Human Relations Motion Received

The City Council received and filed a motion on the establishment of a Human Relations Commission for future study at its meeting Wednesday afternoon.

The motion to establish the Commission was presented by the Rev. Spencer M. Adamson, pastor of the First Christian Church, on behalf of the Johnson County Ministerial Society.

The proposed ordinance would set up a Commission composed of seven members appointed by the mayor. The Commission would study the problems of the relationships of the various races, colors, creeds and nationalities living within the community and would assist the City Government on problems involving these groups.

The ultimate goal of the ordinance would be "to eliminate the prejudice, intolerance, bigotry and discrimination in the city."

The functions of the Commission would be:

- "To foster mutual understanding and respect among all racial, religious and ethnic groups in the city."
- "To encourage equality of treatment for, and prevent discrimination against any racial, religious or ethnic group or its members."
- "To cooperate with governmental and non-governmental agencies and organizations having like or kindred functions."

"To take appropriate steps to deal with conditions which strain group relationships."

"To assemble, analyze and disseminate authentic and factual data relating to interracial and other group relationships."

"To advise and make recommendations to the Mayor, the City Council, the city manager, agencies and officials for the betterment of intergroup relationship within the community."

"The Commission shall: Render a report to the mayor and City Council at least annually of its activities and recommendations."

"The Commission would be an invaluable service to the races of the city," Adamson told the Council. "We see it as a positive thrust in race relations."

Councilman William Maas asked that the proposed ordinance be studied and that the Council look into the possibility of having a member of a similar Commission from another city appear before the Council to explain the activities of such a Commission.

The rest of the Council members agreed and consideration of the ordinance will be put on the agenda for August 6 Council meeting.

Arturo Illia Voted Argentine Leader

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Dr. Arturo Illia, a 62-year-old country doctor turned politician, was elected the 29th president of Argentina Wednesday, according to unofficial tabulations.

Illia is an anti-Communist, and an anti-Peronist moderate who campaigned mainly on four issues, including the freeing of political prisoners.

Hughes Has 'Reservations' About Seeking 2nd Term

By MARY MOHR Staff Writer

DES MOINES — Gov. Harold Hughes said Wednesday he has some reservations about seeking a second term in 1964. He will not make up his mind whether to run again until some time next year.

Hughes made the statement in response to a question at Drake University's Institute in State and Local Government where the governor was appearing on a panel with SUI Associate Prof. Russell Ross. Reorganization of the executive branch of state government was discussed.

Later, in an interview, he elaborated on the statement.

"The reservations are sincere," he said. "I'm 41 years old and I don't know what I'll do the rest of my life. I know that in this business you can go down pretty fast."

"At this point it is hard to tell how well my Administration is doing. I'll make up my mind some time next year."

The governor and the other panelists — Ross and Prof. C. Edwin Gilmour of Grinnell College — agreed that the reorganization was badly needed to give the governor the power necessary to do his job.

Contacted in Iowa City, Ross said the panel had concluded that about 30 state boards should be reorganized into 13 departments. "The head of each of these departments should be under the governor," said Ross.

The panel decided it would not be necessary to reorganize the Board of Regents or the Commerce Commission.

Ross said that such reorganization legislation has been proposed in the last five legislative sessions but has "gotten lost in committees and never reached the General Assembly floor for debate."

He added that the state of Iowa has made no progress in reorganization since 1933.

The group also favored elimination of the election of such state officers as the Attorney General, Secretary of State, State Treasurer and State Auditor.

Past attempts to reorganize state government have failed, Ross said. He cited the 625-page report of the Brooking Institute in 1933 which was disregarded. The Little Hoover Commission of nine legislators in 1950 talked of department reorganization and consolidation, but nothing was done about this, he added.

The most recent reorganization report — the 1958 findings of the Committee of 100 — also has received little or no support, Ross concluded.

The World This Morning

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

● WASHINGTON — Five Senate Democrats introduced legislation Wednesday to require 60 more days of bargaining in the railroad work rules dispute. Both sides would be directed to negotiate, a strike or lockout would be prohibited and a special congressional watchdog committee would oversee the talks.

Sen. Clair Engle of California, one of the sponsors, said if no solution is found after the 60 days, "then it will be necessary for us to move to compulsion of one form or another against either the carriers or the unions in order to prevent a strike that would have a disastrous effect on the economy of this country."

● WASHINGTON — The House Ways and Means Committee Wednesday nailed down its earlier tentative recommendation to trim federal income taxpayers' present deductions of state and local taxes.

The principal result, if this recommendation is enacted as part of President Kennedy's tax cut and revision program, would be that taxpayers who itemize their deductions on federal returns could no longer list state gasoline, cigarette and liquor taxes. State income, real estate and personal property and general sales taxes still would be deductible.

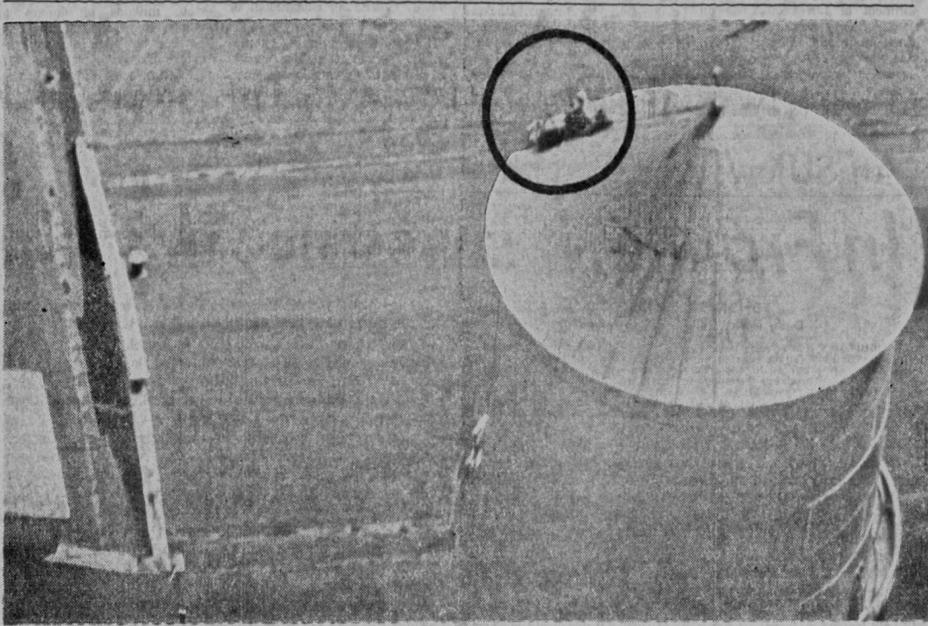

The Treasury estimates the change would increase revenues $500 million annually.

● WASHINGTON — Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman got into a "screaming fuss" with a Republican congressman Wednesday at a briefing on the nuclear test ban treaty, witnesses reported.

Harriman, who headed the negotiating team in Moscow, invited congressmen of both parties to the meeting to explain the treaty and answer questions. About 50 or 60 showed up, about half Republicans, half Democrats.

Rep. John R. Pillion (R-N. Y.) reportedly asked Harriman a question implying the treaty would play into Soviet Premier Khrushchev's blueprint "for world domination and asking what concessions Harriman got in return."

"That really set him off," Pillion told a newsmen later. "He really blew up. He said he'd like to know where I'm from and what my district is so he could go to the mothers and children on the question of war and use this as a political weapon in an election campaign against me. I told him he'd be welcome. He said he's not for nuclear war, implying that I was."

Lonely Perch

William T. Bradley, 46, Sioux City, convict serving 25 years in the Iowa State Penitentiary at Fort Madison for assault and being a habitual criminal, sits atop the prison water tower Wednesday morning. Bradley climbed the tower 7:30 a.m. Sunday, taking food, water, and shaving equipment with him. The convict reportedly plans to stay on his lofty perch until Gov. Harold Hughes or a designated representative goes to the prison to listen to his grievances. Benjamin Baer, director of Iowa Correctional Institutions, was at the penitentiary Wednesday, but reportedly not for the purpose of seeing Bradley.

Delegation Will Go to Moscow This Weekend

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk will leave for Moscow Friday to sign the nuclear test ban treaty. He will be accompanied by a bipartisan 10-man delegation including five senators.

Accompanying Rusk will be: Democrats J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee; Hubert Humphrey, Minnesota, chairman of the Foreign Relations subcommittee on Disarmament; John O. Pastore, Rhode Island, chairman of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee, and Republicans Leverett Saltonstall, Massachusetts, top Republican on the Armed Service Committee; and George Aiken, Vermont, a ranking GOP member of the foreign relations and disarmament groups.

Notably missing were Sens. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate GOP leader, and Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, senior Republican on the Foreign Relations Committee.

Their omission was not unexpected as both had indicated they did not want to go.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger told newsmen it is not yet known how long the delegates will remain in Moscow.

Civil Rights At a Glance

Bob Kennedy Attacked . . .

● WASHINGTON — A New England newspaper publisher joined Southern segregationists Wednesday in leveling new charges of Communism in the civil rights controversy.

William Loeb, publisher of the Manchester, N.H., Union Leader, alleged that "Communists definitely are a factor in the civil rights agitation."

Loeb's testimony against President Kennedy's public accommodations bill came in the wake of a charge by State Sen. John C. McLaurin of Mississippi that Atty. Gen. Kennedy was guilty of "the most brazen cover-up job ever perpetrated on the American people."

During this new flareup over the Red issue, Kennedy was making his fifth appearance before the Senate Judiciary Committee.

McLaurin told the committee Wednesday that when Kennedy says there is no evidence that "any of the top leaders of the major civil rights groups are Communists, or Communist-controlled, then he has either deliberately misstated the facts or is the most ignorant attorney general this nation has ever had."

. . . And Goldwater Chimes In

● WASHINGTON — Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) accused Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy Wednesday of using "police state" powers in an effort to desegregate communities around military bases.

Goldwater, an Air Force reserve major general, demanded a Senate investigation of what he said was the use of income tax returns information to pressure merchants in base areas into accepting integration.

He and several Southern Democrats denounced last week's Pentagon directive authorizing military commanders to designate as off-limits for servicemen communities which practice "relentless discrimination" against Negroes.

Goldwater told the Senate this action carries the seeds of a possible military takeover.

The Government Acts . . .

● BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — County officials denied Wednesday a Justice Department suit's charges that the Board of Registrars discriminated against Negro voter applicants.

The department's suit asked the U.S. District Court to order the immediate registration of more than 2,000 previously rejected Negro applicants.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said in Washington the suit demanded that local registration officials be ordered to halt alleged discriminatory practices against Negroes.

The Jefferson Birmingham County circuit solicitor Emmett Perry, said the department has refused to avail itself of a board of registrars offer to waive a one-year waiting period for reapplication and re-examine any application of a person who claims discrimination.

. . . But Violence Goes On

● NEW YORK — About 100 racial demonstrators got violently out of hand Wednesday for the first time at a Brooklyn construction site, and police reserves were rushed in to quell the surging, shrieking mob. Outright rioting was narrowly averted.

The flareup was brief and ended with the pickets voluntarily dispersing. But for a few moments it threatened to explode into the gravest crisis thus far in the city's hot, and racially tense summer.

Police traded punches with Negro demonstrators and two Negro women claimed to have suffered injuries.

In the past three weeks, nearly 750 demonstrators have been arrested throughout the city, all but about 100 of them at the Brooklyn hospital site.

The pickets are seeking to halt trucks and close down all publicly financed construction, unless they receive a guarantee of a 25 per cent quota of Negro employees on building jobs.

Ward, Lying In Coma, Is Found Guilty

LONDON (AP) — An old Bailey jury convicted Dr. Stephen Ward on two vice charges Wednesday night while the aging playboy lay in a coma at a London hospital suffering from an overdose of drugs.

Ward was acquitted on three other vice charges. Sentencing was delayed until the 50-year-old society osteopath and artist is able to appear in court.

After 4½ hours of deliberation, the jury of 11 men and one woman pronounced Ward guilty on two counts of living on the immoral earnings of Christine Keeler and Mandy Rice-Davies. The maximum sentence on each count is seven years in prison.

Ward's legal team immediately announced that he would appeal.

The prosecution said it would bring another, unspecified charge against him at the next court session, which opens Sept. 10.

There was no doubt that Ward was suffering from an overdose of drugs, but British newspapers and the hospital itself carefully avoided saying that Ward had tried suicide.

Under British law a suicide attempt can be determined in only one way — by a court decision based on testimony.

Numerous Conflicts In Stormy Session

By GARY SPURGEON

Fierce and determined opposition by downtown businessmen on a proposal to change parking on Clinton and Washington Streets to parallel parking failed to deter the City Council from passing the measure Wednesday afternoon.

By a 4-1 vote — with Councilman William Mass dissenting — the Council sided with City Manager Carsten Leikvold on the question. Leikvold contended that changing from the present angle parking to parallel parking would help clear up much of the congestion in the downtown area.

The passage of the measure brought John Wilson, owner of John Wilson Sports Equipment, to the floor to read a prepared statement. Wilson said he was representing several businessmen, but he declined to name them.

"What you have just done, is equivalent to cutting our wrists and letting us go away to bleed to death," he began.

"We want the Council to realize what they have done by failing to abide by what the people have asked," he continued.

Death Blow
Enumerating his points, Wilson told the Council that they had struck a death blow to the business district; that empty downtown buildings will soon become numerous; and that "by accepting the recommendations of the city manager and by failing to recognize the rights of the people, you have shattered the faith in the Council-Manager form of government and dealt it its death blow."

"We want the Council to know that we intend to fight this to the last ditch," Wilson said. "You are forcing us to seek legal remedy, which we will do."

Wilson further suggested that the Council replace Leikvold with a man "of more capabilities." He said the city manager has shown an inability to do his job. "I suggest for the remainder of his stay, a group of qualified citizens be appointed to work with the city manager and their findings be included in reports along with his recommendations."

Then Wilson asked the Council members who had voted for the proposal to reconsider.

This brought Councilman Max Yocum to the edge of his chair asking that Wilson send his statements in the form of a letter with the names of all its supporters.

"If you will rescind the measure, we will do it," Wilson replied.

"I will not ask the Council to change its mind and I won't until I see that the ordinance won't work," Yocum fired back.

Elected to Represent
"I was elected to represent the people to the best of my ability and that's what I'm doing," Yocum continued. "I'm not going to be pressured by any group. I will make the decisions as to what I think is best for the growth and future of Iowa City."

"Anytime I feel Carsten Leikvold isn't doing a good job, I will help find another manager," Yocum said. "But I like what he's doing."

Real Problems
Leikvold also said that if the city does not solve the congestion problem, that there will be real problems next fall when SUI students return. He said that the city has an obligation to everyone to get a breath of air in the downtown district.

Both Yocum and Councilman William Hubbard said they were voting for the proposal because it would alleviate congestion in the downtown area.

Councilwoman Mrs. Thelma Lewis said she was voting for parallel parking because the only complaints that she has heard have been about the congestion, not the parking. Mayor Fred Doderer said he would vote for the motion because it would be the first step

3 GI Deaths Are Avenged, But the Tension Continues

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Spotlights illuminate the banks of the Imjin River where reinforced U.S. Army patrols searched for North Korean Communist suicide squads.

Soldiers of the 1st Cavalry and 7th Infantry divisions took some solace Wednesday in the news that the lives of three dead buddies had been avenged. Two were killed in an ambush Monday, and the third in a brushfire fight Tuesday.

"Ballistic tests have proven conclusively that submachine guns taken from the two North Koreans killed Tuesday afternoon are the same used in the Monday morning ambush attack," the U.N. Command spokesman said.

Two North Korean soldiers mowed down by U.S. soldiers Tuesday were part of the same suicide squad that penetrated South Korea at least six miles.

They were carrying U.S. currency and armed with Soviet automatic weapons and hand grenades.

Brig. Gen. Charles Pershing Brown of McAlester, Okla., acting commander of the 1st Cavalry Division, was surprised at the discovery of ballistics experts that groove markings on the lead slugs fired by the captured Communist guns matched those taken from the bodies of the dead soldiers.

Brown had about decided that the infiltrator group which ambushed the jeep escaped to the north.

Increased enemy activity along the 18½-mile front patrolled by the cavalry led Brown to order searchlights to brighten the area. He also ordered heavier patrols and a power boat loaded with armed soldiers to look into coves along the river banks. Jeeps may no longer travel alone.

"There must be at least two vehicles in every detail and we've started riding shotgun throughout the area," Brown said.

Associated Press photographer Sam Jones reported from Troop A headquarters north of the Imjin that sentries had been exchanging fire with North Korean patrols every night this week.

At least three pairs of tracks left the ambush scene Monday going north, Jones also learned.

South Korean Defense Minister Kim Sung-eun said the ambush was a futile effort to force the American troops out of the Korean front.

Kim told a news conference that he regarded the incident as a "sinister scheme to create tension along the Korean front" to check the Soviet Union's movement toward the Western world.

He disclosed that shortly before the 10th anniversary of the Korean armistice July 27, the Communists spread word through loudspeakers along the buffer zone that there soon would be another war on the Korean front.

A second chance to erase billboards

IOWA MAY GET ANOTHER CHANCE to pass legislation to erase unsightly billboards from the interstate highways that will cross the state.

The U.S. House has passed a bill to extend the time within which states may qualify for bonus highway funds available to a state which bans billboards along the interstates. The proposal, which would extend the time limit from July 1, 1963 to July 1, 1965, is now in the hands of the Senate.

The time extension would give the Iowa Legislature another chance to consider banning billboards on the interstate highway. Both the 1961 and 1963 legislatures failed to vote on the bill because it was locked in committee in both houses.

Passage of the bill by the Iowa Legislature is of high importance because $1.7 million of additional federal road-building funds is attached to banning billboards. In an economy as tight as the one Iowa's state government is operating on, $1.7 million can go a long way in keeping the state road building fund solvent.

Beyond this, however, the arguments for a ban on billboards usually are debated on emotional grounds. The supporters of billboards claim that they do not distract the driver and that they offer a service in the form of informing drivers that gas stations, restaurants and motels are only a few miles ahead.

Actually this argument doesn't stand up under real circumstances. Most billboard advertising is confined to national advertising and doesn't mention what is coming up in the next few miles. Moreover, the interstate highways have courtesy signs which inform drivers that service stations and restaurants are upcoming.

The other side of the argument is also largely emotional. The opponents claim that billboards distract the driver from viewing the natural scenery and that drivers are often reading the signs when they should be watching the road.

These arguments are not much more valid than the ones advanced by the other side. No one really knows if drivers want to see the natural scenery, endless mile after mile. That could become pretty boring. There may be some validity to the contention that billboards distract drivers, but we know of no proof to this effect.

THUS THE ARGUMENT MUST revert back to an economic one. The question is whether Iowa needs or does not need the extra money. The answer is a rather simple affirmative.

But what are the chances of the billboard ban proposal passing the Iowa Legislature in 1965 should Congress extend the deadline?

In other states, the bill has been introduced in 43 of the legislatures and only 20 have accepted the bill. This precedent is not too encouraging.

However, Iowa's Legislature has shown some encouraging signs. The Iowa House voted on one occasion to take the bill from committee, but it got sidetracked when the calendar was dumped into the Sifting Committee. An attempt was made to take the bill from the Committee, but the two-thirds vote failed by five votes.

It appears that if the bill should reach the floor, it would pass both houses.

It is also doubtful that the Iowa Legislature could turn down the bill for the third time. The people of the state have been clamoring for tax relief and $1.7 million would go a long way towards this end. Surely the Legislature couldn't disregard the people's wishes for a third time.

The U.S. Senate should approve the extension so slow states like Iowa will have another chance to get their money and so Iowa politicians can make restitution for a deed that they cannot possibly be proud of.

Loss of tax exemptions may hurt colleges

By The Associated Press
DES MOINES — Wiping out tax exemptions on income-producing real estate owned by educational institutions might have serious impact on financial arrangements at some Iowa colleges and universities.

Fourteen of the state's 28 four-year colleges and universities report they own real estate from which they receive income.

Thirteen of the colleges participating in an Associated Press survey said any substantial curtailment of tax exemptions on such property would affect their financial arrangements, though two said the effect would not be serious.

MOST COLLEGES and universities hold such property as part of their endowments. This is money or property, usually received by gift or bequest, from which they use the income for a variety of purposes.

The income may go for scholarships, to pay part of general operating expenses, supplement building funds or help finance research projects.

There was a move in the property tax-conscious 1963 Iowa Legislature to reduce the tax exemptions allowed by present law on income property owned by educational institutions. Backers of the bill, passed by the house but not the senate, argued that exemptions erode away the property tax base and force too much of the cost of local government,

THEY CONTEND that the exemptions should not apply to real estate from which an educational institution receives income. They cited as examples ownership by Grinnell of a department store building in Des Moines, by Central College in Pella of the Shops Building in Des Moines and by Parsons College at Fairfield of the Iowa Hotel in Keokuk.

Tax experts estimate about half of all real estate in Iowa now is exempt from taxation because it is owned by government, charitable, educational or religious bodies, or the like. "Elimination of the tax exempt status," commented Morningside in Sioux City, which owns commercial property and farm land, "would reduce our endowment income and increase our need for operating funds. This puts pressure on the students who finally pay the bills."

THE CASE FOR tax exemption of endowment property was expressed by William Penn at Oskaloosa, which said:

"Although the amount of tax exemption is small, the public image of the college as being a 'tax dodger' would adversely influence our contributors.

"The private colleges save the state millions of dollars annually, so why should their supporters be penalized for their contributions?"

PARSONS IS the only college with substantial property holdings in its endowment fund which said elimination of tax exemptions would not adversely affect its financial arrangements.

Schools that said curtailment of tax exemptions would affect their financial setup included Grinnell, Iowa Wesleyan at Mt. Pleasant, Graceland at Lamoni, St. Ambrose at Davenport, Central, Northwestern at Orange City, Drake at Des Moines, Coe at Cedar Rapids, and Cornell at Mt. Vernon. Wartburg at Waverly and the University of Dubuque said the effect would be slight.

SUI, IOWA STATE University and State College of Iowa, being state-owned institutions, are in a different category from the rest. SUI says its endowment and funds functioning as endowment total $2,576,586. Iowa State's endowment amounts to $1,645,900, including the original endowment under the Federal Land Grant Act of 1862. State College of Iowa has only $73,000 in endowment — mostly scholarship funds.

SUI has some farm land which is rented, for which it makes a payment in lieu of taxes to local school districts. ISU has a large amount of farm land, used for experimental and demonstration purposes, from which it receives some income.

It says it pays full taxes on all farms operated for demonstration and some farms used for research. SCI's only income-producing property is 175 acres of farmland held for campus expansion.

An SUlowan on European tour writes—

In France, it's kissing, drinking, & DeGaulle

By BEVERLY BECKER
Daily Iowan European Correspondent

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Miss Becker, who will be a senior in journalism at SUI next fall, is touring Europe this summer under the People to People program. In this article — written while she was enroute from Zwickbrücken, Germany, to Paris, where she is now attending a two-week political science course on France — she describes her impressions of Europe. When she wrote the article, she had stayed with five different families in Belgium and France.)

Family life in France appears to be much stronger than in the states. Boys and girls in their late teens and early twenties discuss their personal affairs quite openly with the entire family. Another thing which binds the family together is the strong tradition of greeting each member of the family with a kiss.

When you first see a virile 19-year-old boy kiss his mother before he goes out for the evening, your first thought is, "Oh, how sweet." When the boy then kisses his father, you think the custom has gone far enough.

But when the young man plants a loud smack on his 16-year-old brother's cheek, the foreigner considers it downright obscene.

THE FRENCH, HOWEVER, consider it extremely impolite and improper for a member of the family not to greet or part with another member of the family in such a manner.

Frenchmen are accustomed to shaking hands frequently and are insulted if you don't shake hands with them. Even teenagers shake hands when they say "Bonjour," or "Au Revoir."

The student has a special place in French life. Education is highly regarded and a student is literally rewarded for being a student. There are special student prices for concerts, plays, restaurants, and museums. Few students work during their summer vacations because of a lack of jobs and desire.

Many of the students do not need to work in the summer, since they live at home and tuition is low. Consequently, a larger percentage of college students spend their summers relaxing on the beaches or traveling to other countries. Often the entire family takes a three-week vacation together.

DRINKING IS PREVALENT among teens, but it is an accepted custom. There is no drinking age limit in Europe, but 18 is the minimum age for entrance into some nightclubs and cabarets.

Teens seldom have all-night binges because beer is like water to them, not a thrill drink. It is a common sight to see 10-year-old boys drinking beer with their meals. Many of the boys begin smoking at 14 or 15, while the girls usually don't smoke until they are 16 or 17.

The college age student in France is for the most part up-to-date on political affairs. De Gaulle is esteemed more highly in the north than in the south. A political science-pre-law major at Aix-en-Provence University in southern France said that literally everyone in his class hated De Gaulle.

They feel that France needed someone strong to build up France and that De Gaulle was the right man. However, the students feel De Gaulle, in an attempt to develop France for France, has gone too far, is too nationalistic, and is no longer necessary for the good of France.

TEACHERS ARE EXTREMELY bitter toward De Gaulle. They say that teachers can never hope to raise their social standing while De Gaulle is in power. De Gaulle has raised their salaries five percent while the cost of living has risen ten percent.

Because of the low wages and overcrowded conditions, fewer students are becoming teachers.

The French are acutely aware of our segregation problem. The newspapers have no other U.S. news. Although he probably does not speak for the entire French student population, the student from Aix-en-Provence said he feels the U.S. segregation problem is similar to the problems France has had with her colonies — that too much is trying to be done too fast and that the Negroes as well as the newly freed French colonies do not know how to handle independence.

Atomic test ban treaty—

'The lesser of two evils'

By RALPH MCGILL

It was just a coincidence, but nonetheless a nudge in the ribs by the elbow of Destiny, that on the day of the modest but initial test-ban agreement in Moscow, the United Arab Republic paraded four two-stage rockets with a range of 360 miles.

All Premier Nasser needs to do is place nuclear warheads in his rockets and he is in business.

There will be more of these voices. They stop short of the alternative. The only other choice is to keep on making better nuclear weapons and proliferating the technology and tools of manufacture until everyone has them.

THERE IS A CERTAIN infantism in the arguments advanced by some congressmen and echoed by others outside the Capitol. It is not possible to make new weapons without testing. And testing can be rather well detected except under ground or water.

The sub-surface detonations can be detected, but if they are set off in an area that has earth quakes they are almost impossible to separate from nature. That is why the on-site inspections were demanded. Even so, a major proportion of these and their areas of detonation can be determined. At any rate, the business of secret testing is not easy.

THERE IS A certain idiosyncrasy of belief in some quarters. Some persons really seem to believe that the United States had a monopoly of knowledge on atom bombs and that spies sold it to the Russians and that now only they and we know how to make nuclear explosives.

Certainly any nation that has the money can begin construction of a nuclear plan any day it wishes. It has been well and truly said that there is no secret and there is no defense.

THERE IS REASON to believe that a handful of older type atomic bombs, relatively small, already are being bootlegged around in international circles. The idea of a test ban is to try and stop proliferation of the weapons and their manufacture. One would have to admit that there would be a chance for any nation so agreeing to carry on secret operations — short of testing.

It might be possible, as aforesaid, to sneak in an underground test in a region where earthquakes occur. But that is a chance that may be worth taking hoping that inspection procedures will be such that cheaters would be caught.

The other choice is even more frightening. It may not scare you to think of Nasser, Castro, or ambitious army leaders of Syria and other small countries having a few atom bombs on hand — but it scares me. A test ban merits the serious attention of all those who hope for civilization to escape the ultimate end of a test race.

AS MATTERS STAND, the Soviets are not believed to be ahead of us. They do have more powerful engines for the long shots and, complete with full orchestra, scenery and costumes, July 30, 31, August 2 and 3, 1963. Mail orders accepted and ticket sales start July 13th through August 3rd daily 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Ticket Desk, Iowa Memorial Union. All seats reserved. $2.25. (8-3)

It is hardly likely that Mr. Khrushchev wants to try a Pearl Harbor. His sudden acceptance of a test ban came after he had made a decision about China. He will be very busy with his own Pearl Harbor fears and with the long border he has with his sulen neighbors.

The world is in for some new, and perhaps major, political shifts and alignments. The test ban is a sane and proper step — being the lesser of two dangerous evils.

Michigan State approves plan to revamp student newspaper

EAST LANSING, Mich. — A proposal to provide experienced journalistic assistance for the Michigan State University student newspaper has been approved by the MSU Board of Trustees.

The Trustees also agreed to broaden representation on the Board of Student Publications, which governs the Michigan State News.

MSU students will continue to staff the newspaper and set editorial policies.

THE ACTIONS WHICH are effective July 1, were occasioned by the growth of the State News, said Frank B. Senger, chairman of the School of Journalism and of the Board of Student Publications.

IN TAKING THEIR action, the Trustees approved a statement which notes, in part:

The State News is called upon to be a University, not merely a student, publication. It has become a sizeable business venture which runs the usual business risks. It is not reasonable nor prudent to expect undergraduate students on a part-time basis to be solely responsible for an operation of this magnitude."

The trustees' decision calls for appointment of a "general manager" and other experienced employees.

The position of general manager, Senger said, will be filled by the present adviser to the State News, Louis J. Berman, publisher of the Whitehall Forum.

HE WILL BE assisted by an experienced journalist who will be assigned to the copy desk.

This person will be an adviser whose job is to provide for continuity and bring seasoned judgment to bear on matters of accuracy and propriety, Senger said.

ALSO UNDER THE new arrangement, the Board of Student Publications is to have three rather than one faculty representative as has been the practice. It will also have three student members chosen from the general student body rather than three from the staffs of student publications as at present.

"The staff members who have been serving on the Board," Senger noted, "have been in a position of passing review on their own work. We will want the advice of the student editors, but we think it best that the student board members represent the whole student body."

Other members of the board include the director of university relations, the dean of students, and the vice-president for business and finance.

Double Parking Proposal Change

ward solving future problems. Maas said he was voting against the change because he thought the city was obligated to provide additional parking spaces before eliminating other spaces. He drew heavy applause from the audience.

Allows Double Parking
In other action the Council agreed to allow double parking by semi-trailer trucks in the downtown areas where they have no access to alleys for the purpose of loading or unloading. This was a change in recommendations made by Leikvold. Lubin spearheaded the drive to allow semis to double-park.

The Council agreed to restrict double parking of all vehicles and that cars could stop on the streets only to let passengers in and out of their cars. Picking up merchandise from a store could only be done from an alley or on the streets where there is no alley access.

The new ordinance will be submitted for the first reading at the next Council meeting.

The Council also authorized City Attorney Jay Honohan to start preliminary discussions with landowners of two tracts of land which would be used eventually for added parking space and a parking ramp.

The land under consideration is the southwest corner of Burlington and Clinton Streets adjacent to the Clinton Street parking lot. This would be used for adding parking spaces. The ramp would be built on a one-half block tract between Linn and Dubuque Streets and one-half block south of College St. Dick Feddersen, president of Nall Motors Inc., said the Council did not need a parking ramp in the Linn Street area. He said that there are four parking lots in the area and that they are never full. He said the parking ramp is needed in the area around the SUJ campus.

Other businessmen in the area said that taking the one-half block of land would force undue hardship on them because it would force them out of business.

However, the Council authorized Honohan to look into the cost of acquiring the two tracts and report at the next meeting.

Student Receives Music Scholarship
Donald Spieth, A4, Iowa City, has been awarded an Activity Scholarship to SUJ for the 1963-64 school year. He will also receive a special band service award.

Spieth was nominated for the awards by Himie Voxman, head of the Department of Music, in recognition of his academic record and his outstanding achievements in music activities at SUJ.

Baby Saved By Crewmen Of Train

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Something that smacked of the old-time melodrama of a fast train and a baby on the tracks was enacted near here Wednesday.

W. E. Hanning of Indianapolis, the engineer of a fast Pennsylvania freight, was about two miles east of here when, 1,000 feet ahead, he saw a baby sitting in the middle of the tracks.

Hanning threw on the emergency brakes. As the train slowed, fireman R. W. Larue of Indianapolis crawled out onto the front of the engine, and, as the train still rolled, reached down and pushed the baby off the tracks.

The train halted and the crew found the baby unharmed. Crewmen did not learn the name of the child, apparently from a nearby house.

Events Set To Honor Graduating Nurses

Seniors graduating Wednesday from the College of Nursing will be honored at several events during their final week at SUJ.

The new graduate nurses will be guests at a brunch Tuesday at 9:45 a.m. in the University Hospital dining room, sponsored by the SUJ Hospitals Nursing Service. College of Nursing faculty members and nursing service personnel will also attend.

The class banquet will be held Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. at the University Athletic Club. Sarah Esser, Washington, Ill., senior class president, will greet her classmates and College of Nursing faculty members.

Florence Sherbon, acting dean of the college and Gretchen Johnson, class sponsor and assistant professor, will give informal talks at the banquet. Westlawn Association will sponsor a tea for the graduating seniors from 2 until 4 p.m. on commencement day in the Westlawn lounge.

Shift Changes in City Police Announced by Chief Evans

Several shift changes in the Iowa City Police Department — effective today — were announced this week by Police Chief Emmett E. Evans.

Included among them are a switch in the assignments of the two captains. Richard W. Lee was moved to command of the 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. shift, and John J. Ruppert, who has been the night captain, was transferred to the 3 to 11 p.m. shift, which had been Lee's post.

Evans said the department will be "much better" because of the switch.

The changes will send Herman Parrott and Emmet H. Potter from parking and meter duties to the day shift, Kenneth Stock from days to afternoons, Terrance Berridge from afternoons to late nights, and Robert Vevera from late nights to afternoons.

Evans said new duties for parkettes eventually will include collecting money from the meters, making minor repairs and taking charge of a new filing and billing system for parking tickets.

Evans said Ray Vitosh will remain in the meter department until he has trained both the new parkettes and two who are expected to join the force by Aug. 15. Evans commented that Vitosh undoubtedly will be transferred to the day shift after the parkettes have been trained.

Court Tells Youth To Help Support Victim's Family

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A juvenile court judge Wednesday ordered a 16-year-old boy to quit high school and go to work to help support the family of a man he ran down with an auto.

Arthur J. Brookes Jr. will start immediately as a hog carrier for a bricklaying firm and turn half of his weekly paycheck over to Steven M. Breitenbach, 41, until Brookes reaches 21. He will earn $2 an hour.

Breitenbach, who has three children, was struck July 17 as he watered his lawn. He lost his right foot and suffered head and body injuries in the accident. He is a printer.

The Board of Education agreed to let Brookes leave school and granted him a work permit.

McNamara Says U.S. Won't Cut Arms in Europe

BONN, Germany (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara was reported to have assured West German leaders Wednesday the United States plans no reduction of its military effort in Europe in view of the limited test ban accord with Britain and the Soviet Union.

Informed sources said there was no discussion of possible American troop withdrawals from Europe in McNamara's talks with leading figures of the West German Government.

McNamara's calls included Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who is to step down in the fall, and Adenauer's scheduled successor, Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard.

One of McNamara's main jobs was to discuss the agreement under which West Germany spends up to $700 million a year on military goods and services in the United States.

This offsets the dollar outflow due to American military expenditures in Germany. The agreement is up for renewal.

Washington wishes West Germany to spend even more in the United States, to help stop the drain on the American gold reserve.

Costs Rise In Hospitals

CHICAGO (AP) — Hospital costs are averaging more than twice as high as a decade ago, and the rise in expense is expected to continue.

That was the word Wednesday from the American Hospital Association, which detailed the costs comparisons in Hospitals, its official journal.

The AHA said the average patient's daily expense rose from $12.25 to $36.83 in the last 10 years. The total expense of an average stay in the hospital — slightly more than a week — rose from $148 to $279.

The figures are based on non-federal short-term general hospitals which admit patients with all types of illnesses or injuries.

Packers To Meet Redskins At Cedar Rapids on Sept. 7

Using Jeter, Ex-Hawkeye, As Flanker

The Green Bay Packers, champions of the National Football League (NFL) and the Washington Redskins, will play their final pre-season game at Kingston Stadium in Cedar Rapids, Sept. 7, beginning at 7 p.m. NFL action starts the following Sunday.

The game will be sponsored by the West Side Civic Club of Cedar Rapids. Club president Mike Swords and Packer Business Manager, made the announcement Wednesday.

The contest was originally scheduled for Columbus, Ga., but was switched to Cedar Rapids because the Packers were dissatisfied with the segregated seating policy there, Lewellen said.

"With our regular season opening a week later, Coach Vince Lombardi will throw everything he has against the Redskins. All experimentation will have ended by then," Lewellen added.

"Fans who attend this game will see the world's champions at the very best," he stated. "In our opinion, the final pre-season game is always the best."

This is the fourth year in a row that the Civic Club has brought football to Cedar Rapids as a benefit for its charity fund.

Previous games sponsored by the Civic Club were the Winnipeg Blue Bombers vs. the British Columbia Lions in 1960; the Chicago Bears vs. the Minnesota Vikings in '61; and the Philadelphia Eagles vs. the Bears in '62.

Tickets are now on sale on a first-come, first-served basis from the Civic Club for $5 each.

"We feel this tops them all," Swords said. "We're looking for our largest crowd."

The Packers, two-time champions of the NFL, have the only Iowa player on either team — Bob Jeter, who set two rushing records while playing on the Hawkeyes 1959 Rose Bowl team.

Jeter played professionally in Canada for three years and then quit to go to the Packers. He played on their "taxi" squad last season until he became eligible to join the squad this year. Jeter is currently being used as understudy to Boyd Dowler as a flanker back.

The Packer squad is expected to be at full strength, except for Paul Hornung, who was suspended indefinitely for betting on NFL games.

Packer coach Vince Lombardi said he will probably use Tom Moore, who started several games last season when Hornung was injured, as a replacement.

The Redskins are generally considered one of the most improved teams in the eastern division of the NFL, following a fourth-place finish last season.

The Redskins, who boast the NFL's top pass receiver in Bobby Mitchell, former Illinois star and one of the best passers in the league in Norman Snead of Wake Forest, led the race for the six first six weeks of the season, winning four and tying two.

The Packers repeated as the league's scoring and rushing leaders, led by Jim Taylor, the leading ball carrier and scorer and Bart Starr, the league's top passer in '62.

Orioles 2, Tigers 1
BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles continued their mastery of the Detroit Tigers Wednesday night as Steve Barber won his 14th game, outpitching Frank Lary for a 2-1 victory.

The victory gave Baltimore a sweep of the three-game series and 10 out of 12 against Detroit over-all.

Tribe Hits 7 Home Runs To Tie 1, Break 1, Mark

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians hit seven home runs Wednesday night, setting an American League record and tying a major league mark with four in a row, as they defeated Los Angeles 1-0 and 9-5 in a two-night doubleheader.

Fred Whitefield slammed one in each game, the winner in the eighth inning of the opener and a grand slam in the nightcap.

Pitcher Pete Ramos, winner of the second game as he struck out 15 for the AL's season high, also hit two homers.
The Cuban righthander was tagged for 11 hits and finally was replaced by Gary Bell with one out and two on in the ninth.
The four homers in succession came in the sixth inning by Woodie

Held, Ramos, Tito Francona and Larry Brown. The victim was Paul Foytack, the third Angel pitcher.

Whitefield, who has been alternating with Joe Adcock at first base, broke up a tight pitcher's duel in the eighth inning of the first game with his ninth homer, a blast over the right field fence.

First Game
Los Angeles 000 000 000-0 4 0
Cleveland 000 000 100-1 9

Sports in Brief

NEW YORK (AP) — Effective Oct. 1, professional baseball clubs will not be permitted to sign a college baseball player until the player has completed his second year of college.

Commissioner Ford Frick made the announcement Wednesday that the minor leagues have joined the major leagues in adopting this amendment to baseball's college rule. The majors approved the amendment earlier in a mail vote. It had required the concurrence of the minors.

Under the present college rule, in effect since 1961, pro clubs agreed not to sign players during the school year. The new rule adds the summer vacation period between the freshman and sophomore year.

FOLKESTONE, England (AP) — Claudia McPherson, a 17-year-old Canadian, became the youngest girl ever to swim the English Channel Wednesday.

Claudia, a student nurse from St. James, Manitoba, swam from Cape Gris Nez, France, to Sandgate, two miles west of here, in 17 hours and 7 minutes.

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — The president of the U.S. Gymnastics Federation urged an investigation by federal officials of what he described as a national AAU ban of three outstanding American trampolinists from the recent International Turnverein in Essen, Germany.

Donald W. Boydston, who also is athletic director at Southern Illinois University, in a telegram sent to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, mediator in AAU-NCAA feud, asserted that upon invitation, his group sent three representatives, including George Hery of SUU.

Packer Injuries Increase Chances Of Grid All-Stars

CHICAGO (AP) — While favoritism of the National Football League champion Green Bay Packers shrank, the brawny college All-Star squad had a dress rehearsal drill Wednesday night under the lights of Soldier Field, scene of Friday night's 30th All-Star game.

Undoubtedly affected by Packer camp injuries suffered by star full-back Jim Taylor and brilliant middle linebacker Ray Nitschke, Green Bay's margin among bettors reportedly slumped from 17½ to 14½ points.

All-Star Coach Otto Graham isn't impressed with dispatches from Green Bay's West DePere, Wis., training site concerning Taylor's knee injury and Nitschke's twisted back, but it appeared fairly definite both may see only limited service Friday night.

At Green Bay, Taylor said he thought he was ready for action. He tested his knee by running up and down the steps of the City Stadium. Nitschke continued to receive treatment at Green Bay Hospital for a back injury.

Tresh's Home Run In 9th Lets Yanks Nip Athletics, 3-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Tommy Tresh smashed a home run with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning to give the New York Yankees a 3-2 victory Wednesday and the rubber of their three game series with the Kansas City Athletics.

Ted Bowsfield, a left-hander, was on the mound for the Athletics. He had replaced starter Diego Segui in the sixth inning and had held the Yankees scoreless until Tresh's game-winning blow.

The Yankees gave the right-hander a 2-0 lead after four innings but the A's tied the score at 2-2 in the seventh. Jerry Lumpe singled and raced to third on Norm Siebern's double. Both scored on back-to-back sacrifice flies by Charlie Lau and Ed Charles.

Phillies End Giants' Streak At 9 Straight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Johnny Callison crashed a two-run homer in the 14th inning after pitcher Bob Bolin let in two runs on a throwing error as Philadelphia stopped San Francisco's nine-game winning streak with a 7-3 victory.

The Phils had fought from behind with two runs in the ninth against 17-game winner Juan Marchal and rode through extra innings on the strong relief of Jack Baldschun.

Bob Oldis led off the 14th with a single and Don Hoak was safe on catcher Ed Bailey's interference when he bunted. Oldis made it to second when Bolin's throw was late.

Earl Averill bounced to the pitcher, but Bolin threw the ball 10 feet over third base, Oldis and Hoak scoring. With two out, Callison homered over the right field fence. All the runs were unearned.

Reds Smother Cardinals, 9-2

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Left-hander Jim O'Toole checked his six-game losing streak and the Cincinnati Reds snapped Bob Gibson's five-game winning string Tuesday night with a 9-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Gibson, who had won 11 of his previous 12 decisions, gave up two runs in each of the first three innings. Gibson's record is 12-5.

O'Toole, who had not won since June 20, gave up seven hits and was scored on only in the second inning as he boosted his record to 14-9. He struck out seven and walked one.

Pete Rose and Frank Robinson each had three hits, including a double, and drove in two runs apiece for the Reds. Marty Keough batted in two runs with his fifth homer and a sacrifice fly.

Yanks Sweep 8 of 10 Events To Lead Germans, 64-42

HANNOVER, Germany (AP) — The United States track and field team, catapulted by an astounding relay anchor run by Robert Hayes, rolled to a 64-42 margin over the West German national team Wednesday in the opener of their two-day meet.

The American team, smarting under what some members consider unfortunate press criticism of their behavior in Moscow, poured on the power against the young German squad.

The Yankees won eight of the 10 events on the program, including five one-two sweeps.
The Germans won only the 5,000 meters and the hammer throw, sweeping both one-two. Eleven events will be run today.

Hayes, from Jacksonville, Fla., breezed to victory in the 100 meters in 10.2 seconds before he uncorked his relay leg.
In the 400-meter relay he took the baton five yards behind German anchor man Alfred Hebauff, who ran 10.3 in the 100 for a second, and steamrollered past him to win by a yard.

The American team was timed in 39.7 seconds.
Tom O'Hara, of Chicago, stole a strategy-filled race in the 800 meters from teammate Jim Dupree and Germany's Arndt Krueger.
While Krueger and Dupree traded the lead O'Hara ran quietly in last place. Dupree burst past Krueger for the last time and in the final turn appeared to have won. That's when O'Hara shot past both of them and won by four yards in 1:49.3. Dupree was second in 1:49.7.
