Authorities Say He Killed Kennedy, Policeman Friday

Grief Spreads In U.S., World

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The assassination of President Kennedy Friday brought forth outpourings of grief from men in high office across the land. Lament crossed party lines and differences.

Stunned almost into disbelief, they called for prayer.

Former President Harry S. Truman in Independence, Mo., the unharmed target of an assassination attempt 13 years ago, was too stunned for immediate comment.

In New York, two former presidents, Dwight D. Eisenhower and Herbert Hoover, issued statements of sorrow.

"I share the sense of shock and dismay that all Americans feel at the despicable act that resulted in the death of our nation's President," Eisenhower said.

HOOPER commented: "He loved America and has given his life for his country. I join our bereaved nation in heartfelt sympathy to Mrs. Kennedy and their two children."

Flags were lowered to half-staff across the nation and business came to a standstill as Americans tried to express their grief.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who lost the presidency to Kennedy said: "The assassina-

Word of President Kennedy's assassination struck the world's capitals with shattering impact, leaving heads of state and the man in the street stunned and grief-stricken.

While messages of condolence poured into the White House from presidents, premiers and crowned heads, the little people of many lands reacted with numbed disbelief.

Pubs in London and cafes in Paris fell silent, as the news came over radio and television.

IN MOSCOW, a Russian girl walked weeping along down the street. At U.N. headquarters in New York, delegates of 111 nations bowed their heads in a moment of silence.

Moscow radio broke into a broadcast to announce that the President had been shot. It then began playing funeral music.

In Buenos Aires, newspapers sounded sirens reserved for news of the utmost gravity.

Britain's Prime Minister Douglas-Home sent condolences and Sir Winston Churchill branded the slaying a monstrous act.

"THE LOSS to the United States and to the world is incalculable," Sir Winston declared. "Those who come after Mr. Kennedy must strive the more to achieve the ideals of world peace and human happiness and dignity to which his presidency was dedicated."

Douglas-Home said: "The prime minister has learned with the most profound shock and horror of the death by assassination of the President of the United States."

Harold Wilson, leader of Britain's Labor party, commented: "I pay tribute to one who has been a good friend of this country, a great world statesman and a great fighter for peace."

FRANCE'S President Charles de Gaulle issued a brief tribute: "President Kennedy died like a soldier, under fire, for his duty and in the service of his country. In the name of the French people, a friend always of the American people, I salute this great example and this great memory."

Canada's House of Commons listened in silence as Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson announced in a voice choked with emotion: "I have just been informed that President Kennedy is dead."

Daily Iowan Prints Extra

Friday afternoon staff workers at The Daily Iowan published an "extra" edition of the paper to give its readers the story of President Kennedy's assassination and SU-Iowans' reaction to it.

The last "extra" published by an Iowan staff was printed in March, 1950, when Robert E. Bednasek was acquitted of murdering an SU-Iowan sorority girl.

As soon as staffers learned that the President had been shot it was decided to publish. The paper went to press around 5 p.m. and before 7:30 p.m. "extras" were delivered to the Union, University Library, all dormitories, all Greek housing units, married student housing units and downtown newsstands.

Faculty, off-campus residents and mail readers received a copy of the extra with today's paper.

Staff writers and other students flocked to the DI to offer their time as reporters and copywriters. City editor Cole Ferner sent about 10 reporters to find SU-Iowans' reactions to the tragedy. Others wrote and proofread. At least 40 persons were working in the newsroom area at the height of activity around 3 p.m.

Iowan publisher Edward Bassett was pleased with the results. "It was an extremely good effort on the students' part."

President Killed By Hidden Sniper

MIDNIGHT BULLETIN

DALLAS (AP) — A 24-year-old Texan, who once professed a love for Russia, Friday night was charged with the murder of President Kennedy Friday.

The charge was filed against Harvey Lee Oswald, 24, Officers said he was the man who hid on the fifth floor of a textbook warehouse and snapped off three quick shots that killed the President and wounded Gov. John B. Connally of Texas.

DALLAS (AP) — A 24-year-old Fort Worth man, who four years ago said that he was applying for Russian citizenship, was arrested within an hour after President Kennedy was assassinated Friday.

Dallas police have definitely established that the man, Harvey Lee Oswald, who has lived in the Soviet Union and is married to a Russian woman, was in a building from which the shots were fired at the time of the assassination.

Although it has not been established that Oswald is the assassin, he has been charged with the murder of a Dallas policeman.

Three shots reverberated from a high-powered rifle. The assassination occurred just as the President's motorcade was leaving downtown Dallas at the end of a triumphal tour through the city's streets.

His special car — with the protective bubble down — was moving down an incline into an underpass that leads to a freeway route to the Dallas Trade Mart, where he was to speak.

Witnesses heard three shots. Two hit the President, one in the head and one in the neck.

Blood sprang from the President's face. He fell face downward in the back seat of his car. His wife clutched his head and tried to lift it, crying, "Oh, No!"

Half an hour later, John F. Kennedy was dead and the United States had a new president, Lyndon B. Johnson.

The third shot wounded Gov. John B. Connally of Texas in the side but his condition was reported "not critical."

AS THE gunfire rang in the street, a reporter in the caravan screamed, "My God, they're shooting at the President!"

The motorcade slowed and then sped forward at breakneck speed to Parkland Hospital near the Trade Mart.

Onlookers, terrified at the sight and sound of the assassination, dived face forward for protection onto a grassy park at the entrance of the underpass, fearing more shots. Police swarmed into the scene.

At the hospital emergency entrance, Associated Press reporter Jack Bell saw the President stretched out face down at full length, motionless on the back seat of the car. His suit still looked neat — but there was blood on the floor.

Secret Service men helped Mrs. Kennedy away from the car. Hospital attendants aided Connally and his wife.

WHEN THE President was carried into the emergency room, Mrs. Kennedy walked behind — parts of her clothing drenched with blood.

The First Lady remained composed but, inside the emergency room, grasped hands with the new president, Johnson, and his wife, Lady Bird, in a reflex display of deep anguish.

Mrs. Kennedy sat just ahead of the President when the assassin's bullet ripped a gaping wound in the back of his head and sent him sprawling forward.

Crying, "Oh, no," Mrs. Kennedy tried to cradle the dying President's blood-smeared head in her arms as Mr. Kennedy's Secret Service driver sped out of rifle range and toward the nearest hospital.

It seemed clear that the assassination was carefully planned. In the Texas school book depository building, overlooking the overpass, officers found the rifle. They described it as a bolt-action, 6.5 mm. weapon, apparently of Italian make, with a telescopic sight.

ALONG WITH the rifle, partly hidden behind books on the fifth floor of the six-story building, were spent cartridges and scraps of fried chicken. The bullets had come from a 45-degree angle as the presidential car passed the building, which has a clear view of the underpass.

The shots were fired at 12:30 p.m. and the President died at 1 p.m. He was 46 and the youngest man ever elected president.

The last Presidential victim of an assassin was William McKinley, who was felled at close range in 1901 at Buffalo, N.Y., by a crazed gunman who approached him in the guise of a friend who wanted to shake hands.

Kennedy's assassin was not so bold. He fired from a hiding place. And, though police and Secret Service agents quickly drew pistols and automatic weapons, they found no target at which to shoot.

Bob Jackson, a Dallas Times Herald photographer, said he looked around as he heard the shots and saw the rifle barrel disappearing into the upper floor window. He did not see the gunman.

More than a dozen Secret Service agents were within close range of Kennedy when he was shot, just as his limousine left the downtown business section and headed toward the expressway that led toward the hall where he planned to make a luncheon address.

ALL THE carefully trained agents and police could offer no effective protection, however, against the sniper who, with murder in his heart, laid his plans so cleverly and diabolically.

Until tragedy struck at Kennedy, there had been no successful assassination of an American president since the Secret Service was made the special protector of presidents following McKinley's death.

SHORTLY AFTER Mr. Kennedy's death a doctor at Parkland Hospital said, "We never had any hope of saving his life."

Before flying off to Washington to take up the reins of government, Johnson stood aboard the plane, his left hand on a Bible, and swore to faithfully execute the duties of president and defend the Constitution.

The oath was administered by U.S. District Court Judge Sarah T. Hughes, who became the first woman to swear in a president. She was named to her post by Mr. Kennedy in October, 1961.

The plane, with Kennedy's body aboard, arrived at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., at 6:03 p.m.

Pres. Hancher Expresses Shock

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher Friday expressed "shock and grief" at the news of President Kennedy's death, and said it will lower American "standing and prestige throughout the world."

"Without respect to political or partisan affiliation, all thinking citizens are deeply grieved by the great tragedy," Hancher said. He was informed of Mr. Kennedy's assassination while attending a meeting at the Union.

Hancher met with Mr. Kennedy last June to discuss civil rights problems in the nation's schools. Hancher told the President at the time that he regretted not meeting Kennedy in 1959 when the then Senator Kennedy visited Iowa City and attended the Iowa-Notre Dame football game.

tion of the President is a terrible tragedy for the nation. Mrs. Nixon and I have sent a personal message expressing our deepest sympathy to the members of the family in this hour of sorrow."

NEW YORK'S Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, candidate for the Republican nomination for president, described the death of the man he had hoped to oppose as "a shocking and terrible tragedy for the nation and the world."

Rockefeller canceled a campaign trip to New Hampshire and said, "May God grant strength and guidance to Lyndon Johnson as he assumes his grave responsibilities under these tragic circumstances. The prayers of all of us will be with him."

SEN. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a personal friend of Kennedy despite their divergent political views, said: "It is both shocking and dreadful that a thing like this could happen in a free country. The President's death is a profound loss to the nation and the free world."

Alabama Gov. George Wallace said the assassin "must be filled with universal malice toward all." He added: "It is hard to believe that anyone would shoot at the President of the United States. It is the same as if they had shot at you and me."

GOV. Ross Barnett of Mississippi sent a telegram to Mrs. Kennedy: "I am profoundly shocked and deeply distressed at the cowardly act which resulted in the death of President Kennedy. I extend my deepest and most sincere sympathy to you and your children. May God comfort and sustain you in your great loss."

Today's Tilt With N.D. Cancelled

The Board of Athletics met early this morning and decided to cancel the game between Iowa and Notre Dame today due to the death of President Kennedy.

The announcement was made by both Universities. The game will not be played at any time.

Research Grants Awarded to SUI For Physics, Math

Two grants totaling $417,200 have been awarded by the National Science Foundation to SUI in support of basic research programs.

One grant of $390,200 is for research into lithium-induced nuclear reactions, a project under the direction of Richard Carlson, professor of physics.

The project will make use of the newly acquired Van de Graaff accelerator to examine the composition of atomic nuclei by submitting them to high-velocity bombardment by lithium particles. Researchers hope to discover the structure of the nuclei by examining the "smashed" fragments.

The other grant, for $27,000, will support research on "complete ideals in local rings and divisors of second kind." Co-directors of the project are Professors Harry T. Muhly and D. W. Wall of the Mathematics Department. The investigation is part of a program of basic research in abstract algebra.

SUIowans Shocked—

Nov. 22; A Dark, Dark Day at SUI

By CURT SYLVESTER

Friday afternoon was very dark. The heavily overcast Iowa skies poured rain most of the time. Strong winds whipped coats, umbrellas and sheets of driving rain. And the President of the United States was assassinated in Dallas, Texas.

The SUI campus became a sea of puzzled, worried and somber faces. Classes were forgotten as students and faculty gathered at television and radio sets. When the President's death was announced, girls in dorms burst into tears, heads shook in disbelief and most students felt only shock.

By Friday night, the cold rain had turned to sleet and snow but the strong wind still blew across Iowa City. A new President had been sworn in and much of the initial shock had worn off. The television sets and radios still carried reports of the assassination, but the football weekend began at Iowa City.

In most of the campus and city gathering places activity was on about a normal Friday night pace, but in a quieter mood.

In dormitories, students carried on their usual dating procedures. But it was a little different.

Men called for their dates but as they came and went one could constantly hear undertones of conversation about the assassination. Radios were tuned to the news reports and the television rooms were filled.

The bar population was average. When the announcements were the heaviest on television, the drinks stopped and the rooms quieted as people listened intently. As one bartender said "The initial shock has worn off. Now you want to put it out of your mind as quickly as possible."

In the Union, people lounged in the huge, stuffed chairs to eat, play cards and laugh with each other. The only thing out of the ordinary was the crowd which packed the television room.

Words such as "tragedy," and "catastrophe" could be heard in a reference which was quite obvious, as one walked through the library.

The initial shock had worn off on the SUI campus, but students, faculty, and residents were still concerned. Their attention, however, had changed from the shocking incident itself, to what its consequences would be.

Campus life continued but not with the common college student abandon. An air of speculation and meditation hung in the cold November winds in Iowa City.

The body of the slain President will lie in repose at the White House today and will lie in state in the rotunda of the Capitol on Sunday and Monday.

The President's body will be taken a couple of miles to the cathedral at 11 a.m. Monday. There, Richard Cardinal Cushing, archbishop of Boston and close friend of the Kennedy family, will celebrate a Pontifical Requiem Mass at noon.

Cardinal Cushing, a long time friend of the Kennedy family, gave the invocation at the President's inauguration, officiated at his marriage, baptized the two Kennedy children, and presided at the funeral Mass for Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, the first family's son who died within 40 hours after birth last August.

Acting White House press secretary Andrew T. Hatcher said he did not know where Kennedy will be buried. There has been report, still unconfirmed, that burial would be in the family plot in Brookline, Mass.

City hall offices will be closed during President Kennedy's funeral, City Manager Carsten Leikvold announced Friday. The funeral will be at 2:30 p.m. Monday.

Kennedy Saw Irish, Iowa Battle Here

Four years ago Sunday, John F. Kennedy was in Iowa City attending the SUI-Notre Dame football game.

Mr. Kennedy was at that time, Nov. 24, 1959, a United States Senator from Massachusetts and unofficially campaigning for the Presidency.

As the holder of an honorary degree from Notre Dame and a guest of the governor of Iowa, Mr. Kennedy said he was faced with an important political decision. "Someone said I should cheer for Iowa and pray for Notre Dame," Notre Dame defeated Iowa 20-19.

While here, he held a press conference and gave a brief address at the Union, then was a luncheon guest of former Governor Herschel C. Loveless. He had a speaking engagement at Carroll, Iowa, that night.

Speaking to the 1,500 people gathered at the reception in his honor at the Union that morning, Mr. Kennedy said that he had come to Iowa City, not seeking votes, but "because in this city is going to be played the best football game in the country today."

When questioned concerning the Presidential campaign at that time, Mr. Kennedy predicted that Iowa's Governor Loveless would "play an important role in the 1960 Democratic convention." He emphasized, though, that he was not yet campaigning for the Presidency.

Touching Moment As Kennedy Dies

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez of San Antonio said Friday night he watched the nation's First Lady, caked with blood, kiss the lifeless body of her husband on the lips in a last goodbye and take the ring off her finger and place it on his.

"I couldn't take it," Gonzalez told the San Antonio Express in a telephone call from Washington. "I walked away."

Minutes later, Gonzalez said, four attendants wheeled the bronze coffin containing the body of John F. Kennedy out of Dallas' Parkland Hospital for the last trip home.

The congressman was in the presidential motorcade, five cars behind the President when the shots spat out.

Set Kennedy Rites Monday

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy's funeral will be held Monday at St. Matthews Roman Catholic Cathedral, the White House announced Friday night.

The body of the slain President will lie in repose at the White House today and will lie in state in the rotunda of the Capitol on Sunday and Monday.

The President's body will be taken a couple of miles to the cathedral at 11 a.m. Monday. There, Richard Cardinal Cushing, archbishop of Boston and close friend of the Kennedy family, will celebrate a Pontifical Requiem Mass at noon.

Cardinal Cushing, a long time friend of the Kennedy family, gave the invocation at the President's inauguration, officiated at his marriage, baptized the two Kennedy children, and presided at the funeral Mass for Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, the first family's son who died within 40 hours after birth last August.

Iowa's Reaction— Hughes Expresses Iowans' Sympathy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The tragic news of President Kennedy's assassination by a sniper's bullet in Dallas, Tex., Friday hit Iowa like a thunderclap from the leaden skies that covered the state. People wept openly as they heard the news. Others stood stunned in horror.

In Des Moines, Democratic Gov. Harold Hughes said Friday afternoon: "The grief we all feel at this time is beyond anyone's power to express. On the farms and in the cities and towns of the state I know our people are praying for the President's family and for the future of the country he led so well. "Against the background of history, this will go down as one of the greatest tragedies of all time. Our sense of sorrow is shared by human beings everywhere in the world, for who can measure the loss when a leader of Mr. Kennedy's stature dies?"

"AS NIGHT FALLS on this tragic day, I know that the people will draw together in their family groups in grief and prayer. Our first sympathies, of course, are with Mrs. Kennedy and her small children. I am sure that the people of Iowa, along with all the other citizens of the United States, in the deep shock of this hour give their unqualified loyalty to President Johnson upon whom such a heavy burden has been laid."

Republican Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper of Cedar Rapids said he was "almost indescribably shocked with the tragedy. Everyone here is numbed by it."

Republican U.S. Sen. Jack Miller of Sioux City telephoned his office in Washington from Rome, where he is acting as a congressional observer at a meeting of the Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations. "This dreadful news demonstrates," Miller said, "that our nation is threatened from within as well as from without."

"PRESIDENT KENNEDY has paid the supreme sacrifice for his country and the people he loved," President James H. Hilton of Iowa State University said. "The immensity of this terrible act is overwhelming. The President's death is a world tragedy. All of us grieve for this family and for the loss to our nation and the free world."

Quarterly graduation at Iowa State Saturday will be a brief ceremony. There will be no speeches. Republican State Central Committee Chairman George Nagle of Iowa City termed the news "both shocking and distressing."

Reached by telephone in St. Louis where he was attending a 13-state Republican regional conference, Nagle said: "The loss of the head of our nation so suddenly is a deplorable event."

U.S. Rep. John Kyl, of Bloomfield, turned to the poet John Donne to express his feelings. "He quoted Donne as writing, 'No man is an island entirely in himself. Every man is a piece of a continent, a part of the main. Any man's death diminishes me, for I am involved in mankind. Therefore send not to learn for whom the bell tolls. It tolls for thee.'"

California Film Sunday
The Iowa Mountaineers film-lecture Sunday will be "My California," narrated by Stan Midgley. It will be presented at 2:30 p.m. in Macbride Auditorium. Admission will be by season passport or by single admission bought at the door. The price of single admission tickets is 90 cents for adults and 50 cents for children.

Carver Sets Young Demos Meeting; Expresses Anger
Student Body President Mike Carver expressed his dissatisfaction with the SUI Young Democrats as he announced a special meeting for all members of the club.

This meeting will take place in the House Chamber of Old Capitol Tuesday at 7 p.m. "This controversy has been protracted, and should be brought to a speedy resolution for the good of all concerned," he said.

Because recognition from the University is necessary for them to exist on campus, the Student Senate Organizations Committee has asked Dennis Gray, A3, Mapleton, to represent the new Charter SUI Young Democrats at a special committee meeting.

Carver, A4, Waverly, said that Gray's group has already submitted its constitution to the Student Senate Organizations Committee and that the meeting has been called to resolve certain major problems.

It is important that certain safeguards be adopted to insure that no students desiring to join the group be excluded from membership and that a spokesman for the group will be properly elected by the membership," Carver said. First order of business at the meeting Tuesday night will be the ascertaining of membership rolls. All students at the meeting who desire to join the charter SUI Young Democrats will be required to file a letter to the organization simply stating an intent to join it. Students filing such letters will constitute the membership present for voting. Carver added that no proxy letters will be recognized. Those wishing to join the organization must be present at the meeting.

Had JFK's High Esteem—

What Direction Will LBJ Take?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lyndon B. Johnson, coming into the presidency on the assassination death of John F. Kennedy, Friday had Kennedy's high esteem and confidence.

From old political foes — within the Democratic party — they became a close working team.

Johnson tried in 1960 for the presidential nomination. When Kennedy won, Johnson accepted second place on the Democratic ticket.

Accepting the Kennedy leadership, he became extraordinarily active in behalf of the Kennedy policies. This activity included work for the civil rights program Kennedy laid down — something that lessened Johnson's popularity in the South — and there was some talk this year that Johnson might be dumped from the ticket next year.

BUT ON OCT. 31, Kennedy was asked whether, if he ran next year, he would again want Johnson as the vice-presidential nominee, and whether he expected Johnson to be on the ticket.

"Yes, to both of these questions. That is correct," Kennedy replied. Johnson is a former Democratic senator from Texas, best known for the vigorous, aggressive way he handled the job of Democratic leader of the Senate.

What direction will the Johnson administration take? In one of the numerous speeches he made in recent years — this one in Washington on April 26 — Johnson offered a broad view of what he thought the Democrats should attempt in next year's presidential campaign and thereafter. HE SAID THE Democrats must demonstrate that they are a party of action, offering solutions for the new kinds of problems brought about by population increases and concentration, and by the lengthening of life expectancy.

"We have new capacities. We have new potentials. We stand at the edge of a new era of human progress in our own country and in the world," he said.

"At this decisive moment of opportunity, the party of the opposition offers only the slogan 'America cannot do it — America cannot afford the programs that we need.'"

He called for a full and enthusiastic support of Democrats everywhere for Kennedy's foreign and domestic programs.

"THE AMERICAN majority is constructive — and our party today is serving that constructiveness," he said.

Johnson, 55, suffered a heart attack in 1955 but came back and is one of the most vigorous politicians ever on the Washington scene.

As Senate majority leader, he was all over the political picture, but some thought he would have to slow down when he became vice president — ordinarily just a ceremonial job.

But he took on so many chores he needed three offices from which to operate — in the Capitol, in the new Senate office building and in the White House. He kept 17 staffers hopping.

He went to his office but left there almost immediately. His staff said they do not know where he had gone.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, the President's other brother and closest adviser, was having lunch at home when word of his brother's shooting reached him.

Kennedy's personal secretary said the attorney general was remaining at the Kennedy estate in McLean, Va.

All activity at the White House — as, apparently, in every office of the government — came swiftly to a stop when news of the ambush shooting in Dallas arrived.

White House staff members, from the President's closest confidants to lowliest ushers, stood clustered around radio and television sets and news tickers waiting for news from Dallas.

The same was true in Government departments and agencies throughout the capital.

Ralph Yarborough

Senior Texas Senator, Ralph Yarborough, nearly breaks into tears when hearing of the death of President Kennedy. Yarborough has been involved in a feud with President Lyndon B. Johnson over management of the Democratic Party in Texas. One of the reasons Kennedy went to Texas was to soothe friction between liberal and conservative factions.

Shocked Senate In Adjournment Until Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — A shocked Senate adjourned until noon Monday after a prayer by its chaplain for President Kennedy, shot in Dallas, Tex.

The House was not in session. The President's younger brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.) was presiding over the Senate when he received word of the shooting.

He went to his office but left there almost immediately. His staff said they do not know where he had gone.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, the President's other brother and closest adviser, was having lunch at home when word of his brother's shooting reached him.

Kennedy's personal secretary said the attorney general was remaining at the Kennedy estate in McLean, Va.

All activity at the White House — as, apparently, in every office of the government — came swiftly to a stop when news of the ambush shooting in Dallas arrived.

White House staff members, from the President's closest confidants to lowliest ushers, stood clustered around radio and television sets and news tickers waiting for news from Dallas.

The same was true in Government departments and agencies throughout the capital.

When word reached the White House that the President was dead, the tension gave way to tears. Women wept unashamedly and the knots of anxious watchers before the television sets broke up quietly.

Church bells in the neighborhood began to toll, and people began drifting toward the White House to stand silently on the sidewalk, or in Lafayette Park across Pennsylvania Avenue, just to stare.

Occasionally a passerby would ask a White House guard what the news was, then stand dumbly when told the President was dead.

After Today's Game—

Herky Hawk, Iowa's Mascot, Returns Home

By MIKE TEGTMEYER
Staff Writer

Fans attending today's Iowa-Notre Dame football game will have their last chance to see Herky the Hawk this season. Yet have you wondered where Iowa's official mascot is kept during the football off-season?

The bird has attended three home games this season and has watched team action from his perch at the northwest corner of the football stadium.

Herky is approximately five-years-old and was given to the University by a farmer who found him in 1958.

During Herky's "off-season," he resides in Beaver Park Zoo in Cedar Rapids where he is permitted to see some of his public up close.

His home during Iowa's football season is at Crow & Irwin's, a veterinarian hospital, at 512 S. Dubuque. Herky is taken only to Iowa's home games.

Steve Combs, A2, Lake City, is Herky's guardian. He transports him to games and is in charge of caring for him during Iowa games.

Combs pointed out that it is not always a glamorous job. He said Herky is very nervous after every game and dislikes resuming temporary quarters in a cardboard box while being returned to the veterinarian.

Combs said that he has trained Herky to step onto the perch when he arrives at the game, but getting him back in the box after the game is an entirely different matter — sometimes requiring ingenuity and a little skulduggery.

Additional Services Set—

Iowa City Churches Mourn Mr. Kennedy

A somber mood hushed the prayer services for slain President Kennedy held at Trinity Episcopal Church here at 3 p.m. Thursday.

A private service for members of the congregation and Episcopal students will be held at 9 a.m. today.

Nearly 175 mourners attended the hastily-arranged Friday services. Pews were half to completely filled. Late arrivals entered quietly; many appeared cloyed to tears. Not a child spoke, though several were there. Rags were laid in the small lobby for muddy feet.

The Rev. John W. Kress, college chaplain was just returning from downtown. As he walked in the door at 12:30 p.m. he saw students gathered around a television set in the student lounge.

At the service, the Rev. George C. Field, graduate assistant in religion, read the litany. Father Kress read the service and the scriptures.

The First Lesson, from the Old Testament, was Ecclesiasticus 44, which begins, "Let us now praise men of renown." The Second Lesson was Romans 8:14-19, which is a general statement of hope.

The St. Thomas More Chapel was filled to capacity in another church service Friday evening. Students offered their prayers "for the repose" of the soul of President John F. Kennedy.

The Solemn High Requiem Mass was celebrated by Rev. Clarence Stanghor, assisted by Rev. J. W. McEleney and Rev. Stanley Hayek and was dedicated by the Rev. Robert J. Welch.

Other Iowa City churches held or will hold memorial services as follows: St. Patrick's Church, 7:30 p.m. Friday; St. Mary's Catholic Church, 7:10 a.m. today; First Methodist Church (with all Protestant churches), 5:30 p.m. Friday.

Stock prices took their worst beating since "Black Monday," May 23, 1962.

The assassination of the President came just as the market had embarked on a vigorous rally following Thursday's decline, the second sharpest of the year.

News of the President's shooting brought an immediate reversal of the stock rally. Leading issues quickly reversed their gains and began taking sharp losses.

The shock reaction was under way only a short time when the New York Stock Exchange closed.

The Dow Jones industrial average plunged 21.16 to 711.49. On May 23, 1962, the Dow industrials fell 34.95 to 576.93.

Action of the "big board" was quickly followed by closing of the nation's second biggest security mart, the American Stock Exchange and by other exchanges in cities throughout the nation.

Trading was also halted in commodity futures markets and in corporate and U.S. government bonds.

Iowa-Notre Dame Tilt Cancelled

Fourteen Seniors Close Iowa Grid Careers Today

Iowa's football team, hampered by injuries this week after the game with Michigan, closes the 1963 season against Notre Dame today, hoping for a win to extend its season mark to 4-3-2. Kickoff time is 1:30 p.m.

OTHER SENIORS to see action are Bob Sherman, defensive half; George Latta, tackle; Dick Dougherty, flanker, and place-kicker Jay Roberts.

Hilgenberg, who suffered an ankle injury in last week's game, is a doubtful starter, and junior Joe DeAntona may start in his place. Iowa Coach Jerry Burns said that he will not know until today how much action Hilgenberg will see.

Both Burns and Freshman Coach Bill Hoppel, who scouted the Irish, have cautioned the Hawkeyes not to be misled by Notre Dame's 2-6 record this season. "Notre Dame is a greatly improved team, as shown by the fact that it held a 7-6 lead over Michigan State into the fourth quarter. They can mount an explosive offense on occasion," said Burns.

HAPPEL commented, "Notre Dame is a strong defensive team, but has had quarterback problems, shuffling men in and out of that spot. Against Michigan State, they settled upon Alex Bonvechio, who was not even listed on the three-deep roster, and he ran the club well."

Happel pointed out that Notre Dame could start eight men of the team which whipped Iowa, 35-12, in 1962. The leading runners for the Irish are Bill Wolski, averaging 4.6 yards per carry and Joe Kantor and Ron Bley, each averaging 3.8 yards per carry.

Wolski, a left halfback, has been injured and may be replaced in the starting lineup by Pete Duranko, who has a 3.5 yards per carry.

In the Irish passing attack, non-starter John Huarte is pacing the team with 17 of 34 completions. The leading receiver is Jim Kelly, who has caught 16 for 241 yards and two touchdowns.

MIKE REILLY, Iowa's outstanding guard and linebacker who has earned regional and national recognition for his fine play, has been named Honorary Captain of the Hawkeyes for today's game. Burns laughingly remarked, "That's Irish against the Irish." Reilly will also be honored by a cheering block of approximately 200, who will make the trip to the game from his home town of Dubuque.

The Hawkeye passing game, with Gary Snook as the roll-out action and Cloyd Webb and Paul Krause as top catchers, will be used liberally, but Iowa is wary of the Irish secondary defenders who have intercepted 11 passes in eight games. Snook has completed 94 of 90 aeriels for 667 yards and 5 touchdowns with 5 interceptions. Webb has 24 catches for 424 yards and four scores and Krause has 19 for 442 yards and six touchdowns.

IOWA'S RUSHING game will be led by Lonnie Rogers, averaging 4.2 yards on 83 carries and Grier, who has averaged 4.1 yards on 98 carries. The rushing game collected 208 yards against Michigan, the most of this season. Half of those were compliments of Rogers, and one of his runs — a 57-yard sprint — was responsible for one-fourth of the rushing yardage.

The Iowa-Notre Dame series started in 1921, and Notre Dame now leads 10-8-3. Iowa, however, has won five of the last seven games, three of the victories at Iowa City. A crowd of 55,000 is expected for today's contest.

No women are allowed in the press box. The only exceptions are female sports writers, like Harriett Hindman, The Daily Iowan sports editor, and Wilson's secretary, Maxine. This is a custom, Wilson said, because the box is a highly concentrated working area.

Eight to ten coaches scouting the teams for upcoming games sit in a special section in row two. They receive the same service and statistics as the press. The opposing team is allowed five scouts and a telephone to the bench at one end of the box. Iowa's scouts sit at the other end.

The stadium public address announcer, Fred Winter, school executive in physical education at Cedar Rapids, sits in the first floor with a pair of binoculars and a spotter.

A Big Ten rule prohibits scouts from professional teams to sit in the press box. They must buy a ticket and sit in the stands if they want to look at players. Wilson is allowed to send them the standard information book and a personal sketch but nothing else. Scouts will frequently go to spring practice. Wilson said he wants to help Iowa players all he can but the pros are still rivals of college football.

This year the Big Ten allowed an extra official at every game to act as a liaison between the referees and the press box. He stands on the sidelines with a red band on his arm. He alone is allowed to talk to officials for verification of a call.

Many people think there are no checks on a referee and he can officiate any way he wishes. This is not the case. The Big Ten delegates an official observer, a referee's referee, to check on the technical details of the game and write a report.

About 11:15 a.m. the Iowa football team leaves a motel in Mount Vernon and heads for the stadium. Head Coach Jerry Burns wants to have his players concentrate on the upcoming game by keeping them away from noises and other distractions. The Hawks go to the motel late Friday afternoon. They spend Saturday morning relaxing and reviewing last minute strategy. They go to the locker room situated at the north end of the east bleachers. It is a small cramped room on the second floor with wire lockers in the center. Everyone but seniors must share a locker. An equipment room, training room, coaches room and showers are adjacent to the main locker room.

The halftime room is on the ground level and is a large conference room. The players get orange slices at halftime and ginger ale or coffee and all the pop they can drink after the game.

Before noon, 50 to 60 men — primarily I Club members — congregate on the baseball field. Their job — to make money through the sale of football programs.

During the war, the Athletic Department and Student Publications, Inc. agreed to pool their efforts in the production and sale of programs. SPI handles printing and advertising, while the Athletic Department supplies the editorial content. They split the program profits at the end of the year.

About 12:15 p.m. vendors start filing into the stadium. Concessions are furnished by a Cedar Rapids firm. To cut down expenses, the firm donates a member of its concessions to local church groups who staff the booths and receive the profits.

Vendors selling in the stands are local boys who work on a commission basis. Good salesmen will make as much as $25 a game.

Francis I. Graham, business manager of the Athletic Department, is in charge of ticket distribution. Tickets for the general public are sold throughout the year for $5 apiece. General ticket holders sit from the 50-yardline on the west side around the south goal to the north end of the east bleachers. Tickets are purchased either by mail or at the ticket office in the Fieldhouse.

SUI students sit in a block running north from the 42-yard line on the west side through the north bleachers. The Pep Club members, distinguished by their white hats, have select seats on the 35-yard line. The cheering section runs north from the Pep Club seats.

The visiting school's block is 30 rows high running south from the 50-yardline on the east side to the south end zone. For Iowa home games, Graham sends a block of tickets to the opposing school. Tickets not sold are sent back for general sale. About 1 p.m. the Hawkeye

Seniors Bid Farewell to Iowa Stadium

Fourteen seniors will wear the black and gold uniforms of Iowa for the last time today when the Hawks meet Notre Dame at 1:30 p.m. If Iowa is far enough ahead in the final moments of the game, these Hawks will follow tradition by running off the field as each man is called. ## MSU, Illini Battle for Crown

CHICAGO — The Big Ten football season closes today and there can be considerable juggling in the final standings. But to many, there is only one game — Illinois (4-1-1) at Michigan State (4-0-1).

The winner of this game captures the title and goes to the Rose Bowl. A tie also would clinch it all for the Spartans.

Purdue at Indiana and Wisconsin at Minnesota were cancelled by officials of the schools Friday night.

Michigan State is a slight favorite, based on several factors. One, it has the home field advantage and that has been strong in the conference this season. Two, it can afford to play for a tie if such a strategy becomes a factor in the game. Three, defense against rushing has been its strong point and that is the best part of Illinois' attack.

Fourth, and perhaps most important, it has, in halfback Sherman Lewis, the Big Ten's most dynamic runner, a guy who can break up a ball game all by himself. The 152-pound Mighty Mite has five runs this season of more than 80 yards and the Illini may have trouble in keeping him bottled up all day.

Illinois has the bigger team and could prove to be stronger in the man-to-man physical punishment which decides ball games. The best Illinois runners are halfback Sam Price and fullback Jim Grabowski. The Illinois defense is spearheaded by center Dick Butkus, a linebacker many regard as the nation's best lineman.

While an Illinois victory would give that school its first title in a decade, a loss could drop the Illini to third place. That would come about if Ohio State beats Michigan. But the Wolverines are on the upbeat and anxious to make amends for three straight losses to Coach Woody Hayes' Buckeyes. A Michigan triumph would give the Wolverines their best finish since their runnerup term in 1956. It would assure them of the first division spot.

Drake - Cyclone Tilt Today

DES MOINES — Drake has scored only seven points in its last six football games with Iowa State but the Bulldogs are hoping a couple of freshmen will help them make a better showing here today. The game marks the end of the season for both teams and their 63rd meeting since their rivalry started in 1898.

Both Drake and the Cyclones are still licking their wounds from defeats a week ago. Drake lost, 34-29, to Omaha and Iowa State was upset, 21-10, by Kansas State. Coach Bus Mertes, whose Bulldogs lost only 14-7 to Iowa State a year ago after the Cyclones had scored five straight shutouts, is counting on halfback C. T. Traylor and the passing of Ron Royer.

Both teams have 4-4 records going into the game.

Marching Band combined with the Scottish Highlanders perform About 1:25 p.m. co-captains Paul Krause and Wally Hilgenberg walk to the center of the field to meet with officials and the opposing captains to flip the coin.

About 1:30 p.m. the teams are lined up for the kickoff. The official blows the whistle. The fans stand and chant. The drums beat. Jay Roberts runs at the ball and kicks. The game is underway.

Business Manager of Athletics "Buzz" Graham announced early this morning that the Iowa-Notre Dame game has been cancelled, and will not be replayed at any time. The decision was made by officials of both Universities.

Sports Events Cancelled; No Televised Games Today

The traditional football game between Harvard, alma mater of President Kennedy, and Yale was called off Friday as news of his assassination swept across a horrified nation.

Harvard and Yale were to have played today at New Haven, Conn. A Harvard spokesman said the game was "cancelled" and added "it probably will not be rescheduled." A joint announcement at Yale said it would "not take place this weekend."

Princeton University postponed its scheduled game with Dartmouth. No new date was set immediately.

Army and Navy, who do not meet in football until Nov. 30, cancelled today's soccer game and cross-country meet. In addition, Army cancelled a 150-pound football game and Navy called off both a 150 pound game and a plebe football game with Cornell.

THE COLUMBIA Broadcasting System said it would not televise any of the National Football League games on Sunday nor the Clemson at South Carolina and Wisconsin at Minnesota collegiate football games today. The postponed Yale-Harvard game also was to have been televised.

Later, the Minnesota-Wisconsin game was called off. The Boston College-Boston University football game also was postponed, along with Colorado at Air Force, North Carolina at Duke, Columbia at Rutgers and others.

FRIDAY'S RACING at Aqueduct, Narragansett Park and Pimlico was called off after the day's programs had started.

Madison Square Garden quickly announced that its usual nationally televised boxing bout scheduled for Friday night had been cancelled.

The complete Friday card of four games in the National Basketball Association also was postponed. The games involved were Los Angeles at San Francisco, Philadelphia at Baltimore, Boston at Philadelphia and Detroit at Cincinnati.

There were no Friday night games scheduled in the National Hockey League.

Bert McGrane Honored at Press Dinner

Veteran sportswriter Bert McGrane, of the Des Moines Register, was honored at a press dinner here Friday night at the University Athletic Club, in honor of his retirement, by the Iowa Athletic Department.

Bert, who has covered games at Iowa in three different press-boxes, including "a couple of games on the other side of the river," was presented with a large color photograph of the Iowa Stadium with the newest press box crowning its top. An insert photo in the lower right hand corner showed Bert in his usual place at press row.

Athletic Director Forest Evashevski also presented McGrane with a "retirement cake" covered with lead paragraphs from three of Bert's top stories: the two Hawkeye victories in the Rose Bowl, and the famous 14-14 tie with Notre Dame in 1953.

"It almost looks like a birthday cake," quipped McGrane. "I only wish it were a birthday cake instead of a retirement cake," replied Evy. Stating he hoped to come back and see a few Iowa games, and possibly visit the press box, Bert was guaranteed by Evy that his seat in press row would always be there for him.

Major Hopkins says the purpose for having the club is to "forward the development of those characteristics of honesty, good fellowship, self-discipline, team-play and self-reliance which are the essentials of good sportsmanship and the foundation of true patriotism."

Major Hopkins said that the SUI club is affiliated with the National Rifle Association.

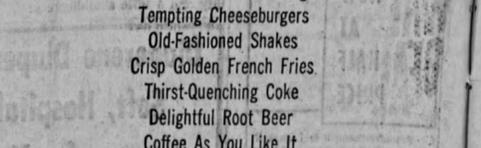

He said that the club has its own equipment for reloading shotgun shells and that trap shooting equipment is also available.

According to Major Hopkins, the club has the use of two boats which belong to the AFROTC detachment. He says one is used for fishing, and the other one is used for water skiing.

This winter the Air Force Rod and Gun Club plans to hold several snow skiing parties in addition to its regular function of promoting hunting and fishing.
