

British High Society Rocks; Christine Tells of Affairs

LONDON (AP) — Christine Keeler told a court Friday she had sexual relations with former War Minister John Profumo for money, slept only one time with Soviet Naval Attache Yevgeny Ivanov, and Lord Astor once paid her rent.

The 21-year-old, self-styled model, her red hair falling over her face, was the first prosecution witness at a magistrate's hearing to decide whether society osteopath Dr. Stephen Ward, 50, must stand trial on vice charges.

Ward introduced Miss Keeler to Profumo and Ivanov and also broke the scandal of the three-way relationship that ruined Profumo's career and almost toppled Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservative Government.

Macmillan said Friday night he would not panic over the Profumo scandal and he intends to lead the Conservative Party in the next election.

An hour before appearing on the nation's television screens he told a public meeting that, in handling the Profumo affair, he did not intend "to fall either into panic or obstinacy — or complacency."

Christine testified she gave Ward about half the money she got from men, but money and gifts from Profumo went to her mother.

Lord Astor, with "no ulterior motive," she said, once paid the rent on the apartment she shared with Marilyn (Mandy) Rice-Davies, 18, who took the stand next.

"While I was living at the flat," said Miss Rice-Davies, a dimpled blonde, "I had intercourse with Lord Astor."

The girls, both beautiful, spilled a sensational story of sex in London's governmental, diplomatic and high society circles that seemed certain to rock the country as strongly as the original disclosures.

As Prosecutor Mervyn Griffith-Jones outlined the background, Ward burst out: "It's quite untrue. It's quite untrue!"

His lawyer said the doctor would plead innocent to eight charges which include procuring, running a brothel, arranging abortions and living off the earnings of prostitutes.

She (Miss Keeler) brought a burst of "Ho, ho, ho!" from spectators jam-packed in Marylebone Magistrate's Court when she insisted her relations with Ward were those of "brother and sister."

Dressed in a demure gray suit, and speaking softly, she went into detail about her life with Ward. She said she did pretty much what he wanted "because I admired him."

"Ward said I would not be a prostitute or a call girl and I know this myself. He used to say it was the frame of mind I was in. I have never considered myself a prostitute or a call girl," she added, tossing back her hair.

Miss Keeler said she took up modeling to meet girls Ward might like and enticed them back to his apartment.

Miss Rice-Davies, a pink petal that on her head, testified she met Lord Astor through Ward and slept with the Viscount, 55. She referred to him as "Bill."

Astor has been married three times. His current wife is the former Bronwen Pugh, daughter of a high court judge.

Company Member Describes Repertory Theatre Program

By CAROLE ANDERSEN
Staff Writer

"Rehearsals for the Summer Repertory Theatre began exactly two hours after this spring's final examinations were over," according to a member of the company. The first public performance will be given July 5, in the University Theatre.

Becky Cox, A2, Iowa City, is one of 18 students participating in the third season of the Summer Repertory Theatre here.

Repertory is a system of play production in which a company of actors rehearses several plays simultaneously, and then performs them in nightly rotation. The concept of repertory, seldom used by American theatre, dates back to Europe in the Middle Ages.

The purpose of the actors was to arouse laughter which called for sensitive perception, teamwork, and immediate reaction on the part of fellow actors. It required a group of actors who could respond to each other.

Tryouts for this summer's repertory program were held the last weekend in March. Becky said. The company was selected on the basis of ability.

"Because everyone in the company is to perform one leading role, one major supporting role, and a minor role, or bit part, the actors are chosen also on their adaptability," she said.

"The repertory system is a wonderful experience for the actors," Becky continued. "Not only are we working for outstanding directors, and performing four famous plays, but we get to know each other so well that we can play on fellow actor's subtleties and can become a true ensemble." In this way, the essence of repertory is maintained, she said.

Becky is performing in three of this summer's plays. She will portray Katharina, in "The Taming of the Shrew," by William Shakespeare; Dorine, an outspoken, flirtatious maid, in "Tartuffe," by Moliere; Sara, the leader of a group of girls who are awed by a boy who supposedly killed his father, in "The Playboy of the Western World," by John Synge.

A typical day for one in the Summer Repertory Theatre begins at 7:30 a.m., Becky said. "Sometimes I rise earlier, depending on how much line work I need before rehearsal at 9.

"We rehearse one play from 9 to 11, and then have an hour off for lunch," Becky continued. We resume at noon and practice until 5 p.m. with an hour break in the afternoon. After a two-hour dinner break, nightly rehearsals end at 10 p.m., she said.

"Leisure time is scarce," Becky said. "We have had only one full Sunday off, and only two 24-hour breaks."

Other students participating in the Summer Repertory Theatre plays are: Bruce French, Reinbeck; Gertrude Gordon, A1, Lake City; Kristen Hawkes, A1, Ames; Joan Helg, A3, West Burlington; Stephen Mass, G, Chicago, Ill.; Paul Mathey, A4, Cedar Rapids; Collette Mikesell, Keswick; William Orth, A2, Iowa City; and Peter O'Sullivan, G, Iowa City.

Also Richard Palan, A3, University City, N. J.; Robert J. Paulus, L1, Iowa City; Faith Potter, G; Egg Harbor City, N. J.; Charles Rainsback, Belle Plaine; Newell Tarrant, A2, Honolulu, Hawaii; Beverly Tresan, A1, Memphis, Tenn.; Marilyn Twito, A4, Dewitt; Kent Tunks, A2, Short Hills, N. J.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth insisted to Senate investigators Friday that the design he approved for the TFX warplane promised "the best aircraft in the time available and at the least program cost."

"I stand firm" summed up Korth's position when he testified before the Permanent Investigations Subcommittee.

This group since February has been trying to determine whether favoritism sent the huge job — ultimately expected to cost $6.5 billion — to General Dynamics Corp. of Fort Worth, Tex., rather than to the rival bidder, Boeing Co. of Seattle, Wash.

Korth's appearance marked the beginning of the closing phase of testimony-taking in the prolonged inquiry.

The testimony, all taken in secret, has been released in security-censored form after each of the dozens of hearings. Based on those transcripts, the attacks have been directed almost exclusively toward the judgment of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who made the final decision, and among his civilian advisers.

There were Coils, Combs, Cousins, three Winters, a Spring, but no Fall or Summer, a point which many people would probably dispute, considering the meteoric rise of the mercury in the 90s for the past few days.

There were ten people who bore the names of Presidents of the United States, including a John Kennedy, but, alas, his middle initial is R.

There were a couple of Hatfields, but no McCoy's with whom to carry on the feud. But just in case there had been, there is a Sheriff and three Marshalls to take care of the bad guys.

Musically, there was a Drum and a Horn.

The Directory has its colorful aspect, too, dotted with Greens, Greens, Blacks, Whites, Grays and Browns.

There was a Boat and two Boatmen to sail down the Brook. There were Hills, a Bird, Woods, and Groves, and a Paar, in which to enjoy them.

In addition, there were Goods, but no Bads; Bells, but no Ringers; and Sharps, but no Dulls. And there were Halls and Hills, a Ford, an Apple, five Prices, a couple of Fees, and a Paar. There were the French and the Scotts, a Trapp in which to catch a Bear, a couple of Blues, and a couple in a Rush, five Littles, a May and a couple of Days.

And that's about the Long, of whom there were six, and the Short, of whom there were three, or more.

U.S. Investigates Call Girl Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — United Nations Secretary-General U Thant said Friday he is looking into reports that prostitutes operated in the international organization with U.N. diplomats as their prey.

He told a news conference he was apprised of the reports carried in some newspapers and "I immediately asked the head of the responsible department to submit a report."

He declined comment pending receipt of the department report.

The newspaper reports first appeared in the New York Journal-American last weekend. The newspaper said an international ring of call girls operated in the United Nations with some of the girls hiding behind the immunity of foreign diplomatic service personnel.

Myrtle Lawyer Ends SUI Career

Mrs. Myrtle Lawyer, SUI admissions examiner began her retirement Friday after 41 years of service to the University.

A 1922 SUI graduate with a degree in commerce, Mrs. Lawyer joined the University staff that year and has been an examiner since 1932.

A month from now, Mrs. Lawyer will go to Baltimore, Md., to begin an orientation course in presentation for a year of volunteer work with the Lutheran Church in America.

JFK Pledges Arms Control Aid from U.S.

DUBLIN (AP) — President Kennedy pledged Friday that the United States would use all its power to forge a worldwide pact to freeze the spread of atomic weapons.

In an unprecedented appearance before widely applauding members of the Irish Dail, Kennedy recalled that it was Ireland which sponsored a United Nations resolution to stop the spread of nuclear arms and find a way to control them.

"I pledge to you that the United States will do all in its power to achieve such an agreement and fulfill your resolution," he added.

Kennedy's appearance before the Dail climaxed another day of heartwarming reception of the Irish — and a day in which Irish enthusiasm momentarily endangered his safety.

At Cork City Hall, an excited Irish onlooker grasped Kennedy's hand as he stood in his car. The man refused to let go as the car started to move, and Kennedy stumbled and fell below the edge of the car. A Secret Service man tumbled on top of the President, who picked himself up quickly and again flashed his smile at his well-wishers.

There was no harm done except to the nerves of Kennedy's Secret Service guards.

The crowded Dail roared its approval of the great-grandson of Patrick Kennedy who emigrated from Dunganstown, Ireland, about 120 years ago.

Outside tens of thousands of Irishmen thronged Dublin's streets to cheer "Cousin Jack."

The President's thirty-minute speech to Parliament climaxed his second full day of barnstorming in the Irish countryside since he flew here Wednesday night.

During the morning he went by helicopter to Cork and received the freedom of the city from which so many Irishmen had sailed to the United States over the past century or more.

Storm Hits Central Iowa; Man Killed in Des Moines

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Destructive winds roared across Des Moines and central Iowa at supersonic speed Friday night, sending up rolling clouds of dust and then bringing welcome rain to much of the area.

At 10:45 p.m. the Cedar Rapids Airport informed The Daily Iowan that the storm would apparently not extend to this vicinity.

One death was reported. M-Sgt. Maurice Schultz, 34, of Indianola, a recruiting officer at Ford Des Moines, was killed when crushed by a tree that fell on his car. He was reported dead on arrival at Des Moines Veterans Hospital.

Officials warned that the storm carried winds of possibly tornadic force.

The winds struck rapidly from the north just as thousands of Iowa families were setting down to the supper table or preparing family cookouts in the back yards.

The winds, accompanied by hail in some areas, chased most families inside and in some cases scattered hot charcoals over the neighborhoods.

The mercury skidded as the storm hit, dropping as much as 30 degrees in less than half an hour after temperatures in the upper 90s were recorded in much of the state.

In Des Moines there was a report that one house collapsed but no one was injured.

However, Broadlawn General Hospital said it admitted eight persons for treatment of minor injuries suffered when they were hit by falling limbs or were involved in car accidents caused by the wind. The hospital had to work with emergency lights.

Early reports indicated property damage was heavy. Hundreds of trees were toppled in Des Moines and much of the city lost its power about 6:30 p.m.

A hangar collapsed on a plane at the Dodge airport just north of Des Moines, and the Des Moines Municipal Airport lost the use of its radar for a short time when power failed.

The savage winds swept out of Minnesota and South Dakota and formed a pie-shaped wedge from the northwest corner to near the south-central border and then back to the northeast corner.

One section of the tin roof of Sec Taylor Stadium at Des Moines was ripped off by the wind, and a section of the outfield fence was blown down.

Community Band Gives 2nd Concert Here Tomorrow

The Iowa City Community Band will offer its second concert in the Park of its current season tomorrow at 4 p.m. in College Hill Park. Guest conductor for the occasion will be James Dixon, former associate conductor of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra and present conductor of the SUI Symphony Orchestra.

Dixon has chosen a program of music from Grand Opera, the concert hall, the waltz king — Johann Strauss — and the march king — John Philip Sousa. Soloist will be Chester Schmitz, tuba player, whose vehicle will be "The Carioaca" by Jerome Kern.

Concerts are held in College Hill Park between Washington and College Streets at Dodge Street.

Funeral Services Scheduled For Young Drowning Victims

Funeral services will be held today for two of the four boys who drowned Thursday afternoon in a farm pond near Riverside.

Double services will be held for John Yoder, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Yoder, and Raymond Gingerich, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mose Gingerich, at 2 p.m. today at the Fairview Conservative Menonite Church near Kalona.

Arrangements are in charge of the Yoder Funeral Home in Kalona.

The other two boys, David Bell, 10, and his brother Carl, 8, sons of Mrs. Ruby Schuman, will be buried Monday. Arrangements are in charge of the Outback Funeral Home. The place of burial has not yet been chosen.

The four boys drowned in a pond on the Noah Mast farm one mile west of Riverside near the Washington-Johnson County line. The drownings occurred in an estimated 20 to 25 feet of water.

None of the boys was believed able to swim.

What's in a name, you ask? According to the Student Directory for the 1963 Summer Session, released Wednesday, there are many things (from Aagesen to Zwack).

For example, you don't keep up with the Joneses any more; you keep up with the 66 Johnsons and Smiths, for 33 of each were registered. Even the Millers were making a better showing — all 29 of them.

The Jones clan has come up with only 13 representatives, behind the 16 Williamses, the 15 Petersons, the 15 Hansens, the 15 Andersons, but ahead of the 10 Browns.

Going from the common to the royal, there were nine Kings, two Tudors, one Kaiser, one Prince and one Baron, but no Lords, Dukes or Duchesses.

$20 Million Budget OK'ed For SUI by Regents Here

To add to the woes of Iowa City's 100 degree weather Friday, City Park Pool had to be closed because of mechanical troubles in the filtering system. Steve Condon, 11, 430 S. Dodge, wistfully waits for the troubles to be cleared up.

Currier Addition Approved; Compulsory ROTC Ousted

After working through one of the longest SUI dockets in many months, the State Board of Regents Friday approved a $20,626,250 budget for SUI next year, okayed an addition to Currier Hall, abolished compulsory ROTC here, and named Prof. Billy L. Barnes acting dean of the College of Business Administration.

SUI's grant was part of a $66,800,000 appropriation for the six institutions governed by the Regents. This is the largest budget total in the Regents' 54-year history.

Following is a more detailed breakdown of the Regents' actions:

CURRIER ADDITION

The Regents selected the firm of Altfillisch, Olson, Gray and Thompson, of Decorah, to be associate architect on the Currier Hall addition project. The addition, to be financed by borrowing by the SUI dormitory system and repaid from room and board fees and other dormitory system income, will provide housing for 563 single women students. The project cost is budgeted at $2,525,000.

The Altfillisch firm was employed on the Burge Hall women's residence when it was built several years ago, and is the associate architect on the 474-bed addition to Burge Hall now under construction.

COMPULSORY ROTC

The Regents approved a plan to substitute five orientation lectures in military science for the present one year of compulsory ROTC training at SUI. University officials believe the lectures will provide a satisfactory introduction to the basic elements of the Army and Air Force programs.

NEW BUSINESS ADM. DEAN

Prof. Billy L. Barnes of the Department of Accounting was named acting dean of the College of Business Administration. He assumes the duties of Dean Sidney G. Winter, who had earlier requested that he be relieved of his duties at the close of the current fiscal year. Dean Winter will remain on the faculty as professor of accounting and chairman of the master's degree committee.

OTHER APPOINTMENTS

Prof. James C. Spalding was named acting director of the SUI School of Religion.

New departmental chairman appointments approved are: Prof. Milton Zigel, Department of German; and Prof. Charles Gibson, Department of History, both three year terms.

Reappointed to four-year terms were Prof. Eugenia Whitehead, home economics; Prof. Robert Turnbull, philosophy; and H. Clay Harshbarger, speech and dramatic arts.

CONSOLIDATION

The SUI Extension Division was consolidated with the Division of Special Services. The new organization will be known as the Division of Extension and University Services, to be headed by Robert F. Ray, who had been serving as dean of both separate services. The merger was made for the sake of efficiency and economy.

NEW CLUBHOUSE

The Regents okayed preliminary plans for a $150,000 clubhouse at Finkbine Golf Course. All costs will be met from income balances in the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics; no tax funds will be used.

CONSTRUCTION

The Regents approved preliminary plans and budgets for six SUI projects under the $7.5 million biennial appropriation earmarked by the Legislature last month for capital improvements. The projects will consume $1,142,000 of the $7.5 million appropriation.

A new Psychology Building without equipment is the major item included in the six projects. Completion of the $1,455,000 unit ($705,000 of this is from a federal matching grant) will enable SUI to overcome a serious lack of space for research and training activities.

Other projects given preliminary approval, and the estimated cost of each, are: a botany greenhouse and equipment, $60,000; replacement of some window frames in General Hospital, $30,000; roof repair at the Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children, $17,000; equipment for the Chemistry addition, $30,000, and equipment for the Engineering Building addition, $255,000. SUI also has a total of $1,123,000 in capital funds available in the next biennium for equipment and moving expenses for new buildings and additions made possible by the 1961 Legislature.

The Psychology Building is one of four new structures to be built under the 1963-65 capital improvements appropriation.

Other buildings called for in the two-year appropriation are a $2,000,000 classroom and office building, a $1,500,000 Speech Pathology Center ($750,000 of which will come from federal matching funds), and the greenhouse.

In approving the initial plans and budget for the Psychology Building, the Regents gave formal acceptance to a $705,000 matching grant from the National Science Foundation.

The Psychology Building would be located in front of the central section of East Hall. It would be air-conditioned, with five stories.

The botany greenhouse would be erected on the roof of the Chemistry Building, and would be joined to the present greenhouse.

The University also expects to apply $600,000 to an Art Building addition and $640,000 to begin a second addition to University Library from the 1963-65 capital appropriations. Funds for equipping buildings and additions will be sought from the next Legislature.

Other improvements to be financed out of the $7.5 million allotted by the Regents to SUI will range from remodeling vacated and obsolete space to air conditioning some rooms for increased summer usage.

REVENUE SOURCES

To supplement $16,156,250 in appropriated funds, SUI students will pay an estimated $4,050,000 in fees and the University will realize $770,000 in other revenue for a total budget of $20,626,250 for general educational operations. This is $2,667,204, or 14 per cent, higher than SUI's 1962-63 general operations budget.

UNIVERSITY HOSPITALS

At University Hospitals, where 25,000 bed patients and 161,000 outpatients received medical care last year, the general operating budget will be $10,970,068 for 1963-64, with $4,526,143 of this derived from private patient fees and other non-tax income. Psychopathic Hospital will operate on a budget of $1,549,700, the State Bacteriological Laboratory budget will be $501,975, and the Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children will operate on a budget of $794,800.

FACULTY SALARY RAISES

Increased appropriations to the universities and the college next year will be devoted essentially to improving faculty and staff salaries, in an effort to put the Iowa schools on a better competitive basis with those in other states; to providing additional teachers and supplies for the perhaps 1,000 more students expected to enroll next fall in the Regent institutions, and to strengthening curricular offerings in the constant effort to keep pace with the "explosion" of new knowledge.

SUI will devote $1,612,447 to bringing faculty salaries more in line with similar institutions in the Midwest. ISU will spend $1,142,691 in its general university budget for the same purpose, and SCI will devote $242,000 to that purpose.

Salary increases to faculty and professional staff members were made on a merit basis at the institutions.

RESIGNATIONS

Resignations were accepted from Ronald Hinchliffe, research associate professor of otolaryngology and maxillofacial surgery; David Gold, associate professor of sociology; Alfred Roggiano, associate professor of Spanish; Robert B. Kugel, associate professor of pediatrics; and John J. Flagler, program director of the Bureau of Labor and Management.

Nine new faculty members were appointed.

PROMOTIONS

Promotions of 73 SUI faculty members to the ranks of professor and associate professor were approved by the Regents. Space limitations prevent the listing of the names in this issue; they will be printed next week in The Daily Iowan.

Company Member Describes Repertory Theatre Program

Kennedy's Trip: A Message for Many

THERE WERE MESSAGES in President Kennedy's tremendous welcome in West Germany early this week. The messages were to the American people, Nikita Khrushchev, Charles de Gaulle and the rest of the world. The most important message to come out of the excitement stirred by Kennedy is that the people of western Europe hold great enthusiasm for the United States as a leader of the western world.

The Western Germans seemed to indicate that their future lies in the hands of the United States. Their common defense is dependent upon our military power.

The American people should now be satisfied that we must continue to pour billions of dollars into maintaining our military might. The German enthusiasm should drive home the point that as we go, so goes the free world.

The message to Mr. Khrushchev indicated that the west is not as divided as the Communists obviously hope. The Russian leader must now realize that the United States has backing from the people of western Europe and that overcoming this influence will not be as easy a task as it sometimes may seem.

But the message must have been driven home the hardest in France. De Gaulle, who has been playing mid-twentieth century Napoleon, has been served notice that he is not the leader he would like to be.

The French president surely feels disappointment at the huge reception given to Kennedy. As Kennedy came to Europe, De Gaulle's hopes of a Europe led by himself suddenly flew the coop.

To the U.S. adversaries in the rest of the world, including the Red Chinese, the message must have been extremely clear. It poignantly stated that freedom is exhilarating and that the people are enthusiastic about keeping it even if they must depend upon the United States.

The turnout in West Berlin — over one million — particularly points out that even a spot of freedom surrounded by Communism and constantly under the fear of being consumed by the Red menace that the type of freedom adhered to by the United States is something more than military might.

We must hail President Kennedy upon his success in Europe. And to the critics who said he should have stayed home, we say with self satisfaction: "You were never more wrong."

Thank You, Mr. Leikvold

CITY MANAGER Carsten Leikvold enabled The Daily Iowan, The Associated Press and United Press International to be on the scene at the drownings of four Riverside youths Thursday evening.

The city's chief executive, who has been extremely cooperative with the news media in the past, opened channels of communication between newsmen and the police department, which was reluctant to release information concerning the exact location of the farm pond in which the four boys perished.

Mr. Leikvold thereby enabled the news media of Iowa to furnish accurate, on the scene coverage of the tragedy, as well as pictures of the recovery operations.

It is unusual when four youths perish together while swimming, and, like all news — good or bad — accurate and on the scene coverage eliminates most mistakes and gets the facts to the people quickly and truthfully.

Without Mr. Leikvold's assistance Thursday evening, this would not have been possible. For the news media of Iowa — thank you, Mr. Leikvold.

Prince Charles, 14, Took a Wee Nip

(But Where Was Fat John Falstaff?)

By RALPH MCGILL

It should be obvious by now that an inadequate piece of reporting was revealed by the story of Bonnie Prince Charles, at 14, going into the Crown Hotel pub at Stonoway, Scotland, for a wee nip of cherry brandy.

No one looked around for a fat, sack-drinking man, a one-time friend of Prince Hal, son of Henry IV. He was a great corrupter of princes, was Sir John Falstaff. Once young Prince Hal, who loved him, described him: "That villainous abominable misleader of youth, Falstaff, that white-bearded Satan."

There seems to have been no searching around for such a person when young Prince Charlie strolled into the saloon bar and paid half a crown for a glass of cherry brandy — thereby causing the pub keeper to be guilty of violating the law forbidding sale to youngsters under 18. Surely a "fat old man, a ton of a man, that swollen parcel of drooped that huge bombard of sack . . . that gray iniquity," must have persuaded the lad to upset the Queen, his mother, and to embarrass the information officer at Buckingham Palace. It was inexcusably poor reporting that to have looked around for him and obtained a quote.

By such incidents are pubs made profitable, and young princes given personality. The Crown Hotel bar will be crowded from now on by tourists and the local folk, wishing to drink where young Prince Charlie was, and wanting to hear from barmaid Christene Matheson just how the young Prince looked when he, all bush-haired and blond, strolled into the bar and put down half a crown for a nip. The fortune of the Crown Hotel is made. From now on it will turn away guests, and need to hire an extra barmaid to pump the mild and bitter. The hotel is located on Scotland's Isle of Lewis, in the Outer Hebrides of northwest Scotland.

Happy is the pub that can develop a bit of character, a legend, or a clientele that gives it color and stability. Thousands of Americans, Canadians, Australians, New Zealanders, Poles, Czechs, and men from the nations of middle Europe who are now middle-aged have fond memories of British pubs — in London, in towns and villages. The pubs became unofficial clubs . . . this one for the Americans, this one for the Poles, Aussies, and so on.

On Fleet Street the King and Keys was a sort of headquarters for American war correspondents and for the staff of the Associated Press, whose headquarters was then in the Reuters' building just diagonally across the street. The soul of the King and Keys was

Doris White, a round, amiable cockney woman with a magnificent personality, a fine blunt wit, and a talent for greeting lonely, tired men that made them feel the world was not without compassion and cheer. Her husband, Charlie White, was an electrician, but he worked, in that time, at the very dangerous job of defusing the German bombs that fell and, burying themselves in earth or wreckage of some building, did not explode. (On the first Christmas after the war Charlie White, who had come safely through the very dangerous business of the bombs, was electrocuted putting up Christmas tree lights for his kids.)

Doris kept a flow of banter going as she served the beer or poured a small Scotch, or gin. She was immensely popular. There were always cablegrams pasted on the bar sent to her from the United States, Cairo, or some other African port by a correspondent who was lonely for the warmth and the cheer of the King and Keys.

When books by correspondents began to come out autographed copies came by mail, or were brought by hand, to Doris at the King and Keys. It was hardly possible to reach around Doris, but no reporter left on an assignment or rotation home without embracing Doris and giving her a great smacking kiss.

At least one correspondent went back after the war and found the King and Keys dull and silent — with Charlie White dead and Doris and the children gone, no one knew where.

Well, anyhow, the Crown bar has its legend and will grow rich and famous.

On Other Campuses

TUITION RISES at many universities and colleges throughout the U.S. are now being initiated. Minnesota, Indiana, Ohio, and Oregon have officially raised their rates, while students in New York will now have to pay to attend formerly tuition-free state colleges.

When the Legislature in Wisconsin declared a tuition hike in that state, the Board of Regents at the University of Wisconsin made a formal protest.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's move to require tuition in New York state colleges received much criticism, particularly from the AFL-CIO.

In an editorial titled "Oh! What to Do?", the Daily submits that they won't miss the misty Salem girl or the Pall Mall girl watcher's guide so much, but they do lament the loss of Max Schulman. They end with the hope that Schulman might consider writing for V-8 vegetable juice.

GOV. GEORGE WALLACE of Alabama was applauded for his recent attempt to bar two Negroes from entering the University of Alabama in an editorial in the Mississippi campus newspaper at the University of Mississippi.

The editorial stated that by his action, Gov. Wallace not only "saved face" with the Alabama conservatives, but exemplified his ultimate goal. This goal, the editorial continued, was to "keep the State's Rights issue 'hot' and in the focal point of all Americans."

The students at the University of Alabama were also given credit for their calmness and reasonable thinking as Vivian Malone and James Hood were registered.

WAYNE STATE UNIVERSITY is cutting its budget by requesting dormitory students to cut down on their sugar consumption. Signs are up in one of the resident hall's snack bar asking students to take only the exact amount of sugar packets needed, because of the nation's rising sugar prices.

CAMPUS EDITORS around the country have taken up the cry against the banning of cigaret ads in college publications. For some it's a question of a serious financial setback. For many it's a matter of principle. Most view it as a pointless policy.

The Minnesota Daily estimates that they will lose about $9,000 a year which may mean smaller papers and less coverage.

THE DAILY COLLEGIAN at Wayne State University reports that there has been sharp criticism of the decision to suspend Saturday classes in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Alabama.

Objection to the ruling has centered on fraternity row because the men are skeptical of what the ruling will do to their social life. They feel that most students will take advantage of their free weekends, when most fraternity activities take place, to go home.

AL Race Stays Deadlocked As White Sox, Yanks Lose

BoSox Rally; Tie in 7th, Win in 8th

NEW YORK (AP) — The Boston Red Sox, held hitless by young Al Downing through six innings, broke loose for three runs in the seventh and scored the tie-breaker in the eighth for a 4-3 victory Friday night over the New York Yankees.

Frank Malzone drove in the winning run with an infield hit off reliever Hal Reniff with one out in the eighth, following a walk to Chuck Schilling and Carl Yastrzemski's single.

The first Red Sox base runner against Downing was Bob Tillman, who reached first on Tony Kubek's throwing error with one away in the sixth. But the Yankee left-hander came apart with one out in the seventh after Yastrzemski singled up the middle for Boston's first hit, and was pulled out after being raked for three more hits in succession.

Malzone followed Yastrzemski's hit with another single, Dick Stuart singled a run across, and Lu Clinton rapped a run-producing double before Reniff came on. Ed Bresnoud was intentionally walked, then Boston took a 3-2 lead as Stuart scored on Russ Nixon's ground out.

Elston Howard pulled the Yanks even in the last of the seventh when he homered against Dick Radatz, and the Red Sox relief ace was nicked for a walk and a single in the eighth, but finished strong for his seventh victory in eight decisions.

Radatz took over in the seventh for rookie Bob Hefner, who gave up two runs and five hits.

Downing (7-1) and Howard (14-1) pitched well. Hefner, Radatz (7) and Tillman; Downing, Reniff (7) and Howard (14) were the winning pitchers.

Cards Bomb Houston, 9-2, Protect Lead

HOUSTON (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals protected their National League lead Friday night, breezing past the Houston Colts 9-2 as Bob Gibson pitched a six-hitter and Curt Flood knocked in four runs with three singles.

The Cards now have won all six of their games this season with the Colts, who contributed to their latest setback with five errors and four unearned runs. Houston has lost 11 of its last 12 games.

Colt starter Dick Drött was the losing pitcher.

Julian Javier hit and scored in his 11th straight game for the Cards, producing a double and single and scoring in the seventh. George Altman knocked in two St. Louis runs with a triple and sacrifice fly.

Sox Beaten By Indians In Ninth, 4-3

CHICAGO (AP) — Willie Kirkland's two-out squeeze bunt in the ninth inning chased home the winning run as Cleveland edged the Chicago White Sox 4-3 Friday night after the Indians' Early Wynn had lost another opportunity to win his 300th game.

The loss kept the White Sox from taking over first place in the American League from the New York Yankees, who were beaten 4-3 by Boston.

Wynn, 43-year-old veteran, left after six innings, trailing 3-2. It marked the second Friday night in succession the White Sox had stopped him in his bid to become the 14th major league pitcher to hit the 300-victory level. Chicago beat Wynn 2-0 at Cleveland last week.

Trailing 3-2 starting the ninth, Cleveland scraped together two runs off Jim Brosnan, who relieved starter Dave DeBusschere, a 22-year-old rookie seeking his first major league victory.

Singles by Joe Azcue, Woody Held and Tito Francona produced one run and with two out Kirkland pushed his bunt single past the mound, scoring Francona from third with the winning run.

Judy Kimball Leads

BROOKVILLE, N. Y. (AP) — Judy Kimball of Sioux City shot a four-under-par 68 Friday and took the second round lead in the Women's Carvel Open Golf tournament with a 36-hole total of 139.

Marilyn Smith of Tequesta, Fla., who led Miss Kimball by one stroke after the first round over the 6,194-yard Tam O'Shanter Club course, took a 71 and is tied for second at 141 with Jo Ann Prentice of Columbia, S. C.

Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif., top money winner and the favorite in this 54-hole event, needed a 72, a stroke less than opening day, for 145 and fourth spot.

4 Strokes Separate Top 16 After 36 in Cleveland Open

CLEVELAND (AP) — A par-busting stretch drive for the $22,000 top prize was assured Friday as 16 players were bunched over a four-stroke spread in the $110,000 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament.

Out front in the birdie barrage with 7-under-par totals of 135 at the halfway mark were 40-year-old Bo Winger of Oklahoma City, 27-year-old Gary Player of South Africa and 26-year-old Tommy Aaron of Gainesville, Ga.

Aaron, the former Walker Cupper, fired a 66 Friday and Player and Winger had 69s over Beechmont Country Club's 6,618-yard par 71 layout.

Most of the favorites made the cutoff at 143 — one over par. Jack Nicklaus, the Masters champion, was in a four-way deadlock at 136.

McKinley Goes To Quarter-Finals At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Chuck McKinley, who has yet to lose a set, pounded his way into the quarter-finals of the Wimbledon tennis tournament Friday despite rain and a slippery court that slowed his normal bounce to a lops.

McKinley, 22, from St. Louis, clipped 21-year-old Jaidip Murkeja, the Indian No. 2 entry, 6-3, 8-6, 6-3, in the fourth round.

The only other American survivor of the 20 Yanks who started, Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla., is scheduled to play Roger Taylor of Britain in a fourth round match today.

McKinley will meet either Martin Mulligan, last year's losing finalist and No. 5 seed, or Bobbie Wilson, British Davis Cupper, in the quarter-finals. The American, No. 1 U.S. player, is seeded fourth.

Mrs. Donna Floyd Fales of New York joined two other American girls — Darlene Hard and Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif. — in the fourth round — the last 16.

Mrs. Fales advanced when Mrs. Vera Sukova of Czechoslovakia, No. 6 seed, pulled out because of a knee injury.

Two Americans were beaten. Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode of Canal Zone, Panama, mother of two, was defeated by Mrs. Lorna Cawthorn of England, mother of three, 6-3, 7-5.

Chicago Goes 11, Beats Phils, 4-3

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ron Santo hammered a home run into the left field seats in the 11th inning Friday night, giving the Chicago Cubs a 4-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Left-hander Dick Ellsworth went all the way for the Cubs, gaining his 10th victory with a 10-hitter.

Ellsworth, who had lost six, checked the Phillies without a run after the second inning and struck out 11.

The Cubs scored three runs in the first inning off Ryne Duren, who went nine innings before being lifted for a pinch hitter. Two infield singles and Ernie Banks' double accounted for two, and Dick Bertelli singled home Banks.

Santo's homer came off Jack Baldschun.

West Needs Long Gainers Against East

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Coach John McKay will count on a couple of long runs and passes for a victory by the West over the favored East tonight in the third annual All-America football game at War Memorial Stadium.

A crowd of 30,000 is expected. The game will start at 6:30 p.m. (CST) and will be telecast nationally at 8 p.m. (CST) by ABC-TV.

The Weather Bureau forecast scattered thundershowers but said there was a better than even chance none would be in the stadium area at kickoff time. Temperatures were expected to be warm and the humidity high.

McKay, who coached Southern California to the National Football championship last fall, seemed concerned over whether the West could penetrate the East's heavier line.

"We have to figure on shaking Kermit Alexander (UCLA) or Ronnie Goodwin (Baylor) or someone else loose for long runs, and have Bill Nelsen (Southern California) connect on some long passes."

"Bill will have to have an outstanding night for us to win."

Coach Mill Bruhn and his staff decided to start Penn State's Roger Kochman at fullback for the East instead of John Mackey of Syracuse.

Working with Kochman in the starting backfield will be quarterback Ron VanderKelen of Wisconsin and South Carolina's Billy Gambrell and Michigan State's George Saines.

The West backfield will be comprised Nelsen, Alexander, Goodwin and Nebraska's Bill Thornton.

McKay's probable starters in the line will be ends, Hugh Campbell, Washington State, and Conrad Hitehner, Missouri; tackles, Bobby Lee Bell, Minnesota, and Ron Sadow; guards, Tom Hertz, Missouri, and Dwain Carlson, Nebraska; center, Jerry Hopkins, Texas A&M.

Snyder Homers In 9th as Orioles Edge A's, 2-1

BALTIMORE (AP) — Russ Snyder's home run in the ninth inning gave the Baltimore Orioles a 2-1 victory over the Kansas City Athletics Friday night.

The game-winning blow with one out, on a 1-2 pitch from loser Orlando Pena, enabled Steve Barber of the Orioles to become the first 12-game winner in the American League.

The homer ended the game abruptly after Baltimore had left 11 runners stranded and wasted several scoring opportunities. The other Oriole run scored in the sixth inning on a single by Brooks Robinson and a double by Luis Aparicio.

Bucs Use Power To Beat NY, 3-1

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bill Virdon's two-run homer and strong pitching by Joe Gibbon and Al McBean led Pittsburgh to a 3-1 victory over the New York Mets Friday night as Roger Craig lost his 10th straight.

Virdon's home run into the upper deck in right field, his third of the season, came with two out after Dick Schofield had reached base on a fielder's choice.

The Pirates added an insurance run in the seventh when Bob Bailey singled, advanced on a sacrifice and scored on Schofield's single.

Mantle Says Foot Still Weak; Doubts He'll Play by July 11

NEW YORK (AP) — It now develops that the cheering news concerning Mickey Mantle's rapid recovery from a broken foot was nothing more than wishful thinking.

The Yankee star, in New York for whirlpool and ultrasonic treatment of the injured limb, doubted Friday whether he would be able to run, let alone play, by July 11, the day of his predicted return to duty.

"The foot feels real weak," Mantle told reporters in the clubhouse of Yankee Stadium where Mickey had reported for his treatment. "I don't see how I'll be able to play in two weeks."

"It will be at least 10 days before I can start running. Right now I can hardly walk."

The switch hitting slugger, who suffered the fracture on June 5, wore a regular loafer shoe with a steel support on his left foot. The front of the shoe has been cut open to ease the pressure. The steel plate is to keep the foot firm.

"My ankle hurts worse than the foot," Mickey complained. "It's stiff and sore. Maybe I pulled some ligaments in addition to the break."

Mantle will be eligible for league play July 5, when his 30-day disability period expires.

When Dr. Sidney Gaynor, Yankee club physician, removed the cast Wednesday, he announced that the foot was healing surprisingly fast.

Tigers, LA Divide Two; 8-3 Scores

DETROIT (AP) — Rocky Colavito's homer — his second of the game — highlighted a seven-run outburst in the eighth inning that lifted the downtrodden Detroit Tigers to an 8-3 victory over the Los Angeles Angels and a split of their Friday night doubleheader.

The Angels won the opener 8-3 as Leon Wagner clubbed two homers and two singles, driving in four runs. That extended the Tigers' latest losing string to five.

The Tigers went into the eighth inning of the second game headed for another loss, but quickly wiped out a 3-1 deficit.

Al Kaline, hitless his first eight at bats in the twinbill, singled in one run and Colavito followed with his long three-run smash off losing reliever Julio Navarro.

Second Game

Los Angeles (10-10) — 3 1 0 Detroit (9-10) — 8 3 2

Turley, Navarro (8), Nelson (8), Lee (8) and E. Sadowski; Leitch, Faul (9) and Freshman. W — Leitch (3-3). L — Navarro (4-1). Home runs — Detroit, Colavito (11).

Minnesota Sweeps 2 From Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Minnesota Twins ran their winning streak to six straight and made it seven in a row over Washington, trouncing the Senators twice in their Friday night doubleheader, 11-4 and 10-3.

Bill Pleis started and won the opener, his first decision of the season. Jim Kaat won the nightcap with help from Bill Dailey who made his ninth appearance in the last 13 days.

Harmon Killebrew and Earl Battey each slammed their 17th homers in the first game and Vic Wertz and John Goryl homered for the Twins in the second.

Killebrew had six hits in the two games and five runs batted in.

First Game

Minnesota (10-10) — 11 12 0 Washington (6-11) — 4 8 1

Pleis and Battey; Duckworth, Bronstad (5), Burdette (9) and Leppert. W — Pleis (1-0). L — Duckworth (2-7). Home runs — Minnesota, Battey (17), Killebrew (17), Washington, Lock (10).

Second Game

Minnesota (10-10) — 10 12 2 Washington (6-11) — 3 9 3

Kaat, Dailey (7) and Zimmerman, Cheney, Kline (7), Coates (8) and Landrith. W — Kaat (8-4). L — Cheney (7-9). Home runs — Minnesota, Wertz (1), Goryl (2), Washington, Minoso (1).

Residents of Christus House Help Area Less Fortunate

By JEAN MUSGROVE Staff Writer
"An Experiment in Community Living" is the name that is rather loosely applied to a group of students who live at Christus House and are taking time from their studies to help people in depressed areas in the Iowa City-Coralville area.

Actually, the experiment is more in finding out what a group of students and townspeople can do under the direction of sociologists, doctors, and ministers to help people to help themselves.
The program is not designed to call attention to depressed areas around Iowa City, but rather to carry on a relatively unpublicized study and service campaign, according to Rev. Joan Bott, Westminster Foundation, one of the ministers working with the group.
Rev. William Friday, Wesley Foundation, adds that the group hopes to gather data about people in depressed areas, being concerned with the economic and sociological state of the people.
If, through use of the data they can show a need for help by country, state, or national welfare organizations, they hope to be able to initiate a long term program which will have financial help and full time personnel to work with the people. They hope also to find ways to help the people right now — this is the immediate goal of the persons involved in the program.

Miss Bott emphasized that depressed areas in Iowa City are no worse than any other place, but the Association of Campus Ministers feel that the Iowa City community offers students unique laboratory opportunities in all fields of social service, recreation, mental health, medicine, and law education.

The community living aspect of the group comes in the fact that many of them live in Christus House as a worship, service, and study community. But, since the facilities there limit the size of the group, some members of the project don't live there. Some are not even students.
The program for the group includes weekly visits to depressed areas, worship, and seminars with SUI professors and others in the social welfare field.
Campus ministers guide and direct the program, especially in relation to worship and the theological implications of community living, says Miss Bott.

The project is the result of a pilot project carried out by Revs. Bott and Friday, and Penelope Shaw and Denise Weinberg last summer. Miss Shaw and Miss Weinberg were students here in sociology and psychology.
Working on the planning of the project along with the Association of Campus Ministers is the Iowa City Council of Churches, United Church Women, and the Johnson County Department of Social Welfare.

Drunk Tests Studied Here

Effective enforcement of Iowa's new liquor-by-the-drink law hinges on whether the courts uphold the Attorney General's opinion given Thursday that peace officers — rather than drivers charged with drunk driving — are to select the chemical test used to indicate intoxication, Richard L. Holcomb, director of the SUI Bureau of Police Science believes.
In a talk before some 65 Iowa peace officers and fire department officials meeting here this week, Holcomb said that the equipment needed for the four basic tests available — blood, saliva, urine and breath — differs markedly.
"If the courts permit a driver charged with drunk driving full freedom of choice on which test to take, he'll find the one the arresting officer can't administer and then demand it," Holcomb said.
"This could make the 'implied consent' provision of the liquor law pretty ineffectual, since it will be highly unlikely that all police departments or sheriffs' officers will have the equipment for all the tests on hand."
"All four tests, if done properly, give similar results," he added, "but each has faults which can lead to inaccurate estimates of the alcohol concentration in the blood of a driver suspected of drunk driving," Holcomb added.

Witnesses Sought Regarding Object Viewed over City

Anyone who may have witnessed the flight of a so-called "unidentified flying object" over the Iowa City area on June 4, is asked to send a report and diagram of his observation to the National Investigations Commission on Aerial Phenomena (NICAP).
The organization is presently collecting information relative to the sighting of UFO's, and possible related phenomena and incidents. It will collect, correlate and evaluate all such data and forward its findings to scientific centers around the world for further study.
The organization's address is: NICAP, 5108 S. Findlay St., Seattle 18, Wash.

Hoover Library Construction Bids Opened Friday

WEST BRANCH — The Herbert Hoover Foundation opened bids Friday on construction of an addition to the Herbert Hoover Presidential Library in West Branch, birthplace of the former president.
Foundation officials said it would take several days to evaluate the bids before contracts are let.
But the total of the low bids was less than $450,000, or an average of about $30 a square foot, compared with the cost of $41 a square foot for the original library.
The foundation will finance the construction of the library addition, then turn it over to the federal government to operate, the same as is the case with the Herbert Hoover Park here.
Foundation officials said work on the addition is to start in 30 days after the awarding of contracts, and that the work is to be completed in six months.

Nikita's Reception in East Berlin Is Short of JFK's Across Wall

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD
BERLIN — Soviet Premier Khrushchev flew to East Berlin for a demonstrative visit Friday on the heels of President Kennedy's triumphant reception in West Berlin. If it was his idea to outdo the President he failed.
The official East German news agency ADN said half a million East Berliners turned out. Western correspondents estimated the crowd at less than 250,000. West Berlin police estimated 1,400,000 cheered Kennedy.
Walter Ulbricht, East German Communist party chief, was at the airport to greet Khrushchev, who arrived with his wife.
Khrushchev did not bring with him Valentina Tereshkova, the Soviet space woman, as some speculated he would do in an effort to stir up public excitement about his visit.
Ulbricht said in his welcoming speech that Kennedy came to West Berlin Wednesday to whip up eastern part of the island where all surface and air traffic was banned for the exercise's duration.

Germany "in the interests of the American monopolists." Khrushchev said he agreed.
Khrushchev himself was off form. He was not his usual wise cracking, bouncy self. At times he looked almost bored with the proceedings.
In a 20-minute speech to a crowd gathered at the East Berlin City Hall, he spoke of nothing but the virtues and accomplishments of the Soviet Union and the Soviet Communist party.
He made no threats toward the West nor did he praise Ulbricht. It is Ulbricht's 70th birthday Sunday which ostensibly drew Khrushchev to East Berlin.
Actually, Khrushchev will have a summit meeting of Soviet bloc nations and there should be some fireworks before he heads back home next week.

"Foreigners have often come to Berlin in the recent past — both to East and West Berlin," Khrushchev said at City Hall.
"But what have these visitors in their baggage? Some come to the West and say they want to improve and normalize relations but their actions prove otherwise."
"As far as we are concerned, we have come to Berlin to celebrate the 70th birthday of our friend, Walter Ulbricht."
His reference to visitors in West Berlin obviously was directed at Kennedy but he never mentioned him by name.
While Kennedy drew a crowd of 250,000 when he spoke at the West Berlin City Hall, not more than 50,000 East Berliners heard Khrushchev.
Khrushchev is meeting four top Communist leaders — Ulbricht; Wladyslaw Gomulka of Poland; Antonin Novotny of Czechoslovakia and Janos Kadar of Hungary.

Dance Recital Here Monday By Girl, 8

An eight-year-old student of Indian classical dance, Deepa Venkatesan, will give a recital Monday night at 8 in Macbride Auditorium.
Deepa, whose father is Dr. Bharathi Venkatesan, resident associate in physics, came to Iowa City last June. She will be in the sixth grade at Lincoln School.
She will perform five dances: a salutation and rhythmic prelude; Dance of Shiva; Milkmaid's Eulogy; Dream of Beloved; and Kuravanji, a folk dance.
During intermissions in Deepa's program, Indian art films will be shown and Shrinath Venkatesan will sing.
Admission to the recital is free. It is presented by the SUI Summer Institute on the Far East.

NIXON VISITS POPE

VATICAN CITY — Pope Paul VI received former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in audience in the Vatican Friday. Afterward, Nixon described the pontiff as "a man of vigor and vitality who looks 10 years younger than his actual age of 65."
Nixon was accompanied by his wife, Pat, and two children. He arrived in the Vatican on Friday morning and stayed at the Hotel de Ville. He will be in the Vatican through Sunday.

Violin Demonstration

A free demonstration in a new method of music teaching will be given tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. in the West Music Company Auditorium.
Mrs. William Preucil, a private instructor in music, will demonstrate the Suzuki method of violin instruction for children of preschool age.
Pioneered in Japan, the method employs special instruction to develop musical appreciation and

State Bar Gives Merit Award to Orange Citian

DES MOINES — Henry J. TePaske, Orange City attorney, received the Iowa State Bar Association's award of merit, Friday night.
The award was made at a banquet closing the association's 90th annual meeting.
Lloyd Karr, Webster City, outgoing president, gave TePaske the traditional gold-plated sterling silver Paul Storr dinner plate made in Sheffield, England, in 1870, and a certificate.

DISPENSARY
GEE! I HATE TO GET SHOTS!
JUST CLOSE YOUR EYES AND RELAX! YOU WON'T EVEN FEEL IT.
I DON'T THINK I CAN RELAX, BUT I'LL TRY
WHAT'S WRONG WITH HIM?
HE'S TRYING TO RELAX
