Law Prof Raps Rights Bill Section

Present and future state legislation in the area of Civil Rights is and will continue to be inadequate, Arthur E. Bonfield, assistant professor of constitutional law and civil rights, declared Wednesday.

Addressing the Sixth Judicial District Legal Institute held at Oskaloosa, Bonfield discussed the legal, moral, and economic possibilities of the public accommodations provisions for the current Civil Rights Legislation.

Bonfield said, "This bill proposes to do no more than eliminate one of the most bittering forms of racial discrimination: the Negro's exclusion from, or inferior treatment in, restaurants, stores, hotels, movies, and other establishments of similar public service or amusement — solely because of the color of his skin.

"The proposed statute will bar discrimination only in such places of business that are public in a very real sense. It will not apply to private bona fide clubs not open to the public. They are clearly not covered by the act. The measure only covers businesses that deal with the general public; establishments that invite and in fact compete for public patronage."

BONFIELD justified the provision by stating, "We Americans justly pride ourselves on our dedication to the idea that there ought to be no second-class members of our society; that pain and degradation ought not to be inflicted on any class of our citizens simply because of their race or religion; that no class of our people should be denied the opportunity to sample the unique benefits, material and otherwise, of the American way of life.

"As a result, to be true to their ideals all Americans ought to support the enactment of the public accommodations section of the proposed civil rights bill now before Congress," he summarized.

For Nearly Every Taxpayer

House OKs Tax Cut

Goes to Senate, But Long Wait Is Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed Wednesday the biggest tax cut bill in history — President Kennedy's proposal for an $11-billion slash with a share for practically every U.S. taxpayer.

The measure now goes to the Senate where it faces a tough and uncertain future.

It holds out the prospect of $100 to $200 more takehome pay every year for the majority of tax paying families.

The vote on passage was 271 to 155.

A total of 223 Democrats and 48 Republicans voted for the bill, and 126 Republicans and 29 Democrats against it.

The administration wants to put the cut into effect in time for the increased pay to begin showing next January.

The House action was a double triumph for President Kennedy who had called the measure the keystone of his economic program.

Before passing the bill, the House defeated, 226-199, a Republican motion that would have made the tax cut conditional to Kennedy's submission of reduction spending budget for this year and next year.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) of the Senate Finance Committee announced that his group will start closed-door briefings on the bill Oct. 3 with congressional staff experts.

BYRD indicated the public hearings will not begin until the week of Oct. 14. He has said the public hearings may run six weeks although the schedule has not yet been made out.

The Virginian is opposed to any tax reduction without off-setting spending cuts.

The Kennedy timetable calls for two-thirds of the tax reduction for individuals to begin with the new year, and the rest in 1965. Ultimately the cut for average taxpayers is estimated in the $100- to $200-a-year tax range. Time is a big problem, even if Congress remains in session through the fall — as expected.

The Senate faces a long wrangle over the administration's civil rights program.

The Republicans proposed to make the entire tax cut depend on the President submitting spending estimates of not more than $97 billion for the fiscal year that started last July 1 and $98 billion for the following year. He could either submit such statements at the regular time in January or else settle any doubts about the tax cut by publishing them earlier in the Federal Register.

If the spending limits were subsequently exceeded, the tax cut would not be cancelled.

CHANGES WOULD take place in two stages — Jan. 1, 1964 and a year later. The individual income tax return due next April would, however, reflect the old rates, since they would be on 1963 income.

The taxation of capital gains — the increase in value of stock, real estate and similar property — also would be reduced. The gain on such assets held two years or more would have to be reported only at 40 per cent of value, instead of 50, and would carry a maximum tax of 21 per cent instead of 25.

The rest of the tax bill is made up of some two dozen changes in present provisions of the revenue laws, some relaxing them but more tightening them. Among those with the broadest application:

• A new liberalized standard deduction applicable to low-income families would be instituted, taking some 1.5 million off the tax rolls entirely, and benefiting an estimated 13.5 million.

• State gasoline, liquor and cigarette taxes would no longer be deductible for federal income tax purposes, but state income and real estate taxes would continue to be deductible.

• The tax advantages of some fringe benefits, such as sick pay, stock options and employer-paid life insurance above $30,000 would be trimmed.

• The present 4 per cent tax credit for dividend income would be repealed, but the amount excluded from taxation would be increased from $50 to $100.

• Persons with greatly fluctuating incomes would be allowed to average them to remain in a lower tax bracket.

• The present 27½ per cent depletion allowance on oil and gas properties would be continued but rules for estimating it would be somewhat tightened — a change estimated to amount to $40 million more tax liability for the whole industry.

Reach Accord On Military Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate-House compromise was reached Wednesday on a bill to give pay increases to most persons in the military services with two years or more service. The cost is estimated at $1.2 billion a year.

The fatter pay envelopes would be distributed starting Oct. 1 under the agreement reached by Senate-House conference committee.

Largest increases, ranging up to $100 a month, would go to lieutenants, captains, majors and similar ranks in the fighting forces.

The decisions are subject to House and Senate approval.

The increase would be the first in military base pay since 1958.

The higher pay schedules also would apply to reservists and national guardsmen for drill pay and training duty.

Cost of Living Stays Unchanged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of living held firm during August, and no major changes are expected during the autumn months.

This is the outlook reported Wednesday by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The consumer price index for August was 107.1, the same level as in July. This compared with a jump of five-tenths of a per cent from June to July, and a three-tenths of a per cent rise from May to June. The August index, however, still was 1.5 per cent over August 1962.

It meant that $10.71 purchases the goods that could be bought for $10 during the 1957-59 base period.

A spokesman for the bureau said the index is expected to remain firm through September.

'Nailed'
BROOKLYN, (AP) — Charles Robertson of Princeton, Ill., reported to police Wednesday losing a keg of nails while driving through town.

A few hours later Vernon Schmidt of Newton, reported he had found the missing nails after 13 of the 14 tires on the semi-trailer truck he was driving went flat.

Sex Study Gets Macmillan Off Hook, Britain

LONDON (AP) — The long-awaited Denning report on sexual high jinks and security risks in Britain Wednesday cleared Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and his Government of the blame in the John Profumo-Christine Keeler scandal.

Lord Denning commented, however, that the case may have damaged U. S. confidence in Britain. It's placid tone disappointed thrill-seekers who lined up for early copies of the 50,000-word documents, but was a great comfort to supporters of the Conservative party.

They had feared an explosion which could topple the government. Instead they got a moist firecracker.

In a report Thursday on the sensation that shocked the nation, Britain's No. 2 judge branded as "unfounded and untrue" widespread rumors suggesting other government ministers were guilty of moral misbehavior.

Denning conceded in his 50,000-word report that ex-War Minister Profumo's liaison with Christine Keeler "disclosed a character defect which pointed to his being a security risk." He had exposed himself to blackmail, so jeopardizing state secrets, the report said.

Denning was appointed by Macmillan on June 21 to investigate security aspects of Profumo's affair with Miss Keeler who also had social contact with a Soviet intelligence officer naval captain, Yevgeny Ivanov. He also looked into rumors about other ministers.

After citing gossip surrounding certain members of the government — whom he did not name — Denning reported:

"It might be thought that these rumors are a symptom of a decline in the integrity of public life in this country.

"I do not believe this to be true. There has been no lowering of standards.

"But there is this difference today," he continued.

"Public men are more vulnerable than they were, and it behooves them, even more than ever, to give no cause for scandal."

Denning then described how scandalous stories about well-known people have become marketable commodities because a few British newspapers — which he did not identify — are ready to publish information of this kind.

The judge disclosed that British security services 11 years ago were transferred from the direct control of the prime minister to that of the home secretary. This was done when Sir Winston Churchill headed the British government and the move was never before made public.

Technically, therefore, immediate responsibility for the security aspects of the Profumo case belonged to Home Secretary Henry Brooke. But because the central figure in the affair, Profumo, was a member of the government, Macmillan personally accepted the final responsibility.

Near Union—

'Miss Pep' Clues Tonight at Rally

Tonight, at the first football rally of the year, the Pep Club will give the first clue to the identity of the unknown "Miss Pep."

The rally will be at 7 on the river front near the Union.

According to Frank Patton, president of Pep Club, "Miss Pep is a top campus personality and very active in student affairs. She is not a pom pom girl."

Clues to Miss Pep's identity will be given at each rally, Patton said. Guesses to her identity will be accepted at the next to the last rally.

Persons guessing her correct name will receive two free cheering block tickets for next year's football season. Winners, along with Miss Pep's true identity will be announced at the last football rally of the year.

Introduction of the team's co-captains, Paul Krause, A4, Flint, Mich., and Wally Hilgenberg, A4, Wilton Junction, and a short pep speech by head football coach, Jerry Burns, will highlight the rally.

The yell leaders, pom pom girls, members of the football squad, the SUI Marching Band, and Herky, the school mascot, will provide color and entertainment for the student body.

Change 'Block' Practice Day

Cheering block practice will be held at 4:30 p.m. Friday in Macbride Auditorium, as planned. The change is necessary due to conflicts in room assignments.

Straw hats and football tickets will be handed out at the practice.

All members are required to attend.

Set Security for Mobster Valachi at Senate Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate crime probes disclosed Wednesday they will call mobster-murderer Joseph Valachi to testify Friday in a police-guarded public hearing at which he has agreed to put the finger on his one-time underworld bosses.

He will be questioned in closed session by the Senate investigators prior to the public appearance.

The announcement capped the first day of testimony in the Senate Investigations subcommittee's massive new probe of the underworld, in which Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and New York City officials described Valachi as a man with much to tell of a nationwide crime syndicate's operations.

The police believe Valachi's old mob, known variously as La Cosa Nostra, the Black Hand and the Mafia, has posted a $100,000 reward for any of its members who can reach and silence him.

Boy, Grace's Niece, 15, Might Marry

DES MOINES (AP) — Seven years ago Mary Lee Davis, then 8, was a flower girl at the wedding of her aunt, Princess Grace of Monaco.

Today she is a confused girl of 15 years, far from her fashionable Philadelphia home and living in a small apartment with a young man she says she loves.

Mary Lee and her boyfriend, John Paul Jones Jr., 19, son of a Philadelphia architect, have brought four weeks of anguish to their wealthy parents.

They were found by police in this Midwest farm belt capital city Tuesday night, sharing a three-room apartment within walking distance of the downtown business district. They had been here three weeks.

Mary Lee, a demure brunette with her hair in a straight page boy bob, worked as a waitress at the Hotel Randolph coffee shop.

Jones, ruggedly handsome, was an encyclopedia salesman. Both had attended private eastern schools before they disappeared earlier this month.

Jones' father and Mary Lee's stepfather, Eugene C. Conlan, arrived here Wednesday from Philadelphia.

In a joint statement after visiting with the couple, they said: "The children have their parents' permission to be married. As far as we are concerned that is the end of the story."

THE ELDER Jones confirmed that his son and Mary Lee are not married now.

Under Iowa law a male must be at least 18 and a female 16 to be married.

Conlan said "The children are going to stay in Des Moines for a while. There are still things to be worked out."

After a two-hour meeting with Conlan and the elder Jones, young Jones said, "I feel better about it, now that it is in the open."

The young couple drove off in their used car, Mary Lee bundled in a large raincoat. She appeared downcast.

Mary Lee said she and John Paul met about a year ago while both were students at private high schools.

The police, although unneeded, apparently foreshadowed security precautions being taken to protect Valachi, 60, when he testifies.

Valachi, a convicted dope peddler and murderer, has been spilling what he knows for more than a year to the FBI.

McClellan, in an opening statement said the objective of the hearings is to give law enforcement officials whatever additional tools they may need to destroy crime and combat the illicit international dope traffic.

Kennedy, calling crime one of the biggest businesses in America, said it had been difficult to get a close-in look at its operations because of the curtain of fear that surrounds those with such knowledge.

"This is one of the reasons the disclosures made by Joseph Valachi are significant," he said.

"For the first time an insider — a knowledgeable member of the racketeering hierarchy — has broken the underworld's code of silence."

A Brief Rest

The Clinton Street temporaries, being removed for SUI's new Business Administration Building, was the scene of picketing by the Cedar Rapids Building Trades Council Wednesday, represented by, left, W. K. Blair, 2411 Crestview, business agent for Labor Local 43, and James Knight, 2411 Crestview, business agent for Labor Local 43. The group claims poor wages are being paid by housemover Max Yocum.

'Contractor Unfair'

Union To Picket Again Today on Clinton St.

Picketing at the construction site of SUI's new Business Administration Building will continue today according to James Knight, business agent for Laborers Union Local No. 43 and a representative of the Cedar Rapids Building Trades Council, the picketing group.

Knight, of 2411 Crestview Ave., said that he did not know when the picketing would end. "All we know is that the contractor is a union contractor and he should be using union labor," Knight said.

Walton claims that there is no union that covers housemoving.

Two brick buildings in the block are being demolished, presumably under subcontract from the Fane Wawter Co. of Des Moines, which holds the University contract for construction of the new building, as well as the Zoology building addition the same block.

Knight said the picketing was not directed at either Wawter or SUI.

Physician Who Aided JFK's Son Visits SUI Today

One of the physicians involved in the unsuccessful fight to save the life of President Kennedy's newborn son will be a visiting professor here today through Saturday.

Dr. Robert M. Smith, head of anesthesiology at Boston's Children's Hospital and clinical professor of anesthesiology at Harvard University, will teach in the resident training program in the College of Medicine's department of anesthesiology.

He will speak tonight at a College of Medicine seminar. Dr. Smith's visit is sponsored by the Iowa Society of Anesthesiologists.

Wednesday night he addressed a meeting of members of the society.

Senate Committee OKs Four College Measures

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Labor Committee approved four education bills Wednesday providing $1.75 billion for college construction, a big expansion in vocational education, more aid for libraries and a more liberal loan program for students.

The college construction measure authorizes expenditure of $1.5 billion for classroom construction at four-year colleges over the next five years.

This is made up of $900 million in grants and $600 million in loans. An additional $250 million is set aside as grants for use by community junior colleges in the same period.

There's a need to iron out parking

Campus police had a field day in the Library parking lot Wednesday ticketing cars that had been improperly parked. This is nothing new. Drivers have been parking improperly for days. But Wednesday was something special.

At least 20 cars were left in non-parking areas. The Library lot simply couldn't handle the number of cars that drivers wanted to leave in that near-campus location.

A light rain apparently increased the traffic that tracked through the poorly drained lot. Normally the lot doesn't fill up much before 9 a.m.; Wednesday, few spaces were left by 8:30 and by 9 a.m. cars started stacking up.

Increased enrollment and construction at various points on campus have added pressure to available parking. Some reserved areas are only partially full, however, at peak parking times. It has not been ascertained whether the increased fees for reserved parking have increased appreciably the ratio of restricted stickers issued, but it is apparent that some temporary measures need to be taken to iron out the current press of vehicular confusion in the restricted parking areas.

One of the most important steps

THE STUDENT SENATE has taken one of its most important and constructive steps within recent years with the approval of a resolution to have students living in off-campus housing contact their landlords about discrimination.

The resolution sets up a committee of 30 to 40 people who will contact these students — both by letter and personally — and ask them to talk to their landlords.

The students will be asked to tell their landlords that they would not mind having a member of a minority group living in the same house or room. This type of action is designed to inform the landlords that they will not be subject to economic reprisal because they rent to minority groups.

The idea behind this type of action is the belief that many landlords are afraid to rent to minority groups because the white students would move out. Jim Bennett, commissioner of student rights and author of the resolution, feels that if this fear is relieved more rooming houses will be available for minority groups.

A secondary benefit of the talking to off-campus students will be to determine student attitudes toward discrimination. This information will be turned over to the University Committee on Human Rights.

The value of such a program is hard to determine. Much will depend upon how carefully the committee members are screened and selected and then how seriously they take their work.

Much will also depend upon what kind of cooperation the Senate will get from off-campus students. Many students will be apprehensive about talking to their landlords on such a controversial matter. Others may not feel qualified and others may feel that it is not any of their business. Finally there will be some who will feel discriminatory.

For these reasons, the Senate may not be able to accomplish the goals of the resolution — at least to any successful degree. On the other hand, if the committee consists of top notch people, students may be convinced that they should talk to their landlords. It follows that many landlords may be convinced to rent rooms to minority groups. The benefit of this is obvious.

Jim Bennett and the rest of the Senate have their work cut out for them. They are approaching a task that may well end in dismal failure. Hopefully the opposite will result.

Pride in no second class citizens

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of articles adapted from a speech on the public accommodations provisions of the proposed Federal Civil Rights Act delivered by Arthur E. Bonfield, assistant professor of law. The speech was made Wednesday night at the Sixth Judicial District Legal Institute in Okaloosa.

By ARTHUR BONFIELD
 Asst. Prof. of Law

I should like to tell you about what I believe to be of tremendous importance in the current civil rights proposals — now before Congress — that deal with equal access for all to places of public accommodation. Other aspects of civil rights — voting, education, the administration of justice, housing, even employment — do not involve the day-by-day confrontation in restaurants, hotels, stores, movies and other similar public accommodations which make the latter one of the most explosive aspects of race relations today.

We Americans justly pride ourselves on our dedication to the idea that there ought to be no second-class members of our society; that pain and degradation ought not to be inflicted on any class of our citizens simply because of their race or religion; that no class of our people should be denied the opportunity to sample the unique benefits, material and otherwise, of the American way of life. As a result, to be true to their ideals all Americans ought to support the enactment of the public accommodations section of the proposed civil rights bill now before Congress.

THIS BILL proposes to do no more than eliminate one of the most bitter forms of racial discrimination: the Negro's exclusion from, or inferior treatment in, restaurants, stores, hotels, movies and other establishments of similar public service or amusement — solely because of the color of his skin. The proposed statute will bar discrimination only in such places of business that are public in a very real sense. It will not apply to private bona fide clubs not open to the public. They are clearly not covered by the Act. The measure only covers businesses that deal with the general public and are open to the public — establishments that invite and in fact compete for public patronage.

When a customer is turned away from such a place of public accommodation solely because of the color of his skin it is not only immoral and unjust, but it imposes a badge of inferiority on that citizen which he has every right to resent. In addition to the humiliation and degradation, consider the immense physical and financial inconvenience suffered by Negroes through such discrimination. Consider also the cumulative effect of such discrimination on the ability of Negroes to fully enjoy the fruits and opportunities of our unique society.

HUMAN DEGRADATION is not the only cost of this kind of discrimination. Apart from the psychological, physical, and economic damage it inflicts on Negroes, our whole society suffers. It is injured because our society fails to live up to the ideals it postulates. Discrimination by retail stores which deal in goods obtained through interstate commerce also puts an artificial restriction on the available consumer market and thereby narrows the potential sales of many kinds of merchandise. A prevailing pattern of discrimination in a community discourages the influx of new business, impairs the mobility of industry and labor, and prevents the most economic allocation of our natural resources. Indeed, as an example, discrimination even retards the full development of the domestic tourist industry because it discourages travel by millions of Americans to other parts of their own country.

These and many other reasons mandate the necessity and desirability of the proposed federal legislation proscribing discrimination in public accommodations — such as hotels, restaurants, stores, movies and the like, that cater to the public at large.

State legislation on this subject will not do for several reasons. First, because the problem is national in scope, and can only be satisfactorily resolved on a national scale. As American citizens, Negroes justifiably and understandably expect to be protected against degradation of the kind at which this Act is directed regardless of where they happen to live or be situated in the United States. While thirty-two of the states including Iowa already have such public accommodations measures they are often too narrow in scope, and vary greatly in their coverage. And many of the states in the Union, notably the South, will never enact any such measures on their own initiative. Further, many states that have such measures on the books will not enforce them.

SECOND, because of the demonstrable ill effects of segregation in public accommodations on interstate commerce, it is particularly appropriate for Congress, rather than the states, to deal with the matter.

Third, discrimination in public accommodations in the United States at a time when we are the moral and physical leader of the free world embarrasses our conduct of foreign affairs. Since, as we shall see, the Federal Government has the power to enact such legislation as here contemplated, it seems most appropriate that it be exercised in order to better achieve its foreign as well as domestic responsibilities to the American people.

LASTLY, it is most appropriate that the federal government enact a public accommodations measure, rather than rely on uncertain and possibly inadequate state action to meet the problem. Since the Civil War, the Federal Government has been at least morally charged with the primary responsibility of destroying the remaining badges of second-class citizenship which have plagued the American Negro because of his previous slavery. Discrimination in public accommodations against the American Negro is certainly one of these vestigial hangovers from his early slave status in this country.

Some people have expressed grave doubts as to the authority of the Federal Government to prohibit discrimination in places of public accommodation such as restaurants, hotels, stores, movies and the like, which hold themselves open to the public at large. These individuals are gravely and clearly in error by their assertion that such legislation would constitute an unconstitutional usurpation of power by the national government. There are at least two provisions of our Constitution that are immediately apparent sources of legislative authority for such a national public accommodations measure. The first, the Commerce Clause, provides a much stronger and surer foundation for this section of the bill than does the second, the Fourteenth Amendment.

I WILL FIRST deal with the authority of Congress to enact this provision under its power over interstate commerce. Numerous decisions have long established that the power of Congress over interstate commerce and activities affecting interstate commerce is broad and plenary. "The congressional authority to protect interstate commerce from burdens and obstructions," Chief Justice Hughes said, "is not limited to transactions deemed to be an essential part of a 'flow' of interstate or foreign commerce . . . The fundamental principle is that the power to regulate commerce is the power to enact 'all appropriate legislation' for its protection and advancement' . . . to adopt measures 'to promote its growth and ensure its safety' . . . to foster, protect, control and restrain'."

Congress may exercise this power notwithstanding that the particular activity is local, that it is quantitatively unimportant when viewed in isolation, that it involves retail trade, or that it may not itself be regarded as interstate commerce. " . . . (Whatever the activity's) nature, (it) may be reached by Congress if it asserts a substantial economic effect on interstate commerce, and this irrespective of whether such effect is what might at some earlier time have been defined as 'direct' or 'indirect.'" And though the effect on interstate commerce of the activities of a particular individual may be trivial, if his effect on that commerce when taken together with that of others similarly situated is not trivial, they can all be regulated under that power. Wickard v. Filburn, therefore, recognized the power of Congress to regulate wheat production, even for individuals who intended to consume it on their own farm. So also Congress has the power under the Commerce Clause to control the sale of oleomargarine in every restaurant in the nation, as well as prescribe the labeling required in even local retail sales of drugs which have at some time crossed a state line.

(Tomorrow, Prof. Bonfield will discuss the limitations placed on Congress by the Commerce Clause.)

The Ralph McGill column—

The Ralph

The Educational Dragon

By RALPH MCGILL

Dr. James B. Conant is a quiet man of considerable resolution who, for some years now, has been contending with dragons in the blackboard jungles. He has not killed them, but he has inflicted serious, perhaps fatal, wounds on some and irritated them all.

His study of the American High School initiated reforms which continue. His latest spear was flung at the dragon of teacher education. It has produced belows, pains and rage, but there is plenty of life left and there are those who are saying Dr. Conant did not put enough muscle in his throw.

THAT AMERICAN teacher is in the midst of a crisis is undisputed. The problem is so complex that not all its elements are known. We see that education at the higher level is distorted by the national drive not to be left behind in space exploration and by the development of nuclear military weapons deemed necessary to national survival.

Indeed, there are days when at least a portion of the educational roof seems to have fallen in. The classrooms are too crowded. But, paradoxically, too many are quitting them in the form of "drop-outs." The city streets are used to thousands of young men and women who are not merely unemployed, but unemployable because of too little education and inadequacy of skills.

NOR IS THIS by any means all. The education of the American Negro is revealed, by the opening of jobs and the lack of enough trained personnel to fill them, to have been — and to be — a scandal. But at the same time, it also is made clear that there are thousands of white youngsters who, largely because of a segregated system that was supposed to "protect" them, have had a third or fourth rate education. At least a third of our population, regardless of color, is now getting poor quality instruction.

Meanwhile, the pressure on the prestige colleges is at a near-intolerable level. A sort of unplanned educational elite class is being created. C. P. Snow's dissertation on the "Two Cultures" now developing in the Western nations is being broadened in meaning and application.

For some time there have been rumblings about the quality, or lack of it, in teacher training. Standards vary to the point of chaos. The acquisition of Master's degrees is, in some institutions, ridiculously easy and, to be candid, dishonest in substance and meaning. There are now about 1,000 institutions where teachers are prepared. They are both private and public and they may be teachers' colleges, universities, or liberal arts colleges. They graduate about 150,000 teachers each year. This is roughly a third of the graduating students in the nation. Yet, so great is the total of teacher drop-outs for marriage and better jobs, because of boredom, or other reasons, and so accelerated is the birthrate, that the shortage of teachers annually becomes more critical. In a shocking number of rural counties, more especially in the South, there are teachers who have not graduated from high school.

NOR IS THIS all the problem.

The moon shot: could America go it alone?

BY HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — Underlying President Kennedy's proposal for a joint U.S.-Soviet moon expedition may be a feeling that perhaps the United States going it alone cannot beat the Russians to the lunar surface.

The Kennedy suggestion, made Friday before the United Nations comes at a time when the slip is showing noticeably on this nation's plans for manned and unmanned exploration of the moon.

Public enthusiasm for the project apparently is waning, costs are spiraling, and Congress no longer is rubber stamping space agency money requests.

Some officials who are doing the spade work at Cape Canaveral for the lunar landing effort expressed surprise at the President's proposal.

They agreed that a combined effort would help ease world tensions, but they were disappointed at the indication Kennedy is ready to abandon the goal of being first on the moon.

When Kennedy declared the United States in the race in May 1961, with a target of landing astronauts on the moon before 1970, there was a general national enthusiasm.

Scientists of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration rallied to Kennedy's cause. They said a manned landing on the moon was possible with present technology and talked hopefully of putting astronauts there as early as 1967. Congress provided without question the millions needed to get the program started.

It was estimated the total effort would cost less than $20 billion. Now, two years later, estimates run as high as $40 billion.

Project Mercury, which sent six men into space, was climaxed successfully last May with astronaut L. Gordon Cooper Jr. making a 22-orbit mission.

But Project Gemini, designed to perfect space rendezvous techniques vital to the Apollo man-on-the-moon program, has slipped more than a year because of technical troubles.

Marching Band Set for Year

Brian Reed, A2, Onslow
Balances Music and 'Oomphs'

By TOM EICHHORN
Staff Writer

All new shows by the 140-member Hawkeye Marching Band are in the making to entertain Hawkeye football fans this season at Iowa Stadium.

The Marching Band — which "Music Man" Meredith Willson called "one of the finest university bands I've ever seen" — will perform before, during halftime, and after games.

Included in this year's shows is one exhibition to honor retiring SUI President Virgil M. Flanher and another made up of Gershwin tunes.

Plans start brewing during the summer, said Frederick C. Ebbs, director of university bands, with a premium placed on originality.

Ebbs and his assistant, Thomas L. Davis, spent a good deal of time sketching designs and working out details of march formations before bandmembers arrive on campus.

Like Army generals planning a battle, the two music men map out formations over a table-top mockup of the playing field. Toy bandmen are moved around on the planning board to work out details.

Under the direction of Ebbs, concentration has been on marching, dancing, singing and musicianship. Ebbs and Davis concentrate on clever formations, based on modern themes and set to modern arrangement, instead of strict military marching.

Open Bids For Projects On Campus

Bids were opened Wednesday at SUI on two state services improvement projects for which funds were granted by the 1963 session of the Iowa legislature.

One project involves re-roofing the Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children, a building completed in 1953. The present roof has developed leaks which could not be successfully repaired. The legislature appropriated $17,000 for this work.

The first part of a large-scale window replacement program at the General Hospital will be undertaken also. Present windows, with wrought iron frames and hinges, have become bent and broken through more than 30 years of use until few will now close properly and securely. The legislature made $30,000 available for the first phase, which will involve some 250 windows.

Bids received on the roofing job were from the Burlington Roofing Co., Burlington, $11,643; Cedar Rapids Roofing, $12,414; Haegg Roofing Co., $14,690; and Powell Roofing Co., $18,000, all of Cedar Rapids.

Base bids on the window replacements included: Rusco Window Co., $27,760; Burger Construction Co., $26,700; Bob Thompson Custom Homes, $31,192; Red Ball Engineering and Development Co., $33,081; Viggo M. Jensen Co., $33,576; Don Gannon Construction Co., $34,779; Frantz Construction Co., $38,850, all of Iowa City firms. Many add and deduct alternates were included in this bidding, depending on the type of window specified.

SURGERY — BALTIMORE (AP) — Chuck Estrada, Baltimore Oriole pitcher who has been on the baseball team's injured list since early this season, underwent surgery on his elbow Wednesday.

SUI's Burford Art Acclaimed By Chronicle

Recent paintings and drawings by Prof. Byron Burford, SUI Art Department, being exhibited this month in San Francisco were acclaimed in the Sept. 8 issue of Bonanza, magazine section of the Sunday San Francisco Chronicle.

Professor Burford was present for the opening of the one-man show Sept. 9 in Art Unlimited gallery in Tillman Place, San Francisco. The exhibition of 26 works, Burford's second one-man show in San Francisco, will run through Saturday.

The SUI professor's study of his own children playing on an old mine field in England, titled "Kathy and Kevin Hunting Butterflies," was reproduced in color on the cover of Bonanza. Photos of two other paintings, "Women Making Munitions" and "Bombed Bridge with Figures," plus a photo of Professor Burford at work in his studio at SUI were used to illustrate an article on the exhibition on an inside page.

Commenting on Burford's work, the editor of Bonanza, Theodore Bredt, said, "Today, Burford's style is his own. His subject matter, for the most part, is drawn from war. Not the glamour over-the-top heroics of the war correspondent but the seldom recorded apathy, boredom, numb and disbelieving unreasonableness that accompany such conflict.

"This can be, in the hands of an ash-can realist, something of a bore after a while, but Burford's color sensitivity, compositional brilliance, use of chiaroscuro, and blazing technical virtuosity make each painting a personal experience far more intense and meaningful than the old 'war-is-hell' cliché."

The article noted that Burford has won three Ford Foundation Purchase Awards, and has received a Guggenheim and a Rosenwald Fellowship and that his works are being collected by the nation's major museums.

BELLINO WITH PROVIDENCE — PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — The Providence Steamrollers of the Atlantic Coast Football League said Wednesday former Heisman Trophy winner and Navy backfield star Joe Bellino has signed to play professional football with the team.

Largest Exhibition in SUI History Now at Art Building

A number of recent acquisitions are featured in the largest exhibition of SUI's permanent art gallery collection that has been held in recent years, currently showing in the SUI Art Building.

Among the works now in the University collection is a quill pen drawing hung in the Mezzanine Gallery. The artist, a contemporary German expressionist, was the late George Grosz, who used the unusual and ancient quill pen to depict his bitter reflections in 1927 on World War I.

Other recent acquisitions now being shown in the Mezzanine Gallery are three outstanding prints and two paintings: "The Martyrdom of St. John the Evangelist," a 16th century wood engraving by Albrecht Durer, whose woodcarving skill matched his art in design; two engravings by his German contemporary, Lucas Granach; Esteban Vicente's non-objective painting titled, "T," a vigorous and colorful example of his work; and "Running Bather," painted by a young west-coast artist, John Thomas, who was a visiting lecturer at SUI last year.

VISITORS are showing great interest in a life-size "Pietà" — Mary supporting the crucified Christ — a work recently presented to the University by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wielgus, Chicago, on view in East Foyer. It was created by an unknown 16th century sculptor from Flanders, experts surmise. Since portions of the carved figures are missing, the viewer is able to observe the artist's craftsmanship of building up sections of wood to form the finished work.

In commenting on the numerous contributions composing the University's permanent collection from which the current show is taken, and on the pressing need of adequate housing for these works of art, Prof. Frank Seiberling, head of the Art Department, said, "It is a matter for rejoicing that such a fine collection has already been assembled by the University, most and weaving; pre-Columbian objects; and Mexican ceramic sculpture.

Works shown in the Main Gallery include Robert Gwathmey's "Field Flowers," a silk screen print combining background brilliance with a rare understatement of the subject, a seated figure. The artist, a Negro, has devoted much of his talent to such visual studies of his people.

Hanging adjacent to each other, Harold Baumbach's "Green Street," a representational work, and Bradley W. Tomlin's "Still Life," a non-objective painting, though dissimilar in presentation, seem remarkably alike in their depiction of rectangular forms and in their muted greens and blues. Theodoros Stamos' "Prehistoric Phase," a non-objective, emotional oil on masonite, is painted in exquisite colors of beige, mauve and peacock blue, suggesting the spectrum of early dawn.

Professor Norval Tucker, curator of the exhibit, was assisted by George Bogdanovich, G. Dunellen, N. J. The showing will continue through Oct. 15. Gallery hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sundays.

Names New DI Staffer

Jon Van Dusseldorp, A2, Des Moines, was appointed editor of the Daily Iowan editorial page, it was announced Wednesday by Dean Mills, A4, Mt. Pleasant, editor.

Van Dusseldorp, a sophomore in the news-editorial Journalism sequence, holds first and third place honors in column writing from Sig-Delta Chi, national journalistic society, for columns he wrote in 1962 for his high school paper, the North High Oracle, where he also held the position of editorial page editor.

He will begin writing editorials for the Daily Iowan Monday and will work under the direction of editor Mills three days out of each week in his new position.

Van Dusseldorp will continue the college exchange column for the Daily Iowan, which he began last week.

He said that he will continue the present editorial policy of the paper, but will emphasize more items of local interest to the students, such as student reviews of movies showing in town, both art movies and Hollywood products.

Student Senate Posts Offered

Application for Student Senate positions may be picked up at the information desk of the Union today, according to Mike Carver, president of the Student Senate.

Positions to be filled are on the Freshmen Intern Program, Student Senate sub-committees, University Concert Course Committee and the University Lecture Vespers Committee.

The deadline for the Intern Program is 4 p.m. Monday. Other applications must be in by 4 p.m. Friday at the Student Senate office in the Union.

Due to the resignation of Judy Steelman and Jim Kelly, their respective positions, People-to-People Commissioner and Town Men Representative, have been left vacant.

Applications for these positions may also be obtained at the information desk of the Union with a Friday deadline of 4 p.m. in the Senate Office.

Anyone is eligible for People-to-People Commissioner but only single men living off-campus may be a Town Man Representative.

Ol' Swami Picks Iowa over WSU

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
AP Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—The Ol' Swami, sweeping up the glass from broken crystal balls, again opens his Midwest football shop. This week's fire sale specials:

IOWA 21, WASHINGTON STATE 14—The Hawkeyes could cut loose with a bigger margin, but the Cougars are out to atone for a stumbling 16-7 upset by Texas Tech.

MICHIGAN 20, SOUTHERN METHODIST 19—Strictly a toss-up. The Mustangs and Wolverines each won only two games last year.

NORTHWESTERN 24, INDIANA 14—This one starts the Big Ten title chase and the No. 7 ranked Wildcats' Tom Myers had better have his throwing arm oiled. The Hoosiers have one of the country's truly fine halfbacks, Marv Woodson.

WISCONSIN 20, NOTRE DAME 13—Hugh Devore, making his start as head coach of the Irish, couldn't have found a tougher opening assignment. The Badgers, ranked No. 6 are led by Lou Holland, the Big Ten's leading scorer in 1962.

PURDUE 21, MIAMI (Fla.) 18—This game is Friday night in the Orange Bowl. Heavy losses have left the Boilermakers questionable, but they are guided by a pair of senior quarterbacks, Ron Digraivo and Gary Hogan. It may take both to outduel the Hurricanes' George Mira.

ILLINOIS 28, CALIFORNIA 13—The first stepping stone on the Illini's way back. Much of Pete Elliott's hopes are pinned on sophomores. Such rookies as halfback Sam Price and fullback Jim Grabowski could make the Golden Bears head for the hills.

OHIO STATE 20, TEXAS A&M 7—Woody Hayes launches his 13th season as the Buckeye's head coach and his Paul Warfield and Matt Snell should kick up enough dust for a fairly easy conquest.

MICHIGAN STATE 27, NORTH CAROLINA 7—The Spartans, with such speedsters as Dewey Lincoln and Ron Rubick, should show their heels to the Tar Heels.

NEBRASKA 19, MINNESOTA 13—Could be a corker, but the Gophers may be lacking the experience to cope with one of Nebraska's better teams. The Cornhuskers got in the mood with a State.

Guglielmi Quits After Trade

NEW YORK (AP)—Ralph Guglielmi, traded to the San Francisco 49ers by the New York Giants Tuesday, decided to retire Wednesday and passed up an estimated $437 monthly pension when the 49ers wouldn't meet his terms.

Guglielmi, 29-year-old former Notre Dame All-American quarterback and a pro since 1955 at Washington, St. Louis and New York, plans to retire and return to his insurance business at Washington, D. C.

Under the National Football League's pension plan, a player must be on the active roster for at least three games a year in five years, starting in 1959, to become eligible. A five-year man at the age of 65 would get an estimated pension of $437 a month or $5,244 a year.

Unless the league changes the policy to make it retroactive beyond 1959, Guglielmi would lose out.

Guglielmi said he was aware of the pension situation but had asked the 49ers to give him a no-cut contract for the rest of the year. The ball club refused.

The Giants made the deal after absorbing a 31-0 beating in Pittsburgh Sunday, a game in which Guglielmi was the quarterback in place of the injured Y. A. Tittle.

Baltimore Colts, but he also is undecided about going to the San Francisco club.

The nine-season veteran of the NFL said he would go to his home in Lake Village, Ark., to think it over.

Just for Kicks

Northwestern University quarterback Tom Myers, whose forte is plain and fancy passing, gives his toe a workout in punting practice today for Saturday's game with Indiana University. In last week's game against Missouri Myers completed 10 of 16 passes attempted for a gain of 209 yards.

Spahn Leads Braves Past Cincinnati

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee left-hander Warren Spahn fashioned his 22nd victory of the season and No. 349 of his career Wednesday night as the Braves belted the Cincinnati Reds 9-5.

The 42-year-old Spahn, who has lost seven games this year, retired the first two batters in the eighth, before the Reds ended a bid for his seventh 1963 shutout on two-run homers by Don Pavletich and Leo Cardenas.

The homers, however, were not enough to offset Milwaukee's 12-hit attack, featured by homers by Spahn, Hank Aaron and Eddie Mathews. Spahn's homer boosted his lifetime total to 34, extending his National League record for pitchers.

Hawks Polish Plays For Home Opener

Iowa's Hawkeyes ran through a routine drill Wednesday as they continued to prepare for the opener against Washington State here Saturday.

"The Hawks showed a lot of zip out there," Coach Jerry Burns remarked at the close of the 2 1/2 hour practice. Burns said that sophomore end Cliff Wilder of Sioux City will probably handle punting chores against the Cougars.

Iowa started with a punting drill followed by calisthenics and an extensive hour-long drill against Washington State plays. Practice concluded with a short-running of basic goal line patterns, and plays designed to stop the clock.

Broglio's 17th Aids Cardinals, 5-2

CHICAGO (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals made Stan Musial's last road game a winning one Wednesday by defeating the Chicago Cubs, 5-2, for Ernie Broglio's 17th pitching victory.

BACK TO SCHOOL IN PENNEY COLOR COORDINATES

Fashion's assignment for fall calls for "The Complete Look." Answered ably by Penney's collection of color coordinates. Notably handsome are an array of burly imported Scottish Wool Sportcoats mindfully priced at 29.95. Traditionally styled in plaids, herringbones and checks. All properly subdued for unmistakable correctness.

Fitting accompaniment is provided by Imported Wool Worsted Flannel Slacks advantageously priced at 12.95. Tailored with authentic taste in "University grad" or "Continental" model with a mind towards the favored, leaner look.

For under sportcoat or over slacks, Penney supplies the needed Shetland-look crew neck sweater for only 9.95. Texturous blend of heather tones, made in Scotland shaded to complement jacket and slacks.

Each item, individually tasteful blends to blend with coordinated ease. Distinctively eliminates the puzzling elective of what-to-wear-with-what.

For all your campus requirements.

Choices Named For Davis Cup Matches Today

BOURNEMOUTH, Eng. (AP)—The Americans sprang a big surprise and named bullet-serving Frank Froehling III of Coral Gables, Fla., along with Wimbledon champion Chuck McKinley for opening singles matches against Britain today in the Interzone Davis Cup semifinals.

McKinley, from St. Ann, Mo., and San Antonio, Tex., will meet Britain's hard-hitting Mike Sangster in the first match, to be followed by a battle between 6-foot-4 Froehling and the left-handed Billy Knight.

The doubles match, with McKinley and Dennis Ralston opposing Sangster and Bobby Wilson, will be played Friday, followed by final singles Saturday, in which lineups are reversed.

THE YANKS ARE SLIGHTLY favored over a British team that has gained the Interzone competition for the first time since 1937.

Froehling's selection for one of the singles berths—and his designation as the No. 1 U. S. player—came as a distinct shock since the Americans were expected to use Ralston, hero of the U. S. victory over Mexico in the American zone final.

"Froehling has come along very fast and he is picked because we honestly feel we have the best chance to win with him," said Bob Kelleher, Los Angeles attorney who serves as U. S. captain.

The towering Florida boy was the forgotten man of American tennis until he swept into the men's singles final at Forest Hills earlier this month.

KELLEHER APPARENTLY IS COUNTING on Froehling's big service—one of the most powerful in the game, pro or amateur—to bring the Americans through.

McKinley, troubled with a bad back during the Forest Hills tournament and stricken with a cold here, apparently is back in top shape.

Foss Wants Playoff in '64

JOE FOSS Suggests Playoff

NEW YORK (AP)—Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League said Wednesday his league might make a formal proposal to the National Football League for a championship play-off in 1964.

"We have indicated in the past that we would like to meet them in a play-off," said Foss at a press luncheon of the New York Jets. "Always, in the past, their answer has been, 'We don't play games with people who are suing us.' We sued them because we thought our case had merit but we lost. Now that is out of the way."

The AFL lost an appeal Monday of its $10-million monopoly suit against the NFL in a decision announced in Baltimore.

Foss made his comments in answer to a question.

Later he explained, "Of course, you realize this is my personal view. Anything formal would have to be drawn up by the eight league owners."

If the league should decide to make a formal proposal, it would be late January when the NFL holds its annual meeting in Miami Beach.

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the NFL, poured cold water on the idea when he said, "We have no plans for such a game."

"We definitely are interested in a championship game," said Foss. "There is no reason why there should be any question about which team would win."

Let's decide it on the football field where such arguments should be decided.

Homecoming Deadline

A closing date of Wednesday, Oct. 2, has been set for entering saddle horses, pony hitches, or old cars in the SUI Homecoming Parade Oct. 11. Persons who would like to enter this division of the parade should contact Dr. Arthur Kracht at the College of Dentistry, University Ext. 2618, between 4-5 p. m.

Musial Named Vice President Of Cardinals

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Stan Musial, who will play his last major league baseball game Sunday, was voted a vice president of the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday.

August A. Busch Jr., Cardinal president, said the board of directors' decision would enable The Man to attend a club organizational meeting at Busch Stadium Thursday.

Musial was with the Cardinals in Chicago Wednesday for their final game of the season with the Cubs. Chicago fans gave a "Stan Musial Day" for his last Windy City appearance as a player.

Details of Musial's new assignment were not made public immediately, but the Cardinals indicated his duties generally would fall in the area of dealing with players and player matters.

The 42-year-old star, who announced in August that he would retire this season after 22 years with the Redbirds, will assume his new assignment immediately after the end of the playing season.

Iowa Nurses

Pre-convention highlights will be discussed at the regular meeting of the Iowa Nurses Association, 5th district, today at 7:30 p. m. at Veterans Hospital.

The annual meeting, usually held the first Thursday in November, will be Oct. 24.

Theme Set By Dolphins

Ancient Greece will be the setting for the Dolphin's 41st annual water show — "Nero's Nightmare" — Oct. 10, 11 and 12.

A traditional highlight of the SUI Homecoming weekend, the Dolphin show opens at 8 p. m. Thursday, Oct. 10. Another performance will be given after the Homecoming parade Oct. 11 at 8:30 p. m. and performances at 7 and 9 p. m. Oct. 12 will conclude the event.

All shows will be in the SUI Field House pool. Tickets may be bought for $1.50 each at Whetstone's Drug Store, Field House Ticket Office, beginning Oct. 7, or at the door.

To create a realistic setting of ancient Greece during the rule of Imperial Rome, the Dolphin Club is constructing a temple at one end of the pool and a mountain and platform for an Olympic torch at the other end.

Features of the show will be fancy diving and swimming, trapeze, trampoline and teeter-board routines, and the antics of clowns.

THE DOLPHIN QUEEN and four attendants, chosen from women's housing units, will be crowned at the first show and reign over all four performances.

The Aquarelles, a women's synchronized swimming group from Cedar Rapids, will appear in the cast.

More than 80 members of the national honorary swimming fraternity are busy preparing for the show. Proceeds are used in making contributions to the University Activities Scholarship Fund and the United States Olympic Fund. Dolphins also send members to state and national swimming meets and clinics. Other portions of the proceeds go for next year's show.

Dolphins Got Start in 1921 On Iowa River

Several SUIowans banded together in 1921 to safeguard swimmers on the Iowa River.

Since then the group has grown to more than 80 members and have become the Dolphins, a national honorary swimming fraternity.

The Annual Dolphin Homecoming Show started in 1922 when the membership first put on demonstrations of water safety techniques. From its modest beginning, the Dolphin Show has evolved into a gigantic water variety show that is produced for more than 5,000 people each year.

All shows since 1932 have centered on a certain theme chosen each spring by Dolphin members. Some themes have depicted periods of history — "Roarin' Twenties"—and others, different areas of the world — "Mood Oriental".

This year's theme — "Nero's Nightmare" — is centered on Greco-Roman times.

The Dolphins started the long list of SUI queens, choosing the first Dolphin Queen (also the first queen of any SUI organization) in 1931. She was Gretchen Pulley, now Mrs. Arthur de Winter of Detroit, Mich.

Until 1937, the final choice of the Dolphin Queen was made by movie stars of the era. Then the membership took the full responsibility of choosing the Queen.

Since the 1937 change-over, Dolphins have three judging sessions to narrow 30 entries to one.

During the first session, women representing women's housing units, are interviewed by the fraternity members. Ten candidates are chosen for the second session, where they are again interviewed and reduced to five.

The Queen is chosen from the remaining five, the four runners-up making up the court.

Crowned at the first show of the year, the Dolphin Queen reigns over all performances of the Dolphin show and all Dolphin activities throughout the year.

Studio Theatre To Hold Tryouts

Tryouts will be held today and Friday for the first Studio Theatre production of the year, Ugo Bettis' "The Queen and the Rebels".

The tryouts, open to all SUI students regardless of department or major, will be held at 7 p. m. in the Studio Theatre in the Old Armory.

The play, directed by Kent Gravett, G. Lexington, Ky., and is scheduled to open Nov. 6.

The play concerns the desperate efforts of a group of revolutionaries to find and kill their queen, the scapegoat of the rebellion.

The play has speaking roles for eight men and four women.

Iowa Citizens To Enter Dairy Show

Waterloo will be the site of the National Dairy Cattle Congress, which opens Saturday and runs through Oct. 5.

There will be Hippodrome shows twice daily, featuring Jo Ann Castle, Bobby Burgess, Barbara Boydland of the Lawrence Welk Show, and the Ink Spots. Rex Allen will star in the All Western Day October 5.

Other attractions include buffalo displays, an automobile tent with both old and new models, armed forces displays, government exhibits, arts and crafts demonstrations and a sight-seeing train. Culinary and needlework skills will be judged daily in the Women's Building.

Paul H. Boyd, Route 5, Iowa City, has entered two horses in the Horse and Pony Show, and Mrs. O. E. Burge, Route 4, Iowa City, will be an exhibitor in the Women's Department and the Flower Show.

Injury Suit For $70,000 Is Filed Here

A personal injury suit for $70,000 was filed in Johnson County District Court Wednesday by Linda Adair, Iowa City, against William T. and Kenneth W. Mann, both of Iowa City.

The plaintiff alleges that she suffered serious personal injuries when a car driven by William T. Mann, in which she was a passenger, collided with another vehicle on Highway 218 Sept. 30, 1961.

The woman, in her petition, states that Mann's negligence was the cause of the accident—a collision with an auto traveling in the opposite direction. According to the petition, Kenneth Mann is the owner of the car in which she was riding.

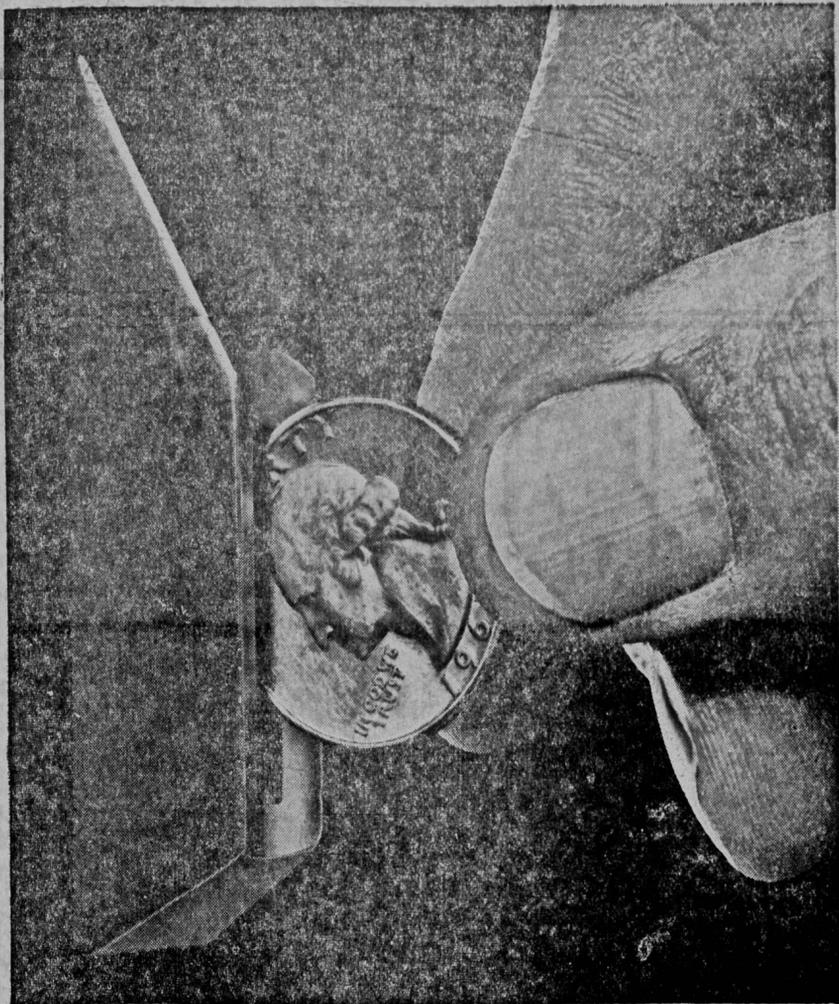

Her claim is for permanent injuries, loss of future earnings and for present and future pain and suffering.

Iowa Liquor Chief Talks Here Today At 203 Union

Larry Sealise, chief of law enforcement for the Iowa Liquor Control Commission, will speak on "Inside the Iowa Liquor Laws" today at 4:30 p. m. in 203 of the Union.

SUI's Young Democrats are sponsoring the speech, but all students and faculty members are welcome to attend.

Sealise, a former SUI student, was a candidate for Iowa Attorney General.

If you could choose the slot where your tax money goes...

you would probably pick defense, or space exploration, or some other job you expect the government to do. It isn't likely that you'd pick a job for which your tax money would be spent needlessly.

Yet there are some people who keep urging the federal government to pour more of your tax dollars into additional federally owned electric power plants and lines.

This is needless spending. The nation's more than 300 investor-owned electric light and power companies, like Iowa-Illinois, can provide all the power America will need—at reasonable rates. Wouldn't it make sense for the federal government to stop needless spending, and use your tax money only for items that can be justified on the grounds of national interest?

Area Scouts Here This Weekend

"Resusci-Anne," a life-size manikin used in demonstrating methods of resuscitating humans, will star in a program to be presented Saturday morning at SUI for some 160 Senior Girl Scouts and Explorer Boy Scouts.

The Scouts, all from the Hawkeye Area Boy Scout Council and the Cardinal Council of Girl Scouts, will visit the SUI Medical Research Center as part of the first "coed weekend" set for Friday and Saturday under the sponsorship of the two councils.

To begin at 11 a. m. Saturday in the auditorium of the new Pharmacy Building, the program will include a resuscitation demonstration by Frank Kilpatrick, director of the University Health Department's inspection division.

This will be followed by talks by William Tester, director of Hospital Pharmacy, and Vern F. Thudium, the associate director. Their talks will deal with the SUI Poison Control Center, a unique service whereby physicians around the state may call to receive immediate information about all types of poisons.

14 New Faculty Members Now in Four SUI Colleges

Fourteen new faculty members have been appointed to the SUI Colleges of Business Administration, Education, Engineering and Law since last June.

Two are professors, two are associate professors and ten are assistant professors.

One of the new professors, Levis E. Wagner, and one of the new associate professors, William A. Mauer, as well as four of the new assistant professors James R. Jeffers, Richard W. Metcalf, Ermitt John Vaughan and Anthony V. Sinicropi, are now faculty members in the College of Business Administration.

The College of Education also has three new assistant professors, Raymond V. Wiman Jr., Charles R. Staller and Clyde Greve.

Dan E. Branson is a new professor in the College of Engineering while Donald Lee Epley joins the engineering faculty as an associate professor.

Three new assistant professors have joined the College of Law. They are Paul Newhauser, Allan D. Cullison and Frederick Mann.

Wagner is the new director of the Bureau of Business and Economic Research. He has the B.S.C., an M.A. and a Ph.D. degree from SUI, receiving them in 1950, 1951 and 1956, respectively. He has been at the University of Illinois since 1957. Dr. Wagner was an instructor at SUI from 1950 to 1955.

Mauer holds an A.B. degree from San Jose State College (1955), an M.S. degree from Texas A&M (1957) and a Ph.D. degree from Duke University (1960). He was a participant in the Ford Foundation Seminar on Mathematical Models and Computers in Business at the University of Chicago in 1962. Dr. Mauer has been an assistant professor at Tulane since 1960.

Jeffers also comes to SUI from Tulane where he was a research and teaching assistant in 1961 to 1962. He received a B.B.A. degree with distinction from SUI in 1960 and a Ph.D. from Tulane University in 1963.

Metcalf spent the past two years as a teaching associate at Indiana University. From 1958 to 1961 he was assistant professor and chairman of the Department of Business Administration and Economics at Nebraska Wesleyan University. He has a B.A. degree cum laude from Morningside College (1957), an M.A. from the University of Nebraska (1960) and was a candidate for a D.B.A. at Indiana University.

Vaughan comes to SUI from the University of Nebraska where he taught general business courses. He has a B.A. degree from Creighton University (1960), and an M.A. degree from the University of Nebraska (1962).

Sinicropi is the new program director for the Bureau of Labor and Management. He comes to SUI from Gannon College where he was an assistant professor. He was also instructor at St. Bonaventure University, holding a B.S. degree from St. Bonaventure (1956) as well as an M.A. degree from Cornell University.

Wiman has been acting director of Audio Visual Education and Industrial Arts at the Visual Center in San Francisco since 1959. He received a B.A. degree from Arizona

State in 1951 and an M.A. degree from San Francisco State in 1955.

Staller is from the University of Wichita where he has been an assistant professor since 1958. He was previously a teacher in the Missouri and Kansas public schools from 1951 to 1955. He has an A.B. degree from Central College and an M.Ed. degree from the University of Wichita.

Greve spent the last three years as head librarian at West High School in Davenport. He holds a B.A. degree from State College of Iowa (1956) and an M.A. degree from the University of Michigan (1961).

Branson has a B.C.E. degree from Auburn University as well as an M.C.E. degree from that school. He holds a Ph.D. degree from the University of Florida.

Epley, who specializes in electrical engineering, has the B.S., M.S., and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Illinois.

Newhauser spent the last two years at Harvard as a teaching fellow. Previously he practiced law in New York City for four years. He has an M.A.B., an LL.B. and an LL.M. from Harvard University.

Cullison spent 1962 to 1963 as a law clerk of the Eighth Federal Circuit Court in Iowa. He has an S.B. degree from the University of Chicago and a J.D. with distinction from SUI.

Mann is currently in Peru representing the College of Law in a land reform program with the U.S. Agency for International Development. He formerly taught at the University of Missouri and has the B.S., L.B., and LL.M. degrees from the University of Illinois. He also studied at the Universities of Copenhagen and London.

Top Lobby Group in Capital To Observe Anniversary Here

The 20th anniversary of the tenth largest lobbying organization in Washington, the Friends Committee on National Legislation (FCNL), will be held at 6 p.m. Friday at the Wesley Foundation, 120 N. Dubuque St.

Speaking at the dinner will be Edward F. Snyder, executive secretary of the group, and Charles H. Harker, the administrative secretary. Fred Schwengel (R-Iowa) will also be present at the dinner.

The FCNL, which claims to "work by methods of quiet influence through personal contact" rather than by "lobbying of the pressure-group character," has made its views known to Congress on conscription, civil rights and disarmament since Nov. 1, 1943. It has permanent standing subcommittees in the following seven areas: militarism and conscription; UN affairs and disarmament; foreign economic affairs; immigration and refugees; civil liberties; race relations, and domestic issues.

IT HAS OPPOSED universal military training since its beginnings in 1943. It also has worked for greater rights for conscientious objectors, including their right to work in war-devastated areas abroad, even at their own expense.

The group has also opposed loyalty oaths, travel restrictions and wiretapping as violations of civil liberties.

On the disarmament front, the FCNL has opposed the North Atlantic Treaty, which resulted in the establishment of NATO, and the re-militarization of conquered Japan and Germany.

In the racial field, the group has long advocated equal rights for the Orientals on the West Coast, Negroes and Amerindians. It presented briefs to the Supreme Court as an amicus curiae, or friend of the court, in the historic Brown decision, striking down the constitutionality of segregation in the schools.

While the FCNL admits it does not speak for all the Quakers in the United States, it does claim that it is gaining their support.

The group has announced a four-point program for the coming year: general disarmament and test ban negotiations with U. S. initiatives to help reduce world tensions; an expanded, creative U. S. Arms Control Disarmament Agency with adequate appropriations; legislation which makes the United Nations and the International Court of Justice more effective instruments for peace, and legislation to strengthen human rights at home and abroad.

McNamara Says Russia Easing Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Wednesday night there are signs the Russians are beginning to modify their long-held objective of dominating the world.

"I think the test ban itself is an illustration," McNamara said, contending the United States entered the agreement to limit nuclear weapons tests from a foundation of superior strength.

"How far they'll go, I don't know," the defense chief said, stressing that:

"We must continue to maintain and increase our military strength and keep our powder dry."

McNamara spoke on a wide range of subjects in an interview on the television program, CBS Reports. It was filmed last week before he flew to South Viet Nam on a fact-finding mission for President Kennedy.

McNamara said it is "entirely possible" that the South Vietnamese government has alienated important parts of the population by repressive actions against the Buddhists and other opponents, and that unless that government and its people work together against Communist guerrillas, "they will be defeated."

The U.S. responsibility in Viet Nam is to advise and help the South Vietnamese prosecute their war against the Communists, McNamara said.

On the limited nuclear test ban treaty, approved by the Senate Tuesday, McNamara declared: "I see no relative disadvantage accruing to the United States."

Looking ahead 10 years, McNamara said there is hope "for lower tensions throughout the world."

He said the Russians appear to be modifying slightly their goal of "immense superiority" in U.S. military, political and economic strength.

Also: David Cox, L2, Sun City, Ariz.; John C. Coughenour, L1, Pittsburgh, Kan.; Ronald Longstaff, L2, Pittsburg, Kan.; Joel Novak, L2, Rock Island, Ill.; Richard Grassgreen, L3, North Bergen, N.J.; and Conrad Weiser, L2, Fullerton, Pa.

Hurricane Edith Called Dangerous

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Winds in the center of Hurricane Edith swelled from 80 to 100 miles an hour Wednesday as the storm pressed toward Puerto Rico.

Weathermen said the storm center, if it maintained its west-northwest course, would reach a point 100 to 125 miles south of Ponce, Puerto Rico, today.

A late advisory of the Weather Bureau at San Juan called Edith "a dangerous storm."

Edith appeared to be centered 320 miles southeast of San Juan Wednesday. The hurricane was moving west-northwest at 14 m.p.h. Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and the Dominican Republic were placed on hurricane alert.

Stock Market Hits Another Record In Busy Session

NEW YORK — The stock market surged further into record high ground Wednesday then ebbed swiftly under massive profit taking. The list took a loss on one of the year's busiest sessions.

Turnover swelled to 6.34 million shares from 5.53 million Tuesday. The biggest volume of 1963 was Sept. 6 when 7.2 million shares changed hands.

Brokers attributed the sharp reversal to precautionary profit taking after the Dow Jones industrial average rose above the target area of 705 in mid-morning. From that point the trend was lower.

Some of the "glamour" stocks took sharp losses. The net loss on average, however, was not bad. The Dow Jones industrial average declined 2.27 to 743.69. From the peak of 750.85 to the close was a substantial drop of 7.16.

Fined $500 For Auto Theft

Larry James Cole, 21, 113 E. Prentiss St., was fined $500 and given a suspended six-month jail term Wednesday after pleading guilty to a charge of auto larceny in Johnson County Court.

Cole, of 113 E. Prentiss St., had been held in county jail here on $1,000 bond since his arrest on June 13 by Iowa City police. Cole was charged with the theft of an auto registered to Ronald E. Trimble of 1921 Western Ave.

Police arrested Cole on the Brown Street playground after chasing him first in a squad car and then on foot when Cole abandoned the vehicle he had been driving.

Judge James P. Gaffney suspended Cole's term and he was paroled to County Sheriff A. J. Murphy.

JFK Enters Wheat Sale Question

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy moved into the Soviet-U.S. wheat sale question Wednesday by requesting two House committees to meet with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges Thursday and review possible deals.

The request was made of the Agriculture and Foreign Affairs committees.

Announcing this Wednesday night, Agriculture chairman Harold D. Cooley (D-N.C.) said a meeting of the two committees with the cabinet members will be held Thursday afternoon.

Kennedy's request heightened speculation that the Soviet Union already has approached the U.S. government, either directly or indirectly through trade sources, regarding the possibility of buying American grain.

Cooley said the joint session will go into recent Canadian and Australian sales of grain to the Reds as well as whether this country should relax trade policies to encourage Soviet purchase of farm products.

"If our policy is to step aside and permit all other free world nations to take world markets, we will never be able to sell the commodities we now have stored in our warehouses," Cooley said.

Trio Gaining Steam

Don Oestreich, Tom Rieke, and Bob Phillips, better known as The Jameson Singers, take off on one of their contemporary folk music favorites, "Kum Ba Ya." The group, appearing in Cedar Rapids this week and next, soon will travel to Chicago and Oklahoma.

Former SUlowan Sings With Rising Folk Trio

Looking like three college students — which they not-so-long-ago were — The Jameson Singers are making a big hit in Cedar Rapids.

Tom Rieke, former SUlowan, joined Don Oestreich and Bob Phillips, both of Little Falls, Minn., this summer when they all worked at a resort near Gull Lake, Minn.

Bellhop Rieke, Busboy Oestreich and Linen boy Phillips soon found themselves in demand for employees' parties, conventions and private parties.

"After we decided we sounded pretty good together," Rieke explained, "we played everywhere we could, just for experience."

The group admits they follow the style of other folk groups like the Kingston Trio and Peter, Paul and Mary but do all their own arrangements.

Now performing in Cedar Rapids for a two week stand, the group soon will leave for Chicago for auditions and go to Oklahoma for a short stand.

Rieke, who attended SUI for the last three years, was a radio-journalism major and worked for The Daily Iowan. He was in the University Chorus, University Choir and Old Gold Singers. He also sang in Project Aid's "Once Upon a Mattress."

Both Oestreich and Phillips attended St. Cloud State College, St. Cloud, Minn.

Merit Semifinalists From Area Listed

Thirteen thousand high school students were named Semifinalists Wednesday in the nationwide competition for Merit Scholarships.

Semifinalists from the Iowa City area were: Randall Bovbjerg, John Corcoran, Sally Cross, James Froeschle, Wayne Karson, William Knowler, James Longstreth, Barbara Trummel, David Walker, Frances Woods, all of City High.

Also Edward Fritzpatrik, Patricia Glasgow, Joseph Kantor, of Regina High School; and Sally Hickerson, Susan Jenks, Martin Maner of University High; Lexie Kirkpatrick of Lone Tree; and Peter Eimen, Barbara Kempf, Bradley Kieseey, and John Patterson of Wellman.

They are now eligible to compete for the 1,500 Merit Scholarships offered by NMSC and 175 associated institutions.

Scholarships are for four years and range from $400 to $6,000. Final announcement of winners will be about April 23, 1964.

5 Dead in $7 Million Beef Factory Blast

MOSES LAKE, Wash. (AP) — Five persons were known dead and three were missing after a series of explosions ripped through the 7-million Utah-Idaho Company's sugar beet factory Wednesday.

Seven persons were hospitalized following the collapse of four of the company's 135-foot-high silos, each capable of holding 125,000 sacks of sugar.

An eyewitness, David Davidson, said after the initial blast he ran to the front of the building.

List Adult School Program

Women drivers can learn first aid for their stricken cars in one of the seven new courses offered by the Iowa City adult education program beginning Oct. 3.

The course, care and repair of automobiles, which will be open to both men and women, will be one of 42 courses given this semester, nearly all of them 10 sessions long and all but a few offered on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Most courses are from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

OTHER NEW courses are advanced creative writing, poetry, short stories, basic algebra, typing improvement and first aid.

The program includes such basic areas as home economics, general interest, languages, business education, art and craft, shop and leisure time courses.

Tuition for the courses other than a free Red Cross first aid course is figured for a minimum of 10 persons with classes in which less than 10 are enrolled prorated for the total amount of the 10 tuition payments.

Tuition checks should be made payable to Iowa City High School and may be mailed in advance, addressed to the Adult Education Office, Iowa City High School.

Oral Polio Drive Gains Steam Here

Final plans for "V-Day One" — first (oral polio) vaccine day are shaping up and committee members have been named.

The Sabin Oral polio vaccine is given in three separate doses four weeks apart. "V-Day One" will be Oct. 13 and the second and third doses will be given Nov. 10 and Dec. 8, all Sundays.

All three doses must be taken for the recipient to be completely immunized. Everyone should take the vaccine even though they may have received the Salk shots, physicians have stressed.

The Sabin oral vaccine is placed on a sugar cube and taken by mouth. Infants will be fed the tasteless vaccine by placing it in their mouths using a small device resembling an eye-dropper.

The cost of each dose is 25 cents.

Final arrangements are being made this week to secure three centrally located sites for Iowa City clinics. Six other points of distribution will be available throughout the county.

The Johnson County Medical Society and Iowa City Junior Chamber of Commerce are the sponsoring organizations. Committee members are:

DISTRIBUTION STATIONS: Dr. M. L. Mosher; Dr. Chester Miller, head of SUI student health; Dennis Roberson and Richard Duncan.

PROFESSIONAL AND COMMUNITY RELATIONS: Dr. C. R. Goddard and Dr. Wayne Tegler. Records: Dr. John Maxwell and Dr. John Bauer. Outlying Communities: Dr. Ray Hennes.

VACCINE SUPPLIES and Clinic Setup: Dr. C. E. Schrock, Dr. Franklin Top, Philip Leff, Ed Collins. Jaycee manpower: James Galther, Ralph Neuzil.

DR. C. E. SCHROCK and James Shank are co-chairmen of the project.

I-80 Closed Until Nov. 30

SUI football fans will not be able to use the Interstate 80 bypass north of Iowa City when they come for games, according to W.W. Wickham, a construction engineer for the Iowa Highway Commission.

Wickham said that "with reasonably good weather conditions all the paving and shoulders of the bypass should be done by Nov. 30." He added that it will be open for traffic this fall but fans shouldn't count on it for football season.

Although the four-lane bypass won't be of direct use to fans since it doesn't go near the stadium, it would give traffic a chance to bypass congestion created on Highway 6 by incoming fans.

Fans visiting Iowa City for SUI's home games will use the same highways that they used last season.

From the west, they can take Interstate 80 to Grinnell and then Highway 6 to the stadium. From the north, Highway 218 is the most logical and easiest entrance to Iowa City. Fans coming from the eastern part of the state, would do well to take Interstate 80 to Highway 1, north of Iowa City and make the necessary turn-off. Highway 1 is also the main arterial roadway to Iowa City from the south.
