

ON CAMPUS—

RECORDINGS of the University Choir Christmas Concert, including the Bach Cantata 191 and the Mozart Vespers, may be picked up in Room 109 Eastlawn, beginning today.

Old Capitol Trail, 17 miles through historical areas around Iowa City, was to open early today with the cutting of a ribbon on the steps of Old Capitol by President Virgil M. Hancher.

An official Boy Scout hiking trail, the route of Old Capitol Trail includes 15 points of interest ranging from the old stone capitol on the SU campus to a camp site on the Coralville reservoir north of Iowa City where the trail begins.

"AMERICAN TEXTILES", an exhibition of 54 water colors of 18th and 19th century textiles opens today in the main lobby of the SU Library. They will be shown through June 29.

IN THE CITY—

AIRPORT. Iowa City will be able to qualify for federal aid for airport improvements. The Federal Aviation Agency has approved the Iowa City airport master plan, with some changes, the airport commission announced Friday.

McDONALD'S is giving all the proceeds from their hamburger sales Friday to little league baseball. All day Friday they sold hamburgers at the regular price. A slight increase in sales took place.

IN THE STATE—

NASA CONTRACT. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration selected Collins Radio Co., Cedar Rapids, Friday to provide the electronic systems for a huge space-probing antenna to be built near Rosman, N.C.

WORKMAN KILLED. A young Winterset workman was killed late Friday when a support gave way and he was buried under tons of corn and debris in a grain elevator. Volunteers worked frantically to free Keith Davis, 22, but he was dead when they reached him.

IN THE NATION—

SENTENCED. — Kenneth Le May, 32-year-old father of three of Rockford, Ill., was sentenced Friday to 40 to 50 years in prison for murdering his former wife, Leta, two days after their divorce. Le May, an iron worker, blamed the slaying on the absence "of religious background" in his life and excessive drinking.

FOREIGN POLICY. Republican leaders in Congress said they are eager to give nonpartisan support to the Kennedy administration's foreign policy if they can find out exactly what that policy is.

FINALS TROUBLE?—The Army is stepping up its draft call in August to 12,000 presumably to replace men drafted during the 1961 Berlin crisis who will be leaving the service this fall.

IN THE WORLD—

BRITISH TOURISTS. Members of the Honourable Artillery Company, the oldest London regiment, dating back to the 16th century and the days of King Henry VIII, toured the White House on a visit to the capital.

TAX ON TEMPLE. The British House of Lords rejected Thursday an appeal by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints from a court ruling that its temple at New-chapel in Surrey is subject to taxes.

The court had held that the temple did not qualify for the usual church tax exemption because it was not a place of public religious worship.

SHOW OF STRENGTH. Western combat troops begin arriving in Bangkok, Thailand, today for the non-Communist world's biggest show of strength ever staged in Communist-threatened Southeast Asia.

British, Australian and New Zealand troops numbering 1,400 will fly in to Bristol Britannia planes. The United States is sending two battle groups as the core of a 7,000-man force.

NO ARREST. Israeli police say they have no intention of arresting former West German Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss who is here as an official guest of the Israeli government.

A Communist lawyer has demanded arrest of Strauss on war crimes charges.

"The application for his arrest cannot be taken seriously," said a police spokesman Friday. "The complaint does not contain one detail suggesting any evidence of the criminal offense of which Strauss is suspected."

Pope's Condition Is Grave

Mavrias Hearing Continues Today

In a preliminary hearing in Justice Court Friday, five prosecution witnesses said none of them saw Ronald Mavrias set any fires. Nor did they hear him talking about it.

Mavrias is charged with arson and has been accused of setting a fire at the Campus Hotel, 25 E. Washington St., March 22.

THE PRELIMINARY hearing was requested by Mavrias at his arraignment in police court May 7. Mavrias asked, and was given, a change of venue from police court to justice court.

Two friends of Mavrias who were at the scene, a deputy state fire marshal, an Iowa City police officer and the hotel's lessee were called at the hearing. Justice of the Peace Carl J. Goetz presided at the hearing. The hearing, recessed at noon after three hours of testimony, will be resumed this afternoon at 1.

IF GOETZ determines that enough evidence exists to warrant

Local Youth Jailed For 'Disobedience'

A 16-year-old Iowa City boy, David Hamer, was jailed Friday morning by Police Judge Jay Honohan for disobeying a police officer's order. Honohan ordered him held until his appearance in juvenile court.

Police said a gang of about 12 boys congregated at Dubuque and Washington Streets Thursday night. Police ordered them to disperse. All of them did with the one exception. When he refused he was arrested.

Judge Honohan said he was enforcing an ultimatum he ordered last Monday to the effect that boys guilty of congregating and creating nuisances would automatically be jailed.

The youth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo R. Hamer, 1221 Second Ave.

Sub in One Piece But Badly Split

PORTSMOUTH, N. H. — A Navy captain said Friday night underwater pictures and other evidence appear to indicate the sunken nuclear attack submarine Thresher is in one piece with the proper contours intact but badly split in at least one point.

Capt. Frank A. Andrews made the statement soon after the research vessel Robert D. Conrad had arrived in Boston with the pictures the Navy identified as definitely those of the Thresher.

The submarine, with 129 men aboard, sank in 8,400 feet of water some 220 miles at sea during a deep test dive April 10.

Copies of the photographs were rushed to U.S. Atlantic Fleet headquarters, Norfolk, Va.; to Washington, and to the naval court of inquiry sitting at the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard whence the Thresher had sailed.

The Navy also announced the bathyscaphe Trieste, capable of descending far deeper than 8,000 feet, will leave Boston Sunday and should arrive in the search area Thursday to take closeup pictures and inspect the Thresher's remains from close range.

Dr. J. Lamar Worzel, assistant director, Lamont Geological Observatory of Columbia University, said the research crew had taken 1,500 pictures and was "just about in its 11th hour when the pictures identified as those of Thresher were made."

The inquiry court sitting here will view the pictures Saturday.

Also coming here are eight members of a special Thresher design review board convened April 28. It is making a detailed review of Thresher design, system by system, in an effort to determine possible cause of the disaster.

Rusk Cautions West—

Soviet Objective Same Despite Sino Conflict

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk cautioned Friday that the West has no reason to relax because of differences between the Soviet Union and Communist China.

On the contrary, he wrote, the dispute may even have the effect of deepening, rather than moderating the cold war.

Rusk, in an article written for the magazine Nation's Business, said the conflict does not affect the basic Communist objective: The extension of Communist con-rol throughout the world.

He said both the Red Chinese and the Soviets "may feel it necessary or desirable to pursue a more aggressive course."

"We need to be more than ever on guard," Rusk declared.

On the whole, however, Rusk was optimistic in assessing free world strength.

He listed four developments as being to the long-run advantage of the West: the trend toward unity in Western Europe, rejection of communism by new nations, the growing Sino-Soviet conflict and readiness of a growing number of countries to negotiate settlement of problems.

In a broad review of the world situation, Rusk said the "disappointment of British hopes" of joining the Common Market last winter does not change the basic fact that Europe is moving toward unity.

Rusk acknowledged that the United States has to face more problems with its allies than before. That, he said, is the price this country is paying for the success of its postwar policies in Europe.

The problems, Rusk added, range from such matters as U.S. poultry exports to the nuclear armament of NATO.

Peace Treaty Given Okay

BONN, Germany — The West German Parliament gave its final approval Friday to the treaty signed in January by President Charles de Gaulle of France and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. The document seeks to end the centuries-old hostility between the French and Germans.

Approval of the treaty by the Bundestag, the upper house of Parliament, virtually assured that it will go into effect in July.

The treaty commits the two Western European powers to work for similar policies in foreign affairs, defense and other matters. Regular meetings are called for between the chiefs of state, key ministers and military leaders.

The passage represented a great victory for Adenauer, now 87 and due to retire in the fall. Throughout his 14 years as chancellor he has sought French-German reconciliation.

After the brief session, during which no opposition was expressed, Adenauer warmly shook hands with Wilhelm Kaisen, chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee. The committee had recommended the upper house raise no objections to the treaty, enabling it to pass unanimously.

Vatican Holds No Hope For Pontiff

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII, at the threshold of death, astonished his doctors early Saturday by coming out of a coma and speaking in blessing to those around his sickbed.

The pontiff's stout heart waged a stubborn struggle for life. The Vatican, announcing the development, held out no hope for recovery but reported the pontiff's doctors surprised that he could exhibit such vitality.

The Vatican Press Office quoted the Pope as saying: "I am the resurrection and the life. Jesus! Jesus!"

THE POPE, 81, brought to the door of death by peritonitis, which aggravated a condition already weakened by hemorrhaging from an internal stomach growth, came out of the coma after four hours and recognized his three brothers and widowed sister who were in his sickroom for the agonizing vigil. He also recognized prelates around him, a Vatican broadcast said, and blessed all those present.

The Vatican Press Office said he had addressed those in the room by name individually and thanked his doctors.

He also sipped some coffee, the press office said.

THE PRESS OFFICE said the Pope had embraced each brother and to each repeated the Latin words: "Ego sum resurrectio et vita." (I am the resurrection and the life.)

The Vatican Press Office and Radio based their reports on news supplied by Archbishop Angelo Dell'Acqua, Vatican substitute secretary of state who was in the room at the time.

After he gave the news, Archbishop Dell'Acqua celebrated Mass in a room next to the Pope's bedroom.

Others at the Vatican continued to pray, still feeling that death was near.

Vatican Radio itself had said only an hour earlier that doctors confirmed "the slow approach of the inevitable end."

THE POPE'S HEART was still resisting more than 24 hours after his gravest crisis had struck.

A short time earlier the Vatican Radio had said: "Every human hope of a comeback was excluded."

The Vatican Radio indicated the Pope had lapsed back into coma, it said: "On the condition of the Holy Father, there is nothing new regarding its gravity, notwithstanding the very brief regaining of senses which took place about 3 a.m. (8 p.m. CST Friday), allowing him to recognize and bless his own relatives and to invoke repeatedly the holy names of Jesus."

"About the brief regaining of consciousness, the judgment of the doctors remains what it was previously, that is, confirming the extreme gravity of the moment."

A VATICAN SOURCE said the period of consciousness had continued for less than an hour and the Pope then lapsed into alternating periods of unconsciousness and clarity.

"Despite the long agony which has lasted almost four hours with the loss of consciousness and difficulty in breathing," the Vatican Radio said, "the pulse remains strong and regular. The strong fiber of the Pope resists the extreme assaults of his sickness."

The Italians use the word agony to describe the final throes before death, and it does not necessarily mean pain is involved.

The Pope was reported periodically unconscious throughout much of the long nighttime vigil at his deathbed.

THE STOUT HEART of the pontiff battled stubbornly with death, but Vatican officials appeared to have given up hope from the moment the Pope slipped from pain into unconsciousness.

At 1:45 a.m. Saturday 7:45 p.m. EST Friday; the Vatican Press Officer said the Pope's breathing was becoming labored. Oxygen had been administered as early as Friday afternoon.

But the spiritual ruler of the world's half billion Roman Catholics clung to life. His heart was reported beating strongly 24 hours after his gravest crisis had struck.

THROUGHOUT A LONG, tense day the supreme pontiff of the Catholic Church hovered between life and death while the world outside joined in prayers for him.

At 10:30 p.m. (3:30 p.m. CST) Friday Vatican Radio said the Pope had "entered into agony," the final throes before death. It said "he suffers no more — he is passing away."

Those who saw him on his cast-iron bed in the apostolic palace said his face was serene and that he did not show his suffering.

A half-hour later Vatican press officials reported the Pope's pulse still was good and his breathing calm. They said he might live for hours.

THE PONTIFF, who had described himself as "very ready" for death, was brought to its threshold by peritonitis that struck when he was already weakened by an internal stomach growth.

The dread infection came suddenly after Thursday midnight, bringing his doctors rushing to his bedside. Hours before they had reported him rallying strongly.

Shortly after noon Friday the Vatican revealed the Pope's perilous condition. About the same time he requested and received extreme unction, the last rites of the church.

The word went out to the worlds Roman Catholic millions: "Pray."

In Rome people went by the thousands to St. Peter's Square. Through the afternoon, through the golden Roman sunset, through the night they stood in the square and occasionally knelt on the cobblestones to pray.

VATICAN OFFICIALS reported they had administered oxygen to bolster him and had given him tranquilizers to ease his pain.

Bit by bit the reports told a story of decreasing hope.

But as he lived into the new day, officials said, Pope John was resisting and perhaps could go on for hours.

The Pope's closest relatives, three brothers and a widowed sister, sped to Rome from his native Sotto Il Monte and were ushered into his presence in the papal apartment.

At first the Pope did not recognize them but then realized for an instant who they were, a high Vatican source said.

Russ Nuclear Plan Called 'Nonsense'

GENEVA — The United States says the Soviet Union's proposal to ban nuclear arms from the Mediterranean is just nonsense.

U.S. Delegate Charles C. Stelle told the disarmament conference it would be like the West calling for a similar ban in the Caspian Sea. Only the Soviet Union and Iran border on that inland water.

"Clearly each side is capable of thinking up such unbalanced schemes," he said Friday. "But we in the West are sensible and responsible enough not to burden our conference and world public opinion with such nonsense."

In Some Trouble Spots—

Negroes Make Gains

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — A state judge dismissed contempt of court charges against 222 Negro segregation protesters Friday and recognized their right to picket and protest peacefully.

The decision by Circuit Court Judge Ben C. Willis came after a conference with attorneys for the Negroes and the two white theaters which had been the target of the demonstrations for the past 10 evenings.

In a statement later, Tobias Simon of Miami, attorney for most of the Negroes, told the group which packed the 450-seat courtroom: "We have achieved a great and sweeping victory, a tremendous victory. This is the first and only time in a Southern state has the right of a Negro to picket a white establishment been recognized and put into an order."

"I predict it — the protests — will be effective and the day of segregated theaters in Tallahassee will come to end very shortly."

"We now demand that the theater doors be opened to all, regardless of race, color or creed."

IN PHILADELPHIA a week of racial strife over alleged job discrimination by some labor unions was ended Friday by an agreement, but not before police and Negro demonstrators had clashed anew at a school construction site.

Eight policemen and at least seven of the pickets posted by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People were slightly hurt in a brief melee. Police were escorting workmen onto the site, and, as throughout the series of demonstrations, the pickets tried to stop them.

Friday's outbreak of violence was described by authorities as the sharpest since the trouble began.

The settlement — reached by the NAACP, the Philadelphia Building Trades Council and the Board of Education — opened the door to union membership to four Negro workmen — a plumber, a steamfitter and two electricians' helpers. The four were promptly put to work on the school project.

The agreement was forged in an all-night meeting. The only dissent came from a Steam Fitters Union Local which withheld ratification. This did not, however, keep the Negro steam fitter from employment on the school project.

MEANWHILE IN JACKSON, Miss., about 300 Negroes streamed out of a closed meeting at a church Friday, chanting integration slogans and carrying small American flags.

Apparently bent on staging this Deep South city's first mass demonstration against segregation, they got no farther than a team of policemen waiting two blocks away.

Officers who met the crowd of Negroes, mostly youths, started loading them into county penal farm trucks.

IN SACRAMENTO, CALIF., 20 persons, mostly white, slept for the second night in the rotunda of the Capitol. The demonstrators, sponsored by the Congress of Racial Equality, said that they planned to continue their activity until "a strong, fair housing bill" is enacted.

A demand for fair housing legislation in Rhode Island received support Friday from a Roman Catholic group. Franj E. Tabela, president of the Catholic Interracial Council, urged Roman Catholics and others to attend and support a protest march, scheduled to start Sunday from the statehouse lawn.

National integration leaders were reported planning a meeting in Washington today to map new countrywide demonstrations. Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett of Arkansas said in Little Rock he had learned the meeting would be attended by "every professional agitator and individual who have as their sole goal the stirring up of turmoil and racial strife."

RECORDS GOOD

An audit report of Iowa City, covering 1962, has been made by a state examiner, L. E. McGinnis. The financial records of Iowa City were found to be in good shape, according to a report filed in the state auditor's office Friday.

Walker Urges JFK To Slow Arms Planning

WASHINGTON — A Labor party leader who could be Britain's next foreign minister is urging President Kennedy and other administration leaders to slow down their drive to organize a new kind of jointly owned and manned nuclear navy among Britain, West Germany and other allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The arguments presented to the President by Patrick Gordon Walker reflect considerable opposition to the U.S. multinational force program in Britain as well as uncertainty about the outcome of the next British election.

The arguments are rooted in a Labor party policy of trying to get rid of Britain's independent nuclear force and at the same time gain a powerful new voice for the major European allies in determination of U.S. nuclear strategy.

Walker spent about 40 minutes talking with Kennedy at the White House on Wednesday. He is also conferring with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

The Kennedy administration presently is committed to a program of trying to get the new nuclear force proposal into treaty form around the first of next year. This represents a delay of three or four months from earlier, hopeful estimates that a treaty might be ready for presentation to the Senate around the first of September this year.

This delay seems to be due to the fact that the United States has had to take more time than it originally allowed to persuade West Germany, Italy and Britain that the proposed force of 200 Polaris missiles based on 20 or 25 surface ships is militarily practical and worth the estimated cost of around $5 billion over 10 years.

Sueppel To Review Unmarked Car Use

William F. Sueppel, Iowa City lawyer who will become state safety commissioner July 1, said Friday he will keep unmarked patrol cars on the roads "if evidence supports their continuance."

Sueppel made his comment after State Safety Commissioner Carl Pesch said earlier Friday that he will recommend that his successor keep the unmarked cars in use. Pesch said he believes they are serving their purpose, although the highway death toll this year is considerably higher than a year ago.

He placed 75 unmarked cars on the highways last December.

Pesch noted that the death rate is up and opponents of unmarked cars have said that because of this the cars aren't doing the job. "But," he said, "I wonder how many more deaths we might have had if unmarked cars were not on the highways."

Finals Schedule

Here's the final schedule for today and Monday:

TODAY
8 a.m.: Classes which meet first on Monday at 9:30. All sections of French 9-66; Psych. 31:1 (Lec. 1); Soc. 34:3 and 34:1; Ch. E22:139; PEM 27:65; Core 11:38 and Core 11:52.

The final for Sociology 43:2 will be in 121A Schaeffer Hall at 8 a.m. Tuesday — not in 121 Macbride Hall as previously scheduled.

Faculty Has Right Of Expression Too

The Illinois Supreme Court recently dismissed the appeal of Asst. Prof. Leo Koch of the University of Illinois, who had been fired from the University's faculty. Unfortunately, this court action is equal, in effect, to confirming Koch's dismissal.

He had written a letter to the student newspaper advocating selective experimental pre-marital sexual relations and health services dispensing contraceptives.

The University's Board of Regents subsequently terminated Koch's contract a year before it was to expire, on advice from the University President, David D. Henry. Henry called the sentiments in the letter "offensive and repugnant."

Koch's argument was breach of contract and abridgment of constitutional freedom of expression.

The American Association of University Professors has defended Koch, asserting that he was fired without proper hearing and the action was "outrageously severe and completely unwarranted."

We agree. A president's concern for the image of university should not override the freedom of responsible expression. Koch's letter was not written untastefully. It contained a fair espousal of a radical view on a hush-hush topic.

The president did not charge him with obscenity or provocative language. His attack was on the idea of the letter.

Therefore, the court has set a dangerous precedent in allowing a professor to be removed from an academic institution for merely voicing opinions contrary to the administration's — or even to morality. We may not agree with Koch's stand. But on the other hand we do support his right to express it.

Comments On That Old Cheating Problem

Though it seems to be stirring more attention lately than in times past, the problem of cheating on examinations hardly rates as a startling new curse on the human race.

Still, if scheming now seems commoner than ever, intensified concern about finding a cure is certainly in order. And any cure must deal with causes. There we find some old things too, as well as new shadings of emphasis: Home pressure for good grades, greater need for a record aiding college entrance or advancement, scholarship competition, tests that lay more stress on straight memory than conceptual understandings.

There is also the factor of example — or lack of it — on the part of students' elders — parents primarily but also teachers themselves.

The parental stand, aside from good-grade pressure, often either ignores cheating altogether or tacitly condones it on the theory that abstaining from what "everyone" indulges in will put a student at a needless disadvantage. Parents who convey an attitude that chiseling on income tax or other governmental annoyances is smart and commonplace likewise nurture a climate of classroom hanky-panky.

Teachers or professors sometimes also abet the cheating impulse by failure to frown on it sternly enough or by lax policing of the test-taking process.

Yet if there is any hope for gains in an area where honest performance does have meaning and importance, much of it will have to come through them.

The human urge for shortcuts and an easy out will probably always confront students on all levels with temptation in varying degrees. And the strongest deterrent, as in other realms of law and order, may likewise be a respectable job of policing and a prospect of good stiff punishment if caught.

There is nothing like a little healthy fear to instill good habits of academic honor. But the one sure thing is that students alone won't take the step to virtue without some plain, impressive guidance from above.

'Faster! ... Here It Takes All The Running You Can Do, To Keep In The Same Place'

—Roscoe Drummond Reports—

Goldwater for President?

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — Sen. Barry Goldwater's enthusiasm at the prospect of running for President is less than that of his eager supporters across the country.

They can hardly wait to get him out in the open actively seeking the Republican nomination.

But Mr. Goldwater is not only holding back — and intends to hold back at least several months longer — but there is no certainty he will make any campaign for the nomination whatever.

I think his reluctance to make the final decision is real. It is not a pose. It is unnatural for him to try to wear a political mask.

The reasons for this reluctance are these: Mr. Goldwater cherishes his position in the Senate perhaps even more than such famous and powerful senators as Robert Taft, William E. Borah or George Norris. It is the forum from which he has won the undisputed leadership of the conservative forces in the U.S.

The Presidency has no compulsive lure for him. He sees its awesome responsibility as something he is not eager to grasp.

Since he must run for re-election in Arizona next year, he would not relish losing his senate seat in a possibly futile campaign for the White House.

There is a further deterrent in Sen. Goldwater's mind which he has not resolved. He does not assume that Mr. Kennedy cannot be defeated, but he considers at this stage the odds are clearly on the side of the President's reelection. Therefore, a large question mark which keeps returning to his mind is what effect his nomination and decisive defeat would have on the strength of his brand of political conservatism. He asks himself:

Wouldn't his defeat set back the conservative movement at least 20 years?

Wouldn't a dramatic defeat by a personable, resourceful, incumbent President reduce the influence of conservative forces in national affairs way below their real strength?

Is this a wise risk to take — either for the conservative movement or for Mr. Goldwater himself?

There is no doubt that these imponderables figure in the Senator's thinking.

I do not wish to leave the impression that the counter-arguments elude Mr. Goldwater. They don't. He can cite them readily. My own judgment is that in the end they will be overriding.

Sen. Goldwater has galvanized the political consciousness and the political activities of young conservatives from Maine to Hawaii. He has persuaded them that politics and public service are important. Wouldn't his refusal to make the try for the presidency let them down very badly? It would.

He believes that not since Alf Landon in 1936 has there been a meaningful choice between the Presidential nominees. Should he fail to try to give the voters such a choice next year?

He has always argued that the only reasons a Republican conservative has not been elected President in recent times is that he has not been nominated. He feels that in '64 an established, identifiable conservative would have the best chance of winning.

Obviously Mr. Goldwater can't have it both ways. He can consistently argue that the conservative movement is so strong that it can elect one of its own as President and then refrain from seeking the nomination on the ground that his defeat might immobilize the conservative movement for years to come.

Soviet propaganda is blaring out a mighty noise about spies once again. When it did that in the past, it usually meant something spectacular was boiling in the Kremlin. It may mean that again.

Spy scares in Soviet propaganda have followed a pattern in the past. Sometimes they have meant trouble in the Kremlin. Sometimes they have been harbingers of a new Soviet move in the cold war.

The latter may be the case now a new cold war move in the offing, possibly some time in mid-summer. But the possibility of trouble in high places in Moscow cannot be ruled out, either.

The Communist party itself is on the verge of trying times associated with a forthcoming June plenary meeting to discuss internal rebellion among youth and intellectuals, and a July meeting with Peking's representatives to consider the thorny and apparently insoluble question of the Chinese party's cantankerousness.

To cope with these embarrassments — and possibly with the problems of bickering among the ruling group of the Soviet party — Soviet propaganda may be intent upon throwing up smokescreens, to keep the Soviet public preoccupied, and to divert the attention of the outside world.

There were big spy scares at the time of the Berlin blockade. There were other big ones just in advance of the Korean War.

The scares faded away then, and little was heard of spies until late 1952. Then the story blossomed out once again. This was a few months in advance of the famous "doctor's plot," which was to precede a new Stalin purge. The old dictator's death put an end to the terror, and also put an end to the spy scares for a while.

The next big spy scare came late in 1954 and continued into early 1955.

In January 1955, Nikita Khrushchev forced Georgi M. Malenkov to resign as premier with a confession of unfitness.

There were no more spy scares for another year. Then came another one, early in 1956. That was in advance of the 20th party congress at which Khrushchev made his famous secret speech unveiling the crimes of Stalin.

The next big scare came in the spring of 1957.

Then came the Khrushchev haymaker. He maneuvered old Stalinist stalwarts out of the party Presidium and had them banished in disgrace. But the job was not over and the spy scares continued into the summer. In the fall came the next spectacular Khrushchev move — the disgrace of the Soviet war hero, Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, and his consignment to oblivion.

There have been few spy scares worthy of the name since then, with the exception of the fuss made over the American U2 spy plane shot down over Sverdlovsk in May, 1960.

Now comes a brand-new anti-spy campaign, keyed to the trial of Oleg Penkovsky, who was executed recently on charges of spying for Britain and the United States.

It seems a good bet that something spectacular — or even explosive — is being cooked up in the Kremlin.

Tiber, Tiber, Burning Bright

By JOHN CROSBY

ROME — "Hollywood-on-the-Tiber," the most exciting movie center in the world today, is teetering on the edges of what might be called a healthy bankruptcy. Some 15 out of 25 Roman movie-makers have gone bust and even the giants, such as Dino di Laurentiis, who made "La Strada," and Titanius, which made "Rocco and His Brothers," are having money troubles.

The Roman film capital, which has taken the play away from the other Hollywood, has a problem which can be stated quite simply. Its great virtues become vices when indulged to excess. Its virtues are imagination, taste, energy, daring, and talent, all of which except for the last is in short supply in Hollywood at the moment.

This excess of energy, imagination, daring, and talent drove the Italian film industry to produce 260 pictures last year. This is about twice as many Italian pictures as the world market is prepared to absorb.

The world box office for Italian pictures has declined not at all, but with so many movies dividing up the loot, there isn't enough for anyone, much less everyone.

Bank credit for Italian pictures has tightened drastically, driving 90 per cent of the small operators to the wall. Even such a big fish as Titanius, which has two big budget pictures on its hands, "Sodom and Gomorrah" and "The Leopard," has been put under bank control and has promised not to make any more pictures for six months until the situation clarifies.

Dino di Laurentiis is currently preparing to make "The Bible," a picture that will run so long that wisecracks are calling it womb to tomb escapism, and he is having trouble raising money for this immense and, I think, ridiculous undertaking.

All the red ink and crises talk is taken rather lightheartedly on the Via Veneto (although more seriously in banking circles, which like to get the scratch back). The Italian film industry, one of the true postwar cultural miracles, has survived these shaking-out processes before and actually been strengthened by them. The bankrupts, it's felt, deserved it.

There is a bright side. As one film man here said to me: "The Italian film colony has driven Hollywood into giving more freedom to the John Frankenheimers, the Stanley Kubricks, the Stanley Kramers, and the other guys in Hollywood with guts and new ideas." Americans here are busily helping finance and distribute Italian pictures. But this is small comfort. For 50 years America was undisputed leader of the film world. It's in great danger of losing the leadership if it hasn't already done so.

Well, the Queen of the Nile has finally made the cover of Post magazine. That makes four of the most read magazines in the nation (including Time, Life, and Look) — all in the last few weeks. We, at The Daily Iowan, another heavily read publication, don't want her to feel bad for not being included. Incidentally, the international star, according to Walter Wanger, her producer, created more world history than any other news event in the year 1962. He received this information from "responsible journalists."

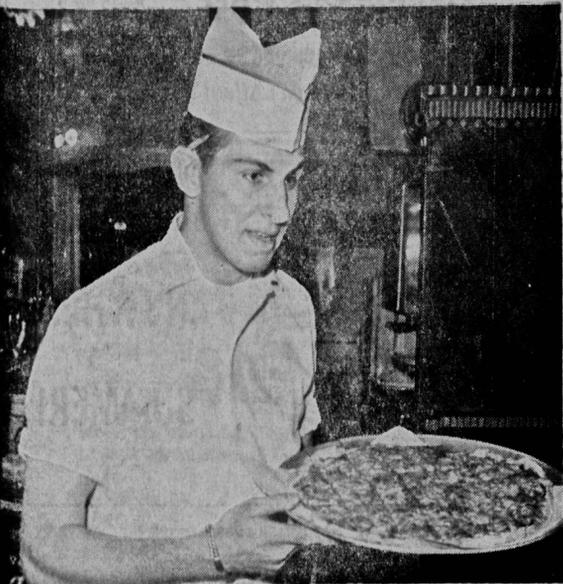

Pretty Joyce Pearson is showing us some examples of MALCOLM JEWELRY'S exclusive collection of Orb sterling silver jewelry. Contemporary jewelry by Orb is the ideal gift for the June graduate. Stop in at MALCOLM JEWELRY and let Dick Malcolm show you the entire collection.

You're in the seat and on your way to a wonderful summer of sunshine, sport and fun. Whatever your whim in sports cars, KEN WALL is sure to have the very one . . . after all, he carries such a broad line — Alfa Romeo, M.G., Triumph, Elva Courier, Jaguar, and Austin Healy. Stop by soon and let Ken introduce you to a brand new life . . . the life of the sports car . . . exciting! KEN WALL IMPORTS, Highway 6, West of Iowa City.

Which ever way you look at it, this is the sign of the bank designed with you in mind . . . FIRST NATIONAL BANK of Iowa City. FIRST NATIONAL makes banking easy for you by providing lobby and walk-up window facilities in the main building and drive-up convenience at the new Drive-up bank on the corner of Linn and Washington Streets. So, whatever your banking needs may be, stop first at FIRST NATIONAL BANK of Iowa City.

Tuck your napkin under your chin and get ready to eat the finest pizza in town. Where? GEORGE'S GOURMET, of course; where else? The secret of GEORGE'S pizzas is a special blend of spices and herbs that go into the sauce. Why not treat yourself tonight to the best pizza in town at GEORGE'S GOURMET . . . on Dubuque Street across from Hotel Jefferson and 1125 First Ave. S.E. in Cedar Rapids.

Fixing a gourmet dinner or party calling for hors d'oeuvres, snacks, relishes or special ingredients to turn an ordinary dish into something stupendous? Stop first at the Gourmet Food section at RANDALL'S SUPER VALU, Hwy. 6, West, in Coralville. RANDALL'S has shelf after shelf of the finest gourmet foods in Iowa City. And don't forget, RANDALL'S has everything you'll need for planning those everyday meals. So, stop and make RANDALL'S SUPER VALU your shopping headquarters where you get GOLD BOND STAMPS with every purchase.

Inviting, isn't it? This is the pool at the CONGRESS INN MOTEL located on Hwy. 6, West, in Coralville . . . Iowa City's finest. The pool is only one of many outstanding features at the CONGRESS INN MOTEL. THE PANCAKE HOUSE is rapidly becoming the rendezvous for Iowa City residents when they want something out of the ordinary. Whether it be lodging or eating, stop by the CONGRESS INN MOTEL soon.

In Major League Action—

Lynch's Homer Paces Pirates Past Mets, 2-0

NEW YORK — Don Schwall doled out only four singles and Jerry Lynch rapped a two-run homer in the seventh inning as the Pittsburgh Pirates overcame the New York Mets, 2-0, Friday night.

Carl Willey matched scoreless innings with Schwall through the sixth, but in the seventh the Met right-hander gave up a walk to Bill Mazeroski and Lynch followed with his homer into the Polo Grounds' upper right field seats. The hit was only the third of Willey, who had retired 14 Pirates in order before the walk to Mazeroski.

Lynch's homer was his fourth of the season and his second since coming back to the Pirates last week in a trade after six years with Cincinnati.

Pittsburgh 000 000 200—2 5 1
New York 000 000 000—0 4 1
Schwall and Paganoni; Willey, Bear-north (8), Mackenzie (7) and Coleman, W.—Schwall (3-2), L.—Willey (4-4).
Home run — Pittsburgh, Lynch (4).

Ford Hurls 3-Hitter; N.Y. Tops Indians

CLEVELAND — Whitey Ford, New York's ace left-hander, fired a three-hitter Friday night and Tom Tresh and Elston Howard belted two-run homers as the Yankees blanked the Cleveland Indians 4-0.

The 34-year-old southpaw pitcher walked four and struck out eight in winning his sixth game in nine decisions.

Tresh hammered his eighth homer into the right field stands in the third inning after shortstop Dick Howser made an error on Bobby Richardson's grounder. Howard's eighth homer, over the right field fence, scored Joe Pepitone, who had singled in the eighth inning.

Musial, however, was declared out in the bases-loaded situation under the infield fly rule.

Flood opened the last of the ninth with a walk off loser Don Larsen. Bill White reached base when Cap Peterson fielded his grounder and threw late trying for a force out at second. Then Bob Bolin relieved and threw late to third on Dick Groat's bunt, loading the bases with none out.

Musial's pop came off Billy Pierce, the third Giant pitcher in the inning.

St. Louis, trailing 5-2 after five innings, tied the game on singles by Musial, Julian Javier and Tim McCarver in the sixth and Bill White's eighth homer following a single by Flood in the seventh.

Bob Gibson pitched the ninth for the victory, the fourth straight and eighth in the last nine games for the Cards.

Home run — St. Louis, White (8).

Cardinals Beat Giants; Only 2 Games Out

ST. LOUIS — Curt Flood raced home with the winning run from third base on an infield pop up by Stan Musial and the St. Louis Cardinals knocked off National League-leading San Francisco 6-5 and moved to within two games of the Giants.

Flood, running at his own risk strange play that found the three from third base, scored on the Giants chasing the pop, Willie Mays, racing in from his shallow center field position, almost made the catch.

Musial, however, was declared out in the bases-loaded situation under the infield fly rule.

Flood opened the last of the ninth with a walk off loser Don Larsen. Bill White reached base when Cap Peterson fielded his grounder and threw late trying for a force out at second. Then Bob Bolin relieved and threw late to third on Dick Groat's bunt, loading the bases with none out.

Musial's pop came off Billy Pierce, the third Giant pitcher in the inning.

St. Louis, trailing 5-2 after five innings, tied the game on singles by Musial, Julian Javier and Tim McCarver in the sixth and Bill White's eighth homer following a single by Flood in the seventh.

Bob Gibson pitched the ninth for the victory, the fourth straight and eighth in the last nine games for the Cards.

Home run — St. Louis, White (8).

Tempers Flare in Indianapolis Feud

INDIANAPOLIS — A fist fight between 500-mile race winner Parnelli Jones and perennial contender Eddie Sachs erupted Friday over Sachs' complaint that oil spilled by Jones' car caused Sachs to spin into the wall.

The drivers, both two-time pole winners for the Memorial Day race, scuffled and fell to the floor before about 75 witnesses at a luncheon for drivers and race officials.

Jones, a 29-year-old speedster from Torrance, Calif., and Sachs were chatting near a bar at the Holiday Inn, near the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, when Sachs again brought up the oil charges.

Witnesses said both men called the other a liar as the dispute became louder. Crew-cut Jones blurted:

"You call me a liar again and I'll bust you right in the mouth."

"All right, you're a liar," the angry Sachs retorted.

Jones bristled, clenched his fist and smashed the 36-year-old Detroit driver in the face. Swinging, both men fell to the floor and grappled briefly before spectators broke them up.

Jones was unmarked, but Sachs' mouth puffed up and he got up dabbing at his face with a handkerchief.

A newsman standing near the pair heard Sachs mention something about two questionable finishes in a row in the Memorial Day race.

Neither driver had been drinking. Jones, the pole winner at record speed the last two years, drove nearly the last half of the 1962 race without brakes on the same Agajanian Special in which he won this year. Jones finished seventh.

Sachs spun out on the 181st lap of Thursday's 200-lap grind, and a wheel came off. Just five laps earlier, he had spun into the infield and his yellow Bryant Special brushed a guard rail.

Chief steward Halan Fengler had called Sachs out of the luncheon party and fined him $100 for failing to observe the rule requiring a driver to come into the pits for an inspection of his car after it has contacted another object.

The fight between the two crowd-pleasing drivers capped a day of bitter wrangling over a small oil leak sprung by Jones' car near the end of the race.

Fengler, the U.S. Auto Club official who has charge of the running of the race, was in the center, since he would have been the one to order Jones black-flagged — called into the pits for consultation and an inspection of his car.

Fengler said the leak from Jones' car was slight and stopped during the last few laps. "You can't take this race away from a man on snap judgment," he said.

Fengler won backing from several drivers, including two-time winner Roger Ward of Indianapolis, who finished fourth Thursday.

Ward, who has been in the top four finishers for five straight years, said he felt the chief steward "did the only thing he could do."

Sachs, who was in the top ten during much of the race, ended up in 17th spot in the 33-car field.

Reds Drop L.A. to Third

CINCINNATI — Don Pavletich's bases-loaded single in a decisive three-run fifth inning uprisng led Cincinnati to a 7-4 victory over Los Angeles Friday night that dropped the Dodgers into third place in the National League.

St. Louis beat first-place San Francisco 6-5 to take over second place, two games back of the Giants. The Dodgers are 2½ out.

Pavletich's hit drove in two runs while Leo Cardenas also knocked in a pair and Vada Pinson homered in support of Jim Maloney, who beat the Dodgers for the first time and brought his record to 7-2.

Maloney was forced to leave in the seventh when Dick Tracewski bounced a single off his left leg, causing a bruise on the heel bone inside the ankle. Allan Worthington finished up.

Los Angeles 100 020 100—4 8 1
Cincinnati 030 021 000—7 9 1
Miller, Richard (2), Roebuck (5), Scott (5), Perranoski (7) and Roseboro; Maloney, Worthington (7) and Pavletich, W.—Maloney (7-2), L.—Roebuck (1-3).
Home runs — Los Angeles, W. Davis (4), Cincinnati, Pinson (3).

Buhl Pitches Cubs to Win Over Phillies

PHILADELPHIA — Relief pitcher Lindy McDaniel came on to retire two men with the bases loaded in the eighth inning and preserve the Chicago Cubs' 2-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Friday night.

Bob Buhl started for Chicago and after giving three hits and a run in the first inning retired 20 batters in a row.

In the eighth, however, the right-hander got into trouble as Clay Dalrymple opened with a single. Cookie Rojas ran for Dalrymple and moved to second on a sacrifice. Pinch hitter Roy Sievers then singled Rojas to third and Tony Taylor walked, loading the bases. That brought in McDaniel.

The Cubs scored single runs in the third and fourth off losing pitcher Chris Short, now 1-5.

Chicago 001 100 000—2 8 0
Philadelphia 100 000 000—1 5 1
Buhl, McDaniel (8) and Bertelli; Short, Green (8) Baldschun (9) and Dalrymple, Ojeda (9), W.—Buhl (4-4), L.—Short (1-5).

Chicago Tops Red Sox, 6-0

CHICAGO — Backed by a 12-hit attack, John Buzhardt hurled the Chicago White Sox to a 6-0 victory over the Boston Red Sox Friday night with a three-hitter.

Buzhardt recorded his fifth victory against two losses as his teammates went to work early and kayeod Gene Conley in the third inning.

Floyd Robinson singled home a run for Chicago in the first inning and Mike Hershberger singled home another in the second. The White Sox then knocked Conley out with a three-run spurge in the third.

Meanwhile, Boston was unable to get a hit off Buzhardt until the fourth inning when Lu Clinton singled to left.

Boston 000 000 000—0 3 3
Chicago 113 001 000—6 12 1
Conley, Nichols (3), Fornieles (8) and Nixon; Buzhardt and Martin, Carroon (4), W.—Buzhardt (5-2), L.—Conley (2-3).

Johnson Top Pick in Title Bout Tonight

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — World light heavyweight champion Harold Johnson of Philadelphia remained a heavy favorite Friday to retain his title in a 15-round fight with Willie Pastrano of North Miami Beach, Fla., tonight.

The contest will be televised nationally over the ABC network, starting at 6 p.m. (CDT).

It will mark the second defense of the title for Johnson since he gained undisputed claim to it by whipping Doug Jones in Philadelphia May 12, 1962, and the fifth since he stopped Jesse Bowdry in New York in 1961 for what was then National Boxing Association recognition.

A less than capacity crowd of around 6,000, including heavy-weight champion Sonny Liston, is expected to watch the affair in person.

The 34-year-old Johnson was still listed the betting favorite at 4-1, with not too much action reported in Las Vegas' legal gambling salons.

The match is important for both fighters, particularly the 28-year-old Pastrano. It's his first title opportunity in his 13 years of boxing.

Johnson, in 81 matches, has lost but seven and boxed four draws.

He has scored 32 knockouts and been knocked out four times. But he has not lost a fight since 1955, when he boxed Julio Mederos.

Bateman's Single Gives Colts 3-2 Win over Braves

MILWAUKEE — A two-run single by rookie John Bateman in the fourth inning led the Houston Colts to a 3-2 victory over the Milwaukee Braves Friday night.

Ken Johnson held the Braves to four hits, one of them Hank Aaron's 16th homer of the season in the sixth.

The Colts got only two hits off Bob Shaw and none of two relief pitchers, but used their hits for two of their runs and scored the other on an error. Their victory ended a five-game losing streak.

Shaw was a hard-luck loser. He pitched two-hit ball in his six innings, and two of the three Houston runs were unearned.

Houston 100 200 000—3 2 1
Milwaukee 000 002 000—2 4 2
Johnson and Bateman; Shaw, Cloninger (7), Pette (9) and Torre, W.—Johnson (3-7), L.—Shaw (3-2).
Home run — Milwaukee, H. Aaron (16).

A'S PLAN ANOTHER DEVICE
KANSAS CITY — The Kansas City Athletics planned another innovation in the major leagues, Friday night — baseballs autographed before a game starts.

Each of the customary 40 baseballs supplied to the umpire before the game will bear the name of one of the A's in the lineup for that game.

Washington Drops Fourth Straight, 9-3

KANSAS CITY — Orlando Pena pitched and batted Kansas City to a 9-3 victory over woeful Washington Friday night, limiting the Senators to five hits and hitting a grand slam homer to pace the A's 15-hit attack.

The loss was the Senators fourth in a row, and their 18th in the last 20 games.

Pena, who had lost his last five games, helped his own cause by hitting a grand slam home run in a six-run fifth inning uprising which put the A's ahead to stay. It was Pena's fifth victory.

The Kansas City right-hander, however, gave up three home runs — the first three hits he yielded in the first three innings. Larry Osborne and Don Lock connected in the second and Jim King in the third.

Washington 021 000 000—3 5 0
Kansas City 001 161 000—9 15 0
Rudolph, Oston (5), Coates (5), Burt-side (8) and Retzer; Pena (5-5), L.—Rudolph (3-7).
Home runs — Washington, Osborne (7), Lock (6), King (6), Kansas City, Charles (4), Alusik (4), Pena (1).

Detroit Halts Minnesota Streak at 10; Wins 3-1

ST. PAUL MINNEAPOLIS — Lanky Jim Bunning neatly snapped Minnesota's 10-game winning streak Friday night, pitching a seven-hitter in Detroit's 3-1 victory over the Twins.

Bunning, dealing the Twins only their second loss in their last 14 starts, had a shutout going until one out in the last of the ninth inning, when Earl Battey smacked his 10th homer.

Detroit 000 200 000—3 6 0
Minnesota 000 000 001—1 7 0
Bunning and Triandos; Perry and Battey, W.—Bunning (3-5), L.—Perry (3-3).
Home run — Minnesota, Battey (10).

Smith Hurts Back; U.S. Chances Hurt

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland — Big Charlie Smith of Gastonia, N.C. defied an aching back and a worried surgeon Friday and played a round at St. Andrews, adding one more American threat in next week's British Amateur Golf Championship.

"I'll play if it kills me," the 32-year-old automobile dealer said as he walked off the 18th green with a score he kept to himself.

It was quite a feat for Smith who had to drop out of the Walker Cup matches at Turnberry last week and consult a London specialist.

Iowa Mile Team In Meet Today

Ten Hawkeyes, led by Iowa's record-breaking mile relay team, will compete in the first Iowa Track and Field Federation meet at Drake Stadium in Des Moines today.

The mile relay team of Gary Hollingsworth, Gary Richards, Bill Frazier and Roger Kerr was clocked in 3:09.6 last week and will be facing little competition from the other entries, all from Iowa colleges.

Other Iowa entries include Gary Fischer in the mile; Kerr in 880; Scott Rocker in the open quarter; Cloyd Webb in the discus throw; Don Gardner in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles; and Larry Kramer and George Clarke in the three-mile run.

Wynn Agrees to Terms: Nears Goal of 300 Wins

CLEVELAND — Early Wynn, once more in a major league game.

"That will be up to Birdie," he said.

Wynn's record is 299 victories and 227 losses in a major league career that started in 1941 with the Washington Senators. He came to the Indians from the Tribe before being traded to the White Sox following the 1957 season.

Wynn's immediate goal is to enter the charmed circle of pitchers with 300 or more major league victories, but he says he doesn't see why he couldn't pitch a couple of more seasons.

He had five seasons in which he won 20 or more games — four of them with the Indians. He had a 22-10 record with the pennant-winning White Sox in 1959 and won one game while losing one in the World Series against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

SUI Peace Corpsmen To Take Part in New Educational TV Plan

A new Peace Corps endeavor, education of people in foreign lands by television, is scheduled to begin in Bogota, Colombia, in October, with two SUI students taking part.

Roy G. Cadwell, A4, Oxford Junction, and David Oetjen, G, Oskaloosa, will work along with eight other Corps members in scheduling a series of educational programs to be televised to grade schools across the South American country.

CADWELL, who received his notice of acceptance into the Corps Wednesday, explained the program as follows:

On June 10, the 10 volunteers will begin a three-month language training program at the University of New Mexico, Albuquerque. From there, they will go to the University of Pittsburgh, Pa., for one month of technical training in television production. After that, the volunteers will spend several weeks in a physical conditioning program in Puerto Rico.

UPON ARRIVING in Colombia in October, the Corps members will begin programming television shows for the nation's grade schools. This will include writing, directing and producing the shows. It will take, however, approximately one year's work before any of the programs are televised.

None of the 10 members themselves will appear in the programs. Rather, Colombian teachers will be given the instruction, and the programs are to be broadcast in Spanish.

Cadwell, who will spend two years with the Corps in Colombia, said that most of the time he and other Corps members would be working with the teachers and staff members of the television station. However, he commented, "There will be occasions when we go out

Peronists Spark All-Out Strike

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Argentine business and industrial life slowed to a virtual halt Friday as a 24-hour general strike by Peronist labor unions protesting unemployment proved almost 100 per cent successful.

There were no reports of violence or disturbances and the government made no attempt to interfere.

However, with one eye on the strike, the government also kept a careful watch for possible trouble from diehard anti-Peronists in the military ranks.

Railroad and port traffic halted at midnight. There were no buses or trucks on the roads. Factories closed.

The 2.5-million member General Confederation of Labor, dominated by followers of former dictator Juan D. Peron, did not interfere with operation of hospitals or such services as lights, gas, water and telephones.

The calm was in stark contrast with battling between police and workers Thursday night. About half a dozen demonstrators were injured by tear gas and fire hoses during marches by about 12,000 persons.

Memorial Day Deaths Soar To New High

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The number of persons killed in traffic accidents across the nation during the Memorial Day observance set a record for the one-day holiday.

The final count of highway fatalities showed 159 lives were lost during the 30-hour period that began at 6 p.m. Wednesday, local time, and ended at midnight Thursday.

The toll far exceeded the National Safety Council's estimate that 90 to 130 persons would die in traffic accidents during the 30-hour span.

The 159 deaths this year compared with 107 during the 1962 holiday, also a period of 30 hours. In another one-day observance of Memorial Day, in 1951, traffic deaths totaled 81. That is the record low for any one-day holiday.

Latest figures compiled by the council show traffic crashes accounted for 11,630 deaths in the first four months of this year, an average of nearly 100 a day.

Seventeen deaths in three separate accidents helped swell the traffic toll this year. Seven died in a two-car collision in Connecticut and accidents near Unionville, Mo., and Glendale, Utah, each accounted for five lives.

The record traffic toll for any one-day holiday is 253, set Christmas in 1946.

During a recent nonholiday period of 30 hours The Associated Press counted 98 deaths in traffic. The survey, from 6 p.m. Wednesday, May 15, to midnight Thursday, May 16, was made for comparison with the Memorial Day toll. During the same period there were 6 deaths in boating accidents and 9 by drowning.
