

Hillcrest 'election'

"PLACE AN 'X' in the box of your choice. No write-ins are permitted and any write-in will void the entire ballot." These exact instructions appear at the top of ballots distributed earlier this week in Hillcrest elections of association president and vice president, and the Hillcrest senators.

Following the instructions was a box and a single ticket (Bob Hobart and Gary Ryan) for president and vice president. Hobart and Ryan had no opposition on the ballot and no write-ins were allowed.

Since the ballots are hand counted there is no reason why write-ins were banned (the Student Senate does not permit them because of the IBM counting process).

This all leads us to one conclusion: If Henry Cabot Lodge went to SUI, he couldn't win a thing at Hillcrest.

The real villains

IT IS EASY, but erroneous, to believe that all rural forces are against fair apportionment in the Legislature. The opposition to a bigger population factor in Senate apportionment comes from those counties with the smaller populations, of course. And the Farm Bureau has traditionally fought any attempts to give the cities their share of legislative power. The natural conclusion is that all farmers are the chief enemies of fair apportionment.

Kenneth Schuman, president of the Iowa Farmers Union, rival of the Farm Bureau, presented a different point of view recently and pointed out the real source of opposition to more representation for the cities. Schuman supported a 56-member Senate - which the Farm Bureau opposes - and urged that the cities recognize their real opponents in the fairer apportionment fight: the small town business leadership.

Many of the so-called "rural" legislators come directly from this group of small town professionals and merchants. Their interests are different from those of the farmers who have been made the villains by association with them. Many of the small town merchants are also members of the Farm Bureau, and their influence in it is probably considerable. This influence from outsiders in a "farm" organization is enough to question whether the Farm Bureau itself represents farmers in its reapportionment stand.

The Farmers Union, however, does represent Iowa farmers - at least some of them. And recognition by its head that fair apportionment should not be fought by farm interests leads us to believe the farmers may not be as "rural" as their less progressive and more outspoken little-city cousins.

Salaries in Congress

CONGRESSMEN HAVE done the impossible by passing up an opportunity to raise their own salaries by about $10,000 a year. Smaller increases for 1.7 million federal employees were also turned down in the congressional action on Thursday.

Evidently the spirit of H. R. Gross prevailed over the House of Representatives when they defeated the increase, 222-184, though after President Johnson's economy drive and the recent tax cut, it would have been a little incongruous for Congressmen to fatten their Government pay envelopes.

Congressmen have long attempted to play the role of economists in the framework of Government spending. Now that they are faced with an Administration which agrees with their loudly proclaimed cost-cutting position, there is little they can do but follow its lead, especially when their own pay is concerned.

Warns of Federal power grab

To the Editor:
In a column printed in the Daily Iowan, Thursday, March 12, Ralph McGill suggests that a glance into Hell will not harm us. He was speaking of Nazi Genocide. The murder of Europe's Jews and of 73,000 deformed, feeble-minded or crippled German citizens is linked by Mr. McGill, with the opposition by American Conservatives to Social Security.

Such a comparison might be a bit weak, on the surface, but there is much truth in what Mr. McGill says. There is indeed, "murderous anti-Semitic" and anti-Negro hatred on the part of a good many persons in this country.

What is more, I have run across pockets of anti-Catholic and anti-Protestant, anti-WASP and anti-Communist feeling that are strong enough to be considered dangerous. We are also aware, now, that it takes only one man, a warped, would-be Communist (as it were), confirmed in hatred, to murder the elected leader of our nation.

WE NEED no tales of atrocities committed by the established Governments of modern nations to show us Hell - we need only to look into our own hearts to find it.

It is, however, a point worth considering, that the vile acts of the Nazis were committed by the hand of the established Government of a modern nation - a nation who had allowed its central Government to divert and pervert the ultimate powers which, as in all commonwealths, lie in the people.

The number of Germans who favored the deportation of the Jews, or their murder, or were even aware that the murders were being done, will remain a moot point. Germany experienced, and suffered for allowing, the perversion of her Republic.

It is difficult to question the forces which would destroy our own Republic without feeling, and being acutely aware, of the forces which would destroy the Republic of the United States.

It is not the position of the German people, who could only say, "We didn't know," or "We didn't do it, Hitler did it." What could we do against our own Government - to resist was to die. God knows that excuse has not been accepted by the world.

Men grow old, lose popularity, die. They are replaced by other men with other ideas. We laughed at DeGaulle when he said, "Who will I be dealing with when these men are gone?" Where are Aduar, Macmillan and John F. Kennedy today? Who has replaced them? Who will replace them when they grow old or lose popularity or die?

For the people of the United States to give up their power for any sentiment, however noble, is a most dangerous mistake. But where does that leave us in regard to Civil Rights, Human Rights and individual freedom? Right where we were at the beginning, with that evil which is in human hearts and minds.

It cannot be legislated out of existence, but the very basis of all rights can be destroyed that evil, and there will be no problem of Human Rights, but to give our ultimate power away is to deliver ourselves straight into its hands.

A. Q. Smith, A4

being accused of, swinish motives. Who would see the aged starve, or the Negro oppressed, or a bastard child go hungry simply because he is a bastard, or anyone at all, go uneducated?

Yet, if one questions the motives of a power-seeking executive branch, one is accused of just such feelings. It has become, immoral to question the activities of the central Government.

THE THINGS which are being done to take the power out of the hands of the people of this country are being done, one assumes, with the most noble of human sentiments, the desire for Human Freedom and Human Rights.

I do not question the motives of those who favor social legislation and who feel that the central Government must have power to enforce it. I mistrust, however, those who may follow.

We have no way of knowing who will be in power in this country in 10, 20, or 50 years, or what "national emergencies" will arise, or what the personal ambitions and goals of those men will be. It is the motives of those men which I question.

IF WE, now, deliver the ultimate power from ourselves into the hands of a strong central Government with police powers, we might easily find ourselves

To the Editor:
Election time has rolled around again, and once again the benefits of student government itself are being reviewed by a new Daily Iowan editor. Whether or not student government is detrimental to SUI or not, I feel there is one existing plan that if continued as it presently is planned will be detrimental to SUI. This is, of course, the Spring Festival. Not much has been said about this

Minstrels present happy show
By MIKE TEGTMEYER
Iowan Reviewer

Barry McGuire led an audience of almost 2000 into a program of humor and song Thursday night with "Come on Children. Sing a Happy Song," as the Christy Minstrels appeared in the Union Main Lounge.

The Christys' concert was a prime example of how much fun stage productions can be even if they are not really good. A lot of work and anxiety preceded a program of such fine caliber.

Karen Gunderson, one of two girls in the group and also a former resident of Davenport, commented that all the work Tegtmeier "was certainly exhausting but we have such good fun and the boys are all so nice to us."

Ann White, disregarding all the rehearsing and traveling, said that she was "very fortunate to be able to entertain people of all ages with the Christys."

THE CHRISTYS, who specialize in foot stomping, knee slapping, songs like "Woman in Denver," "John Henry," and "Rovin' Gambler" may have surprised many in the audience with their slow moving, beautiful ballads like "Summertime," (sung by Karen Gunderson) and "Michael Row the Boat Ashore." These ballads brought out one of the fine features of the Christys - their ability to sing as well solo as in a group.

Clarence Treat, the group comedian, surprised the audience with his tricks on the bass and mandoline and musical interpretations with his gravelly voice.

AT ONE POINT in the program the audience was taught the lyrics of "Waltz in Matilda" and told after the song that a quiz would be given over what they had learned. The lyrics, of course, were defined in terms thought up by the Christys.

The applause was so loud and long after many numbers the group performed that there was doubt the program would go on. Few people in the audience realized that they had to be on a 7 a.m. plane for San Francisco Friday morning. Larry McGuire's parting words were "If you ever have a chance to be an audience again, please don't pass it up."

No Christy concert would be complete without "Green, Green," and "Saturday Night" and the SUI concert was no exception. The group held out until the very end of the program to treat the audience to "Green, Green," and they loved it applauding wildly and whistling and cheering.

French Strike Set To Protest Labor Policy

PARIS — A one-day protest strike against President Charles de Gaulle's labor policy is set for next Wednesday while the President is in Mexico City.

The strike was called by the Communist-led General Confederation of Workers. Several other unions are taking a hard line before joining.

UNIONS already committed intend to cut electrical power, halt trains and subways, call off school for the day and hold up mail deliveries. The unions' main demand is for more money.

The strike was called only hours after the Government announced the new plan, called the Tootie report after its author, Jean Tootie. It would take the unions into consultation on the amount of money available for wages.

Some unions saw this as a constructive step on the Government's part and were reserving judgment on whether to join the strike.

THE CONFEDERATION and several close followers decided to strike anyway to protest wage scales which remain frozen. They say also that Government efforts to hold down retail prices have failed. The Government claims its stabilization program is meeting with success.

The unions charge the Government has not fulfilled last year's promise to meet periodically with labor and to accord an annual 4 per cent "expansion" increase.

THEY SAID the Tootie report was worth discussing but that certain procedures could not be accepted. The report proposed statistical study units in each industry, with labor and management participation, so that negotiations could be based on mutually agreed figures.

THE GOVERNMENT withheld immediate comment. He went ahead meanwhile with plans to fly to Wisconsin next week to start campaigning in that state's Democratic presidential primary. He qualified last week to run as a champion of states' rights and a militant foe of integration.

THE JUSTICE Department request for "affirmative steps" to eliminate Alabama's dual school system for white and Negro pupils came in briefs filed with the three-judge court, which has under consideration a desegregation suit filed earlier by Negro attorneys.

THE JUDGES heard testimony two weeks ago, then gave opposing attorneys additional time to submit written briefs. No ruling is likely until after the April 13 deadline for receiving the briefs.

In addition to statewide desegregation, the Justice Department asked the court to:

Hand down an injunction prohibiting Wallace from interfering with court-ordered desegregation anywhere in Alabama. The governor has used state troopers in the past to delay the enrollment of Negroes in white schools.

RULE law has been administered illegally because the governor said, local boards use racial criteria in enforcing the law. Prohibit the use of state funds as tuition grants for white students who attend private schools rather than go to public schools with Negroes.

THE CIVIL Service Commission has announced new examinations for Government employment in a variety of fields. Civil Service announcements and application forms may be obtained from Owen Edwards, clerk at the Iowa City Post Office.

Among the new positions are right-of-way appraiser; education specialist and advisor; aquatic biologist; ASC program specialist; ASC operations assistant; rail freight rate specialist; and steamfitter, mason and laundryman.

Desegregate Ala. Schools, Wallace Told

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Gov. George C. Wallace was confronted Friday with a Federal Government demand for statewide desegregation as he prepared to open his presidential campaign.

The Justice Department asked a three-judge Federal court to outlaw racial segregation in Alabama's public school system and, at the same time, to prohibit Wallace from interfering.

THE GOVERNOR withheld immediate comment. He went ahead meanwhile with plans to fly to Wisconsin next week to start campaigning in that state's Democratic presidential primary.

THE JUSTICE Department request for "affirmative steps" to eliminate Alabama's dual school system for white and Negro pupils came in briefs filed with the three-judge court, which has under consideration a desegregation suit filed earlier by Negro attorneys.

Edel is professor of music and cello instructor at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. As guest critic, he will point out areas of strength and weakness in the ensembles to help them to raise their performance for the state contests.

Violin, viola, cello and string bass clinics will also be held by the SUI music staff.

Four high school orchestras and the SUI Symphony Orchestra will present concerts this afternoon from 1:30 p.m. through 4 p.m. in the Main Lounge of the Union High school orchestra participating are Clinton, Iowa City, Oskaloosa and Davenport West.

Junior women living off-campus are asked to vote in the Office of Student Affairs, 111 University Hall, Monday and Tuesday.

Pharmacy Seminar

A seminar on "Product Development in Pharmaceutical Research" will be held Wednesday at 4 p.m. at SUI.

The seminar will be presented by Larry Wheeler, director of the department of product development at Parke-Davis. It will be held in Room 127 of the SUI Pharmacy Building, and will be open to the public.

Dr. Wheeler received his Ph.D. degree from SUI in 1943.

IN EXPLAINING the purpose of the property purchase, SUI officials stressed the importance of acquiring the property while it is available and before it is acquired for further commercial purposes.

The land is adjacent to the old Cline building which SUI purchased several months ago. It is directly south of the block containing the Engineering Building and the Communications Center.

Until a time when the land is required for educational buildings, the present buildings could be used for library book storage, thus releasing space in Macbride Hall now used for that purpose but needed for offices. There is also room on the tract for parking, the Regents were told.

LOCATED on the property are three buildings. One is a brick bi-level structure with floors measuring approximately 20 by 70 feet. The next building is a one-story concrete block structure 14 by 60 feet in dimension. The third structure is a one and one-half story frame and tile building with a lower floor measuring 20 by 145 feet.

Aetna Casualty and Surety Company will insure the income-producing buildings at SUI — such as the dormitories, Iowa Memorial Union and athletic facilities — for an annual premium of $13,179, which was the low bid. The policy, which replaces one about to expire, was purchased through the Holmes, Murphy and Associates agency in Des Moines.

THE NEW POLICY covers fire, extended coverage, vandalism and malicious mischief to 100 per cent of replacement cost. It also carries a provision for business interruption to a maximum of $5,000,000 in the event one of the income-producing facilities was accidentally put out of operation. The policy has no termination date.

He said the Mall would attract and hold the consumer expenditure of the residents from surrounding communities not now shopping in Iowa City. Iowa City would then become the shopping hub of the surrounding trade area.

Robert M. Sunnen, vice president of Investors Associates, Inc., said the buildings would be located in the center of the site with major tenants at each end of the development.

THE AREA will probably be heated and air conditioned for shopping comfort. About 20 smaller shops will be freely exposed to the central mall area. Many of these shops will have additional entrances along the outside of the center to provide easy access both to Highway 6 and to Lower Muscatine Road.

According to Jacobs, two major department stores, a food and variety group have approved the location and size of this site. Discussions with Sears Roebuck and Co. are currently in progress, he said.

Plans Well Under Way For Shopping Center

Plans for The Mall Shopping Center, to be located at Sycamore, Lower Muscatine Road and Highway 6, are well under way, according to a report by Lawrence T. Wade, president of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce.

IN A meeting of key business leaders, Sydney Jacobs, president of the Sycamore Investors, Inc., owners of the project, presented a preview of the plot plans, store arrangements and architectural renderings. The site will contain over 200,000 square feet of buildings and will have parking facilities for 1,400 cars.

Jacobs, also a representative of Investors Associates, Inc., St. Louis, commented favorably on the rapid growth of Iowa City, the fine community spirit, and the many constructive opportunities in urban redevelopment.

He said the Mall would attract and hold the consumer expenditure of the residents from surrounding communities not now shopping in Iowa City. Iowa City would then become the shopping hub of the surrounding trade area.

'IMP' Finds New Van Allen Belt

WASHINGTON — America's highest-soaring earth satellite — nicknamed IMP — has detected what may be a third Van Allen radiation belt still farther above the planet, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported Thursday.

However, the radiation does not appear to hold any serious hazard for future space travelers.

The 138-pound spacecraft, aloft only since Nov. 26, has also confirmed theories that particles streaming from the sun create a continuous gigantic shockwave as they plow into the earth's magnetic field.

THE FBI announced the arrest in Miami of Hugh Wynn, 56, of Miami, on a warrant charging conspiracy with "Vedder and others" in the trainwrecking attempt.

THE ARRESTS were the first directly resulting from more than 200 acts of sabotage, including the dynamiting of five trains, reported by the FEC since nonoperating unions struck Jan. 23, 1963, in a pay raise deadlock.

The FEC and the American Association of Railroads have offered rewards totaling $300,000 for arrest and conviction of the railroad bombers, and President Johnson ordered the FBI to give the case top priority after two trains were blown up near Palatka, where Johnson made a speech on a Florida tour.

Conviction of placing explosives to wreck a train could mean a 20-year prison sentence or $10,000 fine, or both. If convicted of conspiracy, Wynn could receive a five-year sentence or $10,000 fine or both.

Will Represent All People Of County, Burns Says

Robert J. Burns, Democratic candidate for the state senate, stressed Thursday that he intends to fully represent all people of Johnson County despite the fact that he is from a rural area.

The cost-price squeeze that farmers are experiencing is dangerous, he said.

Burns, speaking before Johnson County National Farmers Organization in Montgomery Hall, promised that SUI would be adequately supported to meet increased enrollment.

Schmidhauser Criticizes GOP On Issue of Highway Funds

John R. Schmidhauser, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congressman, charged Friday that three Iowa Republicans have remained silent concerning the use of highway funds for political patronage purposes. The Federal Bureau of Public Roads has consistently taken the position that private attorneys should not be used, Schmidhauser said. He charges that Iowa Attorney General, Evan Hultman, has deliberately distributed highway right-of-way legal work to private attorneys for patronage purposes, despite the Bureau's position.

SCHMIDHAUSER said Hultman, Senator D. C. Nolan, and Congressman Fred Schwengel share responsibility for the silence. "Schwengel likes to emphasize that he serves on a special watchdog subcommittee on the Federal-Aid Highway Program," Schmidhauser said, "but he has never shown interest in investigating Hultman's use of Federal funds for patronage purposes."

Iowa To Revise Withholding Rates To Protect Income

Iowa is one of 39 income tax states that must revise its withholding rates to protect its state income tax collections, Commerce Clearing House (CCH), publishers of tax and business law reports, recently announced. Of these, 14 states, including Iowa, use the Federal income tax as a base for computing individual income taxes at the state's level. Some states require employers to withhold income taxes at a percentage of Federal income taxes withheld. Thus, with the reduction in Federal withholding from 18 to 14 per cent, the yield from withholding in these states would fall below the level of the taxpayer's liability, CCH said.

Other states allow their taxpayers a deduction for federal income taxes and require general withholding. This means an increased state tax liability to taxpayers. Some states, therefore, may increase their withholding to catch in on the reduced deduction, CCH explained.

Heights, Coralville Can't Be Included In Rate Battle

Attorneys for the city of Iowa City and for Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Co. were told at a hearing in Johnson County District Court Friday morning that Coralville and University Heights cannot be included in the Iowa City utility rate controversy.

The city of Iowa City is seeking a refund from the company for rates charged, which are higher than city ordinances allow. District Court Judge James P. Gaffney is presiding over a hearing being held to determine whether the court will set the amount of the refund. The hearing will also determine if the court will re-establish local ordinances setting lower gas and electric rates.

The company had indicated that it disagreed with the city on the amount owed after last July 4. At that time utility regulation in Iowa became the responsibility of the state commerce commission. The state supreme court has ruled that the city's rates are fair. The city objected Friday to including Coralville and University Heights in the hearing, because they were not considered in the supreme court's action. The company had attempted to bring the two suburban communities into the hearing so that their refunds could be considered with those of Iowa City.

New Christies Don't Follow Lead Of The Originals

First there were the Virginia Minstrels, started in 1842 by Edwin P. Christy; then they called themselves the Christy Minstrels; today, there are the New Christy Minstrels. "We don't follow their precedent at all," said Larry Ramos, the Hawaiian-member of the group. "We sing contemporary folk songs, revised versions of old folk songs the way they'd be sung today." "The old group glorified the name of Stephen Foster. We glorify the name of Randy Sparks, the man who formed our group," Ramos said. Only four of the original members are still with the group. "The group was formed so young talent could come into it," said Barry Kane. The women are the newest members, having been with the group for just a month and a half. Karen Gunderson, the red-haired singer, was born in Davenport. "Both of us had a very rigorous training after being chosen part of the New Christy Minstrels," said Ann White. Speaking of their performance Ramos said, "I think we can get a much better sound on record. There's sometimes an imbalance of mikes on stage."

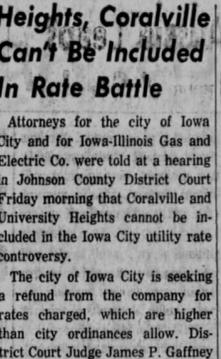

"Yet, a campus is our favorite kind of place to appear," said Barry McGuire. "Where else can you get such a responsive audience?"

Regents Approve SUI Contracts, Appointments, Budgets

Budget Hike Approved for 'U' Hospitals

An increase in the current budget of University Hospitals was approved by the State Board of Regents Friday in anticipation of opening new facilities and because of increasing demand for medical services there.

For the beginning of the operation of a diagnostic Nuclear Medicine Clinic, and to assemble staff and supplies in anticipation of full occupancy of the Minimal Care Unit at SUI, an increase of $473,857 in the 1963-64 budget for the hospitals was approved. Funds to support the increased expenditures in the last four months of the fiscal year will come from additional non-indigent patient earnings which were not anticipated in the original budget.

INCLUDED in the budget increase for University Hospitals are $38,857 for salaries and fringe benefits to be paid to additional staff for the Nuclear Medicine Clinic and Minimal Care Unit, $235,000 for supplies and services, and $200,000 for equipment.

The Nuclear Medicine Clinic is ready for use at this time. The clinic brings together the radioisotope diagnostic facilities of the General Hospital, and will take diagnostic responsibilities from the staff of the Radiation Research Laboratory.

Hospital officials plan to begin using a portion of the new Minimal Care Unit July 1. This unit is part of a large medical building now under construction south of the General Hospital, and it is designed for ambulatory patients who do not require constant medical and nursing attention.

IN ANOTHER ACTION, the Regents approved a new contract for sewage treatment between SUI and Iowa City. This agreement will change the University's contribution toward the operation of the city sewage treatment plant from approximately 40 per cent of total operating costs to a fee based on 50 per cent of the SUI water usage. This fee will result in an increase in the annual sewage costs of $12,723, based on water consumption in 1962.

The city plant was built in 1934, and a state appropriation of $110,561 financed approximately 40 per cent of the cost. The city plans to spend $1,750,000 on improvements to the sewage disposal system.

Iowa City School District To Pay 'U' High Tuitions

The Iowa City Community School District will pay a tuition charge for each pupil from the district who attends the experimental schools at SUI, under terms of a two-year contract approved by the State Board of Regents.

The Regents also approved a contract between SUI and the Iowa City district for the acceptance of school-age children from the district who will attend the new Mentally Retarded Children's Center at SUI's Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children.

PREVIOUSLY, parents of children attending University High School or elementary school paid a fee for their children's attendance there. Under the new contract, parents of children from the Iowa City district will not pay a charge if their children are accepted into the University schools. Instead, the Iowa City district will pay $50 a pupil per semester, or $100 a year. Enrollments at the SUI schools are limited to 360 in the high school and 210 in the elementary school.

Nearly all the enrollment at the two University schools comes from Iowa City, the Coraville school district, and the Penn township district. The latter districts, which do not have high schools, will be merged with Iowa City on July 1.

The per-pupil payment which the Iowa City district will make is the same as that which the Cedar Falls school district makes to the State College of Iowa for pupils attending the schools at SCI.

AN ESTIMATED 67 children from the Iowa City district will attend the Mentally Retarded Children's Center when that facility is put into full operation next fall.

The center was built as a wing on the Hospital School. An estimated $42,880 will be provided by the Iowa City district in 1964-65 toward the operation of the center. The same per-pupil cost will be paid by the Iowa City district to SUI as the University pays to the district for children from married student housing areas who attend the local public schools. This cost for an elementary pupil is currently $437 a year.

In addition to the tuition payment, the Iowa City district will also pay to SUI the special state aid and state transportation aid for the 67 children involved. SUI will provide transportation for those children.

North Hall To Be Renamed In Honor of E. A. Gilmore

North Hall on campus will be known as Gilmore Hall in honor of Eugene A. Gilmore, who was president of the University and dean of its College of Law prior to World War II.

The State Board of Regents approved SUI's request to re-name the building during the board's meeting in Des Moines Friday.

President Emeritus Gilmore, who died Nov. 4, 1953, was president from 1934 to 1940. He came to SUI in 1930 as dean of the College of Law. He was succeeded by President Virgil M. Hancher after a period of three months in which Chester A. Phillips, then dean of the College of Commerce, was acting president. After leaving SUI, President Gilmore was dean of the University of Pittsburgh School of Law.

GILMORE HALL was the home of the College of Law from 1913 until 1961. Now extensively remodeled, the building houses a number of faculty offices, classrooms, and administrative offices including the Superintendent of Planning and Construction, Personnel Service, Dormitories and Dining Services, and School of Religion.

President Gilmore was acting governor general of the Philippine Islands from 1927 to 1929, and was vice governor and secretary of public instruction in the Philippines from 1922 to 1930.

He was born at Brownville, Neb., and received a bachelor of arts degree and doctor of laws degree from DePauw University, and a bachelor of laws degree from Harvard University.

Mrs. Gilmore resides at 109 East Market St., Iowa City.

OTHER BUILDINGS which have been named recently for distinguished faculty members are Phillips Hall (the Business Administration Building under construction) for Dean Emeritus Chester Phillips, and Calvin Hall (Geology Building) for the late Samuel Calvin, a famous Iowa geologist.

Among University buildings constructed during Gilmore's presidency were the Art Building, University Theatre, the former Law

Commons, which is now part of the College of Law, and Hillcrest men's residence hall.

In 1950 the honorary title of president-emeritus was bestowed upon him by the Iowa State Board of Education (now Board of Regents). The two other presidents of SUI who held this title were Thomas H. Macbride, president from 1914 to 1916, and president-emeritus from 1916 until his death in 1934, and Walter A. Jessup, president from 1916 to 1934, and president-emeritus from 1934 to his death in 1944.

GEN. CLARK TO RETIRE — CHARLESTON, S.C. — Gen. Mark W. Clark, 68, announced Friday he will retire as president of The Citadel, South Carolina's four-year military college.

Clark's announcement said he will retire "at an early date and not later than June 30, 1965. There was no word concerning a successor."

Dr. John C. MacQueen is director of the States Services for Crippled Children and professor of pediatrics in the SUI College of Medicine.

'War Requiem' To Be Annual Easter Concert

More than 325 SUI students and faculty members will combine their talents to present the "War Requiem," by English composer Benjamin Britten, for the annual Easter Concert Wednesday. This will be one of the first half-dozen performances of the work in the United States.

Britten, who is considered the greatest living English composer, was commissioned to write the work for the consecration of the new Cathedral of St. Michael in Coventry, England, in 1962.

ST MICHAEL'S was destroyed by German bombs during World War II, and as a symbol of the present amity between England and West Germany, Britten's work was premiered in London and Berlin the same week.

The massive work will be performed by the University Choir and the Oratorio Chorus, both conducted by Daniel Moe; the University Elementary School fifth and sixth grade chorus, conducted by Robert De Yarman, and the University Symphony Orchestra, conducted by James Dixon.

SOLOISTS will include Deborah Treger, soprano, wife of Charles Treger, SUI associate professor of music; James McDonald, tenor, Sibley graduate student, and Herald Stark, baritone, professor of music.

Britten's work combines the Latin Mass for the Dead with a series of anti-war poems by English poet Wilfred Owen, who lost his life in World War I, only days before the Armistice.

Owen, a conscientious objector, describes in his poetry the senselessness and horror of war to warn future generations.

The music is conceived on three levels of sound. On the first level, the tenor and baritone, accompanied by a separate chamber orchestra, sing Owen's poetry.

ON THE SECOND level, the soprano, mixed chorus, and full orchestra present the Mass itself, while the choir of boy's voices accompanied by violins and organ will sing the third level.

Dr. Moe, who will conduct the combined groups, said the work first came to his attention from the rave reviews it received after its premier in 1962. It was first performed in the United States in the summer of 1963 and is now being done by several Midwestern cities, but Dr. Moe stressed that it will not be presented often because of the amount of people needed to perform the work.

In order to accommodate the large number of people expected to attend the concert, the dress rehearsal at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday will be open to the public. The regular performance will be at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Green tickets are being distributed for the Tuesday performance and may not be used Wednesday night. Tickets may be picked up at the Union Information Desk.

The Wednesday evening performance will be broadcast by WSUI.

Hancher Lauds President Bowen

Statement by President Virgil M. Hancher, regarding the appointment of Howard R. Bowen, president of Grinnell College, as President of The State University of Iowa:

The Board of Regents must take great satisfaction in the completion of its long and arduous task.

Dr. Howard Bowen is a graduate of Washington State University, with an advanced degree from the University of Iowa. For some time he was a member of the Department of Economics at the University, and I first made his acquaintance more than 20 years ago in the early years of my presidency.

Dr. Bowen is a distinguished economist who has had broad experience as a professor, a Government official, a banking official and a college president. He has presided with distinction over Grinnell College for nearly nine years, in which position he has achieved state-wide and national distinction. He is highly respected by his colleagues in educational circles, all of whom join in congratulating him upon his appointment to the presidency of the University of Iowa and in high hopes for the continued progress of that University.

Full Text Of Statement From Regents

Statement by A. W. Noehren, president, State Board of Regents, regarding appointment of Howard R. Bowen, President of Grinnell College, as president of the State University of Iowa:

The State Board of Regents is pleased and proud to announce that Howard R. Bowen has agreed to serve as the 14th president of the State University of Iowa. He will take up his new tasks in Iowa City on July 1.

Dr. Bowen had a national reputation as an educator in the field of economics before he was called to Grinnell in 1955. Under his leadership that college has advanced considerably its reputation for scholarship and sound educational practices. Both Grinnell and Dr. Bowen have fully merited the confidence displayed in them by the Ford Foundation and other leading educational agencies.

The choice of a new president for the State University of Iowa is the most important personnel decision which the State of Iowa has had to make for many years. This responsibility has weighed very heavily upon all the Regents, who were determined that the tradition of outstanding educational statesmanship which President Virgil M. Hancher has exercised for almost a quarter of a century must be continued, to keep faith with the thousands of young people who will attend the University in future years, and the thousands who hold degrees from SUI and the many thousands of citizens who help support the University.

In Howard Bowen we have found such a man, one who will guide the University of Iowa, to even greater accomplishments than those for which it is already famous. We believe that all Iowans will share in our pleasure that Dr. Bowen has agreed to undertake this challenge.
