

As Ruby Trial Plods On—

Judge Reprimands Defense Lawyer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — An industrial engineer was selected Friday as the second juror in Jack Ruby's murder trial, in a stormy session in which one defense lawyer was threatened with contempt.

Allen W. McCoy, 39, dark-haired father of two children, was the 36th prospect called in the four-day trial of Ruby for the shooting Nov. 24 of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

He was sworn in immediately and taken to the eighth floor of the courthouse to join Max Causey, an electronics analyst, who was chosen for the jury Thursday.

McCoy testified under defense questioning that while he was not against imposing the death sentence on a convicted criminal, it would be "a hard decision to make."

ASKED UNDER DEFENSE

questioning if he would be willing to be judged by a juror with his identical frame of mind, McCoy replied, "I don't think I'd have a better chance unless he was loaded in my favor."

The judge's threat to cite for contempt of court came during the morning session.

Defense attorney Joe Tonahill was questioning jury candidate Herbert Goellner, a building maintenance supervisor. Judge Joe B. Brown warned him against shouting and against repeating questions that had been ruled out of order.

Finally, the judge told him: "Mr. Tonahill, I don't want to have to hold you in contempt."

EARLIER, TONAHILL had insisted over state objections that Goellner held definite opinions in the case that disqualified him as a juror.

When Judge Brown disagreed, Tonahill declared: "I move that we bring in a polygraph — lie detector — and test this witness and see if he is capable of laying aside his opinions."

Judge Brown denied the motion and eventually the defense was forced to use one of its dwindling supply of peremptory challenges to get rid of Goellner.

During the heated questioning of Goellner, Tonahill shouted at one point: "Now if the district attorney thinks that Dallas County has got to kill Jack Ruby . . ."

Asst. Dist. Atty. A. D. (Jim) Bowie, a handsome dark-haired man and Tonahill's chief adversary, interrupted with an objection, but the defense lawyer cried: "There's more desperation in the district attorney's mind than is conceivable."

"I don't want you to raise your voices," Judge Brown said. "I don't want you shouting each other down. We're only five feet apart."

"YOUR HONOR," replied Tonahill, "I most abjectly apologize for raising my voice and I won't do it again. I spent 30 months in the Navy serving my country. . . ."

Bowie, with an air of quiet desperation, offered another objection that blocked Tonahill from further discourse.

Goellner's dismissal occurred after the defense used another of its peremptory challenges to eliminate Bill Bohannon, 38, a salesman who first took the witness stand late Thursday.

The state also exercised a peremptory challenge — without being required to give any reason — on James C. Bland, a store manager for an appliance company.

Thus far, the defense has used seven of its 15 peremptory challenges, and the state two. Once these are exhausted, prospective jurors cannot be barred from the panel unless the judge finds some specific cause for their dismissal.

During the day, Judge Joe B. Brown's son, Joe Jr., a justice of the peace, said he received a bomb threat, telephoned to his office about two miles from the downtown courthouse where the trial is being held. He quoted a male voice as saying:

"I think I should tell you that a bomb is in the courthouse."

Police were notified. They found no bomb.

SUI's Mahan Plans To Seek Second Term in Iowa House

Bruce E. Mahan, dean emeritus of SUI's Extension Division, announced his candidacy Friday for re-election to the State House of Representatives. He is a Democrat.

In announcing his candidacy Dean Mahan said that many problems in Iowa remain to be solved. We must face and give adequate support to the growing needs of elementary, secondary and higher education. We must provide for the needs of state agencies, social welfare, mental health and the aging. We must deal responsibly with mounting tax problems, and work toward cordial relations between rural and urban Iowans. We must strive primarily for a vigorous economy and progressive Iowa.

DEAN MAHAN has been a member of the SUI staff since 1923 having served as a lecturer in history, professor, director and dean of the Extension Division.

Dean Mahan is the author of books and magazine articles on state and Mississippi Valley history, including nearly 100 stories for "The Palimpsest," the State Historical Society publication.

Dean Mahan, who had been a legislative consultant for nearly 40 years, served Johnson County as an elected representative for the first time in the 60th General Assembly.

"I BELIEVE my record in the 60th General Assembly shows that

BRUCE MAHAN Seeking Re-election

I have the background and experience needed to serve Johnson County and the state of Iowa again," Mahan said.

Dean Mahan received his B.A. from SUI in 1914, his M.A. in 1920, and Ph.D. in 1927.

Since his retirement in 1961, Dean Mahan has been doing research in preparation for writing a history of the University.

3 Members Of Congress To Talk Here

Political Affairs Meet Features Sen. Church, Reps. Lindsay, Battin

Three members of Congress will make the study of political science come alive for students here Monday and Tuesday.

Speakers for the first Political Affairs Conference sponsored by the SUI Student Senate will be Rep. James F. Battin of Montana, Sen. Frank Church of Idaho and Rep. John V. Lindsay of New York.

Church and Lindsay will be featured in a debate open to the public at 8 p.m. Monday in Macbride Auditorium. Their topic will be "Resolved: Congress should support the Johnson Program" (as stated in his major addresses and messages since he took office).

BATTIN, A MEMBER of the House Judiciary and Foreign Affairs Committees and chairman of the Republican Task Force Committee on Cuba and Subversion in the Western Hemisphere, will talk to two classes, address the SUI Young Republicans and have lunch with the Johnson County Republican Central Committee and the SUI Young Republicans Monday.

Church will speak to a political parties class Tuesday and will attend a luncheon Tuesday for the SUI Young Democrats at the Holiday Inn.

A member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Church gave the keynote address and was temporary chairman of the 1960 Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles.

First Wheat Ship Arrives in Russia

ODESSA, U.S.S.R. (AP) — The American freighter Exilona, coated with ice and 12 hours ahead of schedule, arrived here Friday with the first cargo of U.S. wheat for the Soviet Union.

With U.S. and Soviet flags flying, she docked in midafternoon.

Soviet harbor officials told the Exilona's master, Capt. Edward Jungerheld of New York, that the 6,500 tons of wheat aboard would be unloaded within three days. The ship sailed from Hoboken, N.J., on Jan. 31.

LBJ—No Panic on Agenda

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — President Johnson said Friday that "there is no panic on our agenda" and warned Red China it is playing a deeply dangerous game in South Viet Nam.

And the visiting president of Mexico, Adolfo Lopez Mateos, called on wise men of the world to apply genius and imagination to abolishing cold war and wiping out the origins of international tension.

The two presidents spoke at Charter Day ceremonies at the University of California at Los Angeles, 90 miles from Palm Springs, which is headquarters for their California visit.

JOHNSON welcomed Lopez Mateos to this country in ceremonies at Los Angeles International Airport. They traded bear hugs. Lopez Mateos looked up at the 6-foot-3 Johnson and remarked in Spanish: "If I had remembered you were so

Freedoms Foundation Honors Iowans, Glenn

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP) — The George Washington Honor Medal Award was presented four individuals and a school from Iowa Friday night. An Honor Certificate Award went to a business.

The awards were for the things they depicted to "bring about a better understanding of the American way of life." They are presented annually by the Freedoms Foundation.

The foundation's top George Washington Award, worth $5,000 went to former astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., of New Concord, Ohio, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate.

Glenn was cited "for nobly yet humbly personifying the American way of life by sincere patriotic words and deeds in our country's hours of challenge and for inspiring all Americans in actively espousing resolute, responsible and reverent patriotism, by boldly speaking for this republic under God."

Iowa recipients of the honor medal were:

Frank Miller, Des Moines Register, for a cartoon; Don Cunningham, Ida Grove Pioneer Record, for an editorial; Ed Grady, Maquoketa, for a public address; Eldon Pletcher, Sioux City Journal, for a cartoon; and West High School, Waterloo, in the school category.

Equitable of Iowa received an honor certificate for its non-profit publication, whose editor is George Pease.

Besides Glenn, the foundation honored 922 other individuals, schools, businesses and organizations for things they wrote, said, did or photographed during 1963, "to bring about a better understanding of the American way of life."

IFC, IFPC Queens Morrison and Lee

Brooke Morrison, D.K. Des Moines, and Terrie Lee, A1 Mt. Prospect, Ill., were crowned queens at the Greek Week Dance held in the Main Lounge of the Union Friday night.

Miss Morrison, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, reigns as the Interfraternity Council queen; Miss Lee, a Kappa Alpha Theta pledge, was named queen of the Interfraternity Pledge Council.

Lots of Toothbrushes

The 11th grade social studies class of University High School is trying to aid the shine of Columbian's teeth by sending them 2,000 toothbrushes. The students learned the need for the brushes from Miss Virginia Selle, a former U-High social studies teacher, who is serving with the Peace Corps in Convencion, Columbia. Miss Selle reported Columbians rarely have more than half their teeth because of poor dental care. The class, aided by instructor Robert Fitch, took up a collection and purchased 2,000 "reject" brushes (having minor flaws only on the handles) from the Owens Brush plant in Iowa City. The brushes will be sent by mail. Helping pack up their project are Carol Davis, Gerber, 17, 359 Magowan Ave.; Nue street and Sue Fischer, 16, 604 W. Park

Small Sums Borrowed by Bobby Baker

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert G. (Bobby) Baker, who a year ago claimed a net worth of over $2 million and powerful friends in the Senate, was pictured Friday as a borrower of small sums totaling about $1,000 in the past couple of months.

The testimony came from one of Baker's business associates, Fred B. Black Jr., who said he held a block of bank stock recommended by the late multi-millionaire Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.) for Baker, but that Baker never came up with his share of the money.

Black told the Senate Rules Committee at a closed session last Monday that he borrowed $175,000 to buy 6,400 shares of stock in the Farmers & Merchants State Bank in Tulsa after Kerr told him it would be "a fine investment."

THE COMMITTEE, which is seeking to determine whether Baker, 35, misused his official position while serving as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority, released Black's testimony Friday.

At the same time Baker's lawyer, Edward Bennett Williams, told a reporter the former Senate aide is in the clear on possible contempt of Congress charges growing out of his refusal to submit his financial records to the committee.

Baker, who resigned under fire last Oct. 7, was subpoenaed before a closed session last Wednesday and is due to reappear before the committee next Tuesday, this time at an open hearing.

COMMENTING on a statement by Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) that

Baker was in contempt the moment he appeared before the committee without the subpoenaed records, Williams said: "It's a lot of humbug when they say we didn't bring the records with us. Baker had in his briefcase all of the subpoenaed records — whatever is in existence — when he appeared."

Black, Washington representative of North American Aviation Corp., is listed in committee records as co-owner with Baker of 57 per cent of the stock of the Serve-U Corp., a vending machine firm that has lucrative franchises with North American and the Northrop Corp., another big aerospace defense contractor.

BLACK TOLD the committee that at Kerr's suggestion he made an oral agreement with Baker to sell Baker half of his $175,000 worth of stock in the Tulsa bank "at any time that he could come up with the money."

Kerr told him, Black said, that except for his wife and his sons he never loved a man so much as he did Bobby Baker."

Black said he was able to borrow the $175,000 from the Fidelity National Bank & Trust Co. of Oklahoma City after Kerr, who controlled the bank, introduced him by telephone to the bank's president. That was on March 20, 1962. Kerr died on Jan. 1, 1963.

WHEN BAKER was unable to pay for his share, Black said, he sold about half of the Tulsa bank stock to Edward Levinson, whom he described as a Las Vegas gambler, and Benjamin Sigelbaum, a Miami real estate operator.

Black said he sold 1,500 shares to Levinson and 1,600 shares to Sigelbaum to "help protect me on the amount of money that the note was for, so that I could not suffer a terrible loss if the stock went down instead of up."

The Legislature and reapportionment plans

THE IOWA LEGISLATURE opens a special session Monday to consider reapportioning itself. The Legislature has no choice but to do so. However, there are complications in following the Federal Court's order that the Legislature must be reapportioned in time for this fall's elections.

The major complication is that the rural dominated Legislature must apportion itself more fairly. Most legislators — while admitting this must be done — have personal reservations of how far to go. They, undoubtedly, fear the loss of office, the loss of their individual legislative power and the loss of strength by their particular party. These legislators will obviously do everything in their power to prevent these losses.

Despite these personal feelings, the legislators are faced with the Federal District Court's order that the Legislature be reapportioned with one house based on population and the other house based on population with a "rational" area factor. The court has expressed no opinion as to which house should be on population and which house should have the area factor.

Practically all students of government and most politicians agree that it is best that the House be the population body and the Senate represent the minority or area factors. However, there is apparently a movement — so far kept out of the headlines — by legislators from the less populous counties to place the Senate on population and to retain the one representative per county factor in the House.

In an article in the Bloomfield Democrat, Representative Dewey Goode (R-Bloomfield), who has the second longest tenure of any legislator now serving, was quoted as saying he would be fighting for this type of reapportionment plan.

Goode would reapportion the House so that each county has a representative and that extra representatives be given to the more populous counties. One example cited by Goode was a 120-member house. This would mean that 21 representatives would be apportioned to the more populous counties.

Such a plan definitely does not serve the interests of Iowa. It does not base the House on area, but instead the seats would be apportioned according to county units — one for each county regardless of area or population. This is not area representation nor is it population representation.

For example, the state's largest county, Polk, probably would be given three representatives under the plan proposed by Goode. Each one of Polk's representatives would represent 88,771 people while the representative of Adair County — the state's smallest — would represent only 10,893. This, in our opinion, is no logical population area factor.

Furthermore, it is far better for the house with the larger membership and the shorter terms to represent population for two principal reasons:

Each member would represent a smaller number of constituents. In the larger chamber (normally the House) terms are usually for two years and expire simultaneously. This allows the popular will to be reflected more swiftly than in the Senate (generally the chamber with the smallest membership) where members usually serve four-year terms that overlap, with half the membership being elected every two years.

Despite the reasoning and logic in passing a plan with the House representing population and the Senate representing population and area, there may well be a formidable drive to pass a plan that follows the form outlined by Goode.

Legislators interested in good government and fair representation should not allow this to happen. If it does, Gov. Harold Hughes should exercise his veto power to prevent such a plan from becoming law.

She would have danced all night

By ART BUCHWALD

There are two definite status symbols attached to the Johnson Administration. One is swimming with the President in your birth-day suit in the White House pool, if you're a man, and the other is dancing with him, if you're a woman, at a White House reception.

If our present day historians are correct, there is nothing the President likes to do more than to swim and dance, and he doesn't like to do either alone. In the past week we have been treated to BUCHWALD's first person accounts of how it is to dance with the President of the United States. There is hardly a female reporter in Washington who hasn't danced with President Johnson, and if the President is

Wednesday night University and Iowa City music lovers were treated to another fine concert of the University Symphony Orchestra under the gifted leadership of James Dixon.

The program, which included works by Berlioz, Wuerinen and Brahms, was rather heavily weighted with music of the Romantic era. It did have the advantage, however, of presenting two contrasting trends of the period: the radical, programmatic and literary interests of Berlioz, and the classical conservatism of Brahms. Most commendable was conductor Dixon's inclusion of the yet unpublished contemporary work by Wuerinen. The soloist of the evening was the pianist, John Simms.

The near capacity audience seemed especially thoughtful, critical and expressive about the musical experience presented them. The orchestra in its third concert of the season showed excellent progress toward better ensemble playing and greater plasticity and flexibility in expression.

THE CONCERT began with the "Love Scene" of Hector's Romeo and Juliet, op. 17. This was the third major section of the work, which is for orchestra, soloists and chorus. In attempting to convey the sublime quality of Romeo and Juliet's love, Berlioz uses the more extensive possibilities of the orchestra alone in this section.

The work as performed was pleasant enough; it contained an abundant supply of ardent melodies, usually given to the cello section in its upper register, and frequently alternating with the flute section. Conductor Dixon had excellent control of the orchestra in the rhythmically flexible rubato passages. There was occasionally some slight hesitation in beginning phrases among the sections, but this was overcome as the orchestra progressed through the evening and gained confidence.

By far the most interesting and exciting event of the evening was Therefore we were surprised as anyone to find a young lady from one of the leading American newspapers sobbing uncontrollably at the west gate of the White House the other morning.

WE HELD HER in our arms until she calmed down and then asked her what the trouble was. "I'm a wallflower at the White House," she said. "That's not true," we said. "Everyone likes you."

"No, no, no," she sobbed. "It is true. I've been to two dinners and three receptions and the President hasn't asked me to dance once."

"YOU MUSTN'T take it personally," we told her. "The President can't dance with everyone."

"Yes, he can," she said, "and he has. That's why I'm so unhappy."

"That's what you think. I've gotten an exclusive interview with Bobby Baker, I broke the story on Panama, I was the first one who wrote about the water being shut off at Guantanamo Bay, and all my editor keeps asking me, 'When are you going to dance with President Johnson?'"

THERE WILL BE no effective third party movement in 1964, Mississippi, which cast its 1960 electoral votes for Sen. Byrd, may be expected to try for a third candidate or, again, repeat the futile gesture of four years before. Alabama, with the full weight of the Administration pre-empted against the Democratic party at the national level, may succeed in electing "independent" electors. They will not, of course, be independent. They will be tied closely to the state administration and, supposedly, will vote as it directs.

But it is only in Mississippi and Alabama that one encounters any measurable sentiment to bolt or form a third party group. The Dixiecrats of 1948, formed in Alabama by Bull Connor, until recently police commissioner of Birmingham, cast their votes for Sen. Strom Thurmond. But even though President Harry Truman, target of the Dixiecrats, was not too strong, he won the election. The Dixiecrat defection was ineffective. Third party moves of 1964 have much less drive than that of 1948.

Conservatives in the Old Dominion have expanded the Virginia Conservative Council into the National Conservative Council. It may hold a convention at Chicago on July 31, hard on the heels of the Republican deliberations and nominations. These conservatives give evidence of being the sort that former President Eisenhower had in mind when he said recently that he did not think many persons who called themselves conservatives understood what the word means.

THE VIRGINIA director has said that whether the convention will be held depends on what the GOP does at its sessions. Since the Virginia Council passionately supports Sen. Goldwater, the inescapable implication is that the Virginians and those who have joined their council will meet and nominate the Arizona if the GOP does not. "We are not a third party," said the director. "Whether we become one will depend on what happens at the Republican convention."

Since the Republicans almost certainly will not nominate Sen. Goldwater, we may expect to see the Council of Conservatives form a third party. But more than a press release is needed to establish a political party. The Virginians of the Conservative Council will hardly bring themselves to join with their kinsmen cousins in social and political philosophy, the conservative White Citizens Councils, or with what Richard Nixon described as the "Kooks and Nuts" of California's extreme conservative right. This newly proposed third party, if it is announced, will be relatively impotent, full of sound and fury, signifying very little.

The two party system, happily, manages to survive despite the bolts, defections and third-party dreams of those who don't want to play unless they can have things their way.

Another third party and The South

A substantial number of Alabama Democrats will contest Gov. George Wallace's plan to elect a group of uncommitted electors for the Nov. election. If the governor wins (and he is favored), the electors who wish to vote for the Democratic nominee automatically will be deprived of that right because of the electoral system. The electors finally cast the presidential ballots.

Gov. Wallace has been speaking here and there about the country, presumably probing sentiment for a third party with himself as the leader. To the observer no great stir appears to have been created. The governor, however, has said that he has found much interest in states rights. Politicians are not unlike other persons. When they wish to hear something they manage to do so.

The states rights concept has been, and is, almost entirely a narrow Southern one and, as the Congress showed in its debates on the civil rights bills, fewer and fewer Southerners are interested morality has reached a climax at the University of Utah.

ACCORDING TO REPORTS in the Daily Utah Chronicle, campus newspaper, a controversial art display including several nude studies was removed from the Union Ballroom after the Board of Regents requested it.

The author of an editorial in the same issue charged: "The plain fact of the matter is that the Board of Regents, acting from fear of the opinion of some people in the local community, have used their position to impose their subjective, arbitrary and completely inept judgment of art on the entire university."

Another bare fact not mentioned in the paper, though it has been rumored around the state, is that 80 per cent of the Regents membership owns clothing stores.

COLORADO Gov. John Love has proposed a budget which gives state colleges and universities $154,000 less in state funds. Love believes that students ought to pay increased tuition fees and the state should keep the money.

Eight college presidents are demanding that these budget recommendations be overridden; they believe increases in fees would mean reductions in student numbers and decreased revenue.

Gov. Love has not taken kindly to this action by the presidents. It's not hard to see why; their methods are too crude. Had they been smooth politicians, every college in the state would have made Gov. Love an honorary student and applied all tuition increases to his U-bill.

STUDENTS SAVINGS may help provide bigger and beefier football at Kansas State University. This is what the university officials are hoping.

President James A. McCain has approved a proposal to increase student fees by $9.50 a year to finance a crash program for recruiting heavier participants in university sports activities.

The conclusion drawn from the Kansas State situation is simple: if SU faculty members are ever to get increased salaries, they've got to put on some weight and start booting the pigskin around.

Dorm coeds punch timeclock at U.C.

By JON VAN

Automation has arrived. Even the strict and often archaic guardians of coed hours, (themselves rather strict and archaic) have taken to the use of machines to assist them in their nightly vigil.

University of California coeds will punch in and out at a time clock by the elevators in the dormitory now when they dare venture from the protective dorm walls. Each girl will be issued her own time card.

It's also rumored that officials enforcing the rules will henceforth be referred to as "foreman" or "boss" instead of the customary "warden."

Iowa Gymnasts Meet Indiana

Gymnasts In Only Home Meet Today

By TOM MATTAUSCH
Staff Writer

The Hawkeye gymnasts, sporting an undefeated record in the Big Ten, will face Indiana today in their first and only home meet of the season. Competition will begin at 2 p.m. in the newly-remodeled North Gym of the Field House.

Indiana, considered one of the weaker teams in the conference, has considerable strength in the tumbling, free exercise, trampoline and high bar events.

The Hawks have defeated Michigan and Wisconsin, two of the top teams in the league, and also hold victories over Michigan State, Illinois and Minnesota.

Explanations of the newly-devised scoring method, which is being used by the Big Ten this year, will be distributed to spectators.

IN PREPARATION for the Big Ten tournament, Iowa Coach Dick Holzaepfel is planning to use many of his secondary competitors against Indiana along with Hawkeye stars Glenn Gallis and George Hery.

Steve Drish, Bob Swanson, Pete Drodzowicz, Elliot Pearl, Jack Sebbin and Barry Keely should score valuable points for the Hawkeyes.

"This team is the greatest bunch of characters I've ever seen," Holzaepfel commented. "Whether we win, lose or draw in our remaining conference meets, this year will have been one of my greatest experiences."

ACCORDING TO Holzaepfel, the gymnasts' success this season is the result of many factors. The cooperation given minor sports by Athletic Director Forest Evashevski and his assistant, Bob Flora, has given the Hawks the opportunity to become the third undefeated gymnastics team in Iowa history.

MEN LIKE HERY, who is probably one of the greatest trampoline competitors at this time, and Gallis, a potential national champion on the parallel bars, have prevented even the toughest teams from sweeping the Hawks in any single event. All-around gymnasts like Pearl and Drish have supplied the depth that is often needed to win.

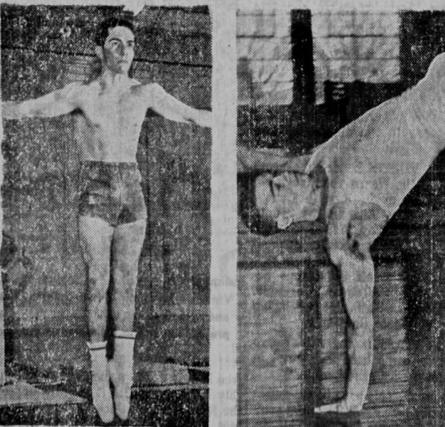

But this ability is the result of the team's desire to practice. "I never have to push them," said Holzaepfel. "Their consistency at practice is remarkable, and they work harder and faster than any other team we've met." The team holds voluntary make-up practices on Saturdays and Sundays.

"THEY'RE ALSO gentlemen," the coach remarked. "Iowa should never be ashamed of this team either physically or socially."

The gymnasts don't confine their

Clay - On and On

MIAMI BEACH (AP)—Cassius Clay finished his boxing sessions with a fancy bit of footwork Friday and with an even slicker performance at a mass press conference.

"I'm gonna outpoint him in the first seven rounds and knock him out in the eighth," said the 22-year-old challenger who meets heavyweight champion Sonny Liston Tuesday night.

That was Clay's final word until the next time.

"I'm gonna weight 215 pounds," he said. "Yes, sir, 215 pounds of greased lightning. I'm gonna move like a lightweight. Next to me that Liston is gonna look like a dump truck."

"I'm gonna float like a butterfly and sting like a bee."

"Yes sir I'm gonna upset the whole world."

And so it went. On and on and on.

Iowa Faces Spartans' Fast Break, Balanced Scoring

PROBABLE LINEUPS

TIME AND PLACE: Tonight, 7:30, Iowa Field House

TICKETS: On sale in Field House lobby

BROADCASTS: WSUI, Iowa City; WMT, KCRG, Cedar Rapids

PRELIMINARY GAME: Alumni vs. Freshmen, 8 p.m.

Only a week after Michigan State poured in 107 points, an all-time high for an Iowa opponent, the Spartans and Hawkeyes met again in the Field House tonight at 7:30.

Iowa Coach Sharm Scheuerman commented, "We are looking forward eagerly to this second meeting with Michigan State. If the boys aren't anxious to go out and do something about that bad beating a week ago, then something is wrong somewhere. I think we have a good chance to win, but we will have to play inspired ball. We were very unhappy about that 107-point total at East Lansing. If we will continue the same hustle and enthusiasm we displayed against Ohio State Monday night, we will be all right."

SCHUEERMAN ALSO said the Hawks will have to stop the Spartans' fast break and cut down their rebounding advantage to win. Balanced scoring has been one of Michigan State's assets. The Spartans are led by Pete Gent, averaging 21 points a game; Fred Thomann, 15 and Marcus Sanders and Stan Washington, 14.

SIX MEN scored in double figures in the win over Iowa, with Washington the most damaging to the Hawkeyes with 23 and Bill Schwarz with 14. Gent was held to ten points.

The Spartans, now sixth in the Big Ten standings, will be fighting for a first-division berth. They have a 5-6 mark in the conference with three games left, and could finish as high as fourth.

MICHIGAN STATE will start its regular combination of Gent and Sanders at forwards; Thomann at center and Washington and Schwarz at guards.

Scheuerman said Friday night that he will start his usual second-semester lineup of Dave Roach and Joel Jessen at forwards; Ed Bastian at center and Jimmy Rodgers and Dennis Pauling at guards.

ROACH IS the leading Iowa scorer with a 16.2 average and is followed by Rodgers, averaging 11.8. Sophomore forwards Gary Olson, who is expected to see lots of action tonight, has an 8.2 average and has played in only five games.

Iowa leads Michigan State in the series, 12-11, since the Spartans entered the conference in 1951, and the all-time record shows Iowa on top, 16-12. The Hawks have won the last three games in the Field House, the last Michigan State victory being recorded in 1958.

A.L. Paves Way For New Meeting; Finley's Expulsion

BOSTON (AP)—Fellow American League owners lost patience with unyielding Athletics boss Charles O. Finley Friday and paved the way — by a 9-1 vote — to expel him.

This final ballot authorized Joe Cronin, league president, to call a meeting of the board of directors, who in turn would decide the time and place of a general meeting — probably within a week to 10 days.

The meeting would consider and act upon the termination of Finley's status as an owner.

FINLEY, IN A subdued statement read by attorney Louis Nizer, said he would make no move until after the next league meeting.

Earlier in the closed-door session Friday the owners determined by a 9-1 vote — Finley dissenting — that the Kansas City Council's proposed lease for use of the city stadium by the A's had been "fair and reasonable." On those grounds they declared Finley had failed to secure the stadium lease as ordered.

Swimmers, Fencers, Track Team on Road

Fencers at Champaign

Iowa's improved fencing team meets Detroit and Illinois at Champaign today.

The Hawkeyes, led by letterman Mike Kinsinger, have gained strength from Karlin Ryan, Ivory McDowell and Orville Townsend, and have won five of their last eight meets.

Kinsinger has won 18 bouts and lost only three this season.

Thinclads Seek 2nd Win

The Hawkeye indoor track team seeks its second win of the season today when the thinclads face Illinois, Northwestern and Bradley in a quadrangular meet at Champaign.

Top performers for the Iowa team should be sophomore Al Randolph, who won both the low and high hurdles in the triangular with Purdue and Grinnell which the Hawks won last week; Steve Goldston, an outstanding sophomore sprinter; and letterman Gary Hollingsworth, the Big Ten indoor 440-yard champion.

Hollingsworth will be challenged by Tom Thomas of Northwestern, who was runner-up in the conference indoor quarter mile last year, and Tom Fugate, who tied Hollingsworth last week.

Other top performers include Purdue's Nate Adams, Illinois' Trenton Jackson, and the Illinois' Allen Carius, Big Ten two-mile champion.

Swimmers at Purdue

Iowa's swimmers, hoping to extend their winning streak to three, meet Purdue at Lafayette, Ind., today.

Sophomores Hal Bigger, Ralph Bextine and Ron Berry, three of Iowa's top point winners this year, are expected to pace the Hawkeyes. Berry set a varsity record for the 200-yard breaststroke in last week's win over Northwestern with a 2:22.7 effort. Bextine had set the old record of 2:24.3 in the same event the week before.

Junior Michel LeVois should take the diving event, and veterans Jim Cook, Gary Grey, John Jones, Ralph Laughlin, and Bill Sjostrom also add strength to the Iowa team.

Four Hawklet Wrestlers Advance to State Semi-finals

Four Iowa City High wrestlers advanced into the semi-finals of the Iowa High School Athletic Association's Class AA Wrestling Tournament Friday. The semifinals will be this afternoon with the finals at 7:30 tonight in the Waterloo Hippodrome.

West Waterloo collected the most team points, 8, and was followed by East Waterloo, 7, Charles City, 6, Davenport Central 5, Des Moines Tech 5 and Iowa City 4.

Charles City advanced six wrestlers into the semis as both Waterloo schools and Davenport Central advanced five, and Des Moines Tech, Cedar Rapids Jefferson and Cedar Rapids Washington each advanced three.

Friday's results of the Iowa City wrestlers were: 127 — Dale Anderson, West Waterloo, decisioned Tom Zeman, 9-0; 133 — Larry Houser decisioned Mark Andrews, Council Bluffs Thomas Jefferson, 3-0; 138 — Dave Borden, Davenport Central, decisioned Dick Gordon, 9-0; 154 — Bob Bream decisioned Ron Brown, Des Moines Roosevelt, 3-1; 165 — Doug Woods decisioned Virgil Shouse, Muscatine, 3-1; 180 — Tom Barbatti decisioned Larry Brown, Cedar Falls, 1-0.

ITALIANS WIN—

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP)—The Italian four-man bobsled team captured first place in the International Diamond Trophy race Friday in a nip-and-tuck finish.

The Italian sled, piloted by Sergio Zardini, zoomed down the slopes in a four-heat total of 4 minutes, 37.02 seconds.

Runner-up at 4:37.18 was the Canadian sled, driven by Vic Emery, Olympic champion at Innsbruck, Austria. Third place went to the Lake Placid Bobsled Club, at 4:37.22.

BRAVES OPEN TRAINING—

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—There were 25 players on hand as the Milwaukee Braves opened their early training camp in bright sunshine Friday.

Dear Senior:

Did you know that you can own a new Volkswagen Sedan for as little as $180.00 down and defer the first small $58.00 payment until October 1964? Yes, if you can qualify under our Senior Plan, you can drive to your new position in a new Volkswagen or a new 1500 Station Wagon.

Qualifications? A position upon graduation, be it in Education, Industry, Medicine, Armed Forces, Scholarship Grant, or any gainful employment. Married Students end your moving problems with a VW Station Wagon, pack everything and the trip to your new location will be enjoyable. Small fry are our best boosters.

We made this plan available to last year's class and the response was gratifying, but unfortunately we could not fill all the orders and some people were disappointed. We have made arrangements this year for an increase in allocation of new cars to offset this disappointment. Come down and discuss this graduation offer at your convenience.

Very truly yours,
Gene Greb

Original Comedy Set March 11-14 By Studio Theatre

"Lady Esther," an original comedy written by Ralph Arzoo-manian, G. Cranston, R.L., will be presented by Studio Theatre March 11-14. Larry Clark, instructor in dramatic art, will direct the play. The play deals with an eccentric lady junk dealer, who lives in the memory of her great love, her first husband, and her courtship by Milligay, a ne'er-do-well friend, who feels they can both find security (in their declining years) in marriage.

The cast includes Lucille Megerdichian, G. Union City, N.J., as Lady Esther; Ron Van Lieu, G. Wooster, Ohio, as Milligay; Edward Pixley, G. Iowa City, as Acey-Ducey and Frederick W. Blais, G. West Stewartstown, N.H., as Connie Bunst.

Michael Griffith, G. Cedar Rapids, will be scene designer, and Hazel Hall, G. Dothan, Ala., is assistant director.

Tickets will be available beginning March 5, in East Lobby of the Union, for $1 or presentation of an ID.

Medicine Lecture Set Monday

Harlan D. Anderson of the Michigan Department of Health, Lansing, will present a College of Medicine — Medical Education for National Defense Lecture at SUI Monday.

Anderson, who is chief of the Biologic Products Section of the department, will speak at 4:10 p.m. in the Medical Amphitheatre at General Hospital on Prophylactic and Therapeutic Use of Human Blood Derivatives.

Blood can be broken down into its various components and the substances derived from it, such as plasma and gamma globulin, can be used for a number of purposes in medical treatment.

The author of 45 scientific articles, Anderson is best known for his direction of the Michigan Blood Derivatives Program from its beginning as a simple plasma program in 1942 to its present stage as one of the most complete fractionation programs in the country. Since 1950 he has been chief of the Biologic Products Section.

the largest government sponsored agency of its kind in the United States. Anderson received a B.S. degree from South Dakota State College and M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in biochemistry from the University of Wisconsin.

Group To Design Information Plan

Members of the legislative committee of Iowa City will meet with representatives from 17 eastern Iowa cities at 2 p.m. Sunday to design a plan for educating legislators on school needs.

The group will meet in the Pentacrest Room of the Union.

Prof. James F. Curtis, head of the SUI speech pathology department, and Arnold Salisbury, Cedar Rapids superintendent of schools, will be speakers at the meeting.

The group is interested in finding ways to increase state aid to schools and bring about a reduction in local property taxes.

Representatives are expected from cities within a 100-mile radius of Iowa City.

Three Shots Miss Turkish Premier

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—A Turk dashed up to Premier Ismet Inonu Friday and fired three pistol shots at him from about 12 feet away. The man was overpowered by security guards. Inonu was not hit.

The bullets smashed into Inonu's official car as he sat in it in front of his office in downtown Ankara, ready to drive off to attend a session of Parliament.

The 79-year-old political veteran remained calm as security guards whisked the assassin away from angry crowds. The premier later told the nation he is "hale and sound and at the service of the nation."

Held as the would-be assassin is Mesut Suna, 38, described by police as a foe of Inonu's government. Suna is foreman of a power station in the Kayseri district, 165 miles southeast of Ankara. He had been trying to make an appointment to see Inonu.

"I hope I kill him!" police said Suna shouted. "It would be for the good of the country."

A veteran of Turkey's angry politics, a man who helped Kemal Ataturk found modern Turkey, Inonu said in a broadcast over the state radio:

"Nothing happened to me. I saw a man I did not know fire at me from a distance of three or four meters (about three to four yards). There are three bullet holes in my car. The attacker was apprehended by security men who managed to save him from the hands of an angry group of my fellow citizens who on hearing the shots had immediately gathered in front of my office."

It was reported that Suna had called at Inonu's office about 11 a.m. and told secretaries he wanted an appointment with the premier to discuss a private matter. He was told Inonu was engaged for the day and could not receive him.

Philippine Air Crash Kills 31; No Foreigners

MANILA, Philippines (AP)—A Philippine Airlines DC3 crashed Friday on the mountainous southern island of Mindanao, killing 31 persons, an airline spokesman reported. One person survived.

Two persons were brought alive from the wreckage by rescue crews but one died a short time later, the airline said. There was no mention of any foreigners aboard.

Cuban Fishermen Accuse Yankees of Robbing Them

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Twenty-nine Cuban fishermen returned home Friday from 18 days of detention in Florida. At a tumultuous reception on Havana's waterfront, they told Fidel Castro the Yankees robbed them.

"This was piracy," Castro said.

Community Givers Elect President

James E. Stewart, 16, 7th Ave. N., has been elected president of Community Givers, Inc., of Iowa City, Coralville and University Heights by the directors of the combined fund-raising organization.

Stewart, district manager for the Iowa-Illinois Gas & Electric Co., has served on the Community Givers board of directors for five years. He succeeds Roy A. Williams, 919 Maggard St.

The board re-elected: Ralph Ojeman, professor of child behavior development, planning vice president; Jay C. Oehler, 922 E. College St., contracts vice president; Kenneth Donelson, coordinator of special services, vice president of public relations; and Thomas J. O'Brien, 2007 Glendale Rd., treasurer.

Newly elected as vice presidents were Robert D. Marsden, 2 Ashwood Dr., finance, and Earl Murphy, 405 N. Linn St., budget.

Ships' horns hooted, thousands of waterfront watchers cheered and a squadron of MIG21 jet fighters flew overhead in salute to the fishermen, freed along with four Cuban government trawlers after payment of four $500 fines imposed by a Florida court for poaching.

The bearded prime minister, who cut off the water to the U.S. Guantanamo Naval Base after the Cubans were arrested in American waters Feb. 2, declared, "They were the victims of an illegal and arbitrary act."

"They were harassed, but they resisted," he said.

He said his government will reconsider its decision to return the shrimp boat Johnny Reb, owned by the Morgan Sea Food Co., of Savannah, Ga.

The Johnny Reb, a 25-foot vessel, was sailed to Havana from Key West, Fla., two weeks ago by a fisherman, Dennis Kirby, 22, who sought asylum with a declaration that he was dissatisfied with the American way of life and wanted to compensate Cuba for the seizure of the trawlers.

Castro called a news conference on the docks, where spokesmen for the fishermen presented these charges:

- They were mistreated during their detention. There were "pressures and blackmail to try to induce us to ask asylum."
- Their money and personal belongings were stolen by Yankees.
- The boats were stripped of almost everything and "even some food we had aboard them was taken." Engines were damaged. A Cuban flag was taken.

The prime minister said Cuba wants peaceful relations with all countries. He said it showed this in the quick return of pilot Richard Wright, 23, of Miami, Fla., and the plane two Cubans forced Wright to fly to Havana at gunpoint Tuesday. He said Cuba is ready to do the same in other cases.

Science Fiction Introduced As Teaching Tool at U-High

BY BEV BECKER
Staff Writer

Students at University High School are learning about other planets — not through a science course, but through a literature class.

Students in Alan Madsen's ninth grade English class are spending four weeks on the study of science fiction.

Madsen says that as far as he knows there has been no other codified course study in high schools which includes science fiction. Any treatment given to the subject has been incidental.

Madsen, who received his M.A. from SUI in 1963, decided to initiate the teaching of science fiction in the school after he noticed many of his students were reading science fiction books outside of class.

"I didn't know anything about science fiction when I started my project except that it was trash," Madsen said.

Madsen began his project in December by writing to several well-known writers in the field, such as Ray Bradbury, Robert Heinlein and Rod Serling of TV's "Twilight Zone."

Madsen's class will study science fiction in several literary forms, including novels, plays, poetry and stories.

As part of their work with Ray Bradbury's "The Martian Chronicle," members of the class will try to exercise their own imagination by taking an idea of Bradbury's and pushing it to a logical conclusion.

In one portion of the book Bradbury says that all Negroes will migrate to Mars. Some members of the class are taking this idea and telling what they think will happen when the Negroes get to Mars.

At the end of the course students will submit appraisals of their reading. Appraisals will include the nature of science involved, the kinds of assumptions science fiction writers make and an analysis of the literary merit of the works.

Madsen said he initiated the program to satisfy his own curiosity. "I wanted to know if there was something to be gained from teaching science fiction, and I decided there was. Science fiction makes judgments of humans in a way it's not possible for other media to do. It can isolate humans in a future time and get a closer look at them," Madsen said.

"A great deal of science fiction is still trash," Madsen said. "On my reading list I indicated those books of lower quality and all my students will have to read at least one of them to compare with the better books."
