Classified Figures Reveal U.S. Military Might Tops Reds'

540 Bombers, 750 ICBMs Now on Alert

Pentagon Refutes Goldwater, LeMay 'Inferior' Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon policies and presidential politics boiled up a storm of debate over U.S. military might Tuesday, and the Defense Department said this nation holds an increasing margin of superiority over the Soviet Union.

"Questions have been raised regarding the magnitude of our superiority and whether it is continuing to grow," the Pentagon said in an unusual statement that made public for the first time figures on U.S. and Soviet bombers and missiles.

"The fact is it has been increasing and we intend that it shall continue to increase," the statement said.

It came a few hours after publication of congressional testimony in which Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, Air Force chief of staff, said he thinks the Soviet Union has narrowed the gap of U.S. superiority.

WHILE IT clearly was prompted by LeMay's comments, a Pentagon spokesman said the statement was in reply to a number of charges about U.S. defense policies, including statements by Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.).

Goldwater, who seeks the Republican presidential nomination, said he has never played "a numbers game" on questions of military power.

The Arizona senator said he has voiced concern because no new weapons systems are being developed now, and he fears the United States could lose its military margin in the next decade.

The Pentagon statement included these figures:

- The United States has 540 strategic bombers on constant alert, in contrast to 270 Soviet heavy and medium bombers.

- The Air Force has about 750 intercontinental ballistic missiles on launchers, while the Russians have fewer than one-fourth that number.

"WE HAVE 192 Polaris missiles deployed. The Soviets have substantially fewer submarine-launched ballistic missiles in operation."

LeMay's testimony, plus that of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, touched off the new round of debate.

LeMay told congressmen at a closed hearing Feb. 25 he thinks the Soviet Union has narrowed the margin of U.S. military superiority.

To help widen it, the general said, he believes "we should go ahead and develop" a 100-megaton nuclear bomb. The biggest weapon in the U.S. arsenal now is about 24 megatons.

LEMay added he "would probably not give as optimistic a picture" of U.S. missiles as would McNamara.

"If there is evidence to support the belief that they are dependable in that sense, it is absolutely irresponsible to tell our public that they are not and to tell the Soviets that they are not," McNamara testified.

Dental Hygienists Capped

34 Honored At Capping

The annual Capping Dinner of the Department of Dental Hygiene was held on the Sun Porch of the Union Tuesday night.

In the traditional ceremony signifying the successful completion of pre-clinical work, the first-year students were capped by members of the second-year class. Miss Helen Newell, coordinator of the dental hygiene program, conducted the ceremony.

Dean George S. Easton of the College of Dentistry gave the welcome address and Dr. R. V. Smith, professor emeritus of dentistry, delivered the invocation. Dr. James B. Bush, head of the Department of Oral Diagnosis, spoke about "The Significance of the Cap."

This year's class is the 11th to take the SUJ course. They will begin work in the Dental Clinic this week.

THE 34 STUDENTS who received their caps are: Mary McConkie, Cedar Rapids; Nadine Moffatt, Cedar Rapids; Brooke Morrison, Cedar Rapids; Linda Thomas, Clinton; Karen Kopska, Coon Rapids; Shirley Burggraf, Deep River; Karen Schmidt, Delhi; Linda Elliott, Des Moines; Susan Benson, Elgin; Janice Ann Downey, Elkader; Diane Dantop, Iowa City; Diane Barghahn, Knoxville; Janice Nelson, Meriden; Lynn Baker Sprague, Newton; Karen Williams, Okaloosa; Doris Long, Ohio; Barbara Karl, Sioux City; Carolyn Tutty, Sioux City; Jean Miller, Solon; Linda Howe, Spencer; Mary McLeod, Chicago, Ill.; Karen Arne, Deerfield, Ill.; Mary Toelle, Freeport, Ill.; Inne Lee Klipsaar, Maywood, Ill.; Paul Briggs, Moline, Ill.; Janet Beard, Monmouth, Ill.; Suzanne Hyde, Normal, Ill.; Susan Curtis, Peoria, Ill.; Dale Soderstrom, Prospect Heights, Ill.; Nancy Jakolat, Waukegan, Ill.; Judy Dethmer, Western Springs, Ill.; Janice Wyatt, Belton, Mo.; Janis Plishch, Lincoln, Neb.; Gwen Owen, Rapid City, S.D.

Cancer Volunteers Begin Local Drive

Cancer crusade volunteers of the American Cancer Society are visiting Iowa City homes this week to distribute educational materials and solicit contributions.

Although April is designated as Cancer Month, local efforts on residential and business levels are being concentrated into this week, said Dr. Robert M. Kretzschmar, chairman of the Johnson County crusade.

No Explosion Reported—

Rocket Burns 11; 3 Critically Hurt

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A 5-foot-tall rocket stage with a space payload attached ignited Tuesday and sprayed blazing fuel over an assembly and checkout building, burning 11 engineers and technicians, three critically.

Two men were reported close to death with burns over 100 and 83 per cent of their bodies.

The Air Force said the fiery accident was the first involving a rocket motor in 14 years of operation and more than 1,400 missile launchings at Cape Kennedy. The only previous serious accident was the 1960 launch stand explosion of a flare package on a Titan I missile which killed one man and injured nine.

An Orbiting Solar Observatory had just been joined with the solid fuel third stage of the Delta rocket and engineers were preparing to enclose it in a protective plastic shroud. Suddenly, the 515-pound engine flashed to life and lifted off an alignment table.

THE NATIONAL Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) said there was no immediate word on how high or far the 18-inch-diameter rocket traveled in the 30-by-100-foot room in which 11 men were working. A statement said the 440-pound payload was flung loose and was damaged extensively.

The interior of the building also was burned by the exhaust from the 3,000-pound-thrust engine. A door was ripped off the building, but NASA reported there was no explosion.

The area was sealed off for several hours after the 9:45 a.m. accident so that experts could remove small pyrotechnic devices from the payload. The building is in a remote area of the cape.

NASA and the Air Force launched investigations to determine what caused the ignition. There was one theory that a spurious radio signal might have set off an igniter in the engine.

Rachel Carson Dies of Cancer At Age 56

Wrote 'Silent Spring'; Created Controversy Over Pesticide Use

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — Rachel Carson, 56, author of the controversial book "Silent Spring" died Tuesday of cancer.

Miss Carson's death was first disclosed by her literary agent, Marie Rodell. Miss Carson's brother, Robert M. Carson, said she died at her home. Her book, a best seller, set up a nationwide controversy over the extent of danger from pesticides.

MISS CARSON was a biologist who became a best-selling writer with "The Sea Around Us" in 1951, and four years later made the best-seller lists again with "The Edge of the Sea."

An earlier work, "Under the Sea Wind," also became a best seller. Before "Silent Spring" actually appeared in 1962, selections published in the New Yorker magazine led to heated rebuttals from the pesticide industry.

Miss Carson's concern over the dangers to humans and other animal life of indiscriminate use of pesticides originally grew out of information learned on her job as a biologist with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

She spent five years studying the subject and collecting information by mail from all over the world.

Chemical firms making insecticides — which Miss Carson contended also were poisoning humans, wildlife, the soil, food and water — set up a public outcry.

ADVERTISEMENTS defended the safety of pesticides "when used as directed." Trade associations issued statements and many industry leaders charged Miss Carson was presenting a one-sided case.

The late President Kennedy's science advisory committee in 1963 issued a report calling for strong action to strengthen Federal laws on pesticides. The study was largely prompted by the controversy over Miss Carson's book.

She never married, but adopted a grandnephew, Roger Christie, who is now 10 years old.

Miss Carson was born in Springdale, Pa.

ON RESIGNING from Government service in 1952 she received the Distinguished Service Award of the Department of the Interior.

Federal Deadline Today— Tax-Tattlers Tell On Non-Filers

SUJowans and Iowa Citizens who haven't filed their federal income tax returns only have a few hours to do so. Today is the deadline. The forms must be postmarked before midnight tonight.

If you want to get even with your worst enemy, the Bureau of Internal Revenue recommends a way to do it — turn him in for income tax evasion or fraud and collect a reward.

TAX TATTLERS — 753 of them — received $458,688 in total rewards during fiscal 1963 for supplying the Internal Revenue Service with information that led to the recovery of $12.7 million in taxes, penalties and interest, says the Commerce Clearing House, national publishing authority on tax and business law.

Informers collected an average of $609 in rewards. Claims for rewards were filed by 4,266 informants, but 3,513 of these claims were rejected because they could not be substantiated, or because the informant could not meet the requirements needed to qualify for the payoff. At the end of the year, 4,930 claims were still pending.

BOTH THE NUMBER of prosecutions and convictions for tax fraud rose during last year, the Commerce Clearing House reports. Prosecution was recommended outright in 2,208 cases of suspended tax fraud. Twelve hundred ninety-eight persons were convicted of tax fraud. Assessed government penalties amounted to 313 years in prison. The number of convictions was 152 more than 1962.

These figures say nothing of probationary and suspended sentences adding up to 2,951 years in prison.

Polls 29% Vote In GOP Test As Barry Wins

Percy Whips Scott In Republican Race For Governorship

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona won the Illinois presidential preference test Tuesday, but Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine received a sizable share of the votes.

Charles H. Percy, board chairman of the Bell & Howell Co., making his first bid for public office, took the Republican nomination for governor by defeating State Treasurer William J. Scott.

Scott, 37, conceded he had lost to Percy, 44, who thus took a step toward control of the GOP in the state.

Only the names of Goldwater and Mrs. Smith were printed on the Republican ballot in the presidential column. Write-in tallies came in for others from areas scattered across the state, including Cook County.

RETURNS from 5,606 of 10,256 precincts, the bulk of them from Cook County, gave Goldwater 201,411; Sen. Smith 85,622; Henry Cabot Lodge 7,865; Richard M. Nixon 3,888; Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York 208; Gov. George Romney of Michigan 36; Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania 139, and Harold Stassen 1.

Goldwater's share of the Republican preference vote hovered around 67 per cent and Mrs. Smith's around 29 per cent. Mrs. Smith's supporters earlier had said a 10 per cent vote for her would be a victory.

Returns from 5,591 precincts gave Percy 242,429 and Scott 37,044.

Goldwater had been tagged in advance as the winner in Illinois. The big question was how much strength he would demonstrate.

PRESIDENT Eisenhower, running against two opponents, compiled 95 per cent of the GOP preference tally in the 1956 primary. Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, competing against two entrants on the ballot and three of the write-in variety, picked up 74 per cent in 1952.

No names were printed in the presidential preference section of the Democratic ballots.

Lodge and Nixon had small groups of supporters but they did not specifically seek write-ins for their favorites.

GOLDWATER, who received the returns at his Washington headquarters, stated that "Illinois has provided the momentum that will be decisive in forging a great Republican victory in 1964."

He predicted party members will unite to work for the election of Republican candidates in November "from the State House to the White House."

Only the names of Goldwater and Mrs. Smith were printed on the Republican ballot. The Democrats had no major contests.

Goldwater had been expected to win. The question was whether he would score an impressive victory and thus boost his chances for the GOP presidential nomination.

Results of the preference vote are not binding.

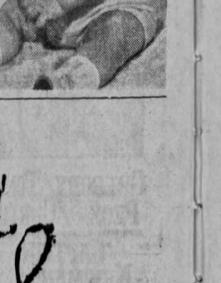

NO Democratic presidential candidate was entered.

A moderate vote was reported despite clear, dry weather.

ELECTION officials had predicted that a spirited battle for the Republican nomination for governor between Charles H. Percy 44, board chairman of Bell & Howell Co., and State Treasurer William J. Scott, 37, would attract more than one million GOP votes. Democrats had predicted a turnout of 900,000, although Gov. Otto Kerner was unopposed in his bid for renomination.

New Editors Will Begin May 18—

Daily Iowan Staff Appointed for 1964-65

WEINER VAN SYLVESTER BOOS BORNHOLDT PIERROT KALLIO SARLETTE TONER MURPHY

The Daily Iowan staff for 1964-65 has been named by Editor Linda Weiner, A4, Minneapolis.

The new staff members will begin work May 18th.

John Van, A2, Des Moines, will be Managing Editor. He was Editorial Page Editor for 1963-64 and has worked as a reporter and copy editor for The Iowan.

Curt Sylvester, A3, Charles City, will be News Editor. Assistant News Editor will be Mike Boos, A3, Anamosa. Both have worked as reporters and copy editors for The Iowan this year. Boos will work as a reporter-photographer for the Anamosa Journal-Eureka this summer.

John Bornholdt, A4, Red Bank, N.J., and Bill Pierrot, A2, Wever, will be Sports Editor and Assistant Sports Editor, respectively. Bornholdt served as Assistant Sports Editor for the second semester of this year. He has also worked as a reporter and copy editor for The Iowan. Pierrot is campus sports correspondent for the Waterloo Daily Courier. He worked in the newsroom of the Ft. Madison Evening Democrat in the summer of 1963 as a proofreader and helping on sports and city desks.

Leonard Kallio, A3, Iowa City, a philosophy major, will be Feature Editor. He will be assisted by Petite Sarlette, A3, Sioux City.

Miss Sarlette has worked for The Iowan as a reporter. At Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., she worked as World News Editor.

The Feature Department will replace the Society page.

Mike Toner, A2, Humboldt, will be Chief Photographer. He has been an Iowan staff photographer for three semesters and an Asso-

A summer job (the pay is rotten)

WELL, YOU COULD spend your summer more profitably — and more safely — some place else. But if you're tired of talking about civil rights and read to do something about them, you can spend a lot of energy and a lot of idealism in Mississippi.

In case you hadn't noticed, the civil rights drive has shifted into high gear — into the area of muscle and sweat. Not that the sit-ins and the swim-ins and the ride-ins weren't positive, nor are we done with them. They were and still can be useful devices for calling attention to the movement and for getting the feet in the door.

But the work in Mississippi this summer will prepare Negroes in the South to throw the door wide open — his wedges being education and voting rights. Students at SUI and other colleges in the north can help open that door by teaching in Freedom Schools and helping in voter registration drives in Mississippi. The Freedom Schools need teachers in a wide range of subjects, from personal hygiene to remedial reading.

To qualify for teaching you need to be at least 18 and prepared to spend a month or two months working in Mississippi under less than ideal conditions. If you aren't a member of SARE-Friends of SNCC, you'll need $130 to pay for room and board. SARE will help finance members who participate in the summer projects. If you want to work on voter registration, you'll also need access to quick money should you be arrested — and authorities in Mississippi being what they are, it's not unlikely that you'll spend at least a couple of days in jail.

If you're made of the stuff it takes, the summer project needs you. You can sign up tonight at the SARE-Friends of SNCC meeting at 7:30 in the Pentacrest room of the Union.

Polyquinoxaline — congratulations due

POLYQUINOXALINE IS making SUI famous — quietly. This odd sounding concoction, also called "plastic metal," is the material with the heat resistance of metal and the light weight of plastic which was developed in the SUI laboratories by a graduate student working toward his Ph.D.

The student, Jerry Williamson, began the project at the suggestion of Dr. John Stille, associate professor of chemistry.

The plastic metal is the result of three years of work by Williamson and it still requires more refinement before it can be of practical use. When it is refined, the material can probably aid the country's space projects by cutting the weight of the materials used in building rockets. A lower payload weight will mean more utilization of rocket thrust.

Williamson's discovery has not only aided the advancement of the space program, but it has also raised the academic prestige of SUI. It is the quiet work of Williamson and others like him which really leads to progress.

Through the media of newspapers and magazines, SUI is known to many as a school of picketers and parties, of football and frivolity. But a really solid achievement, such as Mr. Williamson's, seldom gains much widespread attention. It has been acknowledged, however, at the spring meeting of the American Chemical Society, held last week in Philadelphia. There Dr. Stille presented the technical aspects of the substance to the interested chemists.

Mr. Williamson and others like him, who quietly continue their research while the rest of us pursue the all-important activities of everyday life, are to be congratulated on the progress they make and encouraged in the studies they follow.

Television, restaurants, movies —

Visiting Washington proves educational

By ART BUCHWALD

Washington is jam-packed with tourists these days. Everyone has decided that the thing to do is to bring their children to Washington and show them their Government in action. Friends from all over the country have been descending on us with their offspring, and everyone swears it has been a worthwhile experience. Well, almost everyone. Our friend stopped in to see us the other day completely exhausted and somewhat discouraged.

BUCHWALD

"How's it going?" we asked the father of two boys aged 12 and 7.
"Great, just great," he replied.
"The kids like Washington?"
"They love it."
"WHAT DO they like best about it?"
"The television set in their hotel room. I drove 500 miles so they could stay up and watch 'Breaking Point.' The first morning after we arrived I went into their room to get them up for breakfast and they wouldn't get up.

There was an old Boris Karloff movie on at midnight and they had stayed up to watch it. We finally got them organized by 11 o'clock. I was determined to take them up to the Senate and let them see how our laws were enacted. We waited in line two hours to get into the gallery. When we finally got in, there were two Senators at their desks reading newspapers and one Senator on the floor attacking Australian meat.

"So I took them over to the House of Representatives where there were two men sleeping, three men standing in a corner arguing, and one Congressman on the floor defending the oil depletion allowance.

"THE ONLY thing that impressed them about the Capitol was the cafeteria in the basement."

"Did you take them to the White House?"

"I did, but I made a mistake. I took them there after it was dark and all the lights were turned out. Timmy, my youngest one, started to scream that we were going to be mugged, so we all went back to the hotel."

"What have they seen in Washington that they liked?"

"Howard Johnson's, the Hat Shoppe, and Blackie's House of Beef. They won't eat a thing when they're at home, but take them to a restaurant where the prices are a la carte and they'll order everything on the menu."

"Did you take them to the Supreme Court?"

"Yes, but they weren't impressed. They didn't see any defendant being brought in with handcuffs, so they wouldn't believe it was a court. What is a trial without Perry Mason?"

"You seem pretty worn out."

"I don't know why I should be. Any 40-year-old man can walk to the top of the Washington Monument."

"Why didn't you take the elevator?"

"Andrew's teacher told him to walk up. She said he would appreciate it more."

"HOW MUCH do you think the trip cost you?"

"Well, counting the traffic ticket I got for parking in the wrong place at the Lincoln Memorial and the souvenirs we bought to prove the boys were in Washington, I would say around $300."

"That's not too bad. Where are the boys now?"

"They went to see 'The Fall of the Roman Empire.' You can't bring a kid all the way to Washington and not let him see a movie that won't play in our town until next week."

He's 'Papa K' to many Russian workers

By RALPH MCGILL

If Mr. Khrushchev had been born way down south in Dixie, or New York's East Side, in frugal New England, or in the corn belt of the Golden West, he would have made his mark in politics. He has what the professionals call "the magic."

MCGILL

Reports from Hungary, where he said that communism had the duty to produce more and better goods rather than revolutions and nuclear war, reveal his common touch.

Every politician knows the bread and butter appeal is unbeatable wherever there is a tightening of belts. Secondly, memory of war, loss of life, and vast destruction of property still are vivid in all Europe, as well as in Russia. The Chinese offer of revolution will not be as attractive as that of more goulash.

Mr. Khrushchev, who had, in the manner of U.S. candidates, described himself as a "country boy," visited one of the famous stud farms in Hungary. Established more than a century ago to provide horses for the emperor and nobles, the farm apparently flourishes. Mr. Khrushchev was presented a team of five and coach.

THE SOVIET PREMIER then proceeded to "campaign." He knew, he said, it was not well to look gift horses in the mouth, but he, Mr. K., was an old peasant and wanted to see if he could determine a horse's age by looking at its teeth. Whereupon Mr. K. pried open a mouth or so and proclaimed the animals magnificent.

He then spied a middle-aged, fat guard who, according to the reports, looked very much like the famous visitor. Mr. Khrushchev went to him, shook hands and asked him about his weight.

The two stood there, talking of the difficulties of diet. Mr. K. said he began to be fatter after 1945 (when the war ended and food became more plentiful), but was now held at his present level by diet. "Eat less," he told the guard, "and remain healthy."

After Mr. Nixon's well publicized "Kitchen Debate" with Mr. Khrushchev in July of 1959, the party emerged from the American cottage to find a considerable crowd lined up on each side of the exit path. Mr. K. reacts impulsively to crowds as do all expert politicians. Just before the vice president's departure for Russia, the U.S. Congress had adopted a resolution deploring the slave condition of peoples in the Communist countries. This had irked the premier. As he came out he saw, standing by the roped-off roadway, a tall, freckled worker in trousers and tee shirt. His bright red hair was thick and bushy.

The man's homely face wore a big grin. Mr. K. abruptly turned from the Nixon group and walked to this man. He seized a handful of the thick hair and shook the head back and forth. "Does this look like a slave?" he loudly demanded. He got what he wanted — a big laugh from the hundreds of Russian workers.

AN ELDERLY, dumpy woman, also working at completing the fair ground exhibits, laughed and beamed at Mr. K., grinning an almost toothless grin. He walked over to her, embraced her, kissed her on each cheek, did the same to another astonished but pleased woman beside her, and then rejoined the official group.

Letter to the editor —

Let's not play ISU —

To the Editor:
I found your editorial, "Let's Play Iowa State" in the April 8 issue to be interesting but near-sighted. The problem of playing Iowa State in athletics is not so much a question of "petty reasons" as it is a question of petty cash.

Let's look at a few facts. Iowa Stadium seats sixty thousand. Clyde Williams Field at Ames can hold approximately twenty-four thousand.

Any series would probably have to be on a home-and-home basis. It has been at least 10 years since an Iowa team played before less than twenty-five thousand people.

Any game played at Iowa State would be a monetary loss for Iowa. The Iowa Athletic Department needs all the revenue it can obtain to support its programs.

THIS PROGRAM includes money for The Highlanders, The SUI Band, Campus Police, various publications, and research scholarships for SUI faculty members to name a few "extra curricular" projects. Six hundred and fifty thousand dollars is being spent to refurbish the Field House this year; a structure that is used by students and faculty for intramural programs and by the ROTC and must be maintained by the Athletic Department.

I do not mean to imply that the Athletic Department is financially shaky. But SUI has been having fat years and lean years are approaching, if not already here.

Iowa State has been having financial problems as evidenced by the fact that they are now playing Oklahoma only at Norman. They just don't have a seating capacity necessary to compete economically.

There are other problems too. The Iowa football schedule is filled through 1970. A Big Ten rule, goes into effect in 1967, says that no conference team may play a non-conference foe in the month of November. The Athletic Department would like to have non-conference games in October on the West or East coast where alumni would have a chance to see their school in action.

BASKETBALL is another story. It would be much more feasible to enter into competition in this sport, but not next season, as the schedule is, for all practical purposes, complete.

However, even in this sport, or any other, I believe it is for Iowa State to make the first move. I say this for two reasons. First, they are the school apparently in deep economic trouble. If they were to offer to play all football games in Iowa Stadium until they renovate their facilities, a solution might be found.

But should Iowa offer to hold a series if the games were played here in Iowa City, Iowa State fans would call the proposition unjust since they have pride in their school and would not want to take a back seat to anyone.

Second, Iowa State did push for Iowa's NCAA probation, a factor, petty or not, that was not in the best interests of the state. So far, I have heard nothing from Iowa State officials that they want to play Iowa. Perhaps they do not. And until they do indicate a desire to patch things up, I can see no reason, "petty" or economic, for Iowa to contact Iowa State.

SARE congratulated for freedom work

To the Editor:
I want to take this opportunity to commend the Student Association on Racial Equality for its recent work in the freedom movement. The organization has grown in stature and responsibility.

This is particularly true in relation to its work on this campus through the current clothing drive, regular newsletter, financial drives through folk concerts, and especially in taking the initiative in promoting the student exchange program with Negro colleges. This kind of program will help to facilitate communication and understanding among the races. Similarly Dean Heffner, the Board of Regents Educational Policies Committee, the University Human Rights Committee, the Student Senate, and the cooperating Greeks should be commended for their role in making possible this person-to-person contact through a student exchange program. Thanks also go The Daily Iowan for their news coverage.

Grad student thanks SUI librarians

I want to thank two librarians, Mr. King and Mr. Hanlin, of the University Library, who this morning spent more than half an hour, summoning an army of secretaries, to help me in my research work.

But Mr. King and Mr. Hanlin are not exceptional at SUI Library. I have attended the Library for many months and I have always found everybody in its staff competent, intelligent and helpful.

As a foreign student I can particularly appreciate the high standard of the library staff.

Journalists Plan Banquet In Chicago

Elizabeth Carpenter, press secretary and staff director to the First Lady, will be guest speaker at a luncheon for the annual "Ladies of the Press" banquet on Sunday, May 3, in Chicago, Ill.

Following her speech, there will be a press conference with Mrs. Carpenter for members of the Chicago press and spectators.

The luncheon will be sponsored by the Chicago chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, professional fraternity for women in journalism.

Reservations are $6.15 per person. For further information call Sharon Proctor, Daily Iowan society editor, at 7-4191.

Chi Os Celebrate 69th Anniversary Of Nat'l Founding

Chi Omega sorority celebrated the 69th anniversary of its national founding Saturday by hosting three Iowa Chi Omega chapters for Eleusinian, the annual commemoration day.

The SUI chapter, Psi Beta, entertained alumni and women from Omicron Alpha, Coe College; Eta Beta, Iowa State University; and Rho Beta, Drake University.

At a luncheon at the Holiday Inn, speaker Eldridge W. Roark Jr., fraternity adviser, reminded the women of steps that may be taken to enrich their lives as Greek women and help unite fraternities and sororities.

Skits from each chapter were presented.

Cramped Barracks? Try This Idea

Mrs. Gary Jones, who lives with her husband and child at 131 Westlawn Park, has devised an unusual room arrangement for their barracks apartment — one that is both comfortable and roomy.

Her solution to a basic barracks problem is simple — convert the living room to a dining room and the larger bedroom to a living room. A simple move of furniture pieces does the trick — and provides much more room to live in.

Mrs. Jones' dining room table is seen as one enters the apartment, and guests simply walk through to the larger bedroom, where she does her informal entertaining. The little girl sleeps in her baby bed in the smaller bedroom with her parents.

Why not try this arrangement? It's easy, and another advantage — you can set up two tables for bridge!

IFC President Defines Goals Of SUI Fraternity Structure

Baron Notes Changes; Emphasis on Academics

The Inter-Fraternity Council (IFC) will continue to be primarily a service organization in the 1964-65 academic year, according to Bob Baron, A3, Smithville, Texas, IFC president.

He added, however, that the council is considering some revisions in the committee structure which would make IFC more efficient. One change, he said, would emphasize IFC scholarship programs to help fraternities according to their individual needs.

"Another goal of the IFC," he said, "is the sponsorship of more civic and campus service projects." The blood bank drive during Greek Week this semester is the type of activity the IFC will promote, he continued.

The council will also encourage the fraternities to compete for the Alpha Tau Omega trophy, given to the pledge class contributing the finest community project during Help Week, Baron added.

Baron noted that the campus atmosphere is changing, and that Greeks are adapting their programs accordingly.

"We're getting a different type of student now," he commented, adding that Greek men seem to be more serious about their studies.

"The stereotyped image of the fraternity man of 20 years ago has passed from the campus," he said.

An example of the changes taking place in the fraternity system is the elimination of the traditional Hall Week, he said. "This has been replaced with constructive activities."

He said one of the Greek system's strongest points is that it provides a small-group identification for the student. This fact is particularly helpful in developing scholastic and leadership abilities in students new to SUI, Baron said.

"Academics has always been of primary importance to fraternities," he said, adding that "the all-fraternity grade average is consistently above the all-men's average on campus."

IFC performs a regulatory function, which is actually a service to the University and the fraternity system, Baron added. The IFC Court interprets and enforces the Code of Student Life as pertaining to the fraternity system and will continue to do so in the future, he said. Baron added that in the past year, the court placed a fraternity on social probation after members were found drinking on the premises.

Shifting to another area, Baron said he thinks relations between Greeks and non-Greeks are much better than they have been in the past, especially in the realm of student government. The split between the groups is not a serious threat to the independence of either, he said.

Baron said that the future of the fraternity system at SUI is optimistic. The increasing number of rushes, especially during informal rush, and the size of the turnout for the High School Weekend, twice as large as in 1963, indicates a growing interest in fraternities, he said.

No national fraternity is presently planning to establish a colony at SUI, according to Baron. He said, however, that the IFC council on expansion is always investigating possibilities of enlarging the fraternity system at SUI which now includes 19 chapters.

Iowa Baseball Coach Honored—

National Paper Salutes Otto Vogel

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following salute to Iowa Baseball Coach Otto Vogel appeared in the April 10 issue of Collegiate Baseball.

By ABE CHANIN
Collegiate Baseball Editor

The baseball veteran sat on the sidelines, letting the strong Arizona sunshine warm his pale face.

Vogel, making his recovery from a stroke that partially paralyzed his right side in late 1962, made the trip to Tucson with an Iowa team that showed it would be tough in the Big Ten race.

The Hawks were edged by an in-and-out Arizona team, 3-2, in the six-game series.

"A good bunch of kids and a fine young man to coach them," Otto Vogel was saying. "Dick Schultz is doing a good job. Me? I'm what they call an adviser and administrator for the present.

"But I'll show you something. Watch this."

Otto lifted his right arm to shoulder level, put his thumb to his nose and wiggled his hand towards where the umpires stood.

"I can still give the salute to guys I don't like," Otto grinned. "It looked pretty tough for a while, but I'm coming right along."

For Otto and his friends it was a time for reminiscing.

"YOU KNOW the real truth is that I never intended to become a coach. I was playing with the Chicago Cubs in '24 when my arm went bad. It was the same arm I had hurt playing football for Illinois. I got an offer to go to Iowa as baseball coach, but I laughed it off. I had no intention of coaching."

"But they looked me $4,000 a year and that offered pretty good in those days. So I went to Iowa in 1925 figuring I'd rest my arm and then return to playing baseball."

BUT VOGEL never returned to pro baseball. He stayed at Iowa to become one of the nation's most respected coaches.

He's been an innovator — he was one of the first coaches to experiment with a rack with the strike zone outlined with cords for pitchers to throw through. And he also tried out an aluminum alloy bat to save breakage.

And Otto is an author, too — he published the book, "The Ins and Outs of Baseball," which is used in many schools as a classroom text on the game.

OTTO, a leader in college baseball, was president of the American Association of College Baseball Coaches in 1953, has conducted clinics in a half-dozen states and also overseas.

Among the better pro prospects he turned out were Mase Brown, Forrest Twogood, Francis Mulrone, Don Gugler, Joe Mowry and Jack Dittmer.

At Tucson he also met one of his old players, Dick Clausen, now the athletic director at the University of Arizona.

"THAT CLAUSEN," Vogel chided, "could hit all right, but he had trouble learning how to shift his feet at first base. So one day we sprinkled some glass around first base and put him out there bare-footed. He learned real quicky."

Clausen, grinning widely, said: "You haven't changed, Otto. You can joke all you want, but as far as I'm concerned you are a great coach. I know that when I went up to the Cleveland Indians for a cup of coffee in 1938, I knew baseball. In fact, anyone who played for you knew the game all the way. If they couldn't make the grade in pro ball, it wasn't because they didn't know how to play the game."

COLLEGIATE BASEBALL is proud to salute one of the grand men in the game today — Otto Vogel.

TV Game Casts Begin Saturday

Saturday and Sunday "Baseball Game of the Week" programming on the CBS television network returns April 18-19. Jay Hanna "Dizzy" Dean and Harold "Pee Wee" Reese describe the play-by-play and analyze the big league strategy.

Opening game Saturday, April 18, features the American League Champion New York Yankees and the Orioles at Baltimore. Action shifts to Chicago's Wrigley Field Sunday, April 19, when the Philadelphia Phillies oppose the Cubs.

These will be the first of 25 Saturday and 21 Sunday broadcasts in the 1964 season, the 10th for CBS-TV which pioneered the concept in 1953.

Dean, ready for his 25th summer as an announcer, has been on "Game of the Week" since its start. The 1964 campaign marks Reese's 5th year as a commentator. Hall of Fame Member Dean, and ex-Dodger shortstop Reese make up one of the most popular broadcast combinations ever formed.

A 10-minute "live" feature entitled "Baseball with Dizzy Dean" will precede each game. Diz will interview baseball greats and present special features.

The April-May schedule:

April 18 — New York at Baltimore
April 19 — Philadelphia at Chicago
April 20 — Baltimore at New York
April 21 — Chicago at Philadelphia
April 22 — Washington at New York
April 23 — Pittsburgh at St. Louis

May 9 — Cincinnati at Philadelphia
May 10 — Cincinnati at Philadelphia
May 11 — Kansas City at New York
May 17 — Milwaukee at St. Louis

May 23 — Los Angeles at New York
May 24 — Minnesota at Baltimore
May 30 — Cincinnati at St. Louis
May 31 — Cincinnati at St. Louis

In Major League Action

Giants 8, Braves 4

SAN FRANCISCO — Five home runs, two by Willie Mays, blasted the San Francisco Giants to an 8-4 opening day victory over the Milwaukee Braves and their great left-hander Warren Spahn in a record throng of 42,894 in Candlestick Park Tuesday.

Orlando Cepeda, Tom Haller and rookie Jim Hart all contributed homers to the San Francisco power show that gave Juan Marichal the victory over the 42-year-old Spahn.

Marichal overcame his unsteady start to go the route, allowing only seven hits while his mates collected 10 against the two Milwaukee hurlers.

Twins 7, Indians 6

CLEVELAND — Rich Rollins' two-run single in the sixth inning helped the Minnesota Twins come from behind and beat Cleveland 7-6 Tuesday in the season opener.

Outfielder Leon Wagner drove in four Cleveland runs with a home run and a single as the Tribe went down to its fifth straight home-opener defeat.

Minnesota 000 322 000—7 8 2
Cleveland 001 400 000—6 10 0
Pascual Arrigo (4), Perry (5), Rollins (6) and Batten; Grant, Walker (5), Ramos (6), Abernathy (7) and Romano. W—Perry (1-0). L—Walker (0-1). Home runs — Minnesota, Batten (1), Cleveland, Held (1), Wagner (1).

Cubs 8, Pirates 4

PITTSBURGH — The Chicago Cubs cut loose against Roy Face for four runs in the 10th inning and beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-4 Tuesday in the season's opener at Forbes Field.

Billy Williams' two-run homer in the 10th was the big blow. Andre Rodgers and Dick Bertell also homered for the Cubs in the seventh. The 13-hit assault against the Pirates included six doubles and three home runs.

Orioles 5, White Sox 3

CHICAGO — Baltimore's third homer of the game, Boog Powell's two-run blast, broke a 3-3 tie in the eighth and gave the Orioles a 5-3 season opening triumph over the Chicago White Sox before 20,766 Tuesday.

Pinchhitter Joe Gaines' two-out homer in the seventh erased a 3-2 Chicago lead. Baltimore's first homer was a two-out clout by Johnny Orsino in the sixth, nudging the Orioles ahead 2-1.

Snider Sold by Mets; Will Play for Giants

NEW YORK — The New York Mets sold veteran outfielder Duke Snider to the San Francisco Giants Tuesday for slightly more than the waiver price. The 37-year-old Duke immediately said he felt a couple of years younger.

"Just the opportunity to play with a contender again should add a couple of years to my career," he said. He estimated he could play at least two or three more years.

"You'd be surprised how much younger you feel when you're playing with a pennant contender."

The Giants will use the Duke as a left-handed pinch hitter and as insurance for rookie Jay Alou in right field.

Tigers 7, Athletics 3

DETROIT — The Detroit Tigers supported Phil Regan's five-hit pitching performance with some lusty hitting and defeated the Kansas City Athletics 7-3 in their American League baseball season opener Tuesday.

Kansas City 000 000 102—3 5 0
Detroit 110 100 21X—7 12 1

Phillies 5, Mets 3

PHILADELPHIA — The Philadelphia Phillies took advantage of a brief wild spell by left-hander Al Jackson and rode Roy Sievers' three-run homer in the first inning to a 5-3 National League opening game victory over the New York Mets Tuesday night.

New York 000 120 000—3 11 1
Philadelphia 310 000 01X—5 6 0
Jackson, Bearnarth (8) and B. Taylor; Dennis Bennaer, Klippstein (5) and Daryle W. Klippstein (1-0). L—Jackson (0-1). Home runs — New York: Christopher 1, Philadelphia: Sievers 1.

Star Gymnasts File Entries To Meet Here

Gymnasts of distinction from more than 12 states have filed entries for the U.S. Gymnastics Federation National Championships held in the Iowa Field House Friday and Saturday.

Some of the heaviest mail is expected today as entries close for the second annual Federation meet. Events for men and women classified as "elite" or Class A are on the program.

INDIVIDUAL titles only will be decided. There is no team title at stake. But interest will center on an unofficial team battle between Southern Illinois University of Carbondale, Ill., and Pasadena City College of Pasadena, Calif.

Southern Illinois last month won the National Collegiate championship and Pasadena will bring a 15-man squad and a record of 61 straight dual meet victories and several National AAU Junior championships.

The Californians are coached by Jerry Todd, who last month was named "Coach of the Year" by the National Association of College Gymnastics Coaches.

Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Minnesota of the Big Ten, along with champion Michigan and runner-up Iowa, will be represented. Others include Kansas State, University of Arizona and New Mexico State. Numerous gymnastics clubs as well as unattached athletes also have enrolled. Class A will also include eight boys and girls from the Cedar Rapids Gymnastics club.

All-American side horse man Steve Doty of Arizona has been entered by his coach, Sam Ballic, former Iowa star who set the Iowa scoring record of 1,001 points in 1955-57. He also will bring Bill Zink, still rings, who holds Arizona's season's scoring record.

IOWA COACH Dick Holzapel, meet director, describes the entire affair as a "big gymnastics circus." Elite class athletes will compete on the main basketball court in the Field House, Class A in the North Gym and women in the women's gym. Sessions are set for Friday and Saturday at 10 a.m. and Saturday at 7:30 p.m. In the Saturday evening session, the six finalists in each elite event will decide the placing.

Lee Turned Off Road to Coe To Play First Base at Iowa

By BOB MOYERS
Staff Writer

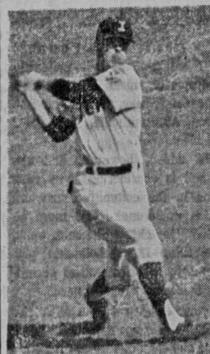

When the Iowa baseball team tangles with Coe College April 21, Hawkeye fans can indeed be glad that power-hitting first baseman Rich Lee decided to turn off the road to Coe and follow the "Prime-ro" path to Iowa in 1961.

After graduating from high school in Norway, Ia., Lee had almost decided to play football, basketball and baseball for the Blackhawks. Then Harold Primrose, his baseball coach, one day began to reminisce about his own and his brother Bob's baseball experiences at Iowa.

RICH learned that both Harold and Bob had been Norway athletes who went on to play baseball for the Hawks.

Bob won three letters at short-stop and third base for the Hawks and in 1949 batted .325 as Iowa tied for the Big Ten championship with an 8-4 record. Harold also played third base but was forced to play behind Ken Kurtz who in 1955 was the only Hawkeye regular to hit over .300.

Although Rich had been a pitcher in high school, Coach Otto Vogel followed the Norway tradition and gave Rich a shot at the third base position as a sophomore. His .246 batting average was respectable, but his 17 errors were not, and so Vogel went against tradition and decided to turn Rich into a first baseman in 1963.

RICH (DUKE) LEE
Iowa First Baseman

SINCE THEN Rich has been hitting at a steady 300-plus clip and as a junior led the Iowa regulars in fielding with a .982 percentage.

Although best known for his line-drive hitting, the senior first-sacker has been connecting more for distance this year. In the Hawks' first 7 games, 5 of Lee's 9 hits went for extra bases, equalling his entire output for 1963.

AFTER 11 GAMES, Lee has a batting average of .283 and leads the team in total bases with 20. He has been charged with only two errors in 90 fielding chances and he ranks third among Hawkeyes in the RBI department.

Nicknamed "The Duke," Lee has set up several personal goals for himself this season. Besides wanting to hit over .300 and playing errorless ball in the field, he hopes to win the battle of the bulge by trimming 10 excess pounds from the 195 pounds he now carries around the bases.

Although professional baseball scouts have overlooked him thus far, the Duke would like to continue in baseball after graduation. "I could play ball 12 months a year and still enjoy the game," he said.

In high school when he wasn't pitching Norway to victory, he played guard on the basketball team as he earned eight letters in two sports. Since he wasn't good enough to make a Little League team, Rich had to wait until ninth grade to start his career. As a pitcher he once threw a five-inning no-hitter and had several one-hit games to his credit.

AT IOWA, Lee is majoring in recreational leadership and hopes to graduate in 1965. According to Rich, his spare time is filled up by "doing nothing except playing baseball."

But even Shakespeare was known for making much ado about nothing, and someday perhaps Iowa's Rich Lee may be as well known as the great bard for his "nothingness."

City High Gets Approval For Varsity Swim Team

By CARLA SCHUMANN
Staff Writer

Iowa City High School will have a participating varsity swimming team beginning next year as a result of the Iowa City Board of Education meeting Tuesday evening.

The board members unanimously approved the proposal offering the use of the Recreation Commission Center's pool. However, Superintendent of Schools Buford Garner suggested that there should be more of a choice for practice time.

Previously, the pool was offered only from 7 to 9 a.m. for practice and from 4 to 7 p.m. for meets on Saturday.

Garner pointed out that traveling and personal equipment expenses would be paid through the high school athletic department.

Presently City High and Dubuque are the only schools in the Mississippi Valley Conference not participating in interscholastic swimming.

Garner said "If we provide golf, tennis, football and baseball on an interscholastic basis, it's only fair that we have swimming."

The question of tennis courts for an intramural and physical education program for South East Junior High School was discussed again by the board.

The board took no formal action, other than referring the proposal to the May meeting when the budget will be discussed.

It was suggested that the tennis courts be included in the plan to resurface the parking lot at South East Junior High. Funds have already been proposed for the resurfacing by the Physical Plant Committee at the last board meeting.

The resurfacing project would be moved up from the summer of '65 to the summer of '64 to accommodate the tennis court plans if possible, Garner explained.

The two asphalt courts will cost $8,500. An additional $700 will be requested for back stops and posts for the courts.

Robert Davis, business manager for the board cited the incorporation of the tennis courts with the parking lot resurfacing as a "relatively inexpensive way of achieving this end."

OVERLOOKED?

Did you miss the campus recruiters? Still looking for the job you really want?

The function of our business is to procure and screen qualified individuals for industry. We are academically and vocationally matured to evaluate and counsel applicants. A single visit to our offices will expose you to a number of leading companies who may not have recruited at your campus.

Below we have listed our frank prejudices on today's job market for young college graduates.

ACCOUNTING, ADMINISTRATION, PERSONNEL, & MANAGEMENT TRAINEES

Contact Dwight Foster

The day of the Accountant wearing a green eyeshade on top of a high stool is over. More and more corporation presidents are coming up via the Accounting route. The top accelerated management training program are leaning in the MBA direction, but many of our client companies continue to maintain rotating training programs for mobile MBAs. Business and Industrial Relations majors are the most applicable degrees for entry level personnel jobs with psychology degrees occasionally considered. The best bets for Administrative opportunities are Business and Economics degrees with high honor point rates the ideal door openers. Salary ranges are as follows:

ACCOUNTANTS	$475 to $550
MBA's	$600 to $725
BBAs	$450 to $525
LIBERAL ARTS	$425 to $525

SALES, MARKETING AND PUBLIC CONTACT

Contact Russ Fallstad

Many of today's corporation executives have risen through the sales ranks. If you do not make management, why not laugh at the way to the bank while your friends enjoy a large title and little income in other fields. The day of the "Carpetbagger" is over and a sales career offers great challenges. High salaries and sales is now a highly respected profession. Many comprehensive training programs are available in as many different fields as there are products to sell. Starting income goes to $600 or even more depending on specialization and degrees.

For Example: Computer Sales Trainers
Require top 25% of class or MBA degree. Intensive in plant training. Start to $50. Commission after training. 2nd year potential well over $10,000. Willing to relocate with light travel.

5 Medical Fellowships Given For Study at SUI, Abroad

Five medical faculty members have been awarded Medical Practice Plan Fellowships for study at SUI and in Europe. Fellowships have been awarded to Harry W. Fischer, professor of radiology; John P. Hummel, professor of biochemistry; Gordon W. Searle, associate professor of physiology; Edward W. Green, associate in surgery, and James A.

Clifton, professor of internal medicine. Funds for two of the fellowships come entirely from money especially set aside for the purpose in the Medical Practice Plan, the system which governs disbursement of fees paid to University Hospitals by private patients. PARTIAL SUPPORT of the other fellowships also will come from the Practice Plan, but major support for them will come from other sources.

Major support for Fischer's fellowship comes from the Commonwealth Fund. Fischer heads the division of diagnostic radiology at University Hospitals. He will spend four months in Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Finland, Switzerland, Germany and Great Britain. Most of his time will be spent in Sweden, where the field of radiology is highly developed. Fischer's major interests will be in observing the organizational aspects of radiology departments, the teaching methods and content of radiology courses, and the recent developments and improvements in radiologic techniques.

Hummel will receive most of his support for a year's study in Europe from a National Science Foundation (NSF) Post-doctoral Fellowship. He was one of 96 scientists in the nation selected to receive the awards for advanced training. HUMMEL and his family will leave in August for the University of Marburg, Germany, where he will work with Herbert Witzel, a scientist who has been doing biochemical research similar to that of Hummel and his colleagues at Iowa.

Searle and his family also will leave in August for a year in England, where Searle will be associated with Professor A. A. Harper of the Department of Physiology at the University of Newcastle-upon-Tyne.

Green, who also will receive full support from the Practice Plan, will spend a year, beginning in July, studying and working with Jorg Bohler of the Accident Hospital, Linz, Austria. His family will accompany him.

THE ACCIDENT hospitals of Austria are unique to that country and are devoted exclusively to treatment of patients with wounds and accidental injuries. Green's fellowship will help him to broaden his knowledge in this area, especially in relation to newer methods of fracture management which have been introduced by the Austrian hospitals.

Clifton began his fellowship last month at SUI, where he will devote six months studying with C. Adrian Hogben, professor and head of the Department of Physiology. He is receiving partial support from the Practice Plan.

Clifton, who has been investigating the processes of small intestinal absorption, is pursuing his study with Hogben to gain a better understanding of the basic mechanism of cell transport, or the transfer of substances through the cell membrane.

As part of his fellowship program, he will go in June to the Mount Desert Isle Biological Research Laboratory in Maine, where he and Hogben will be joined by a group of other investigators who are actively engaged in studying these problems of fundamental importance in biology.

Attending funeral services for Corcoran at 10:30 a.m. today in Sibley will be Mason Ladd, dean of the College of Law, and Willard L. Boyd, faculty adviser to the Law Review.

Stuart Huff, L2, Sioux City, is attending the funeral as official delegate from the Iowa Student Bar. Approximately 30 students from the College of Law also will be at the funeral, according to Olsen.

The idea for the fund, in memory of Michael L. Corcoran, L1, Sibley, originated with the freshman law class.

The class set a goal of $500, to be raised from College of Law students and faculty.

Beginning the fund-raising Monday afternoon, the original goal was exceeded and over $600 was raised by Tuesday afternoon, according to Allan Olsen, L3, Sioux City, president of the Iowa Student Bar Association.

Soliciting will not continue," Olsen said. "However, funds can be sent to: 'The Michael L. Corcoran Financial Aid Fund,' c/o Law School Foundation, College of Law, Iowa City.

The Law School Foundation, which normally administers scholarships and loans, will administer the new fund. Trustees of the Foundation will decide the nature of the fund (loans or scholarships) at a later date.

Students honored for outstanding scholastic achievement were: Susan Brien, A1, Iowa City; Shirley Thomson, A1, Rockford, Ill.; Ruth Marie Christofferson, A1, Osage; Theresa Noto-Iokky, A1, Cedar Rapids; Karen Sotterman, A1, Sreator, Ill.; Nancy Kruse, A2, George; Carol Gaudinier, A2, Iowa City; Judy Benrott, A2, Lowden; Jean Havlicek, A1, Cedar Rapids; Alvina Longstreth, A2, Iowa City; Naomi Thalacker, A2, Tripoli; Norma Evans, A3, Des Moines; Jeanine Hopson, A3, Corpus Christi, Tex.; Norma Hubbard, A3, Iowa City; Sally Oehler, A3, Centerville; Wills Jucker, G, Okron, Ohio.

Students interested in this fall's student exchange program with Southern Negro colleges are invited to attend a meeting of SARE-Friends of SNCC at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the Pentacrest Room of the Union.

To be eligible for participation in the program students should have junior standing or above and should be enrolled in the College of Liberal Arts.

The Mississippi summer project will also be discussed at the meeting. SARE-Friends of SNCC is recruiting volunteers for the summer to teach courses in schools, help in community centers and compile names and statistics for voter registration.

In addition, a tape recording of alleged police brutality to Negroes in Macon County, Ga., and a special talk on white Southerners will be presented.

Choir To Present Concert Thursday

The 65-member SUI Choir will present a concert Thursday in the Union as the culmination of its annual spring tour, which this year included five cities.

Tickets will not be required for the concert, which will be presented at 8 p.m. It will be co-sponsored by the SUI Music Department and by the Fine Arts Committee of Union Board.

The Choir's program will feature Francis Poulenc's "Mass in G." The group will also sing two Renaissance motets — "Regem Natum" by Jacobus Gallus and "Gaudete Omnes" by J. P. Sweelinck — "The Eyes of All" by Jean Berger, and "Be Not Afraid" by J. S. Bach.

Greeks, Turks Struggle Over Hill in Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (U.N. officers sought feverishly Tuesday night to settle a Greek-Turkish dispute over a strategic hill in northern Cyprus that could spread fighting throughout the troubled island.

Turkey's regulars based on Cyprus came under fire for the first time, meanwhile, and a Turkish battle fleet sailed from Iskenderun on a maneuver like those that raised invasion alarms last winter.
