

Rail Panel Sets Meetings On Stalemate

Views of Labor,
Management Sought
For Report to JFK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The presidential fact-finding panel in the railroad workrules stalemate finished getting organized Friday and scheduled meetings for Monday and Tuesday with both sides.

Then it set a target date of next Friday to give a report to President Kennedy so he can fashion legislative proposals for submission to Congress by July 22. July 29 is the railroads' tentative date for putting into effect work-rule changes which the unions say will bring an immediate strike.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, chairman of the six-man board named by Kennedy to take a new look at the four-year-old controversy, said spokesmen for the railroads and five on-train unions will be asked to give precise views on various issues.

Wirtz had said earlier that many people are not aware that there is much more to the dispute than the issues of knocking out 40,000 jobs of firemen on diesel locomotives.

The dispute centers around workrules changes endorsed by previous presidential panels and sanctioned by the Supreme Court. Over a period of years, the rules changes would do away with some 65,000 jobs the railroads say place an unnecessary $600 million drain on them annually.

The five unions, representing firemen, engineers, switchmen, brakemen and conductors, maintain that most of the jobs are necessary for safety and efficiency.

Band Music Set for Park On Sunday

Another Concert-in-the-Park by the Iowa City Community Band will be presented Sunday at 4 p.m. in College Hill Park. Guest conductor for the fourth concert in the present series will be Thomas L. Davis of the SUI Department of Music.

The program selected includes several items of unusual interest: the overture to "Richard the Third" by Edward German; Suite No. 2 in F by Gustav Holst; Sea Pieces by Edward MacDowell and selections from the musical comedy "My Fair Lady."

Tom Davis is assistant conductor of the SUI Symphony Band, conductor of the Varsity Band and director of the SUI Percussion Ensemble.

The Iowa City Community Band has urged individual Iowa Citizens to contribute to the financial support of the band. Aid received from the Performance Trust Fund of the Recording Industries accounts for the major part of the Community Band's activities.

But business and individual contributions have been helpful in permitting the band to maintain a schedule of six concerts each summer. A special table has been set aside at College Hill Park for the convenience of those listeners who may wish to contribute following the Sunday concerts.

Leikvold Promotes Patrolman Dreyer To Replace Lewis

City Manager Carsten Leikvold announced Friday that he has promoted Ronald R. Dreyer to sergeant on the Iowa City Police force.

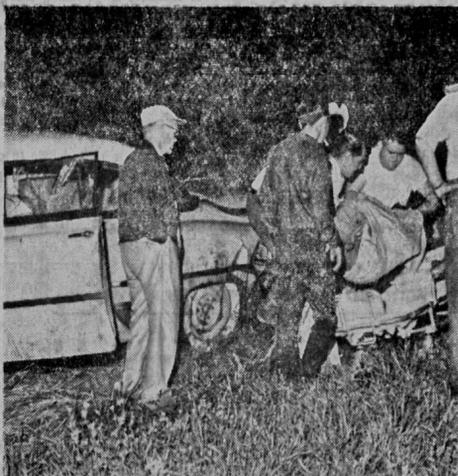

The promotion will become effective July 16. Dreyer will replace Sgt. Fred Lewis who recently resigned. The new sergeant has been a patrolman on the late night shift and he will continue on that shift.

Dreyer is married, has two children and lives at 438 Crestview.

Pilot Lands Plane At Cedar Rapids Without Brakes

United Air Lines flight 463, non-stop from Chicago to Cedar Rapids, experienced an apparent hydraulic failure Friday, making the braking system inoperative. After circling the field for about 30 minutes, the plane made a successful landing, using its reversible propellers to stop the craft. No one was injured.

The plane was due in Cedar Rapids at 7:58 and landed at about 8:20 p.m.

Driver Injured

Ambulance attendants place Left Ballard Jr., 29, Davenport, on a stretcher after the 1953 sedan he was driving east on Highway 6, three miles west of Tiffin, went out of control, crossed the highway, spun around several times, and stopped in a ditch north of the highway. Ballard was admitted to University Hospitals with bruises, possible chest injuries, and hip cuts. The accident happened about 8 p.m. Friday.

Boys Not Found in Mine; Searchers Turned Back

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Rescue parties searching an abandoned coal mine for three missing boys were turned back Friday night by deadly gas which drifted into a previously searched corridor.

Fans were hooked up to drive away the gas. A resumption of the search was planned. The main rescue party emerged from the damp mine without finding any trace of the boys. Searchers used grappling hooks to probe a long body of water some 300 feet from the mine entrance.

A few hours earlier, police found a map of the suburban Castle Shannon mine which reportedly was drawn by one of the missing boys.

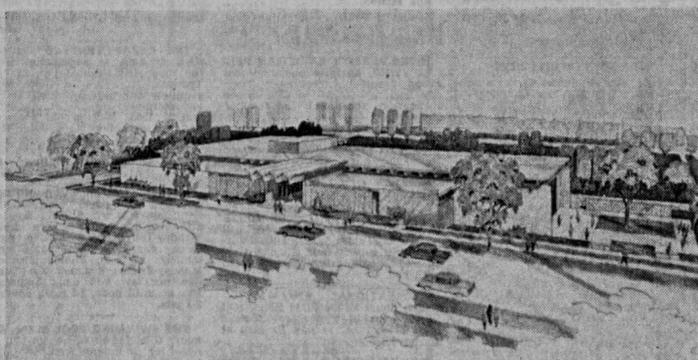

The existence of the diagram was revealed by David Butler, 10, Mount Washington, a friend of two of the missing youths — Robert Abbott, 15, and Danny O'Kain, 13.

'La Traviata' Ticket Sales Start Monday

Tickets for "La Traviata," Verdi opera to be presented July 30-31 and Aug. 2-3 at SUI, will go on sale to students, faculty members and the public Monday at 9 a.m. at the East Lobby Desk in Iowa Memorial Union.

Mail orders for tickets, which will be filled beginning Monday, should be addressed to Opera, Iowa Memorial Union, Iowa City. All seats will be reserved for the four performances, which will be presented in Macbride Auditorium. Tickets are $2.25 each.

"La Traviata" will be a feature of the Silver Jubilee Fine Arts Festival at SUI. Professor Herald Stark, director of the SUI Opera Workshop, will be musical director of the opera, and Professor Harold Shiffler, former SUI faculty member now director of the Drama Department at Hastings College, will be the stage director. An opera has been a feature of the summer Fine Arts Festival at the University since 1953, when "La Boheme" was presented.

Artist's Sketch of Youth Center

Iowa Citizens may get a better perspective of their forthcoming $653,960 Community Recreation Center from this artist's drawing. The building will be constructed at College and Gilbert Streets at the site of the old Community building. City officials expect it to be completed by fall, 1964.

U.S., British Hopes 'High' For Red Test Ban Talks

LONDON (AP) — The United States and Britain completed elaborate — but still secret — plans Friday for a nuclear test ban agreement with the Soviet Union.

Three power nuclear talks open in Moscow Monday and both Western governments made it clear they place great hopes on the negotiations.

The U.S. Embassy issued a highly unusual statement saying President Kennedy's representative, W.

Averell Harriman, is engaged in "potentially one of the most significant diplomatic moves of all times."

It said his mission to Moscow, where he was wartime ambassador, is "a sensitive and important diplomatic reconnaissance."

The British used similar terms in describing the task of their negotiator, Lord Hailsham.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, in discussing the prospects of a test ban with a newspaper interviewer, said: "I can't think of anything more important at this time, either in itself or for East-West relations generally."

A few days ago in a statement to the House of Commons he pictured a complete test ban as the great prize which lay before the big powers.

Yet it seems from all indications that the best the Harriman-Hailsham mission can accomplish is a partial test ban prohibiting nuclear explosions in all environments underground.

Harriman arrived in London Thursday night. His talks with Hailsham continued through the day.

Soviet Defector to West May Be Double Agent

LONDON (AP) — The senior Soviet Intelligence officer who has defected to the West was identified Friday as Anatoli Dolynitsin, a middle-aged Communist career official.

He is believed to have served at the Soviet Embassy in London for nine months from January 1961 and is believed to have been serving in an embassy in a satellite country at the time he fled.

He defected at the beginning of 1962 and was reported to have spent about six months in the United States where he was interrogated by the Central Intelligence Agency. An American embassy in the capital in which he was serving was said to be his first contact with the west.

Britain's intelligence and security services are hoping to polish their tarnished image with the news of the defector.

Some aspects of the case could indicate ties to British as well as American intelligence sources and Dolynitsin possibly was a double agent. After a series of security failures, the British would be pleased to mark up a success on this one.

Dolynitsin was flown to Britain after asking to live here.

He is being held at a secret hideout maintained near London by British Intelligence. The fact that he asked for asylum in Britain, said the Daily Mail, indicates that he may have been working for the British, too, before he defected.

The date of the defection has not been disclosed. The British Press Association said Dolynitsin came over to the West 18 months ago.

However, some London papers said he is believed to have been connected with the case of Greville Wynne, a British businessman and Oleg Penkovsky, a Soviet official, convicted by a Soviet military court May 11 of spying. Penkovsky was sentenced to death; Wynne, to eight years in confinement.

Various versions of the defection indicate that the Soviet turncoat realized he might have been exposed by Penkovsky to Soviet Intelligence and that therefore he fled to the West.

N.J. Union Boss Sentenced, Fined; 'Betrayed' Men

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Anthony (Tony Pro) Provenzano, New Jersey teamster leader convicted of extortion, was sentenced Friday to seven years in federal prison and fined $10,000 by a judge who told him:

"You have betrayed the interests of the working man you were obligated to represent."

Provenzano, 46, who was re-elected president of New Jersey Teamsters Joint Council 73 during his trial, is also president of Teamsters Local 560 of Union City and a vice president of the International Teamsters Union.

Before sentencing, he told U.S. Judge Robert Shaw:

"All I care to say is that I told the truth on the stand, and I stand by that truth."

The teamster leader's attorneys immediately filed notice of an appeal, and Judge Shaw released Provenzano on $15,000 bail.

Judge Shaw also heard the trial in which a jury of six men and six women convicted Provenzano of extorting $17,100 from the Dix Transportation Co. of Rensselaer, N.Y.

The payments allegedly were made by Dix between 1952 and 1959, to insure labor peace at a truck terminal operated by the company at Secaucus.

The appeal by Provenzano's attorneys will take the case to the 3rd Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals in Philadelphia.

Unarmed General Faces 250, Invokes New Law

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — National Guardsmen — acting under a modified version of martial law — rolled into this terror-ridden town Friday and, with a minimum display of force, ended a new Negro demonstration Friday night.

It was a marked contrast to Thursday night's reign of racial terror when six white persons, including three off-duty Guardsmen, were wounded.

Negroes and some white sympathizers, calling generally for equal rights and specifically for the release of two 15-year-old demonstrators confined as juvenile delinquents, gathered for a rally at the Bethel African Methodist Episcopal church.

Then 250 of them started a march toward the white section, in defiance of a ban the troopers, with their fixed bayonets, had been sent in to enforce — no demonstrations.

In a dramatic scene, Brig. Gen. George M. Gelston left a group of his Guardsmen and, unarmed, walked up the middle of the street toward the demonstrators.

Holding up his hand, he said: "The National Guard was brought here to protect all the people. If you violate the prohibition against demonstrations, you are demonstrating against the orders of the governor of the state."

The demonstrators sat down in the middle of the street and sang while armed Guardsmen watched from a block and a half away.

Then one of their leaders led them in prayer. Gen. Gelston removed his hat during the prayer. Then he asked the demonstrators to go back to their church, and they did.

It was a day of swift developments. Drastic new rules — tougher than the Guard's previous tour of duty here — were decreed. They included a 9 p.m. curfew.

The Guardsmen, numbering 400, split into small detachments and fanned out to potential trouble areas.

They were ordered here by Gov. J. Millard Tawes after Thursday night's outbreak in which six white persons were wounded.

Frequent gunfire had roared throughout the night in riotous scenes which began Thursday at a luncheon room where Negroes and their white sympathizers have long been trying to integrate. Six of the sit-in demonstrators were slugged by a band of 25 angry white segregationists.

The upshot was that an area between the white and Negro sections of the city became a virtual no-man's land. On one side crowds of shouting white people had gathered. From the other came shots in the night.

Automobiles had roamed the streets, spitting gunfire. Among the six wounded, none seriously, were three off-duty National Guardsmen. Just 40 miles north of Cambridge, a biracial commission in the town of Chestertown announced the first 100 per cent voluntary integration in public accommodations on Maryland's Eastern shore.

N.C. Violence

In Rosman, N. C., a band of armed mountain people, incensed by reports of nudity and integration at a summer camp in the Blue Ridge Mountains, descended on the camp Thursday night, burned the gymnasium and shot up a bus.

No one was seriously injured, but officials said the camp was being evacuated and moved to New Jersey.

Gov. Barnett Testifies

In Washington, Mississippi Gov. Ross R. Barnett told a Senate hearing that enactment of civil rights bills proposed by the Kennedy administration not only would mean the end of constitutional government in this country but would "result in racial violence of unimaginable scope."

The Mississippi governor accused the President and his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, of encouraging civil rights demonstrations which he said are "largely Communist-inspired."

State Troopers Move

In Savannah, Ga., more state troopers moved into the racially embattled seaport after a second successive night of violence that left two youths wounded by gunfire and mounting property damage.

Prisoner Soaps Himself, Slips Through Jail Bars

DES MOINES (AP) — Authorities sought a Davenport man, Friday, who sawed his way out of the south side of the Polk County jail while sheriff's deputies were attempting to prevent a possible breakout on the north side of the building.

Still at large and considered dangerous by officers was Raymond Lewis Post, 38, who had been in jail awaiting action by the Polk County grand jury in a $7,000 hold-up of the Easter Super-Valu store May 19 in Windsor Heights.

Post is 5-feet-8 weighs 172 pounds and has short brown hair, blue eyes, a stocky build, ruddy complexion and several scars on his body.

Sheriff's deputies received word of the jail break just as they completed searching a third-floor cell on the north side of the building and caught Post's accomplice, Raymond Lee Bestman, 22, Gilman, Wis. in the corridor between their second-floor cell block and the outside window through which Post had fled.

Bestman was clad only in shorts and had soaped himself to help squeeze through the bars of the cell block's shower room that had been sawed.

Post, also soaped and in shorts, reportedly put on tan trousers, a bright blue short-sleeved sports shirt with brown figures, and black shoes in the corridor between the cell block and the window before crawling out to freedom.

Sheriff Wilbur T. Hildreth said the two jailors on duty had received a tip about noise coming from the third-floor cell occupied by four women prisoners, and were investigating when the jail break was made.

The sheriff said he had received no reports of anyone seeing Post since a passing motorist observed the fugitive crawling out a second-story window of the jail about 9 p.m. Thursday.

Hildreth said the motorist, Dan Murray, of Des Moines was afraid to stop because his family was in the car but proceeded down the street where a taxi driver was hailed and asked to notify authorities.

U.S. Tactics Thwart Revolt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-insurgency tactics taught by the U.S. Air Force played a key role in suppressing a revolt against the Dominican Republic government late last year, it was learned Friday.

An unclassified Air Force report on the episode said it started last Dec. 28 when a group of religious fanatics in the town of Palma Sola gathered to revolt.

"In the struggle, Brig. Gen. Miguel Reyes was killed and four officers and six enlisted men were wounded.

"A group of cultists then took to the hills."

At this point, six American-built AT6 planes, single-engine propeller-driven craft, were flown to Barahona Air Base by Dominican pilots trained by U.S. air commandos in counterinsurgent air tactics.

Four planes constantly flew over the cultist-held area and buzzed it. "Dry gunnery and bombing passes were made to keep the opposition moving," the report said.

"These same maneuvers were continued through the hours of darkness." The next day, after giving the cultists no rest, the Dominican-piloted AT6s saturated the area with leaflets which promised good treatment if they surrendered.

Yocum Joins Ceremony

German Schools Start International Fund

By DOREEN PADILLA Exchange Editor THE UNIVERSITIES of the Federal German Republic and West Berlin plan to establish a "German Students' International Solidarity Fund." The fund will collect money to benefit other universities throughout the world.

The money will go to: The University of Karachi for transportable X-ray equipment; the University of Benares in India for 32 beds for the students' sick ward; the library of the University of Algiers, which was destroyed by the OAS; the Makerere College in Uganda, which is being expanded into a full fledged university; scholarships for African students in Africa; and a campaign against illiteracy in Bolivia.

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY has suspended the Alpha Sigma chapter of Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity for two years. The action came after several members of the fraternity and a group of non-students got into a fight at a nearby lake.

On Other Campuses

One of the nine social fraternities at Southern Illinois, Sigma Tau Gamma had sixty men as active and pledges. Their house will be converted to a residence unit for student housing.

The Director of Student Affairs at Southern Illinois stated that the actions of the fraternity were weighed against the general goals and ideals of the group before suspension.

Sigma Tau Gamma was already on probationary status before the incident occurred.

AT INDIANA STATE University, Bloomington, the indictment against three former IU students for subversion has been vindicated. A Monroe circuit court judge said the language of the indictment was not clear.

A SUIT AGAINST the University of Texas placed in 1961 by three Negro students to integrate dormitories is now before a U.S. District judge.

The plaintiffs have contended that all students must have access to facilities — including those totally unrelated to the educational functions of the University.

The defense, however, contends that life in dormitories is not part of the "educational process" at the University. Also, they feel that the plaintiffs are not being denied a right they are entitled to enjoy as a part of their student life.

The defense also charges that the plaintiffs attempt to support their case by citing authorities dealing with the desegregation of the classroom.

The judge may decide to grant the motion to dismiss, to grant the motion for a summary judgment, or to call for a trial complete with witnesses.

A Bookish Problem Grows Curiouser

MOST SUIOWANS ARE PROUD of their library. With over one million volumes on its shelves, the University library ranks 27th among college libraries in the country despite the fact that SUI is only about the 60th largest university. The library situation seems well in hand.

The goal of the Iowa University library is to rise above itself and enter the category of the top 20 libraries which ostensibly is a realistic objective. Iowa's library contains slightly above one million books and Johns Hopkins, the school holding the 20th position, has about 1.2 million.

However, a closer look at the figure reveals that this goal may be harder to achieve than it appears. Though library expenditures have more than doubled in the past ten years, SUI is having trouble maintaining its relative position among other university libraries. In a list of volumes added, SUI's library ranks 30th, adding approximately 42,000 volumes a year. However, many colleges with smaller libraries than SUI are well ahead of SUI on the list, which means that these libraries are slowly catching up, and indeed may soon pass the University library. Most schools with libraries larger than SUI's are also adding books at a faster rate than Iowa which means that the gap separating the University library and those larger libraries is getting larger.

A more significant indicator of SUI's library problem is Iowa's total expenditure. SUI ranks 29th in this category and last in the Big Ten. This is the key to Iowa's trouble.

Only one third of library expenditures go toward new acquisitions. The remaining two-thirds goes to library personnel. Even if SUI did add books at a higher rate, they could not be processed with the present staff.

Iowa has approximately 86 library staff ranking the school 33rd among other university libraries in this area. Many schools with smaller libraries have larger staffs and some with larger libraries have staffs over three times that of SUI's.

Iowa's library problem is becoming serious, especially in light of SUI's need to attract more and better graduate students. The library situation, as Alice said in Carroll's book, is becoming "curiouser and curiouser," for University officials are doing their best. Unfortunately, all it would take is some more money from the state. A lot more money.

The Utah Teachers Have a Right to Strike

THE PROPOSED BOYCOTT by the Utah Education Association seems justified, if not necessary. It places the problem of teacher compensation directly before the public in a dramatic and efficacious manner.

Teachers are tired of rationalizing away low pay and inadequate facilities with idealistic clichés about their sincerity and dedication. They want to be rewarded for their abilities as well as their dedication.

With the increased emphasis on the value of education, teachers have gained something they previously lacked — bargaining power. Because they are called professionals is no reason they should not use this power.

Detractors have been quick to disagree with this. They claim that the boycott approach is "unprofessional" and that "public confidence" in the teacher will be undermined. What about the teacher's confidence in the public?

The responsibility for the education of the public does not rest solely with the teacher. If the public wants education it must provide a suitable framework within which the teacher can operate.

The fact that critics of the Utah teachers feel that a boycott would mean "disaster" to the state indicates the importance of the teacher's service. This importance merits adequate compensation.

"Imagine Trying To Tell People What They Can Do In Their Own Places of Business!"

Psychoanalyzed by the Tube — 'Journalism? Har, har...'

By DEAN MILLS Editor

Doctors, I have long known, choose their bloody profession because they are sadists. Only one cut, so to speak, above butchers. Male fashion designers, on the other hand, do their dastardly deeds to female attire because they are basically women-haters — and few men would doubt that contention after a look at this fall's bulky, bundy, I-look-like anything-but-a-woman fashion designs.

You can imagine, then, the satisfaction of my curious Freudian mind when I found out the reason (the real, SUBCONSCIOUS reason) I'm a journalist. (There may be some doubt among my colleagues as to my professional standing, but we'll assume their doubts are fostered by some deep, dark, psychotic problems of their own.) I mean, I'd thought all this time I was in the profession because I happened to LIKE newspapers. You know, the smell of printer's ink, the thrill of seeing my name in print — that sort of thing.

Not so. According to The Eleventh Hour, NBC-TV's psychiatric answer to Ben Casey, the disease journalism is an offshoot of sibling rivalry. I was astounded at first, but there it was, in black and white, on the tube.

BRUCE, A COLLEGE sophomore, slits his wrists when a girl friend refuses his nutty proposal of marriage. Soul-searching and brain-picking of Bruce and his parents after the boy's miraculous rescue reveals that the girl had little to do with the suicide attempt.

The real reason, you see, was Bruce's failure to compete with his older brother Jack. Jack, it developed, had managed to graduate from college an engineer with a straight-A grade report in one hand, all kinds of athletic loving cups in the other, and a loving sexy wife in both. Bruce, expected by his parents to equal Jack's accomplishments, struck out on all three counts. He was flitting with a C in physics, played a spastic game of baseball, and you already know what happened to his romantic attempts. Bruce is a mess.

DURING A STAND-UP session in good old Dr. Bassett's office (no more of the black couch stuff; patients expect that sort of thing, and TV psychiatrists won't tolerate the expected), Bruce reveals a hidden desire to be a photographer. The dialogue, reconstructed from memory, goes something like:

Dr. Bassett: (smile of satisfied discovery on his face, voice restrained, quiet, attempting to contain his professional glee) You, uh, interested in photography, Bruce?

Bruce: (smiling modestly) Yeah, a little.

The doctor then tricks the boy into revealing his brother's inability with the camera ("He's got no eye for composition... no artistic sense at all.") Bruce, always on his toes, suddenly realizes he has been had and retorts:

"YOU THINK I SHOULD be a photographer? Har, har! My father isn't paying $12,000 to have me graduate from college a journalism major. Har, har, har!"

Bruce goes back to college, where he is introduced by his old girl friend (who wants rid of Bruce, but preferably not by his suicide) to another girl. Dialogue: Girl: Kathy is a real sweet girl, Bruce. She's kinda like you — quiet, shy... Bruce: A real loser, huh?

DISGUSTED WITH WOMEN for a while, Bruce exchanges more unpleasantities with his parents and then returns to his dorm for another slash at the wrists. This time it's a bit more difficult — his mother has thoughtfully bought him a present after his first suicide attempt: an electric razor. Undeterred, Bruce finds a pocket knife and is ready to do the dirty deed again.

Enter Bruce's roommate (a smooth, cool type — a not-too-subtle brother image) for a fight

City High, Regina Win In Sectional Tourney

The sectional finals of the Boys Baseball Tournament will be all-Iowa City as the result of victories by Iowa City High School and Regina, here Friday.

City High turned on the power to defeat West Branch, 16-1, in a 10-run, five-inning rule game.

In that game, Donn Haugen led City High both at the plate and on the mound, giving up only two striking out 10 and walking two and going 3-3 at the plate, including a double.

City High opened the scoring with four in the first on walk, three singles, and two doubles.

75 To Compete Today in Meet For Junior Boys

Iowa City will be the scene of the first statewide Junior Champ track and field games today, with about 75 boys, between 14 and 15, competing.

The meet, cosponsored by the Iowa Junior Chamber of Commerce (JayCees) and the Investors Life Insurance Co., is part of a national effort sponsored by the JayCees, in connection with President Kennedy's youth fitness program.

An awards banquet is scheduled for 6 p.m. at Hotel Jefferson with SUI track coach Francis Cretzmeier the featured speaker. Terry McCann, a former SUI and Olympic wrestling star and sports director of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, will be an honored guest on the program.

Most of the participants in the meet were scheduled to arrive Friday and to be housed in SUI dormitories, with food being provided by the dorms and cafeterias.

The meet this year is for boys in the 14-15 age group only, but the JayCees hope to expand the meet in future years.

Events in today's meet, which are scheduled to be held at the SUI track beginning at 1 p.m., include the 120-yard low hurdles, shot, pole vault, broad jump and pentathlon 440-yard run.

Other events include the 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard relay and pentathlon 440-yard run.

The first-place winners in the meet will be given expense-paid trips to the national Junior Champ games to be held in St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 8-10.

There is no admission charge and the public is invited to attend the meet.

Gives 3 Hits, Strikes Out 13 To Best Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — Sandy Koufax gave another dazzling pitching performance Friday night, firing his third straight shutout and ninth of the season with a three-hitter as the Los Angeles Dodgers beat New York's stumbling Mets, 6-0. Koufax led the National League leaders to their fifth successive victory and pinned the last-place Mets with their 13th loss in a row. The young left-hander, winning for the eighth straight time, became the first 15-game winner in the majors.

The Dodgers jumped on Met starter Al Jackson for three runs in the opening inning and Koufax breezed. He struck out 13, raising his major league leading total to 163, and turned in his 13th complete game.

Cards Win On Homer By Rookie

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Gary Kolb's first major league home run with a man on climaxed a four-run third inning that gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 5-3 victory over the Milwaukee Braves Friday night.

Bob Gibson scattered nine hits in 7 1/2 innings but needed relief help from Barney Schulz to gain his ninth victory in 13 decisions. Solo homers by Gene Oliver in the second inning and Mack Jones in the ninth and a pinch-hit double by Don Dillard in the seventh gave Milwaukee its runs.

Milwaukee 010 000 101—3 10 1

36-Hole Playoff Today —

Rodgers, New Zealander Tie For British Open Crown

ST. ANNE'S England (AP) — Phil Rodgers, a pudgy ex-Marine from La Jolla, Calif., and Bob Charles of New Zealand, the only top-flight left-handed pro golfer in the world, shot steady par fours on the final hole Friday and tied for the British Open Golf Championship.

They will play off over 36 holes of the 6,757-yard Royal Lytham and St. Anne's course today.

Rodgers and Charles finished with 72-hole totals of 277, one stroke over the Open record 276 posted by Arnold Palmer at Troon last year. Palmer skied to a final round 76 and finished at 294 — 17 strokes back — in his try for his third straight championship. He finished in a tie for 26th place.

But it was Jack Nicklaus, the Ohio strong boy and U.S. Masters champion, who let the tournament slip from his grasp during the wild three-man charge down the stretch. Nicklaus faltered on the last two holes and finished with 278, a stroke behind the co-leaders.

Nicklaus, playing ahead of Rodgers and Charles, knocked in a 17-foot putt for a birdie three at the 16th hole and seemed to have his first British Open firmly in hand.

However, he knocked a two-iron over the green at the par four 17th, fluffed his first approach and settled for a five. He hit his drive into a bunker on the 18th and got another five.

That left it up to Rodgers and Charles. They matched Nicklaus' three at the 16th, got fours on the 17th, and while the crowd of 5,000 gathered around the home green both reached it in two.

Charles was about 35 feet away

Rodgers only 15. Charles potted about 30 inches past and Rodgers left his putt nine inches short.

The 25-year-old ex-Marine putted on the edge for a fraction of a second. Then Charles calmly canned his to force the playoff.

Rodgers had rounds of 67-69-71 and a final 69.

Charles shot 68-72-66 and 71. His third round 66 was listed as a course record, since the links has been lengthened and toughened since Peter Thomson of Australia shot a 63 in 1958.

Nicklaus had 71-67-70 and a final 70 for his 278.

Palmer, who took a rest from golf for a month and then came back to win two of the next three tournaments, said after the final round that he was tired again and may take another rest after he plays the PGA championship in Dallas next week.

"I was just bad," he said. "I'm tired. I lost my timing early in this tournament and never seemed to regain it. I may take a rest again."

San Franciscans To Vie For Publix Championship

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The championship at 36 holes Saturday over the 6,702-yard par 36-67 Haggin Oaks Golf Course.

Long hitters Steve Opperman and Bob Lunn turned the National Public Links Golf Championship into an all-San Francisco final following semifinal victories in 36-hole matches Friday.

Opperman, 21, who has been playing 3 1/2 years, ousted the tournament upset king, 49-year-old Dante Vicini of Ottawa, Ill., 4 and 3.

Lunn, 18, who graduated only last month from high school, broke a 30-hole tie and beat the Jersey town favorite, 20-year-old Jerry Yuke, 3 and 1.

DM's Bliss Cards 7-Under-Par 65, Leads Amateurs

CLINTON (AP) — Rod Bliss III of Des Moines shot a sizzling 7-under-par 65 to take a commanding lead after the first round of the Iowa Amateur golf tournament here Friday.

The 20-year-old Bliss strung together six birdies, an eagle and nine pars and his 34-31 tied the course record.

Tournament favorites Steve Spray of Indianola was three strokes off the pace with 36-32-68. Defending champion Dave Gross of Davenport faltered to a 74.

Milt Marshall of Clear Lake had a 69, and Jim Kachelleck, Dubuque, and Ed Lipp, Cedar Rapids, each had 70s.

Bliss, a Southern Methodist University student, was two under after the first nine. He had birdies on three of the last nine holes, and eagled the 470-yard par-5 18th for a five-under-par 31.

Bill Iverson, Jr., of Clinton shot a 71, but a two-stroke penalty because of a lost ball boosted his total to 73.

Ecuadorian Junta Rounds-Up Reds

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—The military junta that ousted President Carlos Arosemena, calling him a drunk who sympathized with communists, pledged Friday to crack down on pro-Castro Communist terrorist bands plaguing Ecuador.

Marital law and a 9 p.m.-6 a.m. curfew were proclaimed by the junta, headed by navy Capt. Ramon Castro Jijon. Strict censorship was imposed.

In Washington, the State Department said the United States has not yet recognized the new government.

Creation of a cabinet was begun with the appointment of colonels as three key ministers. Castro Jijon said civilians may be given the other posts.

Col. Luis Agustin Mora Bowen became Interior Minister and, as such, is in command of the National Police. Col. Aurelio Naranjo was named Defense Minister. The Public Works portfolio went to Col. Segundo Morochu.

Under Mora Bowen's command, police quickly rounded up an unannounced number of Communists and other leftists for questioning. Among those detained was Oswaldo Guayasamin, 43, a painter of Indian birth and leftwing leanings.

The capital was quiet after the brief uprising Thursday which unseated both Arosemena, 44, and the man who ordinarily would have succeeded him, Vice President Reinaldo Varea Donoso. It was announced three persons

Thirty Explorer and Boy Scouts who are making an expedition in August to Philmont, national Boy Scout ranch in the mountains of northern New Mexico, are on a two-day shakedown hike this weekend. Seven of the 30 are sons of SUI professors, and another of a University staff member.

The professor's sons are Rod Tester, Mark Tade, Branson Hamilton, Tom Cech, Peter Sheets, Jon Kilpatrick and Chris Skultety. The staff member's son is Terry Saforek.

The shakedown hike began from the University Library parking lot at 5:30 a.m. this morning. The boys will camp overnight, and return to Iowa City tomorrow afternoon. The shakedown is to be made in full uniform, with packs containing the same gear that will be used in 11 days on the New Mexico trail.

The Philmont trip will begin on August 8 and end on August 25. One highlight of the expedition will be a stop at Colorado Springs, Colo., where the boys will be guests of the Air Force Academy.

Course in Fashion In Home Ec. Dept. Nears Completion

Graduate students are completing a course this week in Foundations of Fashion at SUI.

Offered for the first time this summer, the four-weeks course is a feature of the fiftieth anniversary summer session of the SUI Home Economics Department. Drawing information from psychology, anthropology, sociology and economics, the course has presented the social significance of clothing, considering the psychology of fashion, the effect of clothing on behavior and the identification of basic human drives which affect people's response to fashion.

The class also has studied fashion cycles and the origin and motivation for the development of clothes as these have been explained by anthropologists. Meeting four hours daily, the class carries four semester-hours of academic credit.

Professor Adeline Hoffman of the Home Economics Department, who is also an affiliate member of the SUI Institute of Gerontology, has taught the course. Guest speakers have been John Kotman, instructor in marketing, and Margaret Hall, assistant professor of dramatic art, both of SUI, and Howard Heathman, manager of the fur department of Armstrong's, Cedar Rapids.

National Science Grants Made to 9 SUI Students

Nine SUI students have been awarded National Science Foundation fellowships for the 1963-64 academic year.

The grants are in the form of NSF Cooperative Graduate Fellowships, which include a stipend of $2,400 in addition to tuition and fees for the academic year.

The recipients were chosen from among students submitting applications to NSF subsequent to review by the Fellowship Committee of the SUI Graduate Council Committee on Awards.

The students are: KEOKUK: Mary F. Axford. KEOSAUQUA: James R. McIntosh.

LOOK AT THE CONDITION OF THOSE GARBAGE PAILS

TELL YOUR K.P.'S TO BE MORE CAREFUL

IT'S NOT ENTIRELY THEIR FAULT, SIR

OUR GARBAGE PAILS JUST GET A LOT MORE USE THAN MOST GARBAGE PAILS
