Readily Burns!!

'Inner Core' Called Fire Hazard

By JULIE NELSON
Asst. City Editor
(Fifth of a Series)

There are at least 12 persons in Iowa City who every day expose themselves to extreme fire, health and safety hazards — right in their own apartments.

Last week, Franklin J. Kilpatrick, Director of the Inspection Division of the University Health Department, and I visited six apartments, each occupied by two persons. The apartments were located above a business establishment in the heart of Iowa City — three on the second floor and three on the third.

Here's what we found. TO BEGIN with, the interiors of all of the apartments, and the corridors and stairwells, were constructed of fiber board. "This fiber board," Kilpatrick said, "burns almost as quickly as cardboard and is well below the National Fire Protective Association's construction standards."

To make matters worse, the three flights of stairs were completely unenclosed which means fire could spread quickly from the bottom to the top of the structure.

"An unenclosed stairway is one of the worst fire hazards a dwelling can have," Kilpatrick emphasized. Many persons have been killed because of such a situation, and not just from fire but from heat and fumes too.

IN ADDITION, there were transoms over the doors of each apartment, which are usually propped open by the occupants and left open. "This helps ventilation," Kilpatrick said, "and it also helps fire spread quickly from one room to another so there is no place for inhabitants to find refuge should a fire break out."

Windows opening from these apartments into the stairwell constitutes further fire hazard.

"In this situation," Kilpatrick said, "there should be at least a quarter-inch of wired glass in the window frame to provide the same type of protection that a wall would. Otherwise, in case of fire the glass just shatters and the fire goes through."

Also, pipes through the walls in these dwellings were not properly sealed, making ideal passages for vermin, fire and heat.

Only about half of the needed electrical outlets were provided, so there were many extension cords in use.

"AN EXTENSION cord should go directly to the appliance it is serving," Kilpatrick said. "Octopus attachments are very hazardous." These dwellings had octopus attachments.

In addition, there were makeshift wiring arrangements in some of the apartments, in the form of wires being spliced together and nailed to the woodwork. "The second highest cause of fire in the United States is makeshift wiring," Kilpatrick said. (Smoking and matches are the first — also quite prevalent in these apartments.)

There was considerable over-fusing in the electrical system. The circuits for the individual apartments were built to carry more than 15 to 20 amperes of current. But fuses on these circuits varied from 20 to 30 amperes. This would allow a larger amount of current to flow through the wiring — causing it to become overheated and, therefore, possibly set the building on fire.

The switchboxes for the electrical system, where electrical contacts are exposed, were combustible and were not locked, thereby constituting a fire hazard, and an electric shock hazard for people who might fiddle with them.

THE THIRD floor corridor was very dark and the light didn't work. In addition, the stairway railing was loose.

Bathrooms had no ventilation — windows or mechanical. Concerning egress routes (methods of leaving the structure), according to Kilpatrick any dwelling unit should have two unobstructed means of egress, remote from each other so in case of fire, persons can scatter in two different directions to get out of the building. And in case one exit is gutted by fire, another exit is available.

May 20 Deadline—

Anti-Red Cubans Threaten Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Increasing signs appeared Friday that anti-Communist Cubans plan commando-type raids and other attacks on Cuba at any time within the next 12 days.

Various exile leaders have pledged they will be fighting Castro's Communist dictatorship on Cuban soil before May 20, that country's independence anniversary.

Asked about this forecast, State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey restated the official U.S. opposition to hit-and-run raids.

THREE major action groups of Cuban exiles, some with active underground cells in Cuba, are reported ready to attack.

A year ago Manuel Ray, leader of one of the anti-Castro groups, pledged he would be fighting Fidel, his former chieftain, before May 20. To a secret meeting of some exile leaders in Miami this week, Ray reaffirmed the pledge.

In some U.S. cities, there were reports that numbers of young Cubans, particularly those with military backgrounds, were strangely absent. Their countrymen believe they entered training camps in recent weeks, reportedly in Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

NICARAGUA was a launching point for the exiles' disastrous Bay of Pigs invasion in April 1961, which the United States helped finance and organize. Some exiles say it failed for lack of U.S. air support at a crucial time.

Anti-Castro Cubans emphasized the operations currently planned would not in any way resemble those at the Bay of Pigs. These sources say the current strategy is to carry out numerous raids and infiltrations by small groups, some now in Cuba and others to be sent in from outside U.S. territory.

The plans call for infiltration, subversion, sabotage, establishment of guerrilla forces, commando-type hit-and-run attacks and establishment of beachheads.

Johnston strongly appealed for racial justice and rejection of extremism and "the tattered and discredited banners of the past."

FROM Atlanta, Johnson traveled by helicopter to Gainesville in northeast Georgia for the final phase of his trip.

"Full participation in our society can no longer be denied to men because of their race, religion or region," he said in Gainesville.

Recalling a visit of President Franklin D. Roosevelt to the city in 1938, Johnson said: "If Franklin Roosevelt were standing on this square today, he would say that America must go forward with compassion and justice for all — or it cannot go forward at all."

Johnson said he wanted a Government of compassion and he pledged to carry forward his war against poverty and discrimination.

"I BELIEVE Georgia will join with the entire nation to insure that every man enjoys all the rights secured to him by the Constitution," he said there.

In suburban Atlanta, the President picked up a beagle deposited on the car hood by Beth Harrison. Johnson hoisted the hound with a hand around the collar — not by the ears as he had done to his own beagles at the White House.

"They understand this down here," he said.

CORRECTION

In an article appearing in Thursday's edition of The Daily Iowan about the Iowa Law Review, the writer said, "... And those (law) faculty who are aware (of the long hours required for the editors to check out each sentence in a manuscript submitted for publication) are usually the ones writing for law reviews — they usually come to class unprepared because of the rigorous demands of their writing."

This inadvertent wording leaves the erroneous impression that law professors come to class unprepared because of the rigorous demands of their writing. The law student being interviewed actually said that editors of the Iowa Law Review often come to class unprepared because of the long hours required to edit and publish the review.

The Daily Iowan regrets making this misquotation.

Pilot Shot Before Crash

44 Killed as Pilot Cried: I've Been Shot

FBI Says Passenger Took $50,000 Policy Shortly Before Crash

CONCORD, Calif. (AP) — An FBI analysis has determined that a passenger on the airliner that crashed near here Thursday with explosive death to all 44 aboard took out an insurance policy on himself in excess of $50,000 before the flight from Reno, Nev., then shot at least one member of the crew when the plane was 40 miles short of its San Francisco destination.

Informed sources in Washington said the FBI there declined to identify the passenger except to say that the passenger was a man and was the owner of a powerful Magnum revolver found in the plane's wreckage.

THE WASHINGTON FBI study, the sources said, established that the revolver held six empty cartridges which recently had been fired.

The sources also confirmed earlier reports that a tape recording carried the pilot's voice, crying: "My God, I've been shot! I've been shot!" A scream followed the words.

The FBI in San Francisco had no comment on the case.

A mystery still unsolved was whether the gunman passenger shot only the pilot, or also the copilot and possibly others aboard the ill-fated F27 Fairchild twin-engine plane.

All aboard were torn to bits by the force of the diving crash in the rolling hills southeast of Concord.

Deputy Coroner Mal Whalin said a human bone found at the scene contained a hole which could have been inflicted by a bullet. The officer said the bone was not a skull fragment.

The voice on the tape recording apparently was that of pilot Ernest A. Clark.

The Washington sources said that co-pilot Raymond E. Andress also may have been shot.

The airliner went down shortly before 7 a.m. Thursday carrying to death persons with widely divergent backgrounds — gamblers, a family en route to a reunion with relatives, an elderly minister on his way to a college class reunion, a gospel singer.

THE FAIRCHILD turboprop plane was en route from Reno, Nev., to San Francisco. The airline and this type of plane both had remarkable safety records.

Before the deputy coroner's disclosure and the NBC report, FBI agents and deputies with hand magnets scoured the field where the crash took place, especially in the area where the pistol was found.

It was reported that one of the hammer of the Smith & Wesson revolver was missing. There was speculation that they were seeking this missing piece.

REPORTS AT THE scene Thursday said the revolver was loaded. The FBI declined, however, to say if it had been fired.

Four Killed As High Winds Lash Midwest

Winds of hurricane force battered most parts of the Midwest early Friday and late in the day new twisters were reported to be the cause of at least four deaths.

In Mount Clemens, Mich., a tornado smashed into a housing area for nearby Selfridge Air Force Base late Friday. At least 37 people were injured and hundreds of homes were damaged. At least three houses were destroyed, six lost their roofs and 20 others lost most of their roofs.

THERE WAS NO lull in the turbulent weather that has lashed Iowa this week.

Approximately 96 inch of rain was dumped on Iowa City during a thunderstorm early Friday morning. High winds left a trail of fallen wires, trees and branches in their wake.

Iowa City police received reports of falling trees along Oakland Avenue and Court Street. Another report came from a few houses along the 900 block of Iowa Avenue.

Power lines were reported down near 413 Stadium Park and Park Road near Beldon Avenue.

POLICE said most of the calls were received just after midnight.

The storm also contributed to a car-pedestrian accident about 11:15 p.m. in Tiffin. Mrs. Lesta Haman, 63, of Tiffin, was admitted to Mercy Hospital in Iowa City where she was reported to be in fair condition.

Elsewhere in the state, winds gusted up to more than 80 miles an hour. The Weather Bureau said the northern part of the state was under a tornado during the evening hours.

The vicious weather played havoc with power lines and kept the fire department in Des Moines jumping to answer fire calls.

ONE BLAZE burned down Rock Island Lines roundhouse in Des Moines.

The west and central sections of Iowa were buffeted by steady winds of 30 to 40 miles an hour with peak gusts up to 70 miles an hour. One gust of 83 miles an hour was recorded at Des Moines.

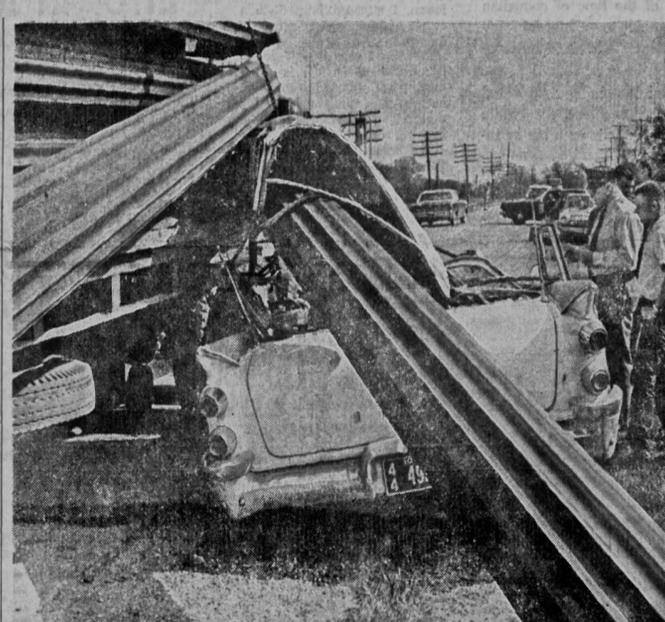

The Vietnamese were hunting Communist guerrillas.

Coupled with the attack was a Cambodian charge that Vietnamese troops, who have strict orders from Saigon to stay on their own side of the line in action against Red Viet Cong bands, staged an armored raid Thursday on the Cambodian village of Taey.

Military authorities in Phnom Penh, Cambodia's capital, said six persons were killed by the armored force at Taey, which they described as two miles inside the frontier.

SCHOOL BOARD TO MEET—The Iowa City Board of Education will meet at 7:30 next Tuesday in the Board of Education Office, 104 S. Linn St.

Issues discussed will include a survey on technical-vocational education and the use of the Recreation Commission facilities.

Rams Truck At Traffic Survey Site

A 21-year-old Mt. Pleasant mother of two was killed instantly Friday afternoon when her 1960 hardtop rammed the rear of a stopped semi-trailer truck loaded with steel pilings south of Iowa City.

The two children of Mrs. Beverly Jean Lyle — Gary, 4, and Richard, 2 — were reported in good condition at University Hospitals Friday night.

The truck, owned by Arrow Transportation of Des Moines, was waiting for a Highway Commission traffic survey being conducted on the southbound lane of Route 218 near the 4-H Fairgrounds.

ACCORDING to highway patrolmen, one vehicle had just passed through the survey and the truck driver, Larry S. Nichols of Des Moines, had put the truck into gear to move forward when the crash happened.

The truck was loaded with seventeen 40-foot steel pilings used for bridge construction. They were destined for delivery several miles south and east of the accident scene.

Highway patrolmen said the survey crew had placed warning flags north of the collision site. There was about a quarter mile of straight roadway to the north.

The Lyle car rammed into the pilings, which protruded from the back of the truck but were marked with a red flag. The impact sheared the roof off the auto. The car, which was demolished, came to rest against the right side of the truck on the shoulder of the road.

No charges have been filed.

A similar traffic accident killed an Air Force sergeant and his family of three near Wilton Junction on Interstate 80 last July 19. It also involved a Highway Commission traffic survey. The family's foreign compact car was rammed from behind by a truck when it was stopped for the traffic check.

THE TRUCK driver was charged with possession of a stimulant drug without a prescription and manslaughter. He was sentenced to a year in jail on the drug charge and eight years on the manslaughter count, but was granted a bench parole for both offenses.

Robert Henely, district construction engineer for the Highway Commission in Cedar Rapids, told The Daily Iowan Friday night that a survey crew on primary highways normally places advanced warning signs that say "slow" and "erec working" in positions so that "anyone traveling at a moderate rate of speed would see them and be able to stop."

Henely said warning signs were placed 1900 feet in advance of the survey crew at Wilton Junction. He said the Highway Commission "always takes curves and hills into consideration if they can. "But," he added, "work has to be done where the desired results can be gotten."

Cambodians Kill One Viet On Frontier

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Cambodia's troops shot up and seized a Vietnamese armored personnel carrier Friday on the frontier 40 miles northwest of Saigon. They killed one crewman and captured the rest, possibly 18 men.

Gunfire from a Cambodian tank knocked on the carrier. Both vehicles were from the United States, supplied under the U.S. military aid program, but no American personnel were involved.

The Vietnamese were hunting Communist guerrillas.

Coupled with the attack was a Cambodian charge that Vietnamese troops, who have strict orders from Saigon to stay on their own side of the line in action against Red Viet Cong bands, staged an armored raid Thursday on the Cambodian village of Taey.

Military authorities in Phnom Penh, Cambodia's capital, said six persons were killed by the armored force at Taey, which they described as two miles inside the frontier.

SCHOOL BOARD TO MEET—The Iowa City Board of Education will meet at 7:30 next Tuesday in the Board of Education Office, 104 S. Linn St.

Winds Down Trees, Wires

The strong winds which shook Iowa City Friday night caused extensive damage to telephone and power lines and to trees throughout the city.

The Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company said that it had more than 50 calls for wire damage. A full crew was called on duty, a company official reported. He said however, the repair crew could not keep up with the new reports of damage.

A tree was uprooted at the south end of Halley Street at 9 p.m. A large tree limb crashed down on East Bloomington Street in the 600 block. Another tree was blown down on Court Street.

Iowa City police received reports of broken windows which were blamed on high winds. One tree limb fell on three cars in the 1000 block of Washington Street. There was no report on the damage to the cars.

A chance to laugh at nigger jokes

"I WANT TO HAVE the right to dislike you," actor Kirk Douglas once told him, "because you're Dick Gregory. Not because you're a Negro."

That sort of nondiscrimination-in-reverse is typical of the off-beat, on-the-beam humor Gregory, who will give a benefit performance in Macbride Auditorium Tuesday, has made famous.

Gregory is the only nationally known performer who's been able to make Negroes and whites alike laugh at a serious situation. The whites may laugh at him as much because they're uncomfortable as because they're amused. And there are probably a lot of tears in Negro laughter at Gregory quips like:

"The white man isn't so smart. He didn't even know how to run segregation. He put us in the back where we could see what was going on in front for 300 years."

When he was involved in civil rights demonstrations in the South, he once observed:

"That chunky big guy... He's the kind who says he don't kill niggers on Sunday."

Gregory is important because he is able to make comfortable middle-class whites think about civil rights while they're sitting in a plush night club and drinking it up. He can sneak uncomfortable thoughts into their comfortable world because he's funny.

But he's done as much for the American tradition of humor as he has for civil rights. He's knocking the stuffiness out of an uneasy era in which the "ethnic" joke — be it about Jews, Poles, Orientals, or Negroes — is not acceptable. Gregory is breathing fresh air into a national sense of humor which once saw no bounds on the possibilities for a good laugh.

Perhaps a good description of the type of comedian Gregory is — and it's awfully difficult to fit him into any mold — was this one given by Alex Dreier, a radio commentator:

"Dick Gregory is neither Ralph Bunche, nor Amos and Andy. He is not Uncle Tom, come to amuse the 'white folks' with his native Negro humor, nor is he a brassy intruder, stamping his foot for your attention and denouncing you bitterly if he doesn't get it."

Most of all, perhaps, Dick Gregory is just plain funny. It'll cost you $2.50 — with all the proceeds going to the Southern Non-Violent Coordinating Committee voter registration drive — to laugh with him Tuesday night.

'Innocents' melodrama dependent on stage effects

By EDWARD ERIKSSON
Iowan Reviewer

"The Innocents" is a melodrama which depends largely on stage effects, ghosts, and surprise entrances. Otherwise it is a domestic tale of a new governess come to make neglected children behave. Her problems arise when she discovers the children, Miles and Flora, have formed a subversive attachment to a pair of ghosts.

ERIKSSON

Last night's production of the play was generally equivalent to the tender thriller. The collective gasps and coos emanating from the audience at the proper moments evidenced a successful rapport between the stage and us.

The set presented a Victorian living room colored in brown, maroon, and dusty gold, suggesting ing disuse. In its square architectural lines was a touch of impersonality. The side and rear ceiling of the room couches ominous shadows. When the stage darkens there are trees beyond the window, resembling human forms.

THE LIGHTING at times was also very effective. At the appearance of the ghosts only a quivering outline of their faces and red hair is revealed in the darkness. When the stage dims it suggests the anxiety and uncertainty of the governess, Miss Giddens.

The costumes were attractive and unpretentious, not the usual pastels. The maid's, however, had a certain richness not found in the others.

The acting was steadily interesting. Rae Kraft was the maid, Mrs. Gross, infused significance into an otherwise inconspicuous character. Her housework, her dusting was believably fastidious. There was a note of sincerity in her occasional solicitude for the welfare of the children. In the role of Miss Giddens, Linda Carlson was formidably brave, dutiful, and well-intentioned. She engaged the audience's sympathy through her quiet tears and gasps, and, as the play continued, through her conveying of an affectionate regard for the children.

The youngsters, Amy Jo Ray and Bruce Walker, moved through the play with engaging assurance. Miss Ray's vitality caught the audience from the beginning. It was Mr. Walker's complete absorption into his role in the last scene which created the final terror of the play.

The direction of Lael J. Woodbury stressed the melodramatic, mysterious entrances of the ghosts, the sudden appearance of the children at certain moments, and the shouting and crying of the last scene.

HERE MR. WOODBURY quite effectively crescendoed the pitch, then transitioned to the final sobbing of Miss Giddens. The fact of the children's loneliness, its causes and effects, received, however, the same attention as Mrs. Gross's housework. The audience was unequally impressed with the outward occurrences in detriment to the exposure of the underlying psychological causes.

There was at times an annoying overuse and misuse of the lighting. During two scenes the stage became light and dark, light and dark for no good reason.

Two objects on the set, the trees and the bannister, appeared unfinished. The trees seemed merely large green cut-outs. The bannisters lacked the definite lines and shadows of the rest of the set.

The play was good for lovers of melodrama. One could have wished, however, for something more intelligently dramatic.

"Hang On A While Longer — I'll Save You"

SARE must go on...

By PETER M. HALL

Written for The Iowan
(This is the last of two articles by Prof. Hall; Friday he discussed the Human Rights Conference and racial antagonisms in human relations.)

As a balm to those who are shy and overwhelmed by the size of the University and who feel alienated from the Negro, let me say several things.

First, perhaps it may become necessary for the University to re-structure living arrangements so that you don't feel overwhelmed or perhaps it may be necessary for the University to take an active hand in integrating the campus. (But don't worry, administrations are notorious for their slowness to act.)

Second, since we are responsible for placing the Negro where he is, either by active rejection or passive non-concern, it is up to the whites on this campus, both faculty and students, to overcome our shyness, alienation, and whatever other excuse we can muster and go out to meet the Negroes and bring them into our society.

DON'T JUST say to them, "you don't participate in student government" but appoint them to committees. Don't just cheer them on the athletic field but pledge them in your house. It must be clearly pointed out that integration is not simply the absence of segregation. Integration requires completely different patterns of behavior and believing.

And finally — the question of the motivation of members of SARE with regard to their concern for the Negro. Some Negroes may feel a sense of sympathy or self-righteousness emanating from whites in the civil rights movement.

And as one Negro put it, "We want equality and not sympathy." There is probably some justification for these attitudes on the part of the Negroes. SARE and other similar organizations must constantly evaluate their motivations and actions to see if they do meet the standards of expectation.

IT WILL probably take some time for Negroes here on campus to overcome their feelings toward SARE and perhaps they never will. As Rustin indicated they may need to take over the leadership positions themselves before they actively join.

On the other hand, SARE must continue to exist because the problem of Negro-white relations is not a "Negro problem" but a white problem. The whites, as the dominant group, have placed the Negro where he is — "out" and not "in," "down" and not "up."

The position of the Negro in American society is due not to the Negro but to three hundred years of white history. Therefore, it is the responsibility of the white to alter the conditions he has created.

And for a while the white, at least at SUI, may have to do it without organizational membership of the Negroes — or at least until he can show the Negro that he is sincere. SARE, consequently must continue to encourage the entire white community to act. And if only for this reason, SARE (integrated or not) can not afford to quit.

Letters to the editor—

Reader links housing, high dorm costs

To the Editor:

It was with great interest that I read Mr. Sylvester's article explaining why SUI students live in substandard housing. I agree with all of the many reasons he gave but I believe he failed to mention one of the main ones.

I believe that the outrageously high dorm rates here at SUI force many students to live in the pest holes described in The Daily Iowan. I attended Iowa State a couple of years ago and lived in a dorm there.

Now that a year of residency in Hillcrest here at SUI is about over, I am still trying to figure out why it's costing me $220 more a year than I paid for living in a better dorm at Iowa State.

The main difference between the dorms at SUI and ISU is that at SUI we enjoy maid service. However, it is hard for me to see paying $220 a year this. If this is the case, I would just as soon do away with it. I'm sure most college students wouldn't mind making their own beds for $220 a year. That much money would buy 50 cases of beer.

It's beyond me how there could be such a large difference in dorm rates between two comparable, state supported institutions.

High dorm rates not only force many students to fight rats for living space, but they enable landlords to charge a high price for cockroach-carpeted rooms. A saving of a couple hundred dollars can help a student with a squeezed bank account put up with almost anything.

Error in law story

To the Editor:

In a feature article on the Iowa Law Review, which appeared in Thursday's Daily Iowan, the reporter cited an editor of the Law Review as saying that members of the law school faculty who write for law reviews generally come to class unprepared. This is a gross misquote. What was said to your reporter was that the editors of the Law Review often come to class unprepared because of the long hours required to edit and publish the Iowa Law Review.

The misquote is particularly unfortunate because it is so false. The independent research and writing done by members of the law faculty contributes greatly to their knowledge of their respective fields, and this scholarship broadly enriches their teaching. At no time have I known such efforts to hinder an instructor's classroom performance.

Please correct this unfortunate error.

Listing is lost, but it's not enough

"UNAPPROVED HOUSING" will require at least minimum approval in the future, if it is to be listed with the University. The listings of off-campus units in the Office of Student Affairs will be limited to those units which have been inspected and approved by the University.

This decision places the University on record against sub-standard housing in Iowa City. It will not mean that landlords will have to stop offering sub-standard housing to students, or to anyone else; it will only mean that these landlords cannot use University services to locate student renters.

The University has taken the strongest step which it can in supervising unapproved housing. It will not, however be sufficient to significantly upgrade Iowa City housing conditions. Only a city housing code can accomplish this.

The University has moved to protect student interests; the City Council should now move to protect the interests of everyone living in Iowa City.

Hawks Edge Spartans in 9th, 5-4

Koehn Singles In Winning Run

By CURT SYLVESTER
Staff Writer

Jim Koehn dropped a ninth-inning bunt down the third base line and pinch runner Skip Hohle slid home with the winning run as the Iowa Hawkeyes knocked off the second place Michigan State Spartans, 5-4, Friday afternoon on the Iowa field.

The bunt was the third hit of the day for Koehn, who also had singles in the second and eighth innings. Iowa out-hit Michigan State 8-6 for the game.

Although the game started out as a pitching duel between Hawkeye Bob Gebhard and John Krasnan of the Spartans, the teams ended up using a total of seven pitchers between them.

GEBHARD sailed through the first three innings facing the minimum number of Spartan hitters, not allowing a hit, and looked like he had things under control. However, the Michigan State lead-off hitter, Mal Chiljean, opened the fourth with a single, Bob Maniere sacrificed him to second and Joe Porrevecchio got on via Harry Ostrander's error.

Then singles by Jerry Sutton and Dick Billings and a triple by Bruce Look drove Gebhard off the mound. Ron Stroup took over and on one pitch got John Biedenbach to fly out.

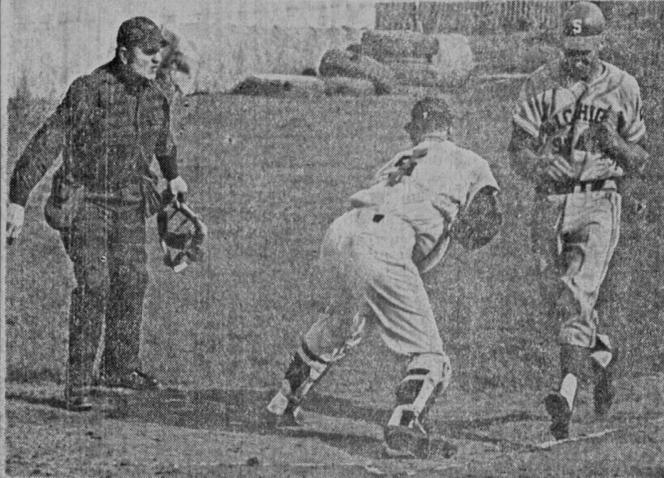

The Hawks battled back determinedly from the three-run deficit with single runs in the fourth and fifth innings. In the fourth inning Duke Lee hit a high wind-blown double which dropped at the edge of the outfield grass behind first base and scored on Dick Perkins' double to left center.

THE HAWKS scored with two out in the fifth when Lee walked, Jim Freese hit a skipping ground ball single past first base, Perkins walked, Koehn singled, Banaszek walked forcing in a run and Ron Shudes dumped a single into right-center scoring Perkins.

MICHIGAN STATE tied the score with an unearned run in the top of the eighth off Iowa's third pitcher, Doug Winders. Winders walked pinch-hitter Bob Speer to open the inning. Speer went to second on a sacrifice and to third on an infield out. He scored the tying run on a passed ball by Hawk catcher Freese.

The Spartans threatened in the ninth when Jerry Sutton opened with a long double which bounced against the left field wall off Iowa's last pitcher, Steve Green. One out later, Green got Look to hit a line drive out to centerfielder Perkins who doubled the baserunner off second base.

IN THE HAWKS' part of the ninth, Freese opened with a walk and Perkins got on base via an error on his attempted sacrifice. Skip Hohle was sent in to run for Freese who had advanced to third

NEW YORK (AP) — A single by pinch-hitter Joe Christopher scored George Altman from second base in the ninth inning Friday night and gave the New York Mets a 5-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

It was the first time this season the last-place Mets have won two straight.

Colonial Golf Tourney Play To Continue Today

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A cloudburst forced postponement of the second round of the $75,000 Colonial Invitation Golf Tournament Friday before most of the players ventured on the course.

South African Gary Player, whose 68 gave him a one shot lead over the first round, was not on the course at the time.

Today's forecast called for cloudy skies with the possibility of showers during the afternoon. The course already was soggy from rain earlier in the week.

Boston 9, Senators 3

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox took advantage of Washington fielding lapses, poured over seven runs in the seventh inning Friday night and defeated the Senators 9-3.

Eddie Bressoud's line single to center drove in the tie-breaking run as the Senators permitted pinch hitter Gary Geiger's pop fly to fall safely in short right for a base hit. Four of the runs that followed were unearned, coming after an error by shortstop Ed Brinkman.

Menke, who became the Braves' No. 1 shortstop early Friday when Roy McMillan was traded to the New York Mets, put Milwaukee ahead 2-1 with a run-scoring double off Joe Gibbon in the fourth inning. The hit scored Frank Bolling, who singled and took second on a wild pitch.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Wes Covington batted in five runs, three with a tape measure homer, and led the Philadelphia Phillies to their third straight victory, 11-3 over Cincinnati Friday night.

Covington, who has been coming out of an early season slump in the last few games, hammered a John Tsiouris pitch in the fifth over the right center field scoreboard, which is 405 feet away and 65 feet high. It scored Tony Gonzalez and John Callison ahead of him and boosted the Phillies to a 6-2 lead.

Lanky Ralph Terry was breezing along on a two-hit shutout until he ran into his old nemesis — the home run ball — in the sixth inning. Bob Chance cracked a pinch hit homer and Leon Wagner added a two-run shot in the ninth for all the Indian runs.

Track Team Hosts Wildcats, Ohio State in Triangular Tilt

Iowa, Ohio State and Northwestern, three evenly-matched track teams, will struggle for deciding points here today in the final home Hawkeye meet.

Field events start at 1 p.m. and the first running event at 1:30 p.m. The meet will be over before the end of the first of the two baseball games with Michigan.

It's the first time that these three conference teams ever had been scheduled for a triangular meet, so a complete set of meet records will be established.

However, at least one Iowa track record, the 440-yard dash mark, is in danger. Gary Hollingsworth of Iowa, who ran :47.4 last week on the same track, will go after his own track record of :47.1.

THE FIELD MARK which may fall is in the pole vault. Ohio State's Bob Neutzling, sophomore, last week became the first Big Ten vaulter to clear 16 feet. He made 16 1/4 inch as the Buckeyes lost a dual meet to Michigan State. The field record is 15-5 3/4 inches.

Jim Albrecht of Northwestern, with 14-1 1/4, and Ron Hord of Ohio State, 14-4, are other good vaulters. The trio is the best ever to compete here.

IOWA WILL LOOK to Steve Goldston in the 100 and 220, Hollingsworth, Al Handolph, 330-yard hurdles; Scott Rooker, 660; Dennis Kohl, sprinter; and the mile relay team. Hawkeyes will score few points in the field events.

Northwestern has a :09.7 sprinter in Barry Townsend and a strong two miler in Less Assenheimer. Tommy Thomas, third in the conference indoor race, is a fine 400 and Ron Joseph cleared over 24 feet as a high school broad jumper.

Eight Teams To Play In Golf Tourney Here

The Iowa golf team, with an 0-2-1 record, hosts an eight team 36-hole meet at 8 a.m. on South Finkbine course today.

In addition to the Iowa squad, teams from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Northwestern, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan State and Notre Dame will be competing.

Coach Chuck Zwerner said that Minnesota will field one of the stronger teams. The Gophers are paced by Dave Gumlia, runner-up in the Big Ten meet last year. Zwerner also mentioned that Wisconsin has a strong team, and added that darkhorse Northwestern has been looking good.

will be Don Allen, Bruce Thompson, Joe McEvoy, Bob Gitchell, and John Berggren, Paul Dlugosch and Roger Gunderson. Berggren and Dlugosch will each play 18 holes.

THE IOWA COACH said that he is "not too unhappy with Iowa's showing so far this year. We're coming along as I expected." Zwerner added that he is trying to develop some sophomores, naming in particular Scheppelle, who he said "has played real good golf for us," and McEvoy, who has also "done pretty well."

Practice has been difficult for the Hawks this week, as the strong winds have literally made it hard to stand up on the course, Zwerner said.

Netmen Lose Two Contests

(Special To The Iowan)

EAST LANSING, Mich. — Iowa's tennis team dropped two meets Friday, losing to Illinois, 5-4, and Michigan State, 7-2. The Hawkeyes now have a 4-8 record for the season.

The doubles matches against the Illinois and the entire meet with Michigan State were played indoors because of rain.

own track record of 47.1. THE FIELD MARK which may fall in the pole vault. Ohio State's Bob Neutzing, sophomore, last week became the first Big Ten vaulter to clear 16 feet. He made 16 1/4 inch as the Buckeyes lost a dual meet to Michigan State. The field record is 15-5/8 inches. Jim Albrecht of Northwestern, with 14-1/4, and Ron Hord of Ohio State, 14, are other good vaulters. The trio is the best ever to compete here.

IOWA WILL LOOK to Steve Goldstein in the 100 and 220, Holdingsworth, Al Randolph, 330-yard hurdles; Scott Rucker, 660; Dennis Kohl, sprinter; and the mile relay team. Hawkeyes will score few points in the field events. Northwestern has a .097 sprinter in Barry Townsend and a strong two mile in Less Assenheimer. Tommy Thomas, third in the 400-meter indoor race, is a fine 400 man and Ron Joseph cleared over 24 feet as a high school broad jumper.

SDX Plans To Investigate Media Policy

Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society, will seek to initiate joint discussions with other media organizations on problems of freedom of information, Theodore F. Koop, national president of Sigma Delta Chi, announced Friday.

The problems would include those arising from mass coverage of the events surrounding the assassination of President Kennedy last November and the Jack Ruby murder trial at Dallas, Koop said.

A proposed Brookings Institution study on a public policy for television coverage of both legislative and judicial proceedings was also endorsed by the society's board of directors.

The board also voted to ask the 1964 SDX convention to approve a new name for the society, Sigma Delta Chi, Society of Journalists.

A recommendation urging for SDX undergraduate chapters to be permitted at universities which do not have schools or departments of journalism was also passed. The society currently has 84 undergraduate chapters and 77 professional chapters with a total membership of over 16,000.

Methodists Close General Meeting

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Methodist Church ended its quadrennial general conference Friday, its barriers to racial equality within the church weakened but not destroyed. In their final session, the more than 900 delegates chipped further at the segregation which by virtue of the Methodist constitution is church law.

They adopted reports outlawing discrimination in hiring practices of church agencies; restated their intention to eliminate all forms of segregation based on race, and directed the separate conferences to work for transfer of Negroes into white jurisdictions.

They also adopted a resolution calling on Congress to pass a strong civil rights bill.

College 'Rat Race' Ruins H.S. Ideals

"A shallow-viewing coalition of parents and schools is ruining the average high school student's education," Hillel Black said in a recent article appearing in the current edition of Pageant magazine. "Parents are pressuring their children into competing for top grades with little regard for the assimilation of knowledge," he said, "and this leads to many abuses, including cheating during examinations."

As juniors and seniors in high school, youngsters are no longer preparing for living, but for particular exams," he said. Hillel said this was caused by crowded colleges which make it increasingly difficult for graduating high school students to be accepted into colleges. "Through pressures applied through local school boards, parents actually force high schools to abandon the prescribed body of information to be taught and replace it with test preparation," Hillel said. "In certain instances, the parents have lost perspective entirely, to the degree that they have tried to bribe testing officials to raise their youngsters' marks and make them eligible for a particular college."

The collection of student signatures for a gift to the John Fitzgerald Kennedy Library, Incorporated in Boston, will continue through next week.

Frank Patton, A3, Wilmette, Ill., and student chairmen, said individual appeals will be made at all housing units. He added he was disappointed in the student response to the gift given by students who were in college during the late President's term in office.

Fire Hazard—

In only two of these apartments did occupants have two means of egress — the front door or a fire escape leading off a bedroom window. In the other four apartments here were no fire escapes available.

"Occupants could conceivably go through the first two apartments to their fire escapes," Kilpatrick said, "but if those people weren't home, and the doors were locked, the only alternative would be to break the door. And if you've ever seen the panic a fire in a dwelling can cause, you'd realize that this is a very unlikely alternative."

BESIDES, it would be next to impossible for a pregnant woman or a cripple to climb down that fire escape. It was simply a straight ladder and stopped about six feet above the sidewalk, which means a person would have to jump (or drop) the rest of the way.

There were no fire extinguishers in the building and no exit signs.

The basement area was accessible only through a sidewalk trapdoor which had openings, large enough, even when closed, to permit the entry of rats and other vermin.

In the basement, papers and other flammable materials were cluttered in considerable quantities, providing a great amount of fuel in case of fire.

IN ADDITION, garbage and papers from the six apartments were stored in paper boxes (Metal garbage cans should be used, for sanitation purposes).

And because of the inaccessibility of the dirty, dark, damp basement, the apartment tenants had gotten into the habit of letting their garbage and papers accumulate in their kitchens, creating a further fire hazard.

This building and the six apartments received an F — unacceptable score on Kilpatrick's rating scale for housing, and if minor, unmarried university students had been living there, they would have been asked to leave and the apartments would have been taken off.

Schmidhauser Hits Schwengel's View On 'Poverty War'

John R. Schmidhauser, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress from Iowa's First Congressional District, charged Friday that incumbent Fred Schwengel had injected "the narrowest kind of sectional politics" into his campaign for re-election.

Schmidhauser said Schwengel overlooked the fact that President Johnson's "war on poverty," including the plan for rehabilitation of the Appalachian region and the development of the purchasing power of its inhabitants, would provide a ready and substantial market for Iowa's red meat products.

SCHWENDEL RECENTLY told a hearing of the ad hoc committee of the House Public Works Committee that the Administration's scheme to develop marginal pasture land in the Appalachian region to produce more beef was not sound because many livestock producers in the Midwest would face financial ruin.

"It is hard to fathom what the planners are thinking about," Schwengel said, "when we are spending $25 million in taxpayers' money to buy up beef and help the livestock industry."

THE REPORT submitted by the President's Appalachian Regional Commission states: "The major opportunity for Appalachia to increase its income from agriculture lies in further expansion of the livestock industry."

The development of millions of acres of underdeveloped potential grazing land in Appalachia for use in beef production over the next few years would help to meet the nation's rising demand for beef."

of the University's approved housing list.

Since this wasn't the case, the University can do nothing — it is the City's domain.

"DURING my two-and-a-half years here," Kilpatrick said, "I've seen occupied dwellings where there were no plumbing or bathroom facilities; where you could see daylight through the roof; where there were no windows at all, and where mattresses on the floor served as beds.

"I'VE SEEN people living in attics where the only place you can stand erect is in the middle of the room, where the roof goes to a peak, and I've seen people in cellars living and sleeping right next to the heating plant. The state building code expressly forbids living in cellars.

"The absence of any enforced housing standards in this community downgrades all housing," Kilpatrick continued. "Many people don't seem to pay any attention to good housing standards where they might otherwise."

"In spite of the fact that the state housing law is obsolete," Kilpatrick concluded, "if it was ever enforced here, some good could be done. However, the job cannot be really well done until a good housing ordinance is adopted and enforced by the City."

TUESDAY — Comments by Iowa City landlords on the housing situation.

Motorcycle Riding Taboo On Finkbine

Campus Police Chief John Hanna said Friday his department is "cracking down on motorcycles operating in unauthorized areas, particularly on Old Finkbine Golf Course."

Four SUI students have been apprehended recently riding motorcycles on Old Finkbine, he said. Their cases have been turned over to the Office of Student Affairs.

He said the motorcycles are a hazard to children, adding that much turf has been damaged. "All grass areas are off limits for motorcycles," Hanna said.

Officials also warned motorists using the University parking ramp not to park in spaces with hooded meters. Unauthorized cars left in reserved spaces will be ticketed, Hanna said.

Many drivers ticketed for parking in the hooded areas were unaware the spaces were restricted, Hanna said, and added that the number of tickets for the offense has increased during the past week.

The procedure for reserving spaces in the ramp for a group using the Union facilities is to notify Loren V. Kottner, director of the Union, Hanna explained. Kottner then contacts Campus Police and makes arrangements for reserving the meter spaces. Groups are charged $1 for each space.

TRUMAN CHOKES UP — Harry Truman, back in Washington Friday, to visit with his old buddies in Senate, went through a round of birthday festivities — and only choked up once. Invited to give a speech from the Senate floor, Truman lubbed. He could not say much of anything, especially after hearing all those flowery tributes from Democrats and Republicans classing among the greats.

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE — Former Webster City City Clerk, Douglas Long, was charged Friday with embezzlement of city funds less than 24 hours after he returned from a 12-day disappearance. City Manager Homer Ankrum said Long, 38, earlier Friday voluntarily said there was a shortage of funds in his office and that Long made restitution of what was considered the total amount involved, $3,500. Long pleaded innocent to the charge and was released under $2,500 bond.

FBI CHIEF HONORED — The Senate Friday took note of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover's four decades as top G-man by unanimously adopting a resolution praising his service to the country as he rounded out 40 years in the position. Hoover, 69, will reach the compulsory Government retirement age of 70 next Jan. 1, but President Johnson is expected to issue an executive order waiving the requirement in his case. Hoover's aides say he keeps himself in top physical condition and shows no signs of being ready to step down.

CRASH ENDS CHASE — A chase for a young man now wanted in three slayings was captured Thursday in a wild police chase that ended when his car collided with another in a Detroit suburb and killed a man who was to have been married today. Gravely injured in the collision, ex-convict Bruce Walter Leikett, 26, of Detroit was held a police prisoner in a hospital.

"LAWRENCE OF ARABIA" CAMPAIGN — British Royal Marine Commandos and red-bearded paratroopers are fighting a "Lawrence of Arabia" campaign against the wiry, sharpshooting Red Wolves of Radfan, Bedouin rebels trained and armed in the neighboring Republic of Yemen. Helicopters and jet fighters date the fighting in the 1960s rather than 1916.

Nat'l Chairman Challenges Demos To Imitate LBJ

DES MOINES — Midwest Democrats were urged Friday to "work as hard in your precincts as President Johnson is doing in the White House."

The challenge was made by National Democratic Chairman John Bailey, who told about 1,000 delegates at the Midwestern Democratic Conference to elect congressmen "who will help the President win the war on poverty, provide jobs for an expanding population, get better schools and provide health care for our senior citizens."

The first day of the two-day conference featured the appearance of Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall.

Udall said he feels that if Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona wins the primary election in California he will be in a position to get the nomination "or at least name the man that does."

Ringleaders Get Bread, Water Diet In Anamosa Riot

ANAMOSA — Twenty-four riotous prisoners, the hard core of an inmate uprising at the Men's Reformatory Thursday, were placed on a bread and water diet in separate isolation cells Friday.

Benjamin Baer, state penal director and acting warden at the reformatory, said the 24 inmates will remain on bread and water until charges are filed and they are arraigned in court, probably next week.

The Iowa Board of Control, which supervises the state's penal system, late Friday announced the appointment of Fred E. Aiken as assistant director of the division of corrections in charge of security and custodial operations.

Aiken, 53, who just completed 25 years of service with the U.S. Bureau of Corrections, immediately came to the reformatory to assist with custodial matters.

He comes here from the Federal correctional institution at Terminal Island, Calif., where he was associate warden.

Judge Orders

Powell's Arrest

NEW YORK — State Supreme Court Justice Thomas C. Chimeria on Friday ordered the arrest of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.) for contempt of court. But he stayed execution of the order pending recess of the House of Representatives.

Powell repeatedly failed to answer a $46,599 judgment against him held by Esther James, a Harlem widow.

About 13 months ago a jury awarded Mrs. James $211,500 damages because Powell in a 1960 television broadcast called her a "bag woman" — graft collector — for corrupt police. The appellate division reduced the award.

With the Senate currently embroiled in the civil rights debate, there has been speculation the current congressional session could continue through the summer.
