Broad Implications Seen—

City Housing Test Hearing Deferred

By JON 'AN Editorial Page Editor

A hearing which could have permanent effects on Iowa City housing conditions was adjourned Friday and will reconvene at 9:30 Tuesday morning in Johnson County District Court with Judge James P. Gaffney presiding.

News Briefly

BOMBER CRASHES — An Air Force B47 bomber crashed into a barn and burned near Jacksonville, Ark., Friday, killing four crewmen aboard and a 9-year-old boy who was playing near the barn.

A playmate of the youth was critically burned. The dead youth was Richard Butler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Butler of Jacksonville. The crewmen were not identified, pending notification of next of kin.

REBELS SURRENDER — A band of dissident sailors and marines, in passive rebellion for 40 hours, surrendered to the Brazilian Army Friday in response to an appeal from President Joao Goulart.

About 3,000 navy men originally were estimated to have been involved but only 1,425 were counted in the ranks transferred by army trucks and buses from a downtown building to custody at a military post.

JOHNSON'S EASTER — President Johnson, enjoying a relaxed Easter holiday schedule at his Texas ranch, went for a look at his boyhood home and roamed the spring-green rangeland at sunset Friday. He and Mrs. Johnson made the short auto trip to the old homestead in the afternoon to see how restoration of the house is advancing.

BRITISH SATELLITE — Britain's second satellite, Ariel II, roared skyward from the Virginia coast Friday and entered a high, wide and informative orbit around the earth.

On its first pass over the United States completing orbit No. 1, the satellite returned four minutes of experimental data to tracking stations on the ground.

Councilmen, C of C Meet, Talk Parking

City councilmen and Chamber of Commerce leaders held an inconclusive "closed session" Thursday afternoon to discuss Iowa City's parking problems.

While Chamber President Lawrence T. Wade had no comment after the meeting, others attending the meeting spoke freely.

Among suggestions offered was a proposal to proceed with the acquisition of the north half-block on College St. between Linn and Dubuque streets, and to use it, at least at first, for a parking lot.

Delay of the city's parking ramp and the removal of the boulevard on Washington St. between Van Buren and Dodge streets to permit diagonal parking were also among the several topics of discussion.

Thursday's meeting, called by the Chamber, was attended by members of its board of directors, City Manager Carsten D. Leikvold, Mayor Richard W. Burger and Councilmen Max Yocum and William C. Hubbard.

Rusk Replies To Fulbright

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk rejected Friday Sen. J. W. Fulbright's call for an end to the Administration's Cuba boycott policy. Rusk said Fidel Castro is "more than a nuisance — he is a threat to this hemisphere."

RUSK

But Rusk agreed with other major segments of the controversial speech by the Arkansas Democrat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which has stoked election-year foreign debate.

Fulbright's Wednesday speech was a principal topic at a half-hour news conference held by the Secretary of State.

The senator described as a failure the Administration's policy of undermining Communist Prime Minister Castro by diplomatic and economic boycott. Fulbright said it will not work in the future because other Western nations will continue to trade with the Havana regime.

And he saw Castro as "a nuisance but not a grave threat" to the United States.

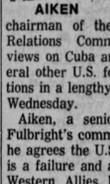

Rusk acknowledged that "economic isolation of Cuba has not been complete." But he said there has been "very substantial" success in reducing free world trade, shipping and travel contacts with the island.

He ruled out a shift away from the boycott policy unless the Castro Government gives up its military-political ties with Moscow and its efforts at subversion in the Americas. And he said Castro is showing no signs of doing this.

Aiken Endorses Fulbright Policy Toward Red Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) endorsed Sen. J. W. Fulbright's challenge to the Administration to accept Communist Cuba as a nuisance rather than an intolerable menace to the United States.

AIKEN

Aiken thus differed with many Republicans and some Democrats who have accused the Arkansas Democrat of favoring a policy of appeasement. Fulbright, who is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, gave his views on Cuba and questioned several other U.S. foreign policy positions in a lengthy Senate speech on Wednesday.

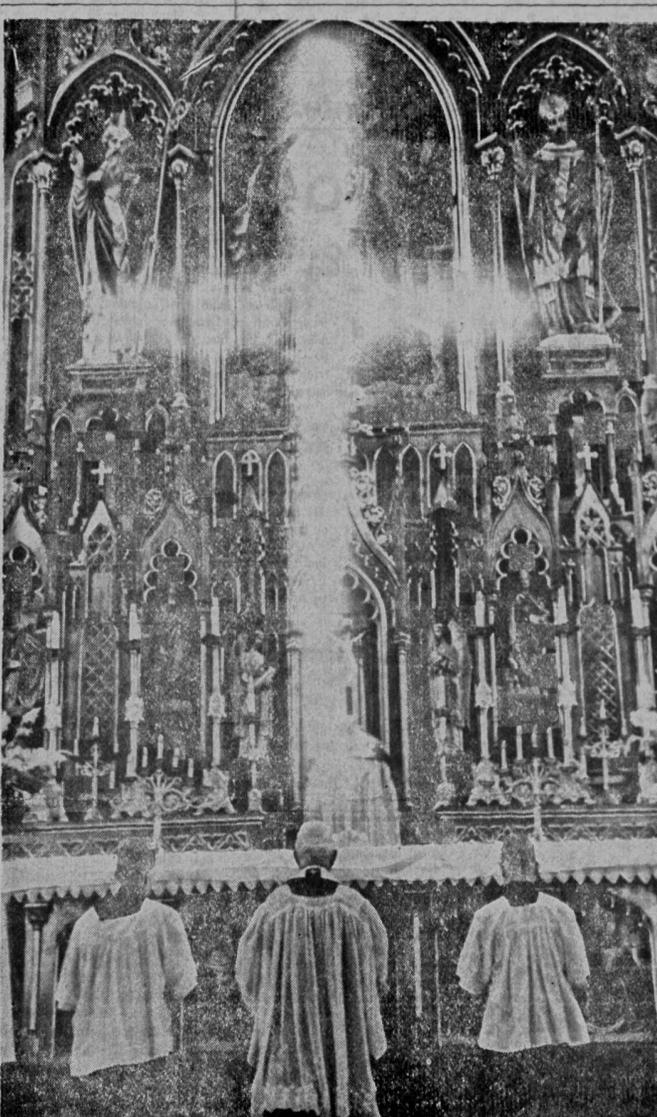

Aiken, a senior Republican on Fulbright's committee, said Friday he agrees the U.S. boycott of Cuba is a failure and added that even if Western Allies had supported it, "I've never known a country to be starved into democracy."

But while Fulbright drew support from Aiken, Secretary of State Dean Rusk rejected the Arkansasian's conclusion that the boycott is doomed to continue failure.

And Rusk said at a news conference that Castro is far more than a mere nuisance and is, in fact, a threat to the hemisphere.

In an interview, said the United States made a mistake when it broke off diplomatic relations with Cuba when Fidel Castro came into power during the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration.

Federal Court Judges Approve Remap Plan

Deny Intervention, Stay of Execution

DES MOINES (AP) — The temporary reapportionment plan adopted by the Iowa Legislature was approved Friday by a three-judge Federal Court panel.

The court denied an application by four Republican legislators and a former state senator to intervene in a suit challenging the present reapportionment of the Legislature, filed by two Des Moines labor leaders.

The three-judge panel denied a request by three county auditors for a stay of execution of the court's order that the Legislature reapportion itself immediately, pending an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The judges said that in the temporary reapportionment plan "the malapportionment in both houses of the General Assembly has been materially reduced."

THE COURT SAID "In the absence of further guidance from the Supreme Court of the United States, this court is of the opinion that the temporary plan is not so objectionable on Federal constitutional grounds as to warrant disapproval as an interim plan of apportionment."

Iowa Atty. Gen. Evan Hultman and attorneys for the county auditors, the would-be intervenors, and the labor leaders who filed the original suit, argued the case for more than two hours before the court panel Friday morning.

The court's ruling on all the matters at issue was filed about four hours after the hearing ended.

HULTMAN HAD ASKED speedy approval of the plan, saying delay would leave "the election status of the state of Iowa in a very chaotic state."

The temporary reapportionment plan, calling for a population-based House of 124 members and a 59-member Senate based on area and population, will be in effect for the election later this year of the 1965 legislature.

Hultman told the court he thinks the temporary apportionment plan "is as fine a job hammered out on the anvil of legislative processes as is humanly possible within the limits in which these men had to operate."

Hultman and Harry Smith of Sioux City, attorney for two Des Moines labor leaders who had filed a suit attacking the present apportionment of the legislature, disputed the amount of population control the plan would provide in the House.

HULTMAN SAID 48.3 per cent of the population would elect a majority of the House. Smith contended the figure actually was 44 per cent. Smith said his clients weren't objecting to the plan as a stop-gap measure, but didn't think it was constitutional and didn't want it used as a model for a permanent reapportionment system.

The court said that under the temporary apportionment plan, about 48.3 per cent of the population can elect a majority of the House, with a maximum disparity in population between districts of about 2.23 to one.

But it added in a footnote that the percentage figure varies "depending on the counties used in computing the percentages." It noted that Smith had filed an exhibit indicating 44.02 per cent of the population could elect half the representatives.

THE COURT SAID in the temporary plan the Senate could be controlled by 38.9 per cent of the people.

The three panel members are Judge Martin Van Oosterhout of the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals, Judge Roy Stephenson of the Southern District of Iowa, and Judge Edward J. McManus of the Northern District of Iowa.

The intervenors were Sens. John Campbell (R-Oskaloosa) and Edward Wearin (R-Red Oak), and Reps. Elmer Vermeer (R-Pella) and William Coffman (R-North English), and former state Sen. Eugene Dewel of Algona. Their lawyers are Republican Sens. D. C. Nolan of Iowa City, Richard Turner of Council Bluffs, and A. V. Doran of Boone.

Salinger Gets Name on Calif. Primary Ballot

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pierre Salinger, aspiring to be U.S. senator from California, won a place Friday on the June 2 Democratic primary ballot over the opposition of the secretary of state and the attorney general's office.

SALINGER

Victory came in the State Supreme Court exactly one week after the 38-year-old press secretary for President John F. Kennedy and Johnson returned from nine years in Washington and announced his first plunge into a California political race.

Salinger faces 11 other Democrats for the nomination, including ailing incumbent Sen. Clair Engle and State Controller Allan Cranston.

The court, in a unanimous decision which it said is "final and forthwith," ordered Salinger's name on the ballot in the face of arguments that he had failed to meet state requirements both as a registered California voter and a certified Democrat in this state.

"THE CAMPAIGN is on," the cigar-chomping Salinger said exuberantly in Los Angeles on hearing of the decision.

Tuesday, Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan, a Republican, rejected Salinger's papers of candidacy. That same day, Salinger's attorneys asked the State Supreme Court to order their acceptance.

Thursday, a brief was filed with the court defending Jordan's position. The brief was signed by Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk, a Democrat. It had been drawn up by a Mosk assistant after he had talked matters over with the executive secretary of Gov. Edmund G. Brown, a Democrat.

MOSK HAD STRONGLY considered running for the nomination Salinger now seeks. Reports circulated widely that Mosk was dissuaded by Brown who backs Cranston. Engle is in ailing health after brain surgery.

On Friday, Salinger's attorneys filed with the clerk of the State Supreme Court a brief in rebuttal to Jordan's, arguing that the state regulations Jordan cited are unconstitutional.

5 SUIowans Picked Up In Greenwood

Five SUIowans were picked up by Greenwood, Miss., police Friday afternoon while picketing with a group of about 25 Negroes in front of the courthouse there.

They were taken to the Police Station, photographed and fingerprinted and then returned to the courthouse and released.

Officials gave their names as: Ray Rohrbough, G. Iowa City; Robert Hagg, G. Webster, N.Y.; Bambi Brown, A1, Des Moines; Velga Evalovics, A3, Des Moines and Maris Cirulis, A2, Richmond Heights, Md.

SPIRITED EGG!

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — A woman searching for a $100 Easter egg Friday found a half-gallon of moonshine instead.

Radio station WGAU was sponsoring a hunt for a colored plastic egg containing a slip of paper entitling the finder to $100. The clues appeared to lead to an old covered bridge.

Several persons were in the area searching when the unidentified woman gave a whoop. But her find wasn't the egg. It was a half gallon of nontax-paid whiskey.

Against President Park—

Korean Students' Protest Continues

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Thousands of students marched in street demonstrations Friday for the fourth straight day, accusing President Chung Hee Park of conducting sell-out diplomacy with Japan.

But there were signs that Park's strategy of appeasing the students a little and waiting for the storm to blow over might be paying off. Park has said he will not yield to student demand to suspend normalization and economic talks with Japan.

The number of demonstrators in the capital, where the demonstrations began, dropped sharply to about 7,000 students. About 30,000 marched the day before.

A few students were injured in a brief clash with police when about 300 high school boys tried to tear up barbed-wire barricades blocking the road to Park's presidential mansion.

Park made a major gesture of appeasement by ordering the recall of Kim Chong Pil, top diplomatic troubleshooter who has been in Tokyo since March 20 to expedite the talks. Kim, chairman of the ruling Democratic Republican party is expected to return today.

Mrs. Kennedy Learns To Ski

STOWE, Vt. (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy, an old hand at water skiing, tried a ski slope Friday and took a couple of spills her first time out on the snow.

She is here with daughter, Caroline, 6, for an Easter weekend, along with other members of the late President's family.

Mrs. Kennedy, an experienced water skier, golfer and rider, won praise from her ski instructor as she tried out the basic training of skiing.

Caroline also had her troubles keeping upright but she came back for more instructions after a lunch break.

Soviets Free U.S. Fliers

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP) — Two U.S. fliers were released Friday by the Soviet Union and arrived in Wiesbaden in apparent good health 17 days after a Soviet fighter shot down their reconnaissance plane March 10.

The Soviet Union and Communist East Germany repeated charges that the U.S. RB66 flew over East Germany deliberately "for purposes of military reconnaissance" but were "expelled" because Washington expressed regrets.

Capt. David L. Holland, 35, Holland, Minn., and Melvin J. Kessler, 30, Philadelphia, arrived at the Allies, checkpoint at Helmstedt on the East German frontier in an Army sedan.

Their car barely halted before picking up speed again and heading down the Autobahn, preceded by a German police car, to Hannover. From there an Air Force plane flew them to U.S. Air Force European headquarters in Wiesbaden.

A third airman aboard the downed plane, Lt. Harold W. Welch, 24, of Detroit, was released March 21. Welch was the only one injured when the three parachuted from their plane 20 miles inside East Germany. He suffered arm and leg fractures.

On their arrival at Wiesbaden, the two pilots were taken to an Air Force hospital for observation. A spokesman said they would remain there for some time.

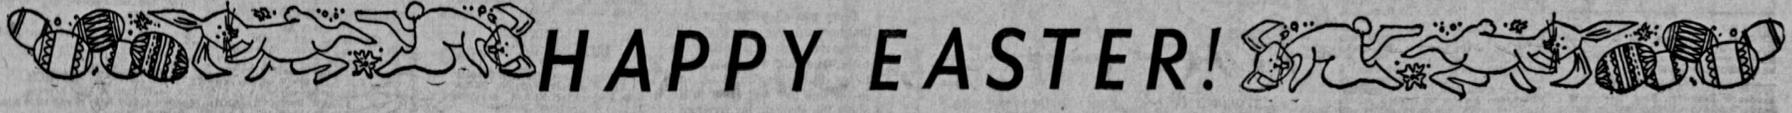

The Soviets did not say where Kessler and Holland had been held. The Americans landed near Gardelegen, almost due west of Berlin.

Welch was treated at a hospital at Gardelegen and then taken to a Soviet military hospital at Magdeburg, 120 miles southwest of Berlin.

The release of Holland and Kessler came after the United States had applied diplomatic pressure. Washington said the men were on a training flight over West Germany and strayed over East Germany due to a navigational error.

For a time, the Soviets talked of trying the airmen for espionage. Washington warned Moscow last week that relations between the two nations would be jeopardized unless the two were freed.

Let's do scrap some of those myths

WE CAN JOIN enthusiastically enough in Sen. J. William Fulbright's criticism of Americans' "clinging to old myths in the face of new realities" in the sphere of foreign policy.

He may or may not be right in his contention that we are taking unrealistic attitudes toward the Castro, the Vietnam and the Panama problems.

This country might begin to get somewhere in the implementation of a satisfactory foreign policy if it abandoned, for example, such myths as:

-That we desire only that other nations, like us, shall have the kind of government they prefer.

-That nations newly emerged from the jungle should be considered on a par with us and are quite capable of measuring up to the responsibilities of a voting strength equal to ours in such international bodies as the United Nations.

-That money alone, or money abetted only by a little "technical assistance," will enable backward nations to close century-wide social and economic gaps in just a few years. It won't.

-That this country is ready to put up the manpower necessary to maintain its national security on a no-nuclear-arms basis. It isn't.

If our diplomats could clear some of these and other similar fictions out of their working patterns, they could hope to establish positions that would command widespread respect around the world, and ultimately would find themselves sweating out fewer Castro, Vietnam and Panama ordeals.

Seen from the third tunic button-

What is Gen. de Gaulle up to?

By ART BUCHWALD

Just because we lived in France for 14 years, people are constantly coming up to us and saying, "What is Gen. de Gaulle up to?"

If we reply that we have no idea what Gen. de Gaulle is up to, they think we're holding out on them. So we've decided to violate a friendship of years and reveal what Gen. de Gaulle really has on his mind.

We first met Gen. de Gaulle in 1961 at the Elysee Palace at a reception of 2,000 members of the diplomatic corps and press. We were standing in line as he walked by and he stopped in front of us and asked in French, "Do you know all the people in this room?"

"Oui, mon general," we replied.

He nodded and walked on.

And so we can honestly say we have not only seen Gen. de Gaulle, but we've spoken to him.

From this lengthy encounter we can give BUCHWALD an honest assessment of what Gen. de Gaulle is up to. In the give and take of a frank conversation such as we reported above, the general said exactly what was on his mind, and we in turn told him exactly what we thought. We think he respected us for it.

The first thing you must realize if you want to understand Gen. de Gaulle is that he is very tall, and can usually see over everybody's head. Most people have to look up to him and he in turn must look down on everybody.

When we spoke to him our nose came up to the third button of his tunic, which put us at somewhat of a disadvantage. We have always believed you can never trust a man who doesn't look you straight in the eye.

In this case, we stared straight into his tunic button, and the tunic button stared straight back.

Gen. de Gaulle, when he is standing still, has a military bearing which should tell a lot about him. When he speaks his voice comes from deep inside of him, which makes his tunic button hop up and down. Since you are staring at it, you keep nodding your head up and down to follow his conversation, and therefore he thinks you are agreeing with him.

Many diplomats have been caught this way and have regretted the consequences later.

The Communist recruiters will be busy-

More aid to Latin America will be needed

By RALPH MCGILL

In his appeal for passage of the aid program, President Johnson referred to poverty and ignorance as the grim recruiting sergeants of communism.

He is right. In most of the countries of Latin America, Africa and Asia there are active Communist groups. Since poverty, ignorance and tensions are sure to increase as the population increases there will be plenty of grist for the mills of discontent.

The underdeveloped countries have continued to lose ground. In most of them foreign investment capital is not welcome and, increasingly, there is refusal by outside capital to risk being admitted and then nationalized.

Rivalries and armies to protect sovereignty, nationalistic ambitions and jealousies absorb too large a share of domestic production. Aid and grants from the United States, Russia, Germany, France, Britain and others goes to maintain soldiers and air forces. India's population grows so fast that the economic gains are all but nullified, when India must also spend hundreds of millions of rupees to build defenses against a hostile Red China that encroaches on her northern border.

Nasser could build a viable nation, but his compulsive hatred of Israel is so intense that he spends a huge fortune annually on his armed forces. He has gone even into the business of missiles, Greece and Turkey are expensively engaged in the hideous hatreds of violent Cyprus.

In Asia the people of Indonesia are in need of everything, food, education and jobs. But Sukarno spends vastly to carry on aggression against Malaysia over a piece of territory that could only add to his burdens and that of his people, if he had it to govern. Also Sukarno would like to become for Asia what Nasser is to the Arab world. So he spends on this ambitious piece of vanity.

Africa is replete with jealousies. Ghana and the ambitions of Kwame Nkrumah to be the top man in one great African nation are suspect and feared by most of the neighboring states. Ghana's army is perhaps the best in West Africa—small, but well-trained and expensively equipped. There are armies being enlarged and equipped in all African and Asia states, where there are few doctors, hospitals, schools and technicians.

Latin America has smaller problems. There are armies, palaces, national rivalries and intrigue. Castro's agents seek to export their "revolution," and only the fact that the Cubans do not seem to have profited from it has slowed down its export. So far, to most Latin Americans Castro seems to offer only more of what they already have. But, that Latin American poverty, population, and discontent increase, is not denied.

The Asian-African population is believed likely to double in the next 50 years. Meanwhile, agricultural and industrial production are standing still in some places and showing slight gains in others. Nowhere is it matching the percentage gain in mouths to feed. Yet, were it not for aid in the form of loans, credit and machines, the gains in industrial output would not have been possible.

Not all the aid is U.S. dollars, though critics of it would have us think so. Some 20-odd nations are engaged in one form or another. France, Germany, Britain and the United States apply more than half their assistance in Africa. There presently is a very substantial criticism in France of the assistance program.

France allots about 80 per cent of her aid to the African nations in the French community. More than half of West Germany's aid goes to Asia with a shift now in evidence toward Latin America. Japan also is increasingly in the aid business—seeking trade.

The United States now makes few grants. Loans, many of a long term nature, are the rule. The interest rate is at five per cent on a majority of these agreements. Indications are that 1964-65 will see a continuation of the trend toward more loans for Latin America, fewer for Europe and Asia.

The recruiting sergeants of communism will be busy. (c) 1964 Publishers Newspaper Syndicate (All Rights Reserved)

By DEAN M. GOTTEHRER Director, Collegiate Press Service CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (CPS) - Setting the tone of the first in a series of conferences on poverty, Paul Booth, national vice-president of Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) said, "The War on Poverty so far is nothing but a skirmish."

Wilson College recently hosted SDS and the Pennsylvania-West Virginia National Student Association (USNSA) here for what seems to be a growing trend in college conferences - one devoted entirely to discussing the problems of poverty and the poverty-stricken.

Booth, sketching out major areas of concern with which he felt the Federal Government should deal, described possible methods of financing.

"There are three ways the money can be obtained for a war on poverty," according to Booth. "Defense spending can be cut, the tax base can be increased, or the Government can increase deficit spending."

Further, Booth says, "When the defense budget is maintained at the same level, when Congress cuts taxes, and when President Johnson vows economic penny-pinching, it is going to be impossible to find the large amount of money needed to do the job."

The tenor of the conference remained the same during the three days here. The United States, due to World War II, the Korean and Cold Wars has just recently turned its attention to domestic concerns. While Michael Harrington, author of "The Other America," has been partially responsible for making the invisible poor visible, the Federal Government assuming the responsibility for forcing the nation to recognize the extent of poverty, has not developed the programs which will solve the problem.

Each of the federal programs brought up for discussion, for instance the Area Redevelopment Act, the Manpower Development and Training Act, and the Aid to Families with Dependent Children, was found lacking in one or more of three areas:

- The program was administered by local officials who were either corrupt or did not efficiently fulfill their function.

- The program, although sincerely instituted, did virtually nothing toward attacking the real problems - job creation and the provision of an income for impoverished workers.

- The program forced the participant to dehumanize himself and his family in any number of ways from declaring himself to be totally incapable of providing an income for his family to giving him a run around at the local office.

While students were critical of the Government's approach, they also felt the need for the Government to continue its programs, improving them and increasing the amount of funds. Todd Gitlin, president of SDS believes the money needed could be obtained by drastic cuts in the defense budget.

"Defense appropriations are not job creating funds," Gitlin said. "The defense industry is perhaps the most easily automated industry in the United States. By spending half of the federal budget on defense we are not creating any new jobs."

Gitlin also condemned the private sector of the nation's economy. "Of the new non-agricultural jobs created last year, 85 per cent were from government sources. But of the remaining 15 per cent, nearly three-quarters were only part-time jobs. So only five per cent of the new fulltime jobs last year were created by the private sectors of the economy."

What is the cure for poverty? After delineating the problems of poor housing, inadequate education, few job opportunities, high unemployment rates, and government programs which are ineffective in alleviating present conditions, several suggestions for solutions were posed.

Some felt that problems now arising in the economy were symptomatic of basic inadequacies in the current economic system. These people favored widespread social change and large scale government programs to alleviate the conjunctive problems of poverty and civil rights.

Another group felt the present programs could be better handled locally if the unemployed were organized. Arthur Gerson, an SDS member who had just returned from Hazard, Kentucky, said that widespread attempts must be made on the part of students to participate in programs organizing both white and Negro unemployed workers to obtain a voice in local political affairs and to secure fair administration of the government programs currently in effect.

Rennie Davis, director of SDS' Economic Research and Action Project, felt it was time to begin massive demonstrations to show the unemployed are not working because while they want jobs, there are not enough jobs available.

Despite the offered solutions, many conference participants felt there was a need for more research and creative thinking along the lines of devising a solid substantial program for solving the problems of poverty and civil rights.

There was often the impression that here was the beginning of the successor to the civil rights movement. The talk was very similar to the discussions that took place in the late 50's and early in 1960 about the struggle for freedom.

Poverty, nevertheless, was seen to be much more complex than the problem of civil rights. An understanding of the technical aspects of the economy was necessary to a poverty discussion, where it was not needed for civil rights planning. Where civil rights could be argued on a moral and legalistic basis, poverty has to be fought on a humanistic and technically economic foundation.

The final impression was that the then soon-to-be-announced program of the administration's War on Poverty was not going to scratch the surface and would be little more than Booth's "skirmish."

Capulsizing the conference, an economist who spent two years studying poverty on a grant from the Twentieth Century Fund, Raymond Brown, said the first night, "None of the present or proposed programs amounts to more than economic tokenism."

"Would it be gentlemanly to interfere with a fellow club member?"

Committee Won't Be Rushed On Picking New Coach: Evy

Miller Returns To Wichita After Talks

Makes No Decision, But Is Impressed By SUI, Community

Iowa Athletic Director Forest Evashevski said Friday that he and the 5-man Committee of the Board in Control of Athletics assigned the responsibility of finding a new head basketball coach to replace Sharm Scheuterman, who resigned March 9, would not be rushed into a decision and that the new coach will probably be named sometime next week.

Ralph Miller, who has built the University of Wichita into one of the nation's top basketball teams in the Missouri Valley conference, which many observers felt is the toughest in the country, was interviewed for the position Thursday, and then returned to his Kansas home without reaching a definite decision.

Miller did say, however, that he and his wife were favorably impressed by the Iowa campus and the Iowa City community, but that any announcement that is to be made will have to come from the Athletic Department.

The Wichita coach was said to have been high on the list of prospects for the post but did not come

Dick Schultz, Iowa freshman coach is reportedly the only other candidate who has been interviewed for the job. Schultz is currently in Tucson, Ariz., coaching the baseball team and will return Monday.

Miller, a native of Chanute, Kan., had been reportedly considered as the top prospect for the head coach's job at his alma mater, Kansas University at Lawrence after Dick Harp resigned Thursday.

However, the appointment of Ted Owens, Kansas assistant, to the job Friday afternoon, ended the rumor.

Miller has compiled a 213-133 won-lost record in his 13 years at Wichita, with only one losing season.

Outdoor Trackmen Set 11-Card Meet

A track schedule of eleven meets has been drawn for the University of Iowa's outdoor team, opening April 3 and 4 with the Kentucky Relays at Lexington.

Only two meets will occur at Iowa City, a dual with Wisconsin May 2 and a triangular with Northwestern and Ohio State May 9.

The other meets are: April 17-18 — Kansas Relays at Lawrence; April 24-25 — Drake Relays at Des Moines; May 16 — Minnesota at Minnesota; May 22-23 — Big Ten at Evanston; May 30 — Iowa Federation at Des Moines.

June 6 — Centrals at Notre Dame; June 12-13 — U.S. Federation at Corvallis, Ore.; June 18-20 — NCAA at Eugene, Ore.

Trainer's Verbal 'Needles' Get Clay, Others To Fight

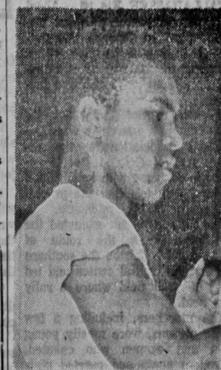

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — When Angelo Dundee shoved Cassius Clay off his stool and forced him to go out and win the world heavyweight championship, it wasn't the first time the little trainer has egged a reluctant fighter on to victory.

"I've had to push them out into the ring many times," the corner craftsman said Friday.

"As you work with a fighter in training, you find out the best way to get through to him. If he wants to quit when he shouldn't, you've got to act fast. Some you reach with abuse, some with kindness, some with gimmicks."

Clay, blinded by a caustic substance in his eyes, pleaded with Dundee after the fourth round of his fight with Sonny Liston last month to cut off his gloves and end it.

DUNDEE APPEALED quickly to the ego of the man who acclaimed himself "The Greatest." "You can't quit now," he shouted. "This is the big one. This is the one that puts us on top of the world." As the bell rang, Dundee jerked the stool from under Clay and pushed him into the ring.

Clay back-pedaled until his sight was restored. He eventually won by a technical knockout when Liston failed to answer the bell for the seventh.

"I could have been wrong," Dundee said. "I might have sent the kid out there to be flattened. But you have to make snap judgments at a time like this."

There is the story that when the Cuban heavyweight, Nino Valdes, wanted to throw in the towel during a fight with Ezzard Charles at Miami Beach in 1953, Dundee got him off the stool by sticking a pin in him. And Valdes went on to an upset victory.

That was just a figure of speech," Dundee said. "What I did was give him the needle — you know what I mean. We had to badger him — in Spanish — and push him out every round."

Bucs Bat .323 as Team For 11 Exhibition Tilts

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates turned in a team batting average of .323 in their first 11 exhibition games, the club said Friday.

Willie Stargell, who is slated for left field, led in total hits with 15 for a .455 average.

East-West Tilt To Pit Speed Against Height

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Although his credentials may not be as impressive as some others, Kansas State's Willie Murrell has let it be known he'll be a threat in the East-West basketball game today.

Murrell isn't among the 11 players in the game who were on the first three All-America teams this year, but he performed like an all-something in an intrasquad exhibition game.

The 6-foot-6 Wildcat scored 27 points and snagged 14 rebounds Thursday night at Cincinnati as his Blue squad was nipped 86-85 by the Whites. He led both teams in scoring and rebounding.

"OF COURSE, it's a little different with Murrell," Coach Jack Gardner of Utah commented. "He's in better shape than some of the other players because he has been playing in the NCAA tournament."

"Conditioning is our biggest problem. Some of these boys haven't played for several weeks."

Gardner, who sends his East squad against Murrell and the West, coached by Slate Gill of Oregon State, said he's having a tough time trying to figure out who to start.

"IT'S HARD to single out any of these boys. They're all so good," he said.

Gardner made it plain, though, that he is looking for speed in hopes of overcoming the West's height advantage. Only three West players are less than 6 feet 6 and only two East stars are more than 6-5.

RUSSELL, a 6-foot-5 sophomore from Michigan and a second-team All-American, has been held out of action because of a sore ankle.

The East-West game, a part of the Olympic trial preliminaries, will be televised to most of the nation beginning at 2:30 p.m. (CST.)

Iowa Netmen Lose To S. Illinois, 9-0

SPECIAL TO THE DAILY IOWAN

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Southern Illinois University won all matches in both the singles and doubles competition to defeat the SUI tennis team, 9-0, here Friday.

The loss left the Hawks with a 1-2 record. SUI is 3-0. Iowa meets Western Michigan here today.

SINGLES
Lance Lumsden (SUI) defeated Dave Strauss (I), 6-2 and 6-3.

Paul Sorenson (SUI) defeated Adren Sotckstad (I), 6-3 and 6-2.
Bob Sorenson (SUI) defeated Dick Riley (I), 6-0 and 6-0.

ROY SPRENGLEMEYER (SUI) defeated Marc Mears (I), 6-2 and 6-2.
Al Pena (SUI) defeated Tom Benson (I), 6-3, 5-7 and 6-4.

THAD FERGUSON (SUI) defeated John Svarups (I), 6-1 and 6-1.
Lumsden and Sorenson defeated Strauss and Sotckstad, 6-3 and 6-4.

CASTILLO and Roy Sprenglemyer defeated Riley and Mears, 6-2 and 6-3.
Pena and Ferguson defeated Benson and Svarups, 5-7, 1-1.

(Match played pro set because of weather and time conditions.)

USC Soph Leads 4 Record-Breakers In NC Tank Meet

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Four records were lowered and Roy Saari, Southern California's sophomore sensation, moved in front in his drive for a second gold medal in Friday's qualifying races of the NCAA swimming championships.

Saari, who captured the 500-yard freestyle Thursday in record time, lowered the NCAA 200-yard individual medley standard Friday afternoon with a brilliant 1:59.5. It cut two-tenths off the mark registered by Indiana's Ted Stickle last year.

Princeton's Jed Graef, Southern California's Bill Craig and Yale's Steve Clark also bettered listed records.

Graef, the Eastern champion for three years, paced the 200-yard backstroke qualifiers with a 1:56.5, four-tenths better than the mark established by Indiana's Tom Stork last year.

Craig's 200-yard breaststroke qualifying time was 2:12.5, two-tenths of a second better than the clocking of Indiana's Chet Jastremski last year.

And Clark's 1:45.1 in the 200-yard sprint bettered his listed 1:45.2 of a year ago. But Yale's speedboy has a 1:45.9 made last week in the Easterns at Hanover, N.H., posted for official recognition.

2 Hawks Win In Consolations Of Mat Meet

(Special To The Daily Iowan)

ITHACA, N.Y. — Bill Fuller, the Hawkeye's 123-pounder was defeated, 3-2, by Fred Powell of Lock Haven Friday in the quarter-final round of the NCAA wrestling championships at Cornell University. Fuller was the last of the six-man Iowa team to be eliminated from the championship bracket.

The Hawks kept two men — Fuller and Morris Barnhill in the consolation round, however. Fuller defeated Warren Crow of Cornell University, 2-1, and Barnhill defeated Don Brown of Cornell College.

In today's matches, Fuller will meet Bill Dutsch of Oklahoma State and Barnhill will meet Jerry Tanner of Oklahoma. Dave Diegler, earlier defeated Joe Greenlee of Iowa, 6-1.

In the championship bracket, Oklahoma State virtually clinched the NCAA wrestling championship by qualifying six wrestlers for today's finals.

Iowa State, which trailed Oklahoma State and Oklahoma after the Friday afternoon quarterfinals, qualified only two competitors for the finals as did Oklahoma.

U.N. Troops Quietly Begin Cyprus Peace-Keeping

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — The United Nations quietly took over Britain's burden as keeper of the peace on bloodied Cyprus. Secretary-General U Thant appealed for the islanders' cooperation.

About 6,000 British troops on duty here through three tumultuous months donned blue U.N. berets and joined 1,000 Canadian soldiers under the command of Indian Gen. Prem Singh Gyani.

"I very much hope the United Nations peace-keeping force will receive full cooperation on the part of all concerned, so it may effectively discharge the task assigned to it by the Security Council," Thant said Friday.

"I wish on this occasion to make a special appeal to the government of Cyprus and leaders of all communities to exercise the greatest restraint and collaborate with the United Nations in the restoration of peace and normal conditions."

ONLY ONE MINOR incident was reported in Nicosia. Three Turkish Cypriot shepherds were detained briefly by Greek Cypriot police. The Turkish Cypriots were picked up near a point called Pork Chop Hill while Canadian troops were taking over from British paratroopers. The British quickly secured release of the three.

U.N. flags replaced Union Jacks in most camps and positions.

The change was greeted warmly by most Turkish and Greek Cypriots, but many adopted a wait-and-see outlook.

GYANI ISSUED orders of day instructing his men that their aims would be: In the interest of preserving international peace and security, to prevent the recurrence of fighting, and to contribute to the maintenance and restoration of law and order and a return to normal conditions.

The Canadians have said they would fire if fired upon, the same orders as the British had.

Sir Arthur Clark, retiring British high commissioner, said in a statement that the British peace-keeping role on the island was not appreciated by the Cypriots. He denied charges published in the Greek Cypriot press that Britain had an ulterior motive.

Sir Arthur is retiring for health reasons.

No Trips Outside U.S. by Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has reached a firm decision not to leave the United States while the office of vice president is vacant, unless some unforeseen crisis dictates otherwise, Congress has been told.

The State Department gave this information to a group of congressmen who wrote Secretary of State Dean Rusk suggesting Johnson arrange a meeting with President Charles de Gaulle of France to iron out U.S.-French differences.

FREDERICK G. DUTTON, assistant secretary of state, who replied for Rusk, said Johnson had invited De Gaulle to the United States but the French leader turned down the invitation so a meeting between the two leaders is unlikely this year.

Dutton's letter was made public by Rep. Robert F. Ellsworth (R-Kan.) after its existence was disclosed Friday by the Newark Evening News. Ellsworth said he is a member of a small, informal group of Republicans who meet occasionally to discuss important national affairs.

ONE OF THE group, Rep. Ogden R. Reid (R-N.Y.), a former ambassador to Israel, had suggested that the congressman propose a De Gaulle-Johnson meeting and the letter to Rusk was dispatched, Ellsworth said.

Dutton said Johnson's decision to plan no trips outside the United States "is based on a sound regard for our constitutional system." The State Department, he added, "would not feel wise."

Johnson or his successor will be sworn into office in January under the normal procedure.

WHILE DUTTON said that under the circumstances a Johnson-De Gaulle visit appears to be ruled out for the remainder of the year, he wrote the congressmen:

"There has been no breakdown in communications between our two governments, however, because both governments are in regular communication with each other through diplomatic channels."

De Gaulle recently visited Mexico and the Caribbean and there was no indication he plans any visit to the United States any time in the immediate future. The French president was last in this country to attend the funeral of President John F. Kennedy and talked with Johnson briefly just after Johnson moved up to the presidency last November.

3-Year-Old Drowns in Carter Lake

CARTER LAKE, Iowa (AP) — Two venturesome three-year-olds fell through thin ice on Carter Lake Friday. One drowned and the other was reported in serious condition in a hospital.

The victim was Mark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Macrander of Carter Lake Club. His playmate, Jeffrey Slayman, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Slayman was pulled from the water and hospitalized. He remained in serious condition late Friday.

Carter Lake Club residents said about 10 a.m. Benton, 5-year-old son of Air Force Capt. and Mrs. R. D. Howell, told his mother two boys were down by the lake and they were going to get a spanking if they didn't watch out. Benton had been warned to stay away from the water.

Mrs. Howell looked out her window and about 10 feet from shore saw the head of a boy. He was thrashing in the water where the ice had broken.

Mrs. Howell yelled for her husband, who tried to wade to the scene but the water was too deep. Then Mr. and Mrs. Macrander arrived and the three got into a boat tied near by. They saw a splash of color under the ice and rescued Jeffrey.

Deadline To Get Dog Licenses is Wednesday

City dog owners should note that Wednesday is the deadline for purchase of dog licenses, Earl Krell, sheltermaster, said Friday. The $2 license fee will be doubled after that date, Krell said. About 1,200 licenses have been issued thus far.

Veterinarians have been authorized to issue dog licenses this year for the first time. Under this system, dog owners are able to obtain the license at the time of the dog's required anti-rabies vaccination.

Pope Paul Carries Cross

Pope Paul VI carries an eight-foot wooden cross in a Good Friday procession up Palatine Hill in Rome. The Pontiff lifted the cross in his hands halfway through a dramatic penitential procession which began at the ancient Colosseum where 50,000 people jammed the square.

Christians Revere Cross for Solace

By The Associated Press
Christians throughout the world turned once again this Easter weekend to the promise of the Crucifixion for solace in troubled times.

Roman Catholic and Protestant Good Friday services recalled the blackest day in the history of the faith, the day Christ died on the Cross.

In the United States, amphitheaters, churches and parks were readied for the traditional sunrise services of Easter Sunday, the day Christ rose from the dead.

"That morning, many years ago, apparent defeat and failure was turned into triumph," said the Easter message of the president of the National Council of Churches, Bishop Reuben H. Mueller, who is spending the weekend in West Berlin.

"Facing our problems today, as Christ's followers faced theirs in their day when the first Easter dawned, we too can find help in the living Christ, no matter what our problems are."

Eastern Orthodox Christians, keeping a different calendar, do not observe Easter until May 3.

This year, the start of the Jewish Passover observance coincided with the Protestant and Roman Catholic Good Friday.

From Rome, Pope Paul VI extended an apparently unprecedented Roman Catholic pontifical gesture to non-Catholic Christians in the cause of unity. Instead of referring to them with the often-used term "separated brothers," the Pope said in his Holy Thursday services:

"We send our well-wishing Easter salute to the Oriental churches disjoined from us at present but already together with us in faith. Greetings and peace to all the Anglican Church, while the sincere charity and equal hope we trust to the able to see it one day recomposed honorably in the unique and universal fold of Christ."

From Supreme Court—

Utility Case Ruling Set for Tuesday

Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company Tuesday will seek the Iowa Supreme Court's review of Judge James P. Gaffney's order directing the utility to restore 1961 ordinance rates here and to refund all sums the company has collected under bond in the past three years.

Justice G. K. Thompson of Cedar Rapids Thursday granted a stay order delaying putting the Gaffney decision into effect, and set the hearing in Des Moines for 1:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The company will presumably renew its contentions that Judge Gaffney exceeded the authority of the courts by ordering refunds after July 4, 1963, and by directing that the 1961 ordinance rates be restored. Iowa-Illinois contends that only the state commerce commission has had the power to determine rates since that date.

The city is expected to contend, as it has in the past, that Judge Gaffney is merely carrying out Supreme Court directives to restore the ordinance rates and to refund sums collected above those rates. Hence, the city argues, there is no need for any court review.

A ruling on the company's request to review the ruling is expected quickly.

Civil Rights March Fizzled in Florida By Negro Feuding

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — About 1,500 persons, most of them Negroes, paraded through Florida's capital Friday in a civil rights demonstration shrunk by last-minute dissension between Negro factions.

The Congress of Racial Equality pulled out 1,500 marchers when the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People refused to go along with local CORE leaders' demands that the procession march on the statehouse.

The parade permit excluded the statehouse from the route of march, which skirted the southern edge of the capital center and led to a baseball field where a rally was held.

The marchers, including a few white persons, were mostly young men and women who chanted, "Freedom now" and carried placards lettered with integration slogans.

Their numbers were estimated by police. Negro leaders had predicted up to 10,000 persons would march in the demonstration against the U.S. Senate filibuster on the civil rights bill.

No disorders were reported among the marchers, most of whom appeared to be in high spirits. Lines of police and state highway patrolmen stood by to preserve the peace if need be along the six-block route.

Faubus Axes Hot Springs Dice Houses

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus brought down the ax Friday on wide-open gambling in the mountain resort city of Hot Springs.

He told Hot Springs officials to shut down illegal gambling or he would send state police to do the job.

FAUBUS' ULTIMATUM came while the U.S. Justice Department was carrying on an investigation of the resort's illegal gambling activities, which it called the biggest in the United States.

The Hot Springs police chief and district attorney said they would carry out the governor's orders.

Faubus said he thought the swanky casinos and seamy dives should close within 48 hours, but he said he would set no time limit.

THE GOVERNOR acted one day after the Arkansas House of Representatives adopted 91-3 a resolution calling on Hot Springs officials to stop illegal gambling.

Hultman Gets Nomination Papers Filed

DES MOINES (AP) — Atty. Gen. Evan Hultman met some obstacles but he finally got his nomination papers filed Friday for his race for governor.

Hultman, 38, planned to announce last Nov. 26 that he would seek the Republican nomination. That plan was delayed because of the assassination of President Kennedy.

HE PLANNED then to announce early in December. But the voters rejected a reapportionment plan Dec. 3. Hultman immediately became involved in a court fight over reapportionment and he decided on another delay.

His announcement then was put on his private schedule for Dec. 30. He called a news conference to make the announcement, but almost missed that because his car stalled near Gladbrook as he was on his way to Des Moines. He hitchhiked to Marshalltown, rented a car and got here just in time.

HULTMAN CALLED another news conference for 8:45 a.m. Friday, when he planned to give his armload of nomination petitions to the secretary of state. But slowed by a snowstorm on the way here from Waterloo, his home town, he missed that conference.

He finally delivered his petitions to the secretary of state's office at 1:30 p.m. Friday. He said they carried about 58,000 signatures. Some Hultman backers were claiming this as a record number of signatures, but Hultman wouldn't go that far.

He apparently will be unopposed for the GOP nomination in the June 1 primary. Democratic Gov. Harold Hughes, who filed for a second two-year term Thursday, also is expected to be unopposed in the primary. The general election is Nov. 3.

ROTARY CONFERENCE—The annual conference of the 51 Rotary Clubs which make up District 600, southeastern Iowa, will open April 11 in Oskaloosa for two days. Iowa City Rotarians are among those planning to attend. An indoor barbecue, with a real beef-pit, will be held the evening of April 11, followed by an address by former U.S. envoy and famous hostess, Perle Mesta.

"He is risen!" With those words dawned new life for all men, for all time . . . a life that is everlasting. We are all called to share in this life through Jesus Christ, Who by His Death and Resurrection has redeemed the world. Come, worship the Lord with rejoicing, praise and thanksgiving on Easter Sunday . . . in the church of your faith.
