Bicycle weather ended Thursday as three inches of wet snow fell on Iowa City. Bicycles may remain parked in front of Burge Hall today due to a low pressure system from the Rockies that will bring increased cloudiness with higher temperatures. Nine More Candidates For Election

By DOREEN HYDE
Staff Writer

Extension of the filing deadline for All Campus Elections has resulted in eight more candidates for married student senators, and one more candidate for town women senators.

No one has yet applied for the Student Senate president or vice-president posts.

NEW CANDIDATES running for the four married student senator positions are: Richard A. Miller, L2, Lake View; Richard F. O'Connor, A2, Des Moines; Charles D. Stinard Jr., L2, Glenwood; Judy Ann Dreschler, A3, Iowa City; Dan Beach, A3, Iowa City; Robert A. McDonald, B3, Davenport; William R. Dew, L1, Iowa City and John C. Coughenour, L1, Pittsburg, Kan.

Mary Jean Ulrich, A3, Garner, is the new candidate for Town Women senator. Mary Lundquist, A3, Cedar Rapids, and Angela Colby, A3, Hanlontown, had previously entered the race.

The Senior Class officers of the College of Liberal Arts for 1964 have selected eight Liberal Arts Juniors to run for next year's offices.

ALL JUNIORS who are now in the College of Liberal Arts are eligible to vote. They will vote for four of the eight. The person receiving the greatest number of votes will be president; second, vice-president, third, secretary, and fourth, treasurer.

Those running are Susan Artz, A3, Jackson, Miss.; Darlene Brady, A3, Maquoketa; Richard Edler, A3, Homewood, Ill.; Connie Hipwell, A3, Correctionville; Barbara Kari, Dx, Sioux City; Sue Mockridge, A3, DeWitt; Steve Shank, A3, Iowa City and Judi Skalsky, A3, Cedar Rapids.

Candidates for two year terms for Student Publications, Inc., (SP1) are: Kathy Turner, A2, Rockford; Jay W. Hamilton, A3, Hampton; Carol Carpenter, A2, Brooklyn and Linda Anne Lamson, A2, Park Ridge, Ill.

STUDENTS RUNNING for the one year terms for SUI are: Raymond F. Machacek, E2, Cedar Rapids; Alan M. Foraker, A3, Des Moines; Patricia M. Carlson, A2, Moline, Ill.; Willis A. Buell, L2, Holstein, and Charles H. Pelton, L2, Clinton.

The Women's Recreation Association (WRA) has also announced its slate of officers for All Campus Elections. One of two candidates are to be elected for the positions of president, secretary, Ruby Quoted at Trial . . .

'I Meant To Shoot 3 Times'

JACK RUBY
Damaged by Testimony?

DALLAS (AP) — Jack Ruby was quoted at his murder trial Thursday as saying he marked Lee Harvey Oswald for death with three bullets because "somebody had to do it."

"I intended to shoot him three times," a police officer said Ruby told him after a single shot last Nov. 24 cut down Oswald, the accused assassin of President Kennedy.

"That's the most damaging thing you've said," Chief Defense Atty. Melvin Belli told T. D. McMillon, who turned out to be the star state witness thus far in the 16-day trial.

"Of all the low-life scum things — why did you do it?" McMillon quoted another officer as asking the 52-year-old Ruby after the killing. Ruby quoted in reply:

"Somebody had to do it. Somebody had to take care of it. You guys couldn't do it."

Ruby, operator of a Dallas strip-tease joint, is on trial for his life for the slaying of Oswald. The defense is pleading innocent by reason of temporary insanity.

The state claims Ruby cold-bloodedly killed Oswald with an as yet unstated motive. The defense said Ruby was in a blackout at the time and didn't plan the murder nor even know he was committing it.

Belli subjected McMillon to a rigorous two-hour cross-examination. He succeeded in confusing the young officer at times on the sequence of events just after Oswald's slaying. But McMillon stood by his basic story.

Belli did manage to get into the record a police statement in which Ruby was quoted as saying: "I couldn't have planned this thing. I couldn't have timed it so perfect. I just got there as Oswald happened to be coming out."

Liz Gets Divorce; Way Now Clear for Burton

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor was granted a divorce Thursday from Eddie Fisher, clearing the way for her planned marriage to Richard Burton.

Judge Arcadio Estrada ruled that Fisher, by not answering the divorce action filed by Miss Taylor Jan. 14, had "presumably confessed" to her accusation that he abandoned her.

The judge ruled that Miss Taylor should have custody of Liza Todd, her daughter by the late Mike Todd, whom Fisher had legally adopted. No mention was made of Miss Taylor's other children.

Rural Forces Defeated In House Remap Try

One Member Per County Plan Downed

'Citizens Plan' Also Rejected At First Session

DES MOINES (AP) — The one-representative-per-county rallying cry of rural legislators was temporarily silenced by the Iowa House Thursday in its first special session showdown on a temporary reapportionment plan.

In what was regarded as one of the key votes in the entire reapportionment debate, the House rejected 60-46 a plan to establish a 126-member House, with each of the 99 counties having one seat and the others apportioned on a population basis.

THE DEFEAT, however, does not mean that the drive is dead. A move to reconsider was launched soon after the vote, and another plan embodying much the same principle was introduced.

The reapportionment debate resumes this morning, with at least ten other amendments to a plan recommended by the House Reapportionment Committee up for consideration.

The House ended its day-long debate Thursday by voting down 81-24 a so-called "citizens plan" of reapportionment sponsored by a group of Democratic members.

IN THE REPUBLICAN caucus immediately following Thursday's session, a vote was called for on three different House plans. Majority floor leader John Mowry (R-Marshalltown) said on a show of hands about 50 members favored each one.

The House committee plan provides for a 113-member House and a 56-member Senate, both apportioned on population and area factors. About 46 per cent of the population would elect a majority of the House, and about 41 per cent a Senate majority.

LEGISLATIVE LEADERS regard as one of the key issues the one representative per county plan, which Rep. Lawrence Carstensen, (R-Clinton), said "has been the bugaboo in reapportionment for years."

Mowry said he hoped the House can reach a vote on the final bill by this noon. But he conceded after the Republican caucus that the debate probably will go over into next week.

Rep. Raymond Fisher (R-Grand Junction), pleaded with the House to grant the small counties their temporary reapportionment proposal in order to provide a "period of transition" during which a constitutional amendment making the House a true population body could be worked out.

"DON'T FORCE this small country to form battle lines and block passage of other good reapportionment plans," he said.

The rural legislators argued that the Federal Court which ordered temporary reapportionment in time for this year's elections probably would accept the one-per-county proposal as a temporary plan.

Rep. Alfred Nielsen, whose home, appropriately is in Defiance, declared:

"I don't think we should be frightened by the judge's opinion. The people of my county expect me to come down here and protect their interests. I'm not going back home and have them say, 'Nielsen, you gave my county away.'"

REP. ROY SMITH (R-Spirit Lake) said the court decision was handed by three "politically appointed judges" and any three other judges could well have laid down different guidelines for Iowa.

"I don't want to see us go overboard on this apportionment," he said. "I would rather turn it over to the judges and get a Supreme Court opinion than vote to deprive some counties of their representatives — something that's not for the good of Iowa."

Council Awards Civil Service Post to Kelly

Chosen from Field Of Five Candidates After Yocum Objects

By DALLAS MURPHY
Staff Writer

Walter J. Kelly, 118 7th Ave. N., has been appointed by a unanimous vote of the City Council to a 6-year term on the Civil Service Commission in Iowa City.

The appointment was made at a special City Council meeting Thursday afternoon.

MAYOR Richard W. Burger had previously nominated Robert S. Lee, 219 Teeters Ct., for the appointments at the March 3 meeting of the Council. At that time, Councilman Max Yocum requested a list of all the other men who had been considered for the position.

Burger refused to comply with the request, stating that such nominations are at the discretion of the mayor, who is not required to make public a list of candidates.

Councilman Yocum then asked for a deferral of the appointment so he could examine the qualifications of all candidates more carefully. Although all the Council members, except James Nesmith, who is out of town, had been informed of the mayor's intention to nominate Lee prior to the meeting, Yocum said he felt he had been informed at too late a date to give the matter adequate consideration.

ACCORDING to Mayor Burger, the Council reconsidered the original nomination and chose Kelly from a list of five candidates.

"We have the utmost confidence that Kelly will do a good job, or we wouldn't have appointed him," Burger said.

Kelly, 66, is a retired salesman and a veteran of both World Wars. He is a life-long resident of Iowa City.

Kelly will replace W. W. Sumner, who resigned from the Civil Service Commission after 17 years as a member.

Christy Minstrel Concert Sell-out

Eighteen hundred tickets were sold within an hour Thursday morning causing a sell-out for the new Christy Minstrel concert next Thursday in the Main Lounge of the Union.

Ticket sellers said that the lines started forming about two hours before the tickets went on sale at 9 a.m.

One-seventh of the student body will attend the concert at full capacity of 1,800.

Engineers Engineer Discovery

"So steep the stairs, You must be brave, There are no bears In Melloh's cave. And if this clue Makes your mind mudley, It might just do To ask your Dudley."

That was the puzzle confronting 40 undergraduate engineering students in their search for the coveted Blarney Stone Wednesday evening. Eventually it was that clue which led them to discovery of the stone.

After an extensive search of the old Electrical Engineering building, John Bodey, E4, Iowa City, found the prized stone in the ventilation shaft "cave" of the building. Fred Moore, E4, Iowa City, held the flash light while the engineers removed the Blarney Stone.

Removed it, that is, to the Annex for celebration and refreshment. The engineers quenched their thirsts after concluding their search, which took them through 32 clubs and to many unusual — sometimes bizarre — places around Iowa City.

Before they found the stone, the engineers spent the early part of Wednesday evening running down other clues. One clue was found on a water pump at Sugar Bottom, near the Coralville Reservoir.

From there, the engineers went to the steam tunnel at the Power Plant, by the Burlington Street Bridge. They found nothing but another clue which then led them to a culvert where Interstate 80 crosses Highway 6.

At last the 32nd clue ended their long search. The engineers figured that "Melloh's cave" referred to the building in which Dr. Arthur W. Melloh, past dean of the Engineering College, had his office.

"Ask your Dudley" referred to a well-known engineer, Dudley Modley Hanson, E4, Farmersburg, notable for his vocal rendition of "Miller's Cave."

Then, at 11 p.m. Wednesday, it happened.

The Blarney Stone! The hunt for the Blarney Stone is a tradition during MECCA Week. The graduate students in engineering hide the stone and the undergraduates search for it.

Moore, was in charge of the undergraduate stone hunt and Dick Riley, G, Iowa City, was in charge of hiding the stone.

To Probe 'Color' On Vote Forms

An inquiry into the possibility of changing the voter registration form to eliminate the question of "color" was voiced by the Iowa City Human Relations Commission in a meeting at the Civic Center Thursday night.

According to a report from the City Clerk, a Waterloo firm prints the forms. The Rev. L. D. Soens, chairman of the Commission, stated that the Iowa Code of Law has no requirements concerning the question of "color" on voter registration forms.

THE COMMISSION also finished plans concerning its campaign on the Iowa City business community to offer equal treatment for all in services and employment.

Brochures, letters and questionnaires have been created by the Commission and will be mailed to all businesses. If the firm agrees with the facts stated in the brochure, an emblem will be displayed on a window or doorway of the establishment.

"Service, Employment and Equal Opportunity" was chosen at the meeting as the slogan for the emblem.

IN OTHER ACTION, the Commission decided to question the displaying of the Confederate flag as an advertisement for the Rebel Motel, 336 S. Clinton St.

Complaints have been received by the Commission pointing out that the Confederate flag symbolizes "white supremacy in the South," Father Soens said.

A list of 785 business establishments has been compiled by the Commission and will be checked according to response to the brochures and emblems. Commission member Mrs. Anthony Costantino said.

MRS. COSTANTINO stated that the emblems stand for something specific and are a commitment to the policy of the Iowa City Human Relations Commission.

In reference to the survey they released February on open housing accommodations in Iowa City, the Commission said the names of those owners who signed the questionnaire or answered the questions, but didn't sign, would not be released.

However, the Commission stated it was under no obligation to withhold the names of those who refused the interview completely.

Death by Pills Termed 'Suicide'

An apparent suicide was reported to Iowa City Police about 4:30 p.m. Thursday by Dr. George Callahan, Johnson County Medical Examiner.

Police said that David Patterson Campbell Jr., 36, 75 Fremont Ave., Dubuque, apparently committed suicide by taking an overdose of sleeping pills in a local hotel.

The body was taken to the Donohue Mortuary pending notification of next of kin.

McNamara To Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara headed for South Viet Nam to take a close look at what he described as evidence of stepped-up Northern support for the Communist guerrillas attacking that country.

Before taking off on a fact-finding mission for President Johnson, the defense chief told a news conference Thursday that new and heavier weapons "obviously of Chinese manufacture" have been appearing in the hands of the Red forces.

McNamara termed the situation in Viet Nam as grave, but declined to discuss suggestions advanced in some quarters that the South Vietnamese, and possibly their American supporters, should carry the war to Communist North Viet Nam.

McNamara said he and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and other experts will look over plans of the new South Vietnamese government for more aggressive military measures against the Red guerrillas.

Rep. Raymond Fisher (R-Grand Junction), pleaded with the House to grant the small counties their temporary reapportionment proposal in order to provide a "period of transition" during which a constitutional amendment making the House a true population body could be worked out.

Reapportionment, at SUI, that is

EVERYONE IS GETTING the bug. The reapportionment bug, that is. First the Iowa Senate became magnanimous and completely revised its membership (by adding one senator to Polk County and leaving everything else alone), and now the SUI Student Senate is also considering reapportionment.

Hopefully, however, the SUI Senate will take more meaningful action.

A proposal submitted by student Sen. Merle Wood, which will be voted on next Tuesday, would base Senate representation on more consistent consideration than at present.

Wood's amendment would eliminate the present practice of "double counting" in Senate apportionment which allows both sororities and dormitories to count sorority pledges living in the dormitories. Fraternity men living in dorms and off-campus would also be counted only once — according to their residence, not their greek affiliation.

These changes would make Senate apportionment based on student residence only and would eliminate the present incongruities in the system.

Some senators now believe that if "double counting" is eliminated, the dorms, not the sororities and fraternities should lose the extra numbers. According to Chris Hagen, IFC senator, the girls living in a dorm as freshmen are required to do so. These girls pledge a sorority of their own volition and since their interests are more with the greeks than the dorm, their representative to the Senate should be greek.

This argument does not take the basis of Senate representation into account. The Senators do not represent interest groups; they represent housing units. Unless the basis is changed, all the senators should be selected from the housing units.

Another change in representation which is implied in Wood's amendment, but which is not specifically stated, is popular election of greek senators. At present the IFC and the Panhellenic Council select the four senators representing the greeks in the Senate.

Individual greeks have no direct voice in selecting these senators. (Those sorority pledges required to live in dorms are not eligible to sit on the Panhellenic Council and could not, therefore, have a direct voice in selecting a greek senator. Since they are not even allowed to vote for members of the Council, they do not have even the indirect voice granted to active greeks.)

Hagen argues that the U.S. Government is based on a representative system and the way IFC senators are elected is similar to this. "If you accept one, you have to accept the other," he said.

We do not agree. Congressmen are elected directly to represent their districts on national issues. The student senators are elected indirectly by IFC members who are elected directly by individual greeks. The fashion in which greek senators are elected is more removed from the constituency than the Federal Electoral College.

According to Senate President Mike Carver, the greeks should be allowed to hold popular elections for student senators. These elections would stimulate more interest in the Senate among the greeks and would also be more democratic.

Carver believes that if the pending amendment is passed, the greeks would be obligated to hold popular elections since the word "council" in the election rules would be replaced by the words "housing units." Both Hagen and George Mayer, the other IFC senator, do not believe this change would require popular election among the greeks.

If they are accurate in their interpretation, the next step is obvious. The Senate should introduce an amendment requiring all senators to be chosen by popular election.

The Senate will not have a meaningful voice in campus affairs without closer communication and contact with the student body it is supposed to represent.

Extend our compulsory education?

By RALPH MCGILL

Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz proposed to a symposium of government and business leaders, assembled by the American Bankers Association, that compulsory education be extended to the age of 18 and that free education be provided two years beyond high school. Affirmative nods in his audience were in the majority.

The symposium discussed employment and the other side of the coin — unemployment. Wirtz believes two million of the disarming 3.5 million young persons between the ages of 16 and 19 who can't get jobs need to go back to school. His conclusion is not based on a wish to get them out of the labor force. His reasoning, which was supported by other experts who addressed the symposium, was that the approximately two million jobless youths lack the skills and education to qualify for work.

Wirtz did not suggest a federal program. It is a matter for the states. Some already require compulsory education to 16 years of age. Support of junior colleges also would be a state problem. California has moved strongly in this field. The city of Los Angeles, for example, includes junior colleges in its program. The state supports a steadily increasing number. Florida also has made substantial progress in establishment of the two-year college. They are for education — not for football or campus frills.

WHILE WIRTZ asked for state action, it is at once apparent that the poorer states — those, for example, of the South, one or two in New England, and perhaps North and South Dakota — would lack the per capita income to provide a system of junior colleges. The additional costs, not merely of construction but of administrative and teaching staffs, would be prohibitive. (We will, in time, work out a program of federal aid to equalize this disparity in educating the nation's children and wonder why we so stubbornly — indeed, irrationally — delayed it.)

Bankers and business men agreed on the need for more education and training to adapt workers — young and old — to available jobs. An upgrading of the labor force long has been needed, but neither the Congress nor the average citizen seems aware of how radically changed are conditions of employment.

There are, for example, jobs not filled because there are not enough persons trained to fill them. In yet another illustration of the problem, those with skills live in the wrong place and won't move because of investment in a home or attachment to a community. It daily becomes apparent that there will be relocation of some industries and that new ones, involving advanced technologies, will be established away from present concentrations of labor. How to persuade workers to move is a serious problem.

THE WIRTZ suggestion has merit. It will almost surely be adopted soon by the more progressive states.

(Great Britain has raised the school-leaving year from 14 to 16.)

The new legislation would not, however, take place until the school year of 1970-71. The delay was deliberate. It will take time to do the considerable amount of building necessary to house the pupils. The extra-age group will require more vocational workshops, laboratories, libraries and so on. Even more important is the need to find the teachers.

A young man or woman who today is in college or about to enter, and who is still undecided about a career, would do well to consider teaching. There is a shortage now of even poor teachers. The market for good ones is almost unlimited. This is true at all levels, elementary, secondary and college or university.

Education is not a sovereign specific for the economic and social ills of now and tomorrow. But it is the essential ingredient. Distributed 1964 by The Hall Syndicate, Inc. (All Rights Reserved)

Suggestions for getting candidates

By JON VAN

Recent events have raised an important question for campus politicians: why aren't students seeking campus office? The deadline for filing petitions to seek office has been extended, but there is still no assurance that anyone wishes to oppose Wally Snyder, now the sole candidate for student body president.

Maybe more interest would be aroused if the University provided assistants for candidates. Maybe Wally would even chip in a few dollars — just so he could have the fun of campaigning.

Perhaps Quadrangle should follow Hillcrest's lead and impeach someone in dorm politics. Then Don Loftus could appropriate him for a running mate. Their slogan would be "the peachiest impeachables running."

We would like to see a senior run for president; one who will not be back next fall. Then he could run on a platform of "eliminate graft and corruption in student government — vote for the presidency by proxy."

If no students want the presidency, retiring University president Hancher might be prevailed upon to run. After all, who has had more experience?

But all kidding aside, we do have an excellent plan for encouraging more candidates. Instead of calling the office "student body president," they should simply call it "student body." This would make it sound like a beauty contest and before long the Senate would be so swamped with applications from hopeful coeds, the offices would have to be expanded to handle the demand.

Having a beauty queen preside at Senate meetings might even put some brightness into student government which is now somewhat lacking. (Not that we don't appreciate the beauty of the present female senators, it's just that they never wear bathing suits to the meeting.)

Maybe the whole idea of elections could be integrated with the Miss SUI Pageant. If students had to build floats and buy Student Senate badges, they just might take more interest in their student government.

Sen. Proxmire—the handshaker's handshaker

By ART BUCHWALD

Politicians by nature are big handshakers, but very few can be put in the class with Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin.

Sen. Proxmire is the handshaker's handshaker. Almost every week-end, for five years, since he's been in the Senate, he has flown back to his home state with one purpose in mind — to shake as many hands as possible. Last year he shook 300,000 hands and this year, since he is running for reelection, he hopes to better it.

While most politicians will shake a hand when they see it, Sen. Proxmire searches out hands to shake in an almost scientific manner. It's almost impossible not to shake hands with him if you happen to be in the same town.

A typical Proxmire week-end, as he explained it to us, goes something like this. The senator leaves Washington at 6:45 in the evening and arrives in Milwaukee at 8 p.m. He immediately heads for a shopping center and starts shaking hands.

Sen. Proxmire always stands out in front of the center so he can shake hands with people as they go in as well as come out. He usually says, "I'm Sen. Proxmire and I just wanted to say hello." Then he hands them a piece of campaign literature.

"IF ANYONE" throws away the literature, I pick it up," he said. "It looks very bad to have your campaign literature littered on the sidewalk."

On very cold nights a kindly shop owner may let the senator stand in the entry area.

After shaking hands at the shopping center, the Senator then retires to get up early on the following morning for factory hand-shaking. He turns up at the gate of a large factory and shakes hands with all the workers as they go in. If there is more than one gate to the factory, the Senator may come back at the end of the day and shake hands as the workers come out.

DURING THE DAY he will go to the main street of the town and shake hands on a street corner or in front of a large department store. On Saturday afternoons, during the football season, the senator searches out the best game in town and shakes hands with all the fans as they go in. He may work several games in the same day, driving from one town to another.

"Football games give you a lot of hands," the senator said, "but the people have other things on their minds and you're not sure when they shake your hand if they remember it."

This is why the senator likes to work bowling alleys. "People are more relaxed in bowling alleys and are sitting around doing nothing."

In the evenings Sen. Proxmire prefers to find an ice show or a basketball game or a movie theater to work in front of. His greatest evening since he's been in politics, he told us, was when he hit an ice show, a dog show, and a Mormons' convention all in the same night.

ALTHOUGH handshaking in the winter is cold work, Sen. Proxmire says he prefers it to the summer. "You get a brisk handshake in the winter. People don't want to linger. In the summer people hold on longer and their hands perspire."

That's when Sen. Proxmire develops callouses. Occasionally he hurts his hand.

"The biggest danger for a politician is to shake hands with a man who is physically strong, has been drinking, and is voting for the other guy."

Sometimes a woman who shakes hands with him brings the Senator's hand up to her bosom and holds it there. Sen. Proxmire doesn't like this because, he said, "I can lose four handshakes while it's going on."

More comment on 'Jones'

To the Editor:

What Mr. Preston's attackers fail to realize is that they are privileged to attend one of the great universities. I have attended others, Cornell, Columbia and New York among them. Each has a particular distinction. Iowa's is a deep-rooted and, I should say, indelible reverence for creativity. I cannot say why this university should have that particularity. Perhaps certain individuals are responsible. It may have something to do with corn. In any case, I find the fact itself extremely gratifying.

The point is that creativity thrives in an atmosphere of hard-headedness. It involves innumerable attempts to size-up and come to grips with facets of the human situation. Many such attempts are superficially appealing.

Most of them can be tagged immediately and conclusively by the scholar or the serious artist as cliches. But, to paraphrase a recent poem from the Workshop, "We go on trying." The hope is, presumably, that one fine day a poem or a film or a theorem in topology will appear that will make our hair stand on end.

It will be instantly recognizable as a significant breakthrough and will release a spectacular torrent of artistic creation with profound implications for the human race.

Mr. Preston is doggedly and laboriously clearing dead wood to make way for that appearance. A few of us here find his work heartening and illuminating. Those who are regularly disappointed in their adolescent desire to be complemented on having "enjoyed" elaborate trifles like "Tom Jones" should simply not read your film critic. Mr. Buchwald and Mr. Sylvester are often engagingly drill, not to mention Beetle Bailey.

Howard Wamsley, G

To the Editor:

Charles Blank's comments on "Tom Jones" review had all the elements of a blow struck in slapstick comedy: First, because we could see it coming from a mile away, and second, because we were prepared by Mr. Preston for the form it would take, we could appreciate it as an example of its kind.

Movie critics increasingly find themselves in this ambiguous position, as more of them happen to know something about making films. Mr. Preston has the kind of technical knowledge that is sure to insult his readership, who know, as 50 years of journalist reviewers have encouraged them to know, that in the movies anything that works is good.

Mr. Preston must have felt a shudder of foreboding, for instance, when he saw Mr. Blank write that the eating scene in "Tom Jones" was a "well-acted scene," and not that it was a well-cut scene.

It must be frustrating indeed to write a critique of the direction of a film, only to find yourself attacked in the rhetoric of the Drama. He might take consolation by reminding himself how long it took the drama critics to beat down the notion that they ought to operate in the rhetoric of public morality.

But very little consolation can be taken by anyone in Mr. Blank's perversion (or re-invention?) of the term "historical realism" to describe certain 18th century stock types: nor in his characterization of the shots of the hounds in the hunt sequence as a subtle device can one find much reassurance in the public taste.

But the real nature of Mr. Blank's alarm, and that of his critical method, might be inferred from one of his own remarks: "But isn't it time that Mr. Preston analyzed what the director and the actors tried to accomplish...?"

Hillcrest clarification

To the Editor:

"Congratulations" to Jon Van and his editorial of March 3 for the best representation of Hillcrest events since he wrote his editorial concerning the dress-up rule conflict in Hillcrest. Again he apparently failed to read anything other than the editorial page of The Daily Iowan, for an article on the front page of the Feb. 29 issue stated very clearly that the Hillcrest Freshman Forum (not the General Council, as Jon Van reported) impeached Mr. Loftus. Since The Daily Iowan graciously granted space to Mr. Loftus to tell his story last week, I request that this letter be printed in its entirety.

During the last week Mr. Loftus' account of his resignation and impeachment has appeared in The Daily Iowan. However, there is another side to the story. During the Feb. 24 meeting of the General Council, two diametrically opposed opinions were presented. On the one hand were Jon Bowermaster and Pat Carl leveling criticisms at Mr. Loftus. On the other hand was Mr. Loftus objecting to these criticisms. Since there was no evidence presented other than the opinions of these three men, the General Council took the only rational course of action in appointing a four-man committee to investigate the conflict of opinions.

On Feb. 27 Freshman Forum met and initiated impeachment proceedings against Mr. Loftus. After considering the evidence presented, the Forum found him guilty of the charges leveled against him and thereby removed him from the chairmanship of Freshman Forum.

During the General Council meeting of March 2, the investigating committee presented its report which indicated that the charges brought against Mr. Loftus were not "unjust," as he had claimed. The committee found that Mr. Loftus had misrepresented Forum's actions to Council, Council's actions to Forum, and had led Forum in an undemocratic manner. Acting on the basis of this report, the General Council expressed its disapproval of Mr. Loftus' actions by censuring him and accepting his resignation from the Freshman Forum.

MECCA Dance Tonight in Union

Engineering students and their dates will "see green" at the MECCA Dance tonight in the Main Lounge of the Union at 8.

Larry Sheets, assistant chairman of MECCA Week, described the decorations as green shamrocks cascading from the walls and tables. The theme is "Luck of the Irish."

The Hi Morgan Orchestra, 1963 winner of the National Band and Orchestra Association Award, will play in front of a rainbow leading to a pot of gold.

Sheets, E2, Groton, Conn., said senior engineering students will find a "coveted diploma in the golden pot."

The MECCA king (St. Patrick) and the MECCA queen and her court of four will be presented at the dance.

Studies by SUI Doctors Reveal Smoking Hazards

Additional evidence on the hazards of smoking based on long-range studies at Iowa City's Veterans and University Hospitals was disclosed Wednesday at a Johnson County Medical Society symposium.

Dr. Richard D. Eckhardt of Veterans Hospital told members that

DR. ECKHARDT Blames Smoking

"Smoking is involved with 40 per cent of all deaths that occur." He cited figures gathered at Veterans Hospital during the past 12 years. Dr. David C. Funk, head of Vet—"The Rationale of the Space Program" pointed out that the number of cigarettes smoked and the number of years a person has smoked are significant. He said, "We know there are numerous noxious substances in cigarette smoke, and the public has been exposed to more air pollution in recent years."

Other doctors presenting clinical and statistical evidence against cigarettes were Dr. Johann L. Ehrenhaft, thoracic surgeon at University Hospital, Dr. John W. Eckstein, professor of internal medicine at SUI, Dr. Kenneth R. Cross, SUI lecturer in pathology, and Dr. Charles Shagass of the SUI Psychopathic Hospital.

A Fowl Sale!

Post Office Ordeal For 100 Baby Chicks

Everything was up in the air at the Iowa City Post Office Tuesday afternoon when 100 newly hatched chicks—in a box—arrived for C.O.D. delivery, but weren't claimed.

Chicks shipped by mail must be delivered within 60 hours because they are mailed without food or water, according to postal regulations.

Postal officials were afraid the baby chicks would not meet the time limit, so they called a Wednesday afternoon auction to rid themselves of the chirping victims.

George F. Kampling, 303 Fourth Ave., Postal Clerk, was the high bidder with $5. The Post Office lost money on this transaction too—going price of 100 chicks is about $13 higher.

But the fowl sale was nullified when the party to whom the chicks were addressed reconsidered and decided to claim his undersold brood.

Hawks Top Challenger For Wrestling Crown

"We have four very tough entrants and we could be in a position to push defending champion Michigan," Iowa Wrestling Coach Dave McCuskey said before the Hawkeyes left to enter the Big Ten championships at Madison today.

Iowa, which has a Big Ten dual meet record of 7-2, losing only to the Wolverines and Northwestern, finished second last year. THE HAWKEYES WILL BE led by unbeaten Norman Parker, who will wrestle at 130-pounds, Parker won the 123-pound conference title in 1962 and was runnerup at 130 last year. He was also runnerup in the 1963 NCAA finals.

MCCUSKEY IS ALSO counting on Morris Barnhill, 123; Joe Greenlee, 137, loser of only one match; and Mel Wieland, 167. Bill Fuller, 137; Wilbur Devine, 157; Dave Kohl, 177 and heavyweight Roger Schilling complete the Hawkeye team.

Michigan is favored to retain its title. The Wolverines have won 21 consecutive meets in the last two years and had a perfect 8-0 mark in dual meets this season.

THE WOLVERINES' ONLY defending titlist is Rick Bay, undefeated 167-pounder, but they also have once-defeated Lee De-trick, 147; Bill Johannsson, 130, and heavyweight Bob Spaly. Northwestern's Wildcats are considered the leading challengers. Their only loss during their 13-2 season was to Michigan. Returning to try for a second crown is Bob Plaskas, champion at 123-pounds last year.

German Champ In Debut Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Gerhard Zech, the heavyweight champion of Germany and considered the brightest prospect from his country since Max Schmeling, makes his American Boxing debut tonight when he meets Ernie Terrell of Chicago, a high-ranked contender.

Terrell is a 3-1 favorite to win the scheduled 10-round match in Madison Square Garden. The bout will be nationally televised by ABC starting at 9 p.m. (CST.)

Zech, a 6-7, 210-pound southpaw, has a 27-1 record, including 19 knockouts. He has won his last 11, including an 11-round knockout of Albert Westphal for the German title last Sept. 26.

Terrell has won 34 bouts, 16 by kayo, and lost four. He has an eight-bout victory string and numbers highly regarded Cleveland Williams and Zora Foley as his most recent victims.

Terrell is expected to weigh about 215 pounds, five more than Zech. Both are 25 years old.

Tom O'Hara Aims for Mark In Indoor Mile

CHICAGO (AP) — Miler Tom O'Hara, who has been making track history in New York, will try to do it before hometown fans in the 28th annual Chicago Daily News Relays tonight.

A sellout crowd of 16,000 will jam Chicago Stadium to cheer the frail-looking Loyola of Chicago business senior in the Bankers Mile. O'Hara will be going for an indoor record.

LAST MONTH in the New York AC meet at Madison Square Garden, O'Hara ran the mile in an indoor record 3:56.6. Last week in the Knights of Columbus meet on the same track, he did 3:58.5. At that time he said he was disappointed, but felt tired after running 110 miles in training 3 weeks prior to the competition.

O'Hara indicated he would be ready for a crack at lowering his mark in defending his Bankers Mile crown. He will be going against five opponents, including a pacer, Jim Irons of the Toronto Olympic Club.

THE OTHERS ARE Bill Dotson, Kansas Graduate; Jim Grelle, Los Angeles Track Club, and Ergas Leps, Toronto Track Club.

Last year, Grelle and Dotson were clocked in 3:59.8 while following O'Hara across the finish line. O'Hara set a Bankers Mile record of 3:59.5.

GEORGE KERR, former Illinois star representing the Oregon Staters Track Club, will seek his fourth Chicago relay 600-yard title. Bill Crothers of Toronto will try to break New Zealander Peter Snell's 2:06 mark for the indoor 1,000 yards.

John Barnum Leads First Round of Florida Meet

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Big John Barnum, one of golf's elder statesmen, put a five-under-par 33-34-67 on the scoreboard early in the day and it withstood challenges for the first-round lead in the Pensacola Golf Tournament Thursday.

Defending champion Arnold Palmer, still searching for the victory touch in 1964, scored a 69, even though describing himself as "a basket case around the greens." He is tied with six other veterans — Mike Souchak, George Bayer, Johnny Pott, Jay Hebert, Miller Barber and Doug Sanders, the 1962 Pensacola Open champion.

Bronze Statue

Is It Cassius? Its Mouth Is Open

NEW YORK (AP) — Cassius Clay saw himself in bronze Thursday, and was unimpressed.

"What is this supposed to mean?" he asked quizzically when shown a metal statue fashioned by Hans van de Bovenkamp, a young Dutch sculptor with a small gallery just off Manhattan's Fifth Avenue.

"Why, that's you, Cassius," the blond, 25-year-old sculptor said proudly.

"It ain't me," the new heavyweight boxing champion replied. "It's too ugly to be me. It looks more like Sonny Liston."

THE GLITTERING masterpiece, a faceless slab of steel and bronze with misshapen arms and legs, drew blinks of confusion from the score of newsmen, United Nations dignitaries and plain curious who gathered in the tiny gallery for the formal presentation.

"I never knew he had a kidney condition," commented a lady in a red hat, looking at the statue's broad midsection.

"Why'd you make me so big in the middle? — I'm not that fat," Clay complained.

"THAT REPRESENTS the mass of gravity," the offended artist tried to explain patiently. "That means no one can slug you over."

"If it means nobody can slug me over, okay," the champion conceded glumly.

Van de Bovenkamp said he became interested in Clay when he heard him recite poetry at Greenwich Village about six months ago. Although he had always detested boxing as a brutal sport, he decided he must do a statue of the young Kentucky fistfighter.

"I WAS impressed by his supreme confidence," Van de Bovenkamp said. "Some regarded it as arrogance. I knew it to be confidence. I wanted to create something that would show this confidence and at the same time encompass the grace and beauty that Cassius has in the ring."

VAN DE BOVENKAMP worked three weeks on the statue and the final result, he said, was a depiction of Clay's victory leap after stopping the heavily favored Liston in the seventh round last week at Miami Beach.

"Now, honestly, Cassius," someone asked, "does that really look like you?"

Clay gave the weird piece of bronze another close look with those wide brown eyes, blinked the way he did in the fifth round at Miami and replied:

"Yea, I think so. It's got its mouth open, hasn't it?"

4th Ranked Duke Wins

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Top-seeded Duke weathered North Carolina State's controlled offense to cut down the underdogs, 75-44, Thursday night in the opening round of the Atlantic Conference Basketball Tournament.

Second-seeded Wake Forest drubbed Virginia, 79-60, and third-ranked Clemson maulled Maryland, 81-67, in afternoon contests.

Duke, No. 4 in the nation and defending champion in the tournament to select the ACC representative in the NCAA Eastern Regionals here next weekend, expected a slowdown from N.C. State.

The Blue-Devils had whipped the Wolfpack, ranked last in the eight-team field, by 39 points in two earlier meetings.

N.C. State held Duke to a 9-8 lead through the first 10 minutes, but 6-10 Jay Buckley supplied eight points as Duke spurred to a 24-18 lead at intermission. The weird half produced only 22 Duke shots for 10 baskets and 16 for 8 by N.C. State.

SCI's Spoden On All-America Second Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Lucius Jackson of Pan-American College in Texas topped the voting for the 1964 college basketball Little All-America announced Thursday by The Associated Press.

Named for the first team, along with the 6-9 senior, were Willis Reed of Grambling, La.; Tom Black of South Dakota State; Cecil Tuttle of Georgetown, Ky., and Jim Boutin of Lewis and Clark, Ore., a repeater from the 1963 team.

BILL WITACONIS of Scranton, who made the first team last season, headed the second team which also had Fred Jones of Youngstown; Willie Shaw of Lane, Tenn.; Jerry Rook of Arkansas State, and Pete Spoden of State College of Iowa, a mid-year graduate.

JIM DYER of South Dakota was chosen for the third team in the voting by 83 sportswriters and broadcasters, along with Nate Madkins of Hardin-Simmons, Barry Clemens of Ohio Wesleyan, Steve Niensens of Hofstra and Frank Kaminski of Randolph-Macon.

Jackson, who led Pan American to the 1963 NAIA championship, was such a standout that he received many votes to the AP's major college All-America. So did Reed, a 6-10 junior, who sparked Grambling's attack.

TUTTLE, at 6-4 the smallest of the first five, and Boutin, 6-5, had remarkable years, far better than in 1963. They, too, received several votes for the big A-A.

Black, 6-10 and a senior like Tuttle and Boutin, led South Dakota State to the NCAA small college crown in 1963.

COACHES RESIGN — OSKALOOSA (AP) — Two head coaches at Oskaloosa High School have resigned, effective the end of the school year, school officials said Thursday.

Don Roby, head basketball coach, will go into private business, and Marion Ruebel, head football coach, has not finalized plans for the coming year, officials said.

Succeeding Roby will be sophomore basketball Coach Harley Olstead, they said. No successor has been named for Ruebel.

Thinclads Enter Big 10 Championships Today

A discouraging drop from champion in 1963 to a fight to stay out of the lower division is the fate of the defending champion Big Ten indoor track team as it enters the title meet at Columbus, Ohio, today.

Hawkeye Coach Francis Cretzmeyer is resigned to the idea because of the loss of men who scored 30 of the 43 points last March.

ELEVEN IOWA ATHLETES will compete in this year's meet. The Hawks will be led by Gary Hollingsworth, defending conference 440-yard champion. Other possibilities include Scott Rucker in the 600-yard dash and Dennis Kohl in the 300-yard dash.

Sophomore Steve Goldston, who has competed closely with some of the top men in the Big Ten, including Purdue's sprinter Nate Adams, should also help Iowa, with Al Randolph, another sophomore, pacing the Hawks in the hurdles.

LARRY KRAMER, two-year letterman, is Iowa's top performer in the distance races and will be joined by junior George Clarke in the mile and two-mile events.

Hawkeye captain Bill Frazier will be unable to defend his Big Ten half-mile title because of an injured foot which has kept him from indoor competition the entire season.

THREE OF THE MEN who set the conference indoor record of 3:14.7 last year, Hollingsworth, Rucker and Gary Richards, are returning, but the Hawkeyes are without anchorman Roger Kerr.

Top contenders for the title should be Wisconsin, who defeated the Hawkeyes, 111-30, in their opening meet, and Michigan, who tied with the Hawks for the title last year. The Wolverines are paced by two outdoor defending champions, Captain Roger Schmitt in the shot put and Cliff Nuttall in the high hurdles.

Governor Hughes Plays Basketball At Grinnell

GRINNELL (AP) — Iowa Gov. Harold Hughes took time out from discussing politics with Grinnell College students Thursday afternoon to shoot a few baskets on the college basketball court.

Hughes and Nebraska Gov. Frank Morrison were "politicians in residence" at Grinnell Thursday and today as part of the annual college program in practical political education.

HUGHES, WHO NOW stands 6-3 and weighs 235 pounds, played forward on the Ida Grove team that finished fourth in the 1939 Iowa high school basketball tournament.

"I wasn't much of a player, even then," he told Grinnell varsity players. "And it's been almost 25 years since I have picked up a basketball."

HUGHES SHOT FIVE free throws, sinking one. He also took a few jump shots before giving it up to talk with the players and head to the showers.

Later the two governors and their wives were guests at a dinner sponsored by the Young Democrats and Young Republican clubs at Grinnell. Hughes and Morrison are Democrats.

The two governors were initiated into their respective residence halls, complete with a ceremonial swat on the pants. They spent the evening in bull sessions with students.

Hughes will leave the college this morning. The Morrissons planned to remain until tonight.

Iowa Gymnasts Open Bid For Big 10 Title

Iowa's gymnasts open their bid for the 1964 Big Ten crown at Madison, Wis., today.

The Hawkeyes are favored to capture the title. Glenn Gailis and George Hery are the "big guns" for the unbeaten Hawks, and will be joined by Steve Drish, Elliott Pearl, Bob Swanson and Pete Drozdowicz, also counted on for valuable points.

Coach Dick Holzaepfel commented, "They're afraid of us since we beat every Big Ten team during the season. But with each team permitted to use five men in each event, it looks like a four-team race where team depth will decide whether Michigan, Michigan State, Wisconsin or Iowa will win the title."

Championship competition will continue Saturday.

Civil Rights Folk Artists To Perform

Christus House Community, in cooperation with the Campus Ministers' Association and SARE, will feature Cecil Reed, Paul Kelso, Jim Kerr and three other campus folk artists in a civil rights program on March 10.

Reed, a Negro, was recently featured in Picture Magazine of the Des Moines Register as a leader in civil rights speaking here in Iowa. He is from Cedar Rapids and a member of the Human Relations Committee there as well as similar groups in other Iowa cities. He will present a social commentary on the racial issues particularly as it applies to a university community and Iowa as a state.

KELSO and Kerr are performers in their own right with their witty dialogue and folk music. They have performed for audiences in the area at the Tree House Lounge and for hootenannies in the Union.

Three other folk artists, Trudy Bradford, Joe Botti, and Dick Levin, will appear in the evening concert at 8 p.m. Botti, who will accompany Miss Bradford, has sold 10 of her own songs to the New Christy Minstrels for their programs. Kerr is chief announce-er for radio station KXIC.

TICKETS for the concert, to be held at 124 E. College St., go on sale this morning in the Union East Lobby. Price is $1 per ticket. All proceeds from the concert will go to pay for civil rights projects sponsored by organizations in the area.

Tickets will also be on sale at the door on Tuesday evening before the concert.

Cohen To Speak On East Germany

An up-to-the-minute view of life "Inside East Germany" will be presented by Robert Cohen at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in Macbride Auditorium.

Cohen, noted American correspondent and producer of documentary films, will appear as part of the Adventure Film-Lecture series.

His color-film commentary on life behind the Berlin Wall will include scenes of feudal estates (now cooperative farms), workers in the factories at Saxony, the destruction of Hitler's bunker-tomb and Buchenwald.

Cohen received his doctorate in Social Psychology from the Sorbonne, Paris. He has served as an associate foreign correspondent and as photographer for CBS-TV and NBC-TV. In addition to his lecture films "Inside Red China" and "Inside East Germany," he has also produced international prize-winning documentary films.

The lecture-film is open to the public. Adult admission is 90 cents. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Beginning Drivers in Iowa To Get Temporary Licenses

Regular Iowa driver's licenses will no longer be issued to motorists who are applying for the first time.

William Suetpel, Commissioner of Iowa Public Safety, Thursday reminded Iowa City Rotarians of this policy issued in Des Moines last week.

"All new drivers, of any age, will be required to carry a temporary permit instead. If, at the end of one year, the driver has not had a moving violation nor contributed to an accident — he or she will be issued a regular license," he said.

"Drivers having such violations within a year will be required to attend a driver improvement school and upon graduation will have to go through the one year probation period again," he added.

Suetpel said the immediate effect of this program will be to reduce the number of moving traffic violations in Iowa.

"We hope that, in the long run, all new drivers will carry over these good habits into all of their driving years," he said.

"The purpose of this program is to emphasize the privilege aspect of driving in Iowa," Suetpel remarked.

The new program is a small part of an attempt by the Public Safety Commission to educate the people of Iowa about traffic safety, said Suetpel.

He said lack of public education in the realm of traffic safety has a great deal to do with the killing of 695 people on Iowa highways during 1963.

Negro Evolution Predicted by Watts

The Negro is in a similar economic and social position as other minority groups have been in the history of the United States said Robert Watts, social work supervisor of the University Hospitals. He cited the example of the Irish immigrants and their reaction to being a minority group. Watts said that he expects the Negro to evolve in a similar fashion and, like the Irish, take a similar position in American society.

Watts gave his views on the Negro as a social minority group at a meeting of the Southeast Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers Thursday night.

Watts also advocated that Negroes be given better employment opportunities. He said that, as a short range policy, it might be a good idea to actually give preference to Negro workers. He used the example of the rear wheels of a car not being able to catch up with the front ones unless they are accelerated at a faster speed as a reason for this belief. Unless the Negro is given preference in employment he cannot hope to make economic gains, Watts said.

Legislation is needed, Watts believes, to break down discrimination against minority groups. "Legislation cannot control attitudes and morals, but it can force people to communicate," he said. Watts said that this is the first step to overcoming prejudice.

Studio Matinee Features Five Scenes from Play

Five scenes from a contemporary American play will be presented at the Studio Matinee at 3:30 p.m. in the Studio Theatre.

The play, which was written by one of America's leading playwrights, deals with family relationships and the tensions which result from the visit of two Italian immigrant relatives. It has been considered an attempt by the playwright to create a tragic character in our contemporary world. The production is directed by Yehuda Levy, G. Givat-Shmuel, Israel.

These five coeds were named finalists for SUI MECCA Queen competition. From left are Brenda Geiger, A3, Vinton; Ellen Erickson, A2, Kanawha; Charlott Shiesa, A1, Des Moines; Diane Wilber, A2, Carson; and Pamela Petersen, A3, Somers.

The MECCA Queen will be announced at the MECCA Ball in the Main Lounge of the Union tonight. The five finalists were announced Thursday night at the MECCA smoker held at the River Room of the Union.

Fraternity Leadership Workshop Saturday

A workshop to promote leadership in fraternities will be held Saturday in the Union.

Group discussions and a luncheon-talk by William F. McCulloch, associate professor of the Institute of Agricultural Medicine at SUI, are included in the program which begins at 9:30 a.m. and will conclude early in the afternoon.

Attending the fourth annual Leadership Workshop, sponsored by the Inter-Fraternity Council, will be five representatives from each of SUI's 19 social fraternities. Discussions on human rights, public relations, the pledge problem, the active problem and deferred rush will precede the luncheon and McCulloch's speech on leadership held in the River Room at 12 noon.

Each discussion will be directed by a student and a fraternity alumna. The human rights topic will be led by Mike Carver, A4, Waverly, and William Boyd, professor of law.

AL TOUCH, A4, Springfield, Ill., and James Rhatigan, housing advisor of Student Affairs, will direct the discussion on public relations. Discussion on the pledge problem will be headed by Tom Stone, A3, Keokuk, and Robert Downer, SUI graduate.

Richard Adler, A3, Homewood, Ill., and Jerry Kinnaman, L3, Iowa City, will direct discussion on the active problem while Dave Bowman, A3, Montreal, Que., Canada, and T. R. Porter, associate professor of University High Schools, will lead the discussion on the deferred rush issue.

Each fraternity will be represented by one member at the separate discussions.

Business Group Pledges 25 New Student Members

Alpha Xi Chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, professional business fraternity, has pledged into membership 25 new students:

Richard D. Anderson, A2, Charlton; Ben C. Applebee, B3, Iowa City; William E. Bailek, A3, Spillville; John Beretta, B3, Solon; Donald M. Boulware, B3, Hastings, Minn.; John Brodie, B3, Muscatine; William T. Cunningham, B3, Chatham, N.J.; Donovan M. Heath, B3, Humeston.

String Quartet Schedules Three Concert Dates

The Iowa String Quartet will appear in three concerts next week—one here at SUI. Selections will include Mozart's Quartet in G Minor, Bartok's String Quartet No. 1, Stravinsky's Concertino and Beethoven's Grosse Fuge, Opus 133, played by members of SUI's music faculty.

The first concert will be given at 4:30 p.m. Sunday at Luther College in Decorah. The same program will be played Wednesday at 8 p.m. in SUI's Macbride Auditorium, and the following Saturday at the Des Moines Art Center.

No tickets will be required for the SUI concert.

The four works on the program are unusual, according to cellist Joel Krosnick, in that each was extremely important to the period in which it was written.

When the Iowa String Quartet performed it in Des Moines last summer, the Des Moines Register reported: "The quartet brought down the house with a stunningly executed Stravinsky 'Concertino,' a bravura piece that requires group excellence in a high degree."

In addition to Krosnick, the other members of the Iowa String Quartet are Charles Treger and John Ferrell, violins and William Precuil, viola.

Today's News Briefly

SUSPECTED DYNAMITER CLEARED—Sheriff's officers in Jacksonville, Florida, said a lie-detector test Thursday cleared William S. Rosecrans of implication in the Florida East Coast Railway dynamite bombings of last week. A second lie-detector test is expected to be given to Rosecrans about a series of Alabama racial bombings.

ROUNDHOUSE PUNCH STORM—A storm with a roundhouse punch blamed for at least 11 deaths swung into Canada east of Michigan Thursday leaving destruction in its wake in Midwestern and Southern states. The storm reportedly hit 106 mile-per-hour winds at Finlay, Ohio.

JOHNSON AT FUNERAL—President Johnson flew from Washington through a dense fog Thursday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Robert F. Wagner, wife of New York's mayor. Mrs. Wagner died Monday of lung cancer at age 54.

NEW FEDERAL AGENCY—A high source reported Thursday that a new federal agency will be created to mobilize the nation for President Johnson's "war on poverty." The new agency is expected to be called the National Opportunities Administration. The President's message on poverty is expected to be ready for Congress early next week.

NIXON ON VEEP SITUATION—Richard M. Nixon urged Thursday that Congress move promptly to keep the office of Vice President filled and to avoid possible disputes over whether a disabled President is capable of serving. The former U.S. Vice President offered his own formula for the problem to a Senate Judiciary subcommittee but told them he has "no pet ideas to sell."

to the people of Iowa City:
The Clergy and Religious Leaders of Iowa City Offer You This Opportunity To SHOW YOUR CONCERN FOR A PROBLEM WHICH FACES ALL OF US!

(Sponsored by The Clergy and Religious Leaders of Iowa City)

The City of Iowa City is a good place in which to live. The home of an outstanding University, it offers exceptional cultural advantages. It has excellent schools, fine churches, and unusual opportunities for employment.

However, all persons are not granted equal privileges of living in Iowa City because of the prejudice which on frequent occasions denies people of minority racial groups the right to rent or purchase housing on the same basis as others.

This is a continuing problem to our university officials, to our real estate people, and to all of us who have housing to rent or sell. It is also a problem for the professional people, the prospective students, and the semi-skilled and unskilled laborers who would like to live in Iowa City and pursue their chosen vocations but who cannot find adequate housing because of nationality or color.

This is our problem because we, the people, ARE the City of Iowa City, and whether or not we rent, we create the climate of opinion which determines the policies followed by real estate dealers and by those who have housing for rent or sale.

The university has taken commendable steps toward the solution of this problem. The university has widened its no-discrimination policy to include all newly listed and approved housing for students, off campus as well as on campus.

What do WE do?

As another step toward the solution of this problem we make the following statement of conviction and intention:

We would welcome into our home, rooming house, or neighborhood, any resident of good character, regardless of race, color, religion, or national origin. We have signed this statement to indicate that we believe in justice for all, and welcome the opportunity to practice it where we live. We understand that in signing we give consent that our name and address, with all other signers, be publicly listed.
