Officials Question Cuban Landings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said Friday fewer than 50 infiltrators may have landed in Cuba in the past two weeks from points outside U.S. territory.

At the same time it criticized what it called "inaccurate and highly colored" reports by Cuban exiles of bigger landings on the island. It said exaggerated reports harm the morale of anti-Castro elements in Cuba.

Press officer Richard I. Phillips issued this statement while high-ranking Kennedy Administration authorities showed concern over assertions that the Miami-headquartered Cuban Revolutionary Council had landed sizable numbers of commandos on the Communist-ruled island.

The Cuban Revolution Council backed down Friday after saying that a broadcast from inside Cuba came from its own commandos.

It had announced its commando forces would broadcast from Cuba.

Independent monitoring stations did hear a voice on the expected wave length.

"MRR, MRR, hello, hello. This is the commando station. This is the commando station."

The voice ceased, then resumed in a ballyhooed broadcast:

"We have received a great welcome from all contacts and farmers of the zone . . . What we said in our previous broadcast . . . Our mail arrived. Happy to make the contacts in the different zones. According to the agreed points."

There followed a long list of numbers, presumably a code.

Some time later the council released what it termed the text of the broadcast from its people.

It was largely a propaganda broadcast to the "people of Cuba" and told them the "Liberation Army of Cuba is on war fighting national territory."

Back in Washington Rep. Paul Rogers (D-Fla.), said Thursday he

Youth Jailed For Break in At Gas Station

A temporary resident of Iowa City, Larry James Cole, 21, is back in police custody for the second time in two weeks.

He has been charged with Tuesday night's break-in at Ron's Conoco Station, 2300 Muscatine Ave. Police said Cole has admitted the break-in. Cole is being held in county jail in lieu of $1,000 bond.

A week ago Tuesday, he was arrested at 12:30 a.m. on the Happy Hollow playground after a chase by police. Police said Cole stole a car from the same service station. They noticed the car when it ran a stop sign, and pursued it to the playground.

The next day, Cole was bound over to district court on a motor vehicle larceny charge and was released on $1,000 bond furnished by his employer.

The current arrest was made after police traced a set of keys dropped in the station storage lot. Police said that keys to used cars kept in the storage lot were the only items missing in Tuesday's break-in.

Cole, whose hometown is Sioux City, told officers he was recently discharged from the Marines and has since been working in Iowa City.

Need To Nurture Individual Talents In Society Today Stressed by Stuit

America needs to cultivate the particular talents of each individual in society today more than ever before, Dewey B. Stuit, Dean of the College of Liberal Arts, said Friday evening in a banquet address at the national Omicron Nu conclave being held here this week. The meeting of the honorary home economics organization will close today.

"In earlier periods of our history the need for land and financial capital seemed to be most pressing. The slogan 'Go west, young man' typified the view that the greatest opportunities would come to those who equipped themselves with land and capital," the liberal arts dean explained.

"These factors are still important in our society but we know now perhaps far better than we did a century ago, that the development of our human resources is fundamental to any efforts we may undertake to improve the world in which we live and to achieve the goal of maximum individual fulfillment," he continued.

In the past we have tended to leave the finding of talents and their development to the schools, whereas actually these processes should begin before the child enrolls in school and continue throughout the adult's productive life, the SUI dean noted.

Each of us should look continually for ways to use his abilities to the fullest, and the organizations for which we work and to which we belong have a responsibility to discover and use our talents, Dean Stuit pointed out. "One of the great tasks of personnel management is to foster the development of talent, to identify the person who has the inner drive for high accomplishment and to provide the opportunity for him to achieve his highest potential," he continued.

Noting that the first step in helping the individual use his abilities is

Summer Is 24 Hours Old; Hottest Days Remain Ahead

Summer — the word itself coming from a Sanskrit word for "season" — arrived officially in Iowa City at 9:04 p.m. Friday.

This time is termed by astronomers as the "summer solstice," and occurs when the vertical rays of the sun reach the northernmost point on the earth's surface.

In the Southern Hemisphere, where the seasons are reversed, summer begins in December and winter in June.

The change in season from spring to summer is caused by the movement of the earth around the sun. A complete revolution, of course, takes one year.

The earth is always tipped at an angle of about 23½ degrees from a line perpendicular to its path around the sun. The northern half of the earth receives more sunlight when the axis is tipped toward the sun, and less when the axis is tipped away from it. Now the Northern Hemisphere is tilted toward the sun.

Although the earth receives the greatest heat around the first days of summer, the warmest weather of the year usually comes several weeks later. This is because the sun's rays have been felt for a longer time on earth.

The period of greatest heat generally comes in August. By then, the wind blowing from the north has become milder due to a moderation of temperature in the polar region caused by thawing ice.

Chief Matias said the girl left home about 8:40 a.m. to attend a swimming class at Jones Park pool about six blocks from her home.

Police Chief George Matias said the girl related that she was forced into the man's car and driven about 12 blocks to a lane along the Cedar River. The child said she was released after she had been blindfolded and forced to perform unnatural acts.

Joe Stejskal, superintendent of the Czech National Cemetery, said he recalled seeing the girl going through the cemetery and of seeing a car driving through about the same time. Stejskal said the child later came to him crying and that he and another cemetery employee took her home.

Jess Gorkin and The 'Hot Line'

JESS GORKIN, editor of Parade magazine and former editor of The Daily Iowan in 1936, originated and was the driving force behind the idea of a "hot line" communications system between Moscow and Washington which was agreed to yesterday in Geneva.

The "hot line" is expected to be in operation within two months and will utilize existing transoceanic cable circuits. The Russian terminal will be in the Kremlin and the American terminal will be in the Pentagon's National Command Center

President Kennedy called the accord, "... a first step to help reduce the risk of war occurring by accident or miscalculation." This was exactly Gorkin's idea.

Gorkin, who received his bachelor's degree in journalism from the University in 1936, first proposed the rather radical plan in one of his famous open letters in the March 20, 1960 issue of Parade magazine, a national Sunday newspaper supplement with a circulation nearing the ten million mark. This letter was addressed to President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev. That was the beginning of a long, persistent campaign on the part of editor Gorkin and his fine staff.

In the course of events, Gorkin traveled a good many miles and interviewed such men as Eisenhower, Khrushchev, Kennedy and Nixon about the plan. He found that everyone was enthusiastic about it. A total of seven articles were published by Parade concerning the "hot line." These articles appeared at a time when the world was beginning to face the realization that atomic holocaust was only a few minutes away.

Soon Gorkin and staff will write the eighth article on the "hot line" and we hope they give themselves a hearty pat on the back. We do not feel that this would be modest at all — it is well deserved!

This is a shining example of how America's mass communication media can and does operate for the benefit of the world. We are certain that Jess Gorkin will go on to win many more awards for his editorial prowess than he already has.

But we hope, as Russia's negotiator Semyon Tsarapkin said after negotiations were completed in Geneva, that the world will live in peace so that the "hot line" need never be used.

Jess, in Navy talk — well done! — Dennis Binning

... In Another Town

Keokuk voters this week endorsed a plan to raze a three and a half block area and rebuild it from scratch. The vote, 2,955 in favor and 1,602 against, is not binding upon the city council; but indications are now that the city will go ahead with the plan.

Keokuk's goal is a shopping plaza in the middle of downtown Keokuk, with a large area for free parking, little through traffic, and buildings with aesthetic as well as practical value. Chamber of Commerce officials in Keokuk were the strongest backers of the renewal program, somewhat radical by Iowa standards.

But what the Chamber and other supporters of the program realized was that this is the best way for cities to prevent shopping centers at the outskirts of town from robbing downtown trade and killing the city proper. In the Keokuk case, an early death was on the way. Shopping center entrepreneurs already had hungry eyes on the downtown trade and were preparing to build a center away from the downtown area.

Iowa Losing College Grads; Survey Begun

A statewide survey to determine the research, scientific, and intellectual resources of Iowa was announced at an Iowa Development Commission dinner in Des Moines Thursday night.

At the dinner, attended by Dean John C. Weaver, vice-president for research, and Dean Robert Ray, head of the extension division, it was reported that the study will recommend means whereby these abundant yet "under-utilized" resources of Iowa can make greater contributions to the future industrial growth and economic welfare of the state.

"The solution to the problems facing those interested in industrial development for Iowa are becoming more and more dependent upon the facilities for industrial research," said Duane Arnold, president of the Iowa Electric Light and Power Co., at the dinner.

The educational institutions of Iowa offer the highest quality of education, but other states enjoy the rewards of these efforts. We need to know the educational and scientific research strength of this state if we are going to have a sound foundation on which to build its future economic welfare. The purpose of the survey is to evaluate all of the research, development, and intellectual resources of Iowa," Arnold said.

Arrangements for the study have been made by the utility company and will be conducted by the Midwest Research Institute of Kansas City. About six months will be required for the completion of the study.

At educational institutions and in private industry, there are currently about 2,000 people classified as "scientists" working in Iowa. According to Arnold, Iowa produces more scientists than it is presently employing.

Iowa ranks third in the number of Ph.D. degrees granted by institutions of higher learning, but ranks twenty-ninth in the number of these people it employs. Retaining more of this know-how in Iowa is one of the objectives of the project, Arnold said.

Rock Surfacing Scheduled Near Reservoir Area

Additional rock surfacing will be added to access roads, parking areas and boat launching ramps in the upper end of the Coralville Reservoir, according to an announcement by the Army Corps of Engineers.

Sealed bids for 2,500 tons of the rock surfacing material will be opened July 19, with delivery expected between July 31 and Sept. 30.

Kelso Is Named To Head Athletic Club Next Year

Hugh Kelso, associate professor of political science, was elected president; Allan Vestal, professor of law, vice-president; Robert Hogg, professor of mathematics, secretary; and Dr. William H. Olin, associate professor of otolaryngology, treasurer. The new officers will serve for one year.

Kelso succeeds Dr. L. E. Janney, professor of internal medicine.

Stevens Leaving SUI

Chuck Dick, A4, Hampton, left, president of Union Board, presented George Stevens, associate director of the Iowa Memorial Union, a plaque for 13 years of service three weeks ago. Stevens has been named director of the Oregon State University Memorial Union at Corvallis, Oregon.

Oregon State Names Stevens To Head Union Activities

George F. Stevens, associate director of the Iowa Memorial Union here will become director of the Oregon State University Memorial Union.

Stevens will take over his new responsibilities as Director of the Union and Coordinator of Student Activities Aug. 1, succeeding Maj. Ed Allworth, who is retiring after 36 years of continuous service. Located at Corvallis, OSU presently enrolls nearly 11,000 students.

Following his graduation from SUI in 1951, Stevens was named assistant director of the Iowa Memorial Union, where he had worked as a student to earn college expenses. He has been active in the Association of College Unions, for which he served as games chairman for four years, during which time he was responsible for developing the annual national inter-collegiate bowling, billiards, bridge and chess tournaments.

Recently he was named program chairman for next year's national ACU conference, to be held at Indiana University in April, 1964.

Stevens served in the navy for three years following his graduation from Manchester high school in 1944, with duty in both Atlantic and Pacific theater operations.

Significance of Research Cited Here to Omicron Nu

Research is the frontier of the 20th century, Professor Pauline C. Paul of the University of California, Davis, Calif., told the national Omicron Nu conclave at SUI Friday morning.

Though research of recent years has made possible dozens of improvements in living, opportunities remaining for fledgling researchers are literally limitless, Dr. Paul pointed out to members of the honorary home economics organization.

Home economists will find research indispensable in achieving their primary purpose of improving the family through integrating findings in the natural sciences, the social sciences and the humanities, Dr. Paul explained.

We are surrounded in our daily lives by the results of research, she continued, noting that 30 years ago there were no frozen foods, no plastic wrappings, no cake mixes, no fresh vegetables in winter except what is known in the trade as "hardware" — potatoes, onions, carrots, turnips and cabbage.

In today's changing world, home economists will be called to solve countless new problems, the California speaker pointed out. One of the big problems we face now in nutrition is how to get people to use the information already available, she explained.

Probably our greatest needs for research are in child development, family relations and consumer economics, she suggested. We need to determine the best ways to care for elderly people, for example. "Medical science is keeping people alive longer — what kind of life can they have, and what should we be doing for them? What about the recent suggestion that with the

Dodgers Trip St. Louis, 5-3, As Crucial Series Opens

ST. LOUIS (Ia.) — Tommy Davis rapped a two-run homer in the eighth inning that proved decisive as the Los Angeles Dodgers tripped St. Louis' National League-leading Cardinals 5-3 Friday night.

Davis' homer gave Sandy Koufax a 5-0 lead but the prize left-hander, one out away from his third straight shutout, failed to last the game.

Tim McCarver tagged him for a three-run homer with two out in the bottom of the ninth and after walking Stan Musial, Koufax gave way to Ron Perranoski.

Curt Flood then hit into a force play for the last out.

Bill Skowron hit a single that drove in two unearned runs in the first off loser Curt Simmons and the Dodgers went ahead 3-0 in the seventh on Dick Tracewski's single, a sacrifice and Maury Wills' single.

Tommy Davis connected in the eighth following Willie Davis' bunt single.

Giants Lose To Braves, Don't Gain

MILWAUKEE (Ia.) — The Milwaukee Braves exploded for six runs in the fifth inning on just two hits, a home run by Joe Torre and a three-run triple by Lee Maye, and whipped the San Francisco Giants 6-3 Friday night.

The Braves had only three hits all told and the Giants five, including two homers by Orlando Cepeda.

Bob Bolin had a no-hitter going into the big fifth, the official scorer having changed a first-inning decision from a single by Frank Bolling of the Braves to an error by third baseman Cap Peterson of the Giants.

The Giants held a 2-0 lead on Cepeda's homers off Tony Cloninger in the second and fourth.

Torre led off the Milwaukee fifth with his fourth home run of the season and Bolin never recovered. Mack Jones walked and with one out, Peterson made his second error. Dennis Menke was hit by a pitched ball, a wild pitch tied the score, and with two out, two more walks forced in the lead run. Then Maye hit Bolin's first pitch to the wall in left center for the three runs that settled the issue.

Rodgers' Single In 10th Lets Cubs Edge Bucs, 6-5

CHICAGO (Ia.) — Andre Rodgers singled over a pulled-in infield in the 10th inning and chased Ellis Burtt home with the winning run Friday, giving the Chicago Cubs a 6-5 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Burton, who had three hits in the game, opened the 10th with a single off loser Joe Gibbon and went to second on a sacrifice bunt by Dick Bertell. Pinch batter Ken Aspromonte was walked intentionally and pinch hitter Lou Brock drew a pass, loading the bases. Rodgers then followed with his game-winning single.

The victory was the fourth straight for the Cubs while Pittsburgh suffered its ninth loss in its last 12 games.

Malzone, Geiger Pace Red Sox Past Yanks, 7-4

BOSTON (Ia.) — American League batting leader Frank Malzone and substitute Gary Geiger paced the Boston Red Sox to a 7-4 victory over first-place New York Friday night, snapping the Yankees winning streak at eight.

Right-hander Bill Monbouquette whipped the Yankees for the second time this year, gaining his eighth straight victory. He gave up a two-run homer to Roger Maris, his 13th — in the first and was in deep trouble in the eighth before a great running catch by Geiger cut off the rally after two runs scored.

Malzone, who entered the game with a .341 mark had 2 hits, including a home run in the fifth. Geiger, playing under a platoon arrangement with a right-hander on the mound, homered in the second and started the three-run fifth with a triple.

Tigers 6, A's 4

KANSAS CITY (Ia.) — The Detroit Tigers, taking full advantage of a bumbling performance by the Kansas City Athletics, scored four runs in the fifth inning Friday night, defeated the A's 6-4 and broke their 10-game losing streak.

The victory was the first for Charley Dressen since he replaced Bob Scheffing as manager of the Tigers. The Tigers had lost three games under Dressen.

wind of 7.75 miles per hour, well above the maximum of 4.47 m.p.h. for record consideration. In Hayes' semifinal effort, the wind was only 2.2 m.p.h. and his 9.1 time was announced as a world record.

When the field finally exploded from the starting blocks over the new rubberized track, Hayes was just streaking along with the pack for the first 40 yards. Then the muscular Florida comet began surging in front, lunging onto the tape by about two feet over the hard-pushing John Gilbert of the Southern California Striders.

Gilbert was clocked in 9.2, matching the erstwhile world record.

Champion Gary Gubner was dethroned in the shotput, won by Marine Dave Davis with a toss of 62-5 1/4, with Parry O'Brien taking second with 62-1 1/4, and Gubner third with 60-5 1/4.

Under perfect conditions, Hayes sped through his semifinal heat like a bullet to finish five feet ahead of Purdue's Nate Adams to better the existing record.

Two clockers caught Hayes at 9.1 and the third official clock at 9.2. The two lowest official times prevail. The alternate, fourth watch, also had the Florida flier in 9.1.

Hayes, a 5-foot-11, 185-pounder, is from Jacksonville, Fla.

Hansen's Homer Foils Wynn's Bid To Win 300th

CLEVELAND (Ia.) — Early Wynn lost his bid to become a 300-game winner Friday night when Ron Hansen hit a two-run homer with two out in the ninth inning and gave the Chicago White Sox a 2-0 victory over Cleveland.

Wynn was perfect, though, mark shared by Frank Budd of semis, bettering the world when Hayes sped to his 9.1 in the 100-yard dash and previous mark came as Irish-born Pete McArdele of New York won the 6-mile in 29 minutes, 29.2 seconds, breaking the record held by a U.S. citizen in this event.

In the seven finals contested Friday, three defending champions were dethroned, including Ron Morris who was among two others who also bettered the former meet pole vault record of 16 1/4 by clearing 16 1/2.

Hayes was cheered wildly by about 4,000 fans as his world record was announced after the 20-year-old's semifinal victory.

Less than 45 minutes later, in the final, Hayes again hit the tape in 9.1, but this time was aided by a a wind of 7.75 miles per hour.

Wynn tried unsuccessfully for No. 300 as a member of the White Sox last year but was unable to get it. He tried to stick with Chicago during spring training but was cut loose and last month was signed by the Indians.

Palmer Ties for Open Lead With 69; Nicklaus Eliminated

BROOKLINE, Mass. (Ia.) — Arnold Palmer staged another of his fabulous rallies Friday and shot into a tie with Dow Finsterwald and Jacky Cupit for the 36-hole lead in the National Open Golf Championship at even par 142 after defending champion Jack Nicklaus had blown himself out of the tournament.

The incredible Palmer, starting the day four shots out of first place, nailed two birdies on the back-breaking incoming nine of The Country Club course for a 35-34-69.

Palmer's closest golfing friend, the cool, conservative Finsterwald, also fired a second round 69 — two under par — while Cupit, one of five golf
