

Negro March on Washington Is Definite, Spokesman Says

NEW YORK (AP) — Negro leaders said Tuesday a civil rights march on Washington will "definitely" take place Aug. 28. They said it will be "the strongest action, numerically speaking."

The decision was reached at a secret conclave of executives of the nation's six largest Negro organizations. None would venture an estimate as to the number of participants in the march, which is scheduled to coincide with congressional debate on President Kennedy's civil rights bill.

The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said "we'll have machinery that will control the demonstration, no acts that could be considered civil disobedience will occur."

Meanwhile, Arthur Spingarn, 85-year-old white president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, arrived from a seven-week stay in doubts as to the "wisdom" of the proposed march.

Spingarn, who has headed the NAACP for 24 years, said he thought the NAACP was "not very enthusiastic" about the proposed march, although its relations with other sponsoring organizations were "friendly."

Meanwhile in Chicago the NAACP requested Tuesday federal legislation to virtually eliminate all barriers to integration. It also announced plans for a series of nationwide demonstrations to rally support for its proposals.

The demonstrations will culminate with a giant national civil rights legislative convention in Washington, D.C., Aug. 6-8.

NAACP delegates and their leaders refused, even privately, to concede that their proposals — which go far beyond those recently sent to Congress by President Kennedy — had little chance of passage.

"They must be adopted," said Robert L. Carter, NAACP general counsel. "Those are our minimal demands." Carter introduced the resolution embodying the legislative program to the 54th annual NAACP convention.

Negro leaders gathered here refused to discuss what action they would take — or what Negro reaction might be — if a strong civil rights program is not adopted by this session of Congress.

The resolution, adopted unanimously by some 2,000 cheering, clapping delegates, called the President's civil rights proposals "inadequate to meet the minimum needs of the existing situation."

While commending the President's program as "a step toward discharging the moral obligation of our federal government to its Negro citizens" the resolution urged the establishment of a Fair Employment Practices Commission with the right to subpoena witnesses and evidence, and the legal teeth to enforce its decrees.

Also extension of the attorney general's authority to initiate court suits to include any area of civil rights. President Kennedy has proposed that the attorney general be given the power to initiate court action only in school desegregation cases.

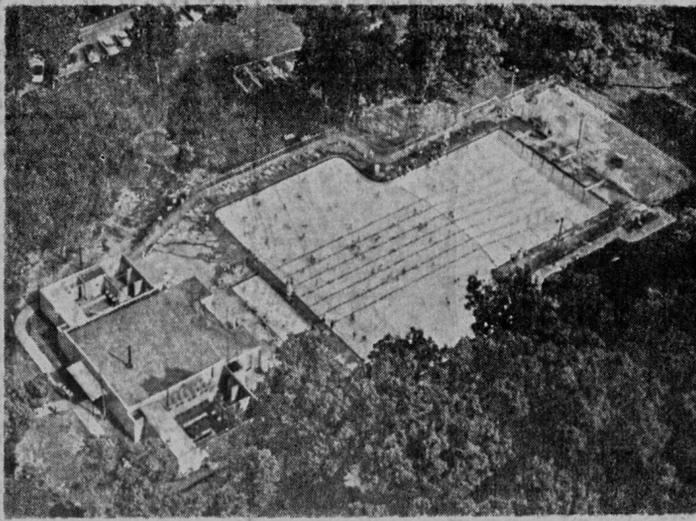

To provide for legal sanctions against labor unions that practice discrimination.

The resolution outlined a program of massive public demonstrations in the latter part of the year beginning with local civil July "for the purpose of mobilizing local grass-roots support."

The August Washington convention was planned despite warnings by some congressional leaders that public demonstrations in the nation's capital could jeopardize adoption of any civil rights legislation.

The convention would gather as many as possible of the NAACP's members and supporters in Washington for the purpose of making personal visits on congressmen and senators to secure "their commitment to support this minimum civil rights legislative program."

Kennedy's Tour Ends

Swimming Anyone?

With the 4th of July less than 24 hours away, the thoughts of many holiday-inclined Iowa Citizens turn to the nearest place to take a swim. The municipal pool in City Park is always a popular choice for old and young alike. Tomorrow the pool will be open from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m.

Talks with Pope Paul In Vatican

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI welcomed President Kennedy at the Vatican Tuesday and praised efforts to end racial discrimination in the United States and to promote world peace.

The Pope blessed all Americans. He said he felt sure efforts by the United States could help bring "universal peace in charity and justice."

There has been speculation that Pope Paul eventually may travel and Vatican sources said Kennedy remarked at one point: "I hope to see you in the United States."

The informants said the Pope did not reply, instead gesturing with his hands as if to say "it depends on providence."

The historic private audience of the 262nd Roman Catholic pontiff and the first Roman Catholic President of the United States took place in the papal library. It lasted 40 minutes.

Kennedy and Pope Paul VI shook hands in greeting and in parting. The U.S. chief executive did not kneel and kiss the Pope's ring, as Catholics usually do.

The Pope and the President sat side by side in armchairs at the same level.

Strengthens NATO Tie In Atlantic

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — President Kennedy rode smiling Tuesday night through streets lined by a half million cheering Neapolitans and headed back to Washington from a 10-day European tour designed to strengthen the Atlantic community.

Kennedy's blue and silver jet took off from Naples' Capodichino Airport at 12:33 p.m. It was the windup of one of the busiest days on the tour that had taken him to Bonn and the Berlin wall, to his ancestral home in Ireland, to talks with British Prime Minister Macmillan and then to Italy.

The first Roman Catholic President of the United States was received at the Vatican Tuesday morning by Pope Paul VI, the new supreme ruler of the Roman Catholic Church. The Pope praised Kennedy's efforts to end racial discrimination in the United States and to promote world peace.

Kennedy and President Antonio Segni issued in Rome a joint communique in which Italy expressed a favorable attitude toward participating in studies on the possible development of a NATO multilateral nuclear fleet, a U.S.-proposed project that has had far sailing so far only in the United States and West Germany.

At the southern headquarters of NATO in Naples, Kennedy called for continued cooperation between the United States and Western Europe as a step toward world unity.

Naples — a city of a million population which over the years has sent a million immigrants to the United States — gave Kennedy an old time Fourth of July welcome two days ahead of time.

Almost everyone in the crowd lining the streets claimed a relative in the United States.

In the joint communique which he worked out with the Italian leaders, NATO was described as "an indispensable instrument for the consolidation of peace in freedom and security."

More importantly the document reflected the Italian Government's refusal to accept De Gaulle's line that Western Europe should reduce American influence in its affairs.

Following the evening fireworks display, a dance will be held on the sundeck of the City Park swimming pool.

8 Steel Firms Are Indicted; Price-Fixing

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal Government renewed its charges of price-fixing in steel products Tuesday, with an indictment against eight firms of the $75 million a year steel castings industry.

Nine executives of the companies were named in the indictment, including two who were fined last year for price fixing of steel forgings. The Justice Department charged that the eight firms launched a continuing conspiracy in 1956 to fix prices of steel castings.

The indictment said executives of the firms met monthly in hotels or clubs in New York, Pittsburgh and Absecon, N. J., to agree on general price increases, catalogue prices and exchange information on identical prices to be quoted to customers.

The castings are widely used in the construction, ship building, petroleum and mining industries.

If convicted, the individual defendants could receive a year each in prison and they and their companies could be fined up to $50,000 each. Arraignment on the charges was put off until later this month.

The firms named as defendants were said by the government to control 80 per cent of the nation's sales of steel castings. They are Bethlehem Steel, Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton Corp., Blaw-Knox Co., Erie Forge and Steel Corp., Texton Inc., General Steel Industries Inc., Birdsboro Corp. and the Penn Steel Castings Co.

FBI Arrests Four More Possible Spys

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI arrested two persons in New York and two in Washington Tuesday and charged them with conspiring to obtain military information for the Soviet Union.

Agents said the New York couple "put up a terrific struggle."

The arrests followed by one day an order by the State Department for a Soviet Embassy cultural attaché in Washington to leave the United States for attempting to recruit a Russian-born U.S. Central Intelligence Agency employe as a spy.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, announced the crackdown, identified those taken in New York as Ivan Dmitrievich Egorov, 41, a personnel officer in the United Nations Secretariat, and his wife, Aleksandra Egorova, 39.

The FBI said they protested they were innocent and refused to leave their New York apartment where FBI agents arrested them.

The pair taken in Washington were listed as using the names of Robert Baltech and Joy Ann Baltech.

The FBI said the four suspects would be taken before U.S. commissioners in Washington and New York for appearances.

Egorov and his wife are Russian citizens. The FBI would not give the nationality of the Baltech twosome, or whether they were related.

The complaint filed in U.S. District Court for Eastern New York said the defendants known as Baltech assumed the identities of living U.S. citizens for the purpose of concealing their real identities and nationalities.

Hoover said Galkin left the United States May 10 after serving for several years as first secretary of the Byelorussian Mission to the United Nations. He said Maslennikov left this country on May 3 after having been employed as first secretary of Russia's U.N. Mission.

An FBI complaint filed early Tuesday in New York charges that the arrested individuals — together with officers of the Soviet military intelligence in Moscow, New York, and Washington, conspired to communicate, deliver and transmit to Russia information relating to U.S. military and Navy installations, troop movements, shipping and military waterfront facilities.

Beckwith Indicted In Evers' Slaying

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Byron De La Beckwith, a 42-year-old ex-Marine, was indicted Tuesday for the sniper slaying of Negro integration leader Medgar Evers.

A Hinds County grand jury of 17 white men and one Negro returned the indictment, which was read to Beckwith in his jail cell.

Beckwith, wounded at Tarawa during World War II, is being held without bond.

Dist. Atty. Bill Waller of Jackson has said he would seek the death penalty against Beckwith, a balding fertilizer salesman and member of the segregationist Citizens Council.

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Charles Evers, brother of slain civil rights leader Medgar Evers, said Tuesday his life was threatened Monday night.

Evers, state field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said the threat was one of several since he took his brother's place in the desegregation fight.

Evers said a telephone caller said, "We killed your brother and now we're gonna kill you."

Evers said he told the caller, "If you are man enough to come out in the streets, just you come; don't shoot me in the back."

Beckwith will be arraigned at 2 p.m. Wednesday before Circuit Judge Leon Hendrick, who is scheduled to preside in Beckwith's trial. A trial date has not been set.

Macmillan, Wilson Have Verbal Tiff At Westminster

LONDON (AP) — Labor party leader Harold Wilson accused Prime Minister Harold Macmillan Tuesday of taking a petulant attitude and trying to laugh off the sex and spy scandals which have shaken Britain.

In a face to face collision in the House of Commons, Macmillan snapped back that finding the spies was a security success — not a failure — and angrily told Wilson he thought his remarks offensive.

The row was touched off by a dispute over the way the Conservative government handled recent security disclosures.

Belgium Govt. Resigns After Language Dispute

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The language dispute that has split Belgium — one of the strongest supporters of European integration — brought the Government's resignation Tuesday.

Premier Theo Lefevre called on King Baudouin and asked him to accept the resignation of his Government, a careful balance of Flemish and Walloon Socialists and Flemish and Walloon Social Christians Roman Catholics.

Baudouin postponed a decision on whether to accept the resignation and said he would first consult his advisers.

Double-Parking Solution Studied by City Officials

Iowa City's recurrent double parking problem may possibly be solved in the near future.

The Iowa City City Council at its meeting Tuesday evening took action on a recommendation from the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce which called for the present double parking regulation be modified to facilitate the unloading of trucks in downtown areas where no alleys are available.

Action was referred to City Manager Carsten Leikvold and newly elected City Attorney Jay Honohan for their consideration and recommendation. Their suggestions will be presented at the July 16 meeting of the council.

The present ordinance allows no double parking in downtown areas by any vehicle.

The city manager and city attorney were urged by the council to draw up a new ordinance that would accommodate both shoppers and businessmen.

Mayor Fred Doderer said that he feels that shoppers want to be represented in this discussion and "should be given due consideration. They may feel that at the present time they are being discriminated against," Doderer said.

A letter to the council from Mrs. Eric Bergsten, read at the council meeting, voiced frequent shopper complaints. The letter described

Repertory Theatre Tickets Sold Out

Tickets for the SUI Summer Repertory Theatre have been sold out. There will be no extra performances, Prof. Arnold Gillette said Monday. Extra performances are out of the question due to the tight performance and rehearsal schedule for the various summer productions.

Gillette is a Professor of Dramatic Arts and the Director of the SUI Theatre.

Miller Advises Educators

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Sen. Jack Miller (R-Iowa) advised teachers against "attempting to force public opinion by a strike" in a luncheon speech Tuesday before the National Education Association convention.

Giving "practical political advice to teachers," he also cautioned against a norganized boycott or refusal to sign contracts, saying this would be interpreted by the public as a strike.

"The problem is one of changing public opinion," the Iowa senator said.

"The solution is one of education and political action. Changing public opinion by force — such as strikes or boycotts — will probably produce long-term resentment which will outweigh any short-term gains, if indeed there are any gains at all," he added.

Berserk Soldier in Wild Shooting Spree Kills 3

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — A berserk soldier killed three persons and wounded seven others in a wild shooting spree Monday night. He boasted to police later, "I wanted to kill someone before I killed myself."

The slayer, Spec. 5 Kenneth H. Schlomann, 24, of Madelia, Minn., was held Tuesday on a murder charge in the Fairbanks jail, trussed in a strait jacket and under heavy sedation.

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A Mohawk Airliner crashed and burned on take off in a heavy rain and hail storm at the Rochester-Monroe County Airport Tuesday and at least seven of the 43 persons aboard were killed. All the rest were reported injured.

Mohawk said the known dead included the pilot and first officer of the twin-engine Martin 404 and these passengers:

Proxy Fight Over Railroad Merger Takes Shape Now

CHICAGO (AP) — A possible proxy fight over what railroad is to be merged with the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad began taking shape Tuesday.

Directors of the Rock Island and the Union Pacific have approved a merger program and are preparing to carry it before their respective stockholders. Ben Heineman, chairman of the Chicago and North Western Railway, has proposed that his road gain control of the Rock Island by buying its stock.

As a result nine Rock Island shareholders are attempting to poll their fellow stockholders on how they feel about the Heineman program.

Sam Rothbart of Chicago, one of the nine, said that the terms of the Union Pacific merger proposal figure out to $30 million less than that offered by the Chicago and North Western.

NASA Graduate Study Program—Participants Increase at SUI

By ROD JENSON
Staff Writer

NASA is reaching new heights in its Sustaining University Program for training pre-doctoral candidates in space-related sciences and technology.

What started out as a pilot program for training 100 candidates at 10 universities last September will develop into a $30 million training program for over 800 candidates at 80 colleges and universities scattered throughout the United States by next September.

By that time, 18 candidates will be enrolled in the program at SUI working toward their doctorate in such areas as physics, physiology, psychology, chemistry, and chemical engineering.

Of the 18, eight were enrolled in the original program at SUI last fall. They are R. Walker Pellins, H. Kent Hills, Walter C. Nodean and David M. Rust, physics; Eugene A. Lovelace, psychology;

Ronald P. Steiger, chemistry; Gerald D. Tharp, physiology; and James B. Tresek, chemical engineering.

Two other people in physics, John W. Freeman, who received his doctorate in June, and Louis A. Frank, who accepted a research assistantship, were also in the original program here.

The Sustaining University Program itself grew out of President Kennedy's decision late in the spring of 1961 to accelerate the United States space program, which included the goal of landing an American on the moon within the decade.

NASA soon became aware that if it is to land a man on the moon soon it would have to broaden the existing base of university participation in its program; encourage the multidisciplinary study in space-related fields at the pre-doctoral level through stipends; and provide universities with additional research laboratory facilities.

By 1970 the program, backed by the President's Science Advisory Committee, hopes to attract 8000 new starts and to produce 750 Ph.D.s annually.

Students participating in the program are selected by each participating university, and may expect support for three years if their performance is satisfactory. They receive stipends that range from $2400 to $3400 per year, depending principally upon their dependency status. In each instance, the stipend is established by the university in accordance with its established policies.

During fiscal year 1963 approximately $100 million will be placed in universities by NASA. Of this amount, $30 million will be spent for the Sustaining University Program about one-half for training grants, one-third for facilities grants, and the balance for special purpose research grants.

Civil Rights Bill Receives RFK Question

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said Tuesday "there is a serious question" whether Negroes or other Americans have constitutional right to be served in a private establishment which has no connection with the federal, state or local government.

The courts have never held there is such a right, he said, but promptly added:

"Congress clearly has the authority under the Constitution to confer such a right."

Kennedy, appearing for the second day before the Senate Commerce Committee, said the legislation it is considering would do just that: confer the right to such service.

The committee is considering the key plank of the administration's civil rights program — a bill to ban racial discrimination by owners of stores, restaurants, theaters and other business establishments catering to the public. The legislation would apply to establishments doing a substantial portion of their trade in interstate commerce.

Mr. ZIP's Here
 For You and Uncle Sam

IOWA CITIZENS, along with other postal patrons across the United States, can help speed up their mail delivery and maybe cut the taxes at the same time. Partner with the public in this double-benefits plan is Mr. ZIP.

Mr. ZIP is the official symbol — a cartoon caricature — of the Postal Official's new nation-wide zoning system, an extension of the former zone numbers used in 100 of the nation's larger cities. Post Office officials say that by using your ZIP code number on return addresses and the ZIP number of the recipients of your letters, you can speed delivery as much as 24 hours.

As for cutting down on your tax bill, it's probably only wishful thinking — it seems there are always places for tax money to be spent. Nevertheless, when ZIP numbers are universally used, thus allowing more automation of postal services, an estimated several billion dollars can be saved by the Post Office Department.

Four ZIP numbers have been designated for the Iowa City area, all with local prefix 522:

- East of the Iowa River, main post office: 52240.
- West of the Iowa River, including Coralville, served by the main post office, 52241.
- Post office box mail at the main office: 52242.
- Service from the Coralville branch office: 52243.

Mr. ZIP promises to be a helpful little guy, both to you and to the Post Office. He'll appreciate your cooperation.

Americans: Would You Have Done As Well

THE UNITED STATES expelled a Soviet attache for attempted spying Monday. But the real story behind these headlines were that a Soviet immigrant, now working for the Central Intelligence Agency showed supreme devotion to the principles of the United States.

The man — identified as John — overcame family love and reported the attempted spy effort to the FBI.

John was first contacted by his brother who he had not seen for 23 years. The brother introduced John to Gennady G. Sevastyanov who conducted the proceedings at all later meetings.

John showed great courage by calling the FBI after his first meeting with the two Soviets. The FBI told him to continue to meet with the Soviets.

The meetings would be kept under surveillance. John met with the two men several more times and each time the questions became more pointed about his work. John finally decided not to meet with Sevastyanov and his brother again and that ended the affair as far as John was concerned.

But the real important work had been done. With the information gathered by John, the FBI was able to get enough information to expel a Soviet spy.

John — whatever his real name may be — should receive a special citation. Even though he is not an American citizen, John possibly served the United States with greater effectiveness than most citizens who are born here.

John deserves a hardy "thanks" from the American people. And we wonder if we real Americans would have done as well as John.

We Took BunaB . . . But We Didn't Do Our Part

We borrowed a friend's BunaB the other day and went off to take a test. We had been hearing how much value the little thing was and that it did almost anything you wanted it to.

We thought maybe it would help us through our test, but forget it. It's not BunaB's fault, it's that we just forgot to study.

"Never Mind The Fine Print, Son — How Would You Like To Win That Girl?"

—The Ralph McGill Column—

Pleased But Never Satisfied

By RALPH MCGILL

This is the story of a waspish, frail man of aquiline features on the deck of a Soviet ice breaker in the Gulf of Finland. But, first, a preamble:

Because he does not suffer fools gladly, Hyman George Rickover, a quiet, gentle man who likes to spend his leisure hours listening to music, reading, or reviewing work projects, has been, and is, one of the really valuable Americans.

The naval hierarchy does not like him. There was some anti-Semitism in this dislike, but most of the opposition to him has been due to the fact that he always was impatient with folderol, with promotions based on seniority rather than ability, and with assignment of officers to tasks for which they were not really prepared by knowledge, skill, or temperament.

Hyman Rickover also has a contempt for fast-buck boys, lobbyists, the careless and apathetic, and the purveyors of the cheap and the shabby in life. In a soft sentence or so he can take the hide off a faker and leave him hurt and angry. By merely asking such questions as "Why?" and "When?" he often has reduced the arrogant to politeness.

When he discovered that the high schools of the United States were not producing enough volunteers or selective service assignees with adequate knowledge of secondary school physics and chemistry, he set up his own schools to train crews for the atomic submarines.

It is an indictment of past Navy commands that action by the Congress of the United States was necessary to reverse a Navy board which had passed up Captain Rickover and tagged him for premature retirement, even though he was one of the very best minds in the service. The top command had refused to go along with building nuclear submarines because, it argued, they were neither practical nor then possible. The jowls of several retired admirals still light up like neon-red at the mention of Rickover.

Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth happily has announced that when the admiral reaches retirement age next winter, he will be recalled to active duty as director of the Nuclear Division of the Bureau of Ships.

Months before the nuclear submarine Thresher was lost, Admiral Rickover made a talk to the National Metal Congress. He told them that the flow of faulty and below-specification components and parts for the nuclear submarines was heavy and disturbing. He revealed that "hundreds of major conventional components" had been delivered as much as six months late, and even so, had to be reworked. "Reinspection of these components after delivery showed that over 50 per cent of them had to be further reworked in order to meet contract specification requirements. . . . Successful operation of a nuclear plant depends," he said, "on the reliability of all its parts. . . . the reactor as well as the conventional components. . . ."

the heat exchangers, valves, turbo generators and so forth."

In the hearings following the Thresher disaster, Lt. Raymond A. McCool, who was not aboard because of his wife's illness, testified that "The air systems had been a continuing problem. . . . there had been errors in the angle indicators. . . . the plane and rudder mechanisms had been found to be defective. . . . the periscope mechanism was installed backwards. . . . and a trial in March had been delayed four days by a series of 'weeps' (deficiencies)."

This, and other, testimony remains as a background to the findings that the Thresher probably was lost because of the failure in the piping system. Admiral Rickover's talk of October had noted the delivery of poorly fitting, faulty piping that required reworking. Once the hearings are concluded, it is anticipated there will be an investigation of the yard command and suppliers.

When Vice President Nixon went to Russia in 1959 Admiral Rickover was along. On a visit to the yards at the Gulf of Finland, the official party saw a nuclear ice breaker. Admiral Rickover asked for a more detailed look. He got it — two hours of it.

"Now, Admiral, are you satisfied?" asked the Soviet officer. "I am pleased," said the Admiral, quietly, "but I am never satisfied."

A grateful nation is glad he isn't.

Sappie Migration
 Nears Its Peak
 As Mass Appears

(Iowa Conservative)

And lo; though the skies were unblackened, the trash around us bears mute witness that the migration of litterbirds is nearing its peak. Scrap paper by the ton, jagged bottle and flashing tin cans among the violets and phlox evidence the arrival of the fast moving host.

The litterbird is a species, or rather sub-species (sappy leave-it-lay), closely related and associated with man (homo sapiens). The principal difference between the two lies just below the forehead: the sappy has the poor "sappies" have no conscience.

Before the sappies can be hamstrung and mounted (as some judges have done on provelation) they must be identified. This usually amounts to catching one exhibiting the characteristic unclenching hand or finger flicking action. Often movements are very unobtrusive, seemingly practiced with a wary eye scanning the vicinity.

Perhaps the most productive method of collecting this relative (or should we say poor relation) of man is to look by bits of garbage dropping through the air. After carefully estimating the trajectory, fasten your gaze on the culprit. Pay no mind to vehement protests of innocence or sheepish statements about not thinking — this is a part of their natural protective coloration.

Matter of Fact
Lily White vs. Liberal

By JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON — Civil rights long since divided the Democratic Party into hostile northern and southern wings. And now the mounting racial crisis promises to cause an equally bitter division in the Republican Party.

As yet, only the first grumblings and mutterings of the coming battle are to be heard in various Republican quarters. But on present form, it is a reasonable prediction that the next Republican convention will be dominated, and its outcome may be decided, by a knock-down-drag-out fight about the Republican stand on civil rights.

There are three reasons for this prediction. In the first place, the recent Republican rally at Denver rang with sanguine discussion of the Republican Party's chance of victory as a "white man's party," with the hero of the Southern conservatives, Sen. Barry Goldwater, as its standard-bearer.

Secondly, both sides have already thrown down their gauges of battle — although surprisingly little attention has been paid to this striking fact.

Sen. Goldwater, for his part, while saying that he was for some sections of President Kennedy's civil rights bill, has taken his stand four-square with the Southern Democrats on the guts of the matter. In other words, he has attacked the proposal to desegregate public facilities as an offense against states' rights, and he has sworn that he will never vote for cloture to get a civil rights bill through the Senate.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of

New York has responded to Goldwater by coming out for the entire civil rights bill without qualification, and urging all Congressional Republicans to support it. In reality, Gov. Rockefeller now conceives his fight for the Republican Presidential nomination quite largely in terms of a fight against the "white man's party" theory of Republican strategy.

Third and most important of all, the presidential aspirants are not the only leading Republicans who are squaring off for the fray. The extremely able and astute Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania is a declared non-candidate. But he is also grimly determined to use every Pennsylvania delegate to block the Republicans who want the 1964 election to be a "lily white versus liberal fight."

This was a primary motive, in fact, of Gov. Scranton's decision to become a favorite son candidate, and thus to establish ironclad control of Pennsylvania's large convention delegation. The other motive was the Governor's desire to teach a lesson to the Republicans who have been saying the "northeast can be written off" — who are precisely the Republicans talking about a "white man's party."

In every one of the states with large convention delegations — California, Michigan, Illinois, Ohio and so on down the line — the need to make the choice already made by Gov. Scranton is also causing heart-searching and position-taking.

In California, to name the most notable example, a primary fight is rather plainly shaping up. A pro-Goldwater delegation is already in formation. And the more moderate California Republicans are already pressing Sen. Thomas Kuchel to stand as California's favorite son at the head of a moderate delegation, if this is needed to whip the Goldwaters.

Every kind of attempt will of course be made to blur the issue which has just begun to divide the Republicans, as it has already divided the Democrats. It will be pointed out, with pious indignation, that Sen. Goldwater is no racist, which is certainly true; and much will be made of the fact that as a young man, he helped to desegregate the Phoenix, Ariz. school system.

But in the present context, these facts are almost as irrelevant as the fact that Goldwater is an extremely pleasant human being. He advocates a Republican strategy primarily keyed to an appeal to Southern conservative votes. He wants his party to put states' rights above civil rights. He is against cloture, even if needed to pass a civil rights bill. That adds up, nowadays, to being against civil rights.

If the Republican Party nominates a standard-bearer who is against civil rights for all practical purposes, the Republican Party will then, quite unavoidably, assume the role of the "white man's party." The practical temptations to do this are obvious. Indeed, they have been forthrightly underlined by Sen. Goldwater himself, who has often pointed out that "the Republicans can never get Negro votes anyway."

But this is a moral decision as well as a political decision; and it is to be hoped that a majority of Republicans will see it that way.

Deauville's Change To The Young

By JOHN CROSBY

DEAUVILLE — A man and maid were pitching a beach ball back and forth on Deauville's magnificent beach, turning bright blue with cold in the brilliant sunshine. This is Deauville in June. The wind whistling off the Channel would put goose pimples on a yak.

But then what am I doing in Deauville in June? August is the month for Deauville, when the horses are running and the Rothschilds are all in town and the polo is the best in the world. The beach isn't the place to be, a ny way. Fred, Eric Morton, who is getting to be the world's foremost authority on luxury, writes in "Holiday": Not a single aspect of the season revolves around a swimming pool. Indeed, Deauville is so obviously, recklessly, hair-raisingly conservative as to abstain from a pool altogether. The season cuts the beach dead, using it only as an exercise ground for the children, its nannies and its race horses."

That was the way things were under Francois Andre, the resort emperor who died at 84, year before last, and that's still the way things are. But not for long. In the office of Lucien Berriere, the thirty-eight-year-old nephew and heir and successor of Andre, there's a model of a swimming pool that will be built right on the sands. Just like Miami Beach.

When people asked Andre why Deauville had no swimming pool, he used to say: "Why? with the ocean so near?" Now when you ask Berriere why a swimming pool with the ocean so near, he tells you bluntly: "Because the customers want it." Andre gave the clients what he thought was good for them. Berriere is giving them what they want, sowing the seeds of democracy, a terrible thing in an aristocratic world.

Berriere is a stocky, good-looking man with towering self-assurance, who has inherited the greatest legitimate gambling empire in the world — the casinos at Le Touquet, La Baule, Cannes, Aix-les-Bains and Juan les Pins, as well as Deauville's Les Ambassadeurs, which is perhaps the most beautiful gambling casino in the world. I asked him if he didn't find all that responsibility a little uncomfortable. He stood up and planted his feet on the floor. "I'm from the South. We keep our feet on the ground." He seemed singularly unbowed.

There's a disturbing rumor going around that the young don't gamble. I asked Berriere about it: "About gambling among the young people, it's difficult to know whether they will gamble like their mothers and fathers. Have you seen the new Brummel?"

He showed me the new night club with its red walls and handsome murals built in the shell of the old one. It'll be presided over by Regine, who presides over the new Jimmy's on Boulevard Montparnasse. It's hoped that all the youth who dance at the new Jimmy's will follow her to Deauville. Deauville is trying to shed some of its Edwardian aura, which smells a little of mothballs and move into the modern world.

"The young have more money than ever before," said Berriere. "In the old days their fathers and mothers were very strict about money. Now it's different. Come, I'll show you the new cinema."

We inspected the new modern cinema and bounced in its marvelously comfortable leather armchairs. "It's a mistake to think the young don't come to Deauville. We have the tennis, the curling, the night club. These are all for the young."

Berriere is very proud too that Deauville will hold the world's first space festival, complete with astronauts and the Russians' cosmonauts. You can't get any more modern than that.

But, if the young don't gamble, the casino makes up the deficit for the tennis, the golf, even the hotels. The young ones like to dance, to talk and to make love. But who'll pay the gardeners? Berriere looked as unflappable as Macmillan.

"If the young get the habit of Deauville, they'll eventually get the gambling habit — like their fathers and grandfathers."

That night I looked in on the gambling. The tables in June are not full, but I have never seen a gambling casino that was exactly empty. There are not many young ones and those young that play look prematurely old.

Nikita Cites Willingness To Agree on Test Ban

BERLIN (AP) — Premier Khrushchev told a cheering East German audience Tuesday that in exchange for a non-aggression pact with the West he would be willing to go along with the United States and Britain on ending nuclear tests in space, in the atmosphere and under water.

Khrushchev led into his offer by calling President Kennedy's speeches in Berlin and West Germany last week "a dangerous development."

Khrushchev spoke in advance of talks on a nuclear test ban scheduled to start in Moscow July 15, and British negotiators July 15.

He deliberately left underground tests out of his proposal, and appeared to write; off an agreement on this as impossible.

Khrushchev appeared to be making a new package offer to the West, but the Soviet leader himself said he had made the partial ban proposal before. A suggestion of this was given by British Labor Party leader Harold Wilson on his recent trip to Moscow.

After Kremlin talks with Khrushchev, Wilson said he felt the best hope was for a limited test ban which would exclude underground nuclear tests. The West contends on-site inspections is necessary to guard against cheating with underground tests.

Khrushchev maintains no such inspections are necessary but offered up to three on-site inspections. However, he has said he will not go any farther.

To the East Germans, Khrushchev said of a limited test ban accord: "We have made this proposal before, but the Western powers frustrated an agreement advancing supplementary conditions which envisage large-scale inspection of our territory."

If the non-aggression pact-partial ban proposal were accepted, said Khrushchev, "the question of inspection does not any longer arise, since the Western powers declared that no inspections whatever are needed to check the fulfillment by the states of their commitments to stop nuclear tests in the atmosphere, in outer space and under water."

The Russians did propose in November a ban on all but underground water tests, providing the West would accept an unsupervised moratorium on underground testing. The West refused the condition. Thereafter the Russians insisted on an all-or-nothing ban.

Khrushchev's declaration came near the end of a visit in East Germany where Communist leaders from East Europe gathered to celebrate the 70th birthday of East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht and to discuss the growing troubles within the Red Camp.

Local Men O.K.'d For State Comm.

Philip A. Leff, William R. Hart and A. C. Cahill of Iowa City are among the 112 attorneys certified for election by the Iowa Supreme Court clerk's office Tuesday as members of the State Judicial Nomination Commission and commissions in each of the state's 21 judicial districts.

Under the new judicial system in Iowa, the 15-member state commission recommends to the governor persons to fill any vacancies occurring on the Supreme Court.

It is composed of one person appointed by the governor from each congressional district, one attorney elected by the other attorneys from each district and the senior Supreme Court judge who is not chief justice.

The 11-member district commissions recommend to the governor persons to fill bench vacancies in District Courts. They are composed of five persons appointed by the governor, five attorneys elected by other attorneys and the senior District Court judge.

Parents Alone To Meet Today in Civic Center

The Iowa City Parents Alone Organization will hold its second meeting today at 8 p.m. in the Council Chamber of the Iowa City Civic Center.

The organization is comprised of discussion groups on child rearing problems for divorced, separated or widowed parents.

This meeting will be primarily for those persons who have not yet been assigned to a group or for any other interested persons. Members who have already been assigned to a group need not attend.

For additional information, Mrs. Mary E. Meyers, public relations chairman, may be contacted.

Adenauer Declares Hope For Tension Easement

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer declared Tuesday disarmament and nuclear test negotiations may be useful to the West in trying to persuade the Soviets to change their policy so that East-West tension can be reduced.

Adenauer, long reputed to be a hard-line Western leader in relations with Russia, said in an exclusive interview with the Associated Press that he would welcome "reasonable discussions" with the Soviet Union.

But he warned against offering concessions unmatched by Soviet concessions of equal value.

The retiring West German government chief set forth and amplified these and other views in a long conversation in his private office in the Palais Schaumburg, where he conferred with President Kennedy a week ago.

Adenauer expressed conviction that the recently ratified French-German friendship pact, providing for periodic consultations between Bonn and Paris government chiefs, will serve the interests of all the Atlantic allies. He said it marks an end to 400 years of French-German hostility.

He declared his support for European unification in "close partnership" with the United States, thereby endorsing the main line of President Kennedy's European policy.

Legal Aid for All Pushed in Iowa

DES MOINES (AP) — The American Bar Association has asked five Iowa lawyers to help plan a program aimed at assuring adequate legal service for all persons, including the penniless.

The five will direct a detailed survey of legal services available to the needy when they appear in Iowa courts. Similar studies are being conducted in other states.

Appointed to make the Iowa study were Earl Jones of Oskaloosa, who heads the group; Charles W. Down, LeMars; Edward Eaton Jr., Sidney, Mark McCormick, Fort Dodge, and Thomas C. Senneff, Mason City.

Attorney Ronald L. Carlson of Davenport was named staff assistant to the group to handle administration of the survey.

Rookie Downing Gives 1 Hit As Yanks Shutout Sox, 3-0

2-Hitter by Boston Rookie; Firemen Save Pirates, 3-2

CLEVELAND (AP) — Boston's Dave Morehead, a 19-year-old rookie right-hander, who lost his bid for a no-hitter on a bad-hop single by Fred Whitfield in the eighth inning, wound up with a two-hitter as the Red Sox whipped Cleveland 6-1 Monday night.

Whitfield, leading off the eighth, smacked a two-hopper that second baseman Chuck Schilling ranged in front of easily, but just as the Red Sox infielder moved to grab the grounder, it hit a pebble and bounced high over his head for the Indian's first hit.

The other hit off Morehead was a leadoff ninth-inning homer by pinch hitter Johnny Romano, only put back on the active list hours before the game.

The Red Sox got Morehead all the runs he needed with a two-run spurt in the second inning against Barry Latman (5-4). Dick Stuart started things with a walk and Lu Clinton singled before Morehead singled up the middle for the first run. Schilling's single got another home.

Boston closed out the scoring with four runs in the sixth. Clinton led off with his 10th homer and before the inning ended, Gary Geiger singled home one run and Yastrzemski doubled home two more.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Relievers Harvey Haddix and Al McBean stopped a Philadelphia rally in the eighth inning Tuesday night, preserving the Pittsburgh Pirates' 3-2 victory over the Phillies.

The Pirates scored what turned out to be the winning run in the sixth when Robert Clemente doubled home Bill Virdon.

Haddix replaced winner Vern Law in the eighth after a single by Tony Taylor and a double by Johnny Callison with none out. He struck out Tony Gonzalez and Wes Covington.

When right-handed batter Roy Sievers went in to pinch hit for Frank Torre, McBean came on and got Sievers to ground to shortstop Johnny Logan, but Logan fumbled the ball, allowing Taylor to score the Phillies' second run. Clay Dalrymple then forced Sievers at second for the third out.

The Pirates' first two runs came in the second inning off loser Dallas Green when Smokey Burgess doubled, Donn Clendenen tripled and Bob Bailey singled.

Gonzalez hit a homer in the sixth for the first Phillie run.

Minnesota Moves Into 2nd with 8th Straight Triumph

DETROIT (AP) — The rampaging Minnesota Twins, with Bob Allison and Jim Hall whacking towering homers, recorded their eighth straight victory and took over second place in the American League Tuesday night by defeating Detroit 7-4.

Dick Stigman was the winner with ninth-inning help from Bill Dailey, the Twins' relief specialist, who got pinch hitter Gates Brown to line into a double play on the first pitch and end the game.

Allison cracked his 20th homer with a runner on base as the Twins scored three times and broke a 1-1 tie in the third. Hall drove a three-run homer 430 feet into the upper center field seats in the sixth.

Al Kaline hit his 17th homer for Detroit and Bill Bruton his fourth.

Single in 7th By Carreon Foils No-hitter

NEW YORK (AP) — New York left-hander Al Downing checked Chicago on one hit, a bouncing single up the middle by Camilo Carreon in the seventh inning, as the Yankees pushed further ahead in the American League race Tuesday night with a 3-0 victory over the White Sox.

The victory was the Yanks' fifth straight but only their second in seven games this year with Chicago. The loser was right-hander Ray Herbert, who had pitched shutouts in his two previous outings against New York.

Backed by Tony Kubek's run-scoring single in the third and Hector Lopez' two-run homer in the fifth, Downing held the White Sox firmly in hand.

Downing, now 3-1, struck out 10 and had his most serious jam in the eighth when he issued two walks with two away. Pete Ward popped up, ending that threat. The young southpaw walked six overall.

Lopez got the Yanks' first hit leading off the third, took second on Elston Howard's long fly, and scored on Kubek's two-out single. Then in the fifth, Howard led off with a single and Lopez followed with his sixth homer on a count of no balls and two strikes.

Cubs Use Error By Mets' Hurler To Tally 3, Win

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs used New York pitcher Al Jackson's base-throwing blunder to touch off a second-inning spurge of three unearned runs Tuesday and downed the Mets 4-1.

With one out in the second, Andre Rodgers singled. Pitcher Bob Buhl, who padded his record to 7-5 with a six-hitter, bunted past the mound. Jackson took it and his wild shot to first went into the Mets' dugout for an error, sending Rodgers to third and Buhl to second.

Lou Brock scored Rodgers with a sacrifice fly. A single by Ellis Burton and Billy Williams' double accounted for the other two runs.

In the uprising, Jackson was replaced by Galen Cisco. Cisco, Larry Bearnarth and Don Rowe combined to hold the Cubs scoreless on one hit the rest of the way. Jackson was pinned with his eighth loss. He has six victories.

The Cubs' other run came in the first. The Mets, who absorbed their fourth defeat in a row, spoiled Buhl's shutout with a run in the fourth on three successive singles after two outs.

All matches are open to the public and there is no admission charge.

Houk Stacks All-Star Team With Right-Handed Pitchers

BOSTON (AP) — American League President Joe Cronin is delighted there is just one All-Star baseball game again and certain a right-handed pitcher will start the July 9 classic at Cleveland.

Cronin announced the complete American League squad Tuesday including the seven-man pitching staff hand-picked by Manager Ralph Houk of the defending world champion New York Yankees.

Speculation centers around young Jim Bouton of the Yankees or veteran Jim Bunning of Detroit as the probable starting pitcher who will be named Monday along with the batting order. Baltimore's Steve Barber and Chicago's Juan Pizarro were the only southpaws selected.

The rest of the pitchers include Boston bullpen whiz Dick Radatz, Ken McBride of Los Angeles and Cleveland's Jim Grant.

Biggest surprise omissions from the team include New York lefty Whitey Ford (12-3), Red Sox right-hander Bill Monbouquette (11-5) and Yankee outfielder Roger Maris (17 homers).

"One All Star game clearly distinguishes this as The Game," Cronin said commenting on the return to a single inter-league contest. There had been two a year, 1959 through last season.

Including the American League's 9-4 decision in the second contest a year ago, the junior circuit has captured only two of the last eight though it still leads the overall competition 17-15-1.

"Houk hasn't said a word to me about his starting pitcher but it will definitely be a right-hander," Cronin said after glancing at a list of National League starters. Only Bill White and Ed Bailey swing

Rollins' Broken Jaw Better, Sinks Teeth into AL Pitching

NEW YORK (AP) — Rich in resiliency, Minnesota's Rich Rollins has bounced back from a painful pre-season injury and moved among the top echelon of American League batsmen.

The sophomore third baseman suffered a fractured left jawbone toward the close of spring training and missed the first 10 days of the season. Unable to eat solid foods because of the wired jaw, Rollins was physically weak. His hitting was weaker and he hit only .200 in his first 19 games.

Then, Rich started to sink his teeth into a more solid diet — and into American League pitching. He hiked his average steadily and through Sunday's games was in third place in the batting competition with .330.

In last week's games, Rollins batted .481 with 13 hits in 27 times at bat. He gained 21 points and climbed up from seventh place in the batting race.

Leon Wagner of the Los Angeles Angels, seeking the triple crown, also had a productive week. He took over first place in batting with a .351 mark. The slugging outfielder had 15 safeties in 30 tries and lifted his average 18 points.

Wagner also slammed four homers and drove in eight runs. This enabled him to tie the Minnesota's Bob Allison for the home run lead at 19 and take over sole possession of the RBI lead with 57.

Boston's Frank Malzone fell into second place in batting at .343. The veteran third baseman lost four points with 10 hits in 32 at bats. Carl Yastrzemski of Boston advanced one place to fourth at .325 while Al Kaline of Detroit fell two places to fifth at .320. Yastrzemski gained nine points with an 8-for-19 performance last week while Kaline fell eight points with 8-for-31.

In the National League, Dick Groat of St. Louis continued to set the batting pace with .337. He

Little Billie Jean Moffitt Continues Giant Killing

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Billie Jean Moffitt, the 19-year-old giant killer from Long Beach, Calif., upset former champion Maria Bueno of Brazil Tuesday and joined Darlene Hard, another Californian, in the semifinals of the Wimbledon Lawn Tennis Championships.

Little Billie Jean, overlooked in the seedings, knocked out seventh-seeded Miss Bueno, the 1959 and 1960 winner, 6-2, 7-5 and kept alive her growing reputation for deflating favorites. When she smashed home the winning point, Billie Jean, only 5-foot-6, danced joyfully to the net while the dispirited Brazilian walked up slowly for the handshake.

Miss Hard, making her eighth — and probably last — attempt to win at Wimbledon, eliminated Jan Le-

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bennie Daniels pitched his first complete game in his nine starts Tuesday night as the Washington Senators defeated the Kansas City A's, 7-2.

Daniels, who beat the A's for the second time in six days, his only victories of the season, gave up single runs in the fourth and eighth.

The Senators scored three unearned runs in the fifth — all they needed — on three errors by the A's, a sacrifice and two bloop hits. Kansas City . . . 000 100 010 — 2 7 4

CARRIER SPOTLIGHT

MARTY KNIGHT, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Russel Knight, 1011 Sixth Ave., opens The Daily Iowan's summer "Carrier Spotlight" series. Marty, who has been serving DI readers for more than two years in an area in the southeast part of the city, is delivering more than 40 papers this summer. His delivery route, from Seventh Avenue east to Arthur Street and from J Street north to G Street, includes several deliveries to student residents living in the Dennis Mobile Home Park.
