By HARRY NEYENS
Staff Writer

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher Wednesday defended Burge Hall before the State Board of Regents as "the anchor" of SUI's dormitory system. Hancher endorsed the construction of Burge, including its controversial tiled bathrooms, as "by far (SUI's) most efficient, economical building."

Mrs. Joseph Rosenfield, Board member from Des Moines, had questioned the necessity of tiled bathrooms for the planned addition to Currier Hall after representatives of a Decrah architectural firm explained details of the construction to the Board.

The Board is holding sessions here through Friday.

Meeting in the Pentacrest Room of the Memorial Union Wednesday afternoon, the Regents discussed the plans with representatives of Alfiliisch, Olson, Gray, and Thompson. The firm, which is to design the new Currier addition, also designed Burge.

The main reason for the meeting was the recent barrage of criticism against what some called the "country club atmosphere" of Burge.

Regents President Harry Hagemann, Waverly, said: "The Board is certain about the high cost of dormitory living. It wants to make the addition as economical as possible."

One of the architects said he thought it necessary to tile walls and ceilings in the bathrooms. "A dormitory is more abused than any other building on campus — no matter whether boys or girls live there," he said.

The consensus of the Board was that it is not fair to compare costs of units in the planned addition to costs of units in dormitories here or elsewhere.

Hancher told the Board, "We feel strongly about the dormitory conditions here. We are now troubled by the fact that we weren't allowed to build dormitories when we could have done so cheaply."

This was immediately after World War II, and some people thought they would save the University from bankruptcy by not permitting construction, he explained.

Last week Hancher prepared a nine-page letter to the Board which attempts to present the philosophy governing the operation and expansion of SUI's residence hall program, and to clarify some of the issues which have been raised. Following are some of the major points of the letter:

"In formulating its residence hall policies, SUI begins with the premise that the dormitory system should contribute to the learning situation. Dormitories should provide ample space for the student to study in relative quiet and undisturbed surroundings.

"And they should provide accommodations which are pleasant to look at and to live in — not luxurious, not elegant, but clearly comfortable, clean, and not too dissimilar from what the average student has been accustomed to in his own home."

In answering where a line is to be drawn between good standards and luxury, Hancher's letter said, "dormitory construction is financed by long term loans from private investors to be paid back through student dormitory fees and dormitory earnings."

"To attract the quantity of loan capital needed today, dormitory construction must be sound, sensible, and long-lasting."

The letter from Hancher pointed out that Burge Hall was built and furnished at a cost of $4,288 per bed, or nearly $375 below the national average for a new residence hall construction.

Concerning tiled walls and ceilings in bathrooms, the letter said that this exemplifies the principle that good dormitory living and good economics go hand in hand.

In the newer dormitories, both walls and ceilings are entirely tiled. In Burge Hall, for instance, this cost $1-$1.25 more per square foot than a plaster wall would have cost. Experience has shown that because of excessive moisture in rooms of this type, the plaster and paint installations in the older dormitories are more or less in continual need of repair.

With the cost of patching and painting now at 25 cents to 30 cents per square foot per year, Burge's tiled bathrooms will pay for themselves every four or five years.

One reason for SUI's room and board rates being higher than those of Iowa's other two higher learning institutions is that SUI provides more "services" for its dormitory residences. These services are in the form of linen, laundry, minimal cleaning service and room telephones.

The letter stated that SUI is continually striving to get the best dormitories it can, consistent with economic necessities, long-term durability, student requirements and aesthetic considerations.

In conclusion, the letter said, "The University feels that Burge Hall, which has become the cornerstone for SUI's present dormitory operation and which is by far its most efficient, economical building, speaks well for the University's recent planning, construction, and operation policies."

"We further believe it to be a worthy model for the Currier addition and, quite possibly, for other dormitories which we must build within the next few years."

After the meeting of the Board, the Educational Policy Committee of the Board met with the SUI Faculty Council to discuss a successor for President Hancher. Hancher is to retire next spring.

The Building and Business Committee of the Board held a simultaneous meeting to discuss the building of an administration building at the State College of Iowa, Cedar Falls.

It is expected that some time Friday, the Board will approve the budgets for the three state educational institutions.

Fight Wages over Interim Appointees —

'No Vacancy,' Hughes Told

DES MOINES (AP) — "No Vacancy" signs faced Gov. Harold Hughes' interim appointees to the State Board of Control and Highway Commission Wednesday as indications were members of both agencies would refuse to give up their jobs.

The controversy began with the Iowa Senate's refusal to confirm Hughes' nomination of Corbin Crawford (D-Ainsworth) to the Board of Control, and Robert Barry (D-Danbury) to the Highway Commission.

Hughes gave both men interim appointments. But Atty. Gen. Evan Hultman ruled that no vacancy exists for them in either agency because the appointments were not legal without Senate confirmation. When there is no legally appointed successor, Hultman said, a retiring member may hold over in his office.

CRAWFORD WAS appointed to replace Chairman Walter Conway, 58 (D-Muscatine) on the Board of Control. But Conway said in a sharply worded statement Wednesday that he will not leave office July 1.

Conway implied he was angered by a statement by the Governor that Conway has asked for a federal job and that his chances for it probably would be poor if he tried to remain on the Board of Control.

"I have never officially applied for a federal job and know of none that is open. I have never licked anyone's boots for a state or federal position and do not intend to do so," Conway said.

"THE GOVERNOR has placed me in such a position that I can't resign. I don't accept threats," Hughes, vacationing with his family at Lake Okoboji, said Conway, a former mayor of Muscatine, is "mad at me because I didn't discuss with him his possible reappointment to the Board of Control."

Indications were after Wednesday's Highway Commission meeting in Ames that Robert Keir of Spencer would remain on the commission, challenging the appointment of Barry.

Keir and commission Chairman Jo Stong of Keosauqua, both Republicans, had said one of them probably would put up a legal battle to remain on the commission. Stong said after Wednesday's meeting that he had no intention of returning to the commission.

TERMS OF THREE Republican commissioners will expire June 30, but only one could remain under Hultman's ruling. The third outgoing commissioner, William H. Nicholas of Clear Lake, has not commented on the controversy, but indications were he would not try to stay on the commission.

"This thing is bigger than men," Stong said. "And for the good of the Highway Commission, I hope this bickering will end and we can start building roads."

The Highway Commission showdown is expected to come next Wednesday at the commission's organizational meeting. Keir had no statement on his intentions after Stong's statement, except to say he is still considering the matter.

KEIR SAID HE was told that he or any other commissioner desiring to remain in office would have 10 days after July 1 to file a bond. Barry already has filed a bond and was on hand to watch commission proceedings Wednesday.

But Hughes' advisers reportedly have told him the bonds of highway commissioners are subject to his approval. Any holdover member could have trouble getting his bond approved.

Hughes has maintained that his interim appointments followed precedent used by other governors many other times. He said the legal problem is a matter for the courts to settle. Earlier this week he told a news conference that both Barry and Crawford will take office July 1 in spite of the attorney general's opinion.

Hughes also said that the Senate operates in secrecy on appointments and gave him no reason for rejecting Barry or no basis for submitting another nominee.

Fund Control Approved

DES MOINES (AP) — Control of a $2 million fund created to meet state emergencies in the next two years belongs to the Legislative Interim Committee, the attorney general's office said Wednesday. Such authority earlier had been ruled unconstitutional.

The Interim Committee was told Wednesday by Asst. Atty. Gen. Oscar Strauss and Solicitor Wilbur Bump that it has control over the spending of the emergency fund because a bill giving it the authority was signed into law.

Before the signing of the bill passed by the 1963 legislature, Atty. Gen. Evan Hultman ruled that a portion of the measure giving the Interim Committee authority over the spending of the appropriation was unconstitutional.

But because the bill was signed by Gov. Harold Hughes and becomes law July 4, Strauss and Bump said, the committee may continue to exercise control over the money.

"The powers of the committee will be just the same as they have been in the past," the attorney general's representatives said. "If it is unconstitutional it will be up to the courts to say so."

Bump and Strauss said the attorney general's office would defend the Interim Committee if its actions are challenged because "it is the duty of the attorney general's office to uphold Iowa laws."

Such a challenge apparently could not be made by Hughes, who has charged that the Interim Committee is usurping the powers of the governor's office and the State Executive Council.

As governor, Hughes has sworn to uphold Iowa laws.

Hultman's original ruling that such power was unconstitutional was based on the fact that spending of money appropriated by the legislature was an executive function, as contended by Hughes.

Strauss and Bump said they would put their latest opinion in writing. That was requested by state Sen. Clifford Vance (R-Mount Pleasant) chairman of the Interim Committee, who said he wanted a written opinion "so members of the committee will not be personally liable in case action is taken against us."

Bump and Strauss also said that under the law the Interim Committee has authority to rule on expenditures of state funds appropriated to state agencies. During the legislative session the attorney general had ruled that the committee did not have such power, but Strauss and Bump said the authority was since given in the new law signed by the governor.

Hughes is vacationing at Lake Okoboji. His office said he would have no comment on the opinion until it is issued in writing.

Local Boy Hit by Car

Twelve-year-old Jack Lough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Lough, 428 Kirkwood Ave., was injured Wednesday evening when the bicycle he was riding was struck by a car at the intersection of Burlington and Madison Streets. The car, driven by Joseph N. Karpisek, A3, Denver, Colo., was traveling east in the inside lane of Burlington when the bicycle darted into the intersection.

Witnesses said the auto struck the front of the bicycle, spilling the boy to the pavement near the middle of the intersection, about 6:50 p.m.

An unidentified doctor assisted at the scene and aided passersby in moving the boy to the side of the street.

The youngster, who was wrapped in blankets, was conscious and inquired about his bicycle and paper route collection bag.

Three Iowa City patrol units arrived at the scene within minutes and one unit took the injured boy to Mercy Hospital where his injuries, although not believed serious, have not yet been determined.

Iowans Sweat Through Another Hot, Muggy Day

Hot and muggy weather prevailed in Iowa again Wednesday. Temperatures were mostly in the upper 80s around the state, with the mercury edging into the lower 90s in eastern portions.

Showers and thunderstorms struck the southwestern part of the state Wednesday morning and moved into the northeastern and southeastern portions Wednesday evening.

Little change is expected in the weather today. Highs will again be mostly in the 80s, with some localities reaching the lower 90s.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms are expected to roam about the state today and tonight.

Regents Okay Committee

Three members of the SUI teaching faculty, one member of the University's Administrative Council, and one alumna will comprise a special advisory committee to aid the State Board of Regents in its task of selecting a successor to SUI President Virgil M. Hancher when he retires in June, 1964.

By resolution the Regents approved the establishment of a University Advisory Committee following a meeting Wednesday with representatives of the SUI Faculty Council, who recommended the committee and a procedure for electing three faculty members to it.

The University Advisory Committee will advise the Regents' own six-member presidential selection committee, Board President Harry Hagemann said Wednesday. Its members will also assist the Regents' committee in gathering information on likely candidates for the SUI presidency, Hagemann said.

The three faculty members will be chosen by vote of tenured members of the SUI teaching faculty. Another committee member shall be chosen by and from the SUI Administrative Council, and the fifth member will be chosen by the SUI Alumni Association to represent

Robert Kennedy Asks Congress To Pass Civil Rights Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, declaring "this country can no longer abide the moral outrage of racial discrimination," asked Congress to pass the Administration's civil rights bill.

He got immediate confirmation of the difficulties the legislation faces when he ran into bristling objections to a proposal to ban discrimination in hotels, restaurants and other places of public accommodation.

He also got a hint of Southern hostility and a whiff of politics injected by Republican members of a House Judiciary subcommittee before whom Kennedy appeared Wednesday to open the Administration's drive for his program advocated by his brother, President Kennedy.

The Attorney General's testimony was heard by a crowd that spilled

Reception Called The Greatest Ever

BERLIN (AP) — President Kennedy looked over the wall dividing Berlin into the Red-ruled East on Wednesday and declared the barb-wire-topped barrier a vivid symbol of Communist failure.

As the roaring cheers of beleaguered West Berliners rang out, the President saw East Berliners wave to him in open scorn of armed Red police.

More than a million persons —

Irish Acclaim Kennedy

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — President Kennedy was wildly acclaimed in Ireland Wednesday night as a son of the old sod who made good abroad.

Shrugging aside the fact that the U.S. Chief Executive is a fourth-generation American, the happy Irish greeted him with banners.

The President's plane arrived from Berlin to a packed house at Dublin Airport, and his motorcade was cheered all the way to the Phoenix Park residence of U.S. Ambassador Matthew H. McCloskey, where he was spending the night.

A spokesman for the Garda — Ireland's national police force — estimated that a quarter of a million persons had seen the President at the airport and along the route of the motorcade.

Spectators perched on window ledges, climbed the stately on O'Connell Street, Dublin's main thoroughfare, clung to Lord Nelson's famous pillar, and hung from trees.

As the presidential procession swept past the General Post Office, where a famous battle for Irish independence was fought in 1916, a synthetic snowstorm of ticker tape and torn paper pelted down from windows overlooking the street.

He saw the famed Brandenburg Gate bedecked with Red flags behind the wall and he went to Checkpoint Charlie, the last official crossing point between East and West Berlin.

HE STOOD IN the Rathaus Square before 250,000 wildly cheering Germans and labeled the wall "an offense against history and an offense against humanity."

He gave this advice to people who proclaim Communism is the wave of the future and that the West can work with the Communists: "Lass sie nach Berlin kommen — let them come to Berlin."

WEST BERLIN MAYOR Willy Brandt used only five words to tell the President what the West Berliners also were trying to say with their cheers: "We will not give up."

Kennedy addressed German construction workers in Trade Union Congress Hall and urged them to bear in mind that "in meeting your responsibility to those who belong to your unions to also realize that unions will not survive except in a world of freedom."

He gave firm reassurance of America's position in West Berlin by saying: "When I leave tonight, I leave the United States stays." And at the famed Free University of Berlin Kennedy told students that "history itself runs against the Marxist dogma, not toward it."

The American President had sober words of counsel for West Berliners: "Let me ask you . . . to lift your eyes beyond the dangers of today, to the hopes of tomorrow, beyond the freedom merely of this city of Berlin, or your country or Germany, to the advance of freedom everywhere, beyond the wall, to the day of peace with justice, beyond yourselves and ourselves to all mankind."

Kentucky Gets Anti-Bias Rule

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Gov. Bert Combs Wednesday ordered racial discrimination ended in all state-licensed businesses and professions.

Julius Rather, the governor's legal assistant, called the executive order the most sweeping document of its kind by any state.

It affects motels, restaurants, taverns, bars, doctors, dentists, nursing homes, funeral homes, real estate brokers, attorneys, accountants, dairy product outlets and even watchmakers.

By issuing the executive order, Combs bypassed civil rights legislation during the current special session of the legislature. Several groups were pressuring him for a law to ban discrimination in public accommodations.

But the governor told a news conference Wednesday that the special session had been called primarily to keep five eastern Kentucky hospitals from closing and that the lawmakers are not prepared for any integration measure.

Combs' order gives each executive department and agency 60 days to submit a report on its authority over affected establishments and professions.

Then the agency head "is directed to proceed with all deliberate speed toward a program of full compliance with the purposes and intent of this order."

Several Negro leaders expressed cautious approval of Combs' move. In recent consultations they had advised Combs that if some type of equal rights step were not taken soon, Kentucky would become embroiled in mass demonstrations such as those in other Southern states.

Women Meet In Uproar

MOSCOW (AP) — Chinese Communist delegates threw the World Congress for Women into an uproar Wednesday by invading the speakers' platform and demanding time to air their views on the Chinese-Indian border conflict.

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy's name also is figured in the day's stormy proceedings during a Spanish Communist delegate's defense of Premier Khrushchev's policies of peaceful coexistence with the West.

Mrs. Kwo-Dien, a leader of the Chinese delegation, and a translator, firmly held their ground for 20 minutes after the chairman, Dr. Joan Carril of England, refused to grant them the floor and adjourned the meeting in exasperation.

The two tiny Chinese women, in shabby dresses with spilt skirts, grimly marched to the podium and demanded to be heard after Mrs. Aruna Asaf Ali of India had presented the Indian side of the Himalayan border conflict.

Mrs. Ali, head of the National Federation of Indian Women, said she did not wish to provoke controversy, but she made it clear she believed the Chinese were blocking India and neutral attempts to settle the dispute.

The Culprits!

Great Mailbox Robbery May Have Been Solved

Parents in the Finkbine housing area were advised Wednesday, to keep an eye on small children who police believe have been rifling mailboxes in the area.

Reports of packages and letters having been opened and strewn over the area have been received by Campus Police who said some paychecks have also been mutilated.

A cooperative effort by parents was urged, in corraling the youngsters, with the added thought, "the paycheck you save may be your own."

The Hayfield Releases Its Hold

THE HAYFIELD AND THE SCHOOL SYSTEM are finally severing diplomatic relations after over a century of a unique relationship in the United States' unique educational system.

Elementary and high schools across the nation are switching from remedial summer programs to programs which can graduate a student from high school two or three years earlier than average.

SUI's participation in the college-level revolution is emphasized by its increasing summer enrollments. An estimated 5,225 students — a record high — will study at the 1963 summer session.

More important, the twelve-week Summer Session — which may eventually be integrated into a year round trimester program — has 334 students this summer, more than five times the number in the pilot program last year.

The enrollment figures are encouraging. They show that the student is accepting the opportunity to speed up his educational program. At the same time he is providing the taxpayers a more efficient and economical use of the school systems.

The hayfield, at last, has given up the ghost. And the switch-over by the school system from the agricultural to the jet age — coming as it does at a crucial time in education — is gratifying.

Iowa City, On The Other Hand . . .

WATERLOO, LIKE KEOKUK and unlike Iowa City, has been presented a bold plan to build a shopping center in the downtown area.

The plan asks that a 12 square block area be cleared, and a shopping center type development be built. The plan includes space for free parking for 3,000 vehicles. The estimated cost of acquiring the land is set at $5 million.

The move by Waterloo follows on the heels of last week's election in Keokuk which saw voters approve a downtown shopping center. Sioux City and several cities in Illinois have also taken similar steps.

It remains to be seen if interested businessmen in Iowa City will soon take the initiative to draw up a plan to renovate the downtown business district.

Needless to say, some sort of planning now should begin. The parking problems in the downtown area is very crucial. It is much easier to shop at outlying stores or even Cedar Rapids than it is to try to find a parking spot in the downtown area. Certainly, it is much quicker to go to the outlying stores.

In addition, many of the buildings in the downtown area are very unsightly. The first impression gained by one walking downtown Iowa City is that the stores are about average condition as far as most Iowa cities go. But when one raises his view above the street front and looks at the second and third stories, one's impression immediately changes. Some of the buildings are absolutely wretched.

Someone is going to have to take the initiative. Local businessmen can no longer sit downtown and not worry. It seems that if the downtown area is permitted to deteriorate for many more years, outlying stores and shopping centers will ruin downtown business.

Immediate steps should be taken and the first is the forming of a businessmen's council in initiate planning.

Kennedy's Trip Significant Politically —

A New German-American Relationship?

By JOSEPH ALSOP
WASHINGTON — The warmth of President Kennedy's welcome in Germany is a significant political fact, in and of itself. It is bound to give added impetus to a highly important new trend of thought among the American policy-makers.

fruitfulness — which was the period before President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan came to power.
In that era, the British and American policy-makers worked together almost as though they had been serving the same masters. Their collaboration influenced every development, whether within the Western alliance, or in the West's unending contest with the Eastern bloc.

Secondly, the former special relationship with Britain is by now pretty frail and under-nourished, being all but entirely limited to exchanges of nuclear data. Even with Prime Minister Macmillan, the Anglo-American policy disagreements currently outweigh the policy agreements. If Harold Wilson becomes Prime Minister, the position is likely to deteriorate further.

superfluous bodies will have to be brought home, and so on.
Whatever happens, Gen. de Gaulle's propagandists will then surely point to the steps being taken as proofs of the U.S. intention to "abandon" Europe — which is what Gen. de Gaulle hopes we will do. But the propaganda will not matter — it will fall on deaf ears, in fact — if the American plan has been carefully staffed out with our other allies, and especially with the Germans.

— An American Negro Writes —

'I Have Little Pride In Being an American'

By RALPH MCGILL
(Editor's Note: This letter, from a young Negro in the U.S. Air Force, so well puts the case of the American Negro's rather desperate position and so rebukes the extremists who oppose civil rights by playing on unworthy fears based on myth and prejudice, and who falsely confuse civil equality with social, that it is printed as a strong human document and irrefutable testimony in behalf of moral and legal action.)

confusion changed into a feeling of distrust and finally dislike but not hate. When I read of incidents taking place in other Southern states such as the murder of Emmett Till and his murderers being allowed to go free, or when a Negro prisoner accused of rape was dragged from his jail cell and murdered in broad daylight, or when a Negro girl is raped by six white soldiers and they get suspended jail terms of 18 months, when in a similar case the woman was white and the attackers Negro they were all put to death, I felt that a gross miscarriage of justice had occurred and true I felt I should hate all white persons but this feeling was short lived.

Rise Seen in June

Cost of Living Stays Same

WASHINGTON (AP)—Living costs in May in the United States remained unchanged for the second straight month, but a Labor Department official said they are probably rising again this month.

Labor Statistics deputy commissioner, reported Wednesday the May consumer price index was 106.2 compared with 100 for the base period 1957-59.

The May index equals the all-time high of March this year and is one per cent above that of a year ago.

Noting this, Myers told a news conference: "We're lucky when we consider what has happened in other major countries, mostly European."

The long-term steady increase in living costs, halted in the past two months, Myers said, has averaged a tenth of one per cent monthly.

To the consumer the May price index of 106.2 means that it costs 62 cents more to buy the same necessities that a $10 bill would have purchased in the 1957-59 period.

Factors in the May index were higher prices for transportation and medical care but lower prices for food, clothing, housing and recreation.

Higher prices for food and housing figured in the one per cent rise since May 1962, although all major types of goods and services shared in the upward swing.

Reviewing figures for the past two months, Myers commented:

"It looks like the price stability we have had is about over. June probably will show an appreciable increase of at least one-tenth of one per cent."

The prospects, he said, are for rising food prices, still higher prices for fresh fruits already driven up by last winter's storm and freeze in California and Florida, and a probable rise in used-car prices and services, particularly medical.

Prices for orange juice concentrates have gone up nearly 50 per cent in the past year, Myers said. Permanent damage to fruit trees may strongly affect prices for years, he added.

As a result of the May index, cost-of-living allowances will increase a cent an hour for some 90,000 workers.

Iowa Interstate Safest—Survey

AMES (AP)—Iowa's interstate highways produced the lowest number of fatal accidents per miles traveled last year and secondary roads the highest, an Iowa Highway Commission survey showed Wednesday.

For each 100 million miles traveled, secondary roads recorded 7.91 fatal accidents. In comparison, interstate highways produced 1.85 fatalities.

Fatal accidents per 100 million miles traveled on the interstate highways dropped to 1.85 in 1962 from 2.75 in 1961.

All classes of roadways recorded a reduced rate of fatal accidents in 1962 except primary roads in urban areas, where the rate climbed from 2.93 to 2.94.

McKinley In Third Round In England

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Chuck McKinley, playing like a boxer aiming for a knockout with every punch, bobbed erratically into the third round of the 77th Wimbledon Tennis Championships Wednesday.

The No. 1 United States player, seeded fourth here, polished off Alan Lane, 20-year-old Australian, 7-5, 6-4, 8-6 with a display of acrobatic tennis that was brilliant one minute and tantalizingly indifferent the next.

Dennis Ralston, 22-year-old U.S. indoor and NCAA champion, fell in his second round match with Indian court artist Ramanathan Krishnan, 6-3, 3-6, 12-10. It was the match that drew the largest crowd and generated the most excitement.

Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif., the leading American hope for the women's title, waltzed through a first-round match against Mrs. Jean Fulton of England, 6-0, 6-0, in just 25 minutes. Then she took only 30 minutes to polish off Caroline Yates-Bell of England, 6-2, 6-1 in the second round. She never doffed her sweater in either match.

Roy Emerson of Australia, the No. 1 seed and top-heavy men's favorite, went into the third round with an 8-5, 7-5, 6-2 victory over Italy's Orlando Sirola.

Two of the eight seeded players also fell on the third day of the tournament, marked again by chilly winds and rain that once halted play completely.

Ken Fletcher, No. 3, was beaten by fellow Australian Fred Stolle 7-5, 9-7, 13-15, 6-0, and Pierre Darmon of France, No. 6, was defeated by Aussie Bob Howe, 3-6, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3.

Mike Sangster of England, the No. 8 seed, lost earlier.

Arthur Ashe, Richmond, Va., the first American Negro man to play at Wimbledon, won his second-round match, as did Frank Froehling, Coral Gables, Fla.; Jack Frost, Monterey, Calif.; and Tom Edelsten, Berkeley, Calif.

Ashe defeated J. B. Hillebrandt, Australia, 5-7, 7-5, 11-9, 3-6, 6-3. Froehling beat Barry Geraghty, Australia, 3-6, 15-13, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2. Frost won over Fred McMillan of South Africa 6-4, 6-1, 7-5. Edelsten beat Charles Pasarell of Santurce, Puerto Rico, 6-3, 9-11, 6-4, 6-1, 7-5.

In addition to Ralston and Pasarell, Americans who lost included Ed Rubinoff, Miami Beach, and Bill Hoogs, Berkeley, Calif. Joergen Ulrich of Denmark beat Rubingoff 6-1, 6-1, 8-6. Antonio Palafox of Mexico beat Hoogs 6-2, 6-2, 8-10, 1-6, 6-2.

Robert Siska of San Francisco also met defeat, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3, at the hands of Giuseppe Merlo of Italy.

Two American girls scored first-round victories. Carol Hanks of St. Louis defeated Pamela Watermeyer of South Africa 6-2, 6-2, and Tory Fretz of Harrisburg, Pa., defeated Carole Prosen, Orlando, Fla., 6-1, 6-1.

Colts 7, Braves 2

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Houston's hapless Colts, who had scored only six runs in losing 10 straight, rammed in five runs in the 13th inning Wednesday night and ended their losing string with a 7-2 triumph over Milwaukee.

Bruce Woodeshick (8) and Campbell Shaw, Hendley (8), Raymond (13) and Torre, W — Woodeshick (7-3). L — Hendley (4-5). Home run — Houston, Sprangler (1).

Belinsky Says He'll Report

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bo Belinsky decided Wednesday to report to Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League.

The playboy southpaw on Saturday night dissolved the battery of Belinsky and Mamie Van Doren. He has since been dating Mrs. Ricky duPont. She is the wealthy widow of Francis V. duPont.

The two showed up at Chavez Ravine Tuesday night to watch the Los Angeles Angels get clobbered 10-0 by the Baltimore Orioles.

It was Bo's first visit to the park since May 24 when the Angels farmed him out to Hulaville. He balked at reporting and was placed off salary.

Mrs. duPont told newsmen at the ballpark: "Bo belongs down there on the field."

He apparently took her advice because he asked his lawyer, Paul Caruso, to make all the necessary arrangements to report.

Belinsky said he and Mrs. duPont are just friends.

Mantle May Play Again on June 11

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Yankee star Mickey Mantle, sidelined since June 5, had the cast removed from his fractured left foot Wednesday and probably will be ready to play again July 11.

Mantle flew here from his home in Dallas for examination by Dr. Sidney Gaynor, club physician, who said X-ray examination showed "surprisingly fast healing" of the center fielder's foot.

Dr. Gaynor said he had built a special left shoe for Mantle to relieve pressure on the still tender area of the break, in the third metatarsal bone.

Without complications, Dr. Gaynor said, Mantle should be able to resume action after the All-Star baseball game in Cleveland July 9. The Yanks' first game after the All-Star break is at Los Angeles July 11.

THIS IS A SPECIALIST
NEW YORK (AP)—Football Coach Allie Sherman of the New York Giants is in favor of a kicking specialist, and here's his definition:

"A specialist should punt and place kick and do nothing else so that he will not face the danger of injury. If he must play, it should be on defense so that there is no necessity of pulling a man on offense for a rest."

Bo Belinsky (center), the playboy pitcher who's just broken his engagement to actress Mamie Van Doren, stops with Mrs. Ricky duPont to chat with Leonard Firestone, one of the owners of the Los Angeles Angels, at last night's ball game between the Angels and Baltimore Orioles. Belinsky has been dating Mrs. duPont, widow of Francis V. duPont, since breaking up with Mamie, but they're just friends. He says he's decided to report to Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League. — AP Wirephoto

Harkness' Grand Slammer Lets Mets Beat Cubs, 8-6

NEW YORK (AP)—Tim Harkness' grand slam homer, his fourth hit of the game, gave the New York Mets an 8-6 victory over the Chicago Cubs in the 14th inning Wednesday after Billy Williams hit a two-run homer in the top of the 14th.

The Cubs apparently had won this game in 95-degree heat when Williams hit an inside-the-park homer in the top of the 14th, the first Chicago hit in nine innings, from the fifth to the 14th.

In the bottom of the 14th, Jim Hickman and Ron Hunt singled but Hickman was out when he overran second. After Jim Piersall walked, Thomas fled out and Sammy Taylor walked.

Harkness then hit his grand slammer, his seventh homer of the year, into the lower stands in right field on a 3-2 delivery from the Cubs' Jim Brewer.

Nicklaus' Game Is Back; Leads With Six Under

CLEVELAND (AP)—Masters champion Jack Nicklaus, who surrendered his National Open crown last week without making the half-way cutoff, served notice Wednesday his usually faultless game is back on the beam.

The 23-year-old Columbus, Ohio, strongboy sank a 15-foot putt for his sixth birdie to the Mason Rudolph for the top spot in the pro-amateur preliminary to the $110,000 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament with 65.

That was six under par for the 6,618-yard, par 71, Beechmont Country Club course, and the two leaders won $900 each of a $10,000 pot. Rudolph had seven birdies and one bogey, but Nicklaus was par or better on each hole.

Gary Player, the dapper South African, had three torrid partners from the amateur ranks and they won Gary's 69 for a winning best-ball total of 57, which was good for an $800 payoff to Player. Nicklaus was paired with Jim Brown, Cleveland Browns full-back, and former Cleveland grid stars Dante Lavelli and Otto Graham. The latter hit a galleryite in the nose with an errant tee shot, and the quartet wound up a dozen under par. The struck man was released from a hospital after treatment.
