Plane Carrying 101 Lost in Alaska Contributed to World Peace, Christian Unity

Contact Fails During Flight To Anchorage

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — A military-chartered airliner carrying 101 persons — men, women and children — vanished off the wild southeast coast of Alaska Monday under circumstances suggesting sudden disaster.

The Northwest Airlines DC7, a piston-engine aircraft, last radioed 30 to 40 miles at sea off Prince of Wales Island, requesting a change of altitude from 14,000 to 18,000 feet. Air traffic men trying to reply minutes later got no answer.

The last confirmed message from the plane was at 12:06 p.m. (GST) about 2½ hours after it left McChord Air Force Base, Wash., with 95 military passengers, including dependents, and a crew of six.

An intensive search by planes and vessels was made in deteriorating weather.

Air traffic records at Seattle showed this sequence: The 10:06 a.m. report from the four-engine airliner was to the air station at Sandspit, B.C., on the east coast of Graham Island in northern British Columbia.

The pilot, Capt. Albert F. Olsen of Summer, Wash., asked for the change of altitude. Sandspit asked air traffic control at Anchorage, Alaska — the charter flight's destination — for approval of the altitude change. But Pacific Northern Airlines Flight 5 was northbound at 18,000, one minute behind the Northwest plane. So the DC7 was cleared for 16,000 instead.

SANDSPIT THEN tried to call the Northwest pilot with that information. There was no response. The nearby PNA plane also tried without success. All this was within three or four minutes after the last confirmed message from the DC7.

Reports circulated earlier at Anchorage that a fishing boat crew heard a radio call, "This is DC7 — emergency," but this was not confirmed.

From Sandspit the normal flight route would be offshore for several hundred miles over the Gulf of Alaska before turning inland toward Elmendorf Air Force Base at Anchorage. Dozens of islands dot the Alaskan coastline east of the flight path.

No Decision On Wallace

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — U.S. District Judge Seymour Lynne withheld an immediate decision Monday on the Federal Government's petition for an injunction restraining Gov. George C. Wallace from trying to block desegregation of the University of Alabama next Monday.

The judge said he hopes to hand down a ruling not later than 9 a.m. Wednesday.

Wallace was not present at the 80-minute hearing.

Shortly after it ended, university officials announced that they have accepted a third Negro student, James A. Hood of East Gadsden, Ala., for enrollment. A statement by the board of trustees said:

"It is anticipated that Hood will appear for registration on the main campus at the time that Vivian Malone of Mobile, who had previously been admitted, arrives for registration."

The third student is David McGlathery of Huntsville who is scheduled to enroll at the Huntsville campus of the university.

Wallace declined to comment on either the university announcement about Hood or the result of the federal court hearing.

In another development Monday, the National States Rights Party advised The Associated Press that party members will be at Tuscaloosa next Monday to back Wallace "whether he wants our help or not."

Protestant Bishop Eulogizes Pope — 'He Was Man of the Hour For Our Confused World'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: For Protestants, as well as Roman Catholics, Pope John XXIII cleared the way for increasingly close relationships among the churches. In the following article, a leading Protestant, Methodist Bishop Fred Pierce Corson of Philadelphia, assesses the significance to all denominations of Pope John's leadership.)

By BISHOP FRED CORSON

Not only all of Christendom but the entire world mourns the passing of Pope John XXIII. No religious leader since the Reformation has had the confidence and good will of the millions of people who do not belong to his church as Pope John has had.

By personality, ability and liberal spirit, he became the man of the hour for a confused, fearful and insecure world. He will go down in history as the first of a new type of leader who seeks to reconcile our religious differences, heal the wounds of our religious wars, and unite all men of good will through mutual appreciation and recognition.

He will be known as the inaugurator of a new kind of ecumenicity based on the proposition that diversity of expression is not incompatible with oneness of Christian faith, and that two things can be different without one being dominant or antagonistic. He was a man of simple tastes, and never lost the naturalness of a child. He loved people more than he loved power, and it was inevitable that he should become known as "the people's Pope."

HIS INTERESTS were ecumenical and universal. In the private audience I was privileged to have with him, after he had been informed of the seriousness of his illness, he was as much concerned to know about Methodist people as he was about his Roman Catholic people.

He knew how to handle people and situations, and was the constant active guiding hand of the Second Vatican Council. When it appeared as if there would be a serious break between the liberals and the conservatives over the question of the sources of revelation, which had it occurred, would have stopped the conversations on unity between Catholics and Protestants, it was Pope John who resolved the difference and restored good will.

POPE JOHN HAD his ideas about human relations. He was an exponent of better social conditions and of world peace. He was also forthright and willing to pioneer in applying his ideas to society.

The rank-and-file of Communists he believed, were religious at heart. He told me that he had proved this, by his response to him on his now famous train ride away from Vatican City, and he sought to open the doors which would enable the church to serve these people in Communist countries.

BY HIS LIFE, Pope John restored to a secular and materialistic-minded world the practical realities of the spiritual life.

He had great issues upon his heart, and knew that both because of his age and illness his days on this earth were numbered. Yet his acceptance of his fate has brought to this world realization that God and not man has ultimate control and that death is not tragedy but reward.

Pope John made goodness news, and opened a new phase of public relations for church leaders. By all tests, he was the number one public relations man of this century.

In an age which has made youth a fetish, his life reminds us that old men with vision, experience and dedication still constitute our greatest asset in leadership for human progress. Though he has departed this world, like Lincoln, now he belongs to the ages.

Santa Delivers Finals To Photography Class

Do not open until . . . It was Christmas in June for the 36 students in Donald K. Woolley's news photography course Monday complete with Santa Claus coming in from the sky, in a helicopter since there was no snow, bearing a sackful of goodies — individually wrapped final examinations.

The students reported to their classroom at 10 a.m. and were directed to report to the women's athletic field to pick up their final exams.

Shortly after the students arrived there a helicopter landed and a friend of Woolley's emerged wearing a Santa Claus suit and carrying the finals in a bag. The students were instructed not to open their exams until they returned to their classroom.

"Since it's a news photography course, this should teach them that they should carry their cameras with them at all times," Woolley said.

JFK Has Revised Program —

New Move on Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is setting his sights on presenting a revised civil rights program to Congress early next week, informed Administration sources said Monday night.

On this basis, next Monday is the earliest when a message or legislation could be submitted to Capitol Hill.

There had been some indications that Kennedy would be ready to move on civil rights before departure Wednesday on a four-day flying swing through the West.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) told reporters after a White House conference earlier in the day that the Administration's proposals would be presented to Congress this week.

Humphrey, the acting Senate Democratic leader, said agreement in principle on a package civil rights program was reached at the conference between Kennedy and Democratic congressional leaders. He said agreement on the language of proposed bills was all that was delaying its submission to Congress.

But Administration informants said the message could not be worked out in time for submission this week, since the President feels more conferences and discussions are required.

Kennedy himself will be talking with legislative leaders and others and will be keeping in touch with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy while he is traveling.

Administration officials said he will do this by telephone and couriers operating back and forth between Washington and wherever he might be. They said the attorney general will be busy with conferences here.

interview, the Administration's legislative program would call for banning segregation in private enterprises which deal in interstate products. The measure would list specifically department stores, drug stores, lunch counters, theaters and similar places.

Desegregation of all public accommodations such as swimming pools, rail and bus depots, would be made mandatory. Federal aid would be provided for school districts which ask financial help.

Iowa City Property Raises $1 Million

Property tax assessments for next year have increased more than $1 million over last year, City Assessor Victor J. Belger said Monday.

Belger said the increase was due primarily to 199 new houses which are included on the tax rolls for the first time. The total taxable valuation on them is $780,264.

The gross total real estate and personal property is $31,539,809 compared with $30,512,991 for 1962. Property taxes to be paid next year will be based on the first figure.

The assessments for public utilities, which are set by the state tax, and the deductions for veterans exemptions were not included in the comparative totals.

Tot Injured

Mary Drake, 8, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Drake, 1105 N. Summit, is placed on a stretcher at the scene of a collision between the auto in which she was riding and a loaded truck, Monday. See page 3 for details.

ON CAMPUS—

A GAS meter explosion in the SUI printing service building, at the corner of N. Dubuque St. and Iowa Ave., Monday caused little damage, but firemen believed it could have been much more serious.

A small fire occurred at 3:15 p.m. shortly after the gas company had changed and hooked up a gas meter.

The explosion shattered the meter's metal case and scattered pieces of it across the room. A small fire following the explosion scorched paint on the ceiling. The fire was partly extinguished by use of a hand extinguisher before firemen arrived.

No one was injured.

IN THE CITY—

COUNCIL MEETING: The City Council will conduct public hearings in the Council Chambers of the Civic Center tonight on alley improvements in five downtown blocks and on vacating an alley between Maiden Lane and Gilbert Street. A hearing on plans and specifications for a pump station at the new city well will also be held.

Matters expected to be considered by the Council at its meeting include appointments of a city attorney, a police judge, and a city treasurer, all of which positions will be vacated July 1.

IN THE STATE—

APPEAL IGNORED. A petition for an order to compel Ottumwa Municipal Judge Willard Dullard to allow appeal of a case growing out of a dinner club raid last Dec. 16, was filed with the Iowa Supreme Court late Monday.

The court set June 19 for a preliminary hearing on the motion, filed by Gene Glenn of Ottumwa as attorney for Mrs. Betty Francis.

COURT NOMINATIONS. Nominations of 127 attorneys as members of the commissions to choose candidates to fill vacancies on the Iowa Supreme Court and district court bench were being processed Monday in Des Moines.

IN THE NATION—

HAITIAN RELATIONS. With an air of reluctance, the United States announced Monday that it is resuming normal diplomatic relations with the Haitian regime of dictator Francois Duvalier.

Press Officer Lincoln White said the State Department is ordering the U.S. charge d'affaires in Port au Prince, Glon Curtis Jr., to resume the diplomatic contacts suspended when Duvalier's six-year constitutional term as Haiti's president expired May 15.

RAILROAD DISPUTE. H. E. Gilbert, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, said Monday in Cleveland, that reports going to Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz on the progress of negotiations in the national work rules dispute "will not be encouraging."

Wirtz has called for representatives of the railroads and their operating unions to meet with him in Washington today to tell him where they stand in negotiations aimed at heading off a nationwide rail strike.

IN THE WORLD—

LAOTIAN PEACE TALKS: Pro-Communist Pathet Lao chief Prince Souphanouvong has proposed that contending Laotian factions get together on the Plaines des Jarres for peace talks.

But his neutralist half-brother, Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma, said Monday the offer was hedged with unacceptable conditions. He did not specify what these conditions were.

PRAVDA ON THE U.S.: Pravda, the organ of the Communist party published Monday — somewhat late — a picture of a police dog attacking a Negro in Birmingham, Ala.

"Here is the American way of life in action," it said. "Police reprisals against Negro demonstrators in the city of Birmingham. They are attacked by dogs set upon them. Police beat them and put them in concentration camps, only because they demand respect for their dignity and human rights . . . Everybody's heart shrinks with pain and wrath when he sees these accusing pictures."

MOURNING: Italy Monday night ordered three days of national mourning for the death of Pope John XXIII.

The Government announced that flags would fly at half mast, all schools would be closed and all public houses, including movie houses, would be shut down.

VOLCANO ERUPTS: Mt. Minami, an active volcano on Sakura Island, Southern Japan, erupted twice Monday, spewing smoke high into the sky. There were no reports of casualties or damage.

It's Moscow's Decision Now

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — Aided by the timely initiative of Sens. Thomas J. Dodd (Conn.) and Hubert Humphrey (Minn.), the United States is making a last good try to rescue the test-ban talks in Geneva from total failure.

The chance of the Soviet Union's agreeing is slim bordering on the invisible. The evidence suggests that the Soviet Union, far from negotiating seriously to bring about an inspectable test ban, has been doing its best to avoid it — without quite appearing to do so.

The central fact is that for the past two years Moscow has talked ban and practised testing. The Soviets gave their word that they would refrain from testing as long as the U.S. and Britain did the same — and broke their word.

They secretly prepared to resume testing while negotiating at Geneva and then suddenly broke off the negotiations to begin a massive series of tests in September, 1961.

They have rejected any degree of on-site inspection to make a test ban workable. These are the circumstances which have caused the President to despair of reaching any agreement at all.

It is at this point that Sens. Dodd and Humphrey, backed by 28 Democratic and Republican colleagues, have come forward with their proposal for a first-step agreement banning all tests in the earth's atmosphere and underwater. No on-site inspection would be needed to detect violations.

The significance of this proposal is not that it is new. It isn't. Both the Eisenhower and the Kennedy Administrations have offered it before. Its significance is that, with the wide bi-partisan backing already evident, it has assurance of Senatorial ratification and can be advanced as a firm U.S. commitment.

The advantages of banning all tests by both sides in the atmosphere are that it would end all further human hazard from radioactive fallout; it would reduce the amount of testing; it would eliminate the testing of multi-megaton weapons; it would be a solid beginning toward the cessation of all testing.

This is quite a budget of advantages to be shared equally by both sides — and by the whole world.

Will the Soviets be at all disposed to accept a ban on atmospheric and underwater tests when they have rejected it twice before?

Sens. Dodd and Humphrey think they may on the ground that, as they see it, the earlier proposals were put forward "rather half-heartedly" and at a time when Moscow might still have thought it could get the U.S. to accept a ban on underground tests without adequate inspection.

Now the Geneva talks are at a make-or-break point. Moscow offers "two or three" on-site inspections and Mr. Khrushchev says that if we don't snap them up, even that much will be withdrawn. The prospect of agreement is now so slight that only one constructive alternative remains: if the Soviets will not accept that part of a test ban (underground) which requires on-site inspection, will they accept two-thirds of a test ban (atmosphere and underwater) which requires no on-site inspection?

Perhaps the Soviets want to continue testing in every element and therefore want to avoid any kind of test ban while trying to make it appear that it is the U.S. which is blocking the way. Perhaps the crises and controversies within the Communist bloc are so disturbing to the Kremlin that Premier Khrushchev wants to put any agreement with the West in the deep-freeze while Soviet world policy is being reviewed.

The Dodd-Humphrey initiative is well timed and well conceived. It puts the decision squarely up to Moscow.

A Death in the Family

—The Ralph McGill Column—

'A Crisis of Immediacy'

By RALPH MCGILL

The research report is titled "Young Workers! Their Special Training Needs." It is issued by the Office of Manpower, Automation and Training of the U.S. Department of Labor. The title may not attract. It has the sound of statistics. But, in fact, it is a document of crisis and meaning to every person striving to understand his country and his time.

It spotlights harsh realities. It says of them that they are of such magnitude that they are "no longer permit indifference."

They do not permit indifference. But we will, as a people, remain indifferent. There will be those who will talk of the "jungle of crime" in Washington and other cities in terms of racial stereotypes instead of facing the facts.

Others will refuse to face reality because of the cost. They ignore the inevitable, which is that the price of indifference will be far greater in human terms as well as dollars.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation tells us that the largest increase in crime is in the young age groups. The Department of Labor informs us that the highest percentage of unemployment in age groups is in that of the youngest — 18 to 25.

The second statistic is explained by the first. The first three paragraphs of the Department of Labor report present a "crisis of immediacy." They read:

"During 1962, the unemployment rate of our youngsters stood at a rate of 13 per cent, as contrasted to an adult rate of 4 to 5 per cent. Much of our overall unemployment problem, it thus becomes apparent, is directly concentrated amidst the youngest age brackets in our labor force. And chronic joblessness in the middle and late teens hardly represents an encouraging formula for the future adult leadership the nation requires in the space-atomic age.

"Again, the facts suggest a crisis of immediacy which has, in truth, totally escaped the widespread concern of our people. We are, today, already at a midway point in the five-year period 1960-1965. During that period, the number of young people in the labor force will increase by 54 per cent. In 1963 alone, some 1.5 million non-college-bound youths will enter the labor market; with the corresponding figure for 1964 projected at 1.9 million, for 1965 at 2.2 million. This is to take place against the background of a present economic growth rate which clearly and simply is not keeping pace with the job creation we require.

"There is another sign of disturbing nationwide significance in the revelation that only one of every ten teenagers now growing up in rural areas is likely to obtain a farm job upon entering the labor market. . . . At root in the problem underlined by this statistic is the most dramatic change in employment patterns the nation has ever experienced. With the full maturity of our agricultural process has come the farm economy's end as a principal source of job creation."

We cannot — without paying a heavy price — remain indifferent to this situation. But we will.

Every city in America has its percentage of uneducated, unskilled persons — young, middle-aged, and old. The harsher truth is that many are unemployable.

The problem is national. But Southern leadership in the Congress and in the state capitols will do well to know that the problem is worse in the Southern states. Most of the drop-outs among the five and a half million of non-college-going young people who will enter the labor force in the next three years will be from the South.

Nowhere is the educational problem as serious as in the South.

The Labor Department report further highlights the tragedy of Governor George Wallace of Alabama and Ross Barnett of Mississippi, whose policies inevitably will worsen the problems of their states and handicap the generation of young people who must compete, in education and skills, with the children of other regions.

Frauleins Desert Native Soil For the Exciting Life of Italy

By JOHN CROSBY

ROME — Christa Wanninger was a pretty, curvaceous, green-eyed, 22-year-old German girl who enjoyed "la dolce vita" to the very utmost, right up to the point where she was knifed to death a few minutes' walk away from Rome's celebrated Via Veneto on May 2. This has given the Italian press its juiciest scandal since the Montesi case, and it is having a high old time printing details about Christa's weekends with rich men, her partying, her bout with sleeping pills, and other tidbits.

Actually, there is nothing like the high-level hanky-panky that distinguished the Montesi case in this one. Two things make the Wanninger murder, which is still unsolved, interesting. One is the fact that Christa loved being photographed. Although she apparently never had been a model (she'd earned a precarious living as a clerk, interpreter, office worker, and cigarette girl at various times), she had a huge file of pictures of herself in bathing suits, slacks, sitting on sports cars, and so forth, and these the Italian and German press have been doling out day by day in the absence of fresh facts to write about.

But the other and more significant aspect of the Wanninger murder is simply that she's a German girl. There are a large number of German girls in Rome. The German press is hinting that Rome is not a safe place for young German girls, that they ought to stay in Germany, and the ones in Rome ought to come home.

But the German girls here have no intention of coming home. Most of them are having the time of their lives. Many of them have left Germany not only physically but emotionally. Many of them — not only in Rome but also in London and Paris — deny that they are Germans.

Rome is the halfway mark, a writer told me. A German girl comes here and mingles with the Italians and pretty soon she picks up an Italian accent. Then she meets an American oil man and pretty soon she's in the United States either as his girl friend or his wife. But somewhere in the process she has shed her German background altogether. She tells people she's Italian but that she once worked in Germany.

Why does she want to shed her German nationality? It's hard to tell. Girls like Christa, who was four years old when Hitler died, had no part of Nazism. Still, they feel an inherited sense of guilt. They want to wash off the bloodstains, first by physically leaving Germany, then by shedding their Germanness like a discarded skin.

There are a couple of beautiful German girls here from Paris. They speak nothing but French, which they speak beautifully. They boast that in ten years they will be such Parisiennes that no one will ever know they have ever been anything else. If you hang around those German girls long enough, you'll learn excellent French, the boys are saying here. Passing yourself off as French is not at all easy and I rather doubt they'll make it. But a good many German girls (and some German men) pass themselves off as Austrians or Swiss. At a party here an actor pointed out that of five Swiss actresses there, he was willing to bet at least three were German.

Time magazine has written about the hordes of German women who come to Italy in search of romance, specifically with Italian men, a lighthearted, good-looking lot. But the other side of the coin is less pleasant. A good many German women not only like Italian men, but actively dislike German men, their own countrymen.

There are some other women that dislike their own nationals, too. Lots of Swedish girls here prefer Italians or any other kind to Swedes, and there are a good many American women who go for an accent — any accent, too. But with the German girls the aversion is more deep-seated, a part of the shedding of the identity.

Not all of this is Hitler shame. Some of it is more elemental and more feminine. A good many German girls, especially the pretty, adventurous ones who go abroad, are damned tired of their German reputation as club-footed, thick-waisted hausfraus. They don't want to drink beer anymore. They want to drink champagne and they want to act like Latins.

— Matter of Fact —

Why Legislate?

By JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON — By the Justice Department's initial, incomplete count, more than 30 Negro mass demonstrations against racial discrimination occurred in the last seven days.

In Chicago, 1,700 Negroes gathered to protest a cemetery's refusal to cremate the body of a Negro woman. In Los Angeles, 30,000 filled the city stadium to mark their sympathy with the Negroes of Birmingham. In North Carolina alone, there were six major or minor demonstrations. This is the context in which the grim tale of the Jackson, Miss., school-children must be read.

It is disgusting, not to say macabre, that American citizens should be driven to use the device of mass protest, over a hundred years since the Civil War began, for the sole purpose of securing equal treatment with their fellows.

Meanwhile, however, the practical fact must also be faced that the country is confronted with a new phenomenon. The long passivity and the subsequent sporadic anger of the Negro people have now been transmuted into a new mass feeling. Attorney-General Robert Kennedy, who knows more about the matter than anyone else, expects the mass protest movement to grow rather than subside.

It is a fearful thing to say, but it is nonetheless the truth that so far the United States has been lucky in the outcome of these protests. Things have happened, scenes have been enacted, which ought to have shocked any American who believes in freedom, be he Christian or atheist. Yet no one has been killed.

But if the mass protests increase from 30 to 40 a week, to 60 or 80 a week, it is impossible to suppose that the luck will hold. Somewhere, somehow, emotions will rise too high, or the police dogs of another Commissioner "Bull" Connor will break their leashes, or something else will happen, and blood will be shed.

The blood may indeed be shed by Negro demonstrators. That possibility has to be faced, for Negro emotions, very naturally, are rising especially rapidly. Violence cannot be condoned. But if blood is shed, those who shed it will only share the guilt with those who obstinately seek to perpetuate the system of unequal rights.

This is the real background of the Kennedy administration's last-minute decision to offer a new Civil Rights bill to Congress.

Attorney-General Kennedy, other members of the Cabinet when they could be helpful, have all spent time and effort without stint to persuade key businessmen in segregationist states to move forward toward desegregation. This massive but unseen effort has brought results, but not enough results.

Furthermore, the unseen effort has revealed a pattern justifying a call for legislation. Among the many scores of department store owners, theater owners, and the like whom Attorney-General Kennedy has urged to accept desegregation, not one has failed to admit that desegregation was ultimately unavoidable. Often they have said it was desirable.

Many have refused to move, however, or have moved only by the poorest half-measures, and always on the same excuse. They have said that if "everybody would do it," they would be glad to desegregate. But they have been reluctant to "do it all alone." In other words, they have been reluctant to move because they feared the white extremists on the other side.

These responses show the need for positive legislation desegregating public facilities — legislation which will serve as a shelter, so to say, behind which those who wish to desegregate but dare not can go forward safely.

Letters Policy

Will Secretary McNamara Weather the Storm?

How to isolate and control the economic-political pressure arising from a military budget that now equals the combined budget of all the state and local governments in the United States? This remains one of the most important problems before the country.

The very size of the military budget together with the degree of dependence on it by so many localities and industries, makes inevitable the kind of pressures that have been disclosed in the TFX and RS-70 controversies. Technical disputes over competing weapons become struggles for power among competing corporations, regions, states, members of Congress and military officials. There is no question that the contest poses grave dangers for the future of our Government as President Eisenhower pointed out in a now-famous valedictory.

What can be done about it is less easy to say. Congressmen from areas dependent upon defense contracts spend much of their time protecting their constituency's interests because, as Representative Brademas of Indiana says, "anyone who didn't do it wouldn't be here very long." Yet it is clearly against the national interest to award contracts on the basis of pressure rather than the merits of each proposal. The national interest can only be protected by a Secretary of Defense who is willing to stand up against pressure from every quarter, military or political, and who has the unreserved support of the President in doing so.

Secretary Robert McNamara qualifies as that kind of a cabinet member, and by and large President Kennedy has given him the strongest backing. The trouble is that not even the White House is immune to the temptation to use defense contracts for political purposes. Secretary McNamara in the end refused to go on producing M-14 rifles in Massachusetts as a favor to Massachusetts politicians, including the President's brother. But White House pressure did persuade him to postpone the contract cancellation until after the election at which Edward Kennedy won his Senate seat.

By comparison with the enormous forces brought into play by the TFX controversy, this was a relatively minor dereliction; but the civilian head of the military establishment can afford no derelictions at all if he is to retain the public confidence he must have to resist local and political influences.

Mr. McNamara is under heavy attack from various quarters. He has offended generals, admirals powerful members of Congress and important economic interests. It would be surprising indeed if he did not have his shortcomings, like everybody else; but on the whole he seems to us a man of real courage and extraordinary ability. A successful campaign to destroy him politically would be a tragedy for the nation.

The question is not whether all Mr. McNamara's decisions have been right, but whether they have been his own and founded on facts rather than pressures. We think he scores high in this regard. We hope that, with President Kennedy's full backing, he will weather the storm. Otherwise the military-industrial-political "complex" to which President Eisenhower referred will have won a tremendous victory at the country's expense. —St. Louis Post-Dispatch

It Was Folly, But It Will Happen Again

The issue that became the focal point of exacerbated United States-Canadian relations has been settled: Canada's new Liberal government has followed through on its election pledge and will accept nuclear war heads for Bomarc missiles as Canada originally agreed in 1959. But even more important is the fact that, at the highest level, we and the Canadians are talking to each other again, and not mutually sniping. Misunderstandings and differences between us there have been previously, and there will be more. But now that the nuclear issue has been laid to rest, it must be honestly admitted by both sides that it was folly ever to permit relations to be so severely strained.

Only 26 Honorary Degrees Awarded In SUI's History

At the first SUI commencement, in 1858, two degrees were conferred — a bachelor of science degree to Dexter Edson Smith, and an honorary bachelor of arts degree to D. Franklin Wells, then head of the SUI Normal Department, predecessor of the SUI College of Education.

Among the 1,390 graduates at the 105th Spring Commencement Friday will be the recipient of SUI's 88,000th degree. Only a tiny fraction of this all-time total have been honorary degrees — the University's special means of recognizing an individual's outstanding achievement in professional or public life, contribution to the well-being of society, and dedication to the purposes and ideals of the University. Only 26 honorary degrees have been awarded by SUI in the past 50 years, and only slightly more than 125 in all its history.

The roll of those who have received this honor from SUI includes two U.S. presidents, two governors of Iowa, U.S. senators and representatives, six former presidents of SUI, justices of the U.S. and Iowa Supreme Courts, as well as distinguished lawyers, scientists and educators.

FRIDAY HONORARY degrees will be conferred on Dr. Richard E. Shope, graduate of SUI, internationally known virologist, and professor at The Rockefeller Institute, New York City, and Rear Admiral Lewis L. Strauss (ret.), former chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

William Howard Taft, later to be elected President of the U.S., was honored in 1907. He was secretary of war in Theodore Roosevelt's cabinet at the time. Herbert Hoover, 30th man to be President of the U.S., was given an honorary degree in 1954. Charles Warren Fairbanks, vice president of the U.S. in Theodore Roosevelt's second term, received an honorary degree in 1905, while in office.

Iowa governors Ralph P. Lowe of Muscatine (1858-1860) and Buren R. Sherman of Vinton (1882-1886), were recipients of honorary degrees in 1872 and 1885, respectively. U.S. senators from Iowa to be honored were George Grover Wright, Des Moines (1871-1877) in 1864 when he was Iowa Supreme Court justice, and William Boyde Allison of Dubuque (1873-1908) in 1903.

The second honorary degree conferred by SUI was to Samuel F. Miller, in 1862, who was the first Iowan to serve on the U.S. Supreme Court. Appointed associate justice in that year, he served until his death in 1890.

CHIEF JUSTICE Earl Warren, of the U.S. Supreme Court, was awarded an honorary degree in 1962.

The commencement of 1934 saw three former presidents of SUI receive honorary degrees: George E. MacLean, John G. Bowman, and Walter A. Jessup. Former president Thomas H. Macbride had received the same honor in 1929, and in 1941, former president Eugene A. Gilmore also received an honorary degree. James Black, acting president of SUI from 1868-70 was given an honorary degree in 1882.

Among noted educators were Henry Sabin of Des Moines, early public school educator and Iowa Superintendent of Public Instruction from 1888-92; Theodore S. Parvin, member of the original nine-man faculty and first head of Natural History at SUI, and Homer H. Seerley, long-time president of Iowa State Teachers College (now State College of Iowa), Cedar Falls, who received his bachelor's and master's degrees at SUI.

LEGAL FIGURES honored included Emlin McLain, SUI graduate, early chancellor of the SUI College of Law, and justice of the Iowa Supreme Court; Eugene Wambaugh, long-time professor of law at the Harvard Law School and former SUI professor, and Scott M. Ladd, Iowa Supreme Court justice, father of the present dean of the SUI College of Law, Mason Ladd.

Recipients of honorary degrees conferred by SUI in the past 50 years are:

1913 — LL.D. to John Campbell, chief justice of the Colorado Supreme Court, who received his B.A., LL.B. and M.A. degrees from SUI; 1916 — LL.D. to Joseph Charles Arthur, botanist, Purdue University, who received his B.S. degree from SUI; 1917 — LL.D. to William Lowe Bryan, president of Indiana University; 1918 — LL.D. to Frank Orrin Lowden, former governor of Illinois, and 1885 graduate of SUI.

1919 — LL.D. to Marion LeRoy Burton, then president of the University of Minnesota, later president of the University of Michigan; 1920 — LL.D. to George Evan Roberts, New York City, banker; 1922 — LL.D. to Vilhjalmur Stefansson, arctic explorer, 1903 graduate of SUI; LL.D. to Franklin H. Giddings, sociologist, Columbia University; 1923 — LL.D. to Ellwood P. Cubberly, educator, Stanford University; LL.D. to Charles H. Judd, psychologist, Chicago University; LL.D. to Ernest H. Lindley, president of the University of Kansas; LL.D. to James E. Russell, educator; LL.D. to Edward L. Thorndike, educator, graduate of SUI.

1928 — LL.D. to Thomas H. Macbride, president of SUI (1914-1916); LL.D. to Herman Knapp, vice president and treasurer, Iowa State College (now Iowa State University), Ames; 1934 — LL.D. to George MacLean, president of SUI (1899-1911); LL.D. to John Bowman, president of SUI (1911-1914); LL.D. to Walter Jessup, president of SUI (1916-1934); 1936 — LL.D. to Abraham Flexner, then director of the Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton University.

1941 — LL.D. to Frank Aydelotte, Institute for Advanced Study,

Princeton U., father of William O. Aydelotte, of the SUI History Department; LL.D. to Edwin Rogers Embree, educator and humanitarian; LL.D. to Eugene Gilmore, president of SUI (1934-1940), and vice-governor and governor general of the Philippine Islands; LL.D. to L. Paul Sieg, president of the University of Washington, native Iowan, who received his B.S., M.S., and Ph.D. degrees at Iowa and was professor of physics at SUI; 1942 — LL.D. to William R. Boyd, member of the Finance Committee, State Board of Education (Regents) for 33 years, and 1899 graduate of SUI.

1954 — LL.D. to Herbert Hoover, president of the United States (1929-1933), and native of Iowa; 1962 — LL.D. to Earl Warren, current chief justice of the U.S. Supreme Court.

3 Top Alums To Be Honored

Composer Meredith Willson, Mason City newspaperman W. Earl Hall and Burlington businessman John H. Witte Jr. will be the first three recipients of Distinguished Service Awards to be presented in a new program of SUI.

The awards will be presented to the men at the annual All-Alumni Luncheon next Saturday during the University's Commencement week. SUI President Virgil M. Hancher announced today.

A limited number of the new awards will be presented each year in recognition of outstanding public, professional and citizen services. Each of the first recipients of the new award also has been instrumental in strengthening programs of the University.

They will receive bronze medallions picturing Old Capitol and the Iowa hawk as permanent mementos of the honor.

Willson, a native of Mason City, and composer of "The Music Man", will be honored for his national salesmanship of Iowa, and for his wholesome influence in the world of American entertainment. An honorary life member of the SUI Alumni Association, Willson has written some of the University's most popular musical numbers.

Hall, who recently retired after more than 40 years as editor and publisher of the Mason City Globe-Gazette, will be honored for a wide range of community and state services, and for his advancement of quality in Iowa education, including SUI. He is a former member of the Iowa State Board of Education, now the State Board of Regents. Hall was graduated from SUI in 1918.

Witte, Burlington druggist and manufacturer, will be recognized for his consistent community leadership and dedication to the strength and welfare of the city of Burlington, and for his support of research.

Vienna Editors Call for Effective Opera Operation

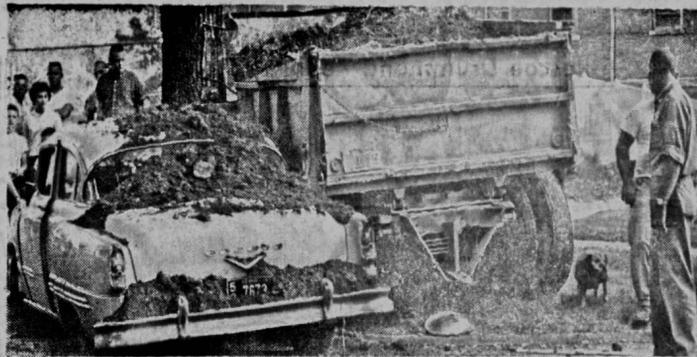

VIENNA — Leading Vienna newspapers have called on Herbert von Karajan to start effective management of the Vienna State Opera or resign.

This marked the end of the year-old honeymoon of most of the Austrian press with the famed but controversial conductor.

"Karajan must decide either to take over effective total management of the opera himself with all the obligations resulting from it, or getting to his side a real opera manager," said the conservative Volksblatt.

"If he is not willing to take either of these two roads, there is still a third . . ." the paper added. This clearly meant his resignation.

Volksblatt charged Karajan regarded the opera as a "giant plaything." It added the opera has been in the midst of a crisis for years and not much has been done about it. The climax was when a performance had to be canceled in early May because a singer failed to show up.

Sandy Smashup

An 8-year-old child was hospitalized Monday with injuries sustained while riding in an auto which collided with a loaded dump-truck at the intersection of Church and Johnson streets. Also injured in the crash were the driver of the car, Mrs. Ruth Drake, 1105 N. Summit, and the driver of the truck, Donald Duane Wagner, 106 S. Gilbert, both suffering whiplash injuries. Mary Drake, daughter of Mrs. Drake, sustained a laceration of her right leg and was being held at Mercy Hospital for observation Monday night. The truck, owned by Iowa City Excavation and Grading Inc., was traveling east on Church St. when the auto driven by Mrs. Drake approached from the north on Johnson Street. Police said Wagner attempted to avoid the auto by swerving, however the vehicles collided and came to rest on the grass parking on the southeast corner of the intersection. Witnesses at the scene told police the truck had been traveling at a low rate of speed at the time of the accident, 5:41 p.m. Mrs. Drake was charged with failure to yield the right of way in connection with the accident. Wagner was not charged.

Hotel Owner Testifies At Mavrias Hearing

The owner and the manager of the Campus Hotel testified Saturday they did not know Ronald Mavrias nor any reason he would bear ill will toward the hotel or its occupants.

Roland Smith, 330 Golfview, owner of the hotel, and Clifton O. Myers, 523 E. Burlington, hotel manager, were the sixth and seventh witnesses to appear in the hearing before Justice of the Peace Carl J. Goetz.

Mavrias, 22, is charged with setting a small fire at the rear of the hotel early on March 22. He is being held in the county jail in lieu of $10,000 bond.

Questioned by county attorney Ralph Neuzil and defense attorney L. G. Klein, Smith testified he had never seen Mavrias around the hotel. He said he knew the door to the rear of the hotel was not locked at the time of the fire and that he seldom inspected that area.

Myers, manager for 21 years, told Klein that W. Carl Habermann had been night clerk on the morning of the fire. He testified he had had trouble with Habermann before and fired him shortly after the fire.

Habermann had testified Friday he had discovered the fires and saw Mavrias in the alley coming toward the hotel.

Habermann and other witnesses said they had not seen Mavrias set the fires nor had they heard him talking about it.

The hearing is expected to continue later this week.

ELKS CLUB HIT

SHENANDOAH — Elks clubs in two southwest Iowa towns were entered during the night and an undetermined amount of money taken from their safes.

Don Wilson, manager of the Elks Club here, said a sledge hammer was used to pound open the safe. A cigarette machine also was broken into.

At Red Oak, police said the safe in the Elks Club was opened by using the combination.

Supreme Court Decision —

Agency Shop Held Legal

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court ruled Monday that federal labor law does not prohibit agency shop contracts between employers and unions but it held that states are free to ban such agreements.

The court also handed down important racial segregation decisions for the third straight week and ruled in the long-pending case involving five states and the Federal Government over use of Colorado River water.

The justices were unanimous — 8 to 0 — in laying down the collective bargaining guideline for the agency shop. This is a relatively new arrangement under which workers need not join the union but must pay unions that bargain on their behalf the equivalent of fees and dues by members. Such arrangements are called for in about 6,000 or more labor-management contracts in the United States.

But some of the 20 states which have what is known as right-to-work laws ban the agency shop as well as union shop contracts under which a worker must join a union after he is hired. Congress, in passing the Taft-Hartley Labor Law in 1947, made illegal the closed-shop contracts under which workers had to join the union before being hired.

In its second 8-0 ruling the court upheld the Florida Supreme Court in its findings that the agency shop violates that state's right-to-work law.

Wickersham's 4-Hitter Gives A's 4-1 Victory

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Dave Wickersham's four-hit pitching, a home run by Doc Edwards and a costly throwing error by Bob Allison enabled the Kansas City Athletics to whip the Minnesota Twins, 4-1, Monday night.

Camilo Pascual started for the Twins and waged a brilliant duel with Wickersham over the first seven innings. Pascual allowed only four hits and gave up his only run in the fifth when Edwards hit his first homer since joining the A's last week.

The Athletics wrapped it up with three runs in the eighth against Ray Moore. Wickersham singled with two out and Wayne Causey walked, then John Wojcik lined a single to right and Wickersham was held up at third. But when Allison threw the ball in the Twins' dug-out, two runs scored and Wojcik went to third. Ed Charles singled Wojcik home.

Farrell Hurls Colts to Win Over Dodgers

HOUSTON (AP) — Dick Farrell, the well-traveled fast-baller who was a 20-game loser last season, held Los Angeles hitless until one out in the eighth inning Monday night in pitching the Houston Colts to a 2-1 victory over the Dodgers.

Dick Tracewski got the first hit off Farrell, a clean single to center, and the 29-year-old right-hander lost his shutout in the ninth when Jim Gilliam led off with a triple and scored on Tommy Davis' sacrifice fly.

Rusty Staub struck the deciding blow for Houston against Don Drysdale with his first major league homer, following a walk to Carl Warwick in the fourth.

Farrell retired the first 11 Dodgers in order, then gave up a walk to Ron Fairly in the fourth. He also walked Drysdale and Wally Moon with one out in the sixth, but neither man was able to advance.

Francé Advances In European Zone Davis Cup Play

PARIS (AP) — France advanced to the quarter-finals of the European Zone Davis Cup tennis competition Monday as Jean-Claude Barclay defeated Jose Edson Mandarino of Brazil, 3-6, 6-2, 6-0, 6-4, in a singles match. That brought the France-Brazil score to 3-1 and assured France's victory.

France had earlier won one singles match and the doubles.

The French team will meet Spain later this month in Barcelona.

Spain eliminated Italy Sunday. The Soviet Union, Britain and Yugoslavia also advanced Sunday.

AAU: Federation Wrecking U.S. Team for Russian Meet

NEW YORK (AP) — A veteran AAU official charged Monday that the college-sponsored U.S. Track Federation is out to wreck the American team that will go to Russia, and hopes it will succeed.

Pinky Sober, AAU attorney, commenting on moves to withdraw college athletes from the AAU national championships, said: "The Federation is out to wreck the AAU and its clubs, even to the extent of decimating the U.S. team against Russia."

"And they hope for that, so they can claim the AAU couldn't field a proper team against Russia."

Sober, who helped negotiate the tattered peace plan between the warring groups with Gen. Douglas MacArthur, said many actions being taken by the college group "are in direct violation of the MacArthur agreement."

Sober said the AAU hoped that MacArthur would make a new ruling on recent Federation moves.

The AAU official's immediate fire was aimed at a letter of clarification sent to the 132 colleges in the Eastern College Athletic Conference, the largest college group in the country.

The letter, released Monday at a luncheon of track officials and writers, in effect ordered ECAC colleges to keep their athletes out of AAU meets.

This includes the national AAU championships at St. Louis June 21-22, where the American team for the annual meet with Russia will be picked.

The U.S. MEN'S team has never lost a meet to Russia, but would be almost certain to lose badly if college athletes are not allowed to compete. Most of America's top short-distance runners are college athletes.

The latest ECAC directive reversed an earlier decision by Asa Bushnell, commissioner of the conference.

BUSHNELL SAID last week, after Manhattan College had announced it planned to run its athletes in the AAU championship, that this was proper so long as the athletes got permission of their athletic directors.

In his new message, Bushnell said he had been "reminded" that it is a Federation stand that college athletes can not compete in an AAU meet unless the meet directors get Federation sanction, too.

The AAU has maintained that this is dual sanction, outlawed by the MacArthur agreement, and flatly refuses to seek it.

An AAU official revealed Monday that the entry of only one college athlete, decathlon world record holder C. K. Yang of UCLA, had been filed so far. Yang is from Formosa, and would not be eligible for the U.S. team to Russia.

GEN. MACARTHUR'S office here said the general had no immediate comment on the situation.

He arranged the shaky truce last January, at the request of President Kennedy, who warned that the U.S. teams for the Tokyo Olympics were in danger of being dangerously weakened.

Sniping continued, and the general had to rule again in March on the question of sanctions of meets, to save the indoor track season.

Now warfare has broken out again.

The general ruled in March that the AAU had control of open meets and the Federation had control of college athletes.

Iowa Thinclads Win 5 Events At Des Moines

The Iowa track team, competing in the first Iowa Track and Field Federation meet at Des Moines Saturday, "did real well considering the meet came right in the middle of finals week," Coach Francis Cretzmeier said Monday.

Hawkeye winners were Cloyd Webb in the discus throw with a distance of 167-7; Roger Kerr won the half in 1:52.5; Gary Richards in the 220 with a time of :21.9; Don Gardner in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles in :33.9 and the mile relay team which won in 3:13.1.

Bill Frazier did not run the third leg of the mile relay because of an injured foot. Gary Hollingsworth, Gary Richards, Scott Rucker and Kerr teamed up for the victory. Hollingsworth ran the fastest quarter, :46.9.

Gary Fischer was second in the mile run with a 4:14.8 time and Larry Kramer placed second in the three-mile run while George Clarke placed third in that event.

The Federation meet will now become an annual event.

Ibex Out of Belmont; Five Entries Uncertain

NEW YORK (AP) — Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons withdrew one-half of his expected entry for the $125,000 Belmont Stakes Saturday at Aqueduct, while trainers of five other horses sat back and waited for somebody else to make a move.

Mr. Fitz said Monday Ogdon Phipps would not put up $5,000 to make The Ibex a supplementary nominee.

The New York Racing Association still lists the names of 10 3-year-olds as possible starters in the 1 1/4-mile classic, but several trainers definitely are playing it by ear.

First off, the prospect of tangling with Rex Ellsworth's Candy Spots 5 Sports isn't encouraging some owners to put up the $125,000 necessary to get their colts into the starting gate for the final gallop of the Kentucky Derby-Preakness-Belmont triple crown series.

Candy Spots was upset by John W. Galbreath's Chateaugay in the Derby May 4, but reversed the decision two weeks later in the

Speedway Golf Championship To Finsterwald

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Dow Finsterwald, won his first golf tournament in more than three years Monday with a closing 68 for a 16-under-par 288 to grab first prize of $10,000 in the Speedway Festival Tournament.

The victory boosted the 33-year-old Ohioan from ninth to sixth on the PGA money list this season with a total of $26,563. His last triumph was the New Orleans Open in April 1960.

There was a four-way tie for second place at 270. The group included Bobby Nichols, who missed an eight-foot eagle putt on the last hole to finish with a 33-31-64; Tommy Aaron, with 69; Julius Boro, 70, and Tony Lema, who defeated Aaron last week in a playoff for the Memphis Open title, 67.

Fred Hawkins, first-round leader, was only a stroke behind Finsterwald after a birdie on the 17th hole.

On the 485-yard 18th, Finsterwald, playing in the same three-some, boomed a 285-yard drive and put his approach shot just short of the green.

Hawkins, after matching Dow's drive, faded his second shot into a creek. He pulled off a shoe and a sock, and with his bare foot planted in the water, played the ball out with a sand wedge. His chip took a bad bounce and left him about 25 feet from the pin. He two-putted it for a bogey 6, finishing with a 69 for 271.

Finsterwald knocked his third shot 75 feet to within eight inches of the cup and was down for a birdie, his second in the last three holes. It gave him a 33-35-68 against par 35-36-71.

Finsterwald's previous rounds were 68-68-64 as he led one of golf's greatest par-wrecking charges. In all, 63 players bettered par of 284 for the distance.

Grouped with Hawkins at 271 were 127-pound ChiChi Rodriguez of Puerto Rico, with a closing 67, and Bob Duden of Portland, Ore., with 68.

At 272 was Jim Ferrier, the 48-year-old Australian who fired a tournament record 61 Sunday.

Ortiz Won't Sign; Michigan Withdraws from WBA

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — Michigan formally washed its hands of World Boxing Association membership Monday and invited other states to follow in the walkout.

The action was taken by David I. Gudelsky, chairman of the Michigan State Athletic Board of Control.

He carried out earlier threats to withdraw Michigan from the WBA upon failure by lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz to sign by Monday for a title defense against veteran Muskegon southpaw Kenny Lane.

Gudelsky was particularly disturbed over a statement by Dr. Charles P. Larson of Tacoma, Wash., WBA president, who said he believed Ortiz and Lane would meet sometime this summer. If not, Larson said, the possibility of stripping the crown from Ortiz probably would be discussed at the WBA annual convention.

IN TACOMA, Dr. Larson said the Lane-Ortiz situation "was being studied," but more information was needed. He said there will be no hasty action.

Earlier, the professional boxing organization was on record calling for an Ortiz-Lane title bout signing by June 3 or Ortiz would forfeit his crown.

ORTIZ AND HIS manager, Bill Daley, spurned an offer Saturday from Muskegon promoter Jerry DeLise, who said he would put up $30,000 plus a gate percentage for a title match in Muskegon this summer. DeLise said Daley was holding out for a $60,000 guarantee. Earlier Daley rejected offers of $42,000 for an Ortiz-Lane title fight in New York or New Jersey.

Dr. Larson said the WBA needed to know if this was "a firm and fair offer" and other circumstances before referring to matter to the executive committee.

Harris Leads U.S. Golfers in British Meet

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — Labron Harris, the United States amateur golf champion, Monday grabbed a one-hole victory over compatriot Paul Coste and led four of his Walker Cup colleagues into the second round of the British Amateur Championship.

Richard Davies, the 32-year-old defending champion from Pasadena, Calif., chalked up the most impressive triumph of the American Walker Cuppers in the first round. He lashed Robert Goodwin of Canada 6 and 5 and finished 1 under par for the holes played.

The big surprise of the opening day was the defeat of British Walker Cupper Sandy Sandler, a seeded Scot, who lost to Alec Rose, playing on his home links — the 6,936-yard, par 36-36-73 old course of St. Andrews.

All matches — until Saturday's final — will be over 8 holes.

Harris, trying to become the first American since Lawson Little to hold both the American and British titles at the same time, ran into a tough competitor in Coste. Little held the two titles in both 1934 and 1935.

The young Oklahoman was 2 up going to the 17th — the famous "Road" hole of the old course. He was at the front of the green in two. Coste was in a bunker but played a fine sand shot to within three feet of the hole and sank his putt to take the hole while Harris three putted.

Hoffman Manager Of Baltimore's Pro Cage Team

BALTIMORE (AP) — Paul Hoffman was named Monday general manager of the Baltimore Zephyrs, a National Basketball League team moved here from Chicago.

Hoffman, 38, played in the NBA with Baltimore, New York and Philadelphia between 1947 and 1954 after he was graduated from Purdue University.

Hoffman will replace Frank Lane, who did not accompany the Zephyrs when they were shifted to Baltimore at the close of last season.

Hoffman is expected to receive about $12,000 under his one-year contract, with possible bonuses based on attendance.

Baltimore will play in the NBA's Western Division, and will be the "swing" team — playing every team 10 times. Other clubs will play teams in their own division 12 games and those in the opposite division eight times.

Ferguson Named To All-Star Squad

Larry Ferguson, All-American halfback in 1960 and Hawkeye captain last season, Saturday was named to the College All-Star football squad. The All-Stars, a squad of 63 players, will meet the Green Bay Packers in Chicago August 2.

Ferguson is one of twelve Big Ten players named to the squad which will begin practice July 12 at Northwestern University under the direction of Otto Graham. Following the All-Star game, Ferguson will join the Detroit Lions.

Does a man really take unfair advantage of women when he uses Mennen Skin Bracer?

All depends on why he uses it. Most men simply think Menthol-Iced Skin Bracer is the best after-shave lotion around. Because it cools rather than burns. Because it helps heal shaving nicks and scrapes. Because it helps prevent blemishes.

So who can blame them if Bracer's crisp, long-lasting aroma just happens to affect women so remarkably?

Of course, some men may use Mennen Skin Bracer because of this effect.

How intelligent!

 ONE TWENTY FOUR EAST COLLEGE - IOWA CITY

'Bye . . .

If you're being graduated, here's our congratulations and best wishes for the future. We've enjoyed knowing you and serving you during your stay in Iowa City.

If you're leaving just for the summer, here's hoping you'll have a wonderful vacation, a good job . . . or lots of fun in whatever you've decided to do. And hurry back.

Incidentally, if you're going to work for the summer, stop in and we'll fix you up with some of our Bank-By-Mail envelopes so that you may deposit your earnings from anywhere in the world. (It'll be nice to have some money to come back to next fall, won't it?)

Yes, we'll no doubt still be in the throes of remodeling when you get back next September, but take our word for it, things're gonna' be different around here! It won't be too long after September that we'll have a nice, new place to bank for you!

Have a nice summer!

4 SUIlowans To Work In Europe for Summer

Four SUI students will leave Iowa June 19 for summer jobs with European industries.

Their trip is part of a student exchange program which will bring four European students to Iowa for the summer.

SUI Europe-bound students are: Jim Kopel, G. Marshalltown; Elaine Till, B4, Farley; Shirley Stevens, B4, Iowa City; and Judi Smith, B4, Moravia.

Kopel will work at N.V. Philips Gloeilampenfabriek, manufacturer of appliances including Norelco products, in Eindhoven, Holland. Miss Till will work for Nederlandse Reisvereniging, travel agency at The Hague. Miss Stevens will work for AB Wiskadals Fabrik, a women's clothing manufacturer in Boras, Sweden. Miss Smith has not yet been assigned to a firm. They will spend eight weeks in management trainee positions with the firms.

The European students will work at Commercial State Bank, Security Savings Bank and Dunham-Bush, Inc., all in Marshalltown, and at Iowa State Bank & Trust Co., Iowa City.

The trips are made possible by AIESEC — the International Association of Students in Economics and Commerce — and AIESEC-US, prentice education benefits.

Under the pact agreed to Monday, plumbers and steamfitters will be paid $4.72 1/2 this year, $4.90 in 1964 and $5.10 in 1965.

A strike of about 300 members of Local 45, Sheet Metal Workers Union, was continuing Monday, however.

The United States affiliate. Each student will pay for his own transportation to Europe. The firms pay students a living allowance up to $80 a week. Kopel is president of the SUI chapter of the association.

An Iowa firm must accept a European student for the summer in exchange for each SUI student who goes to Europe. "Every Iowa firm which offers a place for a foreign student engages in a gesture of international good will," said SUI Professor John S. Harlow, adviser to the local program.

The student exchange program is supported at SUI by the Old Gold Development Fund, which channels funds from SUI alumni and friends to serve areas of need at the University which cannot ordinarily be met through state appropriations.

Civil War Exhibit Set For Iowa State Fair

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army's mobile Civil War centennial exhibit will be on display in Iowa this fall, Rep. Fred Schwengel (R-Iowa) said Monday.

In cooperation with the Iowa Civil War Centennial Commission, it will be one of the attractions at the Iowa State Fair in Des Moines Aug. 16-25.

Board Replies To Prof's Criticism

The Johnson County Board of Supervisors Monday replied to comments by Russell M. Ross, associate professor of political science, criticizing the efficiency of county governments.

Ross said he felt cities and schools were often blamed for high taxes when the county was taking a large share of the money. "Counties are serving a different purpose today," Ross continued, "than they did 100 years ago, but they still use the same government machinery."

The press and radio, Ross said, are to blame in part for the general public apathy toward county governments.

Board Chairman Emil Novy, countering one of Ross's remarks, which were printed in Sunday's Cedar Rapids Gazette, said that Johnson county costs have risen 65.21 per cent in the past ten years while the tax needs of the county schools have increased 311.3 per cent.

The board pointed out that it has made a number of progressive moves in the last decade including county zoning, a reappraisal of county taxable property, a civil defense organization now being set up, the construction of a new county home and the hiring of another county health nurse.

Many Grads Not Answer for Space, Says Van Allen

JACKSONVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Dr. James A. Van Allen, authority on radiation, told a commencement audience Monday that mass production of science graduates is not the answer to America's space age progress.

Speaking at 134-year-old Illinois College which conferred on him an honorary degree of doctor of science, Van Allen said quality of science education and wise application of science talent are important.

Des Moines Building Strike Averted Monday

DES MOINES (AP) — A building trades strike was averted Monday when Local 33, Plumbers and Steamfitters Union, agreed to a contract which calls for a 5 1/2 cents an hour wage increase spread over three years.

The local, which has 375 members, agreed to the offer of 25 firms represented by Mechanical Trades Association of Des Moines.

The old contract under which the plumbers and steamfitters worked expired Friday midnight. Under that contract, the workers were paid $4.56 1/2 an hour, including health, welfare, pension and approvement education benefits.

Under the pact agreed to Monday, plumbers and steamfitters will be paid $4.72 1/2 this year, $4.90 in 1964 and $5.10 in 1965.

A strike of about 300 members of Local 45, Sheet Metal Workers Union, was continuing Monday, however.

33 SUIowans To Receive ROTC Commissions

Eighteen Army and fifteen Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps cadets at SUI will be commissioned as second lieutenants at 8 a.m. Friday, preceding the University's spring Commencement exercises.

Each cadet will receive a degree from SUI following the commissioning.

Dean Dewey B. Stuit of the SUI

College of Liberal Arts will address the new officers. The invocation will be given by Professor Robert S. Michaelsen, director of the SUI School of Religion.

Colonel William N. Holm, professor of military science, will present the Army commissions. Administering the oath of office will be Major R. J. Lutz.

Colonel Michael N. Mikulak, professor of air science, will present the Air Force commissions. Captain Allen G. Lincoln will administer the oath of office.

Students to be commissioned are:

AIR FORCE — Larry Kauffman, Audubon; Frederick Kolpin, Aurelia; Ralph Trimble, Cedar Rapids; Edward Sear, Clinton; William Stanley, Corning; Mike Arganbright, Guthrie Center; Charles Gearhart, Hopkinton; James Blommers and Richard Norris, Iowa City; Merwyn Schug, Manchester; Thomas Davis, Sigourney; Neil Schultz, Spragueville; Calvin Roulson, West Union; Richard Rankin, Bridgeville, Del.; John Jensen, Cincinnati, Ohio.

ARMY — Steven Holm, Frederick Radioff and Ken Wright, all of Cedar Rapids; Paul Carlson, Davenport; Larry Meier, Denver; John Marston, Earlham; Jay Gillette, John Kinnaman, John Parker, and John Wicks, all of Iowa City; John Sykes, Lost Nation; Howard Dickey, Marion; James Clark, Sioux City; Dennis Edwards, Vinton; Glen Shoemaker, West Des Moines; Frank Bauer, Army Chemical Center, Md.; Douglas Pulse, Mankato, Minn.; Charles Schaon, Ripon, Wis.

Dinner To Honor Pharmacy Grads

Some 100 SUI faculty members, students, wives, and guests are expected to attend the annual Pharmacy Senior Dinner Thursday at 6:15 p.m. in the River Room of the Iowa Memorial Union.

Guest speaker at the banquet will be George Squibb, director of sales of the E. R. Squibb and Sons Laboratories, New York City.

A feature of the evening will be the presentation of eight awards to outstanding pharmacy seniors by Dean Louis C. Zopf. The senior class has 36 members this year.

Campus Notes

Dance Conference

Professor Marcia Thayer, chairman of SUI's Department of Dance, will conduct classes in Modern Dance and Ballet at the seventh annual Yankton College Fine Arts Conference which will be held from June 10 to 16, at Yankton College, Yankton, S.D.

Prof. Thayer specializes in modern dance and dramatic choreography.

Yankton's Fine Arts Conference offers varied programs of study in all areas of the fine arts. Applications will be received until the conference opens on June 10.

Prof. Thayer is a graduate of Mills College and received her M.A. in Dramatic Art from SUI.

Microbiology Fellow

Dr. Wayburn S. Jeter, associate professor in SUI's Department of Microbiology, has been elected a fellow of the American Academy of Microbiology, Inc.

Dr. G. I. Wallace, executive secretary of the academy, said Dr. Jeter's professional accomplishments and contributions to the science of microbiology had brought him the honor.

Fellowship in the academy is by invitation only and is recognized as one of the highest honors in this science. Membership is limited to those with a doctoral degree and at least seven years of distinguished postdoctoral experience in microbiology.

Chemistry Lecture

SUI Chemistry Professor R. T. Sanderson will lecture on "Applications of Electronegativity" at the Chemical Institute of Canada's annual meeting June 5 to 8 in Toronto.

Sanderson's topic describes some of his research of the past 13 years at SUI. He will be one of four internationally noted chemists who will present a special symposium on recent developments in inorganic chemistry.

Dr. Sanderson has also been asked to present a principal research paper at one of the regular technical sessions. He will describe some new organocalcium compounds of a very unusual type that were prepared under his supervision by Dr. Allen R. Utke, former SUI graduate student, for his Ph.D. thesis.

Heintz Named

Roy Heintz, 1119 E. Court, has been named to the Board of Directors of Community Givers, Inc. Community Givers, Inc. is a combined fund raising organization in Iowa City, Coralville, and University Heights.

Heintz, manager of the Pepperidge Farm plant, will serve on a temporary basis until a permanent director is named next winter at the organization's annual meeting.

Community Givers will begin its annual campaign in the area next fall. Seventeen local agencies are currently receiving funds from the organization.

Phillips Fund

Chester A. Phillips Scholarship Fund awards for 1962 to 1963 have been announced by Dean Sidney G. Winter of the College of Business Administration.

Candidates for the B.B.A. degree at the convocation on June 7 and receiving Phillips awards are Mrs. Delores Bengtson Mueller, B4, Cherokee, with a grade point average of 3.35; and Stephen L. Wilkinson, B4, Sioux City, with a 3.26 average.

An award was also made to Leta Gafeller, B4, West Liberty, who expects to receive her degree in February, 1964.

Rusk Pledges U.S. Support to India

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk assured India's President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan Monday the United States is greatly interested in "the safety of your people wherever undermined or attacked."

The commitment followed a similar assurance which President Kennedy gave the Indian chief of state on his arrival here for a ceremonial 10-day state visit.

Radhakrishnan expressed the hope that the United States and India "will be able to stand together whatever happens."

The 74-year-old philosopher-statesman said India is well aware of the "little done and the vast undone" in developing democratic ideals. But he said that the crisis brought by the Chinese Communist attack on India last fall has demonstrated the strength of democracy in India.

Kefauver Probes Electors

WASHINGTON (AP) — A senatorial inquiry into an unpledged elector movement aimed at denying President Kennedy Southern support in 1964 was ordered Monday by Sen. Estes Kefauver, (D-Tenn.).

Kefauver stated that the Senate's Constitutional Amendments subcommittee he heads will seek public testimony Tuesday on the effect and legal aspects of efforts in five states to free presidential electors from even the moral obligation of voting for the candidate heading either party's national ticket.

The subcommittee will vote June 12 on a series of proposed constitutional amendments to change the electoral system.

Kefauver named Alabama, Mississippi and Georgia as states in which he said new election laws permit the choice of unpledged electors. He added that at least one house of the state legislatures in Florida and Louisiana has passed similar bills.

"This could result in the removal of these states, representing a total of 53 electoral votes, from the electoral equilibrium which has heretofore existed, with the possibility that the presidential election could be thrown into an entirely different arena, the House of Representatives," he said.

Unless one candidate collects 270 electoral votes in 1964, the decision on the winner would be passed to the House, where each state delegation would have a single vote in choosing the president.

Kennedy won in 1960 with 303 electoral votes, including 27 from Alabama, Georgia and Louisiana. This was 31 more than the 262 total he needed then. Florida gave its 10 votes to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Mississippi, Alabama and Oklahoma — where a Nixon elector exercised his legal right not to vote for the Republican nominee — contributed a total of 15 to Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.).

The unpledged elector movement has been spearheaded by Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett, whose opposition to the admission of a Negro student to the state university at Oxford sparked violence and the sending of federal troops.

Barnett has scheduled a June 17 fund-raising dinner at which the principal speaker will be Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, who has threatened to stand in the doorway to bar the admission of Negro students to the university in his state.

Barnett is plugging for Southern primaries to let the voters choose between unpledged Democratic presidential electors and those pledged to support the national Democratic nominee. He said the campaign is directed toward electing "a conservative president who believes in constitutional government and the rights of the states to control and direct their own affairs."

KEFAUVER

will vote June 12 on a series of proposed constitutional amendments to change the electoral system.

Delays have dangerous ends — SHAKESPEARE

Shakespeare never sold life insurance as far as we know. But we do know that the bard's words could have been written just for our business.

Delaying the start of your life insurance program could be costly. When you think you're ready to purchase insurance, you may not be insurable. And the cost will never be as low as it is today.

Our campus office specializes in planning life insurance programs for young men. Stop by or telephone.
