Williams' booming drive to deep right center in the seventh, his third hit, came after a bunt single by Hubbs and accounted for the final two Cub runs against New York's Roger Craig, 2-8.

Giants' Lead Cut, 10-6

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Reds used a three-run triple by Marty Keough and a two-run homer by Frank Robinson Tuesday night to help them to a free-swinging 10-6 victory over the league-leading San Francisco.

IT JUST DOESN'T FIGURE

NEW YORK (AP)—Normally the lightest hitter on a club is expected to be the shortstop. So who are the leading hitters in the American and National Leagues? Shortstops, of course.

Wayne Causey of the Athletics tops the American League with a .356 average and Dick Groat of the Cardinals leads the National with .351.

Miss SUI Tops 1963 Homecoming

By BOB BARON
Staff Writer

Homecoming, although far from the thoughts of most SUlowans, is now of prime concern to members of the Miss SUI Pageant Board.

The 1963 Homecoming celebration is scheduled for October 12, three weeks after the start of classes, which means the Pageant Board will have the selection process for choosing the new Miss SUI planned and organized by the beginning of school.

The board is a student organization, made up of three representatives each from Union Board, Central Party Committee, and Student Senate.

The function of the Pageant Board is to conduct the selection of Miss SUI, which includes supervision of campaigns, the Union presentation, and the actual voting by SUI males.

The board receives equal monetary support from Union Board, Central Party Committee, and the Student Senate, as well as a portion of its budget from the University Homecoming Committee. It also receives money from admission charged at the Union presentation, and in the form of entry fees from competing housing units.

The deadline for 1963 entries will be Sept. 22. This early date is necessary to prepare for the Union presentation on Oct. 5.

The Pageant Board selects judges who are not on the faculty, but who have had experience judging contests of this nature before.

They are instructed to vote for semi-finalists on a scale that includes intelligence, poise, charm.

Public Hearings On Paving Plan Set for June 25

Public hearings will be held at 7:30 p.m. June 25 on this year's special assessment paving program. The City Council set the date at a special meeting Tuesday morning. The hearings involve work on parts of 10 streets and one alley.

The city will pay $7,062 and abutting property owners will pay $240,764, according to estimates.

The council awarded the contract for North Dubuque Street improvements to R. B. Burch of Cedar Rapids for $34,979.

Proposals call for widening Muscatine Avenue between First Avenue and Southlawn Drive, and Lower Muscatine Road from Kirkwood Avenue to Sycamore Street. First Avenue will be paved between Court Street and Rochester Avenue.

Paving is also planned on Governor Street between Brown and Dodge Streets; Mott Street and Elizabeth Street between Bloomington Street and Rochester Avenue; Fourth Avenue between A and Court Streets; A Street between Third and Fourth Avenues; Ridge Street between DeForest Avenue and Archer Street; and H Street between First and Sixth Avenues.

An alley between Sheridan and Center Avenues in the block west of Dearborn Street will be paved to improve drainage.

Campus Notes

Library Workshop

"Books, Libraries, Children" is the theme of the twelfth annual Library Workshop for public and school librarians which begins Monday at SUI.

Sponsored by the SUI College of Education and the University Library, the annual workshop is a refresher course for librarians and will concentrate this year on children's stories and books and materials relating to the history of Iowa.

Workshop participants will travel to West Branch for a tour of the Hoover Library.

Research Contract

W. D. Wade, professor of engineering, has been awarded a research contract to study the theoretical aspects of automatic phonocardiography analysis.

The $6,000 one-year contract will permit Wade to continue research begun before joining SUI last fall. Richard W. Kelly, G. Iowa City, will assist Wade in his research.

The research contract was awarded by the Magnavox Co., of Fort Wayne, Ind.

Law Class Reunion

The 1938 Law Class will have a reunion at the University Athletic Club on June 8, starting at 4 p.m. All members of the class and the faculty of the years the class was in school have been invited.

Marketing Conference

Dr. Leonard J. Konopa, acting head of the department of marketing, attended a two-day marketing conference at the Armstrong Cork Company in Lanaster, Pa., May 23 and 24.

More than 150 people, including leading business school deans and professors of economics and business administration from some 50 colleges and universities in the U.S. and Canada, attended the conference.

Mrs. Bulgren Awarded

Mrs. Janis Bulgren, A4, Anamosa, has been awarded the $1,500 Sanxay Prize for 1963 for her promise of achievement in graduate studies.

She will receive an Honors degree in English at Commencement exercises June 7 and plans to remain at SUI to enroll in graduate study. Mrs. Bulgren, who has a 3.9 grade average, was initiated into Phi Beta Kappa last November. She was awarded a University Merit Scholarship for 1962-63 and holds an Old Gold Honors Scholarship for the current semester.

The Sanxay Prize was established in 1929 with a bequest by Theodore F. Sanxay, New York attorney. Sanxay was not an SUI graduate.

but was a native of Iowa City and practiced law here before going to New York. His father came to Iowa City in 1841 to open one of the community's first general stores.

Foreign Service Work

Applications are now available for the examinations to be given by the State Department and the United States Information Agency for the Foreign Service Officer positions.

Students must apply by July 22 for the September 7 examination. Applications for both men and women can be obtained at the Business and Industrial Placement Office, 107 University Hall.

Young Republicans

Young Republicans will meet tonight at 7 in the Recreation Area Conference Room of the Union.

Howard Elected

Ann Howard, A3, Cresco, has been elected president of the University Choir for its 1963-64 season. Other officers elected include Howard Hensel, A2, Auburn, vice president; Rachel Stock, A3, Early, secretary; and John Bay, A1, Shandoah, treasurer.

Nursing Convocation

Mercy School of Nursing will hold commencement exercises for 20 nursing graduates Sunday afternoon at 2 in St. Mary's Church.

The senior class banquet will be Thursday night at Mercy Hospital. A graduation breakfast will be Sunday morning immediately after a Mass in the hospital chapel.

Stipends Offered For Deaf Training

Graduate fellowships for students in the SUI program to train qualified persons to teach the deaf have been established for 1963-64.

The fellowships of $2,000 plus tuition will be awarded by the U.S. office of education.

The College of Education program is conducted in co-operation with the Iowa School for the Deaf in Council Bluffs, and leads to an M.A. degree at SUI.

Students spend two semesters at the Iowa School for the Deaf and a minimum of one summer session here.

Pharmacy Review

The General University Library will be open its regular hours Memorial Day. Departmental Libraries will post their own hours.

Near Agreement On Test Ban

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said Tuesday he and President Kennedy are on the verge of making an important new approach to Soviet Premier Khrushchev for breaking the nuclear test ban deadlock.

The prime minister told the House of Commons that in the next day or two he and the President hope to complete details of their latest letter to the Soviet leader. This correspondence has been under study in London and Washington.

House Dispute On Feed Grain Awaits Climax

WASHINGTON (AP) — A battle is brewing in Congress over the Agriculture Department's interpretation of money features in newly enacted legislation extending the controversial billion-dollar feed grain program.

The new dispute is expected to come to a climax at a meeting June 3 of the House Appropriations Committee to consider a multibillion-dollar appropriation bill for the department for the coming fiscal year.

The issue centers on an amendment to the Administration's feed grain bill submitted by Rep. Robert H. Michel (R-Ill.). It was designed, he said, to require the department to come to Congress annually to get funds to finance the program for the 1964 and 1965 crop years.

The amendment was adopted by the House and accepted by the Senate.

Heretofore, the feed grain program has been financed from funds of the Commodity Credit Corp., the department's price support agency.

Chandler Evidently Out In Kentucky Primary

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Attorney Edward T. Breathitt Jr., who rose from virtual obscurity in the past year, gained an apparent victory Tuesday night over veteran politician A. B. "Happy" Chandler in the Democratic primary for governor.

With more than a third of the estimated vote counted, Breathitt, with administration endorsement, led the former governor and U.S. senator by some 23,000 votes.

Additional tallies from western Kentucky, on central time and an hour behind the rest of the state, were expected to widen Breathitt's margin.

With 1,166 of 3,005 precincts reporting, Breathitt had 125,601 and Chandler 102,148 votes.

Much of Breathitt's strength came as expected from the Louisville area. Unexpectedly, Breathitt cut into normal Chandler strength in the Bluegrass country, Chandler's home.

Despite heavy rains and electric cal storms in parts of Kentucky, the turnout was heavy, although voting was slowed by long ballots.

Former Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield, Chandler's running mate, was ahead of Atty. Gen. John Breckinridge, an independent Democrat in the race for lieutenant governor. With more than a fourth of the vote counted, Waterfield had 63,176 with Breckinridge 54,794.

The four-way race for the gubernatorial nomination also included former State Auditor Mary Louise Foust of Shelbyville and Wilton Cupp of Covington, independent Democrats.

BRANDT TO VISIT U.S. BERLIN (AP) — Willy Brandt, mayor of West Berlin, is to visit the United States next month, his office announced Tuesday. He will address the Council for Foreign Relations in New York June 10 and the Rotary Club in St. Louis two days later.

Disgruntled State Welfare Official Resigns Early

DES MOINES (AP) — An Iowa state welfare official, voicing criticism of the handling of the Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) program, said Tuesday that she is leaving her $9,000 a year post June 26.

She is Mrs. Eleanor Carris, director of standards and procedures for the State Social Welfare Department.

Mrs. Carris said she originally had intended to step down in September, when she reaches 65, but now has decided to resign earlier. She plans to remain in the welfare field.

Mrs. Carris expressed dissatisfaction with the funds provided by the 1963 Iowa Legislature for ADC and with some aspects of the program.

Mrs. Carris said that in the past few years most of the changes in the ADC program have been "restrictive" rather than honest attempts to help the ADC recipient.

Dentistry Program Granted $34,843

The College of Dentistry has been awarded a $34,843 grant for the 1963-64 academic year to continue a program which trains dental students in utilizing chairside dental assistants.

The grant is part of a five-year project supported by the National Institutes of Health (NIH). Dr. William G. Goodale, head of the Department of Pedodontics, is director of the project, which will continue through the 1965-66 academic year. The SUI college has had such a program since it conducted a pilot study in this area seven years ago under an NIH grant.

The use of a chairside dental assistant in a dental practice is similar to a physician's utilizing a nurse for assistance with his office duties.

HOW OFTEN SHOULD GARMENTS BE DRY CLEANED?

As often as necessary to keep your wardrobe and household items clean, bright and sanitary. With the cost now comparable to laundering, it may now be done on a similar schedule. Dry cleaning not only brightens and cleans, but it also kills all vermin and dangerous bacteria. If anyone in your family has been ill, their garments should be sanitized by dry-cleaning before wearing again to eliminate all contagious germs in the garments.

Graduate Students Run Corporation by Computer

By using electronic computers to condense two years of business and economic activity into a semester, graduate students at SUI have been able to try their hand at running a corporation under simulated business conditions.

The 19 students, all candidates for a master of business administration degree, were assigned an executive office in one of four corporations.

Each of the student corporations started the semester with identical business firms. Each of the corporations was to market an "economy line" product and a "quality" product.

The students, enrolled in the marketing management course taught by Professor James Benson, had to make such decisions as what price they would sell their products, the rate of production, the budget for research and development, whether to declare dividends, split their stock, or reduce or increase their financial indebtedness.

Their decisions were fed into the computers each Monday morning. In about 15 seconds the computers prepared a report for each corporation's share of the market and its financial condition as a result of the students' business decision.

Students spend the rest of the week meeting, evaluating the reports and making new management decisions.

Last week the students reported the operation of their corporations to a "board of directors" composed of Gilbert P. Maynard, head of accounting; Chester A. Morgan, head of labor and management; and Kenneth Uhl and James Benson, professors of marketing.

One result of the training technique, is to provide students an insight into the complexity of management decision making, said Benson.

TWINS FOR JULIE

VAN NUYS, Calif. — Actress-singer Julie London gave birth to identical twin boys at Valley Presbyterian Hospital Tuesday. The first child weighed 4 pounds, 13 ounces, the second 5 pounds, 6 ounces. Names have not yet been decided. The father is musician Bobby Troup.

Prof, Wife Study Spanish For Summer Visit to Peru

Studying foreign language for academic credit is one thing, but for Sam Fahr, professor of law at SU, learning Spanish was almost an occupational hazard.

Professor and Mrs. Fahr have just completed a semester of Spanish composition and conversation at SU, where they entered an advanced class and finished with high marks.

The Fahrs leave Thursday for Peru, and therein lies the reason for their Spanish lessons. Professor Fahr will serve this summer as consultant to the Iowa-Peru Project advisory committee, a small group of SU and ISU personnel who are setting up a pilot agrarian reform plan in Peru. The professor is chairman of the committee of the SU Agricultural Law Center. The Center is involved in the Peru project since much legal work must be done in any well planned land reform.

Although he had some difficulty at first in acquiring a working vocabulary in Spanish, Professor Fahr attributes success in the course to the helpfulness of the instructor, Alonso Benavides, a Peruvian, to the fact that he and his wife were able to practice the language at home, and to his knowledge of French, Latin, and German.

Professor Fahr plans to return to the Spanish classroom here next fall, and in the summer of 1964 he will return to Peru to continue work on the agricultural reform project.

Professor Fahr was determined to learn Spanish before embarking on the Peruvian assignment here.

BAILEY ELECTED

Larry Bailey, A1, Peoria, Ill., has been elected president of Alpha Omega, scouting service fraternity.

Other officers are Larrie Sarff, A2, Logan, vice president; Kerry Alberti, A1, Lake Forest, Ill., secretary; Ed Koe, A2, Phoenix, Ariz., treasurer; Sam Sibley, A4, Sioux City, historian; and Dennis Vokolek, A4, Cedar Rapids, sergeant-at-arms.

cause, "I feel that it is essential, if only as a matter of courtesy, to be able to speak to people of a foreign country in their own language."

Home Study Writing Plan Is Announced

A new home-study Advanced Course in Fiction Writing has been announced jointly by the Writer's Workshop at SU and Britannica Schools division of Encyclopaedia Britannica Press, Inc. in Chicago.

The new Advanced Course in Fiction Writing, intended for those writers who have already learned the fundamentals of their craft and would profit from continuing criticism of work in progress, employs no exercises and no formal assignment of projects, R. V. Cassill, lecturer in the Writer's Workshop, explained.

Course instructors will act as critics and advisers on fiction projects chosen by students, Cassill said. Depending on the individual needs of a student, supplementary readings may be suggested. The $200 tuition provides for analysis of ten manuscript stories (each up to 8,000 words in length) or equivalent sections of a novel.

The new course is the second to offer the "learn-by-doing" approach of the Writer's Workshop in home-study form. An initial, elementary course in Fiction Writing, tuition for which is $150, was announced in February. A third course, Poetry Writing, will be ready in late summer.

Response to Fiction Writing is exceeding the original projection, Gordon G. Dupee, director of Britannica Schools, reported. With enrollment in the initial course approaching 100, the cooperative home-study program of the Writer's Workshop and Britannica Schools is ahead of schedule, Dupee said.

Good Spanish?

Professor Sam Fahr, College of Law, and Mrs. Fahr listen with amusement as they play one of their recorded conversations in Spanish. They took an advanced course in Spanish this semester in preparation for this summer's visit to Peru where Fahr will serve as a consultant to the Iowa-Peru Project Advisory Committee. Instructor Alonso Benavides, looks on.

New Cage Coach City Theatre

WEST POINT, N.Y. — Taylor (Tates) Locke was named head basketball coach at Army Tuesday by Athletic Director Col. Emory E. Adams Jr.

Locke, who was freshman coach last year and a varsity assistant for two years while stationed in the U.S. Army at West Point, succeeds George Hunter, who resigned to enter private business.

Playing Big Daddy in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," has won Thomas Schmunk, G, Iowa City, the best actor award from the Community Theatre.

The best actress award went to Virginia Slaughter for her role as Maggie in the same production.

"Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" won eight out of 11 top honors at the Community Theatre's annual awards banquet Friday night.

Pony-Tail Bandit Says She Wants No Hard Feelings

DAVENPORT — "It takes a lot of nerve to hold someone up," said Vicki Darlene Clark. "I didn't think I had it."

Vicki, 18, is in jail and accused of being the pony-tail bandit who robbed a service station attendant and a pizza delivery man last week.

She was arrested Saturday and charged with robbery with aggravation and carrying a concealed weapon.

"I felt so shaky that I almost couldn't go through that Clark service station deal."

"But once I started I had to go through with it. I hope there are no hard feelings with those I held up. I never intended to do them any harm," she said.

Miss Clark waived preliminary hearing Tuesday before Municipal Judge Philip Steffen. She was bound over to District Court under $21,000 bond. Her lawyer said she would plead innocent when arraigned.

Milton Verle Thomas, 21, arrested with Miss Clark, was convicted on Tuesday to face a parole violation hearing. He was convicted in 1960 of armed robbery.

Des Moines Rally Protests Against Southern Segregation

DES MOINES — About 70 demonstrators and 20 spectators gathered on the west lawn of the Iowa Statehouse late Tuesday afternoon in an inter-racial protest against segregation in the South.

The rally, which centered around the statue of Abraham Lincoln and his son, Tad, lasted about 15 minutes.

Marchers, including entire families, some with babes in arms, and one man on crutches, carried signs reading:

"We Want Rights, Not Bites," "Birmingham Sends Tiny Tots to Jail," "Birmingham Cannot Slow Down Freedom."

Attorney Robert Wright, president of the Des Moines branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, told the gathering:

"We in Des Moines are not devoid of injustice. We have denial of civil rights in housing and in employment. We say to the city fathers, 'We don't wish to demonstrate, but we will demonstrate.'"

Wright said the city's civil rights commission had performed a "dismal task" in the field of racial injustice.

Mrs. J. B. Morris, wife of the editor of The Iowa Bystander, read a letter from Gov. Harold Hughes.

Hughes said he regretted he could not attend the rally because of previous commitments, but added he was in sympathy with those who fight for equal opportunities, equal voting rights and for human dignity for all Americans.

The letter said Hughes hoped problems in Birmingham "will not blind Iowans to the problems of racial discrimination that exist in Iowa."

Rabbi Irving A. Weingart of Des Moines gave the invocation. He asked that the day be hastened when men of all creeds and all colors be allowed the benefits of democracy.

The demonstration was sponsored by the women's committee of the Des Moines branch of the NAACP. The group had sought citywide participation in the rally.

Yes—There Will Be a DI

As has been the custom throughout the years, most Iowa City stores will be closed Thursday, Memorial Day. Iowa City Post Offices also will be closed.

And Iowa City Public Schools will be closed in observance of Memorial Day. Classes will be dismissed at the usual time today and school will convene at the regular time Friday.

BUT THE DAILY IOWAN will be published as usual.

Same Parking Rules

Campus Police reminded SU Iowans that parking lot rules are unaffected during final week and will be enforced.

Police said many parking tickets were issued Tuesday morning and students should be aware that the lots are not "open" during final exam week.

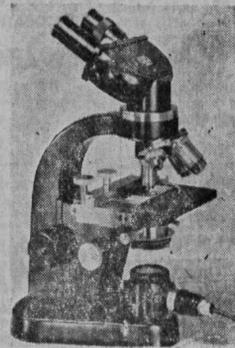

CARRIER SPOTLIGHT

TERRY ANDREWS, one of three young girls who have earned Daily Iowan delivery routes, takes the "Carrier Spotlight" today. Terry, a 15-year-old sophomore at Iowa City High School, shares her route with brother Steve. The sister-brother team is responsible for the daily delivery of nearly 120 papers to residents on Lucas Street east to Summit Street and on Bowers Street north to Burlington Street. Terry says that being a girl makes no difference when it comes to carrying papers, as her almost spotless delivery record shows. An active member of the Senior High Club, Terry also plays on City High's girls' basketball team. Horseback riding and coin and stamp collecting are her favorite hobbies. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Andrews, 1200 E. Washington. Mr. Andrews is an instructor in English and journalism at SU.
