

ity Tax Rate
Relatively Low,
Survey Indicates

A study by the Iowa taxpayers association has shown that Iowa property owners have one of the smallest tax rates of all Iowa cities with populations of more than 10,000.

The wide variances in assessment rates throughout the state was also pointed out by the study. However, the State Tax Commission, being aware of these wide differences, has established a rate of 27 per cent actual value to go into effect January 1, 1965. At present, Iowa city assessments are 18.7 per cent actual value.

The study also compiled tax data for 128 Iowa cities with populations of more than 2,000 including Coralville and West Liberty. The rates in these two towns were found to be slightly lower than Iowa City's.

'Johnson' vs. Wallace Today in Primary

Governor Campaigns Against Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Voters in six states and the District of Columbia cast ballots Tuesday on subjects ranging a presidential preference to a right-to-work law.

Most of the attention is on Indiana where Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace is challenging a stand-in for President Johnson with a vigorous campaign against the Administration's Civil Rights Bill.

Also drawing attention are some sharply contested Senate nomination races in Ohio and Oklahoma, a scramble for Florida's Democratic gubernatorial nomination and the issue of unpledged Presidential electors in Alabama.

There are no contests of national significance in the New Mexico and District of Columbia primaries.

IN ALL, nominations will be made for two gubernatorial, four Senate and 83 House seats. Voters will choose delegates to cast 67 Republican and 153 Democratic votes at the parties' national nominating conventions.

Gov. Matthew E. Welsh of Indiana, supporting President Johnson, figures to win that state's Democratic Presidential primary. But the question is: How large a share of the votes will Wallace get with his campaign against the civil rights bill now before the Senate?

Unknown is how many opponents of a state sales tax backed by Welsh will vote for Wallace in an attempt to embarrass the Indiana governor.

Wallace captured 25 per cent of the total vote and 33 per cent of the Democratic vote in the Wisconsin Presidential primary four weeks ago. Many Wisconsin Republicans voted in the Democratic primary. Indiana Republicans can do the same.

HOWEVER, a known Republican voting in the Democratic primary can be challenged and required to sign an affidavit pledging November support to the party. Democrats say they'll make challenges.

State Republican leaders urged GOP voters to stay in their own backyard where a bid by Sen. Barry Goldwater for the preference vote has been overshadowed by the Welsh-Wallace battle.

If, as expected, Goldwater beats and as an opponent of the Civil Rights Bill for which Taft voted in the House.

Young, 75 Monday, is up against the man who isn't there. Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. entered the Democratic primary fight in his political debut, then withdrew when a head injury was slow in healing. But his name is still on the ballot.

Another political neophyte, Bud Wilkinson, gets his baptism of fire in the Oklahoma Republican Senate primary. The former University of Oklahoma football coach and athletic director has opposition from former State Chairman Forrest Beall and Thomas J. Harris, strong backer of a right-to-work proposal which also is on the ballot. Wilkinson has declined to take a stand on the right-to-work amendment.

WILKINSON'S political plunge shares attention with the Democratic Senate race in Oklahoma. Sen. J. Howard Edmondson, appointed to fill the vacancy of the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr, has stiff opposition from state Sen. Fred Harris and former Gov. Raymond Gary.

Alabama Democrats will decide whether a slate of 10 Presidential electors pledged to the party's national nominee or an unpledged slate will be on the November general election ballot. Wallace is backing an unpledged slate.

Report Two Decapitations—
Britain Makes Subversion Charge Against UAR, Yemen

LONDON (AP) — The United States has been asked by Britain to investigate the report that the heads of two slain British soldiers were displayed in Taiz, the diplomatic capital of Yemen. The decapitation charge was denied by Yemen Monday.

Britain accused Yemen and the United Arab Republic of fomenting violent subversion in the South Arabian Federation.

Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home leveled the subversion charge in the House of Commons, telling Parliament Britain had asked the United States to investigate reports that the heads of the two dead soldiers had been displayed publicly in Taiz.

BUT YEMEN'S information minister Ahmed Almarwani denied the reports that two British soldiers killed in a clash with Yemeni rebels had been decapitated.

In a statement over San'a radio, Almarwani called the reports a "British lie... perhaps concealing behind it a secret British aggression plan against our republic." He warned the British against "such folly."

Douglas-Home had told Commons Britain would fight back, and pull troops out of West Germany if necessary to build up force in the Middle East.

Signaling another bitter crisis in British-Arab relations, Sir Alec told of a new and undeclared war amid the crags and mountains crisscrossing the Dhala country, 60 miles north of Aden and overlooking Yemen.

It was there that two British soldiers died in a battle for the

Twisters Rip Through Iowa

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornadoes lashed at northeast Iowa Monday night, injuring a woman, destroying at least one home and damaging farm buildings.

A twister hit just northwest of Monticello, injuring a woman listed as Emma Arnold as it destroyed her home. Hospital officials said extent of her injuries was not immediately determined. Buildings were damaged on several farms.

At Hopkinton in east Delaware County a tornado did heavy damage to the Lux Brothers Leghorn Farms, a hatchery.

One witness said hail and rain fell, and then the twister approached with a roar "like a lumber wagon."

Newspaper editor Bill Hart said he stood in the street and watched the funnel dip from a darkened sky at 7:15 p.m.

An Observation on Downtown Living—
The 'INNER CORE:' A STUDY of FILTH, BUGS

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the first in the series of stories surveying the student housing situation in the downtown area of Iowa City. Daily Iowan reporters have visited apartments, talked with landlords, students and University and city officials to obtain their information. The second story of the series will appear Wednesday.

By ERIC ZOEGLER
News Editor

Cockroaches. Gathering filth. Dead, motionless air. All of these are noted in numerous tenement buildings in Iowa City's "inner core" area.

SUIowans living in tenements, flats and apartments within this area pour close to $2 million in rental payments a year to landlords, some of whom fail to keep these dwellings at minimum health and safety standards. Violations of the state housing laws included in the Code of Iowa are numerous and vary from dwelling to dwelling in the "inner core."

Some of these rundown tenements contain apartments with no windows.

Others have unkempt garbage areas that breed roaches and similar crawling pests.

Rats and mice hiding in kitchens have been reported.

These are the impressions of a reporter who spent two full days touring Iowa City's "inner core" — an area an estimated 1,500 SUIowans call "home" each academic year.

THIS AREA — filled with aging unkempt tenements which are leased for high rents — is bounded by Madison Avenue on the west; Harrison Street on the south; Gilbert Street on the east; and Bloomington on the north.

Other Daily Iowan newsmen have investigated and found housing code violations in areas outside the "inner core," but in lesser numbers than the area surveyed in this article.

Talk with the students who say they are "forced" to live in this sub-standard housing.

Some will tell you of conditions where 12 persons must share a common bathroom.

Others report room temperature so cold in the winter, they are forced to leave their apartment in order to study.

And still others will tell of storm windows remaining in use through Iowa City's hot summers or of window screens which are never removed.

WHEN YOU visit court yards behind these rundown tenements you are likely to find garbage cans overflowing and trash scattered so that the bare ground is not visible.

In some cases wooden fire escapes, rotting and broken from years of exposure to the elements, provide students with the nearest form of escape from fire.

Many tenements in the "inner core" have no fire extinguishers as prescribed by law. If extinguishers exist, students in many cases have not been instructed in how to use them.

STUDENTS interviewed were glad to show off their "homes"

Nolan Against Limiting SUI In Politics

Hatch Act Proposed To Restrict Employees Of SUI from Acting

State Sen. D. C. Nolan (R-Iowa City), stated his opposition Monday, to the proposal made by Rep. Lenabelle Bock (R-Garner), that Iowa restrict individuals from engaging in politics if employed by tax supported institutions.

Mrs. Bock thus entered the Evashevski-Flora-Nolan controversy to point out that many state employees are barred from political activities.

Iowa state agencies such as the Welfare Board, which receive federal funds, are limited by the Hatch Act which forbids political activity by federal employees.

Nolan said he opposed Mrs. Bock's suggestion because many people "associated with the University and other state departments have made many valuable contributions to our local, state, and Federal Governments through their activities in both major political parties."

Nolan also said that it is "only when their (employees) political activities go to the point of interfering with their public duties that anyone should question, not their right, but the advisability of their political actions." He added that this "same rule applies to an individual associated with a private firm."

Nolan had questioned the advisability of Forest Evashevski, athletic director, and Bob Flora, administrative assistant to the athletic director, of being in the "arena of partisan politics at the same time and on the same side." Nolan had also said that it could result in "damage" to SUI, in a statement made last month (April 23).

Evashevski and Flora had no comment to make about Mrs. Bock's suggestion.

Mrs. Bock said that those on the payroll of the Board of Control, the State Social Welfare Board, State Health Department, Employment Security Commission, Conservation Commission, Liquor Commission, postal employees, and several others are banned from participating in politics.

Federal employees are given a handbook which expressly forbids them from becoming candidates for political office or promoting any candidate. They are also prohibited from marching in a political parade, using their cars to take voters to the polls, and expressing an opinion in regard to any candidate.

In 1959 the Iowa Legislature refused to let county assessors engage in political activity.

Mrs. Bock said that in her opinion it is "practically impossible for an individual to disassociate himself from his employment when he works for his party."

She added that "anyone employed or associated with a tax-supported institution is in a precarious position when he takes an active part in politics. If this were not true," she said, "Congress would not have passed the Hatch Act."

Paul F. Conrad Drew Cartoons for Iowan

Paul F. Conrad, a 1950 SUI graduate, won the Pulitzer Prize for editorial cartooning Monday for "his distinguished work during the entire year, rather than for anyone cartoon."

Conrad, a Cedar Rapids native, transferred from Iowa State University to SUI and graduated with a B.A. in art. During his junior year at SUI, Conrad's cartoons were first published in The Daily Iowan.

Until his graduation, he published as many as six cartoons a week in the Iowan, which he once considered "important" to his early experience and "ability to compile a portfolio of published cartoons for presentation to metropolitan newspapers for employment upon graduation."

Noted for packing an editorial wallop in his cartoons, Conrad won the national Sigma Delta Chi journalism award for the best editorial cartoon of the year in April, 1963.

THREE of the 1964 Pulitzer prizes in journalism were awarded Monday for newspaper attacks on fraud and corruption.

The St. Petersburg Fla. Times received the Pulitzer Gold Medal for public service for a year-long campaign to uncover reckless spending of public funds in the Florida State Turnpike Authority.

Norman C. Miller of the Wall Street Journal won the general prize for local reporting for his story of a multimillion-dollar fraud in vegetable oils.

The award for special local reporting went to reporters Albert V. Gaudiosi and James V. Magee and photographer Frederick A. Meyer of the Philadelphia Bulletin, for their expose of a numbers racket and police collusion in South Philadelphia.

ADDITIONALLY, Mrs. Hazel Brannon Smith of the weekly Lexington Miss. Advertiser, won the prize for editorial writing for the "whole volume of her work during the year, including attacks on corruption."

The 1964 Pulitzer Prize for international reporting was won jointly by two American correspondents in Viet Nam — Malcolm W. Browne of The Associated Press, and Davis Halberstam of The New York Times. They will share the $1,000 prize.

The Times has won 29 prizes

Supreme Court Rules—
Schools Need Not Support Integration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused Monday to upset a ruling that school boundaries need not be revamped to force integration when they are honestly drawn with no intention to segregate the races.

While only the Gary, Ind., school system is directly involved, the court's action may have a broad impact on other cities where compliance with integration demands could force many pupils to be transported by bus across town.

The court's refusal to hear the Gary case does not necessarily mean it agrees with the lower court's decision.

The question could return to the tribunal on other appeals and the justices might decide then to hear arguments and lay down their own views.

The court refused also to review a decision that Negro pupils are entitled to have their entire school system on a non-racial basis, including assignment of teachers, principals, supervisors and supporting personnel.

The Duval County School Board in Florida had contended that the court's 1954 and 1955 integration rulings dealt solely with admission of children to schools on a non-racial basis and not to school employees.

The two orders — one a setback for school integration forces, the other a victory — came almost 10 years after the court handed down its historic ruling that public schools must be racially integrated.

That decision was announced May 17, 1954.

The Gary decision let stand a ruling by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago which held last Oct. 31 that the city had consistently followed a policy of requiring students to attend schools in their own districts, regardless of race.

Attorneys for Negro children argued that more than 97 per cent of the city's 23,000 Negro pupils attend schools separate and apart from almost the entire white school population.

"The issue is not, as the court stated below, whether the Constitution tolerated a school board's acquiescence in the operation of a school system which is segregated in fact, merely because it did not intentionally or overtly create it," their appeal said.

The Circuit Court noted that there was testimony that the integration plan would require at least 6,000 pupils to be transported to school daily, presumably by bus, and that it would cost $20 daily to operate each bus.

The Negroes' appeal said segregated education is not confined to the South.

Takes Date For Flight; Plane Crashes

FAIRFIELD (AP) — The Federal Aviation Agency opened an investigation into the crash of a light plane early Monday while a student pilot was taking his date on an unauthorized ride.

The craft, groping for a landing in poor weather, missed the runway, struck a tree and then smashed into one of many cars attracted to the airstrip by the low flying plane.

Injured were Kent Davidson, 23, a student pilot with about 30 hours' flying time; Janice Richardson, 21, his passenger; and Donald Dorothy, 21, who was sitting in the car.

Davidson, who suffered only cuts and bruises, said he decided to take Miss Richardson up for a spin after they attended a drive-in movie Sunday night.

As a student pilot, he is authorized to fly solo only. He faces possible revocation of his license for carrying a passenger.

The plane encountered severe thunderstorms, and some icing, Davidson said. He made several low passes at the airstrip in an effort to land.

Members of the Jefferson County Flying Club, police officers and townspeople converged on the airport in cars, and turned on their headlights to help guide the Piper Tri-Pacer to a landing.

Five U.S. Seamen Die in Mine Field

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five young Navy seamen were killed Saturday night when they walked into a mine field protecting the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba, it was announced Monday.

The Navy said the seamen, who were on liberty from their ship, may have become lost in the darkness.

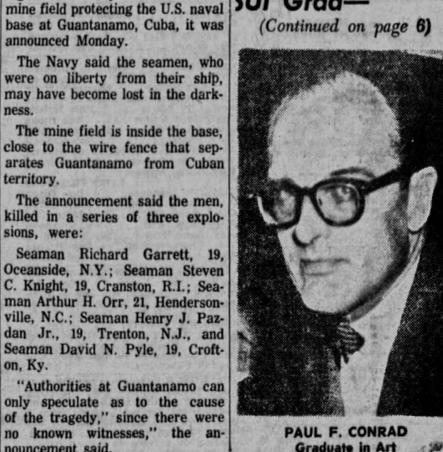

The mine field is inside the base, close to the wire fence that separates Guantanamo from Cuban territory.

The announcement said the men, killed in a series of three explosions, were:

Seaman Richard Garrett, 19, Oceanside, N.Y.; Seaman Steven C. Knight, 19, Cranston, R.I.; Seaman Arthur H. Orr, 21, Hendersonville, N.C.; Seaman Henry J. Padden Jr., 19, Trenton, N.J., and Seaman David N. Pyle, 19, Crofton, Ky.

"Authorities at Guantanamo can only speculate as to the cause of the tragedy," since there were no known witnesses," the announcement said.

Magazine Story—

Tell Plot To Kill R. Kennedy

A national magazine has revealed new details of an alleged plot by a Teamster Union official to assassinate Attorney General Robert Kennedy.

In a copyrighted article in the current issue of Look Magazine, Clark Mollenhoff of the magazine's Washington Bureau gave this account of events in September, 1962, when the assassination plot was first reported to the Justice Department.

Edward Grady Partin, a Baton Rouge, La., Teamster official, was visiting International Teamster headquarters in Washington when he was called into a Teamster office. Partin swore he was asked about obtaining plastic explosives to be used in the assassination of the Attorney General.

"SOMETHING has to be done about that little s.o.b., Bobby Kennedy," Partin quoted a Teamster official as saying.

"He'll be an easy target, always driving around Washington in that convertible with that big black dog. All we need is some plastic explosives tossed in with him, and that will finish him off."

Partin, the Look account continued, said he was told that consideration was also being given to using the plastic explosives on the Kennedy home at McLean, Va.

ROBERT KENNEDY Assassin's Target?

Partin said he assumed he was approached because those involved in the assassination plot believed he was in so much trouble over a Federal criminal indictment that he would find the plan acceptable.

HE EXPLAINED that some of the top Teamsters also knew he was a gun fancier, with a private gun collection, and might have convenient access to sources for explosives.

Partin said he was asked to help in obtaining the plastic explosives far enough away from Washington so they could not be traced back later to those who would use them.

In explaining why Partin disclosed the plot to the Justice Department, the magazine declared that he experienced "revulsion" about killing Kennedy and at the thought that a plastic bomb in the Kennedy home would also endanger the Kennedy children.

IN ADDITION, Partin said he

Seymour Gray O.K. Following 70-Foot Fall

Seymour J. Gray Jr., A3, Des Moines, is in fairly good condition in Cedar Rapids' St. Luke's hospital after falling 70 feet in a cliff climbing accident Sunday.

Gray and a small group of friends were on an outing in the Palisades Kepler state park near Mount Vernon when the accident occurred.

According to the other members of the climbing party, Gray had just reached the top of a steep cliff when he screamed and disappeared from view. The others had already reached the top of the cliff.

The climbers descended the cliff and an unidentified girl ran to the house of Douglas Franta, assistant park custodian.

Franta and the girl then went to the residence of Donald Cole, park custodian, who organized the rescue party.

The rescue was made in Cole's boat because the steep cliff made rescue "impossible by any other means."

Cole said that they found Gray lying on a narrow, rocky bank between the bottom of the cliff and a river. Dr. Robert Sautter, Mount Vernon, who had joined the rescue party, examined Gray there and then had him transferred to the boat. Gray was conscious enough to aid the rescuers get him into the boat, Cole said.

Gray was transferred to an ambulance which took him to Cedar Rapids when the boat reached the shore.

Dr. Sautter said Gray's most serious injury was contusions of the chest. He said it was unusual in a fall from such a great height that the injuries were not more serious.

But he explained that Gray remembered hitting a tree or bush as he fell, and that must have broken his fall.

Dr. Sautter said Gray's condition was "good as of Monday morning and if no complications arise he should be released by the end of the week."

After the Fall

Dr. Robert Sautter (right) of Mount Vernon examines Seymour Gray, A3, who fell 70 feet from a cliff at Palisades Kepler State Park Sunday. Gray and a group of friends were climbing when he fell down the cliff. He is reported to be in good condition at St. Luke's Hospital, Cedar Rapids.

String Quartet Plans Concert

Audiences at SUI will have their last opportunity of the season to hear the Iowa String Quartet Wednesday.

The quartet, made up of members of the SUI music faculty, will present a concert at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Macbride Auditorium. No tickets will be required. Included in the program will be: "Three Fantasias" by Henry Purcell; "Quartet No. 4" by Bartok; and "Quartet in A Minor, Opus 51, No. 2" by Brahms.

The same program will be presented Saturday at the Des Moines Art Center.

After the Des Moines concert the Iowa String Quartet will become inactive until fall, with two of its members — violinist Charles Treger and cellist Joel Krosnick — leaving the SUI campus for the summer.

Violinist William Preucil noted that Wednesday's program is part of a series of concerts which will give Iowa City audiences the chance to hear in a single season, four out of the six string quartets written by Bela Bartok.

The Iowa string quartet, in addition to scheduling Bartok's fourth quartet for Wednesday, played the first quartet at their last concert. In a Friends of Music concert in February, Bartok's sixth quartet was performed by the Hungarian Quartet. And on May 22, the SUI Graduate String Quartet will include Bartok's fifth quartet in their recital program.

The members of the Iowa String Quartet are: violinist Charles Treger and John Ferrell, violinist William Preucil and cellist Joel Krosnick.

Television Film Produced at SUI Set for Showing

A television film illustrating the devotion of the chorale, or congregational hymn, and how it enriched church music, will be shown on WMT-TV, Cedar Rapids, May 17 from noon to 12:30 p.m.

The film, produced by the Television-Radio-Film Center and the School of Religion, will feature selections sung by the Cedar Rapids Cantata Ensemble and instrumental Ensemble directed by Mrs. Harold Duerksen, 2820 Eastwood Dr.

Harold Duerksen, assistant to the director of the School of Religion, is the narrator. The director was John Kuiper, acting director of the Television-Radio-Film Center. Selections include: "A Mighty Fortress is Our God," "Veni Creator Spiritus," "Come Holy Ghost," "Christ is Stranded," "Christ Lay in Death's Strong Bands," "Inisbruch, I Now Must Leave You," "O World, I Now Must Leave You," "Upon the Cross Extended," and Johann Pachelbel's cantata based on "What God Ordains is Always Good."

NEW FREQUENCY—DES MOINES — State Executive Council authorized the Iowa Highway Patrol Monday to spend $708 on new equipment to take advantage of newly created radio frequencies allotted by the Federal Communications Commission for state police use.

Science Organization Will Initiate 187

Sigma Xi, national organization for scientific research, will initiate 187 students, faculty members and alumni to full or associate membership Wednesday at 7 p.m. in 225 Chemistry-Botany Building.

The society will initiate 19 full members and 26 associate members to full membership. Members are named to the society for demonstrated promise and ability in various fields of science.

At 8 p.m., Dr. Max E. Britton, Office of Naval Research botanist will speak on "Research in the Arctic Mediterranean."

Graduate students, faculty and staff members to be initiated include:

- Basic Medical Sciences — Bernard A. Becker, Larry G. Hart, Robert E. Henshaw, John P. Kalas, Riyad H. Khalaf, Robert E. Larson, Noel O. Owers, Leslie C. Scarborough Jr., and Robert L. Smalley.

Welfare Group Will Meet Today

The Iowa Welfare Association for the southeast district of Iowa will hold its annual spring conference today at the University Athletic Club.

A panel symposium, luncheon and business meeting have been planned for the conference, which is open to the public.

At 9 a.m. there will be a registration and coffee session. The cost will be $2.75 per person and will include a luncheon and coffee.

The welcoming address will be delivered by Iowa City councilman William Hubbard at 10 a.m.

Dr. Harold Eastman, of the Department of Sociology at Parsons College, will then speak on "Objective and Subjective Poverty."

Following Eastman's speech there will be a business meeting and an election of chapter officers. The luncheon will be held at noon.

A panel symposium, on "Poverty and How It Affects a Community," will begin at 1:30 p.m.

A SUI professor has been awarded a $20,400 research grant by the National Science Foundation to conduct a study of the synthesis of a series of inorganic polymeric compounds.

John R. Doyle, associate professor of chemistry, will direct the research titled, "Substituted Borazine Compounds."

Objective of the basic research project will be to synthesize a series of inorganic polymeric compounds, containing principally the elements boron, nitrogen and phosphorus. A polymeric compound is one composed of the same chemical elements in the same proportions by weight, but differing in molecular weight.

The first step will involve a synthesis of a series of substituted borazine derivatives. The reactivity of the resulting compounds will be studied by carrying out a series of coupling reactions with water, alcohol and polyhydroxy compounds. In addition, he will examine the reactivity of the derivatives with phosphonitrilic halides.

The SUI professor stated that the structures of any new compounds will be studied by chemical techniques and by x-ray diffraction procedures if they prove adaptable to such methods.

Assisting Professor Doyle in the research project are Clark L. Fields, G. Brea, Calif.; Ronald K. Roubah, G. Omaha; and Robert K. Larson, A4, Mediapolis. Robert L. Seiver, A1, Aledo, Ill., will receive an appointment to assist with the project this summer.

At End of Spring Drills— Running Game Needs Improvement

By HARRIETT HINDMAN
Sports Editor

Defensive ends and the running game remain Iowa's top problems after completion of 20 sessions of spring football practice, Iowa Coach Jerry Burns said Monday. Practice ended with the Black team (the No. 1 offensive and defensive units) defeating the White, 42-7, in an intrasquad game Saturday.

"I think that, because we concentrated on two pattern football and worked extensively with a great percentage of the squad, we arrived at a very true evaluation of our squad for next fall," Burns said. "Our coaching staff will finalize these evaluations in the next two weeks. In general, I was pleased with the enthusiasm, attitude and morale of the squad throughout the practice period.

"One of our problems prior to practice was developing and finding pass receivers," Burns commented. "We feel that Karl Noon-another 66-yard effort from Dave Bonior. Giacobazzi, the 1964 captain and returning regular, also caught one of Bonior's passes for a touchdown.

"CONCERNING OUR RUNNING game, I think that again our evaluation was very thorough and we settled on Gary Simpson, Dalton Kimble, Tom Knutson and Karl Ryan," Burns continued. "We think that they improved and with continued improvement and maturity will provide our running attack with enough strength to supplement our passing game."

Kimble, a freshman from Flint, Mich., made the longest play of the day Saturday, cutting off right tackle and running 82 yards for a touchdown. He was the leading ground gainer for the contest, with 137 yards on 9 carries for a 15.2 yard average.

"KIMBLE HAS GOOD speed. If he can improve his balance and blocking, he will give Simpson competition for the first string halfback spot next fall," Burns said.

Simpson, a sophomore from Newton, scored for the Black on a one-yard plunge Saturday, and kicked all of the Black's conversions.

Knutson, freshman fullback from Cedar Rapids, "improved very rapidly during the final week of practice," according to Burns. Knutson scored the Black's first touchdown on a four-yard run off left tackle.

"I'd say we're defensively ahead of any team I've had since becoming head coach at Iowa," Burns said. "This is primarily from a technical standpoint. We still feel that our defensive ends need improvement and Dave Long may very possibly move to defensive end. Our linebackers, although inexperienced, worked hard and showed improvement throughout the spring."

LONG HAS BEEN playing first string offensive end since he earned a starting spot as a sophomore last fall. Dan Hilsabeck, Del Gehrke, Rich Hendryx, Don Elbert and Joe Ueman played at the linebacker spots for the Black Saturday, taking the place of graduated All-Americans Mike Reilly and Wally Hilgenberg.

"We still aren't certain about our defensive backs," Burns said. "Al Randolph will help greatly at that spot. Our defensive coaches are looking for an additional man to fill out the quartet of Randolph, Ivory McDowell and Larry McDowell."

CONCERNING Saturday's contest, Burns said, "It is very hard to evaluate the scrimmage because the personnel was stacked so heavily. In addition, we didn't have our top two quarterbacks although I thought Steve Welter and Bonior did a fine job under the circumstances. We played everyone who was dressed, which might explain some of the ragged play toward the end of the scrimmage." Fred Riddle, the No. 2 quarterback at the end of the 1963 season, was excused from spring practice to concentrate on his studies and Snook, the No. 1 signal-caller, saw only limited action Saturday. He has been out with a knee injury, as has Dave Dirx, a top prospect.

BONIOR quarterbacked the Black team most of the game, and Welter, a freshman from Iowa City, headed the White team.

The Black team scored its first touchdown late in the first quarter, and scored twice in the second to take a 21-0 halftime lead. After stretching to a 42-0 lead, the White team scored with three seconds remaining on a nine yard pass from Welter to Larry Schreiber.

Men that Coach Burns felt deserved mention because of improved play during the spring were: ends O'Hara, Giacobazzi and Wilder; tackle Phil Deutsch; guard John Niland; halfback Knutson; defensive centers Steve Hodway and Dick Somodi; end Lou Williams; backs Ivory and Larry McDowell.

There is another challenge ahead which must be met by our Justice Larson said. "Mob rule never worked in the past and will not work in the future. On the other hand, we have rejected one strong-man rule, even though that is the most efficient form of Government."

"THERE HAS never been a better form of Government than the one where the individual must be respected and protected. Let us not hasten to upset the delicate balance between the individual and the Government, between the rights and obligations each."

Errors, Walks Give Gophers Double Win over Hawkeyes

Although Iowa's pitchers gave up only one earned run in two games Saturday, the Minnesota Gophers swept the double-header by capitalizing on 14 walks and five Hawkeye errors, downing the Hawks, 4-0 and 2-0, at Minneapolis.

Minnesota pitchers Joe Pollack and Dick Mielke allowed Iowa only three hits all afternoon. Pollack tossed a one-hitter in the first game and Mielke completed the afternoon with a two-hitter. Although the Hawks hit both pitchers solidly, they couldn't get the hits to drop in. All three Hawk hits were singles. Jim Koehn had one in the sixth inning of the opener and Bob Sherman and Duke Lee connected in the nightcap.

RON STROUP started the first game for the Hawks but left the only earned run of the day. The closest Iowa came to scoring in the last game was in the first inning when Dick Perkins led off with a walk and advanced to second on Sherman's infield out. Mielke then got Jim Koehn to line out to first base and caught

Burns Receives Plaque

Iowa Football Coach Jerry Burns was presented with a plaque from the 1963 seniors at halftime of the intrasquad game Saturday.

The plaque, presented by co-captain Wally Hilgenberg, read: "To Jerry Burns, in appreciation of all the hard work and time that you have given us. We consider you not only a great coach, but a great friend."

an, Cliff Wilder, Tony Giacobazzi, Rich O'Hara and Curt Vandevalle all show promise of helping our passing attack."

BURNS CITED NOONAN as "one of the most improved players throughout spring practice, who, with continued work, will give us a definite threat at the flanker position."

In Saturday's scrimmage, the sophomore from Davenport caught two touchdown passes, one eight-yard aerial from Gary Snook and Arden Stokstad and Tom Benson were the only Hawkeyes to win against Wisconsin. Stokstad won his singles match, 6-0, 6-4, then teamed with Benson to win in doubles, 6-4, 8-6.

Miller Promises Interesting Basketball Season in 1964

By DON KLADSTRUP
Staff Writer

"When you go out on the floor, there's only one successful thing to do and that's to win," Ralph Miller, SU's new basketball coach, said Saturday as he described what he and many others hope will be the Iowa basketball team's policy next year.

Miller spoke to about 300 people in the North Gym at the Field House at SU's first Coaches' Smoker. He and other coaches spoke on the present athletic situation at SU.

Miller, who succeeded Sharn Scheurman as basketball coach this winter, promised "a very interesting ball club to watch" next year. "We don't believe in losing," he said, "but I'm not saying we'll win all 24 games either."

Miller said Iowa would play a control type of game next year, the type of game that provided 12 winning seasons for the University of Wichita during the 13 years he coached there.

"WE'LL EMPLOY a full court press throughout the game," he said. "The court is 70 feet long and might just as well be used. Our offense will be quick-hitting unless we're way ahead, in which case we'll stall and let the opponent come to us."

The smoker followed the intrasquad football game which marked the end of spring football practice. Coach Jerry Burns said he was pleased with the progress the team had made despite the poor spring weather this year.

"OUR MORALE more than matched the spring weather," he said. "The boys gave all they possibly could and this is why you saw what you did out there today," he said, referring to the game staged by the team just before the smoker.

"You may read throughout the summer where we're ticketed for the lower standings in the Big Ten race, but as I told the men (the team), if they can come back next fall with the same enthusiasm, we'll surprise a lot of people."

"I think you're going to see a finer brand of football next fall," Burns said, referring to the new platform system which will be employed.

HE SAID Iowa will be primarily a passing team but added that efforts would be made to strengthen the running attack. "Perhaps all this rain was a blessing in disguise since it obviously made us work harder on the running attack," he said.

Also speaking were Director of Athletics Forest Evashevski and Gymnastics Coach Dick Holzappel. Several gymnasts gave demonstrations at the beginning of the smoker.

Expediency Called Enemy Of Law by Justice Larson

By MIKE BOLLMAN
The political heritage of our own rights as citizens in relation to those of our Government is our nation's finest possession, Justice Robert L. Larson of the Iowa Supreme Court said Friday in an address at the SUI Law School's annual celebration of Law Day U.S.A. Speaking before the faculty and student body, the former chief justice and attorney general of Iowa said that observance of the law "is the key to the preservation of individual liberty."

Warning the aspiring lawyers to be on guard against expediency, Justice Larson said, expediency—the doing or not doing a task when it would displease those who have personal interests that in opposition to the public benefit—is a major problem today.

"The underworld lives by the rule of expediency," delinquent juveniles abide by it, and weak individuals do not defy it.

"Expediency is the rule of animals, not men, and its influences have been fought by the forces of law and order all through the centuries. You must continue this fight."

"There is another challenge ahead which must be met by you," Justice Larson said. "Mob rule never worked in the past and it will not work in the future. On the other hand, we have rejected a one strong-man rule, even though that is the most efficient form of Government."

"THERE HAS never been a better form of Government than we have—one where the individual must be respected and protected. Let us not hasten to upset the delicate balance between the individual and the Government, between the rights and obligations of each."

"And remember, unless these matters are documented by justly enacted laws, well respected and maintained, our heritage may be lost forever. You must not permit this to happen."

Justice Larson said that Blackstone, the world's greatest legal authority, was correct when he observed that "Law is the embodiment of the moral sentiment of the people."

THE PROBLEM, he said, is that the moral sentiment of the people is not always visible and not enough care is exercised in discovering it.

In a warning, Justice Larson observed that false assertions often are accepted from those with loud voices who address captive audiences.

"This places on newspapers, radio, and TV stations, and even ministers, a very heavy duty to use care not to mislead as to what is the public sentiment or to unfairly seek to form it."

SUlowans Win Awards For Papers

Two SUlowans have won awards for papers presented at the Annual Conference of Industrial Engineering, Midwest Area's student chapters, at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind.

William Hemmingsen, E3, Missouri Valley, was named second place winner and received $25 for his paper on, "The Physiological Effects of Acceleration."

James D. Thoreson, G, Iowa City, won $10 for third place with a paper on "The Design of Rotary Lawn Mowers."

Eight papers, selected in preliminary judging for the institute-wide contest, were presented. The best three received cash prizes.

SUI Grad Begins Peace Corps Work

Michael E. Taft, a 1963 graduate of SUI in Political Science, began a two year assignment as a Peace Corps volunteer April 30.

He will be stationed in Thailand.

Taft and 34 other volunteers will join the Peace Corps forces already at work in Thailand in rural community action, health, and education.

This group of volunteers trained for 12 weeks at the University of Hawaii where they received concentrated instruction in the Thai language, culture, and history. They also received a review of American history, world affairs, and health education.

Local Woman Wins State Poetry Prize

Mrs. Max Oppenheimer Jr., 415 Terrace Road, received the award for the best poem by an Iowa Poetry Association member in the association's state wide poetry contest. Her poem will appear in "Lyrical Iowa," the annual anthology of the Iowa Poetry Association.

Mrs. Mary H. Leksa, 1029 Kirkwood Ave., was awarded honorable mention in the adult competition in which 1,886 poems were submitted.

Mrs. Vivian Buchan, 1820 Rochester Ct., won a second place award in the adult nature division of the contest.

In the grade school division of the contest, Mark Stellinga, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Stellinga, 2802 Eastwood Dr., was given a number one rating for his poem. All winners were notified April 18.

All award winning poems will appear in "Lyrical Iowa," which can be purchased from Ruth DeLong Peterson in New London, Iowa, for $1.50.

Coffee Organized For Scott Swisher

A coffee for Scott Swisher, Democratic candidate for state senator from Johnson County, will be held this morning at 9:30 at the home of Mrs. H. Kenneth Cline, 1036 Woodlawn.

Serving as co-hostesses will be Mrs. Charles Kelly, Mrs. E. C. Whiting, Mrs. Philip Cline, Mrs. Dorothy Clark, Mrs. A. J. Glazier, Mrs. Frank Whinery and Mrs. James Quinn.

Safety Plan Urged For Boat Week

Harold Smith, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Johnson County Sheriff, urged Coast Guard Auxiliary members to plan to promote National Safe Boating week scheduled for the first week in July.

Speaking at their meeting Sunday afternoon, Smith stressed that one of the greatest safety factors is knowing how to swim, and he referred to the fact that swim classes in Iowa City are not now filled.

President Johnson set the date for National Safe Boating Week, which is set aside annually to focus attention on the promotion of water safety.

Smith urged the auxiliary to promote safety checks for pleasure boat owners and conduct classes in water safety.

City Officials Admit 'No Housing Code Here' 'Inner Core'

and what they're offered for $50 to $120 a month in the "inner core."

You see bathrooms with no ventilation and window frames that are rotting, often unable to hold screens or storm windows.

Several kitchenettes have no direct exhaust or ventilation and are smaller than the 70 square feet required by state law.

The reporter observed cracked walls made of cheap, thin plaster-board which would not meet requirements of being "fire-resistant" as outlined in the housing laws.

In corridors and halls of some buildings, these walls have been shattered so that the wooden studs show.

In other cases, paint is chipping off the walls.

You could take your finger along the sidings in halls and find it blackened with dirt.

STUDENTS EXPLAIN they are forced to live under such sub-standard conditions for two reasons:

- The housing is the best they can find close to the main SUI campus. Most of those interviewed said they do not own automobiles.
- The City Council has been unwilling to issue a policy statement to enforce existing housing laws. Informed and interested students also realize that these laws usually do not pertain to the building in which they live. Many are looking to the Council to enact a new housing code for Iowa City.

Expanding on the first reason, students interviewed said the "proximity" of the campus is the determining factor in their renting sub-standard housing or nearly the same price as better housing farther out of the "inner core."

MANY STUDENTS report it has taken nearly eight months of prodding landlords to make even marginal improvements in their dwellings. Many students simply are ignored.

Students were proud to show improvements made on their own, including painting jobs and additional lighting.

At the same time, they pointed out cases of broken furniture and poor construction of their individual apartment units.

Most of those interviewed said their landlords are reluctant to make improvements, or agree to make needed improvements and then "forget."

Others related they had not seen their landlord or landlady for more than two months.

Most of these students realize why they receive little attention from their landlords. As one student — who asked to remain unidentified — put it:

"Unless the City applies some pressure to get adequate housing laws than can and will be enforced, we (students) will continue to suffer."

CITY OFFICIALS have admitted the policy of non-enforcement of the state housing laws will remain unless the City Council issues a policy statement that would bring stricter enforcement.

"For all practical purposes, there is no city housing code," City Manager Leikvold has said.

Most of the tenement buildings in Iowa City's "inner core" were built prior to the 1920s before the state housing and building codes became applicable to Iowa City.

Dwellings constructed after 1930 are expected to conform with the state housing codes.

But most of the students interviewed said they would like to see a housing code adopted that would pertain to the older buildings in the "inner core."

"That's the least the city could do for us students so we can get at least minimum standards for the high rents we have to pay."

WEDNESDAY: A detailed tour of the "inner core."

Huxley Lecture Will Close Season For Lecture Series

"The Humanist Revolution" will be the subject of Sir Julian Huxley, noted scientist-philosopher, in the closing program of the 1963-64 Lecture Series at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Main Lounge of the Union.

Free tickets for the lecture will be available to the public at the Union's East Lobby Desk.

The English biologist is a grand nephew of Matthew Arnold, noted 19th century poet and critic, and a brother of the late Aldous Huxley, English novelist and critic.

Sir Julian will close a coast-to-coast lecture tour of the United States with his SUI appearance.

In addition to writing or editing more than 40 books and scientific articles and appearing on radio and television programs, Huxley has served as director general of UNESCO.

MARCUS BREAKS—MARCUS

MARCUS — Sheriff Carl Schlee was investigating two break-ins at Marcus Monday. He said he believed both jobs were done by the same persons.

The burglars obtained $200 in currency and coins at the Marcus Oil Co., but got nothing at the Farmers Elevator Co.

In both cases entrance was gained through a side window, and dials were knocked of safes.

24 Coeds Initiated Into New Sorority

Twenty-four SUI coeds have been initiated into the SUI chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta social sorority.

JFK Library Drive Begins

A nationwide drive to raise signatures and funds for a special student-given memorial within the proposed John Fitzgerald Kennedy Library, incorporated in Boston began in Iowa Monday and will continue through Sunday, by the Iowa Student Committee.

The week in Iowa has been named, "Kennedy Library Week for Collegians." Students, faculty, and staff at all Iowa colleges and Universities are urged to support the drive.

The Iowa Student Committee is coordinating the drive for the entire state and is composed of: Chuck Pelton, L2, Clinton, chairman of the committee; Jerry Evans, A3, Sioux City, treasurer; Paula Kaplan, A3, Sioux City, state publicity director; Bill Rosebrook, A2, Ames, regional director; A: Jim Watson, A2, Fairfield, regional director B; Al Touch, A4, Springfield, Ill., regional director C; George Mayer, A3, Fairfield, coordinator; Nancy Laughlin, A2, Freeport, Ill.; and Sharon Cortimiglia, A2, Coralville, secretaries.

Frank Patton, A3, Wilmette, Ill., is directing the campaign at SUI.

The National Student Committee has invited every American college to help collect 750,000 signatures and to raise $250,000 for a special student-given room.

The suggested amount for donation is $1.

SUI has an individual college participating book, as does each university in Iowa. People unable to donate are urged to sign this book.

Tentative plans for the student-given room include housing signa-

Merriman Smith, White House correspondent for United Press International, was awarded the prize for national reporting for his coverage last Nov. 22 of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas.

ROBERT H. JACKSON of the Dallas Times Herald won the photography prize for his picture of Jack Ruby shooting Lee Harvey Oswald, Kennedy's accused assassin.

A special Pulitzer citation was made this year to the Gannett Newspapers, for "The Road to Integration," a program of success stories of people and communities that are solving racial problems.

AWARDS in the field of letters were:

History — Sumner Chilton Powell for his "Puritan Village: The Formation of a New England Town."

Biography — Walter Jackson Bate for his biography of "John Keats." He is chairman of the English department at Harvard University.

General nonfiction — Richard Hofstadter, professor of American history at Columbia University, for his "Anti-Intellectualism in American Life."

City Passes 125 Year Mark

The 125th anniversary of the establishment of Iowa City was observed Monday.

The geographical entity known as Iowa City came into being on May 4, 1839, when a post or slab of wood was placed in the vicinity of Old Capitol designating Iowa City as the seat of Iowa Government.

A prophecy by Lt. Albert Lea, the author of a book which gave Iowa its name, had said the state's government seat would be located near the Iowa River. The government seat had been ordered by the territorial legislature to be at the "most eligible point within the present limits of Johnson County."

Iowa City remained the capitol of the state until 1837. The constitutional compromise of that year designated Des Moines as the capitol and Iowa City as the site of the State University.

Rites Here for Prof. Dill, 85

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at Beckman's Funeral Home for Homer R. Dill, 85, a former SUI faculty member who died Monday in a San Diego, Calif. hospital following a week's illness.

The Rev. Robert Holzhammer of Trinity Episcopal Church will officiate.

Professor Dill was curator of the Main State Museum before coming to SUI in 1906. He served as an assistant professor of zoology until 1908 when he became director of the vertebrate museum until 1927. At that time he was appointed head of the University Museum until his retirement in 1950.

Professor Dill originated college courses in taxidermy and museum work; conducted biological explorations in the Hawaiian Islands, Canada, Mexico and many parts of the United States; and designed and executed the cyclorama museum exhibit of Laysan Island for the University Museum. He also published a number of articles relating to museum work and birds.

He was a member of the American Association of Museums and the Iowa Academy of Science, and belonged to the Episcopal Church, and the Rotary and Triangle clubs.

He left Iowa City in 1960.

Survivors include two sons, Homer Jr., with whom he lived in San Diego, and Herbert of Minneapolis, Minn.

Admissions Office Gets New Number

A revised telephone system has been placed in operation in the Office of Admissions and Registrar. The new and enlarged system, which went into effect Monday, has been made necessary because of the increasing volume of incoming calls.
