m. C. Clark, John M. Harlan, Peter Stewart and Byron R. White, comprised the majority.

AFTER A brief review of the case, Clark, author of the majority opinion, wrote: "The alleged complainants are not entitled to a jury trial as a matter of right."

Rejecting the contention of Johnson and Barnett that persons charged with crimes, should have a constitutional right to a jury trial, Clark said:

"That claim has been made and rejected here again and again. It is the law of the land, both state and Federal, that the courts are not to proceed summarily in contempt matters."

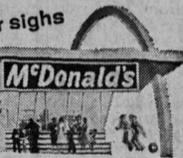

Black, in a dissenting opinion, said that the majority opinion, which was written by Douglas, said Johnson and Barnett, "like others charged with crimes, should have a constitutional right to a jury trial."

"It is high time, in my judgment, to wipe out root and branch the judge-invented and judge-maintained notion that judges can try criminal contempt cases without a jury. It will be a fine day for the constitutional liberty of individuals of this country when that at last is done," Black said.

In another dissenting opinion, Goldberg maintained "defendants are both a statutory and a constitutional right to have their cases tried by a jury."

Compromise Remap Plan Appears Near

Committee Proposes 50-Seat Senate, 115-Member House

DES MOINES — The third conference committee trying to come up with a compromise permanent reapportionment plan appeared Tuesday night near agreement on a proposal to submit to the Legislature.

Rep. John Camp (R-Bryant), the committee chairman, said after a meeting lasting about three hours late Tuesday afternoon that the committee would meet again at 8:30 this morning.

"WE HAVE a good possibility of coming up with a report which the committee would hope the Legislature will approve," Camp said.

He said the committee is working toward a plan calling for a 50-member Senate, with the most populous counties containing 50 per cent of the state's population guaranteed 18 seats, or 36 per cent.

The other 32 senators would be elected from the smaller counties, which would be divided up into two-county and three-county districts.

Camp said the committee members "seem agreed on a House with a maximum of 115 members, with the most populous counties containing half the state's population electing half the members."

HE SAID county lines could not be crossed in setting up Legislative districts, and that counties electing more than one representative would be subdivided.

The third conference committee was appointed after its predecessor reported Tuesday afternoon that it could not agree. The House rejected 70-36 Monday a proposed compromise worked out by the first conference committee.

Besides Camp, members of the committee now pondering the reapportionment problem include Republican Sens. D. C. Nolan, Iowa City; Charles Van Eaton, Sioux City; and A. V. Doran, Boone, and Democratic Sen. John Brown, Emmetsburg. House members are Republican Reps. William Scherle, Henderson and Keith Vetter, Washington, and Democratic Rep. Harley Palas, Farmersburg.

Sen. Andrew Frommelt (D-Dubuque), minority leader, said the House portion of the third committee was "area stacked" and likely to vote for a strong area factor.

FROMMELT, urging an end to the special session, said on the Senate floor, "I am convinced that a good-faith effort has been made by this body and this Legislature to reapportion the Legislature."

Thickly populated areas will have a much stronger voice in the next session than they do now because of a recently enacted temporary reapportionment plan.

8 Steel Firms Are Indicted In Price Fix

NEW YORK — Eight of the nation's giant steel companies were indicted on Federal antitrust charges Tuesday—an outgrowth of the dramatic showdown over pricing two years ago this week between President John F. Kennedy and the industry.

Steele immediately led a stock market downturn, the first in five sessions.

THE DEFENDANTS, including the industry's No. 1 firm, U.S. Steel, were accused of conspiring in secret hotel room meetings to fix prices in the $3.6 billion carbon sheet steel business. Two steel executives also were named in the Federal grand jury indictment.

The antitrust indictment was the latest in a long series of price fixing prosecutions brought by the Government against U.S. Steel and other producers.

The grand jury of 16 men and seven women began their investigation last October as a follow-up to an earlier panel's inquiry into the April 10, 1962, attempt by the steel industry to raise prices $6 a ton.

KENNEDY led a fight against the 1962 price rise, and three days later the steel companies retreated and withdrew the increase.

THE FIRMS and individuals indicted, with their standing as to size in the industry indicated in parentheses:

- U.S. Steel (1) and its assistant general manager for administrative services, James P. Barton.
- Bethlehem Steel Co. (2) and its former assistant vice president of sales, W. J. Stephens, who now is president of Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp.
- Republic Steel Corp. (3), Jones and Laughlin (4), National Steel Corp. (5), Armco Steel Corp. (6), Wheeling Steel Corp. (11), and Great Lakes Steel Corp.

Killed in Protest

Shown is the Rev. Bruce W. Klunder, 26, a Presbyterian minister, who was crushed to death Tuesday under the treads of a tractor during a demonstration protesting construction of a new school opposed by integrationist groups. Klunder threw himself, face down, in the ditch behind the tractor and the driver did not see him when he backed the big machine. Note the tread marks across Klunder's shoulders. Council Listens—

Several Protest City Annexation

By DALLAS MURPHY Staff Writer

More than 150 persons jammed the City Council Chambers and overflowed into the corridors Tuesday night as the proposed annexation of areas surrounding Iowa City was sharply attacked.

There were no spectators to speak in favor of the proposed land acquisition at the meeting held in the Civic Center.

THE ANNEXATION, as it was passed in resolution form at the March 17 meeting of the Council, would more than double the present area of the city.

No one present supported the annexation.

Most of the opposition expressed came from residents and owners of land north of Interstate 90. The major objections centered on the question of city ordinances which prohibit livestock within the city limits.

Robert Osmundson, an attorney representing a dairy farmer whose land is divided by Interstate 80, pointed out that animals are the livelihood of many of the residents of this area.

"THE RIGHT of the individual is as important as ever. These people have no control over the situation in which they find themselves since they will have no vote in the annexation referendum. This annexation eventually could put these people out of business," Osmundson said.

Opponents to the annexation also questioned the immediacy with which the city could extend municipal services into the area once it had been formally annexed.

SEVERAL INSTANCES were cited in which the Iowa City Fire Department was not able to provide fire protection to the area in question as quickly as was the Coralville Department. Other members of the audience questioned the city's ability to maintain the roads in this area which are presently under county supervision.

The proposed annexation completely surrounds the city as well as Coralville and University Heights. These two communities would not, however, be included in the merger.

No one from Coralville nor University Heights spoke at the hearing.

Roger Ivie, local attorney, said that the new comprehensive county zoning code has lessened the necessity for Iowa City to be concerned with the development of outlying districts.

"The county is presently doing the job the city would do if the annexation were adopted. With this county regulation, the city doesn't need to worry as much about protecting itself," Ivie said.

As a result of the objections heard at the hearing, the Council probably will reconsider the boundaries outlined in the proposed annexation. To take effect, the annexation would have to be approved in a referendum in which only residents of Iowa City would be eligible to vote. If voters approve the measure, the question will come up before the District Court, before which the city would have to prove that it is able to extend services to the area and that the move is not simply to gain extra tax revenue.

White House Silent—

Newsmen Say Johnson Sped, Sipped Beer

WASHINGTON — The White House was silent Tuesday on reports President Johnson and his wife drove with one hand and sipped beer with the other while taking reporters on a tour of their LBJ ranch in Texas over the Easter weekend.

Newsmen who rode with the President said that on one occasion he gunned his Lincoln Continental up a long hill and the driver of an oncoming car veered off the road.

WHITE HOUSE Press Secretary George Reedy said he had no personal knowledge of the incidents and could not comment.

Newsmen said Mrs. Johnson drove her Lincoln Continental at a leisurely pace, taking sips of beer from a paper cup as she gave a running commentary on the ranch, its cattle and points of interest. They said that at times she drove along the ranch roads with one hand on the wheel as she held the cup.

When Johnson was asked at a news conference last Saturday about reports he drove at speeds up to 90 miles an hour he said he was unaware he had ever exceeded the Texas speed limit of 70.

REEDY was asked for comment after Time and Newsweek magazines printed accounts of the tours. Newsweek made no reference to beer drinking.

Time said that when Johnson raced his car up the hill one passenger groaned: "That's the closest John McCormack has come to the White House yet." House Speaker McCormack, (D-Mass.), is next in line of succession after Time and Newsweek.

NEWSWEEK said that after the hill-passing incident, Johnson pulled up at a ranch house and asked: "Is the Secret Service still with us?" The magazine said the car containing the security men had been left behind on the highway, "caught behind cars Mr. Johnson had passed on the way."

New Yorkers Say Farewell To MacArthur

NEW YORK — The people of New York City said farewell Tuesday to General of the Army Douglas MacArthur amid a scene of martial splendor and the echoes of America's wars.

By the thousands, they filed slowly past his bier in the 7th Regiment Armory on Park Avenue.

NEW YORK was MacArthur's last home. He had lived here since 1951 when he came home from the Far East, a hero, and at the same time the central figure in a raging controversy over the Korean War.

The city's residents, the dignitaries and the humble, paid his memory an impressive tribute Tuesday.

Officially, it began when Lt. Gen. Garrison H. Davidson, commander of the U.S. 1st Army, placed a wreath from President Johnson at the foot of the casket. That was at 10:30 a.m. (CST).

But for many persons, the day started almost two hours earlier. Before 7 o'clock, they began lining up behind police barriers a block away from the armory. Soon, several hundred were massed there — although the general's body was to be on view here for 12 hours or more.

Soon, the number swelled to thousands.

MacARTHUR's widow, Jean Marie MacArthur, said his son, Arthur, 26, arrived at 10:15 a.m. (CST).

The honor guard of five, representing each of the armed services, stood at attention around the casket.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, United Nations Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, New York's Mayor Robert F. Wagner, and Gen. Lucius D. Clay were among the first arrivals.

It was a gray and melancholy morning. The streets glistened after rains during the night. Veils of mist hung over the top floors of New York's skyscrapers.

MacARTHUR's body was to be on view until 1 p.m. It will be taken by train to Washington today and will lie in state in the Capitol rotunda.

President Johnson, representatives of Congress and of many nations will pay their respects to MacArthur's memory there.

The funeral has been scheduled for Saturday morning in St. Paul's Episcopal church in Norfolk, Va. The church is 225 years old.

MacArthur, himself chose Norfolk for his interment. His mother, the former Mary Pickney Hardy, was born, reared and educated in Norfolk.

At Finkbine Dinner—

Hancher Recalls Problems; Predicts Future of SUI

"You are the people to whom the opportunities for leadership will come," President Virgil M. Hancher said in a challenge to 96 campus leaders at the 47th Finkbine Dinner Tuesday night in the Union.

Hancher was one of three speakers who charged the students with a responsibility to determine the destiny of their communities, their state, their country, their nation, and themselves.

"FANTASTIC THINGS will open up for you men before your life is over," Hancher said. The SUI president, speaking before his 20th and last Finkbine Dinner as SUI's chief executive, recalled problems of the University's past and predicted an ever-expanding and improving university of the future.

"I think I know how Moses felt when he was permitted to view the promised land," Hancher said. "We've had a depression, a war, and a period of strife. Since 1955, we've had expanding opportunities."

Hancher said there has been much to be thankful for in the past 23 years. "This University has been as free from outside pressures on the staff and students to teach and believe as it saw fit as any university in the country. Few have resisted to conformity from the outside as SUI," he added.

THE UNIVERSITY, the president said, has achieved good relationships between "town and gown." When he was a student here, he noted, there were places where students didn't go after dark. "I know of none today," Hancher said, adding this was a notable improvement.

Ruling Today On Eviction

Judge James P. Gaffney plans to file his decision in the Ellwein-Marlas eviction case today. The Daily Iowan learned Tuesday.

The decision will affect enforcement of the state housing code in Iowa City. If it favors the four students who refuse to pay their rent because of the alleged substandard conditions of their apartment, City Atty. Jay Honohan said the city will consider enforcing the code.

A decision for the defendants could also cause other tenants living in sub-standard housing to put pressure on their landlords by refusing to pay rent.

The four defendants in the case are Michael D. Ellwein, L3, Watertown, S.D.; John E. Jones, A4, Newton; William A. Claerhout, L3, Moline, Ill.; and Ray M. Carlson, L3, Glencoe, Ill. Eric Bergsten, assistant professor of law, is representing the students.

Mrs. Doderer, Whiting Bid for House Seat

Two more Iowa Citizens Tuesday announced their candidacy for Johnson County representative to the Iowa Legislature.

They are Mrs. Minnette Doderer, Iowa City Democrat and present Johnson County representative to the Iowa Legislature, and Republican Sam B. Whiting, 1511 E. College St.

Whiting is associated with the Whiting-Kerr Realty Co. His father was a state senator. He is expected to release an announcement of his platform today.

OTHERS to announce their intentions to run for the General Assembly are Democratic incumbent Bruce Mahan and Republican Dale Erickson.

Mrs. Doderer has been serving in the special session of the General Assembly, which recently passed a temporary reapportionment bill.

In announcing her candidacy, Mrs. Doderer stressed her continued interest in an equitable permanent reapportionment law for Iowa.

She also expressed interest in other progressive legislation which she said will "spur the economic development of the state, and insure jobs in Iowa for the graduates of Iowa's high schools, colleges and universities."

MRS. DODERER said she is in favor of a comprehensive review of Iowa's tax structure, increased state aid to local school districts, expanded facilities for vocational education and a four-year term for governor.

A graduate of economics from SUI in 1948, Mrs. Doderer has been active in the Democratic party in

Sees Prospect Of Receiving 200,000 Votes

LBJ-Backed Reynolds Calls Showing 'Gop Crossover'

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, his challenge of Administration civil rights policies aided by thousands of Republicans in Wisconsin's open presidential primary Tuesday, hailed the prospect of 200,000 votes Tuesday night as "victory enough."

Wisconsin's Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds, the favorite son who with President Johnson's blessing headed a slate pledged to the President, said Wallace's mounting totals showed that Republicans staged a "tremendous crossover — that is an old Wisconsin custom."

Voters are not required to state party affiliation and may vote in either primary.

"GOV. WALLACE is demonstrating that we have a lot of people in Wisconsin who are prejudiced," Reynolds said, "but that's not new."

During the campaign, Wallace said repeatedly that he would "shake the eye teeth of national leaders in both parties" if he attracted 25,000 votes.

As the counting of the state's 3,522 precincts passed the one-third mark, he was sweeping up a steady 20 per cent of the total vote.

WISCONSIN hasn't voted Democratic in a presidential election since 1948.

The unopposed Republican favorite son, Rep. John W. Byrnes, was running a little ahead of Richard M. Nixon's 1960 race in a similar primary, indicating a turnout close to the 1.2 million record set that year.

With 1,372 of 3,522 precincts reported, the vote was: Reynolds 123,418, Wallace 55,077 and Byrnes 84,178.

The Alabama governor's appearance was the first test of the vote-getting power of an uncompromising Southern segregationist in a Northern state.

A large Wallace vote would be viewed as an anti-civil rights bill victory and a slap at President Johnson, who openly favored Reynolds.

Jet Down; 149 Reported Safe

NEW YORK — A Pan American World Airways plane coming in from Puerto Rico overshot a runway at Kennedy Airport Tuesday night and landed in a ditch.

The plane carried 149 persons. Fire officials said all were removed from the plane quickly and foam was spread over the area to prevent fire. The passengers were taken by bus to other airport areas.

A Pan American spokesman said he had received a report that there were no fatalities. He said he got the report from radio conversations between emergency vehicles at the scene and the control tower.

The plane was diverted to Dulles Airport, Washington, before continuing to Kennedy Airport which was covered with a light fog.

MRS. TURNBULL
League President

League Elects Mrs. Turnbull New President

Mrs. Robert Turnbull, 2509 Friendship St., has been elected president of the League of Women Voters of Iowa City for the next two years. Mrs. Turnbull succeeds Mrs. Richard Lloyd-Jones as presiding officer of the 225-member group.

Other executive officers recently elected are: Mrs. Ansel Chapman, first vice president, 529 River St.; Mrs. Douglas Ehninger, second vice president, 620 Holt Ave.; Mrs. J.D. Whisenand, secretary, 319 E. Bloomington St.; and Mrs. Henry Hamilton, treasurer, 262 Black Springs Circle.

Mrs. Turnbull, wife of the chairman of the SUI Philosophy Department, will represent the Iowa City League at the Council of League of Women Voters of Iowa City and Thursday at Clinton. She will also be among the 1,200 delegates expected to attend the 26th national Convention of League of Women Voters of the United States April 20-24 in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Women Voters Plan Work on Equal Rights

By JUDI SKALSKY
Staff Writer

Study and action to insure adoption of a comprehensive city plan and to secure equal rights and opportunities in housing and employment in Johnson County are the spring plans of the League of Women Voters of Iowa City.

Mrs. Robert Turnbull, newly-elected president of the local League, also plans an active League program to promote political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government this coming year. To accomplish this, the League will provide information about registration and voting, and attempt to get out the vote, especially before the primaries, she said.

"Every two years we adopt a program of study at the state and national conventions, but it is a grass roots program of planning, a process of local selection of items of study," Mrs. Turnbull emphasized.

Every year the Leagues study six items — two each from the local, state and national levels. The individual Leagues select the items which affect their community.

Mrs. Turnbull will represent the Iowa City League at the state convention in Clinton, today and Thursday. She will present items the local league wishes to consider on the state level and after discussion the delegates will choose the two state items which the 23 Iowa Leagues will be studying this year.

On the national level, every League sends their requests for their preferred study items to the national officers and a list is made for the delegates to consider and discuss at the national convention.

The two items which are selected there will then be studied by the Leagues along with the two state and two local items. The usual procedure is that the item is studied in depth by a resource committee which reports its findings to the membership.

Study of fair representation in Iowa government and of the State Constitution with emphasis on home rule have been the two state items which the Iowa City women have been concerned in recent years. The League was one of the first two groups to favor reapportionment in Iowa and actively opposed the Shaff plan.

Recently, the Iowa City League adopted the two local items they will study in 1964-65. Approval of the State Housing Code is part of the plan of action to insure the implementation of a comprehensive city plan. The group will also consider an Iowa City housing code which was prepared by the Citizens' Advisory Committee. The second item will involve action to secure equal rights and opportunities for all residents of Johnson County with special emphasis on housing and employment.

Says Good Enough for Pros—

Athletic Director Discusses Golfing Facilities at Finkbine

By JOHN BORNHOLDT Assistant Sports Editor

Iowa Athletic Director Forest Evashevski dropped administrative details for awhile Monday and picked up golfing. Actually, he only sat back behind his desk for an informal talk about available student golfing facilities at Finkbine.

First, he complained about being "shot down" by other Big Ten conference executives after he asked their approval for bringing professional golfers into Iowa City to play at Finkbine. Their immediate reaction was no.

It seems it's against league rules to have professional athletes play on any of the member school's facilities, he said.

"Having a professional golf tournament on our links with some big name golfers like Arnold Palmer, Julius Boros and Jack Nicklaus would be food for thought and good for the state, the community and everyone concerned," said Evashevski.

EVY SAID there probably isn't a course in the state that could be compared to the University links at Finkbine.

As far as professional courses go, he said "Just recently I have played a few rounds with a group of professional golfers over in Palm Springs and I would say their courses are no better than ours."

He says he hopes to put some finishing touches on the Finkbine course to make it more of a handicap to the good golfers. "High 80's or low 90's are considered good scores for this course," said Evy.

"You will notice all of our traps are set about 10 yards away from the front edge of the green. This only handicaps the duffers who try to roll their ball up to the pin," he said.

BESIDES MOVING some of the traps closer to the pin, Evashevski said the grounds men will be planting some Golden Maples—which stay red virtually all year round—along with some Blue Spruces, making Finkbine a more scenic course.

Recently there was some concern when Evy decided to raise the public fees for prime playing hours from $2.50 to $4 and to eliminate public season tickets.

"This will allow more student traffic on the course during any given day and it will offer an opportunity for 40 per cent more play by the students," he added.

EVY REMARKED, "The 75 cent fee is one of the few instances where student fees have been lowered, instead of raised."

Following up on the current recreational costs at Iowa, he said SUI students pay the lowest rates in the Big Ten. "Compared to a yearly optional rate of $34 at Ohio State and $24 at Michigan, our students pay $10 a year for use of the University recreational facilities, such as the golf course and swimming pool," he said.

The yearly recreation fees at Iowa are taken out of each student's tuition, whether he or she chooses to use the facilities or not. "Every year the Athletic Department has a million-dollar budget, but we have not yet been forced to raise the student recreation fees, as has been the case with other Big Ten schools," he said.

HE ATTRIBUTED this to the fact that all salaries in the Athletic Department are paid from Iowa football and basketball gate receipts.

"One of the basic goals of the Athletic Administration at Iowa is to increase facilities for the students without raising costs," said Evashevski.

"An example of this would be the new clubhouse out at Finkbine which will be open to the students as well as the public," he said. The new $160,000 clubhouse is scheduled to open June 1. It will contain a pro-shop, storage space for clubs, women's and men's locker rooms and a lounge.

The clubhouse will be located on the South Finkbine course, perched on a hill overlooking the 9th and 10th greens.

"We will not have a restaurant, but sandwiches and soft drink dispensers will be located in the lounge of the clubhouse," said Evashevski.

EVY SAID Iowa is one of the few Big Ten schools offering its golfing facilities to the public.

Both Finkbine courses will open by April 17, depending of course, on the weather.

Hawks Boost Batting Marks While Exploding for 33 Runs

Jay Petersen, Iowa's third baseman, has taken over the team batting lead with six base hits in last Saturday's double-header against Luther College in which Iowa collected 22 hits and scored 33 runs.

Petersen went into the twin bill with an average in the low .200's but banged out four singles, a double and a triple in eight times at bat to raise his mark to .355. His five runs batted in carried him into a tie for the team leadership in the RBI department with Ken Banaszek. Each man has driven in nine runs.

Evy Doesn't Expect I.S.U. Competition

Forest Evashevski said he doesn't anticipate any renewal requests for athletic competition between Iowa and Iowa State in the near future.

"As long as I have been athletic director we have never been approached directly concerning an Iowa-Iowa State series," he said.

Speculation that the Hawkeyes and ISU would end a long dry spell of non-competition on the playing field arose when Evy announced Iowa would resume basketball competition with Drake during the 1965-66 season.

Evashevski said he had been approached by Drake athletic director Jack McClelland and after a Drake-Iowa basketball game was discussed, he said "it made sense to me."

"Drake plays a fine brand of basketball and should be rated as a tough competitor," he said.

"Besides, it will give Iowa fans in the western part of the state a chance to see the Hawkeyes play," he added.

The Hawkeyes and the Bulldogs will clash in Iowa City next year and in Des Moines the following season. They last met on the basketball court in 1936.

Adolph Rupp Wants Negro

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Racial integration of Southeastern Conference athletics next year apparently rests on the decision of 18-year-old Westley Unsel, and he hasn't made up his mind yet.

Sources at the University of Kentucky, the only SEC school that has announced plans to integrate athletics, said the only Negro athlete being considered now is Unsel, a basketball star from Louisville.

Some feel the 6-foot-8 Unsel will follow his high school coach Bob Mulcahy, to Kansas University. Mulcahy has been hired as an assistant coach at Kansas.

Unsel wasn't available for comment Tuesday.

Kentucky basketball Coach Adolph Rupp has let it be known that he wants Unsel, but Athletic Director Bernie Shively said he knew of no other Negro even under consideration this year.

The feeling at Kentucky is that the first Negro football or basketball player to be signed must be of top caliber in athletics and in the classroom, Unsel is both.

The university's athletics board announced last year it was dropping the color barrier and that any student, regardless of race, could try out for athletic teams.

Weekend Slate

Three baseball games with Western Illinois University and a tennis meet with Northern Illinois are scheduled for Iowa teams this weekend.

Hawkeyes, with a 4-3-1 baseball record, play Western Illinois Friday at 3:30 p.m. in a single game and have a double-header Saturday at 1 p.m. The tennis team, now 2-2, takes on Northern Illinois Saturday at 2:30 p.m. It is the first home tennis meet.

Montreal shots and Don McKenny, Bobby Raun and Andy Bathgate provided the scoring punch as the Leafs extended the best-of-seven set to the limit.

Their decisive game will be played at Montreal Thursday night. IN DETROIT, the Red Wings, fired up by a $500 fine levied on Coach Sid Abel just before game time, overpowered the Chicago Black Hawks 7-2 Tuesday night to square their Stanley Cup semifinal series at three games each.

The seventh and deciding game will be played at Chicago Thursday night.

National Hockey League President Clarence Campbell levied the fine because of Abel's comments following a disputed goal in the 3-2 game which Detroit lost at Chicago Sunday night.

Shortly after Roy Heath became faculty advisor and friend to a group of Princeton University freshmen, he found his students developing as three psychological types: Non-committers (Xs), Hustlers (Ys), and Plungers (Zs). The students within each category matured during their college years, but several from all groups achieved an apex of development. They were the Reasonable Adventurers.

Dr. Heath writes of the Xs, Ys, and Zs, in his book The Reasonable Adventurer, and from his four-year experiment with them proposes a theory of personality development.

Palmer Has Hopes for Duel With Nicklaus in Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. — "I'd like to come up to the last round Sunday with Nicklaus and me 20 shots in front of the field," a relaxed and confident Arnold Palmer said Tuesday. "Just Jack and me."

Instead of being bugged by Nicklaus' massive, ever expanding shadow, golf's greatest money winner insisted that he found a challenge in the personal duel with the powerful young giant from Columbus, Ohio.

"It picks me up," Palmer said. These two modern giants of the fairways will come to grips again Thursday in the 28th Masters Golf Tournament, co-favored in a strong international field of 90.

NICKLAUS, 24, is the defending champion. Palmer, is seeking his fourth Masters title in six years.

They squared off in a friendly practice preview Tuesday on the par 3 course prior to a tuneup over the 6,900-yard, Augusta National course, where the year's first major competition will be contested Thursday through Sunday.

THE COURSE was re-opened shortly before noon after being closed 24 hours because of torrential rains.

Prospects for favorable weather for the big spring golf spectacle were dim. The Weather Bureau forecast thundershowers throughout the day and night, continuing into Wednesday, with clearing and cooler weather for Thursday's opening.

It seemed impossible that the broad, rolling layout could be dried out properly for the weekend. This means an added advantage for the big hitters, such as Nicklaus and Palmer.

By The Associated Press CINCINNATI right-hander Jim Maloney, a 23-game winner in 1963, pitched eight innings and hit three singles Tuesday as the Reds defeated Philadelphia 6-4 for their fourth straight exhibition baseball victory.

Minnesota edged Washington 4-3 on Bob Allison's bases-loaded single with two out in the ninth inning. St. Louis, trailing Pittsburgh 2-0 after eight innings, rallied to tie the score in the ninth and pushed over an unearned run in the 10th for a 3-2 victory.

Harry Bright's two-run double in the seventh inning provided the winning margin as the New York Yankees nipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3.

The New York Mets, blanked for eight innings by Kansas City pitcher Diego Segui, erupted for five runs in the ninth against reliever Tom Sturdivant but still lost 8-5.

Glenn Hobbie pitched seven innings while the Chicago Cubs scored four unearned runs in the third and topped Boston 4-2.

The Los Angeles Angels snapped a tie in the eighth inning and shaded Cleveland 3-2.

Recipient of a three-year research grant from the Heart Institute of the National Institutes of Health, Witlak will undertake a study of the chemistry of hypercholesterolemia. Working with Dr. William E. Connor, associate professor of internal medicine, Witlak will undertake a study of compounds to reduce cholesterol levels.

Chiorini and Mountford are recipients of one-year predoctorate fellowships from the National Health Division of the National Institutes of Health.

Chiorini will continue to work with Dr. John R. Knott, professor of medical psychology, on research involving the electrophysiological correlates of learning.

Mountford will continue his physiological study relating hunger activity and sensation to centers in the brain and nervous system.

A native of Fairfield, Kessel is director of the Electron Microscopy Laboratory at SUI. He received his B.S. Degree from Parsons College in Fairfield and M.S. and Ph.D. Degrees at SUI.

Army General To Address Symposium

Brig. Gen. Walter E. Lotz Jr., Director of Army Research, Washington, D.C., will speak at the Iowa Science, Engineering and Humanities Symposium to be held here Thursday through Saturday. The three-day symposium will be attended by some 500 high school science students from Iowa and eastern Illinois. They will have an opportunity to meet and consult with teachers and researchers on the SUI campus. The symposium is being supported by a grant from the U.S. Army Research Office, Durham, N.C., and the Army Weapons Command, Rock Island, Ill.

LOTZ

The keynote address of the symposium will be delivered Thursday evening by James A. Van Allen, professor and head of the SUI Department of Physics and Astronomy and noted space scientist. His illustrated lecture, "The Magnetosphere of the Earth," will describe work at SUI in the development of knowledge about the radiation zones of the earth.

General Lotz, who will speak on "Man, The Center of Army Research" at a dinner Friday, is a graduate of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. During World War II he served with the Ninth Air Force in England, France, Luxembourg, Belgium and Germany, and with Allied occupation forces in Germany. He was assigned Director of Army Research in 1963.

Other speakers participating in the symposium will be Marshall B. McKusick, state archeologist and assistant professor of sociology and anthropology at SUI, and Karl Kammermeyer, head of the SUI Department of Chemical Engineering.

McKusick will talk on "Exploring for Man's Ancestors" at 8:30 a.m. Friday; Kammermeyer will speak on "Space Technology: A Challenge to the Chemical Engineer" at a luncheon Friday.

A special session for teachers attending the symposium will be held Friday afternoon with Robert Yager of SUI conducting a program on the use of closed circuit television in classroom instruction.

Liberal Arts College Dean Dewey Stuit will preside during the morning session on Friday.

Presiding during Saturday's session will be Sherwood Tuttle, chairman of the SUI Department of Geology; Waldo R. Widell, coordinator of the Iowa Symposium, and Prof. T. R. Porter, head of science education at SUI.

Gen. Lotz will speak to the Army ROTC Corps of Cadets at 3 p.m. Thursday in Shambaugh Auditorium.

Drew Scholarships

The Drew Scholarships, which annually provide SUI students with $10,000 to $12,000 through about 35 scholarships, will not be given for the next two years because of frost damage to the citrus farm in Florida from which the funds for the scholarships are drawn. The 40-acre farm in Winterhaven, Fla., was left to SUI by G. A. and Lena Drew, and the profits from it have been used for the Drew Scholarships. It is not yet known if the scholarships, which have been offered for the last eight years, will be immediately reinstated after the two-year recovery period.

Council—

the development of a shopping center on the property.

Two more public readings of the ordinance are required.

Councilman Max Yocum said he did not want Sears, Roebuck, who have been mentioned as possible tenants for the new shopping center, to use the council as a "bartering post." He said he thinks Sears should sign a statement saying that they definitely will locate on the Braverman property if it is properly rezoned.

"Iowa City will have a shopping center, either on the Braverman property or elsewhere," Attorney Ivie said. "The city would be derelict in its duty if it refused to allow a man the opportunity to develop his land for this purpose because of zoning."

The Council also accepted the resignation of City Clerk Walker Shellady. The resignation, which was submitted for "personal reasons," will be effective "upon the pleasure of the Council."

Dr. L. F. Frink, Clay County medical examiner, attributed death to carbon monoxide poisoning. Mrs. King's body was found by a cousin, Mrs. Richard Folsom, on the floor of the garage.

Dr. King was killed in an automobile accident about a year ago.

Reminder: Tax Returns Due April 15

The Bureau of Internal Revenue has issued a friendly reminder that your federal income tax deadline is next Wednesday.

Besides offering this timely advice, the bureau warns taxpayers to "watch your arithmetic." Over two million taxpayers made errors in arithmetic on their income tax returns last year, according to the Commerce Clearing House, the national publishing authority on federal taxes.

Most of these mistakes were, as is to be expected, in the taxpayer's favor. An extra $148.1 million in taxes, averaging $95 each from one-and-a-half million taxpayers, was collected last year. Only 876,000 people paid the Government too much. They received $69 million, averaging $79 per person, in refunds.

About 3.8 million individual and corporate income tax returns, as well as estate, gift and excise tax returns, were selected for auditing based on areas of non-compliance. These special examinations resulted in over 2.1 billion of additional tax penalties.

The clear moral here is: Don't cheat on your income tax returns; in fact don't even make mistakes. Many returns are picked at random for auditing.

Another reminder from the Internal Revenue Bureau: don't forget you are paying taxes on last year's income. The tax cut will not apply until you pay your taxes next year.

Expansion At Owens Set To Begin

Construction of a $250,000 plant addition to the Owens Brush Company on Lower Muscatine Road which will provide approximately 50,000 square feet of additional floor space, will begin next week. Charles G. Dore, President of Owens Brush Company, announced Tuesday.

Dore said that production and employment at the local plant has risen steadily since 1958. The addition, which will be used primarily for warehouse space, will allow more room in the present plant for production. Dore explained, and will be completed late this summer.

The present plant provides about 105,000 square feet of facilities. It was built in 1957 by the Conner Brothers construction firm who also are the general contractors for the current plant addition.

MacArthur— U.S. Betrayed By British NEW YORK (AP) — The late Gen. of the Army Douglas MacArthur was quoted Wednesday as having said in a secret interview in 1950 that the Chinese Communists entered the Korean War "after being assured by the British that MacArthur would be hamstrung and could not effectively oppose them. Jim Lucas, in a copyright story for the Scripps-Howard Newspapers, said MacArthur told him: "On several occasions during the Korean War he had the Communists in the 'palm of my hand' and could have crushed them but was prevented by the perfidy of the British and by constant harassment from Washington." "He referred to this as the greatest betrayal, a story he said was unmatched in history but 'will never be told while I am alive,'" Lucas added.

Court Will Review Yocum Transcript A transcript of Councilman Max Yocum's contempt of court hearing and records of the proceedings in his wife's divorce suit will be sent to the Iowa Supreme Court by Friday. The court ordered Judge James P. Gaffney to send the transcript following a hearing for Yocum held March 20 before three Supreme Court justices in Cedar Rapids. Yocum was sentenced March 20 to serve five days in Johnson County jail for contempt of court. Judge Gaffney ruled at that time the Yocum had violated an injunction restraining him from molesting his wife during the divorce proceedings. Yocum secured a writ of certiorari from the Iowa Supreme Court which will entitle his case to a complete review by the nine justices. Until the court makes its ruling, he will not have to serve his sentence.
