Rain Can Stay; Worms Must Go!

By CELE FERNER
City Editor

Weather's for the worms. Just ask any coed who goes squishing through the rain. The rain they don't mind — but the earthworms have to go. One young lady interviewed Friday, after splashing to classes for four days, said she's been walking to class, bumping into people . . . but she has been very careful not to step on worms. "I don't care who I run into, but I absolutely refuse to step on those squirmy things," she said. "I just keep my head down and evade the ugly monsters."

To make it difficult they push themselves in and out — you know? You step to miss them and they stick their heads — or their tails, whichever's which — and you end up stepping on them anyway!"

One fan of a popular song said, "Don't let the rains come down. My roof's got a hole in it and I might drown."

He lived in a low-rent district of off-campus housing. Another young student — male — is "absolutely fed up with this mad, mad, mad weather." "I've gone through three umbrellas this spring," he explained.

"I keep getting them stuck in the seats in Macbride Auditorium — and that bends 'em."

A third student interviewed in a wandering puddle Friday explained the perils of taking shortcuts to class:

"There's this great short cut, see, between the Engineering Building and the Communications Center. But it's an alley — solid mud. I fell in the mud this morning, and noticed this afternoon a truck was graveling the alley. In the meantime, by falling in mud this spring, I've ruined many, many trousers, to say nothing of the shoes."

The ducks at City Park were enjoying the weather.

"Tremendous, just tremendous," one quacker reported. "I've been waddling in puddles for almost five days — it's the best spring we've ever had here in the pond. Think it'll keep up?"

Yes, Mr. Quacker it will. The weather bureau reports predict five more days — yes, at least five more days.

More clouds, more drizzle, more light rain. But all that April (and May) rain may mean one bright point . . . May flowers???

Everyone doubts it.

Gov. Wallace 'Too Busy' To Talk Here

By JOHN ROBERTS
Staff Writer

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Fred Strawn, A2, Garrison and Kirk Strawn, A1, Portland, Ore., were apparently thwarted Friday in their attempt to arrange a speaking engagement for Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace at SU1. Strawn, Board Chairman of SU1 Young Democrats, and Stephan, President of SU1 Young Liberals, went to Wallace's Indiana campaign headquarters in Indianapolis Friday hoping to persuade the controversial candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination to visit the SU1 campus before the May 19 Maryland primary.

THE TWO SU1wans had hoped to meet with William Jones, Wallace's press secretary, but could not as he was called to Wallace's Maryland headquarters. Gov. Wallace was also unavailable because of his heavy campaign schedule.

In a telephone conversation to Montgomery, Ala., with Cecil Jackson, Wallace's legal secretary, Strawn learned that the Alabama governor's speaking schedule is completely filled between now and June.

JACKSON SAID, however, that Wallace had not been to Iowa and would be "very interested" in speaking before an SU1 audience. He indicated he was favorably impressed with the unusual interest in having Gov. Wallace visit SU1 as demonstrated by Strawn and Stephan's repeated efforts to arrange the occasion, including their trip to Indianapolis.

Jackson added that it is possible there will be a cancellation in the governor's speaking schedule after the Maryland primary. If so, he continued, he would contact Strawn to make arrangements for the governor to visit SU1. He repeated that such a change in schedule was only a "possibility."

STRAWN AND Stephan said they hoped Gov. Wallace would be able to come to the campus to give SU1wans opportunity to hear first-hand his campaign platform.

"While not endorsing the governor's states rights position," Strawn said, "SU1 Young Democrats and Young Liberals consider exposure to his platform of significant value to the University students."

"For this reason we are still hopeful Gov. Wallace will be able to visit SU1."

During Gov. Wallace's Indiana campaign he has spoken at the following schools: Indiana University, Purdue, Valparaiso, and Notre Dame.

British Join Peace Plan For Cyprus

LONDON (AP) — British leaders joined U.N. peacemaker Sakari Tuomioja Friday in his quest for a long-term plan to pacify and reunite the divided people of Cyprus.

But hours of talk, which ranged over a variety of ideas for a settlement, were adjourned inconclusively.

IT WAS LEARNED, however, that if all else fails, the British will support partition of the island's Greek and Turkish communities. As the diplomats turned their attention to the tasks of peace-making, a May Day calm descended over the Mediterranean trouble spot.

There was silence along the crests of Kyrenia range where for most of the past week mortars boomed and machine guns sputtered in the Greek side of St. Hilarion Castle.

Tuomioja's talks with Commonwealth Relations Secretary Duncan Sandys and Deputy Foreign Minister Lord Carrington are rounding off the reconnaissance he has undertaken in five capitals. The Finnish diplomat has previously sounded out the Greek and Turkish Cypriots in Nicosia, the Greeks and Turks in Athens and Ankara and U.N. Secretary-General U Thant during a Paris visit.

To Be Honored Today—

Canadian Nurse Mother of Year

A Canadian nurse who has spent a lifetime working on civic and philanthropic projects was named SUI Mother of 1964 Friday night.

Mrs. Fred G. Osborne of Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island,

MRS. FRED OSBORNE
Philadelphia Native

Canada, was nominated for the honor by one of her two daughters, Sally R. Osborne, A1. Her other daughter is Mrs. G. L. Loudoux of Miller Place, Long Island, N.Y.

SHE WILL BE presented to students and their parents at the annual Mother's Day Luncheon at 11:30 a.m. today in the Union, and at University Sing at 2:30 p.m. Sunday also in the Union.

Mrs. Osborne, a native of Philadelphia, was an elementary teacher before becoming interested in nursing. She was graduated from the University of Vermont Fletcher School of Nursing. While working as chief surgical nurse at St. Luke's Hospital in New York, she heard of the pioneer medical work being done in Newfoundland.

She went to Newfoundland and worked as a surgical nurse for Dr. Wilfred Grenfell, well-known physician and missionary.

AFTER HER marriage, Mrs. Osborne lived on tiny Belle Isle, where she served as a nurse and doctor for fishermen and their families who came to the island in the summers. During the 13 years the Osbornes lived on the island she also taught her two daughters, since there was no school there.

While her husband, a lighthouse-keeper, served in the Canadian Army during World War II, the SUI Mother of the Year served as the only American Red Cross nurse on islands off the coast of Maine.

After the war, Osborne accepted a position as inspector of lighthouses on the eastern coast of Canada and Labrador, a post he has held ever since.

IN RECENT YEARS, Mrs. Osborne has organized clothing drives for the needy, established Girl Guide activities for girls in isolated Canadian areas and for the handicapped, and served as a volunteer nurse, Sunday School teacher, and fund raiser for youth recreation facilities.

Kidnaped 5-Day-Old Baby Still Missing

CHICAGO (AP) — The search for a kidnaped 5-day-old baby kept bumping into the invisible wall of frustration Friday.

1,140 tips and suggestions have reportedly come from citizens thus far. But the baby and the woman who took him still eluded police and FBI agents.

A woman dressed in a white outfit took little Paul Joseph from the arms of his mother, Mrs. Dora Fronczak, 28, in Michael Reese pital.

Mrs. Fronczak, wife of a machinist, would have gone home from the hospital Friday if the baby had not been abducted. The hospital and said her emotional and physical well-being requires that she remain until Monday.

Methodists Adopt Slow Integration

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Methodist Church adopted Friday a voluntary plan of action to remove racial barriers in higher units of church administration.

Integration forces within the church ridiculed it as a "Southern victory" and vowed to push for a stronger program.

It appeared the move would have little if any effect on the average Methodist church-goer, either Negro or white, in any part of the country.

THE CHURCH'S 900-member General Conference voted approval of a plan to work toward the elimination of the central jurisdiction, which embraces some 375,000 Negro members, by merging its conferences with geographically corresponding white conferences. Negroes comprise about 3.75 per cent of Methodist Church membership.

The voting was a show of hands. Approval was overwhelming but no exact count was made.

The program, to cover a four-year period, will be entirely voluntary. No enforcement mechanism was provided.

IT WAS DESCRIBED as "not tremendously daring" by Bishop L. C. Wicke of New York, president of the Methodist Council of Bishops.

However, Bishop Wicke said, "I think it was a wholesome thing." He expressed hope the action would lead to bolder integration efforts.

Warren Group To Hear Jackie, 3 FBI Agents

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy's widow and three FBI agents who had some connection with the

Mrs. Kennedy

Lee Harvey Oswald before he was killed will give testimony to the commission investigating Kennedy's assassination.

This was announced Friday by the commission, which said FBI agents John W. Fain, now retired, John L. Quigley and James B. Hosty Jr. will testify next Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Kennedy, who was sitting in the car with her husband when he was shot last Nov. 22 in Dallas, was told she could testify in person or give a deposition. A commission spokesman, saying the form would be announced later, told reporters Mrs. Kennedy has indicated that she is willing to cooperate.

The commission also expects to recall Mrs. Marina Oswald before it finishes its job, probably next month. Mrs. Oswald's slain husband is accused of firing the shots that killed Kennedy. Oswald was shot to death two days later. Mrs. Oswald testified once before in the inquiry.

Castro, K Renew Warnings on U-2s

U.S. Replies Recon Vital To Security

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro said Friday Cuba would seek to stop U.S. spy flights over Cuba through world forums but failing this "will repel that aggression with arms."

Shouting to 200,000 workers standing in Revolution Square, the prime minister repeated his determination to stop high-altitude U2 surveillance flights over his island.

CASTRO SAID if all Cuban efforts before "necessary international means, world opinion and international organizations are useless," Cuba will consider the flights as armed aggression.

Apparently referring to the United Nations, Castro said Cuba would first present its case to international organizations but that "they the United States must know that at the end flights must cease anyway."

Speaking under a blistering 90-degree sun, Castro reaffirmed Cuba will reject U.S. inspection of the island.

IN MOSCOW Premier Khrushchev warned that continued U.S. intelligence flights over Cuba could have disastrous consequences.

The two Red leaders evidently coordinated their threats to put new pressure on the United States. Washington stood firm.

The State Department, after hearing the threats from Moscow and Havana, repeated President Johnson's statement that the flights were necessary for U.S. security and would continue.

KHRUSHCHEV denounced continuation of the flights as the climax of Moscow's May Day celebrations.

At Congressional Hearing—

Views Wide-Ranging On School Prayers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wide-ranging views were given to a congressional hearing Friday considering whether the U.S. Constitution should be amended to guarantee the right to pray in public schools.

Churchmen, educators and spokesmen for public groups appeared before the House Judiciary Committee. They applauded or deplored efforts to have the Constitution amended to overcome the Supreme Court's rulings against official prayers and required Bible reading in school.

A rabbi and a Presbyterian minister said daily, routine prayers, particularly if they are "nonsectarian," actually are harmful to the religious spirit of children.

A Roman Catholic priest and a high school teacher — accompanied by some of his students — made fervent pleas for a prayer amendment. They said the overwhelming majority of the American people support them.

Rabbi Irwin M. Blank of Tenafly, N.J., speaking for the Synagogue Council of America, said a truly nonsectarian prayer, such as advocates of an amendment call for, would be impossible to compose, and even if it were, he added:

"Such a prayer would necessarily be so devoid of any real spiritual content that it would come dangerously close to irreverence and blasphemy."

Margaret Gives Birth To Daughter

LONDON (AP)—A daughter weighing 6 pounds, 2 ounces was born to Princess Margaret Friday, rounding out a quartet of new babies arriving in Britain's royal family over the past two months.

The baby girl is Margaret's second child and her first daughter. Her son, Viscount Lindley, is now 2½. The newborn is seventh in line to the throne, edging in ahead of the Duke of Gloucester, an uncle of Margaret.

The 33-year-old princess' husband is Lord Snowdon, the former society photographer Anthony Armstrong-Jones.

When Margaret's baby gets a name, the formal mode of address for her will be "the Lady."

Strike Halts Construction On Campus

Work on numerous construction projects in Iowa City was halted Friday when union members walked off the job after their contracts expired at midnight Thursday.

Construction stopped on Burge Hall, Currier Hall, the Physics Building, the Union, University Hospitals, and the Community Recreation Center. Most work was also halted on the city water treatment plant, although a few workers were allowed to remain on the job to perform necessary duties there.

CONSTRUCTION work in Iowa City and most of Iowa is expected to resume next week. The Associated Press said Friday night that some new contracts had already been negotiated. Indications were that discussions between contractors and union officials would reach agreement over the weekend.

John Johnston, business representative of the Iowa City Carpenters' Union Local 1260, said Thursday that the carpenters would not strike. However, they were prevented from working Friday because laborers, plumbers and steamfitters were not working.

The strikes also idled construction projects in Clinton, Oelwein, Ottumwa, Dubuque, Cedar Rapids, Waterloo and Cherokee.

At Clinton, striking laborers idled all major construction projects as they sought a new contract seeking a reported 50-cent hourly pay hike.

ELECTRICIANS at Waterloo and Oelwein walked off the job, seeking a pay boost. In Dubuque, about 250 carpenters were off the job after striking about 40 building contractors.

Seven unions called their workers off the job in Cedar Rapids, although the plumbers' union reportedly had reached an agreement.

In the Quad-Cities area, about 1,200 laborers, 1,000 engineers and 150 cement finishers whose contracts expired remained on the job as negotiations continued.

TEMPLE, Tex. (AP) — A great section of this Central Texas city was blasted by a heavy windstorm — perhaps a tornado — Friday, causing heavy damage and several injuries.

The storm cut a 20-block-wide swath across the city, including the downtown business district.

Viet Reds Sink U.S. Ship

SAIGON (AP) — Communist terrorists sank a U.S. aircraft transport in Saigon harbor Saturday.

All 73 men of the civilian crew were reported safe.

The red guerrillas blew a hole into the 9,800-ton U.S.S. Card below the waterline. The ship had arrived here with a cargo of helicopters and fighterbombers.

It was the first time a major U.S. vessel had been sunk in the battle against Viet Cong guerrillas. THE CARD had taken on a cargo of old helicopters for return to the United States and had been scheduled to sail later today.

The explosion occurred at 5 a.m. Saigon time and the ship began sinking almost immediately.

The ship settled onto the muddy bottom of the 49-foot deep Saigon River with its flight deck and superstructure above water.

Civilian Capt. Borge Langelland, 55, of New Orleans said the full extent of the damage to the Card, or the size of the hole, had not been determined "but the hole must be very big and it probably will be many weeks before the Card can leave Saigon for the United States."

"THE EXPLOSION hammered through the ship, jarring engine room attendants," Langelland reported. "The ship began to take water immediately, forcing several crewmen to hurriedly evacuate their quarters. The crew immediately closed off the lower compartments of the ship."

Pieces of the ship's steel railing and planks from the pier to which it had been moored were scattered across the wharf and the Card's steel superstructure was bent by the force of the explosion.

LANGELLAND said he had no idea who had planted the explosive but added: "Who else but the Communists would want to blow us up?"

Built in 1942, the Card served in World War II as an escort carrier, launching planes that flew protection for convoys.

Dr. Bowen's proposals for local government

DR. HOWARD R. BOWEN, president-designate of SUI, proposed Thursday night that Iowa county and city governments should be combined to provide one government for one community.

Bowen said county governments are mostly concerned with rural interests while city governments are mostly concerned with urban interests. Bowen contends there is no longer any need for this separation because, in reality, the social and economic interests of rural and urban residents are about the same.

One government for one community would presumably result in economy, the elimination of duplication of services and an increase in the ability of local governments to provide more services.

There is a need, as Bowen said, for a change in the structure of local governments, especially county governments. Present Iowa counties are too small for efficient government and services provided by the county are, in most cases, minimal.

A question, however, should be raised before Bowen's proposal is given unequivocal endorsement. There should be evidence that one government for one community would be more beneficial than would the plan to consolidate present counties into two or more units to provide larger governmental units.

There is a possibility if one government is established to administer both city and county government, the rural residents would demand the same services that their urban counterparts receive. This would mean that fire, police, sanitation, recreation and other facilities would have to be expanded greatly to serve the entire county.

The consolidation of counties would continue the present division of local communities into rural and urban groups, but this might result in a more economical governmental operation than Bowen's plan. The use of county managers might increase this efficiency even more.

The two proposals are merely different ways of accomplishing the same thing. It would be worthwhile for some agency, possibly SUI's Institute of Public Affairs, to study the two alternatives to determine which would be better for Iowa's local governments.

Mother's Day Festival

STRANGE HOW SOMETHING sounds more important by putting a title on it. In case you haven't noticed, we've just observed SUI's first annual Spring Festival. Which sounds pretty good we guess, except that the program offered looks mysteriously like that which used to be called Mother's Day Weekend.

Somehow we had something a little different in mind when people started talking about a Spring Festival during student election campaigns last year. Special political speakers, exhibits, and maybe some free time from classes to walk around and mull over the culture.

It didn't work out quite that way, although "Spring Festival" is offering a good program. The Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, the Opera Workshop presentation, ROTC awards, Leadership Banquet, tours for mothers, a lecture by Clark Mollenhoff, and other cultural goodies beckoned to students and their parents.

It's less impressive, though, when you look back to old-fashioned Mother's Day Weekend last year. They had TWO impressive lecturers then, plus the ROTC awards, plus the tours, plus special exhibits, the tours and nearly everything else that has suddenly become "Spring Festival." The Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra came a week earlier and the Opera Workshop presentation was a week later, but otherwise it was about the same schedule.

There have been two additions: the Variety Show Friday night (a worthy idea, we think) and Project X. Project X was what came out of the Spring Festival Fun and Games Committee. Thousands of students were probably not disappointed when Project X had to be canceled because of cold weather. The whole idea kind of chilled us anyhow.

But we're still left with a variety show . . . and a new name.

INTER-VARIETY CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP, an interdenominational

"The lights are going out, all over the country."

Letters to the editor— 'We shall overcome— with brotherhood'

To the Editor:

Tom Preston (May 1, Daily Iowan) is very worried about civil strife. He sees the question of civil rights as being, " . . . whether the Negro should be given . . . freedom or should he extract it by force." If I understand the question properly, I do not think it is the proper question to ask.

Mr. Preston emphasizes force, civil strife, bloodshed, hate, fear, and bigotry. It should be obvious to all who study the Movement that force, bloodshed, hate, fear and bigotry are virtually monopolized by the segregationists.

The Civil Rights Movement is a movement of non-violence and brotherhood. Mr. Preston points out that a minority is foolish to employ violent tactics. Quite so. It must be made explicit, however, that the non-violence and (Christian) loving of one's enemies are not simply tactics in the Movement; they are the basic moral foundations of a new society that we hope to build from this struggle.

While we demand, we do not hate. Our symbol is clasped black and white hands. It is these clasped black and white hands which are bringing to the surface the latent civil strife which has existed in this society for so long. The cause of the dissatisfaction lies much deeper than segregated lunch counters or barbershops.

Civil strife is a factor of the movement; on our side it will be non-violent strife. If the society is so shaky and weak that it cannot withstand that strife and cannot extend the great promise of our heritage, then the fault does not lie with the Civil Rights Movement.

One of the assumptions in Mr. Preston's letter is that the Negro minority and white majority are implacably fixed and latently hostile: "There are nine white people for every Negro in the United States."

The Negro cannot afford to be irresponsible to the sensitivities of that overwhelming majority. There are many of us who do not count ourselves either part of a Negro minority or a white majority. Such a neat dichotomy is (1) artificial and (2) demeaning. We are Americans and concerned with Freedom for all Americans.

FOR 300 years the sensitivities of the Negro were trampled on (if I may use Mr. Preston's dichotomization to refute his analysis) by a senseless majority. Now evidently Mr. Preston is beginning to understand sensitivities (I am using Mr. Preston here as a symbol for the white majority) — a d beginning to worry about his own. If he did not view himself as a white (as I suppose he is), but as an American, his sensitivities would not now be in danger. They would have long ago been offended.

Mr. Preston seems to imply that the Negro should be "given" his freedom, since his question is couched in either-or terms, and he thoughtfully repudiates one of the alternatives.

The question now is, by whom? when? where? More importantly, one must ask if it is possible to be given freedom. If I am dependent upon someone to give me freedom, I will be at his mercy if he decides to withdraw his gracious gift.

"WHEREIN DOES the answer lie?" asks Mr. Preston (with the somewhat imperial suggestion that SARE — Friends of SNCC members are not to attempt an answer).

Forsyth, Mr. Preston. It might be suggested that there is no answer — no single answer, that is. But there will be answers. These answers will be on personal, local, regional and national levels. On the personal level, every individual must face his own moral self and make his commitment one way or the other.

THE ANSWERS will also have to be found in local, regional and national governmental decisions, business decisions, religious decisions and social decisions. The stimuli for these decisions will vary from time to time, place to place and situation to situation. In some cases, Freedom Rides will work; in others they will not. It is precisely because we are fighting the battle for fundamental American liberties and dignity that WE SHALL OVERCOME.

Mike Kenney, President,
SARE — Friends of SNCC

Play by play accounts at 35,000 feet up

By ART BUCHWALD

AT 35,000 FEET — The airlines have a new public relations gimmick. Just as you get bedded down in your seat for a cross-country flight and start to snooze, a voice comes over the loud-speaker, "This is your captain speaking. We are flying at an altitude of 35,000 feet and on our left is the city of Palm Springs."

You peer out the window and all you see is a mass of clouds.

"Of course you can't see it so good at the moment," he says, "but it's a wonderful town."

You doze off again to be suddenly awakened by the friendly voice, "We have just passed into Arizona," the pilot says.

YOU START applauding until the other passengers stare you down.

All is well until 15 minutes later when the voice is back again. "We will soon pass over the Grand Canyon, which will appear off your right wing. The weather should be clear."

Several passengers take out their cameras and one of them asks if we wouldn't mind moving so he could get a picture. We move over to the left side of the plane.

"Before arriving over the Grand Canyon," the voice says again, "I would suggest you look out the left side of the plane at the glorious mountain range."

THE PASSENGERS with their cameras rush back to the left side windows and we're asked to move again.

"Now coming up ahead is the Grand Canyon."

The camera-toting passengers reverse themselves and they're back on the right side.

Rocky's contribution to GOP moderation

By RALPH MCGILL

WASHINGTON — Gov. Nelson Rockefeller may be described as discouraged but determined. He has nothing to lose. But he believes, as do many other persons, that the Republican party and the country have a very great deal to lose if the GOP machinery falls into the hands of extremists.

These extremists, such as the Birch Society and others related to it, represent only a small percentage of the nation's population. They are, as the governor several times has said, solidly behind Sen. Barry Goldwater. The senator has not in any sense repudiated them.

If Goldwater wins the California primary the party machinery of that state will not at all be in the hands of the Arizona Redeemer, but in possession of the extreme right wing. Certainly the nation's philosophy is not that of persons who denounce President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles (among others) as Communists or Communist stooges. These persons see in Sen. Goldwater more of an opportunity to gain control of the party in California than to nominate him for the Presidency.

THIS, THE governor believes, would be the beginning of serious trouble for the two-party system. Countries where there are a multiplicity of parties have always had trouble from extremist or right-wing groups. To date the American two-party system has been the nation's stabilizer, guaranteeing a course of progress and moderation.

An increasing number of persons in the Republican party share Gov. Rockefeller's apprehension. The California primary could produce a result that would make the GOP a party of such clamorous dissension as to make the Democrats seem as quiet as a Quaker meeting.

He has done the party a service by making a fight of it. The results have been damaging to both him and the senator. Ambassador Lodge, of Viet Nam, has benefited most of all.

Former Vice President Nixon

Just as everyone is in position, the friendly voice says, "We may be hitting a little turbulence. I would suggest everyone fasten their seat belts."

The passengers reverse themselves again and return to their seats.

"WOULD YOU mind taking a picture for me?" one of the passengers asks.

We hold his camera against the window and press the button.

"Did you get it?"

"How the hell do I know?" we say honestly.

WORD REACHES the pilot that we will soon be passing over Oklahoma City and he just can't keep it to himself.

When the pilot isn't informing us about geography, he's telling us what the weather is like in Chicago. He also fills us in on his latest engine change, explaining why the motors will sound different. 25 minutes later he informs us they have hurricane warnings over Florida but, since we're not going there, we have nothing to worry about.

For 45 minutes we hear nothing and we start to worry. We call over the stewardess and ask her, "Is there anything wrong with the pilot?"

"We've just passed over Lima, Ohio," he announces triumphantly.

We breathe a sigh of relief.

We guess it's a good idea to keep everyone informed on how the pilots are flying the plane, but we can't help wishing for the good old days when they were busy up front with the stewardesses and left the passengers alone.

Let's Get Cleanin' Almost Made It!

Like many SUIowans who will play host to their mothers this weekend, Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity brothers Friday decided it was time to whip their rooms in shape. The photo at left gives an indication that the cleanup was needed. Dave Bennett, A1, Cedar Rapids and Rick Davis, A2, Fort Dodge, had just finished—almost—cleaning their room when their housemother, Mrs. Helen Clark, dropped in on an inspection tour of the house.

Lady Astor Described as Still Dangerously Ill, Weaker

LONDON (AP) — Virginia-born Nancy Lady Astor, first woman ever to sit in the House of Commons, remained dangerously ill Friday night and was getting weaker.

Lady Astor, 84, is staying with her daughter, Lady Ancestor, at Grimsthorpe Castle in Lincolnshire. She moved there from her London home several weeks ago.

Viscount Astor, her eldest son, said at Cliveden, his Buckinghamshire home, that her illness was not a sudden development.

"The Face of SUI" is the title of an exhibit of photographs now on exhibit in the Main Lobby of the University Library for the Mother's Day weekend.

The photographs are the courtesy of the University Archives and have appeared before in the Art Building.

Buildings, faculty and students of SUI in the years 1850-1900 are all pictured.

There are pictures of the old hospital lab showing a rather barren room with test tubes on one wall and a sink on the other. Another shows the Pentacrest in 1895. The site of the present Union was at that time occupied by an old shack and a barn. The 1890 Senior Day Celebration photo shows coeds decked out with long white skirts and parasols.

There is one photo of the 1860 SUI faculty showing them with beards like those seen now at MECCA time.

Current Legislature Undisciplined

"Governor Hughes is the best governor Iowa has had in a century," Robert J. Burns, Democratic candidate for the nomination of state senator, said Thursday night.

Burns added that although Hughes has run on a solid program of progressive intentions, Hughes has been "thwarted constantly by this Iowa Legislature. This Legislature has generally acted like a spoiled brat finally running into a little discipline.

THE DISCIPLINE has been indicated by the peoples' vote on the Governor, the Shaft Plan, the liquor bill and finally the Federal Court's decision on reapportionment," Burns said.

Burns attacked Senator Nolan's "compulsion to go back to the early 1900's. On progressive bills in Governor Hughes' program, he (Nolan) has only voted with the Governor 13 per cent of the time," he said.

"OCCASIONALLY, for relaxation, I enjoy reading of pioneer times in Iowa, talking to the old timers and hearing them reminisce about the early days of Iowa," Burns said. "But I have no desire to go back to those times and I promise if I become a legislator, I will attempt to look ahead for the solutions to our problems rather than try to take everything back about fifty years to solve them."

Burns said he thought Nolan didn't like concrete highways any better than asphalt. "He really wants to go back to dirt roads," Burns said.

Schmidhauser Hits Schwengel Policy On Farm Problem

A candidate for Democratic nomination for First District Congressman raked incumbent Fred Schwengel's "inflexible commitment to the Ezra Taft Benson agriculture program."

Speaking to the Johnson County Young Democrats Thursday night, John Schmidhauser said President Johnson and Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman offered a constructive program for the solution of the beef price crisis, in sharp contrast to Schwengel's policy.

Schmidhauser pointed out Johnson's attempts to increase the Defense Department's purchase of beef, the decrease in beef imports and the program to stimulate beef consumption in depressed economic areas as evidence of the Administration's steps to relieve the problem.

Features Early Music—

Collegium Group Plans 2 Concerts

A program of Early American music, featuring material collected in Iowa, will be presented in Iowa City and Mount Vernon by the Collegium Musicum, an SUI ensemble specializing in early and unusual music.

Included in the concerts will be two hymns from an Iowa collection of rare early church music, a part song and three fiddle tunes from an Iowan's manuscript music book of 1820, an Amish folk song, a folk song from the Edwin Ford Piper Iowa collection and a Franceschini sonata edited by Patricia Bruning, Iowa City.

THE IOWA CITY concert will be held Friday at 8 p.m. in Macbride Auditorium. On May 15 at 8 p.m. the concert will be repeated at King Chapel, Cornell College, Mount Vernon.

In conjunction with the concert, J. D. Hartzler of Wellman has made available to the Collegium Musicum many rare books from his collection of early American church music. Included in the collection are "Creation" and "Collection," two compositions by William Billings which will be sung in the concert.

THE HARTZLER collection will be on display in Iowa City during the first two weeks in May at the State Historical Society, the SUI Music Library and the Iowa City Public Library.

A part song and three fiddle tunes which appear on the program are taken from a book of manuscript music begun in 1820 by James Gray, a native of Stratford-on-Avon, England, who came to Iowa in 1840. Gray's great-granddaughter, Mrs. Edith Gray Pierce, made "James Gray His Book 1820" available to the Collegium Musicum.

A FOLK SONG, "Father Grumble," which will be sung by Paul

Kelso, G. Iowa City, was taken from the Piper Collection of Folklore, assembled by Prof. Edwin Ford Piper, a former member of SUI's English Department. The manuscript is part of the special collections of the SUI Library.

The Collegium Musicum includes about 35 members, most of whom are students in the Department of Music. Among the unusual historical instruments employed by the group are a harpsichord, a baroque trumpet and a zink — a combination woodwind and brass instrument. Director of the Collegium Musicum is Prof. E. Eugene Heim of the Music Department.

Student Charged With Stealing Safe

Alan J. Foster, A3, Fort Dodge, was charged late Thursday night with the theft of a safe from the Prairie School at Gowrie, near Fort Dodge, Iowa City detectives said Friday.

Detectives said the safe was taken early Thursday morning. State Bureau of Investigation agents notified local detectives to arrest Foster after a citizen reported to Fort Dodge authorities that he had seen Foster's car at the school about 2 a.m. Thursday.

He was questioned in Iowa City until 11 p.m. Thursday, and then admitted the robbery, police said. Detectives said the $120 taken from the safe was recovered.

Coach Miller To Speak At CR Athletic Dinner

SUI's new head basketball coach, Ralph Miller, will speak at the annual Cedar Rapids Athletic banquet Wednesday at the Memorial Coliseum.

Miller and general manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs Baseball Club William O. Dewitt are featured speakers at the banquet which will honor teams and outstanding athletes from Jefferson, LaSalle, Regis and Washington High Schools.

Star-spangled savings plan

Most of us think about the future in terms of paying off the mortgage, educating the children, providing a retirement income.

But with the world the way it is today, it's almost impossible to make plans for your own future without considering the future of your country, too.

When you buy U. S. Savings Bonds, your money takes on both jobs. It grows to build your financial strength.

At the same time, it helps Uncle Sam watch over our peace and security.

Why not give your savings dollars this double assignment? You'll be joining millions of American families who are investing in their country's future — and you'll probably feel pretty good about it.

It's easy to buy Savings Bonds on the Payroll Plan where you work. A $50 Bond costs $37.50, a $25 Bond $18.75, and you can buy them in installments for only a few dollars a pay day. Or buy them outright at any bank. No charge for the service.

Buy Series E Bonds for growth, Series H for current income.

- Some nice things about Series E Bonds
- You get 3 1/2% more money when they mature
 - You can defer the tax on accumulated interest until the Bonds are cashed
 - You can get your money when you need it
 - Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed, or stolen

Keep freedom in your future with U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

Hery, Gailis Honored—

Gymnasts Named All-Americans

HERY GAILIS

Iowa's Glenn Gailis and George Hery were named to the second and third 1964 All-American gymnastic teams, announced Friday by the National Association of College Gymnastics Coaches.

Gailis was named to the second team for his performance on the still rings, and Hery placed on the third team in the trampoline. The two Hawkeyes led Iowa's gymnasts to an undefeated dual meet season and second place in the Big Ten. They completed the season in the U.S. Gymnastics Federation national championships where Gailis won the still rings crown and Hery the long horse competition.

Hawks Lose Series Opener To Minnesota

The Minnesota Gophers took advantage of Bob Gebhard's first inning control trouble, scoring three runs on five walks and a muffed pick-off play, and went on to defeat the Iowa Hawkeyes, 9-2, Friday afternoon at Minneapolis.

The Hawks will face the Gophers in a doubleheader today, hoping to win both games and keep their hopes alive for a high finish in the Big Ten. Jim McAndrew will not pitch in either game, and may be out for the season. Schultz will probably start Ron Stroup in the first game and either Steve Green or Bob Schauenberg in the second.

MINNESOTA second baseman Duane Markus opened the disastrous first inning Friday by walking. Gebhard then got Dave Hoffman to ground out before walking Bill Davis. One out later the Iowa hurler walked the third man of the inning, Alan Druskin, to load the bases. Jim Freese then tried to pick Druskin off first base and the ball got away from Duke Lee, allowing two runs to score. After two more walks, Druskin scored on a wild pitch.

In the second inning, the Gophers scored two more runs on a walk, a double by Dave Hoffman, a sacrifice fly, and a single by Ron Wojcik.

THE IOWA HITTERS pounded out 11 hits, but lacked the punch to push the runners across the plate. They left six men stranded on base and three times had threats erased by hitting into double plays.

The Hawks' only scoring of the day came in the second inning. With one out Duke Lee hit a single and Jim Freese lined a double off the fence in right-center field. Lee then scored when Jay Petersen grounded out to second base, and Freese scored on Jim Koehn's single.

Jim Koehn broke out of his slump to lead the Hawk hitting with three singles in four times at bat. Lee, Freese and Bob Sherman contributed two hits each.

IOWA PITCHER. Table with columns IP, H, R, ER, SO for individual pitchers and totals.

Completing the first team were Russ Mills, Yale, side horse; Gary Erwin, Michigan, trampoline; Sid Oglesby, Syracuse, vaulting; and Chris Evans, Arizona State, rings. Miller and Erwin are repeaters from last year.

Today's Tilt Ends Drills for Hawks

The 1964 Hawkeye football team, with the two-platoon system its newest feature, makes its debut in an intrasquad game at 1:30 p.m. today in the stadium. The game, which concludes 20 sessions of spring drills, is open to the public at no charge.

Iowa Coach Jerry Burns will put his No. 1 offensive team and his No. 1 defensive unit on the same squad, the Black team, with selected players filling out that squad against another squad led by the No. 2 offensive and defensive units, the White team.

BURNS SAID the first offensive unit, particularly because of the inexperience at the quarterback position, would find it difficult to move the ball against the top defensive crew and the crowd comes to watch the team move the ball.

Today's quarterbacking duties will be handled by three freshmen who will probably see little action next fall. Dave Bonior of East Detroit, Mich., will command the Black squad and Steve Welter and John Cox will head the White.

GARY SNOOK, last season's No. 1 quarterback, is not expected to play today because of a knee injury which has kept him out of contact drills for two weeks. Fred Riddle, the No. 2 signal-caller, has been excused from practice to concentrate on his studies and Mickey Moses, last fall's No. 3 man, is playing baseball. Dave Dirx, top freshman prospect, is out with a knee injury and Rick Hendryx, the only other man who has had practical experience at quarterback, has been switched to linebacker.

Today's starting lineup on offense will probably be: Captain Tony Giacobazzi and Dave Long at ends; Leo Miller and Bob Ziolkowski at tackles; John Niland and Carl Harris or Skip Carle at guards and Dave Recher at center.

Bonior will be at quarterback with Gary Simpson and Karlin Ryan halfbacks and Karl Noonan at flanker.

THE TOP defensive unit is: Bill Briggs and Lou Williams at ends, Phil Deutsch and Bob Mitchell at

Undeclared Coach, Author Says Defense Holds Key

"The success of an offense depends upon the ability of the personnel playing, and the familiarity of the defense with the offense," Dave Nelson, head football coach at the University of Delaware, said Friday.

Nelson was the featured speaker at the annual Iowa Football Clinic in the Field House, which was attended by about 350 high school and college coaches.

THE DELAWARE coach, who is co-author with Iowa Athletic Director Forest Evashevski of "Scoring Power with the Winged-T Offense," told the coaches, "Defense is the most important single phase of football," at the morning session, and then spoke on "Up-Dating the Winged-T" in the afternoon.

"As a team sees the same type of offense seven or eight games a season, it is able to defend it well," Nelson said. "In the last 20 years, most of the advances in football have been made in defense. Offense since the war has been primarily what was before with just a few innovations."

"IN 1951, most teams were running a floating-belly series-option type of football. By chance and by luck, at Delaware we started to run a counter offense from the winged-T. The teams we played were used to seeing the floating-belly series-option offense in their other games each year, so we caught them by surprise," the winged-T expert explained.

"In 1956-57, many teams started to use the counter offense, and the defense was forced to adjust. The winged-T started to struggle during the early 1960's, especially during the 1960-61 season," Nelson continued. "The Tennessee or Wide Tackle Six started to come back and bolster the defense."

THE CLINIC continues today. Joe McNeill of Mt. Ayr will speak on "Overall Program and Organization at Mt. Ayr," followed by Bob Evans of Mt. Pleasant, "Pro Bob Evans of Mt. Pleasant."

NELSON, WHO has been at Delaware for 17 years, said, "We did nothing to change our offense last year when we had our best football team." (Delaware finished 8-0 last season and was voted the small-college champion by United Press International.) "We have used the same four basic plays which we used the last two or three years — two counter plays, a belly action and wide action. We feel

Hill Rise Is Favorite Derby Horse

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Hill Rise, 6-5 favorite to take the measure of 11 other 3-year-olds in Saturday's $125,000-added Kentucky Derby, returned to the kindergarten Friday as the principals in America's most famous horse race completed their training chores.

The long-striding son of Hillary, winner of eight straight races for George A. Pope Jr.'s El Peco Ranch of California, was sent to the starting gate with the hopes it would help cure a little nervousness which jockey Willie Shoemaker noticed in last Thursday's Derby Trial. Hill Rise won the Trial by 2 1/2 lengths in the eye-lifting time of 1:35 1/5 for one mile.

With Finnegan watching nearby, the Derby favorite was ridden into the gate and let stand there for several minutes before breezing three-eighths of a mile in 38 seconds.

The field is scheduled to leave the starting gate Saturday at 4:30 p.m. CDT. Nationwide television is scheduled for 4-5 p.m., CDT, and radio for 4:15-5 p.m., CDT both by CBS.

The Derby Day forecast was partly cloudy and cool with a high of around 70 degrees.

Confidence continued to ooze from Horatio Luro, trainer of the Canadian-owned Northern Dancer, which remained the firm 5-2 second choice after winning his last five races.

Iowa's scheduled dual track meet with Wisconsin became a triangular meet with the late entry of the Minnesota Gophers Friday. The contest will be at 1:30 p.m. on the Iowa track.

The Gophers were scheduled to meet Northwestern at Evanston today, but heavy rains made the track unusable and Minnesota asked Iowa Coach Francis Cretzmeyer for permission to enter the Hawkeye meet.

Wisconsin is a strong favorite in the meet, and Badger runners threaten several meet records. Wisconsin's marks in the Drake Relays last weekend indicate that seven or more records may fall.

Some of the potential record breakers from Wisconsin are Brian Bergeman and Dave Seiberlich who have pole vaulted 14-9 and 14-7 respectively. Barney Peterson who has run the 800 in 1:52.5, Don Hendrickson, who has thrown the shot 55-3 1/2 and the discus 156-3, Gene Dix, 14 in the high hurdles and Mike Mantley, 9:14.6 in the two mile event and 4:12.6 in the mile. The Wisconsin mile relay team has covered the distance in 3:11.2.

Iowa's top performers should be Steve Goldston in the 100 and 200-yard dashes, Gary Hollingsworth in the 440, Dennis Kohl, sprinter, Scott Rucker in the 660, Al Randolph in the hurdles and Larry Kramer in the mile and two-mile.

A 440-yard showdown between Hollingsworth and Wisconsin's Elzie Higginbottom, may not materialize due to the Badger star's leg injury.

Iowa Manpower To Be Subject Of SUI Institute

What is the Manpower Problem and how does it affect Iowa? What can be done in the local community to prepare students to compete in the labor market? What about high school dropouts — can they be helped?

These questions and many others concerning this key area of Iowa's future will be discussed by Iowa business, labor, education, government and agriculture leaders at a Manpower Development Institute, May 15-16, in the Hotel Kirkwood, Des Moines.

CO-SPONSORED by SUI's College of Business Administration and the Joint Council on Economic Education, the institute is being held to acquaint Iowans with the manpower problem, its implications to Iowa, and the resources that are available for use in the local schools to improve curriculums, vocational education and guidance programs.

U.S. Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, announcing the pilot institute, said: "This program is undertaken with the Joint Council on Economic Education to work with the educational community to re-evaluate school programs to changing manpower needs."

"THE PARTICIPANTS will explore means of developing a better understanding of current and future occupational requirements and their implications for needed adjustments in the educational development and guidance of our youth."

Iowa Institute Coordinator Lewis Wagner, director of SUI's Bureau of Business and Economic Research, stated that while Iowa is not experiencing the drastic unemployment of high school dropout problems as in other parts of the country, the national trends still hold true for this state.

GOP Support In Texas Seen For Goldwater

DALLAS (AP)—Texas Republicans are expected to confirm at the ballot box today their leaders' support of Sen. Barry Goldwater for the presidential nomination.

The poll is a nationally significant highlight of the state's big political day when both major parties nominate for local and state offices.

The GOP presidential poll is not binding on delegates to the nominating convention. It is not even advisory to the 56 delegates who will be selected at a state convention June 16.

The poll was designed frankly to emphasize the state GOP's overwhelming support of the conservative senator from Arizona and perhaps influence delegates and voters in other states.

Frederick Rolfe Subject of Talk By Donald Weeks

Donald Weeks, art director for "Friends" magazine, will speak on books about and by Frederick William Rolfe, Baron Corvo, at 8 p.m. Friday in Shambaugh Auditorium. Rolfe, or Frederick Baron Corvo as he styled himself for a period, is "known not so much for what he wrote as for what he was," Clarence A. Andrews, Rolfe enthusiast and instructor in English, said recently.

"Although Corvo's works now enjoy a renewal of interest, if it had not been for the man's exciting personality he probably would have been forgotten altogether," Andrews said.

Weeks, a "biophilic sleuth by avocation" is one of the foremost experts on the Baron, who lived from 1860 to 1913. Andrews explained. Weeks has a top collection of Rolfe's manuscripts and first editions.

Frederick Rolfe Subject of Talk By Donald Weeks

Donald Weeks, art director for "Friends" magazine, will speak on books about and by Frederick William Rolfe, Baron Corvo, at 8 p.m. Friday in Shambaugh Auditorium. Rolfe, or Frederick Baron Corvo as he styled himself for a period, is "known not so much for what he wrote as for what he was," Clarence A. Andrews, Rolfe enthusiast and instructor in English, said recently.

"Although Corvo's works now enjoy a renewal of interest, if it had not been for the man's exciting personality he probably would have been forgotten altogether," Andrews said.

Weeks, a "biophilic sleuth by avocation" is one of the foremost experts on the Baron, who lived from 1860 to 1913. Andrews explained. Weeks has a top collection of Rolfe's manuscripts and first editions.

Rights Amendment Vote Expected Wednesday

First Action Since Senate Got Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate was told Friday it could expect next Wednesday to start voting its way out of a thickening tangle of proposed jury trial amendments to the civil rights bill.

About the only thing clear was a fairly firm date for voting on which amendment will be up first. It would be the first vote on an amendment since the Senate battle over the House-passed bill began 45 days ago.

There was no binding agreement for a Wednesday vote, but plans for a start then were announced by Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, (D-Mont.), and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Their word was firm up by Sen. Richard B. Russell, (D-Ga.), leader of the Southern foes of the bill. He agreed that barring some unforeseen development the senators could "look forward to expressing themselves on some aspects" of the jury trial issue on Wednesday.

But Russell said additional jury trial amendments might be offered before then.

And he had hardly finished speaking before Sen. Thurston B. Morton, (R-Ky.), submitted one.

Morton's amendment would limit the application of a proposed amendment by Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, (D-Ga.), to criminal contempt of court cases arising out of the bill's injunctive provisions. Talmadge proposed guaranteeing jury trials in all criminal contempt cases.

Morton called up his amendment and it was made the pending business. It displaced a proposal by Dirksen and Mansfield to guarantee jury trials in contempt cases arising out of the civil rights bill where the penalty might exceed 30 days in jail or a $300 fine.

The Mansfield-Dirksen substitute for Talmadge's amendment had displaced his proposal as the order of business several days ago.

The Senate agreed to have a roll call on Morton's amendment, assuring it will be the first of the jury trial proposals to be voted on.

But whether it is accepted or rejected, other "perfecting amendments" to Talmadge's amendment can be called up afterward and voted on before the Senate votes on the leadership's proposed substitute.

One of these could be the one offered Thursday night by Sen. John Sherman Cooper, (R-Ky.), exempting from the Talmadge amendment state and local officials, but allowing a court at its discretion to grant them a jury trial. Talmadge's amendment would provide jury trials in all criminal contempt cases except those committed in court.

No One Hurt as 2 Cars Collide Here
Marie Dohrer, 29, of 621 Keokuk Ct., was charged with failure to stop at a stop sign after her car was involved in an accident about 9:30 a.m. Friday, Iowa City Police said.

Officials said the Dohrer car collided with an auto driven by Ray Thornberry, 51, of 115 Montrose Ave., at the intersection of Benton Street and Maiden Lane.

Police said damage to the Dohrer car was about $50. The Thornberry car was damaged to the extent of about $500 they added.

Reported Missing, Sen. Long Found Safe
MANCHESTER (AP) — State Sen. Irving D. Long was reported missing and in good condition at his home late Friday, after he was reported missing earlier in the day.

The Iowa Highway Patrol located the 69-year-old Republican about noon, driving his own car a few miles from his home.

Long was reported missing after he failed to return home from a card party at the Manchester Country Club Thursday night.

His wife, Ella Mae, said she didn't know where the senator had been.

Udall Lauds Bikes' Use, Wants More Paths
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall suggested Friday there should be bicycle paths to offset what he called "the tyranny of the automobile."

Udall and Dr. Paul Dudley White, the heart specialist who is chairman of American Bike Month, spoke at the benefits of bicycling at a breakfast attended by some 60 members of Congress.

Relating that he has long been a bike-rider, Udall said it is "an unflattering commentary on the American way of life" that bicycling is unsafe after about 7 a.m.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Indonesian and Yugoslav delegations met in Belgrade for talks on the development of economic relations between the two countries. Last year trade between them totaled $96 million.

For Economic Reasons—

Iowan To Resign From LBJ Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — The coming resignation of another top presidential adviser was reported Friday, as a House committee drafted its recommendations for a federal pay raise bill to stem the exodus.

Edward A. McDermott, director of the Office of Emergency Planning, was disclosed to be planning his return to private law practice in Dubuque, because, associates said, he "just can't afford to stay in Washington."

It seemed obvious that McDermott, along with Chairman Walter W. Heller of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, was among those on President Johnson's mind when he told a news conference two weeks ago:

"I have on my desk today a number of resignations from some of the very best men in Government who tell me that they just cannot stay any longer . . . at their present salaries."

Johnson later revealed that Heller, father of the $11.5-billion tax reduction program, intends to leave for personal financial reasons. The top economist is on leave from the University of Minnesota. He has not filed a formal resignation and will remain, the White House said, until after the November election.

There were unofficial reports at the Treasury that Undersecretary Robert V. Roosa also is seriously considering resigning because of financial stress. He came in 1960 from the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

Roosa, in charge of monetary affairs, manages the national debt. The other undersecretary of the treasury, Henry H. Fowler, resigned a few weeks ago to resume his Washington law practice.

The President has seized every recent speechmaking opportunity to urge enactment of the bill raising salaries of upper echelon Government officials by as much as one-third.

MOST OF the federal posts in question pay $20,000 to $25,000. The legislation approved Thursday by the House Post Office Committee would raise cabinet officers from $25,000 to $32,500 a year and sub-cabinet officials from $22,500 to $30,000.

Church OKs Integration

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Calm acceptance of church decrees has marked the spread of parochial school desegregation in Southern dioceses of the Roman Catholic Church.

"Our schools are set up for Catholic students whether they be white, black or purple," said Father J. A. Schumacher, chancellor of the Dallas-Fort Worth diocese in Texas.

That Texas diocese integrated its schools in 1952. Elsewhere, Catholic school integration has either closely preceded or followed the 1954 Supreme Court ruling against public school segregation.

An Associated Press survey shows that 10 years after the Supreme Court ruling — which did not apply to church schools — that parochial schools have been integrated or are under orders to integrate in all Southern dioceses except those covering Mississippi and part of Louisiana.

In Alabama and most of South Carolina, parochial schools are to begin integration next fall. In both states public school integration has begun.

Public school integration also influenced Catholic prelates in ordering integration in Tennessee, Louisiana and Georgia.

California Doesn't Solve All People's Problems: Meade
Sidney E. Meade, visiting professor of religion from Claremont, Calif., pointed out in a speech to the Iowa City Rotary Club Thursday that California does not necessarily fulfill the dreams of a new life held by the 20,000 to 25,000 who move there each month.

He said that many of these people go there with little or no resources and they believe it to be a place to begin again and blot out past complexities. Many achieve this goal but others find only bafflement, disappointment and frustration.

Meade said that he believes people go to California with hopes of finding a simple life and wanting to blame something for their frustrations and loss of dreams. They hope to find, in California, a solution for their problems.

City Tax Rate Relatively Low, Survey Indicates

A study by the Iowa taxpayers association has shown that Iowa City property owners have one of the smallest tax rates of all Iowa cities with populations of more than 10,000.

The wide variances in assessment rates throughout the state was also pointed out by the study. However, the State Tax Commission, being aware of these wide differences, has established a rate of 27 per cent actual value to go into effect January 1, 1965. At present, Iowa City assessments are 18.7 per cent actual value.

The study also compiled tax data for 128 Iowa cities with populations of more than 2,000 including Coralville and West Liberty. The rates in these two towns were found to be slightly lower than Iowa City's.
