

SUI's Young Democrat State Charter Is Revoked

By GARY SPURGEON
Managing Editor

The charter of the SUI Young Democrats has been revoked by the Executive Council of the Young Democratic Clubs of Iowa.

Immediately after the revocation, Sunday in Des Moines the state council granted a new charter to another group headed by Dennis Gray, A3, Mapleton. This is the group formed by Fred Strawn, A1, Garrison, former first vice president of the original club.

John Niemeyer, L3, Elkader, president of the deposed group, said his club would continue its regular meetings and programs. He said that the SUI club had not received any tangible benefits from the state organization in the past and that he did not feel that his group would have any difficulty without state sanction.

The charges against the SUI club were aired in a 2½ page report signed by Loren Mitchell, executive secretary of the state organization.

The charges stated that the SUI Young Democrats:

- Did not use official membership cards.
- Did not pay chapter dues on time.

• Failed to send notice of the election of new officers to the state organization before the constitutional deadline.

• Violated the spirit of the constitution by appointing chairmen to non-existing committees just to gain added support of the Executive Committee.

• Had tenuous affiliation with the state and national organizations because of lack of cooperation and the violation of constitution.

• Had only one faculty adviser instead of a board of faculty advisers and the faculty adviser rarely attended Executive Council meetings.

• Did not follow the constitutional requirement for removal of officers. This was an obvious reference to the removal of Strawn.

"I was very reluctant to advocate outside interference with the internal workings of the SUI YD'S," Mitchell wrote.

"Thus when the first hints of the irregularities and dissatisfactions came to my attention, the State President, State Treasurer and myself traveled to Iowa City and discussed the matter at some length with Professor John Schmidhauser (faculty adviser of SUI's Young Democrats).

"We were assured that any irregularities would be investigated forthwith, and that the club would cooperate with the state organization," Mitchell continued. "There was, however, little change, and this (led) toward less, rather than more, cooperation."

Mitchell said he and the treasurer came to Iowa City to talk to Schmidhauser and several other Democratic officials on various occasions, but to no avail.

"At this point of frustration, the State President decided to call a special meeting of the State Executive Committee to discuss the situation," he wrote. "The matter is, of course, one which should have, and could have been settled most effectively at the local level, but the state organization is not obliged to sit idly by and watch these abuses continue if the people responsible for correcting them at the local level refuse to act."

The motion to revoke the charter passed 14 in favor, 2 against and 1 abstention. The vote to give the charter to the new group passed 14 in favor, 0 against and 3 abstained.

Strawn told The Daily Iowan that the matter was legally finished. He said that there was no further official action that could be taken by Niemeyer.

Niemeyer's group cannot use the name of Young Democrats because the YD'S is an incorporated organization and the name is protected by law, Dave Lustbader, state YD treasurer, said.

However, Niemeyer indicated that there was no restrictions against using the name Young Democrats. "It's possible to protect the name of corporation when a new corporation wants to register the same name, but this does not apply to non-profit corporations like the Young Democrats," he said.

According to Strawn, 35 persons have signed applications to join the new group. "Many more have indicated they will join," he said.

But Niemeyer predicted his group would lose very few of its members. He said things keeping members from deserting his group were that the action of the state committee pretty well discredited it and that his club would continue to run much superior programs.

A possible road block facing the new organization is getting recognized as a student organization. The Code of Student Life states that a new organization "will serve an area of student activities not served by an existing organization or organization." Presumably, Niemeyer's group would be the existing organization in this area.

Niemeyer, however, has not given up the battle with the state organization. "I intend to take our case to the clubs in the state and also to the state convention.

'The Tank' Gets Positioned—
... New Atom Smasher Installed Monday

Accelerator Tank Hoisted Up To Tower

Four Cranes, Two Rigs Needed To Lift Machine

By HAROLD YAHNKE
Staff Writer

An 18-ton tank, designed to have a part in the precise business of "atom smashing" at SUI was hoisted into the tower of the ion accelerator building Monday afternoon.

Three cranes — two truck-mounted rigs and a stationary electric crane mounted inside the 8-story tower — were needed to set the gigantic tank into position.

Richard R. Carlson, associate professor of physics, said the tank was originally scheduled to be installed about a month ago. The installation had to be delayed, however, until electricians finished wiring the crane inside the tower.

The decision to wait until the internal crane was ready to use, Prof. Carlson said, was made to insure better control of the unwieldy tank when it was hoisted into the tower.

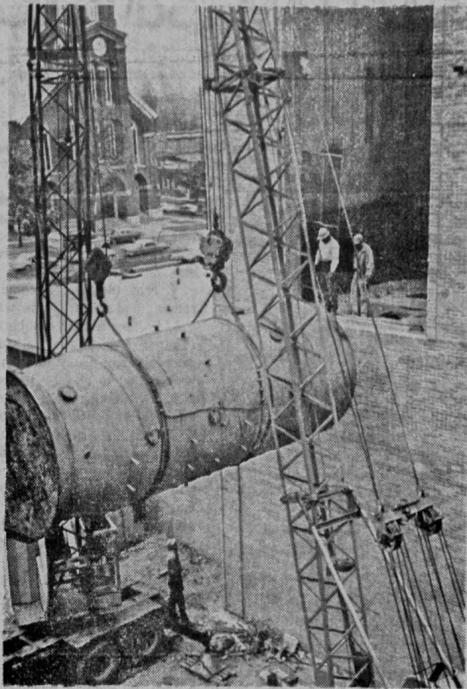

The truck-mounted cranes lifted the tank in a horizontal position and eased it into the opening on the west side of the tower. At this point the internal crane went into action to raise the tank into upright position. The installation was completed, without trouble.

It now rests on a shelf high in the tower. Prof. Carlson said that soon after the opening in the tower is "bricked in" assembly of the 5.5 million volt Van de Graaff particle accelerator can begin.

AFTER THE "atom smasher" has been assembled, the crane at the top of the tower will lower the tank into position over the instrument, Carlson said. He added that the tank will maintain a gas essential to the operation of the "atom smasher" under pressure of 200 pounds per square inch.

In the future, Prof. Carlson said, the crane mounted in the top of the tower will be used to remove the 18-ton tank to allow repairs and adjustments to be made on the accelerator.

High Dorm Cost Explained

Three elements combine to make SUI dormitory costs relatively higher than those of other state-supported universities, according to Ted Rehder, Director of Dormitories and Dining Service.

Speaking as a panel member Monday evening at the Student Senate discussion of student and housing costs, Director Rehder listed these elements as:

• Current, self-liquidating building loans totaling approximately $12 million.

• Relatively high wage rates in Iowa City.

• Cost of dormitory furnishings and services, such as laundry of linens and draperies.

• Present financing of dormitory construction at SUI is the largest single factor in the differences in costs and student payments between SUI and Iowa State University, Rehder said.

He listed similar obligations at Ames as only between $3 and $4 million. Students at SUI pay $80 a year for a double room and board, while students at Iowa State pay $60 a year.

Secretary, explained that since 1941 resident student fees (tuition) have increased 123% and yet the University of Iowa still has the lowest rate among the state-supported schools in the Big Ten (excluding Northwestern University). Ohio State has the highest tuition costs.

Robert H. Johnson, who left his post at SUI in June 1960, cabled his wife in Iowa City telling her he was not injured. Mrs. Johnson resides at 516 Holt St.

The apartment house in which Johnson lived was only four blocks away from the Presidential palace of deposed Ngo Dinh Diem. There was no indication that Johnson, director of the Ford Foundation in Saigon, was in the house when it was bombed.

Johnson, a faculty member in the College of Business Administration from 1948 to 1960, originally went to Saigon to become a technical assistant to the national budget director for South Viet Nam.

In June 1962, Johnson resigned from SUI and accepted the position with the Ford Foundation. From 1957-59 he served as administrative assistant to former Gov. Herschel Loveless.

Mrs. Johnson, who had been in South Viet Nam with her husband, returned to Iowa City in September.

Russ Block Army Trucks On Autobahn

BERLIN (AP) — A U.S. Army convoy tried to break through a Soviet blockade on the highway lifeline to West Berlin early today but was boxed in by at least six Russian armored personnel carriers.

The incident caused grave concern in Washington as the night wore on and the Soviets continued to block passage to the 12-vehicle convoy at the Mrienborn checkpoint on the western end of the 110-mile autobahn linking Berlin to West Germany.

It appeared to have the makings of a new serious Soviet-American confrontation on the Berlin issue.

THE 44-MAN convoy first was stopped at Marienborn at 8:01 a.m. Monday. The Soviet officer in command that 15 passengers in three of the trucks dismount and be counted.

The convoy commander, Lt. John Lamb of North Augusta, S.C., refused.

The day passed without change. Then, around midnight, the convoy suddenly moved forward, driving ahead about a quarter of a mile before the Russians sent their blocking vehicles across the road.

A U.S. Army spokesman said the blocking of the convoy was a "flagrant violation of the Western Allies' unrestricted right of access to Berlin, for which actions the Soviets must bear the full responsibility for any consequences."

The attempted breakthrough was preceded by a series of diplomatic and military moves. U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk met with Georgi M. Kornienko, the Soviet charge of affairs in Washington, and demanded the convoy be released.

AT ABOUT the same time, a maneuver of the U.S. Army Berlin garrison scheduled to start today was postponed for 24 hours because of the crisis.

Although the Army insisted that Berlin troops were not on alert, the maneuver postponement obviously meant that troops were placed in a higher state of preparedness.

Commanders presumably felt it was wiser to keep troops in the barracks in readiness for potential serious trouble rather than spreading them out over the maneuver area. Several small British and French units were to have participated.

Besides the armored personnel carriers, the Soviets commandeered at least three civilian sedans and used them in the roadblock.

The troops aboard the besieged convoy belong to the 2nd Battalion, 6th Infantry. They were returning to their Berlin unit from training in West Germany.

Former SUI Prof Safe in Saigon

A former SUI professor of economics was reported safe Monday night in Saigon, South Viet Nam although the apartment house in which he lived was completely destroyed in Friday's bloody coup.

USIA Man Explains Struggle

"The Buddhist religion was the only organized outlet available to the Vietnamese people to publicize their dissatisfaction with the Diem regime," Dr. Daniel Moore, deputy director of the Far East for the United States Information Agency (USIA), said here Monday.

According to Dr. Moore, the Vietnamese government was in control of all other organizations that might have served the same purpose. The Vietnamese had more complaints than merely the restrictions that were put on the Buddhist religious activity, but this was the only large organization that the people still had enough control in to make their voices heard.

Dr. Moore, here to interest college graduates in careers with the USIA, was in Saigon last June. He has served in the Far East since World War II, when he learned the Siamese language (Thai) in preparation for an army assignment.

Knowledge of the language led to his career with the USIA soon after the war.

Emotions and hope in South Vietnam

THE VIETNAM crisis has been confused and partly caused by the emotional crises which preceded the downfall of the Diem Regime last week. Madame Nhu was making emotional appeals in a tour of the United States when her government fell. She herself was subject to emotional attacks — including protestant suicides of Buddhist monks — which may have been the central reason for the military coup.

The emotionalism extended to breaks in family ties, with the split between Madame Nhu and her father typifying the Catholic-Buddhist split in the country as a whole.

The new Government in South Vietnam will also be a shaky, emotional venture. It will be challenged — as was the Diem Regime — not only by the Communists, but also by dissenting factions within the country. Persecution of Catholics by a Buddhist majority Government would be a possible reaction to the reverse situation under the Diem Regime. And although that persecution might have the support of the majority of the country's largely Buddhist population, it would be as dangerous to South Vietnam's ability to fight communism as was the situation under Diem.

Despite the apparent assassination of President Ngo Dinh Diem and Madame Nhu's husband, Ngo Dinh Nhu, the new government seems to be attempting a return to reason.

If the new Government is truly anti-communist, and if it can provide decent representation of Buddhist and non-Buddhist factions in the country, it will be a plus-mark for the West's fight against communism.

It will also remind the people of an older and more comfortable revolutionary nation that their own Government was based on the belief that no government, communist or anti-communist, should be rammed down the throats of its people.

Spring Festival idea frozen after election?

DRAGGING UP forgotten campaign promises and writing about the weather are two favorite editorial writing gambits. In the midst of Iowa City's current cold weather, the latter seems a natural subject for an editorial. And looking forward to the kind of weather we want back (spring type), we recall a student body presidential campaign based partly on the same season.

A Spring Festival was on every candidate's lips during campus elections early last year. The idea seems to have faded, however, with the changes in weather and the apathy which always follows elections.

The idea of a Spring Festival is not, we understand, dead — although it may be lying dormant. Lee Theisen, Student Senate commissioner of university affairs, is still working on the idea. If it can gain administration and student support, a Festival may materialize — a year from now, if not next spring.

We don't know how complete the plans for a Festival are. We hope they have evolved beyond the ferris wheel-on-the-Pentacrest stage. If a Festival ever comes off, it will have to be something more than a carnival.

The chances for a successful Spring Festival are good — if it can help show off SUI as a university and not as a haven for party-hungry ex-high schoolers. Whatever the plans for the Festival, the students should be aware of them. Many of them support the idea — at least tentatively — as we do.

But we'd all like to hear more on the subject — before a cold winter and another election freeze the idea.

Halloween perverted by Communist front

By ART BUCHWALD
WASHINGTON — We're happy to report that no matter how near this country leans toward subversion, there are many private citizens ready to protect us from the infidel. And they even work on Halloween.

Last Thursday evening we were visiting our good friend, Joe Sluggard, and lamenting how Halloween had changed since we were boys, when the phone rang and the lady on the other end demanded to speak to Joe.

"Do you know," she said, "that your son has been collecting money tonight for a Communist front organization?"

Joe's son is nine years old. He was last seen leaving the house as a tramp with a black mark on his face and a UNICEF box clutched in his hand.

"What is he doing?" Joe asked.
"HE'S COLLECTING MONEY for the United Nations International Children's Fund," she said.

"Do you realize the money he collects goes to feed Communist children?"

"Oh, the shame of it," cried Joe. "My own flesh and blood. I warned him. I said, 'Look kid, go out and break windows, throw garbage on people's lawns, dump paint on their front porches, but whatever you do, don't get in trouble. What should I do?'"

The lady said, "It's going on all over the neighborhood. I've had 10 children come to my house tonight with UNICEF cartons and it's disgraceful. Do you know UNICEF is part of the United Nations?"

"You mean the same organization that Adlai Stevenson belongs to?" Joe said in a horrified voice.

"YES," THE LADY REPLIED. "And your child is asking the American people to give money to feed children all over the world, no matter if they're on our side or not."

"I don't know what to say. He did it on his own."

The schools gave him the cartons. I told him to let air out of people's tires, ring false fire alarms, steal signs off people's lawns, but believe me, lady, I didn't realize he'd go that far."

"Well, you should have found out," she said. "The Communists are perverting all our holidays and now they're getting American children to work for them on Halloween. Do you realize that your child is strengthening the UN and by collecting money for UNICEF he is helping to build a socialist world?"

"He's been like that all his life. There's nothing we can do with him. A few months ago he asked me for a dollar for the Red Cross. I should have smelled a rat then. I have two kids. The other one is real American boy. On Halloween he goes out and puts soap on store windows, and throws firecrackers in people's garages, and knocks out street lamps. We're real proud of him. But this other kid has always been a lefty. My wife and I don't know where we went wrong."

"YOU MUST TAKE THE responsibility," she said.

There's fun to be had in "Love Fables"

Fellini has been quoted as saying "8½" "cleared the air for him" and that he "felt much better after having made it." Well, that's real neat F. F. but I don't care 2 scudi about your family problems . . . quit kiddin' around and make a film you can handle, like in the good old days.

THREE FABLES OF LOVE at the Iowa through Tuesday. There's fun to be had with these three short films and sex and cuckoldry. The first one, called "The Tortoise and the Hare" is a new fable about a slow wife and a rapid mistress. They chase around, no holds barred, after poor Rossano Brazzi, who is still in the movies.

It's a boon to see Monica Vitti (the wife) out from under the spell of Antonioni, the great stone mason. She can move and talk like the rest of us and proves quite a capable comedienne. She was always a lovely thing to watch, the only woman with a nose like a pure-bred collie. I hope she is able to do more work away from the influence of Antonioni. All I can remember about the mistress is that she wears the new Dior neckline with the lapels down to the belt buckle . . . at least, most of the time she wears them.

The second film, "The Fox and the Crow" pits a good French comedian against the Danish-doll Anna Karina (Mrs. Jean-Luc Goddard). Mr. Crow locks his desirable wife — the only woman in town — in his high-walled mansion. The local Simca dealer is the fox who flatters till the grape falls. The fun of the film is the panicky protective husband; we don't get to see much of the wife as she doesn't wear Dior gowns.

THE THIRD FILM was made by Rene Clair, and therefore the best of the lot. It features Leslie Caron, who is still in the movies, and the millionaire chancier actor and superb comedian, and, woman-smasher, Charles Aznavour (Shoot the Piano Player). This film has the best story and the old maestro's film technique is so slick you don't notice it. Leslie, the high-fashion model, is trying to get her assignation on the shore but her door lock is jammed.

In desperation she rushes to the balcony and cries for help. "Help" is Charles Aznavour trying to start a balky Fiat. Leslie cries, "Please come up, I'm all alone here!" Charles studies a moment and then allows as how if he'd had more warning . . . but as it is he's all packed to go hunting. That wasn't what Leslie meant at all. But Charles will help anybody, he opens Leslie's door from the outside, and — just to check — re-locks it from the inside. For three days and three nights Charles stays in the apartment of Leslie, high-fashion model, timidly working on the lock in between hair-brained plans of rescue. Leslie becomes a seductress but Charles remains Charles. It's a delightful little film.

BIG WEEK AHEAD OF US: Tues. thru Thur. at the Iowa Theatre, "Secrets of Women" and "Torment" both by Ingmar Bergman. The first is one of Bergman's few comedies . . . Gunnar Bjornstrand, Eva Dahlbeck, Maj-Britt Nilsson involved, as four women discuss how they became involved with their clod-husbands. Woman is still the evil trap; and Man the doll won't realize it, but it's all for laughs this time. "Torment" is the twisted piece of acute observation that started Bergman in film. His first effort examines the effect of a cruel schoolmaster on a young student.

Friday, Nov. 8, "Of Mice and Men" is presented by the Art Guild at Macbride Auditorium, at 8 p.m. John Steinbeck's classic on the effects of the Great Depression on itinerant laborers in California is brought to the screen by Lewis Milestone with Burgess Meredith, Betty Field, and Lon Chaney Jr.

Sunday Nov. 10 "Sawdust & Tinsel" at Shambaugh Auditorium 7:30 p.m. Without question one of Ingmar Bergman's most powerful films. The Swedish magician is most comfortable in the lowly circus with clowns, frauds, cowards, and a delicious woman.

Says SUI shelter plan aids irrational, pernicious policy

To the Editor:
This fall the Schedule of Courses introduces the student to an "Emergency Fallout Shelter Plan." The administration has organized this service without fanfare or, to my knowledge, any public discussion whatsoever. The buildings identified as shelters would provide a certain protection for the present number of students, given the following assumptions:

1. That the danger came from fallout rather than blast, germ warfare, poison gas, firebombs or a combination of these. (The more effective a national shelter program the less likely that an attack would be confined to nuclear weapons).
2. That certain power systems and other facilities were not knocked out.
3. That the bombs did not continue to fall after a fairly short period — two weeks perhaps — and that general destruction was not so widespread as to make the care and supplying of the post-strike population impossible.
4. That a highly unlikely public order and rationality prevailed.

THAT IS, if students and their families moved in a disciplined manner from the buildings in which they happened to be to their designated shelters; if the trucks which are to carry supplies to the shelters could move through the traffic created by the alert, if townspeople, faculty and staff did not overcrowd the shelters (planned to house students only); if people from neighboring communities did not flow into Iowa City in such numbers as to overwhelm University and community facilities — then, one might hopefully assume that some lives otherwise lost to fallout might be preserved for a limited time.

With a little imagination one can conceive of many potential qualifications of this optimistic assessment. For example, a reasonable distribution of students among the shelters can be organized on the basis of student numbers but there is no certainty that the distribution of the families of married students would not overcrowd some shelters and leave excess space in others.

It seems to me, however, that the major objections should be leveled at the decision to undertake a shelter program. The soundest defense for such a program has been that it might alter all, save lives. But the decision for particular shelters cannot be separated from its general consequences.

ON THE OTHER HAND the shelter program is often presented as if it made nuclear warfare more feasible or reinforced our deterrent. This is a fraud whose object is the American people. On the other hand, if shelters actually did come to strengthen our military posture, or if some Soviet Herman Kahn convinced his masters of the military relevance of our existing shoddy facilities we would have introduced a new component into the arms spiral. At a time when we are trying with some success to curtail the arms race it seems illogical to play with new ways to intensify it.

It will be argued, of course, that SUI's program has nothing to do with all of this, but is merely an attempt to protect the students against a horrible but possible contingency. But the University program already puts pressure on the Iowa City community to organize shelters on a large scale. Indeed, if this is not done, the University program is pointless. And if the city were to invest the considerable resources necessary for a really effective program it would face the problem of the large out-dated population for which Iowa City, with its medical and shelter facilities, would be a magnet. In our own small way we have contributed to an irrational and pernicious policy (recently repudiated by the House Appropriations Committee) without public consideration of the issues or the consequences.

Federico Fellini made five good feature films in the popular Italian Neo-Realist tradition, then he decided to solve everybody's problems once and for all and we suffered through the debacle of the decade, La Dolce Vita.

Now he's done it again and we have "8½," runner-up for that position. I don't really consider it a motion picture — it's what Fellini did after 7½ and before his next film. This 2½ hour hiatus is filled up with The Fellini Family and "fun" poked at superior film directors — all this in a Dantean framework.

University Bulletin Board

University Bulletin Board notices must be received at The Daily Iowan office, Room 201 Communications Center, by noon of the day before publication. They must be typed and signed by an adviser or officer of the organization being publicized. Purely social functions are not eligible for this section.

IOWA STUDENT-EXECUTIVE seminar will be held Thursday, Nov. 7 at 3:30 p.m. in the River Room of the Union sponsored by Beta Gamma Sigma, National Scholastic Honor Society in Business.

U.C.C.F. will meet on Sunday, November 3, at the Presbyterian Church at 5 p.m. for informal supper and worship service. Tickets to "Sawdust and Tinsel" will be handed out. The program will be a discussion of the work of the Social Service group, such as the visitations to the County Home. Bring a guest. (11-2)

VETERANS: Each student under PL550 or PL634 must sign a form to cover his attendance during the month of October. The form will be available in B-6, University Hall on November 1. Hours are 8:30 to 12 noon and 1:00-4:30.

U.S.I.A. REPRESENTATIVE Dr. Daniel Moore will hold group sessions on Friday afternoon and Monday mornings, November 1 and 4, to explain the United States Information Agency. Interested students may sign up for a group session in the Business and Industrial Placement Office, 102 Old Dental Building. They may also read pertinent information available in the office and on the bulletin board in Old Dental hall.

SPEEDED READING CLASSES are scheduled to begin Monday, November 4, in 38 OAT to assure a seat in the section of their choice. For further information call the Reading Laboratory, X2069.

U.C.C.F. meets for informal supper and worship on Sunday at 5:00 p.m. in the Disciples Student Center. Program will be discussion of possible help to non-secularized colleges. All interested are invited.

FOLK DANCE CLUB meets every Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Women's Gym. Everyone welcome.

STUDENTS who are to receive an undergraduate or professional degree in February, June or August, 1964, and did not pick up an IBM card at Fieldhouse during registration, may still sign up for a free 1964 Hawkeye at the Registrar's Office. The deadline for signing up is November 15th.

FAMILY NITES at the Fieldhouse for the first semester will be held from 7:15 p.m. to 9:15 p.m. Oct. 23, Nov. 13, Dec. 11 and Jan. 8 and 22. Students, staff and faculty are invited to bring their spouses and families on these dates for recreational swimming and family-type sport activities. Children may come only with their own parents and must leave with them. (Admission by student or staff ID card.)

Story-time in a Finkbine Barracks

Mrs. Gary Wittlich, 414 Finkbine Park, reads a story to her children, Kristi, 9 months, and Kent, 2. The Wittlich family lives in one of the many barracks dotting the SUJ campus. They rented their two-bedroom home from the University unfurnished except for the kitchen stove. A musical couple, Barbara Wittlich has taught music at Upper Iowa University and Gary is working toward a Ph.D. in the same subject.

Barracks Cited as 'Best Bet'

The most important thing for a student wife to do is to identify herself with her situation and accept it," says Mrs. Barbara Wittlich, 414 Finkbine Park.

Mrs. Wittlich, her husband Gary, and their two children, Kent, 2 and Kristi, 9 months, are barracks residents in Iowa City. Wittlich is a graduate student working on a Ph.D. in music.

Barracks life is the Wittlich's answer to living in Iowa City. "It is economical," Barb Wittlich comments, "and it's certainly the most practical. We have lived in apartments and a trailer, but this is the best we've found."

Living in the largest type of barracks, they have two bedrooms, a kitchen and a living room. "We hardly have all the space we need, but there's more than in a trailer, especially for the children."

The Wittlichs decided to rent their barracks unfurnished. The kitchen is equipped with a stove,

The family's furniture is "different," said Mrs. Wittlich and, "similar to Danish Modern, which we like but can't afford."

"Decorating is rather difficult," she comments. "There is little space, and permission must be asked for even the smallest improvements." So far, the Wittlichs have had little time to devote to interior decoration.

"Space is a problem," although she mentioned the rooms are "arranged well." The closets have no doors. Their apartment had one set of shelves and the Wittlichs have added another, along with a cupboard for kitchen utensils.

We are lucky, however, to have a very large built-in double sink," added Mrs. Wittlich.

To rent a barracks, one must write to the University Housing Office and ask to be put on the waiting list. When notified that there is an opening, a contract is signed with the university. The rent on these apartments is $62.50 per month, which includes utilities.

When asked how she likes living in an all-student neighborhood, Barb Wittlich says, "In many ways it's very convenient. At least you don't have the problem of keeping up with the Joneses, because every one is in approximately the same position economically."

Kent and Kristi Wittlich like their life, too, according to their mother. "They do miss 'Daddy' when he's at school, but there are lots of children in the neighborhood and a yard where they can play."

"We've planned this time for years," Barb Wittlich says, "and we're so busy all of the time that there is no time to wish for something different."

The couple has been married almost six years. Both are from southern Illinois originally and attended Southern Illinois University. Until June of this year, Mr. Wittlich taught music at Upper Iowa University at Fayette.

Furniture Care Tips

With summer on the wane, now is the time to catch up on the latest information on furniture care to guide you in getting your home in tip-top shape for fall. Furniture actually strikes the keynote of a home. If the furniture is dusty or marred, the whole place takes on a dreary and uninviting appearance. When the wood surfaces gleam with polish and good care, the entire place shines in reflected glory.

Hot dry air is bad for wood, causing it to dry and crack, while excessive humidity makes it swell. Try to keep pieces of furniture away from open windows and sources of artificial heat.

Protect table surfaces from carelessness and accidents. Use coasters for beverages, pads under hot dishes and large enough ashtrays placed in all strategic locations.

Pen Women Start Branch In Iowa City

Members of the National League of American Pen Women and prospective members in southeastern Iowa met Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. W. Keyser, 120 Fairchild Street, to organize an Iowa City branch of the league.

Mrs. Emily Anderson, Mt. Pleasant, state president, was in charge of the meeting.

The National League was founded in 1897 for the mutual benefit of its members engaged in creative work with "pen, pencil and brush."

Officers elected to serve the proposed Iowa City branch are: Mrs. C. W. Keyser, president; Mrs. Warren J. Buchan, vice president; Mrs. Harold R. Piercy, recording secretary; Mrs. W. R. Irwin, treasurer, all of Iowa City and Mrs. Prior Fenn, Washington, corresponding secretary.

Women attended from Columbus Junction, Burlington, Mt. Pleasant, West Chester, Washington and Iowa City.

Theta Sigma Phi Pledges Ten, Initiates Two

Members of Theta Sigma Phi, professional journalism sorority, pledged ten women into membership and initiated two at a tea, Sunday, Nov. 3, at 3 p.m., at the home of Mrs. "Dottie" Ray, 305 Garfield Ave.

New pledges include Susanne Steff, A4; Marilee Teegen, A3 and Carla Schumann, A3, all from Davenport; Joyce Nowlin, A4, Dubuque; Sally Johnson, A4, Omaha, Neb.; Linda Winberg, A3, Des Moines; Susan Artz, A3, Jackson, Miss.; Shelley Peterson, A3, Kansas City, Kan.; Denise O'Brien, A3, Jefferson and Paula Kaplan, A3, Sioux City.

New initiates are Nancy Bergsten, A4, Moline, Ill., and Jean Musgrove, A4, Des Moines.

Others attending the tea were members of the Iowa City Alumnae Chapter of Theta Sigma Phi and journalism faculty members and their wives.

Phyllis Hall, A4, Perry, is president of the group. Theta Sigma Phi alumna adviser is Mrs. Craig Perrin, 2031 Western Rd., and Mr. Richard Budd, faculty adviser.

People-to-People Helps Foreigners Meet SUlowans

A student from India eats turkey with an American host on Thanksgiving. A group of foreign students discuss the Common Market at a forum. An SUlowan sunbathes in Nice, France during her summer abroad.

These activities and others like it are being planned by the SUJ chapter of People-to-People, an organization introduced here last spring. It was formed to create personal relationships with international students.

The SUJ chapter is part of a national program organized in 1956 by former President Eisenhower.

At the national level, People-to-People sets up the machinery by which foreign people may have meaningful contacts with Americans. Participating schools send scrapbooks, art work, tape recordings, essays and other material to classrooms in other countries. Names are supplied to American students who wish to correspond with individuals abroad.

SUI is one of 93 affiliated colleges and 36 candidate colleges in the program, and is composed of five committees. There will be a series of articles on the specific functions of these committees in later issues of The Daily Iowan.

Off Campus Cookery

By Cele Ferner and Cathy Fischgrund Staff Writers

This week is chicken week. Why? Our old excuse — it's cheap.

Here's a recipe for people who like fried chicken but not all the grease that often goes with it.

CORN FLAKE CHICKEN

1 small fryer (cut up)
1 small can evaporated milk
1 egg
salt, pepper
1-2 cups corn flake crumbs
1 stick (one half cup) butter or margerine

Preheat oven 350 degrees.

Mix evaporated milk, egg and salt and pepper in a medium-sized bowl. Put the cornflake crumbs in another bowl. (You can buy a box of crumbs or crush them yourself by putting them in a paper sack and going scrunch with a rolling pin.)

Dip each piece of chicken in the milk-egg mixture. Roll the chicken in the cornflakes.

Place the chicken on a well-greased cookie sheet. Place a pat of butter on each piece of chicken. (On large pieces, put two pats.) Bake the chicken for 45 minutes, or until tender. (It's tender when you stick it with a fork and find it's soft.)

Serve with a big salad and french bread and/or baked potatoes.

If you have chicken left over, and you're tired of cold chicken, here's a suggestion for the gourmet among you.

QUICK CURRIED CHICKEN

1 cup of bit-sized pieces of chicken
1 can cream of chicken soup, or cream of mushroom soup
1 medium sized onion
1 cup sour cream
one half cup sliced mushrooms
1 teaspoon curry powder
salt, pepper
garlic salt
one fourth cup white wine (optional)

Saute chopped onion in a little butter until golden brown. Add soup, sour cream, and mix thoroughly.

Add spices, chicken pieces, mushrooms, and wine. Simmer for five to ten minutes, then serve over rice.

Start the water boiling before you begin to cook the curry dish. Rice usually is fluffier if you let it stand, covered, a little longer than the directions on the box suggests.

For an extra treat, serve the curry with shredded coconut, pineapple chunks, chopped peanuts, and raisins or currants. Sprinkle a little of each on top of the curried chicken which is on top of the rice. C'est bon.

FRUIT FLAKE DESSERT

This is an unusual dessert, bound to disappoint your reading appetite, but bound to be a favorite once you cook it and eat it!
1 can fruit (pie filling type)
1 box 10 cent cake mix (or one-third of a large mix — white or spice).

Put the contents of the can, juice and fruit, in a piepan.

Sprinkle cake mix over the fruit. Be sure it covers all the fruit, but is only a thin layer, about one fourth of an inch thick. Dot the top with butter. Be sure the butter pats nearly cover all the cake mixture.

Put into a 350-degree oven and bake for 20 to 30 minutes, until the top is crusty and beginning to brown.

Cool for ten minutes, serve plain or add whipped cream or ice cream.

Keep the recipes coming in. If you aren't a collector of them, at least let us know if you've tried (and like or dislike) any of ours.

Americans Should Copy the English, Say British Tailors

There's a cold war simmering between Great Britain and the United States. No, it isn't between No. 10 Downing Street and the White House but, rather, between the two countries' purveyors of the men's fashionable habiliments!

It's a bit one-sided thus far, with the British Men's Guild throwing barbed darts which have thus far bounced off our armor almost unnoticed. The main contention is that American men could dress much better if they followed the British styles rather than those produced over here.

Our creators and makers haven't even answered as yet. They're not being discourteous, mind you, it's just that they're much too busy turning out more and more of the fine fashions that American men want!

by William G. Nusser Registered Jeweler, A.G.S.

Want a gem that captures all the glorious autumn colors? Then you would be interested in seeing our collection of lovely opals, which are classed as one of our phenomenal gems.

During ancient times, the opal was considered the symbol of hope and good fortune. Roman generals carried opal-topped staves into battle to assure them of success in their campaigns. Mark Antony saw an exceptional opal worn by a Roman Senator, and decided it would be an appropriate gift for Cleopatra, but when the Senator refused to part with it, Antony banished him from Rome.

There are three varieties of opals — white, black, and the Mexican or "fire" opal. Most important as gems, are the white and black varieties. The term "black" is somewhat of a misnomer, for it refers to the play of colors against a dark, rather than a white background. The play of fire shows up, well in darker opals, and it is the number of colors visible that affects the value of these stones.

Like pearls, which are organic, your opals should receive reasonable care and proper setting to afford many years of wear. In terms of pleasure, there is nothing more beautiful than a fine opal worn in a pin or pendant. Remember that the opal has been recognized by the American Gem Society as the proper birthstone for October, which is certainly one more reason to own and wear this lovely jewel.

Cardinals Get Pitcher Roger Craig from Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — Encouraged by their success in the trading mart last year, the St. Louis Cardinals pulled off another deal Monday — their fifth in less than 12 months — acquiring pitcher Roger Craig from the New York Mets in exchange for outfielder George Altman and minor league pitcher Tom Baker.

The trade, first of any significance since the close of the baseball season, was expected to benefit both clubs. St. Louis, with the best hitting club in the National League, was beaten for the pennant by the Los Angeles Dodgers largely because of a pitching shortage. Craig is expected to fill that void, both as a starter and reliever. He demonstrated he could do both adequately last year when he won his 5-22 and lost record with the last place Mets.

New York was woefully weak on attack last season. Altman is in position to provide some of the much needed punch if he can return to the form that made him one of the National League's most respected batters before the Cards acquired him from the Chicago Cubs last winter.

The 30-year-old left-handed slugger batted only .274 in 135 games with St. Louis in 1963. But he hit .363 and .318 as a Cub in 1961 and 1962 respectively, driving in 170 runs with 49 home runs during that time.

Wakefield, a 22-year-old hopeful, who attends Stanford University during the off-season, was 4-10 at Tulsa and Atlanta last season but he comes well recommended.

Both Bing Devine, general manager of the Cardinals and George Weiss, president of the Mets, ex-

Texas, Illinois Retain Top Two Spots

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Unbeaten, untied Texas held firmly to its position as the nation's No. 1 college football team today, but new strength gathered in The Associated Press weekly poll for Illinois, Mississippi, Navy and Auburn.

Also, Michigan State moved into the select Top Ten, taking over the No. 9 spot after a 30-13 victory over Wisconsin. The latter rated eighth, dropped from the list in the only radical change of the week.

Texas, with a 7-0 record, gained 45 of the 53 votes of a special panel of sports writers and broadcasters to get the top spot for the fourth week in a row. These were four less votes than received in the preceding balloting and the leaders' point total — based on 10 for a first place vote, 9 for second, etc. — also fell below the previous mark. The Longhorns slid past Southern Methodist last week, 17-12.

SECOND-PLACE ILLINOIS, 41-21 conqueror of Purdue, increased its first place votes from one to four and added 67 points to its total, now standing at 425.

The next three teams — Mississippi, Navy and Auburn — also picked up a fatter vote harvest after impressive victories. Mississippi clobbered Louisiana State 37-3. Navy thrashed Notre Dame 35-14 and Auburn, like Texas, unbeaten and untied, won over Florida, 19-0.

These places remained unchanged from a week ago as did No. 6 Oklahoma, which routed Colorado 35-0, and No. 7 Alabama, squeaking winner over Mississippi State, 20-19.

PITTSBURGH, WHICH TURNED back Syracuse, 35-27, in a freak snow and thunderstorm, jumped from tenth to eighth. Ohio State dropped a notch — from ninth to 10th — although winner over Iowa, 7-3.

Texas has a formidable test Saturday against Baylor; Illinois plays Michigan, Mississippi has a breather with Tampa, Navy tackles Maryland and Auburn has a date with Mississippi State.

Other assignments for Top Ten teams include: Oklahoma vs. Iowa State; Pitt vs. Notre Dame, Michigan State vs. Purdue and Ohio State vs. Penn State. Alabama is idle.

The top ten teams with first place votes in parentheses, season records and points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
1. Texas (45)	7	0	0	502
2. Illinois (4)	5	0	1	425
3. Mississippi (1)	5	0	1	342
4. Navy (1)	6	1	0	322
5. Auburn (2)	6	0	0	310
6. Oklahoma	5	1	0	209
7. Alabama	6	1	0	158
8. Pittsburgh	5	1	0	115
9. Mich. State	4	1	1	109
10. Ohio State	4	1	1	98

Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Army, Baylor, Georgia Tech, Memphis State, Nebraska, North Carolina, North Carolina State, Penn State, Princeton, Southern California, Syracuse, Washington, Wisconsin.

Barrington Diagrams Plays, Gains 111 Yds. Against Iowa

"Tom Barrington" is a name that the members of the Iowa football team won't forget for a long time. Barrington, 6-1, 208-pound sophomore from Lima, Ohio, played left halfback for the first time in his life Saturday as he paced Ohio

State to a 7-3 win over the Hawkeyes. Barrington, who played fullback last year and started this season as a quarterback, practiced with the Buckeye team last Monday and then spent Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday in the hospital with the flu. During his stay in the hospital, he drew up the plays which netted him 111 yards rushing on 15 carries in Saturday's game. After Barrington and his coach, Woody Hayes, went over the plays and made a few changes, the versatile sophomore practiced with the fourth and fifth teams Friday evening and participated in an hour scrimmage.

Saturday afternoon, Barrington came off the bench to lead the Ohio State touchdown drive which beat Iowa. He gained 84 yards against the Hawks in the second half, most of them in the third quarter when he carried the ball four times for 44 yards to set up the touchdown which was scored by fullback Matt Snell on a three yard run over left guard.

Hayes said after the game, "Barrington will work at halfback and quarterback. He has fine mental stance. He is a great athlete and a great boy. He has had an awful lot of setbacks, but seeks no sympathy." Iowa Coach Jerry Burns also praised Barrington. "He is a good power runner and certainly did a good job."

Iowa's only score in the game came with 10:08 remaining in the third quarter when Jay Roberts kicked a 34-yard field goal. This came after Iowa had gained a first down on the Ohio State 12, and then was thrown back to the 17 where it was fourth and 15.

Iowa's defense held the Buckeyes to only one first down and 58 yards, all gained by rushing, in the first half. The Buckeyes led in the final analysis, however, with 220 total yards gained.

Mike Reilly was instrumental in the Hawkeyes' defensive stand as he averaged 48 yards on six punts. He had three kicks of 51, 54 and 55 yards.

U.S. Sweeps Davis Cup Match from India, 5-0

BOMBAY, India (AP) — Chuck McKinley settled a two-year-old score and completed a 5-0 sweep for the United States over India Monday in the Interzone Davis Cup tennis finals.

In the last match of the series, clinched by the Americans Sunday, the 22-year-old Wimbledon champion from St. Ann, Mo., avenged a 1961 loss to India's Ramanathan Krishnan with a 10-8, 6-8, 6-2, 2-6, 6-0 victory. In an earlier final singles match, reduced to a formality, Martin Riessen of Evanston, Ill. subbing for Dennis Ralston, defeated Premjit Lall 6-3, 2-6, 6-0, 6-1. Ralston turned up with a blister on his racket hand.

The Americans now move on to Australia for the Challenge Round at Adelaide Dec. 26-28.

"We can beat the Aussies," Bob Kelleher, non-playing U.S. captain, predicted confidently.

KELLEHER SAID Ralston and Riessen would fly to Australia directly. McKinley will play an exhibition Tuesday in Krishnan's home town of Madras, a southern seaport. The other two members of the squad — Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla. and Eugene Scott of St. James, N.Y. — will play exhibitions Tuesday in Calcutta, then leave for Australia.

Although the match could not alter the result, the McKinley-Krishnan battle on the Cricket Club of India clay court attracted considerable interest. It was a return engagement of the Davis Cup meeting in New Delhi in 1961 when Krishnan beat the American ace 6-3, 4-6, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Both players went at each other as if they were battling for the Wimbledon crown.

McKINLEY HAD TO ward off four set points in the 12th game of the opening set but finally pulled out the set with a slambang attack that broke Krishnan's service in the 17th game.

The U.S. ace sent on the defensive in the second set and dropped it when he hit three volleys into the net and double-faulted to lose his service in the 14th game.

THE CROWD became noisy from excitement when the next two sets were divided, and McKinley once stopped and announced to the gallery: "Shut up or I'll stop the match."

The crowd quieted. McKinley, lashing out on every shot, swept through the final set without loss of a game.

Riessen, 20-year-old student at Northwestern University, was too much for Lall, who seemed to be affected by the 95-degree heat. After the second set, the Indian put up practically no resistance.

Bankrupt Firm Asks Mantle For $200,000

DALLAS (AP) — A trustee of the bankrupt Mickey Mantle Enterprises, Inc., filed suit here Monday asking that he pay some $200,000 into the bankrupt corporation.

The suit charges Mantle diverted money he earned from non-baseball activities, including endorsements, to his own use, when these funds should have gone to the corporation.

In the suit filed by Philip I. Palmer Jr., trustee for the corporation which was declared bankrupt in August 1962, the history of the company was traced this way:

Mantle, in June, 1956, assigned exclusive rights for the use of his name in connection with endorsements of products and radio and television appearances, and other activities exclusive of his baseball career, to the corporation.

In exchange, he received 90 per cent of the capital stock of the corporation, which later opened a bowling alley.

Then in July, 1960, Mantle sold his 90 per cent stock ownership to the Aurora Trading Corp. for $90,000.

Since then, the suit charged, Mantle has "diverted or caused to be diverted to his personal use and benefit all income from the use of his name in connection with all contracts for the endorsement of products, radio and television appearances and all other similar and kindred activities."

The suit asked that the American League player be ordered to account for all the money he received for these activities since July 1960, when he sold his interest in the corporation.

This amounts to $60,000 a year or a total of about $200,000, the suit charges.

ALMOST HOME — Biff, missing DI mascot, was reportedly almost home Saturday night. However, due to overcrowded conditions which arose during his absence, he ended up sitting on the front steps with the GDI chess champion, and then faded once more into oblivion.

Hoffberger Seeks Sole Ownership of Orioles

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jerold Hoffberger, head of a brewing company which sponsors broadcasts and telecasts of the Baltimore Orioles, said Monday he has offered to buy out the two other largest stockholders in the American League baseball team.

"I would like to own the Orioles," Hoffberger said. "At present, neither of the two other principal stockholders wants to sell."

The others are Zanyvl Krieger, club treasurer, and Joseph A. W. Iglehart, chairman of the board of directors. It is estimated that the trio controls 155,000 of the 182,000 shares in the Orioles.

Krieger, who also has interests in the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League and Clippers in the American Hockey League, said all three of them have been buying more shares lately, with Hoffberger doing the most.

"Any two have a majority, the same as it has been," Krieger said. Iglehart, an investment banker with stock in the Orioles since they were transferred from St. Louis in 1954, said he and Krieger have an agreement running through 1969 to give each other first chance to buy his stock.

"Hoffberger has offered to buy my holdings and I have offered to buy his or Krieger's," Iglehart said. "None of us wants to sell."

The Baltimore News-Post reported earlier that Krieger had joined forces with Hoffberger to shift control.

The paper said that Lee McPhail, president and general manager of the club since 1959 and a non-shareholder, would be retained. MacPhail has been seeking a field manager to replace Billy Hitchcock who was fired at the end of the season.

Hawks Hold Light Drill

Iowa's Hawkeyes ran through a light half-hour drill in sweat clothes Monday as they started preparations for the game with Minnesota Saturday. The practice session ended with a scrimmage between the freshmen and reserves.

Coach Jerry Burns, whose squad has lost to Wisconsin, Purdue and Ohio State by narrow margins, commented, "If we play as well in the remaining three games as we did against Wisconsin and Ohio State I would have to say the team should have a winning season."

The Hawkeyes must win their next three games if they are to finish above .500.

Asked if Minnesota is as bad as its 2-4 record indicates, Burns replied, "No, definitely not. In the games we have seen them play and the movies we have seen, the Gophers have shown they are a solid team on defense. Mistakes on offense have hurt them. Iowa, of course, has had similar problems."

Concerning the officiating which has received criticism from writers and fans in the last three games, Burns said only, "No comment."

Gopher Runners Win 3 Top Places; Defeat Iowa, 19-36

Minnesota won the first three places and scored a 19-36 win over Iowa's cross country team here Saturday. Ray Miller finished first in 20:21.8 and teammates Norris Peterson and Jim Day finished second and third as only 12 seconds separated the three Gopher runners.

George Clarke of Iowa was fourth in 20:48 and Larry Kramer fifth in 21:04 as the Hawkeyes lost their fourth and final dual meet of the season. They now start preparing for the Big Ten meet which will be held Nov. 11 on the Illinois course. The victory was the fourth for Minnesota against one loss.

Campus Notes

English Prof To Speak

Robert Howren, associate professor of English, will present a study of contrastive linguistics to the Language Colloquium at 8 tonight in the Pentacrest Room of the Union.

Howren's study is based on his experience as the director of language training for the Peace Corps Indonesia project held at SUI last spring.

All interested faculty members and graduate students are invited to attend.

Delegates, Dr. Moyers is studying ways to alleviate the critical shortage of anesthesiologists in this country.

At Blood Bank Meeting

Dr. Harold C. Conn, Chief of Staff at the Iowa City Veterans Administration Hospital, is attending a meeting of the American Association of Blood Banks in Detroit, Mich., this week.

Film Show

A film of "The Roadbird," a one act play by Ralph Arzooonian, G. Cranston, R. L., will be shown to the public Thursday at 7 p.m. in 805 Old Armory.

The play was performed at the Playwright's Theatre here two years ago and as part of a Studio Theatre three-play bill last year. The film was directed by Dr. Murray Yaeger, a visiting professor in Speech and Dramatic Arts from Boston.

Amelia, a woman who tries to regain her runaway husband, is played by Nan Withers, A3, Elgin, Ill. Eddie is played by Robert Watts, A4, Sioux City, and Bennie, by A. Kent Braverman, L1, Iowa City.

Courts Available

Basketball courts in the Field House will be available at 6:30, 7:30 and 8:30 p.m., Monday through Friday for intramural basketball teams wishing to practice. For reservations call the Intramural Office, ext. 2226.

$40 Million for Grads

Awards of about $40 million have been made to 70,000 graduate students under the National Defense Education Act since it was signed into law in September, 1958. An equivalent amount has been granted to the 170 institutions at which they studied.

During the 1963 fiscal year, 1,500 students received awards for study beginning in 1963-64. With the approval of fellowships at the University of Alaska, the Graduate Fellowship Program includes, for the first time, all 50 states and the District of Columbia. Cost of the program for the current fiscal year is about $20.7 million.

Norton Lecture Tonight

Professor Bernard Ashmole, formerly of Oxford University, will present the Norton Lecture: "Greek Votive Reliefs," tonight at 8.

The lecture, sponsored by the Archaeological Society, will be given in the Art Building Auditorium.

Speech Paths Meet

Staff members and students in the Department of Speech Pathology are attending the American Speech and Hearing Convention in Chicago today and Wednesday.

Lecture on Genes

George Kalnitsky, professor of biochemistry, will speak to the Iowa City Optimist Club on "Exploring Our Genes," at the Jefferson Hotel Wednesday noon.

Emmanuel Dunn

"Laid by the buzzard, hatched by the sun"

'Real' Folk Songs—

Dunn To Present Deep South Songs

By MARY REID
Staff Writer

When Emmanuel Dunn sings a folk song, he sings "the real thing." His folk music is not a part of the so-called folk music popularized by many vocal groups today; it is the ethnic music of Louisiana and Mississippi.

Emmanuel Dunn sings of what he knows — the life of a Negro in the deep South, the troubles and hopes of a human being, his life.

Harry Oster, professor of English, his mentor, who has spent a great deal of time searching for ethnic folk music, says Dunn's songs are as "purely folk as one can find among Negroes of his generation."

Dunn is in Iowa City to give a program Thursday night at the Moose Hall at 8 p. m. He will sing blues and Negro spirituals, play his guitar and harmonica, and improvise songs upon suggestion.

"It is what you believe that is important," Dunn says. "You can do anything you want to do if you want to do it enough."

Dunn's performance assures the audience that he wants to sing. He has not performed professionally until recently, but after he sings a song of troubles and says "that's the way I learned it," few would believe his lack of experience.

His life provides a wealth of subject matter for his songs. Dunn knew neither his father nor his mother and says rather bitterly "I was laid by the buzzard and hatched by the sun." The isolation of a parentless child is the theme for many of his songs.

Another incident he mentions frequently occurred when he was nine years old. A mule which was pulling a plow escaped and the plantation owner strapped Emmanuel in the harness and made him pull the plow.

A desire to tell of his life brought Dunn to fashion a harmonica of a key from a tobacco can and a piece of string. This was his first instrument and though he also plays the guitar, it is used primarily as a one chord accompaniment.

Dunn's current tour has taken him to the University of Illinois and Knox College. Following Thursday's performance in Iowa City, he will go to the Old Town School of Folk Music in Chicago.

80 Per Cent More Women In Iowa Have Jobs Today

Nearly 80 per cent more women in Iowa were either employed or looking for work in 1960 than in 1940, according to a study published recently by SUI's Bureau of Labor and Management.

Yet, while the female labor force was showing phenomenal growth, the Iowa male labor force underwent little change, increasing less than two-tenths of one per cent in the same 20-year period.

In 1940 men outnumbered women in Iowa's experienced labor force almost seven to one. By 1960, this gap had been narrowed to less than three to one. Today, approximately one-fourth of Iowa's women are experienced workers, the SUI study shows.

These findings are included in a study of the Iowa labor force for the years 1940-60 by David E. Cooper, instructor in economics, and Craig Lloyd, research assistant in the Bureau of Labor and Management.

ACCORDING to the study, Iowa's labor force in 1940 numbered 911,629, with 732,956 men, 178,009 women. In 1960, it had increased to 1,051,590 with 734,193 men and 317,397 women.

The major change during this 20-year period occurred on farms. Between 1940-60, there was a 64 per cent drop in the number of Iowa men classified as farm laborers and foremen, but almost a 500 per cent increase in the number of women in the same work categories.

Cooper and Lloyd said this great increase in women workers, from 1,891 to 10,723, was due to several factors, including the war years in which more women worked on the farms, and automation, which allowed women to take many jobs previously performed only by men. More than 9,100 women listed in this classification were unpaid family workers.

THE MAJOR employment for women in Iowa is in clerical jobs. Approximately one-third of Iowa's experienced women fall into this classification.

Fourteen per cent are in professional and technical occupations, 10 per cent are classified as operatives, assemblers, checkers, seamstresses, packers, laundry and dry cleaning workers; less than 4 per cent work as farm laborers and foremen, even though this classification had the greatest percentage increase.

Only two job classifications — laborer and private household workers — showed a decrease in the number of women employed or looking for work between 1940 and 1960.

FOR IOWA'S male labor force, the greatest changes were in the professional and technical classification and service workers. In the 20-year period there was almost an 80 per cent increase in the number of men included in the professional and technical fields and a 55 per cent increase in the service workers classification.

Although the largest single occupation for Iowa's male labor force remains as farmers or farm managers, 154,052 in 1960, this is also the area that has shown the greatest decline. In 1940, there were 204,142 farmers and farm managers in Iowa.

Took Her Leg Off And 'Beamed' Him

WEYMOUTH, England (AP) — Katie Dartnell-Smith got tired of a boy teasing her for having an artificial leg.

Exaggerated, the 13-year-old girl whipped off the aluminum limb and socked him over the head with it.

Said Katie: "I just got fed up with him calling me peg-leg. Wouldn't you? I didn't really hit him very hard — but it was hard enough to let him know I'm not helpless."

Born a cripple, Katie lost her right leg when she was 3.

SUI Pharmacists To Hold Annual Confab This Weekend

The annual Pharmacy Seminar sponsored by the College of Pharmacy will be held in the new Pharmacy Building Friday and Saturday. Lectures of the opening session Friday morning will involve evaluations of new hormones being produced by drug researchers.

Dr. S. A. Cronk, director of clinical research for the Ortho Research Foundation, Raritan, N.J., will discuss "Old and New Concepts of Sex Steroids." Other speakers for the session will be SUI faculty members—Dr. Gordon W. Searle, associate professor of physiology, who will speak on "Physiology of Steroid-Producing Glands," and Donald Witiak, assistant professor of pharmacy, who will discuss "The Adrenocortical Steroids."

A program dedicating the new building is scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Friday in conjunction with the seminar.

Wendle L. Kerr, associate professor of pharmacy, and chairman of the Building Dedication Committee and the Seminar Committee, will preside at the opening session of the seminar. Louis C. Zopf, dean of the College of Pharmacy, will preside over the dedication program at which the featured speaker will be Dean Harold Hewitt of the University of Connecticut College of Pharmacy.

PRESIDENT Virgil M. Hancher will give the acceptance address following formal presentation of the new Pharmacy Building to the University by John Oberhausen, Dubuque, in behalf of the State Board of Regents.

Reservations for the dedication banquet at 7 p.m. Friday in the Main Lounge of the Union should be made by this afternoon with Prof. Kerr or William D. Coder, director of SUI conferences and institutes. The banquet will be open to registrants for the Pharmacy Seminar and to others interested in the dedication of the new building.

SPEAKERS at the banquet will include William S. Apple, Washington, D.C., executive director of the American Pharmaceutical Association, whose topic will be "Service Unlimited," and Francis L. Schmel, chief of the Health Research Facilities Branch of the National Institutes of Health, who will speak on "National Interest in Health-Science Research."

Professor Kerr will be master of ceremonies for the program. President Hancher will speak for the University, and Dean Louis C. Zopf of the College of Pharmacy will speak for the college. Earl Harper, professor emeritus and former director of the School of Fine Arts, will give the invocation. Music will be provided by the Old Gold Singers.

Tours of the new structure will follow the dedication program Friday afternoon.

New Officers Meet Tonight

The newly-elected officers of the Collegiate Chamber of Commerce will hold their first meeting tonight at 7 in 102 University Hall. Preparatory plans for the Careers Conference in February will be discussed.

The new officers are Walt Cory, B4, Cedar Rapids, president; Steve Cook, B4, Iowa City, vice president; Carol Ann Nachazel, B3, Alden, secretary; Terry Lynne Walters, B4, Danville, treasurer; and Chuck Stock, B4, Stanwood, historian.

The officers will serve as members of the Board of Directors. Other new members of the board are James M. Burke, B4, Iowa City; Larry Dittmer, B4, Webster Groves, Mo.; Chuck Jonas, B4, Cedar Rapids; Arnold Wheeler, B4, Leon and Dave Wilkinson, B4, Iowa City.

The Collegiate Chamber of Commerce was organized to coordinate the activities of the business students and organizations within the College of Business Administration, to increase understanding of the commercial environment, and to serve SUI and other educational institutions.

All students enrolled in business administration are automatically members of the organization and their dues are paid through the University. A student enrolled in another college may petition to join and will be accepted upon the vote of the Board of Directors.

Although the Careers Conference is the best-known of the Chamber's activities, it also arranges industrial tours for its members, engages speakers for its professional meetings and sends representatives to business conventions held in the area.

C.R. Chamber to See Travel Film

John Moyer, of the Chicago Natural History Museum, will present a movie, "This Is Jamaica," to a general membership meeting of the Cedar Rapids Chamber of Commerce at 6:15 p.m. Wednesday, in the Chamber of Commerce Building in Cedar Rapids.

Moyer has written articles for many magazines and has contributed to Encyclopaedia Britannica and Encyclopaedia Americana. His two most recent books are "Famous Indian Chiefs" and "Trophy Heads."

Second Oral Polio Dose Next Sunday

V-Day two, the second day for receiving the Sabin oral polio vaccine in Johnson County, is set for next Sunday.

The 25,000 persons who received the first dose must take the second and third also to be completely protected against polio, because there are three known types of polio virus, according to Dr. Donald L. Dunphy, chairman of the SUI Department of Pediatrics. Because there are three viruses, the three types of vaccine must be taken to counteract them all. One dose is not enough.

As before, the distribution centers will be open from noon to 4 p.m. In Iowa City they are, the SUI Field House, the Civic Center, and the City High School Gymnasium. In Hills, Solon, Oxford, Lone Tree, Cosgrove, Tiffin, Wellman and West Branch, the vaccine may be received at the community school buildings.

The vaccine will cost 25 cents per dose, less than it would cost if obtained from private physicians. The project is sponsored by the Johnson County Medical Society, Johnson County Pharmaceutical Association and the Iowa City Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Everyone should bring his vaccination record card when he comes to the clinic.

Greeks Elect Papandreou New Leader

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Elder statesman George Papandreou won a surprising personal election victory, and Monday appeared headed toward the prime ministry, a job he held nearly two decades ago.

Papandreou and his underdog center party brought eight years of rightist government to an end in Greece with an upset victory in Sunday's balloting.

King Paul called him for consultation. It appeared virtually certain the king would ask Papandreou, 75, to form a government.

His success in Sunday's voting toppled Premier Constantine Karamanlis, but fell short of winning a decisive majority in the country's 200-seat one-house Parliament.

By late evening the distribution of seats had not been completed but a Ministry of Interior source said the likely distribution would be 142 for the Center Union, 128 for Karamanlis' National Radical Union, 28 for the Kremlin-line United Democratic left, and two for the Progressive party.

Reports became more persistent that Karamanlis, 56, strong and stern premier for eight years, would withdraw from politics and leave the country.

The new Parliament will convene Dec. 11. While a new government is being formed, the country will remain in the hands of a caretaker cabinet headed by Stylianos Mavromichalis.

If Papandreou becomes premier he is not expected to alter Greece's pro-Western course.

SUIowans Can Get Oral Polio Vaccine

SUIowans who failed to receive the first dosage of the Sabin oral polio vaccine offered to Johnson County residents Oct. 13 may still receive effective immunization through the SUI Student Health service.

Dr. Chester Miller, head of Student Health, said Monday students who failed to receive the first dosage of the Sabin vaccine should not report to area feeding stations Sunday for the second dose.

Instead, he said, they may report to Student Health beginning next Monday for a dosage of "Trivalent," an oral vaccine which guards against the three known polio virus.

Dr. Miller said after the first dose, the student will wait eight weeks, then take a booster dose. A nominal charge will be assessed for the service, Dr. Miller said.

Fugitive Escapes

Officers Monday night were searching in downtown Des Moines for Edward J. Miller, 25, who escaped from the Polk County jail after being bound over to the county grand jury on a charge of first degree murder. Police said Miller slugged a deputy while being returned to the jail and fled via foot and stolen auto. He is charged with the slaying of Anna May Jackson, 32, Des Moines on Oct. 25. He no longer wears a beard, police say.

Council To Hear Rezoning Plans

The City Council will conduct a public hearing on zoning changes of two parcels, sought by Plum Grove Acres, Inc., tonight at 7:30 in the Civic Center.

The County Seat addition may be rezoned from residential to commercial use. An area between Court Hill and the Robert Lucas School may be changed from R1A to R3A, both residential classifications.

The meeting may be shortened due to today's municipal election.

Extra GM Stock Payment Sets Dividend Record

NEW YORK (AP)—General Motors Corp. voted stockholders a special year-end extra dividend of $1.50 a share Monday, a distribution amounting to more than $425 million.

The payment was in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share to be paid Dec. 10 to shareholders of record Nov. 14.

Thus the board of directors allocated a total of $568 million from earnings.

The payment will bring total dividends paid this year by GM, the world's largest industrial concern, to $4 for each of its 226 million shares.

The payout reflects an auto industry boom that has broken production, earnings and sales records on all sides and prompted Chrysler Corp. to double its dividend and split its stock 2 for 1 last month.

The 1963 dividend payments by GM will be the highest in the corporation's 55-year history.

Frederic G. Donner, board chairman, and John F. Gordon, president, said the dividend "is consistent with the corporation's policy to distribute from current earnings from time to time such additional amounts as prevailing conditions and the outlook warrant."

The price of GM shares hit an all-time high last week.

The dividend action could have a buoying effect on investor sentiment when the stock market reopens Wednesday after being closed for election day Tuesday.

Essay Contest Offers Polish Trip

The Kosciuszko Foundation of New York is offering an all-expense tour of Poland as first prize in an essay contest on "The Meaning of Poland's Millennium." Total value of prizes offered is $2,250.

The contest is open to undergraduate students of accredited American colleges and universities during the current academic year. Contest entries must be 2,000 to 3,000 words in length. Winning essays become the property of the Foundation with publication rights reserved to the foundation.

The essay contest is one of several cultural projects which the Kosciuszko Foundation is sponsoring in observance of the 1,000th year of Poland's official acceptance of Christianity. The contest is designed to stimulate the study of Poland's achievements through ten centuries.

Complete information on the contest may be obtained from the Kosciuszko Foundation, 15 E. 65th St. New York 21, N. Y.

I WAS A TEEN-AGE SLIDE RULE

In a recent learned journal (Playboy) the distinguished board chairman (Ralph "Hot Lips" Sigafoos) of one of our most important American industrial corporations (the Art Mechanical Dog Co.) wrote a trenchant article in which he pinpointed our single most serious national problem: the lack of culture among science graduates.

Let me hasten to state that Mr. Sigafoos's article was in no sense derogatory. He said emphatically that the science graduate, what with his grueling curriculum in physics, math, and chemistry, can hardly be expected to find time to study the arts too. What distresses Mr. Sigafoos—and, indeed, all of us—is the lopsided result of today's science courses: graduates who can build a skyscraper but can't compose a concerto; who know Newton's Third Law but not Beethoven's Fourth Symphony.

The lopsided result of Today's Science phony; who are familiar with Fraunhofer's lines but not with Shelley's.

Mr. Sigafoos can find no solution to this lamentable imbalance. I, however, believe there is one—and a very simple one. It is this: if students of science don't have time to come to the arts, then the arts must come to students of science.

For example, it would be a very easy thing to teach poetry and music right along with physics. Students, instead of being called upon merely to recite, would instead be required to rhyme their answers and set them to familiar tunes—like, for instance, the stirring Colonel Bogey March. Thus recitations would not only be check-a-block with important facts but would, at the same time, expose the students to the aesthetic delights of great poetry and music. Here, try it yourself. You all know The Colonel Bogey March. Come, sing along with me:

Physics
Is what we learn in class,
Einstein
Said energy is mass,
Newton
Is high-falutin'
And Pascal's a rascal. So's Boyle.

Do you see how much more broadening, how much more uplifting it is to learn physics this way? Of course you do. What? You want another chorus? By all means:

Leyden
He made the Leyden jar,
Trolley
He made the Trolley car,
Curie
Rode in a surrey
And Diesel's a weasel. So's Boyle.

Once the student has mastered The Colonel Bogey March, he can go on to more complicated melodies like Death and Transfiguration, Sixteen Tons, and Boo-Hoo.

And when the student, loaded not with science but with culture, leaves his classroom and lights his Marlboro Cigarette, how much more he will enjoy that filter, that flavor, that pack or box! Because there will no longer be a little voice within him repeating that he is culturally a dolt. He will know—know joyously—that he is a complete man, a fulfilled man, and he will bask and revel in the pleasure of his Marlboro as a colt rolls in new grass—exultant and triumphant—a truly educated human person—a credit to his college, to himself, and to his tobacco company!

© 1963 Max Schulman
We, the makers of Marlboros and sponsors of this column, urge you not to roll colt-wise in the grass if you are carrying a soft pack of Marlboros in your pocket. If, however, you are carrying the crush-proof box and weigh less than 200 pounds, you may safely fling yourself about.

CHEATED BY YOUR MEMORY?
A celebrated publisher in Los Angeles reports of a new and simple system for you to acquire a memory so powerful that it works like magic to give you greater popularity, stimulating self-confidence, and solves problems of business, financial, and social success.
According to this publisher, most people do not realize how much they could influence a vast majority of others simply by remembering and retaining accurately everything they read, see or hear. Whether in business or at social gatherings, even in every-day conversations with old and new acquaintances, there are ways you can command each situation by your ability to recall everything from memory.
To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing the art of remembering names, faces, words, numbers, long lists of difficult data or even endless lines of important information, the publishers have printed full details of their exciting self-training methods in a new book, "Adventures to Remember," which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. No obligation. Simply send your request to: Memory Institute, 661 Crenshaw, Dept. 0000, Los Angeles 5, Calif. A postcard will do.

80 Iowans To Visit U.N.

Eighty Iowans will leave Sunday for a first-hand study of the United Nations.

The seminar, sponsored by the Iowa Area of the Methodist Church, will focus its attention on the role of the church in international affairs with special attention given to the issues of human rights and the developing nations.

Over half of those participating are serving as official representatives of their churches with all or part of their expenses paid.

Director of the study project is the Rev. Dr. Paul M. Dieterich, Carroll. His assistant is the Rev. Paul W. Somerville, Cresco.

The group will return to Iowa Nov. 14.

SUI Profs at UNESCO Meet

Twelve professors from SUI attended the ninth National Conference of the U.S. Committee for UNESCO last weekend in Chicago.

The purpose of the conference was to study changes in contemporary Europe and the effects of those changes on the United States.

Some of the representatives from Iowa served various functions on the programs. Ulrich Trumpener and Lawrence Gelfand, assistant professors of history, and Donald C. Bryant, professor of speech, were commentators and discussion leaders for some of the symposia.

The delegates were addressed at plenary sessions and symposia by European and American leaders. There were seven plenary sessions, divided in turn into several symposia. Each of these symposia also had a principal speaker and a commentator.

The series in which Gelfand took part was concerned with European Integration. This subject was discussed in four aspects: migration, education, the international civil servant, and the European Atomic Energy Commission (EURATOM).

His commentary considered the international civil servant. Gelfand said that one of the main problems of the international civil servant was divided loyalties.

"It hasn't been easy to find persons who can easily divest themselves of long standing national prejudices and a complex of thinking and values that places one's own country in some paramount

'Look Back in Anger' Reservations Available

Reservations are now available for the Community Theatre production of "Look Back in Anger," which will be presented Nov. 6-9 in Montgomery Hall at the 4-H fairgrounds.

For reservations, call the Recreation Commission Office, 8-5493. Tickets will also be available at the door. This is the first Community Theatre production this season.

President Kennedy's proposed multilateral nuclear force was also discussed. Most Europeans objected to the plan on the basis that it wasn't workable and wouldn't satisfy those nations that want more control of nuclear forces in their territories. Prof. Trumpener added that many American delegates did not think highly of the plan.

keys of the building, located at 204 S. Linn, to Mr. Bernard W. Sheridan, recently retired president of the board, under whose leadership the bond issue campaign and building erection took place. Sheridan will make the presentation to Mayor Fred Doderer.

Immediately following the ceremony, open house will be held for visiting officials, librarians, and townspeople until 5 p.m.

The new wing, comprising 180 per cent more space than the original library building, is the largest public library to have been constructed in Iowa since World War II.

The new addition includes an expanded children's department, new reference and circulation rooms, a browsing balcony, a storyhour room, a drive-up book return window, and an auditorium seating 120 people.

The original Iowa City library building was constructed in 1903 with a grant of $35,000 from Andrew Carnegie.

'Other Woman' Angle Enters Murder For Hire Case

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—The state charged Monday that sex, in addition to money, was a key motive in the "murder for hire" slaying of Mrs. T. Eugene Thompson, wife of a prosperous St. Paul criminal attorney.

Prosecutor William Randall raised the "other woman" angle for the first time in court in a sensational opening statement to a jury trying Thompson, 35, on first-degree murder charges, for allegedly arranging his attractive wife's brutal beating-slashing murder.

ORIGINALLY, Randall told the six-man, six-woman jury, Mrs. Thompson was to have been knocked unconscious with a rubber hose, stripped, and placed in a filled bathtub in the fashionable Thompson home to make the death appear an accidental drowning.

THIS PLAN was launched, Randall said, not just so Thompson could collect the more than a million dollars in insurance he had taken out on Mrs. Thompson's life, but so that he could marry another woman he had been seeing illicitly.

The slight, crew-cut defendant stared at the floor as Randall read the indictment.

The other woman was not identified by Randall except as the "mother of three and a former secretarial employe in Thompson's law office. Randall said Thompson financed her training in secretarial school and took numerous trips with her.

"WE WILL show," the prosecutor said, "that the man married to Carol Thompson advised another woman back in early 1962 'just give me 11 months' to arrange affairs so that he could marry her. Mrs. Thompson was killed March 6, 1963.

The prosecutor named Norman Mastrian, 39, ex-boxer, as Thompson's agent in arranging the killing. Randall said Mastrian received $2,500 in $100 bills indirectly from Thompson, and hired the killer after three others had turned down the job.

Mastrian and Dick W. C. Anderson, 35, are being held on first-degree murder charges in Mrs. Thompson's death.

Because the amount of insurance Thompson was buying on his wife's life mounted so swiftly, Randall charged, an insurance firm applied to Lloyd's of London to underwrite the risk.

RANDALL skipped over details of the actual killing to give the jury a picture of Mrs. Thompson, barefooted, bathrobe-clad, in fresh snow, pounding on the door of a neighbor a few doors away, and crying "Help!" in an almost inaudible voice.

Mrs. Thompson died a few hours later in a St. Paul hospital. She had been beaten about the head with a pistol butt and stabbed in the neck with a paring knife blade still lodged in her throat.

In Queen and Rebels'

Elizabetha, Justine Gianetti, G, Iowa City, presents a reluctant Argia, Bobbie Preston, G, Omaha, Neb., with a ring before she can refuse it in the Studio Theatre production, "Queen and Rebels." The guard, played by Larry Akin, A1, Ames, stands ready to protect Argia. The play opens at 8 p.m. Wednesday and continues through Saturday.

On A 'Thrust' Stage—

'Queen and Rebels' Opens Wednesday

By PEGGY MYERS
Staff Writer

Ugo Betti's "The Queen and the Rebels," which opens at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Studio Theatre, has every element to make an exciting play: a trial scene; shooting; deaths on stage; mistaken identity; a child; and love as a side plot.

Set in an unidentified European country in the late 1950's, the plot concerns rebels' attempt to kill the queen in order to complete the revolution. More important than the plot, though, is the development of the characters, according to Kent Gravett, G, Lexington, Ky.

Justine Gallagher Gianetti, G, Muncie, Ind., who plays the part of the Queen, was seen last year in the title role of "The Duchess of Malfi." Bobbie Byers Preston, G, Omaha, Neb., will be remembered for her performance 2 years ago in "Caucasian Chalk Circle." She plays the part of Argia, the prostitute who poses as the Queen.

Richard Douglas, G, Bloomfield Hills, Mich., plays Rain, the lover who rejects Argia and therefore precipitates the story. Frederick Blais, G, West Stewartstown, N.H. plays Amos, who has studied but rejected the priesthood, believing that the revolution was the people's only salvation.

Monday, Cravett received a letter from Uta Hagen, the winner of a "Perry" award for her performance in "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf" this year, and who had played the role of Argia in an off-Broadway production. In response to a letter he wrote to her, she said that she chose to be in "The Queen and the Rebels" because of its individualism and because Argia was such a good role.

"Because the play emphasizes the character, it's power comes from the inner workings of the characters," Gravett said. Therefore, he and his scene designer, Stewart Johnson, A4, Iowa City, decided on a "thrust stage," which goes out into the audience making the theatre almost a three-quarter round.

The stage, with proscenium or act curtain, is angled and mounted on several levels. It represents only one room, where all the action takes place.

While the set is basically realistic, according to Gravett, it is almost skeleton. This, he explained, is because, while the play is basically realistic, the language sometimes becomes almost poetic and therefore unfitted to a strictly realistic setting.

One of the chief difficulties of the production, Gravett said, was that the translation of the play used British slang and sounded entirely too stilted for an American audience. All unsuitable language was weeded out by Gravett and the cast and American images substituted. No part of the plot or action has been changed, however.

Clear Creek School Bond Issue Defeated

Voters of the Clear Creek community school district defeated a $420,000 bond issue Monday to finance a new high school on a 22-acre site one mile south of Tiffin. The vote was 771 opposed, and 546 in favor.

The bond issue covered the purchase of the site, and the cost of building and furnishing a new high school.

Earlier the Johnson County Planning and Zoning Commission had recommended denial of an application to rezone the property to permit a trailer court.

The property, owned by Bessie Hagist, was not approved for rezoning to a highway commercial classification because the Zoning Commission said the application was not in order.

The commission said that ordinarily preliminary plans for the proposed trailer court would be submitted. Neither sanitary facilities nor the layout of streets and roads were indicated.

Final action on the re-zoning application will come after a public hearing by the county board of supervisors.

Tickets for Julie Nearly Sold Out

Only a few general admission tickets still remain for the Julie London Dad's Day concert, as of late Monday evening. All reserve tickets have been sold.

Tickets for the concert went on sale Monday at 9 a. m. By 10:30 a. m., Whetstone's and Campus Record Shop reported all tickets were gone.

A few general admission tickets still remain at the Information Desk of the Union. They may be purchased there for $2 apiece.

Miss London will appear with her husband, Bobby Troup, and his jazz trio at 8 p. m. Saturday in the Main Lounge of the Union.

Police Charge Sulowan

Nick Weede, A2, Bettendorf, was charged with following too closely after an automobile accident at Iowa Avenue and Riverside Drive Saturday morning.

Weede's car collided with an automobile driven by Joseph Rohnet, 505 Tenth Ave., Coralville. No one was injured.

Coralville, U. Heights Vote Today

Coralville and University Heights voters will go to the polls today to elect town officials.

University Heights voters will elect five councilmen, a mayor and a treasurer.

Voters will also be asked if they are in favor of a merger with Iowa City. This vote will not be binding. Council candidates are James Bradbury, David Cannon, James C. Dickerson, David Homewood, Donald L. Noll, David Armstrong, Chan Coulter, and Vernon Van Dyke.

The mayor and treasurer are unopposed in the election. Russell Ross is running for re-election as mayor and Maurice Taylor is unopposed as treasurer. Each of the offices is a two-year term.

St. Andrew Presbyterian Church will be open for voting from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m.

Eleven candidates for council and three for mayor are running.

Kappa Sorority Loses 'Identity'

The Kappas have lost their key. City Police said they feel that finding the key may provide a clue to who broke into the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority house, 728 E. Washington St., this weekend.

Thieves entered the house early Saturday morning by breaking a kitchen window and unlocking it. Only the Kappa key, which adorned the living room wall, is missing. The key is the symbol of the sorority.
