Madame Nhu Blames U.S. For Downfall

Says 'Devils of Hell Are Against Viet Nam'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — South Viet Nam's tart-tongued Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, appearing tense and angry, said Friday a coup could not have happened in her country "without American incitement or American backing."

The controversial first lady of the Asian country, whose husband, according to one report, may have been slain in the uprising against the regime she backs, emerged from hotel room seclusion to tell newsmen:

"I cannot stay in a country whose government stabbed me in the back."

Mrs. Nhu was resting here with her daughter, Le Thuy, 18, after a cross-country speaking tour when news of the coup broke.

Asked if she would seek asylum, she shouted: "Never!"

She made her statements in the lobby, enroute to a Catholic church to attend a worship service.

This is not the first time the U.S. government has tried to overthrow the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem, her brother-in-law, she snapped.

"I believe all the devils of hell are against us. But we shall triumph," she said. "I feel very distressed, very puzzled, when I read this morning in the papers that all 15,000 American troops in my country are protecting your embassy in Saigon."

Asked to comment on the report of the possible death of her husband, adviser to the president of her country, she said only that she had no knowledge of such a thing.

Russia Orbits Space Craft Unmanned Vehicle Guided from Earth

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union launched an unmanned space vehicle Friday which it said was capable of performing complicated maneuvers on command from the earth.

A few hours later Premier Khrushchev commented that he would look with more warmth on the idea of U.S.-Soviet space cooperation if international tensions eased.

He strolled up to a microphone at a reception for Premier Souvanna Phouma of Laos and reported on the latest orbiting control mechanisms so that it can be maneuvered for a linkup in space with another such craft to provide a launching pad for a further shoot to another planet or the moon.

"It was with considerable interest that we studied President Kennedy's proposals for a joint project in manned flight to the moon," the Soviet premier commented after making his announcement. "We would have nothing against Russia and America joining in such a project."

Then he grinned and added: "Still better, a Russian man and an American woman."

Khrushchev continued seriously: "If we could agree on a further easing of tensions and not just in moral but in concrete terms, such as disarmament, then this would give greater means — and international means — for the growth of science."

Last week, he indicated he was not going to get into a moon race. Rather, he said, he would await the effort of the United States to make a manned flight to the moon by 1970, and then study it.

Tass called Friday's shoot "an important step toward the further study and conquest of outer space." The vehicle was dubbed Polyot-1 which means Flight-1.

The official announcement said the Soviet space ship was equipped with propulsion devices that permit it to stabilize itself in flight and "maneuver extensively in the near-earth zones of outer space."

Cease Fire Begins In Algeria

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Algeria Saturday announced the official start of a cease-fire in its undeclared frontier war with Morocco. The announcement came shortly after the two nations traded charges of aggression.

The Algerian announcement came from the government-controlled radio. The cease-fire deadline was set for midnight Friday under the terms of the Bamako accord, but there was no immediate way of knowing if the fighting had actually stopped.

A few hours before midnight the leaders of the two countries accused each other of last-ditch acts of aggression and expressed veiled accusations of violations of the spirit of the Bamako accord.

Earlier Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella told newsmen in Algiers he gave strict orders that combat cease at midnight.

Morocco's King Hassan II said in a radio speech that his nation would uphold the "principle of the cease-fire."

Fighting first flared along the Moroccan-Algerian border Oct. 14. Only a day before the cease-fire it apparently was renewed in a battle for the frontier town of Figuig. Both the North African nations claimed the occupation of Figuig.

King Hassan claimed Algeria was the aggressor in the fight for Figuig. In a radio address he said, "This surprising act was predictable because I know that criminal hands are at work in the shadows to oppose the establishment of peace between our two countries."

When informed of the king's statement in Algiers, President Ben Bella said that if there was any action against the spirit of Bamako, it is the declaration by King Hassan.

Reserved seats are $3.25 and $2.75. General admission tickets are $2.00. Only six tickets will be sold to each person.

Towards Viet Nam—

President Commands U.S. Forces Forward

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, routed from bed at 3 a.m. Friday by first reports of fighting in Saigon, ordered U.S. military forces toward South Viet Nam to protect American lives if necessary.

The military movement was described as purely a precautionary measure while Kennedy and his top aides sized up developments in what U.S. officials called a Vietnamese uprising of "real proportions."

Kennedy called in key military, diplomatic and intelligence advisers for a 45-minute morning conference to assess the latest cables from the Vietnamese capital.

The White House said only that Kennedy received a "complete report."

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said further meetings were possible.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT said all Americans in Saigon were ordered to remain off the streets until further notice.

There are 3,563 American civilians in South Viet Nam, in addition to 16,500 U.S. military personnel in the country.

State Department press officer Richard I. Phillips said no casualties have been reported among the Americans.

Pending clarification of the situation, the United States suspended all military and economic assistance to the South Vietnamese regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

U.S. officials said the uprising appeared to have been well-planned, and to have been carried out entirely by Vietnamese. Phillips said the U.S. government "is not in any way involved in this coup attempt."

ORDERS FOR the movement of U.S. military forces went out from the Pentagon to Adm. Harry D. Felt, commander in chief in the Pacific. Felt, by coincidence, was in Saigon.

"This order has been given should it be necessary to protect American lives in South Viet Nam," said Asst. Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester.

In addition to the powerful 7th Fleet, which usually has units patrolling the South China Sea between South Viet Nam and the Philippines, Felt could call on elements of the Air Force transport fleet based in Okinawa and the Philippines.

PHILLIPS said, as far as evacuation of Americans is concerned that there always are contingency plans for taking out Americans in any situation that might expose them to danger.

Despite the abrupt turn of events in Saigon, the President kept his only previously announced appointment — acceptance of credentials from a new ambassador from Norway.

Coup Leaders Install New Government

Informants Say Diem, Brother Under Arrest

TOKYO (AP) — South Viet Nam's President Ngo Dinh Diem and his powerful brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, hoisted a white flag on the ruins of the Saigon presidential palace Saturday and surrendered to rebellious military chiefs, reports from the Vietnamese capital said.

The coup leaders immediately installed a new government.

The end of power came for South Viet Nam's autocratic ruling family after a day and night siege of the stucco presidential palace in downtown Saigon, climaxed by a 90-minute dawn attack by tanks and artillery.

Gen. Guong Van Minh, a Buddhist long at odds with the Roman Catholic Diem — led the violent coup which Americans in Saigon said took a heavy toll of Vietnamese lives.

Named as provisional prime minister was a civilian, former Vice President Nguyen Ngoc Tho, who has been leading the government's campaign to conciliate enraged Buddhists.

MUCH OF THE Ngo Dinh family's unpopularity at home and abroad has stemmed from its treatment of Vietnamese Buddhists, and this conflict had embittered relations with the United States.

Their first tentative analyses attached less attention to the conflicts with Buddhists, who claimed Diem's regime persecuted them, and with students, hundreds of whom were jailed.

The United States put pressure on Diem for reforms in order to broaden popular support for anti-Communist measures, but denied any connection with the coup.

Americans in Saigon said they believed the insurgents were fully in control of the city and airport as of 6:45 a.m. Saigon time (4:45 p.m. CST) Friday.

THEIR WAS NO definite word on Diem's whereabouts but Saigon informants said it was likely he and his brother had been in the palace all the time.

South Korea's Embassy in Saigon reported both Diem and his brother had been arrested.

Telephone reports from Saigon said rebel forces, whose numbers could not be estimated immediately, attacked the palace Friday night and fought a fierce battle with Diem's palace guards and 2,000-man special forces.

The rebels then held off for about five hours, apparently to give Diem a chance to give up, an American in Saigon said.

When Diem demurred, the informant said, the insurgents regrouped and mounted a final, all-out assault, starting with an artillery and mortar barrage against Diem's palace in downtown Saigon.

A spokesman said that while artillery and mortars were leveling the palace, fighter planes zoomed low over the city firing rockets. The rockets apparently missed the palace.

ALTHOUGH Nguyen Ngoc Tho, a Buddhist, had been named prime minister, the government actually was being run by a council of generals who led the revolt, an American spokesman said.

He did not identify the generals, but they apparently were the group of 9 to 12 general officers headed by Doung Van Minh.

Also expected to hold a top spot in the new government is Vu Van Mau, who had been on a three-month leave from his post as Diem's foreign minister and recently resigned with finality.

Mau resigned in August in anger over Government raids on Buddhist pagodas but agreed to the leave of absence instead. An ardent Buddhist, he shaved his head, left the country and was last reported at a Buddhist retreat in India.

The new prime minister was the ranking official of the Buddhist faith in the government of Diem.

The revolt against the Ngo Dinh, a leading Roman Catholic family, broke out on All Saints' Day and ended on All Souls' — both major church observances.

SUI Probable Meeting Site For Council

SUI will host the Big 10 Resident Halls President's Conference in April if the SUI Inter-Dorm Presidents Council's bid is approved by Conference officials, according to a report presented at IDPC's Wednesday meeting. Hillcrest president Doug Zahn, A3, Waverly, and Jane Cotter, A4, Corning, Burge's Maude McCroomb House president, presented the report.

IDPC voted to present the bid after hearing the Zahn and Cotter report telling the Big 10 Conference's preference for Iowa as the site for its spring meeting. Zahn and Miss Cotter represented IDPC at the Conference's meeting at Michigan University last week end.

A maximum of 19 delegates from each Big 10 school will be at the two-day conference. They will meet for general discussion and exchange of ideas.

In other action, the Council approved a $713 budget which includes funds for the newly formed Dormitory Scholarship Board committee. The Board is responsible for the coordination of dorm test files. Coordination of files would permit all dorms to have access to the same tests.

Council members also voted to invite to their meetings chairmen of the IDPC four standing committees. The four committees are the Scholarship Board, the Social Board, the Public Relations Committee, and the Radio Network Advisory Board.

Next IDPC meeting is scheduled for Nov. 12.

Sleepwalker Flies Through Window, Lands in Hospital

Bobby Joe Rorex, G, Jonesboro, Ark., is in fair condition at University Hospital, after walking through a closed second-story window in his sleep early Friday morning. Rorex suffered a broken wrist and bruises in the 15-foot fall, at 218 N. Dubuque St.

Wearing only shorts and a T-shirt, Rorex could not get back into the building because of his wrist injuries.

Neighbors who heard the commotion called police. They wrapped him in a blanket against the 20-degree weather and took him to the hospital.

Set Anamosa Riot Damage At $270,000; Probe Begins

ANAMOSA (AP) — Steps were being taken at the Iowa Men's Reformatory Friday to deal with prisoner grievances which erupted into a riot, causing more than $270,000 damage to the institution.

Members of the State Board of Control credited appointment of a two-member convict grievance committee and hasty formation of an inmate representative committee with calming the disturbance Thursday before guards or prisoners came to any physical harm.

The board members — Jim Henry, Carroll Price and Corbin Crawford — met most of the day with prison officials and inmate representatives to seek out causes of the disorders.

BENJAMIN F. BAER, state director of corrections described the situation at the reformatory Friday morning as tense but under control. He said the tension relaxed considerably after he and Warden Ray Purcell talked to the prisoners at an assembly in the auditorium in the afternoon.

"Prisoner representatives expressed concern this morning that the board might delay parole hearings because of the disturbance," he said. "We assured the men that parole hearings will be held at normal times, and told them that the sooner they get back into their usual routine the better it will be for all concerned."

More guards than usual were on duty at the institution Friday but routine slowly returned to normal during the day.

"WE DON'T expect any more disturbances," said Gov. Harold Hughes after talking with Baer and Board of Control members.

At the height of the disturbance

Three SUI Students To Attend State Day

Three members of the SUI College Chapter of the American Home Economics Association will attend State Day at Westmar College at LeMars Nov. 9.

Students who will go are: Alvina Longstreth, A2, Iowa City; Donna Schafer, A2, LaPorte City and Ann Cotter, A3, Columbus Junction.

Diane Houser and Mary Nan Harris, advisers to the SUI Chapter, will also be attending.

The theme at State Day will be "Home Economics: A Profession."

Thursday, fires were set, machinery was tipped over in prison industry shops, and at least three trucks were damaged. Fire virtually destroyed the prison tailor shop and damaged the print shop and the plants where highway signs and auto license plates are manufactured. Most of the machinery harmed was in the printing and sign shops.

The objectives of the air operation, according to Nargang, are:

• Make available to Iowa's office of the Civil Defense system an emergency airlift through coordination of private aircraft under 12,500 pounds.

• To test the effectiveness of about 23 fixed monitoring stations in Iowa which, in case of attack, could co-operate in evaluating and plotting radiation fallout patterns.

• Conduct radiological air borne surveys which could indicate the level of radiation fallout in case of attack.

• Establish a liaison with the Iowa Office of Civil Defense and the 8569th Air Force Recovery Group and maintain radio communications networks with all Civil Air Patrol units in the state of Iowa.

• Employ equipment of Iowa Wing Office not required for other defense purposes in direct support of Iowa's Civil Defense Operations in areas of evacuation, casualty control, rescue and air-ground tactical reconnaissance.

The results of the test are to be studied by an Air Force team to determine how prepared Iowa would be for bomb attack. The test started this morning at 6 and will run until sunset Sunday.

Provisional headquarters in Iowa for the operation are in Des Moines, Cedar Rapids and Sioux City.

Harvard men taking license in dorms?

By JON VAN
Editorial Page Editor

The president of the United States may be an alum, but Harvard is still having its problems. The dean there announced Thursday that serious violations of dormitory rules are bringing the school "closer and closer to outright scandal."

In a letter to the Harvard Crimson, the undergraduate daily newspaper, he said instances of immorality in men's dormitories have badly shaken up the school administration.

"Trouble has arisen because of what was once considered a pleasant privilege permitting women to visit the dormitories has come to be a license to use the college rooms for wild parties and sexual intercourse," he said.

Ge, wonder what kind of license that is he's referring to — anything like a hunting license?

A group of electrical appliances, or something called the "Toasters Club" at the University of Minnesota has a strange ritual they go through at each meeting.

The members of the club are assigned to make speeches of one minute on topics chosen at random. Then a marble is dropped into a glass jar every time the speaker says "uh" — so he will become aware of his malady. We don't know if this practice helps the speakers learn correct public speaking, but one thing is certain: It's a quick way to loose all your marbles.

The student council of Springfield College in Massachusetts, passed a motion prohibiting the sale of cigarettes on campus. The motion now goes to the student body from whom a two-thirds majority vote is required.

If it passes the smokers may have to commute down to Harvard to get a bag.

On Other Campuses

The busy signal one hears in Chapel Hill, North Carolina, is sent out from one single line. This means that if everyone calls a busy number and gets on the line the number of potential talkers on one line is unlimited.

The students at the University of North Carolina discovered this recently and began a new game of calling busy numbers and then talking in multi-member conversations all night. The telephone officials, being opposed to such frivolity, have made the busy signals much louder to discourage such practices.

Wonder if the busy signal works that way in Iowa City — it reminds us of a sort of old fashioned party line with one of the receivers in a bee hive.

Bring ropes? Only to a lynch, definitely not to football games. At least that is what the Spartan Daily says. Students at the San Jose State College in California have been taking ropes with them to the football games there and then roping off sections to save seats for their friends.

This practice has been publicly discouraged at San Jose, but no reasons are given as to why this idea is frowned upon. It is probably because they feel the first students at the stadium should get the best seats. At SUI we have a different situation. Here no student can get good seats unless he buys general admission tickets.

The Student Association president at the University of Minnesota was recently given a ticket given refreshments — coffee and doughnuts — as they vote. A good idea, but it could be improved upon; like with beer and pretzels?

The director of the current student production at Minnesota — "Lysistrata" — describes it as an "anti-war" play. Heavens, such a thing, coming out against war. Next they'll condemn the atomic tests or "defense" spending, maybe.

If you remember in last week's column, we discussed the snow fences erected at Iowa State to discourage jay walking. Well now the thing has developed into sort of a fun game between the students and the fence people.

"We can put up fence as fast as you can tear it down," George Cumming, physical plant landscape architect, warned earlier this week. He was referring to the snow fences which have been torn down three times already by members of four fraternities who are robbed of their short cuts by the fence.

Residents were asked to use only the sidewalks when going to and from campus, especially with bicycles and baby buggies. (Extra young freshmen?) "Grass can take that kind of a beating," said Cumming, "but sod can't."

He added that the physical plant grounds crew can't always replace the grass that is destroyed. "There are two ways to keep the campus in shape. One is for the students to use the little self discipline, and the other is for us to build more fences."

We hope they build more and more fences there to keep the campus in shape — when it comes to taking a beating, sod, not even grass, can even touch a lawn made completely of fences.

Creswell Hall at the University of Georgia has never had a fire drill. They don't really need one. The coeds have already had three false alarms this semester.

One of the girls said, "I thought it was a party drill. I was scared stiff!" Another commented, "I enjoyed waving at the girls especially the one with a towel wrapped around her."

With so much fun at a false alarm think of the good times they would have if a real fire broke out — after three "dry runs" the place ought to burn like an oil well.

The University of Nebraska regents have done the students a foul deed; they have raised dormitory room and board charges from $660 to $725. This is just one more instance in which SUI is a leader among universities. Our dorm costs make the others look under advanced and even a bit provincial.

A speaker at the University of California in Berkeley to his audience: "We have been in this room for about an hour, and the population of the world has increased by more than 5,000 in that time."

Maybe they should all stay out of that room.

Difficulties in advising 'the wasted sex'

SHOULD WOMEN FIGHT men tooth and nail? According to John Harlow, associate professor of general business, they should. Harlow made this statement while serving as guest speaker at the Spotlight Series on "The Wasted Sex" last Thursday.

Professor Harlow also told women they should stop going to men for advice since men are their natural enemies.

We would agree with the last statement completely, especially regarding those women who attended the Spotlight Series and heard his first bit of advice about fighting tooth and nail. Don't listen to him girls! He is just one of your natural enemies trying to make you more wasted.

By the way, is Professor Harlow married? If so does his wife follow his advice?

Rural disinterest in Shaff Plan displayed

FARMERS MAY VOTE 2-1 in favor of the Shaff Plan when the Dec. 3 election day arrives. This was the finding of a recent survey taken by Wallace Farmer magazine. These results do not surprise or shock us in the least.

It makes sense that a farmer would support the Shaff Plan since it is a form of legislative reapportionment which will allow rural interests to continue to dominate at least one house of the legislature. If the farmer believes that his interests will best be served by continuing representation based on some principle other than "one man, one vote," he should support the Shaff Plan. If he is willing to give up some of his present influence in the legislature in the interests of truly fair and equal representation, he should vote against the plan. It is this simple.

The Wallace Farmer article did contain some information which we do find a bit shocking. Of those interviewed 58 per cent said they had not heard of the plan or had no opinion regarding it. At present these farmers control the politics in this state through their representatives in the legislature. If they are so ill informed and unconcerned about one of the most basic issues in Iowa today, as the poll indicates they are, how do they determine the position to take on less important issues?

It would appear that the farmers who do not acquaint themselves with the issues may just vote according to the recommendations of The Farm Bureau and it may well be their representatives in the legislature do the same.

—Letters to the editor—

Argues against Shaff Plan letter

To the Editor:

Mr. Howard N. Sokol's contention (The Daily Iowan, 23 Oct. 1963) that the Shaff Plan is a "very good idea" because "it had the approval of... 110 of 153 legislators in two consecutive sessions of the Legislature" is absurd.

The Iowa Legislature is not representative of the people of Iowa and approved the Shaff Plan because the plan would insure control of the House and Senate by the same groups that control them now.

The Shaff Plan would give half the seats in the House to representatives of less than 25 per cent of the people of Iowa and, although the difference would be less flagrant, the people would not be guaranteed a clear majority in the Senate. As the current population movement within Iowa continues, the percentage in the House would decrease.

However, rural fears of city domination seem groundless. As State Representative Tom Riley of Cedar Rapids pointed out in a debate with Senator Shaff last week, the 20 largest cities of Iowa — which include such cities as Marion — constitute less than 40 per cent of the state's population.

Mr. Sokol also stated that to oppose the Shaff Plan is to oppose the "174-year-old tested Federal legislative branch." While it is true that the Shaff Plan is based on the Federal principle of one house on area and one on population, Iowa is not a federal state.

Counties — especially in Iowa today — cannot be compared to states in the organization of a legislature. They are administrative units of the state, created artificially, and exercising only the powers given to them by the state.

In Iowa, county lines were laid out without regard to regional differences in the 19th Century to provide county seats within a day's journey of anyone in the county. The 99 in Iowa, with some exceptions, are inefficient, wasteful and unnecessary.

As a matter of civil rights, the Shaff Plan should be defeated December 3.

Jean Madeira—

Metropolitan Star Here Next Monday

Jean Madeira, considered the "world's greatest living Carmen" for her 1955 performance at the Vienna State Opera, arrives in Iowa City today in preparation for her Monday evening concert in the Main Lounge of the Union.

Generally acknowledged the leading contralto of the Metropolitan Opera in New York and the Vienna State Opera, Miss Madeira has received equal acclaim in London's Covent Garden, Milan's La Scala, the Paris Opera, Buenos Aires' Teatro Colon, and the Bayreuth and Salzburg Festivals.

She became an overnight sensation in opera circles after her 1955 appearance at the Vienna State Opera when she took 45 curtain calls.

Miss Madeira will present a full-bodied program of music well suited to her compelling voice ranging from seventeenth century Italian songs by Giuseppe Torelli and Alessandro Scarlatti to contemporary compositions such as Martin Shaw's "Song of the Palanquin Bearers."

The "Habanera" from Bizet's "Carmen" will close the first half of the program. Miss Madeira will perform two compositions by Rachmaninoff, "Morning" and "The Coming of Spring," for the finale of her SUI concert.

Francis Madeira, husband-accompanist of Miss Madeira, will play two works of Chopin, "Prelude in F Sharp Major" and "Ballade No. 3 in A Flat Major," immediately following concert intermission.

Miss Madeira's latest recording, a full-length Carmen, was released last spring. Newspapers in the United States and Europe have acclaimed her "superb," "majestic," and "marvelous."

Her 8 p.m. concert will be the first in the SUI Concert Course for 1963-64. Tickets are available at the East Lobby Desk of the Union.

Students are presented free tickets by showing their ID cards. University staff and the public may buy general admission tickets for $1.50. Tickets will be on sale today and Monday from 9 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. and Monday evening from 7-8 before the concert.

Search Cause Of Indianapolis Blast; 62 Dead

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Across from a makeshift morgue, experts scratched among piles of broken concrete Friday night, seeking the cause of a gas explosion which killed 62.

A flaming geyser of death erupted in the Coliseum around 11 p.m. Thursday only minutes before the scheduled final curtain of a gay Halloween holiday on ice show watched by more than 4,000.

The blast spewed bodies, debris and blood-splashed mink coats onto the rink and carved a gaping cavity in the choice box seats. Hospital counts showed 385 injured.

FIRE Chief Arnold Phillips said fumes, leaking from a cooking gas cylinder in a concession center beneath the box seats, apparently ignited, unleashing the upheaval which one spectator first thought was an earthquake.

"All indications point to a tank valve knocked off," said State Fire Marshal Ira Anderson. "However, we don't have enough information to make a flat statement on that."

A spokesman for Gov. Matthew E. Welsh said officials had been unable to determine whether a permit for use of the liquid gas tanks had been obtained, as is required under state law.

DAMAGE to the 24-year-old Coliseum was estimated at a million dollars by fairgrounds officials. A structural engineer was checking the building against the threat of a collapse.

The blast shook homes a mile from the fairgrounds on Indianapolis' North Side. Flames vaulted 90 feet in the air and charred trapped bodies.

Box seats and bodies were tossed toward the ceiling "like flies," according to one survivor, and plummeted the rinkside bleachers in an avalanche of concrete slabs as big as pianos.

FIRE marshals said the liquefied petroleum gas was being used to heat popcorn poppers in the concession supply center beneath the stands.

Only seconds before the blast, 36 gaily garbed members of the Holiday on Ice skating troupe glided onto the rink in the finale of their opening night of a 10-day stand. Only three minutes remained in the show, when the volcano of death erupted.

Jack Ladue, 35, Plattsburg, N.Y., one of the show's stars, said the performance had begun 12 or 15 minutes late.

Iowa City Airway Lights Repaired Says E.K. Jones

The northwest-southeast runway lights at Iowa City Municipal Airport have been repaired and that strip is again in operation according to E. K. Jones, airport manager.

The runway had been closed at night for the last three weeks to repair electrical shorts and burned out transformers.

During the winter months, only the northwest-southeast runway will be used for night operations. The north-south and southwest-northeast runways will be closed until next spring when new lighting can be installed.

Equipment and services donated by Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. and the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Co. made the repairs possible according to Jones.

Scholar To Speak Tuesday

Bernard Ashmole, professor of Greek art and archaeology at the University of Aberdeen, Scotland, will speak in the Art Building auditorium at 8 p.m. Tuesday under the sponsorship of the Iowa Society of the Archaeological Institute of America and the SUI Graduate College.

To be illustrated with slides, the talk will deal with "Greek Votive Reliefs." Ashmole will discuss the occasions on which the reliefs were dedicated, their forms and religious aspects.

Before taking his present position, Ashmole taught at the University of London and Oxford University. A Fellow of Lincoln College, Oxford University and an Honorary Fellow of Hertford College, Oxford, he is also a Fellow of the British Academy. He was director of the British School of Archaeology at Rome from 1925-28 and was the keeper of Greek and Roman antiquities in the British Museum from 1939-1956.

Ashmole is the author of "Late Archaic and Early Classical Greek Sculpture in Sicily and Southern Italy," which has been issued in four editions. He has written a catalogue of ancient marbles, and numerous articles on Greek sculpture and painting for the Journal of Hellenic Studies.

Ashmole is the 1963-64 Norton Lecturer for the Archaeological Institute of America, which will send three speakers to SUI this year. The Iowa Society of the Institute will also sponsor other lectures.

The Tuesday evening lecture will open the 1963-64 series sponsored by the Iowa Society of the Institute and the Graduate College. Officers of the society, composed of members from Grinnell, Cedar Rapids, Davenport, Decorah, and Iowa City, are Dr. Hermann Burian, president; Professor Lillian Lawler, vice-president; and Professor Alexander Kern, secretary-treasurer. All are members of the SUI faculty.

Fraternity Averages Are Higher

Scholastic averages for fraternity men in colleges and universities throughout the nation are higher than all-men's averages, according to 58 per cent of schools reporting for the 1961-62 analysis just released by the National Interfraternity Conference.

During the reporting year, 35 institutions qualified for NIC's Summa Cum Laude rating for superior fraternity scholarship. The rating is awarded when every fraternity chapter on a campus is above the all-men's average during an academic year.

Eldridge Roark, adviser of SUI fraternities, confirmed that fraternity men here, as a group, have a higher grade point average than the all-men's average, yet SUI did not qualify for the Summa Cum Laude rating because every fraternity on campus was not above the all men's average.

Nationally the figures for the 1961-62 year show a 7 per cent increase of higher fraternity averages over the academic rating of 1951-52, ten years ago.

COLLOQUIUM—A Department of Physics and Astronomy colloquium features D. Venkatesan, assistant professor of physics and astronomy, on "Some Aspects of Time Variation Studies" Nov. 5 at 4:15 p. m. in Room 311, Physics Building.

Poet To Read Works Here Monday Night

William Stafford, winner of the 1962 National Book Award for poetry, will read from his works at SUI Monday.

The reading, under the sponsorship of the Writers Workshop, will be at 8 p.m. in the Senate Chamber of Old Capitol, and will be open to the general public.

Stafford, who earned the Ph.D. degree at SUI in 1953, was a member of the poetry section of the Writers Workshop. His poems have appeared in Atlantic Monthly, Harper's, The New Yorker, The Nation, and many other magazines, and have been included in several anthologies. His first poetry collection, "West of Your City," was published in 1960. In 1962 his second book, "Travelling Through The Dark," was winner of the National Book Award for poetry, one of the top literary awards in the U.S.

Commenting on Stafford's work, Donald Justice, poet, and professor in the Writers Workshop, said, "Stafford's poetry is the reverse of calculated spontaneity — it is spontaneous calculation, a far more interesting and rare thing. It is very likely the most direct and honest expression we have today of a man speaking to men."

Stafford's appearance here is part of a series of readings in Midwestern colleges and universities arranged by the Midwest Poetry Circuit. He will read at Iowa State University, Ames, Tuesday, and at other colleges in Iowa.

Strike Down Georgia Law; Six Released

AMERICUS, Ga. (AP) — Five integration leaders were released from jail on bond Friday under a federal court order following a decision striking down a 19th century Georgia insurrection law and an unlawful assembly statute.

The five, three white men and two Negroes, along with a 14-year-old Negro girl were freed on bail. They had been held nearly three months. Bond had been denied the girl, and four of the men who were charged with trying to incite insurrection.

TWO OTHER Negro prisoners, Artis and Marvin Brown, were released under bond of $500 each as a result of the order. They had been in jail since August, charged with resisting arrest, disorderly conduct and failing to obey officers.

In a 2-1 decision, a three-judge court issued an injunction barring prosecution of charges under the two statutes. The order itself went further and set a deadline of 6 p.m. Friday for release of all six prisoners under bond on other charges, including rioting, aiding escape, resisting arrest and assault.

Judge Elbert P. Tuttle of Atlanta, chief judge of the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals, and U.S. Dist. Judge Lewis R. Morgan of La Grange, Ga., concurred in the majority opinion and injunctive order which would have prohibited prosecution of all charges if the prisoners had not been admitted to bail.

BOND OF $2,500 were signed by John Barnum, wealthy Negro mortician, for four prisoners — John Perdue, 21, of Denver, Colo.; Donald Harris, 23, of New York; Ralph W. Allen, 22, of Melrose, Mass.; and Thomas McDaniel, 19, of Americus, all of whom still face prosecution on four charges.

Barnum also signed bonds of $500 for Zev Aelony, 25, of Minneapolis and the Negro girl, Sallie Mae Durham.

Dist. Judge J. Robert Elliott of Columbus, Ga., in a dissenting opinion said the injunction was unwarranted interference with state court procedure.

THE ORDER, issued three hours after the majority opinion, restrained officials from further prosecution of peace warrants against Harris, Perdue and Allen.

The five men walked out of the federal building shortly before 4 p.m. surrounded by youthful Negro well-wishers.

Remaining charges against them will be acted on by a grand jury later this month.

Allen said he thought all of them should have been released without having to post any bond.

Hawks Ready for Ohio Today

TONY GIACOBAZZI

WALLY HILGENBERG

Iowa's Hawkeyes, after a week of drills which Coach Jerry Burns called the best of the season, meet Ohio State, 13-0 winner over top-ranked Wisconsin last week, at Columbus today. Game time is 1:30 p.m. (CST).

THE HAWKEYES will field a new offense attack based on the ability of sophomore quarterback Gary Snook, who earned the starting position this week. Bobby Grier and Lonnie Rogers will lead the Iowa rushing attack. Both halfbacks have been able to break away for several long runs during offensive workouts this week.

Iowa's defense, led by linebackers Mike Reilly and Wally Hilgenberg, was termed "ready, willing and able" by Assistant Coach Jerry Hilgenberg after Wednesday's workout.

IVORY McDOWELL will start at left end in place of Cloyd Webb for the Hawks. The remainder of the starting lineup will remain the same as last week except for Snook replacing Riddle as starting quarterback.

WOODY HAYES' Buckeyes gave up their traditional slogan of "Three yards and a cloud of dust" on their final drive which upset Wisconsin last week. Sophomore quarterback Don Unverferth came in to conduct an 80-yard touchdown drive, a large part of which was pass plays. Unverferth is rated the best passer on the squad and a good technician in footwork, faking and ball handling.

TOM BARRINGTON, who plays both quarterback and fullback for the Buckeyes, is a fine runner with both speed and power.

MATT SNELL, who played halfback for the Bucks in 1961 and defensive end last year, has returned to play fullback and lead the Ohio State rushing attack.

In a close game, Dick Van Raaphorst, the Buckeyes' place-kicking specialist, may prove to be the greatest threat to the Hawkeyes. Van Raaphorst has kicked six field goals to date this season, a Big 10 record, and also holds the record for the longest field goal, a 49 yard kick against Illinois.

Ohio State, favored by a touchdown over the Hawkeyes, is tied with Illinois and Michigan State for the conference lead with a 2-0-1 record. The Buckeyes tied Illinois and have wins over Indiana and Wisconsin.

THE HAWKEYES have a 1-2-0 record in conference play with a win over Indiana and losses to Wisconsin and Purdue.

Harriers Close Home Season Against Minnesota Gophers

Iowa's cross-country team faces Minnesota at 11 a.m. Saturday on the south Finkbine course for the harriers' final dual meet of the season.

"This could be a close contest," stated coach F. X. Cretzmeier. "Minnesota has defeated Drake, Iowa State and South Dakota State, while their only loss has been to Wisconsin."

Earlier this season, Wisconsin handed the Hawks their first home dual meet loss in three years.

"We're a young team," continued Cretzmeier, "and we lost our first meets to two of the best teams — Wisconsin and Illinois."

GEORGE CLARKE, a junior, leads the team this season, while senior captain Larry Kramer has been plagued by a foot injury and a sinus infection. Kramer, however, may be healthy enough to rank in the Big Ten conference meet Nov. 11.

According to Cretzmeier, Clarke should secure at least a fourth place in the Big Ten meet and advance to National Collegiate competition at East Lansing on Nov. 25. Saturday's contest could give an indication of how well Iowa will do in the conference.

MANY OTHER schools opened classes earlier than Iowa, placing the Hawks about two weeks behind in practice sessions. Also, the graduation of last year's key runners — Gary Fisher and Ralph Trimble — has hurt the team. Another key harrier, Bill Frazer, was unable to compete this season because of an injured foot.

STATING Iowa's biggest difficulty, Cretzmeier said the team lacked depth. "We have about a two-minute difference between runners when the difference should be no more than a minute," he said. "But, the boys are trying their hardest."

Looking toward next season, Cretzmeier feels that Clarke, Lee Walker, and Derrick Williams will lead the team, while this year's freshmen could supply the much needed depth.

Cards Have Tough Future

Are the St. Louis Cardinals for real? Now comes the real test — two games with the New York Giants and two with Cleveland among the seven remaining for the Cards.

The first big one is Sunday at St. Louis with the Giants. The two teams are tied for second in the Eastern Conference of the National Football League, one game behind Cleveland. If the Browns should falter at Philadelphia Sunday, the winner of the Card-Giant game would go into a first-place tie.

Pittsburgh, still nursing pennant hopes in the East, 1½ games behind the Browns, enters a make-or-break period. Sunday against Green Bay at Milwaukee. The following week Buddy Parker's Steelers play Cleveland.

Big Crowds Expected for Action Today

CHICAGO (AP) — November's killing football frost starts setting in Saturday with a full round of Big Ten games and Rose Bowl hopes could wither for no fewer than three less hardy contenders.

Key contests in a program expected to attract a combined attendance of 330,000 are Purdue (2-1) at Illinois (2-0-1); Wisconsin (2-1) at Michigan State (2-0-1); and Iowa (1-2) at Ohio State (2-0-1).

It is conceivable all three unbeaten but once-tied co-leaders — Illinois, Michigan State and Ohio — could tumble. In this case, Wisconsin and Purdue would be projected into the conference lead. The Badgers are ineligible for a Rose Bowl encore.

All title signs favor Ohio State a one touchdown choice over invading Iowa before a capacity 84,000 in the Buckeyes' big bowl.

After Iowa, the Bucks meet Northwestern and Michigan rounding out a six-game conference card. However, since a conference tie counts a half-game won and half-game lost in the standings, just one slip probably would bounce Ohio State out of the Rose Bowl picture.

The same applies to Illinois and Michigan State, although the surprising Illini, ranked No. 2 in The Associated Press national poll, play seven conference games. Michigan State plays six league games.

Host Illinois is slightly favored over Purdue, whose sharp-shooting Ron DiGravio has developed into the Big Ten's most dangerous quarterback.

Wisconsin, nipped by Ohio State 13-10 for its first loss in five starts, may prove more than Michigan State can handle. MSU's Sherman Lewis almost single-handedly upset Northwestern 15-7 last Saturday.

The other Big Ten contests include Indiana (0-4) at Minnesota (1-2) and Northwestern (2-2) at Michigan (0-2-1).

ISU Pick Over OSU

AMES (AP) — Oklahoma State bids for its first football victory of the season here Saturday against an Iowa State team out to rebound from a heart-breaking setback a week ago.

Iowa State is favored in the Big Eight Conference battle, mostly because of its bruising defense and the running of Tom Vaughn.

Although the Cyclones have not been able to generate a steady offense, Vaughn ranks second in the conference in rushing and has gained 536 yards.

Iowa State leads the conference in pass defense and ranks third in rushing defense. The Cyclones muffed Missouri's usually potent attack last week but lost 7-0 when Missouri scored on an intercepted pass in the fourth quarter.

Today's Games Should Clear-up Bowl Picture

Its November and already football fans are sniffing for faint scents of roses, orange blossoms, sugar cane and cotton bolls as they head for Saturday's big college games.

IT STILL IS too early to decide who will play where on New Year's Day, but the clash between Southern California and Washington at Seattle seems sure to produce the No. 1 Big Six candidate for a Rose Bowl berth, and if mighty Texas still is undefeated after meeting Southern Methodist, the Longhorns can think positively about the Cotton Bowl.

Elsewhere a half dozen or more games can have bearings on major conference races that usually end in bowl invitations. That is, any of the top teams that is beaten likely will be eliminated.

SOUTHERN CAL, last year's national champion and Rose Bowl winner, has bounced back strongly from defeats by Oklahoma and Notre Dame and is favored over a Washington team that lost three games to teams from other sections then won three in home territory.

For the winner, no serious difficulties are anticipated the rest of the season.

TEXAS, AFTER CLOSE calls in the last two of its six straight victories, isn't overconfident as it goes against Southern Methodist in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas. SMU has lost two Southwest Conference games but has beaten such strong teams as Navy, ranked fourth nationally, and Air Force. If the Longhorns falter, there's Baylor, tied for the lead and favored to beat Texas Christian Saturday.

IN THE BIG TEN, which provides the other Rose Bowl team Illinois, Ohio State and Michigan State are tied with 2-0-1 conference records. Michigan State appears to have Saturday's toughest assignment against defending champion Wisconsin. Ohio State plays Iowa.

Missouri and Nebraska try to knock one another out of the Big Eight race and the Orange Bowl picture when they meet at Columbia, Mo. They're both 3-0 in the conference standings. Oklahoma, 2-0, should have no trouble against Colorado.

IN THE SOUTHEASTERN Conference, which traditionally supplies a team for the Sugar Bowl and usually a few other post-season attractions, Louisiana State and Mississippi meet at Baton Rouge, La., in a head-on clash between two of the leaders. A third, Auburn, tackles a fairly strong Florida team.

The Mississippi-LSU and USC-Washington games will be televised regionally, along with the big service clash at Chicago between Army and Air Force.

TEXAS, ILLINOIS, Mississippi, Navy and Auburn are ranked in that order in the AP poll, followed by Oklahoma, Alabama, Wisconsin, Ohio State and Pittsburgh.

Alabama, 4-1 in the SEC, takes on Mississippi State, 2-0-1. Pitt, trounced by Navy last week, tries a comeback against rugged Syracuse in the East's big game.

PRINCETON and Bowling Green, the only major teams besides Texas and Auburn still unbeaten and untied, defend first place in their respective leagues.

PRINCETON'S TIGERS, 3-0 in the Ivy League and 5-0 over-all, go against Brown. Bowling Green risks its Mid-American Conference-Miami of Ohio.

Riflemen Third

The SUI Air Force ROTC Rifle Team won a third place in the 12 team Inter-Iowa Rifle League Match held at Iowa State, Ames.

Larry Points, A3, Belle Plaine, was the outstanding shooter for SUI, winning four medals. Individual medals went to the best six shooters from the Prone, Kneeling and Standing positions and the top six aggregate scores. Bob White, A4, Keswick; Rex Ritz, A3, Cherokee; and Kerry Alberti teamed with Points.

Other SUI winners were Bob White, fifth place Prone Position, and Barbara Russell, A3, Ida Grove, fourth-place, Standing Position.

Berra Says He Will Run The Yanks

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP) — Yogi Berra says that as manager he's going to run the New York Yankees although he looks forward to sitting down with General Manager Ralph Houk to work things out.

"It's not gonna be like some of the writers think, that Houk is gonna run the club," the newly-named Yankee manager told a Charlotte Observer reporter. Berra is on a golfing vacation at Pinehurst.

"I'll ask him advice on certain things, of course, but he won't tell me things unless I ask him."

"In fact, it's gonna be a lot of fun, sitting down with Ralph and working things out. You see, he knows the players as well as I do, but he won't dictate to me like some general managers."

"In fact, Ralph and I will get together just as soon as I get back to New York. I'll pick my coaching staff and we'll go over the player roster."

Open Field At Aqueduct

As soon as Kelso was declared out, Saturday's rich Man O'War Stakes at Aqueduct became anybody's race in the eyes of most handicappers. That opinion was reflected when 13 were entered for the 1½-mile race on the turf course.

If all start, the fifth running of the Man O'War will have a gross value of $115,700, with $75,205 going to the winner.

Montpelier's Mongo, who will join with Kelso as the United States' entry in the Washington D.C. International at Laurel on Nov. 11, was listed at the top of a field of 10 for Saturday's $59,800 Trenton Handicap at Garden State Park.

Move To Sell NFL Eagles

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Frank McNamee, president of the Philadelphia Eagles, said Thursday he would vote to sell the club to either of two groups seeking the National Football League franchise if they receive league approval.

McNamee made known his feeling after being informed that a third group, headed by a Washington construction firm owner, was offering $5 million for the club.

George Storer, Miami, Fla., owner of a chain of radio stations, including one in Philadelphia, reportedly has offered in excess of $4,550,000, the asking price for the team. Jack Wolgin, head of Atlas Credit Corp., heading another syndicate, has bid $4,750,000.

McNamee said the Storer group, yet to be acted upon by the Eagles' stockholders, is being discussed with Commissioner Pete Rozelle to determine its acceptability to the league. If Rozelle finds it acceptable, the club stockholders will have an opportunity to vote their pleasure.

Wolgin, the Eagles' president says, has been in to see Rozelle. The commissioner told Wolgin to present the names of the people involved in the offer, and how much stock each would own, McNamee said.

Through Scholarships—

Sees Increase In Africans at SUI

W. Wallace Maner, foreign student adviser at SUI Friday predicted that the number of African students at SUI studying under the African Scholarship Program of American Universities (ASPAU) will increase. Maner returned Thursday from the third annual conference of the ASPAU held at Northwestern University.

His reasons for this increase include the fact that the total number of African students in this program has increased from 24 in 1961 to 300 in 1962.

Maner said SUI's position in this program is "quite flexible." He said the University will probably give more scholarships to African students in the future.

At present there are three African students studying at SUI under this program. They are Samuel C. Digwo, E1, Kanayo H. Ike, E4, both from Nigeria, and Fernon Francis, E3, Southern Rhodesia.

In all three cases, their transportation to and from their home country is paid for by their government. Their room and board is paid for by the U.S. Agency for International Development, and their tuition for four years of undergraduate study is provided by SUI.

Competition for these scholarships is keen. This year 263 grants were awarded from 20,000 applicants. The African students who are awarded the grants may attend any of the 200 colleges and universities in the U.S. that support the ASPAU.

They received degrees as fellows of the college. The award goes to surgeons who meet educational and ethical requirements and have advanced training as specialists in surgery.

Twelve companies, located in leading business and industrial areas of the country, will send representatives to interview SUI seniors and graduate students during the week of November 4.

FACTS ABOUT FREEDOM

OUR ORIGINAL "GI'S" IN THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR CARRIED A MINIMUM OF EQUIPMENT. HOWEVER, THE LONG RIFLES THAT THEY CARRIED BECAME DEADLY WEAPONS IN THEIR SHARP-SHOOTERS HANDS. MOST OF THEM COULD HIT A SILVER DOLLAR 9 OUT OF 10 SHOTS AT 60 YARDS!

THE INCREASING COMPLEXITY OF MODERN WARFARE SUGGESTS THAT THE G.I. OF THE FUTURE MAY LOOK LIKE THIS—WITH A BULLET-PROOF VEST, MASK, AND GLOVES FOR PROTECTION AGAINST ATOMIC BLASTS AND A LIGHT PLASTIC HELMET WITH A BUILT-IN RADIO. SPECIAL INFRARED GLASSES HELP TO SPOT THE ENEMY AT NIGHT AND ON HIS BACK IS A ROCKET DEVICE ENABLING HIM TO SOAR OVER CHASMS AND STREAMS. HIS COMPACT RIFLE SHOOTS NEW HIGH VELOCITY BULLETS.

University's Billing Procedure Outlined

University bills are out again. November's bills, mailed Thursday, are due Tuesday, Nov. 12. Bills arrived at the dormitories Thursday and students living in off-campus housing should find their bills in the mail box today.

Mayor Approves Study of Ralston Creek Problem

Iowa City Mayor Fred H. Doderer, told the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers that the city is willing to have them go ahead with a survey of the Ralston Creek flood problem. The letter was sent after corps representatives met with the city council and the council gave its informal approval to the study.

The mayor's letter, which was addressed to Col. Richard L. Hennessy, head of the Rock Island district, stated: "The results of your preliminary study of Ralston Creek have solicited a great deal of enthusiasm and support. The city council is unanimous in its hope that your work can be carried on as rapidly as possible."

The council is expected to make the action official at its next meeting.

Two Professors Will Speak Nov. 6

Dr. William K. Hamilton, professor of anesthesiology and Dr. John Eckstein, associate professor of internal medicine, will be featured speakers at the annual meeting of the American Society of Anesthesiologists, today through Wednesday at SU's Palmer House.

Both will discuss "Venous Circulation in Circulatory Homeostasis." More than 3000 top medical specialists in anesthesiology from the United States and abroad will take part in the five-day scientific session, which is one of the largest medical specialty meetings that take place in this country.

Monday Meeting

The American Pharmaceutical Student Association will meet Monday, at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the new Pharmacy Building. Guest speaker will be a representative from Alcoholics Anonymous.

If, for some reason, a student does not receive his bill, he should inquire at the Cashier's Office, Room 3, University Hall, Don T. Ross, head cashier said. Even if he has credit on his account he will receive a bill.

ROSS ALSO REMINDED students that those who change their address during the semester are responsible for notifying the Registrar's Office in person. The change will be recorded in the Cashier's Office and University bills sent to the correct address.

University bills include payment for tuition, dormitory contracts, library and parking fines, Union meals, medical, dental and pharmacy services, phone calls, insurance and the Hawkeye, among other services. They may be paid through the mail or in person, with a check or cash.

STUDENTS WHO CHOOSE to pay their bill in person may do so at the Cashier's Office before 4 p.m., Nov. 12. Those who mail their payment must have the envelope postmarked before midnight, Nov. 12.

Students with outstanding accounts after that date are delinquent and will be penalized $5 for late payment. Those with outstanding accounts may be canceled from school on notice of non-payment of accounts. However, a student may be reinstated. Details of this procedure are described on the reverse side of the bill.

Ross cautioned that students mailing their bills close to deadline should take them to the Iowa City Post Office building. A box outside the door of the Cashier's Office, is also provided for last-minute payment. It is open until 10 p.m.

Halloween Prize Winners

Six-year-old Marvin Wade waits his turn at the candy bar being shared by his brother, Mark, three, and his sister Angie, five, as their father Marvin, senior, supervises the job. The Wade children partially out of costume here, were among the first prize winners in the Halloween parade. They dressed as Alice in Wonderland characters.

Baker Case Now Headed By Jordan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman B. Everett Jordan of the Senate Rules Committee said Friday he's taking charge of the Robert G. Baker investigation and sees no present need for help from outside attorneys.

Baker, 35, who rose swiftly from page boy to secretary of the Senate majority, resigned under fire on Oct. 7. The Rules Committee, headed by the North Carolina Democrat, is charged with determining whether Baker's complex business operations involved improper use of influence.

The committee met Friday and voted to hire two outside investigators and to ask the Senate for $50,000 to finance its study of the complex affairs of Baker. The Senate later approved it.

The nine-member committee is known to be split, not along straight party lines, over the question of whether outside counsel should be employed. A showdown vote was put off until the group's next session on Wednesday.

Those favoring outside lawyers argue that since the committee is, in effect, investigating the Senate it should attest its impartiality by hiring outsiders to direct the inquiry.

Jordan told newsmen after Friday's session the Senate resolution authorizing the hearings "obligates the Rules Committee to make this investigation and we're not going to contract it out." Later, in a television interview, Jordan said "Right now I see no need for additional attorneys."

The rainy weather Thursday night did not keep 292 children from taking part in the annual Halloween parade.

Of those participating, 92 children received recognition for ingenuity of costume design. Local merchants donated prizes for the competition, which was sponsored by the Iowa City recreation department.

4 City Councilmen Will Be Elected

Four city councilmen and a park commissioner will be chosen in the municipal election to be held Tuesday.

Candidates for the council positions are Eric E. Bergsten, 212 W. Park Rd.; Richard W. Burger, 1500 Washington St.; Richard D. Eckhardt, 1675 Ridge Rd.; William C. Hubbard, 300 Kimball Rd.; James H. Nesmith, 256 Magowan Ave.; and John B. Wilson, 501 Kimball Rd.

Ecumenical Council May Hit Russia

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council appeared Friday to be under increasing pressure to take a stand against totalitarianism, and by implication, Communism.

The worldwide assembly of Roman Catholic patriarchs, cardinals, archbishops and bishops is not expected to come up with a decree denouncing Communism by name. But there are growing signs that it will denounce persecution some Roman Catholics must endure and the excesses of totalitarianism in the modern world.

At one point just after the council opened a year ago there were reports it would not go into temporal political matters.

Vatican relations with the Communist world were evolving. Prelates from Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and other European Communist nations unexpectedly showed up at the council — the first contact between them and the Vatican in years.

Student Casts Movie Star In Local Film

By STEVE MAXWELL Staff Writer

Though it will be the first dramatic movie he has ever produced, SU-Iowan Tom Ackerman, A3, Cedar Rapids, was able to attract a famous singer and actress to appear in the production, now being filmed in Iowa City.

However, Ackerman admits, the casting of Lotte Lenya, star of the original "Threepenny Opera" in Berlin, the off-Broadway version, and other theatrical triumphs, happened quite by accident.

Saturday morning, Oct. 26, director-producer Ackerman was shooting some sequences near the Whetstone Drug Co. when Miss Lenya walked by. Members of the cast recognized the 58-year-old star and stopped her. Ackerman had only hoped to get her to autograph his script "as a charm," he said.

THE "CHARM" apparently had immediate effects; after signing her name, Miss Lenya also consented to participate in a short bit under Ackerman's direction.

"I quickly devised a sequence," Ackerman said, "and now I have about 20 feet of her." Twenty feet of 16 mm film runs less than a minute, but, in a ten minute movie such as Ackerman's, that amount of footage achieves a proportioned prominence and he intends to make it meaningful.

Has he, then, cheapened his original ideas for the film? He has tried to remain true to his original script, a narrative drama, tentatively titled "Of Eagles and Oysters," in the form of social satire. Ackerman had already spent nearly 25 hours on the movie before last Saturday's shooting.

Of course, he is entertaining new ideas for the rest of his film. When finished, it will have taken 80 hours of his time, he estimated.

MISS LENYA, who has lived in New York since the death of her first husband, Kurt Weill, composer of "Threepenny Opera," had stayed Friday night in Iowa City and was scheduled to leave Saturday for Grinnell.

She recently appeared in the movie, "The Roman Spring of Mrs. Stone" and has just finished another movie, based on an Ian Fleming novel.

There is one matter, however, blocking Ackerman's way to certain recognition — Lotte Lenya's contract with Columbia Records. Nonetheless, Ackerman said he feels the company will grant him permission to show his movie anyway.

SUIowans will get a chance to see Ackerman's film in January, if department heads can arrange a student film showing. It would be presented along with the works of four other students, to fill requirements of the course, Cinema Production 36.156, in the Television-Radio-Film sequence of the Department of Speech and Dramatic Art.

ACKERMAN has been shooting film, some shown publicly, since the age of 14. Two summers ago, he worked for NBC in New York and, last summer, helped with filming of the Apollo moon project for Collins Radio. Ackerman expects to receive a degree by June 1965.

Next year, he hopes to spend two semesters on another dramatic film and, perhaps, a documentary. He also hopes to enter one of the several film contests open to students.
