Racial Issue Eases in Cambridge

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — The explosive race issue, which brought virtual guerrilla war to this city, eased Tuesday night, if only temporarily.

Negro leaders decreed a 24-hour moratorium on marches, picketing or other demonstrations. They said they wanted to give a new biracial committee a chance to start operating.

The National Guard chief here announced to an uproarious crowd of businessmen, enraged by curbs under militia law, that curfew rules were being relaxed immediately. Businesses can stay open until 9 p.m. instead of 7, and people can travel the streets until 10 p.m. instead of 9.

THERE WAS NO immediate change in the total ban on sales of alcoholic drink, but it was announced that relaxation was being considered.

Militant Negro leader Gloria Richardson had announced only Monday night, after being freed from a brief period of detention for leading a picket march on a segregated drugstore, that another demonstration was set for 3 p.m. Tuesday.

But Monday night Mayor Calvin W. Mowbray and the City Council appointed a Human Relations Committee of seven whites and four Negroes to help tackle the race controversy, in which Negroes are trying to desegregate restaurants and lodging places and knock down other barriers.

So Tuesday afternoon, Negro leaders met and announced the moratorium on demonstrations. But Stanley Branche, field secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said:

"If nothing comes out of the bi-racial committee by 3 p.m. tomorrow, then we start demonstrations again."

IN DETROIT police were authorized Tuesday to tighten the reins on antipolice demonstrations — racial or not — after riot-trained officers Monday night had to break up a rock-throwing mob.

Two separate incidents in which police fatally shot persons they were trying to arrest have resulted in a Saturday rally by 600 Negroes outside police headquarters and the melee Monday night outside a precinct station.

Mayor Jerome Cavanaugh Tuesday sternly warned "mob fury, which leads to the destruction of property and the serious injury of policemen and citizens, will not be tolerated."

Wayne County Prosecutor Samuel Olsen, who has exonerated the policemen involved in the shootings, turned down the Negro group's request for an investigation of the shooting July 5 of a Negro prostitute.

"If this office were to recommend a criminal warrant in this case, it would not be a legal warrant but a political warrant calculated to appeal to a minority group."

"Such action could result in a complete breakdown of law enforcement in this city," he said. But he added that if new evidence is turned up, this could change his decision.

IN NEW ORLEANS attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People asked the Federal appeals court Tuesday to require the Jackson, Miss., public school system to admit seven Negro pupils to previously all-white schools this fall.

The NAACP attorneys filed an appeal from U.S. Dist. Judge Sidney C. Mize's dismissal of an integration suit filed in Federal Court for the Southern District of Mississippi last March.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals recently ordered desegregation in public schools at Mobile, Ala., and Birmingham, Ala.

The NAACP, acting in behalf of the parents of the seven children, asked the tribunal to set a hearing date as early as possible on the Jackson case.

Optimism Prevails At Test Ban Talks

Russian Propaganda Papers Press Anti-China Campaign

MOSCOW (AP) — Red China's envoys to Moscow's Communist party "peace talks" retired to the seclusion of their embassy Tuesday as Soviet propaganda brickbats flew past their ears.

The Chinese delegates were believed drilling for parleys with Soviet spokesmen which Communist sources said would be resumed Wednesday.

Teng Hsiao-ping, head of the delegation to the 10-day-old Soviet-Chinese ideological talks, maintained a glum silence.

Soviet propaganda organs, meanwhile, pressed a shrill anti-Chinese campaign.

In one move, a former top official of the Soviet aid program in Peking charged Communist China had wrecked aid projects because of the ideological dispute.

Ivan Belobrov, former chief consultant to the Chinese Ministry of Iron and Steel, told Tass the Chinese attitude led to great losses and slowed the rate of Chinese development.

"Interparty Communist differences were transferred by the Chinese into the sphere of business contacts," Belobrov said.

The interview with Belobrov, distributed by the official Soviet news agency, was obviously aimed at bolstering charges by the Soviet Communist party that it was China which cut back on the trade-and-aid relations between the two countries.

Western experts had said previously that the Soviet Union withdrew its help during the dispute over control of the world Communist movement.

The open letter from the Central Committee of the Soviet Com-

Don't Return 'Due' Books

Iowa City's Public Library has a new temporary policy — no "overdue" books, according to an employee, Joyce Nienstedt, who has received numerous calls from persons fearful of being fined.

The library has been closed since May 29 for construction purposes. At that time patrons were urged to keep books until the library reopened.

Regardless of return dates on cards, no books are due until the library opens next month. At that time there will be ten days to two weeks when books may be returned without penalty, Miss Nienstedt said. Allowances will be made for persons on vacations, she added.

Band, Highlanders To Perform Away

Both the SUI Marching Band and the Scottish Highlanders will accompany the Hawkeye football squad to one road game during the 1963 season.

The band will perform at half-time during the Ohio State game at Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 2. On Oct. 26, the Scottish Highlanders will perform during halftime at the Purdue game in Lafayette, Ind.

Frederick C. Ebbs directs the marching band and William L. Adamson directs the Highlanders.

McNamara Gives Ruling To Services

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the face of protests that the Pentagon was encouraging military personnel to take part in racial demonstrations, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara sharply restricted such activity.

"It is highly inappropriate and unnecessary for military personnel, with their special obligations of citizenship, to participate in these activities," he said in a memorandum to the armed forces.

There have been a number of reports of military people taking part in various racial demonstrations in the South while out of uniform.

McNamara said military personnel "may not under any circumstances participate in civil rights demonstrations" when these conditions exist:

- During hours when they are required to be present for duty.
- When they are in uniform.
- When they are on military reservations.
- When their activities constitute a breach of law and order; or
- When violence is reasonably likely to result.

Meanwhile Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama protested at a Senate hearing on civil rights legislation Monday against what he called an Air Force encouragement of its personnel to take part in racial demonstrations.

Wallace termed it "an incitement to demonstrate" and said "when the red alert comes, these military personnel may be out in the streets demonstrating."

U.S., British Diplomats Confer with Gromyko

MOSCOW (AP) — U.S. and British diplomats met with Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko for about three hours Tuesday in the renewed quest for a nuclear test ban agreement, and left smiling broadly.

The atmosphere on both sides seemed optimistic, though there is a good chance that some of this may fade in later negotiations.

U.S. Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman and Lord Hailsham of Britain beamed at the close of the second round of the Moscow parley on a formula to outlaw some nuclear weapons tests. They left together in an American limousine.

THE RUSSIANS also were in a good mood.

One of the Soviet delegates, Valerian A. Zorin, was asked by a correspondent before the opening of the day's session whether he believed the talks were proceeding satisfactorily.

"In my opinion, yes," Zorin replied.

The negotiators put aside for the time being talk about an East-West nonaggression pact, advocated by the Russians, which may later complicate efforts to end the blasts.

Further talks were scheduled Wednesday.

In Washington a close associate of President Kennedy says that if agreement is reached on a nuclear test ban in the talks now under way in Moscow it may be followed by statements by Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev pledging nonaggression.

UNDERSECRETARY of State W. Averell Harriman, the top U.S. negotiator in Moscow, went there under orders to listen to any proposals the Russians might make about a European nonaggression pact, but not to commit the United States to recognize Communist East Germany.

It was understood within administration circles, however, that there would be no objection to an exchange of pledges between Khrushchev and Kennedy in which each would pledge not to take aggressive action to change the present alignment in Europe.

It has been clear from the beginning that both sides felt there was a good chance now for an agreement on at least a partial test ban. It might be a long time before a better chance could be found to end the tests, the costs and the danger they involve.

The British and Americans had agreed to press first for a full test ban, including the troublesome underground tests with inspections that have blocked agreement for so long.

Civil Rights Foes Hint Reds Control Anti-Bias Groups

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of civil rights legislation sought Tuesday to steer congressional inquiries toward the backers of racial demonstrations.

They strongly implied the red hand of Communism would be found pulling the strings of such organizations as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Congress of Racial Equality.

Sen. A. S. (Mike) Monroney (D-Okla.) protested against what he called "guilt by association" testimony before the Senate Commerce Committee now in its third week of hearings on President Kennedy's proposed public accommodations law.

"Even McCarthyism in the darkest days of the dark episode first heard such charges in executive session," Monroney said. He said the principal target seemed to be Dr. Martin Luther King, an integration leader, and he suggested that "in all fairness" the committee should call King to the stand.

British 'Pentagon' To Unify Military

LONDON (AP) — The British Government Tuesday disclosed plans to unify all its armed forces in one building — like the Pentagon — and make Queen Elizabeth II its Lord High Admiral.

The Admiralty, War Office, and Air Ministry would be subordinated to an over-all secretary of defense, with each service having its own minister.

Jury Indicts 4 Russians; Bail Denied

NEW YORK (AP) — The Soviet Government threw its weight Tuesday behind two Russian nationals accused of spying against the United States. However, bail was denied the pair despite a plea that they are entitled to diplomatic immunity from prosecution in this country.

The couple, Ivan D. Egorov, 41, a personnel officer with the United States Secretariat, and his wife, Aleksandra, 39, were not present when the bail motion was argued before the U.S. Court of Appeals.

In the courtroom, however, were Nikolai Reznichenko, second secretary of the Soviet Embassy, and July Vorontsov, counselor of the Soviet U.N. mission.

The Egorovs were arrested in Moscow July 2, at the same time another couple, named as Robert and Joy Ann Baltch, were seized in Washington. All were indicted Monday by a Brooklyn Federal grand jury, which accused them of operating a spy ring here since 1957.

The Baltchs are being held without bail in Washington for a hearing on their removal to New York. Their real identities have not been made public by the government.

The four defendants are accused of setting up a spy ring six years ago, heavily financed by Moscow, and of sending to Russia by short wave radio from Washington secret data on American rocket pads, atomic arms shipments and troop movements.

Castro for Peace; Criticizes U.S. Political Parties

By DANIEL HARKER (EDITOR'S NOTE: AP correspondent Daniel Harker was the only newsman present when Prime Minister Castro discussed Cuban and foreign affairs with a group of diplomats in Havana Monday night.)

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro declared himself a supporter of peaceful coexistence at a French Embassy reception Monday night. This is the line taken by Premier Khrushchev in his ideological dispute with Red China.

The bearded Cuban leader expressed his views on coexistence and other matters to a group of several diplomats, including Soviet Ambassador Alexei Alexeiev. He criticized U.S. political parties, saying their policies shifted with fluctuations in power. He said his government has never been safer than now from the possibility of a counter-revolution.

"I want peace as everyone does," Castro said. "I am for peaceful coexistence, and I do not think there is a person in this world who wants to die in a nuclear holocaust."

"The American people want peace; the Russian people want peace, and we want peace. Who does not want peace?"

As for U.S. political parties, he said: "You see the Republicans yelling for an invasion of Cuba and making bellicose statements because they are opposing Kennedy's Government. But I will tell you that if the Republicans win the next — 1964 — presidential election, they will suddenly assume responsibility and begin to ask for caution. And I am pretty sure that the Democrats then would begin to ask for an invasion."

Castro expressed belief that many people in the United States "really expect some kind of an internal rebellion in Cuba and believe the people are suffering and hating the government."

"They can wait for that rebellion until the end of their days," he said. "The revolutionary government and the revolution have never been safer than now. We are going to stay for a long time." He claimed the Cuban people are back of him.

"They are understanding our purposes . . . and they are beginning to offer us any help we need," he said. "They have understood the logical difficulties we have had."

—SUI Beauty Reigns at Grinnell— Coed To Vie for Miss Iowa

No stranger to beauty contests, Marilyn Marie Roudabush, A2, Brooklyn, will compete in the Miss Iowa Beauty Pageant at Clear Lake July 25-28.

Miss Roudabush was recently crowned Miss Grinnell.

When she was a junior at Brooklyn-Guernsey-Malcolm Community High School, she placed third in the Des Moines American Institute Miss Personality contest. The following year she was named Miss Brooklyn at the Brooklyn Old Timers Days.

As a freshman at SUI last year, Marilyn was a candidate for Dolphin Queen, Interdorm Queen and Hillcrest Queen.

Although kept busy with beauty contests and school work, she still finds time to be active in student government in Beth Wellman House of Burge Hall and the Young Democrats. She was vice-president of the freshman transfer council in Beth Wellman House and was a member of the Scottish Highlanders.

Marilyn, a journalism major, hopes to become a reporter for a large metropolitan newspaper. She became interested in journalism when she was working for her high school publications.

She led the Brooklyn-Guernsey-Malcolm girls to the 1962 girls basketball tournament with an average of 24 points per game.

Her performance on the basketball court earned her a place on the state honor roll and on the second I-Shiek all-conference team.

Tennis, swimming, water skiing and dancing are favorite pastimes with Marilyn.

In the Miss Grinnell Contest, Marilyn presented a modern dance to "Walk on the Wild Side," and plans to present the dance in the Miss Iowa Pageant.

If she should win the Miss Iowa Pageant, Marilyn will travel to the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City, N.J., in September.

The 19-year-old SUI sophomore stands 5 feet 7 inches. She has brown hair, green eyes and weighs 125 pounds. Her measurements are 35-24-35.

Iowa City Council Sets Date For Public Budget Hearing

By PAUL MERAR Staff Writer

The Iowa City Council, Tuesday night, set August 6 as the date for the public hearing necessary for the approval of the proposed $2.5 million dollar city budget. The hearing will be held at the City Hall at 7:30 p.m.

The Council awarded a storm sewer contract to Jim Schroder of Bellevue, at a bid of $17,385.

Bids for an interceptor sewer running from state highway 1 to west of the city were turned over to the city engineer for approval. Low bid for this sewer was made by Gellefold Associates of Forest City, Iowa, with a total of $45,332, which was accepted.

Also set for discussion on August 6 is the transfer of control of N. Market Square from the park board to the Horace Mann School, as proposed by Mrs. Ewan Jordan in a letter from the Horace Mann

P.T.A. The letter asked for the area between N. Johnson and Fairchild Streets to be closed permanently for the children's use. "There is no traffic control there during the summer," the letter said.

City Attorney William Hubbard reviewed the sub-committee's decision at an earlier meeting for estimates on the Coralville water system. The Iowa City firm of Veenstra and Kim was suggested, with Iowa City and Coralville to split the appraisal cost of $2,800 if Coralville does not buy the water system. Coralville will pay the appraisal cost if they do buy the waterworks. This was approved by last night's Council.

Class A liquor applications were approved for the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3949 at 202 S. Dubuque Street and a class C beer permit was approved for Helmer's Grocery at 518 Bowery and John's Grocery at 401 E. Market Street.

A class B liquor application from the Jefferson Hotel and a class C liquor application from Hilltop Tavern at 1100 N. Dodge were also approved.

The Iowa State Bank and the First National Bank were named depositories for the city funds, each awarded a deposit of $500,000.

A parking ordinance and a sidewalk ordinance were deferred until the Council could discuss the issues further. A public meeting concerning traffic ordinances is set for July 31.

The Council also considered installing a traffic signal at Dodge and Summit Streets. There have been three wrecks since July 4 due to drivers trying to beat the flashing yellow light. The matter was referred to City Manager Carsten Leikvold.

Minuteman Missile Explodes in Flight At Canaveral

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A Minuteman missile exploded Tuesday night five seconds after it blasted out of an underground silo and sprayed flaming parts harmlessly over a wide area of the cape.

The Air Force reported there were no injuries or damage to facilities.

The 58-foot intercontinental range rocket roared from the base of an 85-foot-deep launching pit and erupted just after clearing the top.

The missile was an advanced wing 2 model, of a type which the Air Force declared operational earlier this month.

The Air Force said there was no immediate indication what caused the explosion.

Poll Shows Apathy Among Iowans

FOR YEARS POLITICAL scientists and other students of government have been warning that voter and citizen apathy is one of the most dangerous phenomena confronting our system of government.

They reason that this apathy allows the governmental office holder a large amount of freedom. Only seldom do the voters take interest in the events. Thus leaving the public official pretty much to his own liking.

The argument has been fairly well proved by various studies on government. An Iowa Poll that appeared in the Des Moines Sunday Register indicates that apathy is present in Iowa.

The Poll asked Iowa citizens what one action taken by the 1963 Iowa Legislature did they approve of most and what one action did they disapprove of most.

The answers stacked up like this: 32 per cent named the new liquor law, 5 per cent the tax legislation 56 per cent had no opinion, and the final 7 per cent was spread over other legislative action with none getting over 1 per cent. They disapprove answers indicated that 32 per cent did not like the liquor law, 7 per cent disapprove of the tax legislation, 51 per cent had no opinion, and the rest was divided among other legislation.

The no opinion answers — 56 and 51 per cent — mean one of three things. Either that Iowans did not care about the legislative session, that they do not know what happened or that they did not wish to express an opinion to the interviewer.

Some of the respondents, no doubt, did not want to express an opinion, but it is doubtful that more than one-half of those interviewed chose that way out.

It seems that the no opinion answers came because of the other two reasons — they just didn't care or they didn't know what happened. Regardless, both of these add up to the same thing — apathy on the part of Iowa residents.

It is unfortunate that such apathy exists, but there seems little that can be done about it. We can only hope that our Iowa officials do not take advantage of this situation.

Success To You Governor Hughes:

GOV. HAROLD HUGHES said Saturday that he was going to reconstitute a Governor's Commission on Human Rights to investigate and possibly mediate complaints of violations of human and civil rights in Iowa. This announcement came in the governor's weekly radio message to the people of Iowa.

"People are denied employment opportunities and decent housing because of the color of their own skin or their religion," Hughes said.

"It leads to a dismal and distressing squandering of human resources. It does not allow many Iowans to fulfill their economic potential, thus making all Iowa the poorer for it," he continued.

"A large proportion of the cost of unemployment expenditures, aid-to-dependent children payments, law enforcement costs and other state health and welfare outlays are made unnecessary."

Hughes' statements are well taken. He has expressed a will to do away with these evils. For the good of Iowa, we hope he succeeds.

The Interpretation of a Speech

CHINA'S COMMUNISTS have taken the liberty to interpret Khrushchev's famous 1956 speech in their own way. They've chosen to disagree with the downgrading of Stalin and with view that there can be a peaceful coexistence with the free world. But they've latched on to the viewpoint expressed by the Kremlin's master that there can be a difference between other Marxist countries and the fountainhead in Moscow. All of this has been revealed in an unmistakable way by the stormy sessions just ended behind the forbidding walls of Kremlin Hill.

Reader Questions Different DI Stands

To the Editor:

Last week's editorial concerning Dean McCarrel's upcoming examination of student government at SUI was a complete turnabout from the stand The Daily Iowan took during the past student council elections.

I refer to the editorial of March 26, 1963, in which The Daily Iowan supported Mike Carver for Student Council President. In this editorial was a statement concerning one of the programs of the other candidate, Roger Wiley, which caught my attention. Mr. Wiley suggested a revision in the present structure of the Student Council. Criticizing this plan The Daily Iowan said, "Mr. Wiley's own foggy thinking in this area is exemplified by his failure to outline what he could accomplish under a revised senate that can't be done under the old structure. The problem is not so much the structure as it is getting dynamic personalities to do the work; and until Mr. Wiley outlines what needs to be done and how his revision will do it, his reorganization plan can count only as a strike against him." In other words The Daily Iowan is saying that the present structure is sufficient, but dynamic personalities are needed to make it work.

In the editorial of July 12, 1963, The Daily Iowan said, "We concur, and praise Dean McCarrel for the perceptiveness to recognize a problem which students themselves have in general refused to see." After reading the whole editorial, it is clear that the problem The Daily Iowan is referring to is the poor organizational structure of the Student Council, which has resulted in the apparent apathy of the student body toward the Student Council. In this second editorial it is clear that The Daily Iowan is advocating a change because the present Student Council structure is incompetent.

I have tried to show two completely opposite viewpoints on the same subject, both of which The Daily Iowan has professed in the last few months. If this is the case, then where does The Daily Iowan really stand, or was the statement against Mr. Wiley's program just part of The Daily Iowan's support for Mr. Carver?

Ron Borden, B4 1045 West Benton

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The March 26 editorial to which Mr. Borden refers was written by The Daily Iowan staff whose terms ended May 16. The new staff has not always agreed with the stands of the old staff, for example, the decision by the Board of Regents to replace the compulsory one-year ROTC program with a series of orientation lectures was opposed by the old staff, praised by the new. The latest editorial on student reorganization is where The Daily Iowan "really stands," Mr. Borden.)

SUI Research

Narcotics Being Studied

By MARY MOHR Staff Writer

John S. is — 40-ish, slightly balding, a bit overweight — a typically successful American small business man who lives in a middle-sized American town.

His life was fairly normal until about six months ago when he had to undergo serious surgery. His convalescence was painful; for some time he had to take pain-killing drugs daily to get relief.

Even after he was released from the hospital, he complained to his doctor that he still had much pain and could not sleep at night so he was given a prescription containing narcotics.

BUT JOHN IS not using the pills to relieve the pain. Instead he hoards the pills and gulps down several at a time; John has become a drug-addict.

Things are getting more desperate for him as his system craves the drug more and more. He unsuccessfully goes to several doctors to get the prescription for narcotics. And he has to find a dope peddler who will sell him the drugs.

But he keeps up this "brinkmanship" for he believes that he cannot face his daily routine without the "lift" he gets from narcotics.

He is similar to many others who have become unintentional drug addicts — persons given painkilling drugs when recovering from surgery. They did not want to become "hooked" but they need drugs just as much as the addict who started by smoking a marijuana cigaret on a dare and now cannot go without a daily "fix."

MEDICAL RESEARCHERS are looking into this most tragic phase of drug addiction to find out what it is in narcotics that kills pain. When this is discovered, they hope to perfect non-addictive drugs which are equally powerful painkillers.

Working on such research at SUI is Dr. Lauren A. Woods, head of the Department of Pharmacology.

Dr. Woods wants to know which part of the central nervous system is affected by the narcotics. In his experiments he has worked with rats, cats, dogs and monkeys. He has been studying the effects of such common narcotics as codeine, morphine, and narcotics which have been radioactively "labeled." (Radioactively labeled materials are those which have been exposed to radioactivity and have been made radioactive.)

IN HIS EXPERIMENTS, the radioactively-labeled drug is injected into the animal. After a pre-determined length of time — ranging from 15 minutes to 18 hours — the creature is put to sleep. In this way the action of the drug over a period of time may be studied.

Next an extract of the tissue containing the drug is prepared and the sample is analyzed in one of two radioactivity testing machines, similar to, but much more sophisticated than a Geiger counter.

MARY MOHR

These fantastically-sensitive machines can determine drug content of 2 trillionths of a gram of drugs labeled with ordinary amounts of radioactivity. The $14,000 machines are 500 times more sensitive in measuring other drugs with high levels of radioactivity.

There is no danger to the personnel who handle the radioactive drugs in the animal studies. They do not need special shielding to conduct the experiments. The laboratory must make its own radioactively-labeled drugs because of the problems involved with sending such substances through the mail. It is not commercially available.

"OUR TESTS must be this accurate because only a minute quantity of drug enters the nervous system. Most of the drug taken into the body goes to other tissues where it does little damage," said Dr. Woods. "Of a given dosage, only one-half of 1 per cent penetrates the total central nervous system."

Dr. Woods, a researcher in this field for 14 years, said that encouraging discoveries have been made recently. "Researchers formerly thought that the pain-killing and addictive factors of the drug could not be separated. Several newly-formulated drugs seem to have painkilling action and minimum addiction side effects."

He added that "more research was needed on the yet-unnamed-drugs before they can be approved for general use by the Food and Drug Administration."

SUI RESEARCHERS are not currently using these new drugs but may conduct experiments with them in the future.

Drug research has demonstrated that "narcotics" can be separated into an addictive and non-addictive molecule. "But as yet, we do not know what is responsible for addiction," Dr. Woods said.

Research has also shown a correlation between the pain-killing efficiency of a drug and its addictive power. Codeine, which can be purchased without a prescription for cough medicine, is low on both counts. Morphine, which is most effective for very severe pain, is highly addictive. For this reason it is usually prescribed in cases when the patient is dying. Most physicians prescribe drugs which have less pain-killing power and addictive effect for recuperating patients to prevent post-recuperative addiction.

DR. WOODS has found that the dogs and monkeys show drug tolerance and addiction remarkably like humans.

The cats and rats do not have a similar reaction. "We want to find out why these smaller animals react differently," said Dr. Woods. "This possibly could be the key to part of the addiction problem."

Working on cat and rat studies are two graduate students, John Sanner, Iowa City, and Harvey Chernov, Rensselaer, N.Y.

The tall, bespectacled professor became interested in drug addiction research when working on his M.D. degree at the University of Michigan. He has been conducting his studies under a seven-year grant from the Public Health Service which still has four years to run.

How Long Will Leadership Take

By RALPH MCGILL

We are at a time, filled with the tumult and shouting of a developing attack on long-existing discriminations and fears, that reminds us of the beginning of "The Tale of Two Cities," Dickens, writing about characters in the French Revolution's violence and terror, said:

"It was the best of times, it was the worst of times, it was the age of wisdom, it was the age of foolishness, it was the epoch of belief, it was the epoch of incredulity, it was the spring of hope, it was the winter of despair . . . in short the period was so far like the present period that some of its noisiest authorities insisted on its being received, for good or evil, in the superlative degree of comparison . . ."

give a meager ear to moderation.) Once organization catches up with events, there will be more reason and less insistence on the superlative degree. But not now.

There is a shortage of Negro leadership. The reason is not difficult to find. In only a few cities has there been any opportunity for such leadership to develop. There has been only exclusion from community meetings, from the ballot, from school sessions, from the many called meetings to discuss civic improvements and policies. Within the past few years the political leadership of cities large and small, in the South and out, have learned to their dismay they literally did not know the Negro leaders in their respective municipalities and townships. IT ALSO IS TRUE, as even the most casual may see, that too many in the white local power structures have remained aloof, hoping, even demanding, that "Washington" settle things. There are others who have tried, only to be thwarted, or stymied by associates in local government or business. Here and there, of course, there are the intrinsically who somehow believe that the old pattern, the old ways, will be re-established. Their cities and areas already are damaged and will suffer the more. The old ways will not return. It is not this fact of the old days gone beyond repair that matters. What is important is that Americans, 185 millions of them, commit themselves to an honest approach of allowing 18 millions to share equally and fairly in the nation's opportunity and life. It will be tragic if we continue to act as if the whole issue is where one sits in school, in a trolley, a restaurant or movie. These are minor things which, after all, cause little or no trouble unless deliberately agitated.

IN TIME THERE will be resolution. Leadership will assert itself. How long it will take depends on how soon responsible white leadership recognizes that this is an American problem to be met with honesty at the local level. Surely enough communities have done, or are surely doing this, to show that it is not really too difficult.

Childs to Appraise Country's Issues

"Washington Calling" will be the topic of an address by Marquis W. Childs, noted political columnist, Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Iowa Memorial Union. Tickets will not be required for the lecture.

Appearing in the SUI Summer Session Lecture Series, Childs will bring to his audience an appraisal of issues facing the country and will forecast some of the outcomes which can be expected to follow decisions of the present administration.

"Washington Calling"

Childs is widely known for his syndicated newspaper column, "Washington Calling."

He is a frequent panelist on the "Meet the Press" television show as well as other news commentary programs and is also the author of many books, the latest being "The Peacemakers," a novel set in Geneva, Switzerland, and dealing with world statesmen trying to avert total war.

Washington, D.C. is both working headquarters and home to Childs since he became a Washington correspondent in 1934. He has averaged at least one news-gathering tour of Europe each year since the end of World War II, and makes frequent trips around the United States to report political and economic development firsthand.

Rail Dispute Not Settled; Strike Looms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top railroad executives said Tuesday it will take congressional action to head off "a calamitous nation-wide rail strike."

This differed with an earlier statement by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana who said the Administration is hopeful an agreement can be reached without the need for legislation.

The comments came as a special six-man presidential board met again with both sides before drafting a report to President Kennedy on the issues in the four-year-old railroad work rules dispute.

After the regular Tuesday morning meeting of Democratic congressional leaders with Kennedy, Mansfield said:

"We're very hopeful there will be a settlement in the discussions now going on in the presidential board, because if not, there will have to be a presidential move."

The latest extension of the strike deadline by the railroads and five operating unions runs out at midnight July 29.

Shortly after Mansfield's comments to reporters at the White House, the chief executive of the Association of American Railroads, including virtually all major lines, issued a statement.

The statement did not call for legislation to settle the dispute by compulsory arbitration, but it did take an indirect stand against seizure of the railroads to head off a strike.

The railroads contend outdated work rules create "featherbedding" and cost them some $600 million annually in unnecessary operating costs.

Venice in Arkansas?

Main street of Hot Springs, Arkansas looked vaguely like a certain Italian city's, Tuesday, after floodwaters, caused by heavy rains, poured through the city. The waters became so ferocious they moved cars, smashed store windows, and bent parking meters. Damage was expected to run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. No casualties were reported. —AP Wirephoto

Resurfacing Starts On City Streets Next Week

Resurfacing of Iowa City streets will begin next week, according to Public Works Director Lane H. Mashaw.

Work is to begin Monday on the Benton Street bridge. The bridge will be closed for part of the day and motorists are urged to use an alternate route.

Second on the schedule is Dodge Street between Burlington and College. Traffic will be maintained on this street, although only one lane will be open at times, Mashaw said.

Market Street between Dodge and Union Place is third on the list and Riverside Drive between Highway 6 and River Street is fourth.

Resurfacing of the business district will follow these projects.

$50,000 Grant To Provide Loans For Students Here

A total of $50,000 has been made available for loans to journalism students at SUI by the newly founded Frederic A. Schneller Journalism Loan Fund.

Schneller, who died in 1960 at the age of 54, was a 1929 graduate of the SUI School of Journalism and former advertising manager of The Daily Iowan.

Contributions by Schneller's widow, Selma, and friends of Schneller made the fund possible.

A journalism student at Iowa applying for a Schneller loan will borrow from his local bank, under a guarantee from the United Student Aid Fund Incorporated (USA). The fund will be administered by the SUI Office of Student Affairs and the School of Journalism.

Under USA regulations, the student must have completed his freshman year to be eligible for a loan, and must demonstrate need. He may borrow up to $1,000 each academic year, to a maximum of $3,000.

He need not begin repayment until four months after he completes his undergraduate or graduate education, and he may take 36 months to repay. The interest rate on loans is 6 per cent.

Kiwanis Club Hears Scope Of State Hygienic Lab.

By JOAN WEAVER
Staff Writer

Dr. William Hausler of the State Hygienic Laboratory was the guest speaker of the Iowa City Kiwanis Club at their noon luncheon, Tuesday, in the Jefferson Hotel. Hausler described the operation and research projects of the State Hygienic Laboratory.

The laboratory is a tax supported unit of SUI and is connected with the College of Medicine. Currently operating on a $500,000 budget, the laboratory employs 54 professional and non-professional employees, Hausler said. The laboratory examines 700-1200 disease specimens per day from across the state, Hausler added.

The State Hygienic Laboratory operates in conjunction with the State Health Department, a branch laboratory being maintained in Des Moines.

The laboratory was begun in 1904 to study diseases which then beset the state. These included typhoid fever, tuberculosis, rabies infection and diphtheria. These problems have remained relatively the same Hausler said.

Although typhoid fever is not as prevalent as in the past, many less serious diseases have the same bacterial cause.

Hausler said that Iowa leads the nation in instances of rabies infection in skunks. He added that nine out of ten of these animals brought to the laboratory for examination are positive cases of rabies.

Diphtheria is not the problem it was, Hausler said, but outbreaks of this disease are frequent. Sioux City suffered an outbreak of diphtheria last summer.

The State Hygienic Laboratory also tests specimens of strep throat and investigates instances of ptomaine poisoning.

The Chemistry and Environmental Sanitation division of the laboratory keeps a constant check on the fall out level across the state. Last year a six-ton gamma spectrometer (measures gamma rays), costing $30,000, was installed in the laboratory for radiation investigation.

7 Reserve Banks Get Interest Raise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board approved Tuesday an increase from 3 to 3 1/2 per cent in the rediscount rate for seven of the twelve federal reserve banks.

The action has the effect of promoting an increase in commercial interest rates.

The rediscount rate is the charge made member banks when they borrow from the reserve system.

Moon Landing Value Doubtful By Russians

JODRELL BANK, England (AP) — The Russians have some doubts about whether putting man on the moon will be worthwhile, Sir Bernard Lovell said at a news conference Tuesday.

"There are two problems which greatly concern them: The question of radiation damage and the fact that there may be no solution to getting a man back to earth safely," he said.

Sir Bernard, director of the Jodrell Bank radio astronomy observatory here, has just returned from a three-week visit to the Soviet Union, the first Western scientist who has been allowed to inspect Soviet space tracking stations, nine of them.

He said the Soviet Union plans to build an orbital platform, much like a flying hotel, in space within five years for the operation of a large optical telescope.

Lovell said the platform will be assembled in space by joining together a number of space ships.

He said this would be manned by a number of astronauts staying up there, for spells of five to six days and that women will almost certainly take part.

Phils Stop Bid for Sweep After Koufax Wins No. 16

End Sandy's Shutout Skein At 33 Innings

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sandy Koufax, sensational Los Angeles Dodger, southpaw, pitched his ninth straight victory Tuesday, a 5-2 decision over Philadelphia, but the Phillies won the second game of the two-night doubleheader 10-2 with outfielder Johnny Callison hammering four hits, including two home runs.

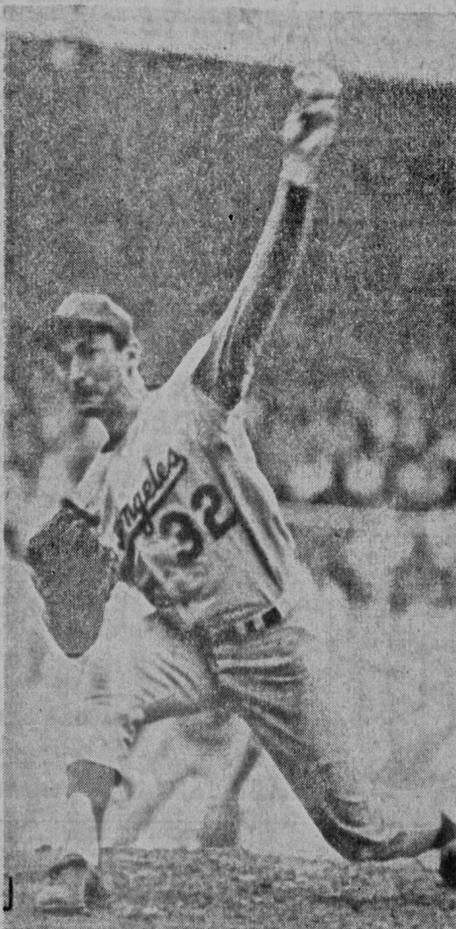

Koufax, who entered the game with three straight shutouts, added six perfect innings before Tony Taylor led off the seventh inning with a double.

Taylor scored a few moments later on an infield hit and a sacrifice fly by Tony Gonzalez to thwart Koufax' bid for his 10th shutout of the season. His scoreless skein ended at 33 innings.

The talented left-hander wound up with a six-hitter and recorded his 16th victory against three defeats.

PGA Tourney Opens Thurs. At Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — All the big names had arrived Tuesday for the Professional Golfers Association (PGA) Championship scheduled to start Thursday, but the field was reduced to 167 by five withdrawals.

Jack Nicklaus, the Masters champion, hurriedly registered Tuesday afternoon and left the course. Gary Player, the defending champion, came in during the afternoon after a stopover at the Bahamas.

Arnold Palmer, golf's greatest money-winner who has yet to capture the PGA, arrived Monday and played a practice round. His highest finish was a tie for fifth in 1961.

He returned for another practice round Tuesday as he tried to shake a cold that handicapped him in the British Open. National Open champion Julius Boros also played the course the second day in a row.

With the arrival of Nicklaus and Player, the cast was completed for the 45th championship that will be played over the sun-baked 7,046-yard Dallas Athletic Club course. The layout has drawn praise from virtually every pro. They call it a tough but fair test.

Cary Middlecoff and Billy Casper, both former National Open champions, were the most prominent withdrawals. Middlecoff has a back ailment and Casper is suffering from tendonitis in the right wrist. Others withdrawing were Scudday Horner, Toby Lyons and Graham Ross, the host pro.

St. Louis Uses Squeeze Play, Edges Reds, 5-4

CINCINNATI (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals successfully worked a squeeze play in the 10th inning, with Tim McCarver bunting Bill White over the plate, for a 5-4 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Tuesday night.

White opened the 10th with a double off Joey Jay, fourth Reds' pitcher, and advanced to third on Charlie James' single. Jay disposed of Ken Boyer on a pop and gave way to Bill Henry, a left-hander. McCarver, the first batter to face Henry, bunted toward third and white dashed across the plate to break the tie.

Bobby Shantz, with a strong 3% inning stint, in which he allowed one hit and no runs, was credited with the victory, his fourth in six decisions.

Floyd's Backers Transfer $100,000 To Liston Account

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A $100,000 financial wrinkle was ironed out Tuesday as the principals of Monday night's heavyweight title fight, Sonny Liston and Floyd Patterson, took a day off from training chores.

Meeting the demands of the Liston camp and Manager Jack Nilon, Al Bolan of the Promoting Championship Sports, Inc., said he had made arrangements to transfer $100,000 from a Chicago bank, where it had been held in escrow for Liston, to a bank in Delaware County, Pa.

Nilon and the promoters have been at odds since the first Liston-Patterson fight in Chicago last Sept. 25. The $100,000 item was one of the nagging points.

Liston appeared at a news conference at his training quarters at the Thunderbird Hotel. Asked if he would "carry" Patterson for the sake of the closed-circuit television audience around the country, Sonny said: "Yes — right out."

Rozelle Clears Colts' Owner Of Betting on NFL Games

NEW YORK (AP) — Carroll Rosenbloom, owner of the Baltimore Colts, was cleared of charges of betting on pro football games Tuesday as Commissioner Pete Rozelle completed his investigation of gambling in the National Football League (NFL).

The probe resulted April 17 in the indefinite suspension of Paul Hornung, Green Bay Packer half-back, and Alex Karras, defensive tackle of the Detroit Lions, for betting on games. Five other Detroit players were fined $2,000 each and the Detroit club was fined $4,000.

"There is nothing pressing at the present time," Rozelle said. "However, surveillance is a continuing thing."

Rozelle said action in the Rosenbloom case, delayed when the original announcement on the players was made, was held up by private litigation that was dismissed June 28 and by the completeness of the investigation.

Informed that Rozelle had cleared him, the Baltimore owner said "It has been a long time since this thing started. But I am glad that Commissioner Rozelle took this much time because I know for sure that he checked out every rumor he encountered."

"I am glad to have the entire thing in back of me. Now there is only one thing left — to win the championship this fall."

Rosenbloom had been accused by three individuals of betting on pro football games during a period eight to 10 years ago. One deposition charged Rosenbloom with betting against the Colts in a 1953 game.

Rozelle's report said that the three accusers later repudiated or withdrew their charges in new affidavits given the commissioner. The commissioner made public quotes from the affidavit of one of the original accusers, Robert McGarvey, a former Philadelphia detective, who lived in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. last winter.

McGarvey's affidavit read in part: "I did all the betting on the football games, usually small and losses. Rosenbloom to my knowledge never bet on a pro game. I thought Rosenbloom would seek me out and offer me a job or something, but again failure . . . I therefore repudiate my affidavit

Band, Highlanders To Go on Road With Gridders

The SUI Marching Band and the Scottish Highlanders will each follow the Hawkeye football squad to one of the team's road games during the 1963 football season.

Quick-stepping down the field at Columbus, the band will perform at half-time ceremonies during the Ohio State-Iowa game Nov. 2. The colorful Highlanders, playing bagpipes and drums, will appear at the Purdue-Iowa contest in Lafayette, Oct. 26.

Iowa's Hawkeyes will open their schedule Sept. 28 at home against Washington State, and journey to Seattle to play its sister institution, the University of Washington, Oct. 5.

Frederick C. Ebbs is director of the SUI Marching Band, and William L. Adamson directs the Scottish Highlanders.

which I gave to you and feel sorry about the whole mess." Rozelle said Rosenbloom had delivered to him an affidavit stating he never bet on a NFL game after becoming an owner in the league in 1953.

"He (Rosenbloom) freely admitted that he has bet substantial sums on activities other than professional football principally golf games," Rozelle's report read. "Mr. Rosenbloom has stated that he has ceased such practices."

The league constitution flatly prohibits betting on league games. However, it says nothing about betting on golf, cards, college football or other sports.

Sternberg Remains Critical After Surgery

SEATTLE (AP) — Brian Sternberg, paralyzed University of Washington pole vaulter, underwent a five hour operation Tuesday to remove a damaged cervical disc from his neck.

A medical bulletin from University Hospital said Sternberg's overall condition remains critical. Sternberg was paralyzed from the neck down.

The 20-year-old vaulter was seriously injured two weeks ago while working out on a trampoline. Doctors said the athlete's paralysis was not expected to be affected by the operation.
