JUDGE GAFFNEY directed that refunds be made by June 1, by check mailed to the last-known address of each consumer. If any checks are returned, the company shall publish an advertisement in the local newspaper containing the names, last-known addresses and amounts to be refunded.

Such a list shall also be posted in the company's Iowa City office, the Judge said.

Funds not claimed within 15 days after publication of the list shall be turned over to the clerk of court together with lists of those to whom the amounts are owed.

Judge Gaffney's ruling also stated that interest, calculated at the rate of five per cent per year, and sales tax be included in the refunds, computed to Tuesday, the day the 1961 rates go into effect.

Newspaper Says Negroes Sought For Academies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Bulletin said Tuesday the Defense Department "is quietly trying to recruit promising Negro high school pupils in Philadelphia and other cities for appointment to the three service academies."

The newspaper quoted Alfred B. Pitt, deputy assistant secretary for civil rights, as saying that of 9,000 cadets now at West Point, Annapolis and the Air Force Academy, only 32 are Negroes.

"What we're anxious to do is to make certain that boys with promise are encouraged to apply and compete for appointments," the newspaper quoted Pitts.

"ONE of our problems has been that there have not been enough applications from minority group youngsters."

The Bulletin story, by Peter H. Binzen, said Pitts had contacted school officials in Philadelphia, Chicago, Boston, Washington and other cities.

Appeal Likely On Utility Refund Case

A spokesman for Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Co. said Tuesday night an appeal to the Iowa Supreme Court is likely on a ruling that the company refund an estimated $1.4 million to Iowa City consumers.

Roger H. Ivie, local attorney for the utility, said such an appeal probably would take exception to Judge Gaffney's order that 1961 rates — ordered by a city ordinance — be restored and would assert the amount of refund be determined by the court.

The decision was made Tuesday by Judge James P. Gaffney calling for the company to refund money collected under bond above the 1961 rates set by the City Council.

Judge Gaffney also directed that the ordinances rates be put back into effect as of Tuesday — exactly three years after they were suspended by a district court injunction of March 24, 1961.

Nolan Wins Senate Bid To Hear Paving Official

New Kennedy Half-Dollars At City Banks

John F. Kennedy memorial half-dollars, which went into circulation Tuesday, are expected to reach Iowa City banks today.

Distribution of the first coins available will be limited to one per family, local bank officials said, because of a heavy demand for them. One bank official said Tuesday that his bank had been flooded by calls inquiring about the coins.

Twenty-six million of the new coins will be distributed initially, with another 65 million scheduled for circulation later this year. The Kennedy coin will replace the old one bearing Benjamin Franklin's image.

A large nation-wide demand is anticipated for the first issue of the coins, despite the fact that they will be no different from later issues.

Nevertheless, the treasury limited first-day sales to 40-half dollars a person at the treasury cash room. Treasury officials also suggested to commercial banks that they try to distribute their supplies equitably.

The letter was particularly critical of Nolan, who has been a leader in the drive to get the Legislative Interim Committee to investigate the treasury's plans for the highway commission to provide "unscrupulous special interests" a means of harassing and intimidating those they wish to liquidate.

Cobb refused to appear, but sent Attorney Sherwin Markman, who said Cobb did not feel it would be possible to get a "fair hearing" before the Senate.

The Senate then voted 38-8 to demand that Cobb appear, under the threat of possible contempt action if he failed to do so.

Cobb, a 1943 graduate of Iowa State University, touched off the bitter controversy with a letter that said the only purpose of a prolonged investigation of the highway commission is to provide "unscrupulous special interests" a means of harassing and intimidating those they wish to liquidate.

The letter was particularly critical of Nolan, who has been a leader in the drive to get the Legislative Interim Committee to investigate the treasury's plans for the highway commission to provide "unscrupulous special interests" a means of harassing and intimidating those they wish to liquidate.

Cobb charged that Nolan has used "this political connections whenever possible" to promote the use of concrete in highway construction. Nolan has denied the charges.

The highway commission has never made it clear why it changed its plans for the paving of the highway near Iowa City.

Markman touched off heated debate after he said he objected to the entire Senate conducting the hearing for Cobb. The young Des Moines lawyer said the Senate would act "as the accuser, prosecutor, judge and jury."

Markman told Sen. A. V. Doran (R-Boone), that he had advised Cobb not to testify Tuesday. Markman said he did not consider the Senate to be a fair forum.

Everyone aboard was wounded, but all survived and were evacuated to a field hospital.

About 12 persons will be hired through the U.S. Employment Office at Iowa City for the interview work, the Commission said. They will be under the supervision of Traffic and Highway Planning Department staff members. A school of instruction will be held for those hired to acquaint them with the procedures to be used.

New TIME —

LONDON (AP) Daylight Savings Time will go into effect Sunday, March 22. This puts Britain six hours ahead of East Standard Time.

That riled Doran and other senators. Sen. Earl Elijah (R-Cleveland) said "the implication we would be unfair remarks in my heart."

"This will be a kangaroo court," said Sen. Andrew Frommett (D-Dubuque). Sen. David O. Shaf (R-Clinton) said Cobb would be out-numbered 50 to one and he did not think "this is a proper matter for a committee of the whole."

URGES PRESIDENT JOHNSON — A group of Missouri Basin leaders from eight cities Tuesday urged President Lyndon Johnson to support a $4.8 million appropriation for Missouri River channel work between Kansas City and Omaha and $4.5 million from Omaha to Sioux City.

He was charged in connection with shoplifting last weekend of more than $500 worth of goods in several Omaha stores. Police said Danfield also had admitted shoplifting at Atlantic and Council Bluffs, Iowa.

$30,000 Building Razed, Unoccupied

By JULIE NELSON

Assistant City Editor

A spectacular fire in the southwest part of Iowa City engulfed one partially completed eight-unit apartment house and threatened another Tuesday evening before being brought under control by four of the five city fire trucks.

The blaze began at about 7:15 p.m. on the roof of one of the three units under construction by Reed Davison Realty of Des Moines.

That unit, valued at $30,000, later burned to the ground while a second unit received several thousand dollars fire, smoke and water damage. The third unit was unharmed.

LOCATED ON West Benton Street near Roosevelt School, the blazing inferno was mirrored against a low cloud ceiling, visible to all parts of Iowa City.

According to employees of the Reed Davison Company, the unit which was leveled was almost completed. It had been under construction for about three months. The frame was entirely finished and workers had begun laying tile on the inside.

The three apartment units together are valued at $85,000.

ASST. FIRE CHIEF Adrian F. Rittermeier said cause of the fire was unknown and added that the entire unit was in flames when firemen arrived on the scene at 7:30 p.m. Firemen had no explanation why the fire spread so quickly.

Burning gas from furnaces in the unit added to the flames. Fighting the blaze was further hampered because the nearest hydrant to attach hoses to was at least two blocks away.

In addition, deep mud was caused by the heat of the flames melting the frozen earth. The mud slowed the firemen down, and caused one truck to get stuck, requiring a tow truck to free it.

NONE OF the units was occupied, and workers had gone home when the fire began.

Richard Voss, G, Iowa City, turned in the alarm after spotting the blaze from Hillsboro Apartments, about two blocks away, where he lives.

"I saw fire on a corner of the outside of the unit," Voss said, "and immediately called the Fire Department. When I got back, the whole roof was in flames."

THE BLAZE was brought under control over an hour after it began. The Fire Department then set up a mobile generator to begin an all-night vigil to insure the safety of the other two units against the threat of further fire.

Tuesday night's fire came only a year and two days after the blaze which gutted Bremer's Department Store, March 22, 1963, which resulted in approximately $150,000 damages.

All Points Bulletin: Find Spring, It's Lost Its Way

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Iowa is well into its first week of spring, but the weather Tuesday was anything but springlike, and Iowans can look for more wintry snow today.

Light snow fell over most of the state Tuesday, mixed with freezing rain, sleet, or freezing drizzle in southern Iowa.

Cooler temperatures were expected to make highways icy in spots Tuesday night and today, and motorists were urged to use extreme caution.

Snow and cloudy conditions were forecast through today. But heavy accumulations of snow were not expected.

OBSERVATIONS AND COMMENT

Page 2 WEDNESDAY, MARCH 25, 1964 Iowa City, Iowa

Johnson won in N.H.; Rocky favored now

THE REAL WINNER of the New Hampshire lottery was President Johnson. That Henry Cabot Lodge, the Administration's ambassador in South Viet Nam, should have won such a surprising impromptu vote of confidence should certainly discourage the Republicans from playing politics with that particular issue.

Now the national political spotlight can focus on the one big primary, the one that is worth the other 15 combined. The differences between the New Hampshire and the California primaries could hardly be sharper. New Hampshire was a personal popularity contest; California is a fight for delegates. The dough-nut-dunking, church-suppling, handshaking techniques will not work in California; there are far too many hands to shake.

Besides, voters in California have acquired a taste for hearing issues debated. What this means is that Sen. Goldwater and Gov. Rockefeller, with lavish campaign funds, can afford to dramatize, as on a national stage, the major divisions and tensions in the Republican party.

In New Hampshire the built-in odds strongly favored Sen. Goldwater: the split of the "moderate" vote among Lodge, Rockefeller, Sen. Smith, Stassen and, to a degree, Nixon; the almost solid backing of the state's regular Republican organization; the support of top state Republican leaders, most of whom were Goldwater delegates; the advantage of being Mr. Conservative in the eyes of small-town conservatives; and local newspaper support. Even so the combined Rockefeller-Lodge vote was twice the senator's.

In California, Sen. Goldwater will have no such advantages. The newspapers that count will be against him, even if they are not enthusiastically for Gov. Rockefeller. In the Rockefeller camp are Sen. Thomas Kuchel, former Gov. Goodwin Knight, the popular George Christopher (until recently mayor of San Francisco), Joseph Martin Jr., who resigned as national committeeman to support Rockefeller, Caspar Weinberger and quite a number of Nixon's former supporters.

The Goldwater delegation includes none of California's Republican congressmen and is weighed with such right-wingers as Lloyd Wright, Henry Salvatori (the H. L. Hunt of California politics) and Walter Knott, another angel of the far Right. It also includes some Nixonites, and is headed, of course, by former Sen. William F. Knowland. Although still a third delegation could be qualified, it is virtually certain that the fight will develop between these two sharply differentiated delegations.

The divorce-and-remarriage issue, which handicapped Gov. Rockefeller in New Hampshire, will be negligible in California. In the background is water — an issue that will test Sen. Goldwater's capacity to double talk. California and Arizona have been feuding over water for years.

Apart from delegates, the stakes will be high. The California primary will be a fight between Sen. Kuchel and former Sen. Knowland; between Warren-admirers and Warren-haters; it will be a fight for control of the Republican party.

Mr. Martin stated the issue with precision when he said on resigning as national committeeman that it would be a fight to determine whether or not the Republican party in California is to become a branch of the John Birch Society.

The odds favor Rockefeller as strongly on the West Coast as they were weighted against him in New England. The California primary, held just weeks in advance of the July 13 convention in San Francisco, could well determine not only the Republican nominees, but future control of the party.

Wise decision

STATE SEN. NOLAN'S request for Senate questioning of James Cobb, who charged Nolan with harrassing the asphalt paving industry, was wise. Specific charges made publicly will be much easier for Sen. Nolan to answer than vague, general charges made in the form of letters to state senators.

Get a 10 per cent cut —

Making money by turning in tax dodger

By ART BUCHWALD

The Internal Revenue Service doesn't like to talk about it, but it still encourages people to inform on those who are cheating on their income taxes. The IRS will pay up to 10 per cent of the money to collect through an informer.

A spokesman at the IRS in charge of the care and feeding of informers said that people tend to turn in tax dodgers more for revenge than for monetary rewards. Rejected sweethearts, embittered wives, and heartbroken secretaries are among the main sources of information for tax-swilling cases. And many a man has lived to regret the tax secrets he whispered into his loved one's ear.

Relatives also happen to make worthy informer. The spokesman said somewhat regrettably, "I have seen mothers turn in sons, daughters turn in fathers, and brothers turn in brothers."

If a son turns in a mother it's known as matrrixicide and if an offspring turns in a father it's called patrrixicide. It goes without saying that in-laws are always trying to help the Internal Revenue Service, as a patriotic duty.

BOOKKEEPERS, former friends, and ex-partners are another source of information for the tax people, but they're not the only ones.

Many tips come from jealous people who claim their neighbors are living above their means. A new mink coat is like a red flag to a neighboring housewife, and if some poor oaf buys a Lincoln Continental the IRS is bound to hear about it.

"Of course a lot of the tips," the spokesman said, "are based on envy, but occasionally we do find someone who has been monkeying around."

IT IS INTERESTING to note that when a neighbor turns in a neighbor, he rarely demands any money. The satisfaction of seeing someone get caught seems to be enough of a reward for the informer.

Being a tax informer does have its hazards. For one thing the IRS usually checks out the return of the informer before they check into the person that has been informed upon.

Last year an informer from New York state complained to Sen. Keating that he hadn't been paid for turning in a tax dodger. When Sen. Keating checked into the case he discovered that the informer hadn't filed his own tax return for three years.

UNFORTUNATELY, the rewards paid by the Internal Revenue Service are taxable as regular income. Not long ago an informer who was paid $69,000 for putting the finger on a tax dodger demanded a spread of the money over a three-year period. The IRS refused to pay it to him that way, so he took the case to court. The judge ruled in favor of the IRS, so the poor fellow had to take the money all at once.

The IRS also refuses to pay out a reward to an informer unless it collects the money from the tax dodger. And it isn't enough to finger someone. You have to produce evidence that is not available to the revenue people.

But tax informing has its advantages. You can make your own hours and even do it in your spare time. You can avenge a wrong and help the Government at the same time. If you're lucky, you can even send the person you don't like to jail.

As for tax dodgers, we have only one word of advice. "Promise her anything, but don't tell her where you plan to get the money."

A Mississippi student's letter —

Governor is asked to guard voting rights

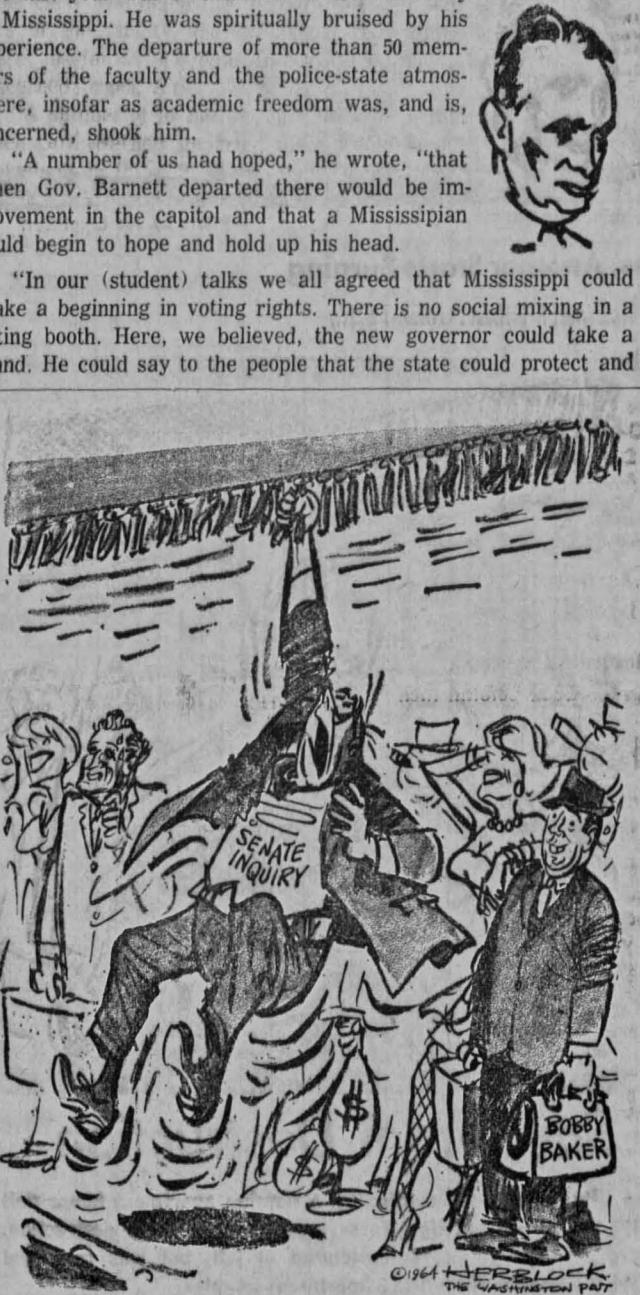

By RALPH MCGILL

In any country with a representative form of Government the right to vote is fundamental. Without it, all other rights are eroded and, finally, lost. With it, the demagogue and tyrant alike are confronted. The ballot brings all other rights within reach.

This is the prelude to a letter from a young man in Mississippi who last year was a freshman at the University of Mississippi. He was spiritually bruised by his experience. The departure of more than 50 members of the faculty and the police-state atmosphere, insofar as academic freedom was, and is, concerned, shook him.

"A number of us had hoped," he wrote, "that when Gov. Barnett departed there would be improvement in the capitol and that a Mississippian could begin to hope and hold up his head.

"In our (student) talks we all agreed that Mississippi could make a beginning in voting rights. There is no social mixing in a voting booth. Here, we believed, the new governor could take a stand. He could say to the people that the state could protect and

Senate Boxing Probe Begins—

Attorney: Clay's Promotion Kept Secret To Avoid Rift

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former heavyweight champion Sonny Liston — apparently without getting anything in return — signed away stock that would have yielded him an extra $100,000 from his fight with Cassius Clay.

Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark.), member of a Senate antitrust subcommittee that was informed of the stock transfer Tuesday, suggested Liston was "fleeced" in the deal.

"I am prepared to say that no one from Inter-Continental fleeced him," said Garland D. Cherry, secretary of Inter-Continental Promotions, Inc., a firm organized to promote Liston's fights as a heavyweight champion.

CHERRY APPEARED as a witness before the subcommittee it opened hearings on a bill to establish federal controls over boxing.

Liston held a 50 per cent interest in Inter-Continental and it was Cherry's account of a transfer of a portion of this stock to Sam Margolis, a Philadelphia friend of Liston's, that brought on McClellan's remark.

THE EXCHANGE came as the subcommittee unraveled the tangled tale of the Feb. 25 fight in which Liston lost his title to Clay.

Cherry, a Chester, Pa., attorney who organized Inter-Continental said that last December Margolis brought Liston's 500 shares to him, with 275 of them signed over to Margolis.

After checking with Liston's financial adviser, Jack Nilon, Cherry said he transferred the stock, although he didn't know of any consideration Liston had received from Margolis.

CHERRY described Margolis as a Philadelphia vending machine operator who "helped Liston when he was down."

Cherry said he later heard that Margolis received the money for bringing Liston to Nilon and his brothers Jim and Bob. Jim and Bob Nilon helped form Inter-Continental and Jack Nilon became Liston's financial adviser. Cherry said Jack Nilon set up the deal to get Liston a share of the profits of promoting the fight through his ownership of the Inter-Continental shares.

He insisted no fighter previously ever had gotten a share of the promotional profits of a fight.

"HE BROUGHT Liston to the Nilon and he got more than half of Liston's share," snapped McClellan. "That's a pretty big finder's fee, isn't it?"

"Yes sir," replied Cherry. Cherry also testified that:

- A separate agreement, signed the same day as the contract to fight Clay, paid Clay $50,000 and gave Inter-Continental the right to promote Clay's first fight as champion and name his opponent.

- This agreement was kept secret to avoid trouble with boxing authorities. This violated World Boxing Association rules and involved a firm in which Liston was a stockholder promoting a fight for Clay and selecting his opponent.

- He hadn't learned until two weeks ago, during talks with the Internal Revenue Service, that Jack Nilon had a separate agreement with Liston, whereby he got 50 per cent of Liston's purse from the Clay fight, less training camp expenses. This came, he said, while Liston was paying another 10 per cent to his manager of record, George Katz.

The Friday night television matter grew out of its proper proportion. We never had arranged our 1964 schedule. The hassle was premature. The deal never materialized."

Hornung and Karras were suspended for betting on games — up to $500 in Hornung's case — but never against their own teams.

"It has been a rocky year for us. But it's what you can expect when you get big and successful. The smallest incident becomes exaggerated. It's flattering but a bit unsettling."

NFL Has Many Problems But Should Survive Easily

NEW YORK (AP) — There has been one crisis after another for the National Football League during the past 12 months but Commissioner Pete Rozelle insists the patient has emerged "livelier and stronger than ever."

"Public interest in the game is at a peak — more people than ever are coming out to the games," the slender young executive said Tuesday. "We have just signed the richest television contract in our history."

"I regard these things as a vote of confidence."

ANOTHER IN a steady series of crises was passed Monday when Paul Hornung, high-scoring back of the Green Bay Packers, and Alex Karras, 250-pound defensive tackle of the Detroit Lions, were reinstated after 11 months' suspension for betting on games.

"YES, WE GOT a lot of letters of criticism," Rozelle acknowledged.

The prosperous league was hit during the past year by other incidents which threatened to tarnish its image of integrity.

Carroll Rosenblum, owner of the Baltimore Colts, was accused of betting on games but was exonerated after an investigation. Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb, a garrulous tackle for the Pittsburgh Steelers, was found dead in a Baltimore apartment from an overdose of narcotics.

The NFL became the target of widespread criticism when it failed to follow a national trend and cancel its regular schedule on the Sunday following the Nov. 22 assassination of President Kennedy.

Then there recently was an uproar when plans were announced — without NFL official sanction — for the televising of five league games on Friday nights which would have been in competition with college and high school contests.

Arizona, 5-0

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Arizona wasn't even in the ball game as Iowa downed the Wildcats 5-0 Tuesday in the second game of a six-game baseball series.

Both teams played errorless ball, a reversal of the previous day's action when Iowa had 11 errors and Arizona 10. The teams tied 7-7 after 11 innings when the game was called because of darkness.

He collected all its hits in two innings. First baseman Rich Lee socked a homer with one on in the third for the first two runs. And catcher Jim Freese doubled with the bases loaded in the eighth, driving in three and ending the scoring.

Bob Gebhard limited Arizona to five hits in winning his first game of the year.

Cypriots Okay Finnish Envoy As Mediator

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) — Greek and Turkish Cypriots expressed assent Tuesday to the appointment of former Finnish Premier Sakari S. Tuomiöja as U.N. mediator of community conflict now rounding out its third month.

President Archbishop Makarios, was quoted by a spokesman as saying he has no objection to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant's nomination of the Finn.

Vice President Fazil Kutchuk, the Turkish Cypriot leader, said he welcomed the nomination.

Britain, Greece and Turkey, the guaranteeing powers under the 1960 agreement by which the British freed Cyprus, approved Tuomiöja.

APPROVAL of Tuomiöja was required under the U.N. Security Council's March 4 resolution, and needs only the formal endorsement of Makarios and Kutchuk before actual appointment.

Leaders of both communities were more concerned over the exact role of the U.N. peace force, an international army which is not yet operational. There is no assurance that Tuomiöja's arrival would ease the tension.

A Dublin dispatch said Ireland will send 600 troops in April to join Canadian and British troops in the force. The Irish foreign minister, Frank Aiken, said however, immediate steps would be taken to withdraw the Irish troops if Britain, Greece or Turkey intervened in the situation or attempted to partition the island by force.

Thant spent most of the day in Geneva conferring on the Cyprus crisis with Tuomiöja and Greek, Turkish and Cypriot officials.

ALSO taking part in Thant's series of talks were Indian Lt. Gen. Prem Singh Gyani, commander of the U.N. peace force in Cyprus; and Pier Spinelli of Italy, Thant's personal representative there.

Spinelli arrived from Nicosia early Tuesday in a special British Royal Air force plane. Gyani left in the same plane to return to Nicosia.

Thant, Tuomiöja and Gyani all refused to comment on the Cyprus situation pending formal announcement of Tuomiöja's appointment.

Thant was expected to make the announcement in New York after his return to U.N. headquarters and a meeting with Cypriot Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou.

Bob Kennedy Veep Choice At Caucuses

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy will be the running mate of President Lyndon Johnson in November if straw votes taken at many Johnson County Democratic caucuses Monday night are any indication.

A sampling of the more active caucuses gave Kennedy 59 votes to the 41 received by the second choice, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

The rest of the votes were scattered among Sargent Shriver, 12; Adlai Stevenson, 10; Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy, 5, and Gov. Harold Hughes, 2.

Meeting at 37 sites to select delegates to the county Democratic presidential and statutory conventions, the Democrats also adopted several resolutions.

THE resolutions included backing legislation to combat the physical abuse of children; broaden and improve enforcement of Iowa civil rights; favor an act in the state to furnish transportation and from other than public schools; support a fair reapportionment plan based on the federal court's rulings.

County Democratic presidential convention will be held April 18 in the courthouse. Each township and precinct in the county is allotted one delegate to the county convention for every 25 votes cast for the Democratic candidate for governor in the last election.

At the county convention, delegates will be elected to represent county democrats at the state convention. Johnson county is allotted 59 votes at the state presidential convention in Des Moines, and the state will have 29 votes at the national Democratic presidential convention Aug. 24 in Atlantic City.

The exhibit will open to the public April 19, and continue through May 17.

Johnson Calls Upon Nations To Quest Peace

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson has urged other nations to join the United States in "a quest for peace and not the quarrels of war."

Speaking Tuesday on a theme he said occurred to him in church last Sunday, Johnson said wars can no longer be waged without risking the nuclear destruction of civilization.

He quoted from the Bible to urge other nations: "Come now and let us reason together."

Johnson departed from his prepared speech on domestic economic issues before the AFL-CIO's Building and Construction Trades Department convention to talk about global problems and the future of "your family and mine, and their country."

He called for "reasoned agreement instead of ready aggression" to settle international disputes.

"My most fervent prayer is to be a president who can make it possible for everybody in this land to grow to manhood by loving his country, instead of dying for it," he said.

He spoke of U.S. efforts to help settle disputes in Cyprus, Viet Nam and Panama and said: "We are the most powerful nation in the world and we can afford to be patient."

But power carries obligations, he said, and this country should "offer the outstretched arm that tries to help rather than the outstretched sword."

Johnson drew heavy applause in urging the union members to enlist in his campaign against poverty.

Johnson repeated a plea to unions not to endanger economic progress by an inflationary round of wage and price increases.

The auto union is mapping out new contract demands and has indicated it would not be bound by Johnson's wage-price guidelines.

"Prices and wages must be arrived at freely," Johnson told the building trades delegates. "But they must be arrived at responsibly."

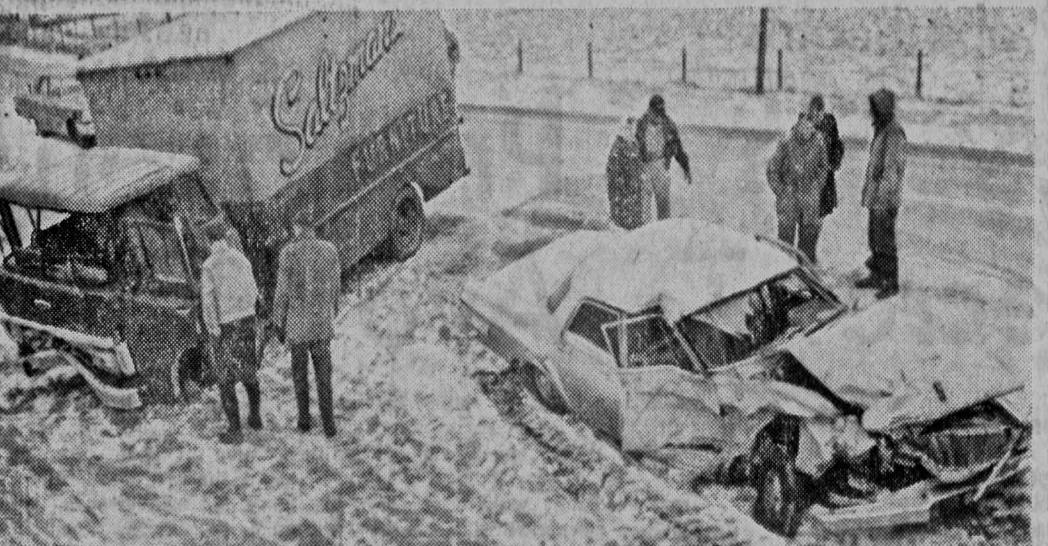

Iowa City School Board Hikes Administrator Pay

PAY hikes ranging from $100 to $1,500 per year were granted to administrators by the Iowa City school board Monday.

In making the appointments, the Board gave School Supt. Buford Garner a new three-year contract at $18,500 per year — a pay raise of $1,500 over his current salary.

His assistant, Ross A. Engel, and City High Principal Robert K. Sorenson, each will receive $13,500 per year by the Board's action.

To underscore this, Ikeda will extend his regrets personally to the

Japan Sends Regrets As Envoy Recuperates

TOKYO (UPI) (Wednesday) — U.S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer recuperated in a hospital today from a bone-deep knife wound in the right thigh inflicted by an emotionally disturbed Japanese youth outside the U.S. Embassy.

Police held Norikazu Shiotani, 19, who may face charges of bodily assault, or even attempted murder.

Shiotani sought to dramatize a crusade for aiding nearsighted people in Japan, and felt that the United States and Japan were not contributing. He is nearsighted.

Police said Shiotani hurled a rock wrapped in a newspaper into the embassy compound several hours before the stabbing to see if the coast was clear.

JAPAN EXPRESSED its regrets to President Johnson for the attack on Reischauer, 53, highly popular with the Government and people alike. He speaks Japanese fluently, is a scholar on Asian affairs and has a Japanese wife.

In response to regrets cabled by Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda, the U.S. President said all Americans understand the attack "has nothing to do with the deep friendship that exists between our two countries."

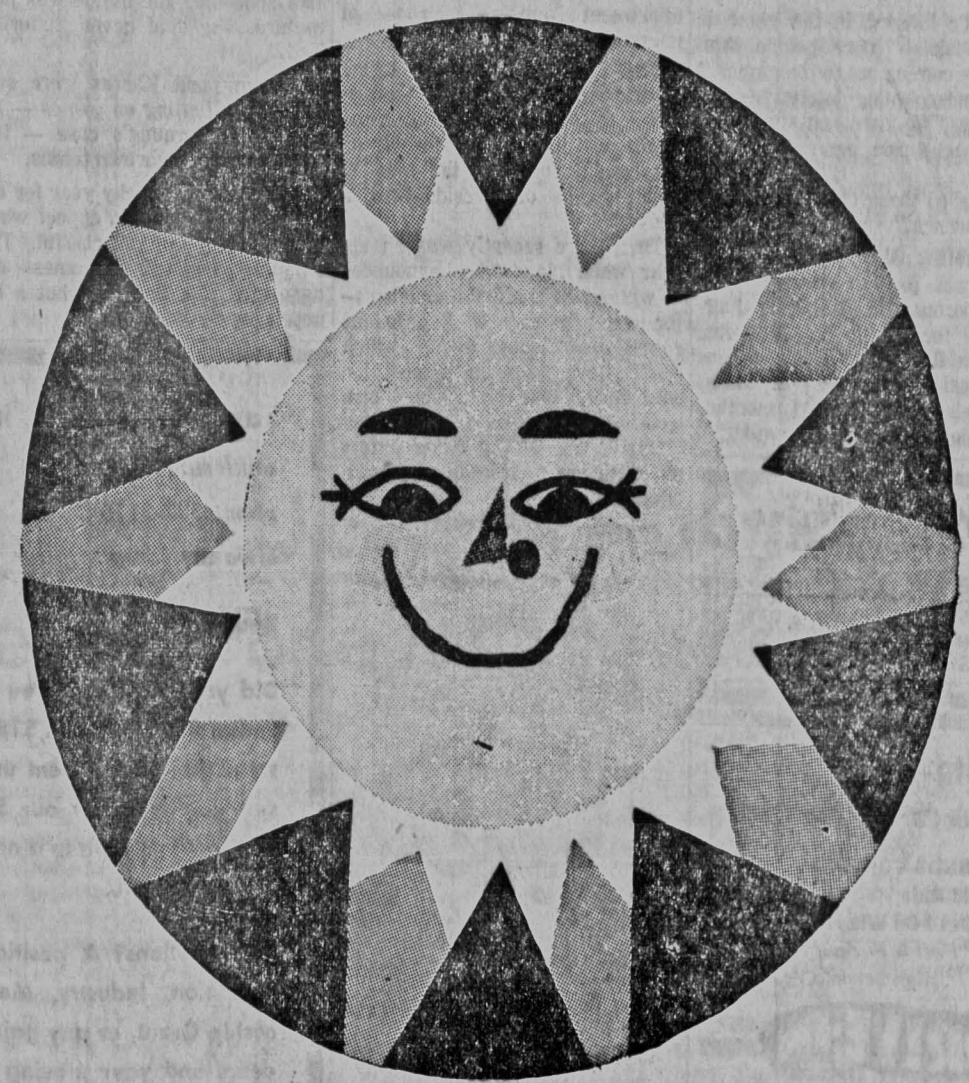

Ikeda said his entire nation is indignant "over this dastardly act of violence."

To underscore this, Ikeda will extend his regrets personally to the

GAS CLOTHES DRYER

With an automatic gas clothes dryer, you'll have the sweet smell of sunshine-pampered clothes all year 'round. Clothes dry fluffy white and bright because gentle, even gas heat blows moisture away... never bakes it out.

A modern gas dryer delivers heat instantly at the temperature you want. Saves time and work by drying your clothes damp enough to iron — or completely dry, ready to fold and put away.

You can use your gas dryer for other household chores too: With the machine set for tumble without heat, it will fluff and freshen slipcovers, pillows, draperies, remove dust and musty odors, smooth out wrinkles and raise fabric nap.

Baker Probe Won't Hear Forgery Talk

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Democratic-controlled Senate Rules Committee turned thumbs down Tuesday on a return engagement for the witness who brought President Johnson's name into the Baker investigation.

"Immaterial and irrelevant" was the committee's pronouncement on a new affidavit by insurance man Don B. Reynolds.

Reynolds told earlier hearings that he gave Johnson a $585 stereo set while selling him two $100,000 life insurance policies.

In his new affidavit, which the Republicans offered in an effort to have Reynolds recalled for more testimony, the insurance man said he was told that and aide to Johnson once asked how much "kickback of commission" he would receive in connection with one of the policies.
