

Authorities Say Housing Code Vital to Urban Renewal

By DALLAS MURPHY
Staff Writer
(Last of a Series)

The adoption of an effective and comprehensive municipal housing code is one of the first and most vital steps toward a successful urban renewal program, according to urban renewal authorities.

A solution to the apparent lack of effective housing regulation in Iowa City was presented to the City Council by the Citizens Advisory Committee April 7 in the form of a model housing code. This model is based on recommendations of the American Public Health Association and on ordinances recently adopted by Cedar Rapids and Sioux City.

The model housing code recommended by the Citizens Committee emphasizes four main areas of housing regulation — inspection, enforcement, minimum standards and penalties.

IF ADOPTED, the code would provide for adequate plumbing facilities in good working condition and properly connected to a water and sewer system approved by the building inspector. When necessary, plumbing facilities would be required to be connected to both hot and cold water lines. Water heating units, capable of heating water to a minimum of 120 degrees Fahrenheit, would also be required.

Gas appliances and gas pressure in dwelling units would be regulated by the code. Gas burning heating units and water heating units should be equipped with a pilot light and an automatic control to interrupt the flow of gas to the unit in event of pilot light failure, according to the report.

All dwelling units should have "two independent, structural, sound, readily usable and unobstructed means of exit remote from each other." At least one of the exits must be a doorway, the report said.

THE REPORT also sets minimum standards for the window area — floor space ratio, electrical installations, heating facilities, and window and door screens for insect protection.

Safe and sanitary maintenance of the housing unit is another aspect of the problem emphasized by the report. Foundations, floors, walls, ceilings, and roofs must be "watertight," "weathertight," and "rodent proof," according to the model code.

SIDEWALKS and drives should be kept in good repair and free of ice, snow, and other obstructions. The premises are also to be kept free of "uncontrolled materials hazardous to life, health, or property."

No owner, according to the report, "shall cause service, facility, equipment, or utility which is required by the ordinance to be shut off in an occupied dwelling unless it is for temporary alterations while repairs are actually being done."

MINIMUM space requirements for a specified number of room occupants in single and multiple dwelling units are proposed in the report, and responsibilities of both owners and occupants are noted. The building inspector, under provisions of the proposed code, may inspect any dwelling unit within the city at any reasonable time for the "purpose of safeguarding the public health." The building inspector is to be given free access to any unit for the purpose of such an examination, and the occupant is expected to cooperate with the inspector.

EXISTING dwelling units would be allowed two years from the date of the approval of the ordinance to eliminate any violations which might be present.

Should the building inspector find a violation on a routine inspection or as the result of a complaint, he would issue a written notice to the owner. The notice would specify a period of time allowed for correction of the violation.

A HEARING BEFORE the building inspector may be granted if the person requests such a hearing within 10 days after the notice of violation is received. The inspector may sustain, modify, or withdraw his notice.

Violations of the housing code would be regarded as misdemeanors and a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $100 could be imposed. Violators could also be sentenced to not more than 30 days in prison.

The 19-page model housing code is part of a larger report made by the Citizens Advisory Committee, a group of over 300 Iowa Citizens, in conjunction with studies being conducted for urban renewal certification.

THE MODEL code recommended by the Committee will be published and distributed to interested residents of the city, City Manager Carsten Leikvold said at a recent City Council meeting.

Residents who have studied the code recommended by the Citizens Committee will be better qualified

City Housing Blight Must Be Alleviated

FOR THE PAST TWO weeks, The Daily Iowan has been writing and illustrating a condition that Iowa Citizens have long realized but done little about: the blight of sub-standard housing here.

Stories filled with candid comments by students telling of unhealthy and unsafe housing conditions have been accompanied by pictures graphically telling how many landlords have neglected even the most marginal housing laws.

You have seen unpainted porches broken and rotting, garbage areas strewn with filth and debris and a demonstration by an SUI health inspector on why many tenements here can be called "fire hazards."

Students have complained about inadequate heat, "thousands of cockroaches," broken and unusable fire escapes while paying exorbitant rents.

As the Iowan concludes this series of articles published in the public interest, reflections over the past two weeks suggest only one action:

The City Council must begin now to eradicate this wicked blight from the face of our city.

The method by which this problem could be effectively combated would be through the establishment and strict enforcement of a new housing code, similar to that outlined by the Citizens Advisory Committee to the City Council. (See story on this page.)

Reasons why this housing code is needed immediately is bound up in a discussion of Urban Renewal, the students' roles as citizens and the growth and welfare of a great university and community.

Citizens and leaders in Iowa City have been considering applying to the Federal Government for an Urban Renewal project for several years. But because several downtown businessmen have been reluctant to back such a program, the City has been dragging its heels on Urban Renewal.

Another important reason for little positive action on Urban Renewal has been because the City has not had an enforced housing code. By crossing this hurdle, the council could enter the home stretch in making an application for Urban Renewal.

That hurdle should be crossed now so the city can actively pursue Urban Renewal plans. A city housing code is needed before the Federal Government will even consider such an application.

But students moving in and out of the downtown "inner core" of the city have little interest in Urban Renewal. What they do want — and deserve as citizens — is safe and healthy housing while studying at SUI.

Many of these students pour millions of dollars a year in rents in return for sub-standard, unhealthy and unsafe housing. A sizable portion of this money undoubtedly goes into the landlords' payment of city taxes.

The City must be aware of the students' plight. While on campus, they are citizens of Iowa City, subject to all laws and regulations as other persons living here. Often the city disregards the students' pleas, knowing they will move on in time.

But, according to the Citizens Advisory Committee's report, Iowa City can expect 9,000 students to be living off-campus by 1972. They will pour millions of dollars into rents and the general city economy while living in filth unless the Council recognizes their problem.

Unless the current generation of students are shown the Council is interested in them, they will spread the already-prevalent reputation that "Iowa City is a dirty place" when they leave following graduation.

The University admittedly is concerned with the problem of sub-standard housing here and many believe the potential growth of SUI will be impaired until it is eradicated.

The problem is one that a good dose of "community spirit" can lick.

Students, professors, administrators and businessmen can provide better housing conditions in Iowa City with a little effort. If students do not get this cooperation, a strong petition presented to the City Council might be the spark.

Let's wipe out sub-standard housing for everyone's sake!

House Reverses View on Aid Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House reversed itself Wednesday, and sent to President Johnson a bill to continue U.S. participation in the International Development Association, a sort of joint foreign aid agency.

Johnson and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had pleaded for the measure, which involves a U.S. pledge of $312 million for

1st Quarter Income Tax Total Lower for Iowans

DES MOINES (AP) — Iowans paid $1.72 million less in taxes in the first quarter of 1964 than during the same period last year as a result of the reduction in Federal income withholding.

Ernest Bacon, Iowa director of the Internal Revenue Service, said Wednesday that in the first four months of this year $339,835,253 were paid in all Federal taxes, as compared to $341,567,711 in the same months of 1963.

Senate Heads Favor Dirksen Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — A package of compromise amendments aimed at drawing enough support to choke off the flood of oratory over the civil rights bill won complete agreement of Senate leaders Wednesday.

And Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, speaking for the Administration, told newsmen "this bill is perfectly satisfactory to me" with the changes proposed.

Rocky Wraps Up Oregon Campaign

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Nelson A. Rockefeller began winding up his Oregon primary campaign Wednesday with a final challenge to his "absent and silent" opponents that "things are looking a lot better" for him.

The New York governor plunged into the final 24 hours of an intensive, month-long campaign that has seen him gain ground, particularly in the last few days.

Fire Destroys 7 Homes; Plane Armed

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Police said at least seven persons were killed Wednesday when a jet fighter lost altitude on takeoff from Nellis Air Force Base and plowed into a housing development in North Las Vegas.

The fiery crash came in the middle of a sunny afternoon, turning the peaceful residential scene into one of bedlam. Police said explosion and fire wrecked seven homes.

The dead included the pilot, 1st Lt. Raynor L. Hebert, 26, of Port Arthur, Tex., and six civilians. The latter reportedly were three adults and three children.

Authorities, informed that the aircraft was fully armed and loaded with ammunition, evacuated a 20-square-block area.

An eyewitness, Vincent Rohde, said he saw the 1,400 mile-an-hour F-105 come down, and "When it hit it was like a bubble filled with water. It was just a big splash."

"I SAW TWO women hanging out clothes where it hit. They disappeared. I heard a woman scream. There was a tremendous heat wave."

Nellis AFB said the jet had taken off on a mission to practice air-to-air gunnery.

The area where it hit is about five miles northwest of downtown Las Vegas and about seven miles west of the air base. The housing project has two and three-bedroom homes in the $15,000 price range.

The plane missed an elementary school by a few blocks.

After the crash the usually peaceful neighborhood was bedlam. Children screamed. Fifty-caliber ammunition exploded amid the crackling flames.

Mrs. Pauline Frazier, a resident of the area, said she was out hanging clothes when she saw the plane coming in, whining, its nose high in the air, in about a 15-degree descent.

"IT DIDN'T sound like it had much power," she said. "And when I saw it go through the telephone lines, I ran in the house and screamed for my husband."

The plane severed power lines at the end of Lenwood Avenue, sliced the roof off a home and set it afire. Then it pancaked into two other homes. They, too, burned to the ground.

Rusk Appeals to NATO Countries for Unity

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk asked France on Wednesday to come forward with any changes President Charles de Gaulle wants in the structure of the Atlantic Alliance.

In a secret meeting of Alliance foreign ministers, Rusk appealed for unity at a moment when the Alliance is strained by the mounting Greek-Turkish dispute over Cyprus and De Gaulle's lone wolf policies.

CONFERENCE sources said Rusk in a carefully-worded speech insisted that the 15-year-old North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) must not be allowed to come unraveled.

Rusk declared the U.S. Government is determined to maintain its commitments to defend Western Europe from possible Communist aggression. De Gaulle has said the United States would not risk nuclear destruction to defend Western Europe.

Turning to the troubled eastern Mediterranean, Rusk said that a war between NATO members Greece and Turkey over Cyprus is unthinkable and must not be allowed to happen.

HE URGED the Greek and Turkish peoples to accept this and said Athens and Ankara must exert all the influence they possess to stop the fighting between the Greek and Turkish-speaking communities on Cyprus.

Rusk voiced support for a warning given earlier in the day by Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium who said the 15 members of the Alliance must overcome their differences now.

Spaak called on De Gaulle to speak up about changes France wants in NATO — an aviation which Rusk underwrote with American prestige.

FOREIGN MINISTER Maurice Couve de Murville of France said the French viewed Allied solidarity this way: The important thing is for members of NATO to stand together in moments of great international stress the way De Gaulle supported President John F. Kennedy in the crisis over Soviet missiles in Cuba in October, 1962.

The ministers agreed unanimously on a new Secretary General for the Alliance to replace ailing Dirk U. Stikker, a Dutchman.

Senate Heads Favor Dirksen Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — A package of compromise amendments aimed at drawing enough support to choke off the flood of oratory over the civil rights bill won complete agreement of Senate leaders Wednesday.

And Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, speaking for the Administration, told newsmen "this bill is perfectly satisfactory to me" with the changes proposed.

"We have done nothing to hurt the major objectives of the bill," declared Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, Democratic whip and floor manager for the measure.

SENATE Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who drew up the original package of 70 amendments, said "a good agreement" was achieved. He said the job now is for the leaders to sell the package to senators of both parties.

Dirksen said the Republicans will meet next Tuesday. Humphrey said he hopes a similar gathering of Democrats can be called for Monday or Tuesday.

With the debate over the measure droning on through the 54th day, the leaders hope Dirksen's bill will gather the votes needed to invoke cloture and limit debate. It takes two-thirds of the senators voting — 67 if all 100 vote — to accomplish this, and the leaders concede they lack this support now.

Final agreement on Dirksen's proposals was worked out in an afternoon meeting in his office — the sixth session the leadership held with Kennedy in the past week to consider them.

THERE was obviously some giving on both sides. But the main haggling concerned the two titles of the bill about which Dirksen has raised the most objection — public accommodations and equal employment opportunity.

In both sessions — as it now stands in the House-passed form — the government would have the right to go into court if it found discrimination existed.

Dirksen wanted to require that only the aggrieved persons could file suit, but the attorney general could intervene on their behalf afterward.

Under the compromise, the attorney general would be allowed to file directly if it is found that a pattern of discrimination exists, but not on behalf of single individuals.

Held Port 3 Hours, Raid Forces Claim

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A Cuban exile organization said Wednesday night it began a war on Fidel Castro's regime earlier in the day with a commando and guerrilla attack on a sugar mill and a port in eastern Cuba.

In Havana on Wednesday night, Prime Minister Castro confirmed the attack on the port of Pilon in an angry statement, saying it was not a ground attack but a shelling from a ship standing off shore.

He blamed the attack on the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) and said it was a new act of vandalism by the United States.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said the U.S. Government had no connection with the raid and has no information about it.

The Revolutionary Recovery Movement — MRR — issued its "first war communique" in Miami, saying its forces held the port of Pilon for three hours against "tenacious fighting" by Castro's armed forces while engineers blew up a sugar mill.

"Very soon," said Edgar Sopo, MRR public relations chief, "we are going to strike again. It won't be a matter of waiting six months either. He did not go into details but said MRR has 'the best weapons we can obtain.'"

AFTERWARD, the communique said, the commando raiders left Cuban soil while guerrilla units, previously stationed in the nearby Sierra Maestra, returned to the hills.

The exiles said they suffered no losses, and left many Castro militia wounded.

Havana radio said that, "As a result of the firing, the sugar warehouses were set on fire and 70,000 sacks of sugar which had been produced by that mill in the present harvest were lost."

The sugar mill at Puerto Pilon, trade sources said, produced 200,000 220-pound sacks of sugar in 1963, and ground about two billion pounds of cane. The mill, these sources said, once was owned by Julio Lobo, considered for many years the world's biggest sugar trader.

PUERTO PILON is about 100 miles west of Santiago, Cuba's second-largest city, on the Caribbean seacoast in southwestern Oriente Province. Oriente is in easternmost Cuba.

MRR spokesmen said there were various reasons why Puerto Pilon was chosen. They explained: Puerto Pilon sugar mill, while not one of Cuba's latest, is big enough to be strategic; an attack there has "tremendous psychological value because it is only a short distance from a Communist military munitions and training base known as Minas del Frio, where guerrilla fighters from Latin-America have been trained.

CASTRO SAID the raid was "just another criminal act sponsored by the Government of the United States" and that a ship of the type of the "Rex" stood off shore and shelled the sugar mill.

The "Rex," a 174-foot craft, sailed out of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., last fall and came back Oct. 27 minus her two speedy, inboard-outboard launchers. It was blamed by Castro at the time for an attempt to land commando forces in Cuba.

House Writing New Program To Aid Aged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The outlines of a possible new health program for the aged that conceivably could break the deadlock over President Johnson's proposal are now being sketched in the House Ways and Means Committee, it was learned Wednesday.

The core of the idea would be to transform the existing Kerr-Mills program of state-federal help to the near-indigent into one that would, in effect, guarantee all those over 65 against having their income wholly wiped out by catastrophic medical bills.

The new possibility, so far not even sponsored by any member, may not be voted on for several weeks, if ever.

The basic plan would follow the Kerr-Mills pattern of state-run health programs, aided by Federal contributions, and take into account the financial status of the recipients.

The changes would consist of an offer by the Federal government to pay a bigger and bigger share for states that liberalize their benefits and eligibility.

THE PLAN would be designed to bring out, in every state, one Federal-contributor health plan that would embrace the aged and others now receiving medical benefits, such as blind and dependent children.

The states still would set the eligibility standards, and these would not be expected to be uniform across the country, but the incentive method would be used to try to have all reasonably liberal.

All health expenses — doctor bills, hospitalization, drugs and so on — would be included. This would be a sharp contrast with the Administration proposal, which is limited to hospital and nursing home costs.

Brazil Halts All Relations With Castro

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Brazil broke off diplomatic relations with Cuba Wednesday further isolating Castro's regime.

The action by Latin America's largest nation left only four countries — Bolivia, Chile, Mexico and Uruguay in the Organization of American States that recognize Cuba.

Widespread pressure for the break with Cuba had been mounting across Brazil since military and political leaders threw out left-leaning President Joao Goulart April 1. His government had been friendly with Cuba.

The Foreign Ministry said Brazilian diplomatic personnel in Havana, under a charge d'affaires, would leave Cuba within two days.

Pressure for the diplomatic rupture had been building since April 9 when representatives of all Brazil State Legislatures, meeting in Sao Paulo, called on the Government to make an immediate break with Cuba.

Police have reported evidence piling up that Cuban agents were actively involved in attempts to implant a Communist regime in Brazil before Goulart's overthrow.

Sources said the decision to break relations was made by military and civilian leaders even before they began the uprising that threw out Goulart.

It's all a matter of education

"OLD CAPITOL and the State House should be closer together."

This was the substance of a speech given by Gov. Harold Hughes at SU's annual Governor's Day luncheon Tuesday. And the Governor could not have phrased it better.

In this one simple statement, there is a complete wrap-up of the future of Iowa — a future that depends upon the development of the state's educational institutions, not just SU but Iowa State University, the State College of Iowa and the many private colleges. Educated minds and the fruits of academic research will have to be utilized if Iowa is to make future progress.

But to do this, the state's colleges and universities must continually be improved. For the three state supported schools, this means that more tax money will have to be funneled into the schools. This will necessitate an increase in taxes — a action that is not popular with politicians especially when constituents are claiming they are being overtaxed.

The solution, therefore, is to sell education to the people of Iowa by helping them understand what education can do for them and the state. In order to do this, the educational institutions are going to have to educate Iowa residents, through mass public relations and advertising campaigns, as to the needs and benefits of education.

Representatives will have to convince Iowa residents that the facilities need improving, that education can improve the state tremendously and that education and research can improve living conditions and increase the overall economic condition of the state.

Men will have to tour the state giving speeches and showing movies, and newspapers will have to take an active part by pointing out the educational deficiencies and why they must be overcome.

We feel this type of activity would pay considerable dividends to Iowa education. And the entire process is no more than Iowa educators using education to improve education.

—Gary Spurgeon

They should vote soon

SENATE MAJORITY LEADER Mansfield threatens to keep congress in session all year if necessary to pass the civil rights bill and other items on the Administration's program. Probably most people won't regard a congress in continuous session as a pleasant prospect. But most people probably would agree also that it's about time for members of congress to stop thinking of their jobs as something less than full-time assignments. Especially if they wish to press the contention that around $30,000 a year is a reasonable salary for the work.

Senator Mansfield was not thinking of such considerations, of course, when he brandished his threat of a continuous session. He was interested primarily at the moment in breaking up the filibuster against the civil rights bill. In his endeavor we think most citizens are with him.

This stalling on the civil rights legislation has gone quite far enough. Presumably a majority of the senators would vote for the bill as it stands if the thing could be brought to a vote. Otherwise the filibusters have been wasting a lot of wind unnecessarily. Admittedly the Administration leaders don't have enough votes to cut off debate on the bill.

But this is not the kind of issue that can be settled to anyone's satisfaction by a mere stalemate. If anything, it will be aggravated by a stalemate. Thus the avoidance of a showdown sooner or later is not only impossible but would be undesirable even if it were possible.

At any rate, it is time for both the pros and the antis to abandon their bullheadedness and agree on the minimum concessions that will permit a vote. A civil rights bill of some kind obviously is going to be enacted. At best it will have plenty of bugs in it. We probably cannot expect agreement now on what they are, but they should be easier to eliminate when practical experience reveals them to everybody clearly.

By RALPH MCGILL
President Johnson understands the uses of the power of the Presidency better than any President since Van Buren," said a veteran senator in recent, and admiring discussion of the successes of the Chief Executive.

The comparison is valid — in a point. Somehow, Americans have never shown much interest in the urban, fastidious New Yorker, Martin Van Buren, a poor boy who attained the White House. He was politically skilled, but as President he encountered a series of difficulties that depleted his popularity and prestige. He added to this some errors in judgment, including a failure to support the annexation of Texas.

The Seminole war in Florida was costly and not well understood. A financial panic in the first year of his administration also did him considerable harm. He was renominated in 1840 but was defeated by the ill-fated William Henry Harrison. Fates denied him the opportunity successfully to use the power of his office.

It was in his pre-Presidential years that the dapper, properly whiskered and trimmed Van Buren displayed political abilities unmatched by any person on the national scene before or since. In a very real sense he was one of the architects of the Democratic party built around the principles of Jefferson. Van Buren early saw that the westward growth of the new republic and the effect of it on politics required change to match events. He managed the campaign of the brilliant Georgian, William H. Crawford, against John Q. Adams, Andrew Jackson and Henry Clay. This was a lost cause, but Van Buren did well.

After this congressional nominating caucus, the last to nominate a President, Van Buren saw the need for political realignment and direction. He was chiefly responsible for the success of bringing together the Crawford, Jackson and Calhoun factions. It was out of this coalition of the Republican party that came the Democratic party that was to elect Jackson and establish the two-party system. The powerful Whigs were in time to disappear and Abraham Lincoln emerge as the head of a new Republican party.

Van Buren became known as "The Little Magician." He earned it. But in the earning he made inevitable enemies. Those were the days of invective, mean words and fiery partisanship. Davy Crockett, one-time congressman from Tennessee, was one of his enemies. When Van Buren was in the Senate, Crockett engaged a ghost writer to produce a violently critical paper. He wrote that Van Buren, entering the Senate, "struts like a crow in a gutter." He called him sly and deceitful. Van Buren was something of a dandy, and Crockett, through his ghost, said, "He is laced up in corsets, such as women in a town wear, and, if possible, tighter than the best of them." Van Buren was hurt by this false petty slander but did not reply.

Van Buren was loyal to Jackson and Jackson to him. The animosities stirred in those days — as Jackson wrestled power from the private bank that controlled federal funds, put down John C. Calhoun's threat of interposition and succession in South Carolina, and brought the west into political being — never died out in the lifetime of those chiefly involved. On his death bed Old Hickory was to regret he had not shot Henry Clay and hanged John Calhoun.

President Johnson has demonstrated some of the qualities of a political magician for more than two decades. In his constructive use of the power of the presidency he is the peer of any in past history. It may be, if he has a reasonable amount of luck, that he will prove the most effective of them all.

The President's settlement of the railroad strike was, for example, a tremendous stroke in the public interest. The operators will not save, directly, as much as they had been awarded by previous arbitration. But they save untold millions by avoiding a long, bitter shutdown. The unions won a slowing down of job losses.

The attack on poverty, which should have been begun years ago, the moves toward easing world tensions without damage to national strength or security, and his several other successes, all in the public interest, testify to Mr. Johnson's ability to get things done.

If he has any luck at all he will be in office long enough to assure himself of several pages in U.S. history.

"I don't want to be involved"

WASHINGTON — In the past few weeks we've seen examples of ordinary citizens who have witnessed crimes and done nothing about them. Their excuse has been they didn't want to get involved.

If we reach the ultimate of the non-violent syndrome, we may have something like this:

A dark street, a man walks home from work. Out of the shadows pops a holdup man. "Your money or your life."

"Please, I don't want to become involved."

"What do you mean, you don't want to become involved? I'm holding you up."

"Sh-sh-sh, not so loud. You'll wake up the neighbors and then they'll be mad at me because they didn't come to my aid."

"All right then, hand over your wallet."

"Why should I hand over my wallet? If I do, then I'll have to go to the police and report it. They'll ask me a lot of questions. I'll lose time at work. Go hold up somebody else."

THE HOLDUP man says, "No sir, I'm holding you up. I've been waiting here two hours for someone to come along. Now, let's have no more chatter."

Just then a man goes by. "Hello, Harry, what are you doing out so late?"

"I'm being held up by this fellow."

"I didn't see anything," the second man says and dashes off. "Hand over the money," the gunman says.

"YOU'RE making a mistake. Suppose they catch you? Then I'll have to go to court and testify. You know how much time that takes? Maybe your case won't be called for months. You may hire a lawyer who will get you a postponement. I'll have to come back again. I don't make a good witness. Maybe your lawyer will twist my story around. They're smart fellows."

Just as the holdup man lifts his pistol, a window opens and the man's wife shouts, "Harry, why don't you come upstairs?"

"I can't. There's a fellow down here holding me up."

"We don't want any trouble. Tell him to go away."

"I can't. He wants my money. Maybe you should call the police."

"I don't want to get involved, Harry," his wife says.

"I DIDN'T think so."

Another window opens. "What's going on down there?"

The man's wife shouts, "Harry's being held up."

"So tell him to go to another street. He's going to give the block a bad name."

"Come on, mister. You're waking up the entire neighborhood," the holdup man says. "I'm giving you one more chance and that's all."

"MISTER, if it wasn't for all the trouble, I'd give you my money. But instead I'm going to give you a rap in the head."

Harry takes his umbrella and smacks the holdup man on the head. The holdup man is so surprised he drops his gun. Harry keeps hitting the man on the head until he knocks him out.

Just then a prowler comes along and the cops jump out. They see the man sprawled out, his pistol next to him.

"What happened?" the policeman asks.

"I didn't see anything," Harry says. "I was walking by and the man fainted. It must have been the heat. Or maybe it was something he ate."

Letters to the editor

Reader urges sending letters to senators on rights bill

To the Editor:

Recently, guest writer Kirk Stephan brought to our attention an issue which needs some clarification. I refer to the Ashbrook Amendment to the Equal Employment Opportunity section of the Civil Rights Bill, which reads "It shall not be an unlawful employment practice for an employer to refuse to hire and employ any person because of said person's atheistic practices and beliefs." I first learned of this insidious clause in the March 22 Des Moines Sunday Register and have been troubled about it ever since. I immediately wrote the American Civil Liberties Union and they replied that the ACLU is opposing this clause and that many senators are troubled about it. They pointed out that the Ashbrook amendment is clearly unconstitutional under the U.S. Supreme Court decision in Torcaso v. Watkins, 367 U.S. 488, (1961), holding atheism is protected by the First Amendment's freedom of religion clause.

I wrote to Senators Hickenlooper and Miller urging them to support the bill, but to vote against all weakening and crippling amendments, especially the one quoted above. Senator Hickenlooper's reply was very prompt. (Did he have a form letter ready and waiting?) I quote it in part because it is rather long. "My position is that I will support the principle of any legislation needed to either establish or properly protect equality of rights and equality of opportunity for all of our people, but I cannot support provisions which will convey special privileges or special status on any particular group based on color, race, religion, etc. (Author's note: Who asked him to?) There are several provisions in the bill that may create additional and arbitrary Federal powers which, in effect, could be abused by emotionally or politically oriented administrators to the point where the discretion and responsibility of individuals for the conduct of their own affairs could be seriously eroded." (Author's note: Is that clear?)

Senator Miller's reply came a few days later and contained some information: "The amendment to which you refer in your letter was put on the bill by the House, sitting as a Committee of the Whole, by a vote of 137 to 98. It is now just as much a part of the bill as any other part. There is, however, a so-called 'savings clause' in the bill, which provides that if any part of the bill is held to be unconstitutional, the rest of the bill will remain in effect. I understand that one of the arguments for the amendment at the time it was being considered in the House was that employers involved in highly classified work for the government might feel that the employment of an atheist might involve undue risk. Whether or not such a consideration would affect the constitutional issue is impossible to forecast, because I do not believe the Supreme Court has ever ruled on this precise point. Although I do not believe that this is in quite the same category as the major problem towards which civil rights legislation is being directed, I would not wish to see the Senate take action which might cause us to lose the entire civil rights bill because of retaliation by the House. . . . Well, now we know which side Miller is on.

I also wrote a brief letter of support and inquiry to Senator Humphrey. His reply will be quoted in its entirety because it is short and to the point: "Thank you for your message expressing opposition to the Ashbrook Amendment to the Civil Rights Act. This amendment, adopted during House debate, specifies that refusal to employ a person holding atheistic beliefs will not be considered a discriminatory employment practice. I personally feel that this provision is contrary to the purpose and intent of the Civil Rights Act and probably unconstitutional. The Senate will have an opportunity to delete the Ashbrook Amendment during the civil rights debate, which that refusal to employ a person holding atheistic beliefs will not be considered a discriminatory employment practice. I personally feel that this provision is contrary to the purpose and intent of the Civil Rights Act and probably unconstitutional. ## Iowa City Blacksmith Still Active at Age 76

By TOM GERDIS Staff Writer

The days of the horse and buggy may be gone, but Iowa City still has a blacksmith shop, obscured in an alley between a popcorn shop and a beauty school.

G. L. Gibson's Blacksmith Shop at the rear of 26 S. College Street, is the last such establishment operating in Johnson County.

Hughes Admits Prison Stand Not Popular

DES MOINES (AP) — Gov. Harold Hughes said Wednesday he realizes his "strong position in support of modern correction and probation procedures is not popular with some people."

But he said he intends to continue involving himself in state and penal affairs.

Hughes' prison program has drawn criticism from Republicans, who have charged the Governor is responsible for riots in the last few months at state prisons.

A disturbance at the Anamosa Men's Reformatory last week caused an estimated $20,000 damage, according to state architect Frank Bonner. Heaviest damage was in a building housing the prison laundry and soap factory.

Hughes told a Young Democratic meeting at Drake University Wednesday he is being criticized "because I have taken concerned interest in our correction system and have even talked to some prisoners to get some first-hand knowledge of what the problems are."

Hughes said later at a news conference that he would continue to visit state prisons and other state institutions "if I feel it's necessary."

He said his visit last year to the State Penitentiary at Fort Madison was made with full approval of the Board of Control, the supervisory agency, and the director of corrections.

The Government Documents librarian informed that "Ashbrook" is Representative John M. Ashbrook, Republican, from Youngstown, Ohio.

Now I am not politically astute enough to make any positive statements about the "machinations" involved; and anyway your conjectures are as good as mine. But I would like to join with Mr. Stephan and urge every interested person to write Senators Humphrey, Miller and Hick-enlooper and let them know how you feel about this threat to the freedom of the conscience, at the same time that you back up the civil rights bill as a whole. They should be addressed as The Honorable . . . Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C.

Car Crash Victim In Fair Condition

Carol Hinson, A2, Waterloo, was reported in fair condition Wednesday at University hospital. Miss Hinson, in a two-car accident Tuesday evening at the corner of Washington and Governor, is being treated for possible rib fractures.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Craig W. Driver, A2, Waterloo. Driver's car collided with one driven by John Richmond, M2, Fort Madison.

Neither Driver nor Richmond were hurt, but both cars were heavily damaged. Police said no charges were filed.

City School Board Rejects Legal Suit

The Iowa City School Board Wednesday asked for dismissal of a suit filed by eight Coralville residents which requested nullification of the election that merged the Iowa City and Coralville school districts.

The Coralville suit alleged that voters were influenced before the February 13 election by statements made by the superintendent of public instruction. It also alleged that ballots were cast by University students not qualified to vote in the election.

Goldwater and Rocky Score Pre-Oregon Primary Wins

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater led the way but former Vice President Richard M. Nixon finished a surprisingly strong second on the basis of write-in votes in Tuesday's Republican presidential preference primary in Nebraska.

Goldwater, the only man with his name on the ballot, drew slightly less than half the votes cast in the Republican race, failing by a hair to make good his supporters' prediction that he would poll a majority.

MEANWHILE, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, the Arizona senator's chief announced rival for the GOP presidential nomination, garnered a good vote in an uncontested primary in West Virginia. But write-in votes are not counted in that state as they are in Nebraska.

The major development in Tuesday's voting was Nixon's showing in Nebraska. Despite a late start, a campaign for write-in votes for the man who carried the party's standard in 1960 paid off with about 31 per cent of the votes cast.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Nixon's vice presidential running mate four years ago, placed third with about 16 per cent of the vote.

Returns from 2,088 of Nebraska's 2,148 precincts showed Goldwater with 66,589 votes. Nixon led in write-ins with 42,282 followed by Lodge with 22,033. Rockefeller with 2,288 and a handful of others dividing 1,166 votes.

ROCKEFELLER polled 94,085 votes in 2,185 of West Virginia's 2,644 precincts. This was about 64 per cent of the total cast in the gubernatorial primary which had sparked little interest.

No Democratic presidential primary contests were held, but President Johnson drew 53,233 write-in votes in 2,066 Nebraska precincts. He was ahead of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy with 1,894. Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama with 1,166, and Gov. Frank Morrison of Nebraska with 1,755.

THE TWO elections were a warmup for Friday's test in Oregon matching Goldwater, Rockefeller, Nixon, Lodge, Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine.

Goldwater, Rockefeller and Mrs. Smith are announced candidates. Lodge, Nixon and Scranton have said they are not candidates but would accept the nomination. All six are on the ballot in Oregon.

cause us to lose the entire civil rights bill because of retaliation by the House . . . Well, now we know which side Miller is on.

I also wrote a brief letter of support and inquiry to Senator Humphrey. His reply will be quoted in its entirety because it is short and to the point: "Thank you for your message expressing opposition to the Ashbrook Amendment to the Civil Rights Act. This amendment, adopted during House debate, specifies that refusal to employ a person holding atheistic beliefs will not be considered a discriminatory employment practice. I personally feel that this provision is contrary to the purpose and intent of the Civil Rights Act and probably unconstitutional. The Senate will have an opportunity to delete the Ashbrook Amendment during the civil rights debate."

The Government Documents librarian informed me that "Ashbrook" is Representative John M. Ashbrook, Republican, from Youngstown, Ohio.

Now I am not politically astute enough to make any positive statements about the "machinations" involved; and anyway your conjectures are as good as mine. But I would like to join with Mr. Stephan and urge every interested person to write Senators Humphrey, Miller and Hick-enlooper and let them know how you feel about this threat to the freedom of the conscience, at the same time that you back up the civil rights bill as a whole. They should be addressed as The Honorable . . . Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C.

Car Crash Victim In Fair Condition

Carol Hinson, A2, Waterloo, was reported in fair condition Wednesday at University hospital. Miss Hinson, in a two-car accident Tuesday evening at the corner of Washington and Governor, is being treated for possible rib fractures.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Craig W. Driver, A2, Waterloo. Driver's car collided with one driven by John Richmond, M2, Fort Madison.

Neither Driver nor Richmond were hurt, but both cars were heavily damaged. Police said no charges were filed.

City School Board Rejects Legal Suit

The Iowa City School Board Wednesday asked for dismissal of a suit filed by eight Coralville residents which requested nullification of the election that merged the Iowa City and Coralville school districts.

The Coralville suit alleged that voters were influenced before the February 13 election by statements made by the superintendent of public instruction. It also alleged that ballots were cast by University students not qualified to vote in the election.

Science Group Names Van Allen as Fellow

James Van Allen, noted space scientist at SU, was named a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, Wednesday.

The honor was announced in Boston, Mass., where 115 new fellows were named at the 184th annual meeting of the academy. Those elected included scientists, lawyers, diplomats, historians, college presidents, writers, architects, and film directors.

FOUNDED in 1780, the American

JAMES VAN ALLEN
Another Honor

Academy of Arts and Sciences is a national honorary society widely known to the public through its journal, Daedalus.

Dr. Van Allen, a member of fellow of 12 other scientific and honorary societies, heads the Department of Physics and Astronomy at SU, and is known as one of the world's foremost investigators of the radiation and magnetic environment of the earth.

He and his associates at SU are credited with the initial discovery and interpretation of the zones of magnetically-trapped radiation about the earth in 1958 with the aid of satellite-borne detectors.

In 1946, when he was a physicist at Johns Hopkins University, he organized the high altitude research group there. This group conducted rocket firings at White Sands Proving Grounds, N.M., using captured German V-2 rockets initially, and later the Aerobee rocket, which general design he planned.

He was appointed to his present situation at SU in 1951, and has supervised the launching of sounding rockets and balloons to collect data on cosmic radiation. The discovery of the "Van Allen radiation belt" was made with the aid of a Geiger counter placed in America's first successful earth satellite, Explorer I, in 1958, and in subsequent Explorer payloads.

Propaganda War Increased in Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The pro-Communist Pathet Lao are stepping up propaganda attacks against neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma in a move that threatens renewal of full-scale civil war.

A Pathet Lao statement broadcast Wednesday by Radio Hanoi charged that Souvanna is sinking deeper under the pressure of conservative elements "sabotaging the tripartite national union government and attacking the Laotian patriotic forces."

THE COMMUNIST North Vietnamese station relayed the charge as Souvanna, acting as his own defense minister, named a new command staff for the Laotian national army formed May 2 by a merger of rightist and neutralist armed forces.

Gen. Kong Le apparently will remain in charge of the neutralist force in the field, 8,000 men largely based in the Plaine des Jarros area northeast of Vientiane.

Rightist troops total 50,000. They are largely confined to the more populous centers, including this administrative capital.

THE PATHET LAO, which controls two-thirds of the country-side with about 20,000 guerrillas that have North Viet Nam's backing, rejected Souvanna's invitation to join in the military unification.

They charged that the rightists were swallowing the neutralists, who were allies of the Pathet Lao in the civil warfare of 1960-61. Their titular chief, Deputy Premier Prince Souphannouvong, accused his half-brother Souvanna of acting as a tool of the rightists.

Red China, another backer of the Pathet Lao, asked Britain and the Soviet Union as co-chairmen of the 1962 Geneva conference on Laos, to consider a new conference if the Laotian situation continues to deteriorate.

Today's News Briefly

MILLER BACKS BAKER PROBE — Sen. Jack Miller (R-Iowa) Wednesday endorsed a recommendation that all members of the Senate be called before the Rules Committee "to testify regarding any financial dealings" with Bobby Baker. He asked the Committee to reconsider its apparent decision not to press its investigation.

MOON SHOT POSTPONED — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration Wednesday announced the postponement from late June to sometime in July or September the launch of the Ranger B spacecraft. The Ranger B will televise the lunar surface and relay detailed pictures back to earth.

KHRUSHCHEV THROWS ROCK — As his ship sailed through a gap in the foundation of the Aswan Dam Wednesday, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev threw a symbolic rock into the waters of the Nile. The ceremony marked the beginning of festivities dedicating the recently completed first stage of the dam, for which the U.S.S.R. has so far granted $270 million in credits.

AIR FORCE DEFENDS PLANES — Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert Wednesday said only two of the 72 propeller-driven planes used in South Viet Nam crashed because of structural failure. In a letter to Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee, Zuckert said the first of 75 modern Navy "Sky Raider" planes are now en route to Viet Nam to replace the B26s and T28s.

Vietnamese To Get More Aid for Drawn-Out Affair

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)— Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said Wednesday that marked progress has been made in implementing plans to increase the strength and firepower of the Vietnamese air force for the war against Communist guerrillas.

McNamara told newsmen at the windup of his fifth visit to South Viet Nam that preparations are being made to receive 75 new propeller-driven fighter-bombers.

PLANS ALSO are under way, he reported, to raise the strength of the Vietnamese civil guard and other paramilitary forces which bear the brunt of guerrilla hit-and-run attacks.

McNamara predicted a step-up in the government's war effort, but warned again that it will be a long drawn out affair.

"We should not delude ourselves on this score," he said.

"I am confident if our plans are executed persistently they will lead to success."

In reference to the air force, he denied that B57 or other jet planes will be coming in the foreseeable future. Jets require big airfields for takeoff and landing. Slower craft are better adapted to most Vietnamese air strips.

THE SECRETARY said he was particularly impressed during his 30-hour visit with progress made to carry out recommendations for additional U.S. assistance to the Vietnamese.

He predicted that he or other top administration officials will be visiting Saigon every 60 days or so in the future.

McNamara concluded his visit with a conference with the premier, Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

He took off in his special Air Force plane at 7:02 p.m. for Pearl Harbor on his way back to Washington.

Goldwater Says—

Communist Plan Must Be Stopped

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Goldwater said Wednesday night the United States should take the lead in applying economic and political pressure "to change the Communist plan."

"In fact I think we ought to use every peaceful means available for calling freedom's tune," the Arizona senator said in remarks taped for the nationwide CBS television program.

Goldwater is seeking the Republican presidential nomination.

The half-hour show, paid for with campaign funds, also included film clips of the senator's life and political career. A Goldwater staff member estimated its cost at $75,000.

Goldwater said it's one thing to say the United States can exist in a world of differing societies.

"But," he said, "it's an altogether different thing to say that you can get along with a political theory whose principal point is that your whole way of life has got to be swept away."

"No, we've got to change the Communist plan. I think we have every tool needed. Look at our economic power. And then look at Communism. What a mess they are in today. Now, that's not our fault. It's the fault of the way they do things."

"There are political pressures we could apply, too," he said.

"Take our alliance system. Unfortunately, it's falling apart at the seams today. It's got to be stitched back together. All our allies agree. It would just take some American leadership and some common sense agreement that the purpose of these alliances is to put a damper on Communism's aggressive plans."

ON THE DOMESTIC scene Goldwater said Government has a responsibility to reduce spending and debt so as not to create inflationary drains on those persons with fixed incomes, such as Social Security recipients.

And he said, Government has a responsibility to "seek the sort of climate in which as many people as possible can help themselves. In short, it ought to let this amazing enterprise system of ours go forward in the way it has proven it can — go forward to create more and better jobs."

Aged Course Final Session Starts Today

"Recreation, Rehabilitation, and Group Procedures in Relation to Aging" is the topic of today's and Friday's fifth and final session of the Nursing and Retirement Home Administration course here.

Janet MacLean, associate professor of recreation at Indiana University, Bloomington, will speak on "A Philosophy of Recreation; The Healing and Restorative Value of Planned Activity; The Rehabilitative Point-of-View in Recreation" at 1 p.m. today in the Pentacrest Room of the Union. In another session, Dr. MacLean will discuss "Planning and Organizing the Recreation (Activities) Program; Facilities and Equipment."

THE EVENING program will include demonstration of and participation in recreational activities and will be in 105 of the Women's Gymnasium. Assisting Dr. MacLean will be Betty van der Smissen, associate professor of physical education for women; Jean Loveland, instructor in physical education for women, and Elbert E. Beaver, chief of recreation at Veterans Administration Hospital here.

Friday's session will deal with individual and group programs and procedures. Dr. MacLean will be assisted by Dr. van der Smissen and Miss Loveland.

Part of this program will be devoted to the presentation of a dramatic radio play by Mrs. Harriet Hale, administrator of the Greenwood Acres Nursing Home, Iowa City, and several of the residents from Greenwood Acres. The purpose of the demonstration is to show the value of dramatics as a recreational activity.

Thirty-seven administrators are attending this year's course, which is the second of a three-year demonstration project to train persons who administer facilities for the aged. Directed by the Department of Gerontology, the course will be offered once more in 1965.

State Asks Probe Of Sheriff's Action

DES MOINES (AP)—A state official Wednesday asked Polk County Attorney Harry Perkins Jr. to investigate an alleged violation of the Iowa liquor laws by Sheriff Wilbur T. Hildreth and his deputies.

Asst. Atty. Gen. William Yost, assigned to the Iowa Liquor Control Commission, and Gene Needles, chief of the commission's enforcement division, declared Hildreth and his deputies acted illegally.

HILDRETH denied any violation occurred.

The alleged violation concerns advertising by about 50 holders of liquor licenses in a booklet distributed at a dance given last Friday night to raise funds for Hildreth's re-election campaign.

A section of the liquor law passed by the legislature last year reads: "It shall be unlawful for any law enforcement officer or other official to accept or solicit donations, gratuities, advertising, gifts or other favors, directly or indirectly, from any licensee."

THE OFFENSE is classified as a misdemeanor and carries a penalty of a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $1,000, or a jail term of not less than 30 days nor more than six months, or both fine and jail term.

Hildreth said it is his "understanding that you can solicit from any restaurant, hotel, motel or other establishment separate from a liquor license."

ASKED about a restaurant that has a liquor license, Hildreth said the solicitation would be made "from the restaurant part of the business" and not from the overall business that includes the selling of liquor.

In reply to Hildreth's explanation, Needles said, "They'd be straining themselves with that sort of explanation. Whether you get the money out of the pocket that holds profits from liquor or the pocket that profits from a motel, it's still a violation."

Education Award Begun To Honor Early SUI Grad

A new scholarship award, to be presented to an outstanding candidate for the Master's Degree in education, has been established in honor of one of Iowa's outstanding educators.

The Perry Eugene McClenahan Award has been established by the late educator's daughter, Mrs. Don Guthrie of Iowa City.

The award, approximately $100 this year, will be presented for the first time during a meeting of Phi Lambda Theta, professional education honor society, Friday, Mrs. Guthrie will make the presentation.

McClenahan spent most of his life in educational work, including four years as state superintendent of public instruction. He was an early leader in school district reorganization, and is credited with helping to bring Iowa schools to a nationally recognized standard of excellence.

In 1905 he earned the bachelor of philosophy degree from SUI, and in 1906 the M.A. Degree in education and economics. While at SUI he was owner and publisher of The Daily Iowan, at that time a privately owned newspaper.

At City High Within 5 Years—

Education Expert Warns: Terminal Curriculum Needed

Within five years a terminal curriculum should be established at Iowa City High School to educate the increasing number of non-college-bound students, a special education consultant to the Iowa City School Board has warned.

Dr. Robert Johnson, professor of education at the State College of Iowa, Cedar Falls, told the Iowa City Community School District board Tuesday that, "There appears to be a gathering interest in a terminal or non-college-bound education program," and possibly a need for a technical school in future years.

"THE PRESENT curriculum is limited in that it's heavily academically oriented. This orientation is also evident in terms of the present school facilities. However, this is to be expected since the community and students, for the most part, are directly associated with the University or are a part of its environment," he said.

Presently, most graduating seniors are college bound, but this may change with industrial development, Johnson said. "In the class of '64, not more than 50 per cent are going to college," he added.

If Iowa City reaches the expected population high of 70,000, Johnson said more light industry will develop, causing future school planning to meet this potential growth.

THE SCHOOL board currently is negotiating plans for an addition to City High. Johnson's report will be considered in the planning. Johnson also suggested a five-year plan where an exploratory program would be initiated in the current industrial arts program. He said the present program "appears to be an after thought."

He explained, "This is not intended as a critical statement. It is merely an illustration of the total academic orientation of the total school program."

SUCH COURSES as electronics, motor mechanics, and plastics should be added to the present curriculum of woodshop, metalshop, electricity, and drafting, Johnson said.

He emphasized the present staff would not have to be increased if a team teaching program is utilized. For example, the current industrial arts program could be combined with mathematics and science in implementing the vocational program, he said.

"Industry wants people with high ability who don't want to go on to school. We haven't explored this area. Perhaps, we could stop high school dropouts through the terminal education approach," Johnson concluded.

Campus Notes

YWCA Execs

The YWCA Executive Cabinet for next year will meet at 4:30 today in the YWCA Office of the Union.

Journalism Workshop

Registration for the 12th annual Iowa High School Journalism Workshop June 8-12 at SUI, is running ahead of last year's pace.

Physics Lecture

Dr. Aaron Galonsky of the Midwest University Research Association will speak on "Beta Ray Polarization" at 4:10 p.m. Friday in 301 of the Physics Building.

The Department of Physics and Astronomy is sponsoring his lecture as part of a colloquium.

Vocal Recital

Carole Dougan Minnick, A4, Hubbard, will present a vocal recital Saturday at 4 p.m. in North Music Hall.

Mrs. Minnick, a soprano, will be assisted by Robert Klassy, G. Monroe, Wis., clarinet; Jose Mariscal, G. Key West, Fla., piano and by Janice Dockendorff, A2, Danville, Ill.

Conference on Women

Dewey B. Stult, Dean of the College of Liberal Arts, will attend a conference Friday and Saturday to discuss the problem of utilizing to a greater degree the talents of women in our society at the Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh.

Auditor Asks For Primary Ballots Ruling

BURLINGTON (AP)—Des Moines County Auditor Frank Humpton Wednesday asked for an attorney general's ruling on whether 20,000 ballots for the June 1 primary election will have to be reprinted or altered because of an error.

Humpton said Wednesday the error involves the terms for county supervisors. The ballots list the terms as for three years, but Humpton said Atty. Gen. Evan Hultman has ruled that they should be elected to four-year terms.

Oscar Strauss, an assistant attorney general, said in Des Moines that a ruling on the question will be made later. Hultman was out of the office with a Republican campaign caravan. He is the GOP candidate for governor.

Student Groups Should Request Fall Space Soon

Student organizations wanting display space at September's registration should turn in a request for space at the Office of Student Affairs before June 1.

The request forms are now available at the reception desk in the Office of Student Affairs.

Space at registration for organizations wishing to distribute materials will be in a special area along the exit route. No distribution of any kind will be allowed elsewhere in the Field House.

All requests for space will be numbered as they are received. Space is limited and will be assigned according to the numerical order of the request forms.

mission cards enabling them to three working members each for each morning and afternoon period. The workers will be issued admission cards enabling them to enter the special reserved area.

Fisher Hurls Shutout Over Braves

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Fisher shut out the Milwaukee Braves for seven innings and drove in two runs Wednesday as he led the New York Mets to a 5-2 victory, their first over Milwaukee this season.

The Braves had won three straight from the Mets, the last two by shutouts, and New York had gone through 26 scoreless innings against Milwaukee before Jesse Gonder opened the scoring with a home run over the right field fence in the first inning.

FISHER, winning his first game of the season against one defeat, took charge from there on. His sacrifice fly in the second brought in Rod Kanehl, who had tripled. In the fourth he doubled in Tim Harkness, then scored the Mets' fourth run himself.

Harkness had walked and stolen second before Fisher rapped Tony Cloninger, the losing pitcher, for a double. Roy McMillan's double scored Fisher.

FISHER'S hit touched off a rhabarb that led to veteran pitcher Warren Spahn being ejected from a game for the second time in his 13-year career.

The Braves claimed a half swing by Fisher should have been called a third strike. When Spahn continued heckling umpire Ed Vargo from the bench at the start of the fifth inning, Vargo chased him from the game.

 LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Angels scored seven runs in the second inning — three on a homer by Jim Fregosi — and flattened Kansas City 9-0 Wednesday night in the first game of a double-header.

Right-hander Barry Latman became only the second Angel pitcher to go the distance in 26 games this season. He also delivered a two-out single that got the big rally off the ground in the second.

Colts 2, Giants 1
 HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's hard-luck Ken Johnson, who lost a no-hitter earlier this season, won his first game in a month Wednesday night as the Colts pushed across the decisive run in two bad-hop hits and a wild pitch in the seventh inning for a 2-1 victory over National League-leading San Francisco.

Both bad-hop hits had first been ruled errors but the official scorer changed his decision after talking to the umpires and the players involved.

Johnson pitched perfect ball for six innings before Jesus Alou doubled on the first pitch in the seventh inning. Johnson also kept San Francisco's timid Willie Mays hitless in his first three trips to the plate, but Mays singled in the ninth off reliever Hal Woodeshick.

Mays' hit extended his hitting streak to 20 games, but his 1-for-4 performance trimmed 10 points off his astronomical batting average, cutting it to .468. Mays hasn't gone hitless since the third game of the season.

The Colts took a 1-0 lead against lefty Bob Hendley in the fifth when Rusty Staub homered. Johnson, who lost a no-hitter April 23 and hadn't won since April 18, went into the seventh without having allowed a base runner.

Detroit, Yankees Tie

DETROIT (AP) — The New York Yankees and the Detroit Tigers played to a 1-1 tie Wednesday night in a game that was postponed by rain after six innings.

The Yankees scored their run in the first inning on singles by Phil Linz, Elston Howard and Tom Tresh.

The Tigers got their run in the fifth after Whitey Ford had retired the first 12 batters to face him. Detroit led the bases on singles by Norm Cash, Bill Freeman and Willie Horton. Cash scored on a wild pitch.

Fischer Leads Braves' Staff

NEW YORK (AP) — Hank Fischer, Milwaukee's young right-hander, probably didn't mean it as an indictment of the New York Mets' hitting, but after pitching a three-hit 2-0 shutout against them he told Bobby Bragan, his manager, "I didn't have it tonight."

The 24-year-old pitcher from Yonkers, N.Y., is the leading Braves' pitcher with a 4-1 record. The shutout Tuesday night was his second of the season.

A YEAR ago at this time he was pitching in Toronto.

Brought up to the Braves later he did most of his work in the bullpen and he wasn't very impressive at that.

To what does he owe his improvement?

"Two things," replied the young man, who received a bonus of $50,000 to sign a Braves contract back in 1939 while he was attending Seton Hall University. "Confidence and control."

The confidence began when he learned last winter that the Braves had traded off two pitchers, Bob Shaw and Bob Hendley, to the San Francisco Giants to make room for their young pitchers. That included Fischer, of course.

AND THE control angle?

"I could always throw hard but I had a reputation for wildness," Fischer explained. "This spring I came to camp eight days early and started working on my control. With the help of Whitlow Wyatt, our pitching coach, I worked on getting on top of the hitter and staying ahead of him.

"In the minors, I usually struck out eight to 10 hitters a game and walked six or seven. That's because I tried to overpower every batter. Now I just try to get them out."

Riders Set For Pimlico

BALTIMORE (AP) — There was a threat of rain in the air Wednesday but there was no talk of withdrawals at Pimlico, where the six 3-year-old horses scheduled to start in Saturday's Preakness went through slow workouts.

Rain or shine, Northern Dancer, Hill Rose, The Scoundrel, Roman Brother, Quadrangle and Big Pete will be entered Thursday morning at the cost of $1,000 each and, barring the unexpected, will be in the starting gate at Saturday for the second leg of the Triple Crown.

It'll cost another $1,000 to start in the 1 1/2-mile classic making the gross value of the 88th running for the Black-eyed Susans $176,700. The winner's share will be $124,200 with $30,000 for second, $15,000 for third and $7,500 for fourth. Thus, only two horses will not share in the payoff.

The weatherman sees a few showers between now and post time, but fair and warm is the general prediction. With limited seating, a none-too-large lawn in front of the stands and the infield closed to spectators, the ancient but refurbished track is expected to be packed to capacity of 30,000. The race has a 4:45 post time and will be nationally televised by CBS.

The jockeys are not expected to arrive until Friday, with Willie Shoemaker coming from California to handle Hill Rise. Bill Hartack again will be astride Northern Dancer as he was in the Kentucky Derby when the Canadian-owned Colt ripped Hill Rise by a neck. The Scoundrel was third in the Derby. Roman Brother fourth and Quadrangle fifth after being bumped at the start. Big Pete won the six-furlong Delaware Valley Stakes at Garden State Park the week before the Derby.

Faber Feted At Banquet

DUBUQUE (AP) — Urban Red Faber, a Chicago White Sox old-timer named to the Baseball Hall of Fame, didn't get to see his Loras College team in action Wednesday but was the guest of honor at the school's 125th anniversary celebration.

Faber, a Loras alumus of the class of 1909, was scheduled to throw out the ball and watch his alma mater play Upper Iowa in the school's last game of the season.

But the game and a program to dedicate a new baseball field had to be called off because of wet grounds.

Joe Louis Celebrates 50th Birthday

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Louis was 50 years old Wednesday, a day for cake, candles, friends and memories.

Few men "celebrate" No. 50, but Louis did at a party on the 50th floor of a midtown hotel. If he was concerned about his lost youth, he kept it to himself.

The Brown Bomber of old said he weighed about 235 pounds. That would be about 22 more than he weighed the night he had his last fight — with Rocky Marciano in 1951.

"If you had to do it all over again would you change anything?" a fellow who is not known for his original thinking asked the ex-champion.

"Naw, I don't see how I could change anything," Louis said in a voice so low you had to bend close to hear him. "Sure, I'd fight Marciano again. That fight didn't mean anything, I'd quit when I did and I'd make a comeback when I did because I really thought I could beat Ezzzy Charles.

"They didn't have the television money in my day they have now. That would be nice to have. But like I tell everybody, I probably would have made a couple million dollars more but I'd owe that much more to the tax people."

Louis said his income tax problems still were unsettled and would be hanging for a long time although the government once announced it had closed the case. Louis became deeply involved in back tax trouble when he returned to civilian life after the war.

Palmer Favored At Okla. Open

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Arnold Palmer, one of five former winners, leads the field into the Oklahoma City Open Golf Tournament starting today.

Palmer won the event in 1959. Other former winners back for a try at the $6,400 top money are defending champion Don Fairfield, Fred Hawkins, 1956 titlist, and Gene Littler, 1960 champion.

Palmer and Littler share the tournament record for low winning score, 273. However, they both won at Twin Hills and the tournament now is held at Quail Creek Country Club.

Both Fairfield and Doug Sanders, the 1962 winner, won at Quail Creek with 280s. Par for the 7,942-yard course is 36-36-72.

There'll be at least one new wrinkle in the tournament this year. As each player starts his round he will be given a copy of the city's sonic boom schedule.

The Federal Aviation Agency is conducting an experiment to measure public reaction to frequent sonic booms. Eight booms are scheduled for Oklahoma City daily.

Girls' Basketball Requests Heard

"I see more headaches in girls' group teams . . . There are some things that are just plain feminine about girls . . . I wouldn't say it was discriminating against women . . . Such are the Iowa City Board of Education's reactions to a letter pleading for interscholastic athletic competition for girls at Iowa City High School.

Every year young female voices raise to the cry for girls' interscholastic athletic competition for girls at Iowa City High School. Every year young female voices raise to the cry for girls' interscholastic athletic competition, Buford W. Garner, superintendent of schools, told the board.

He said, "If we're going to meet the individual's needs, we should provide the opportunity." However, Garner continued, girls' basketball would mean either building a second gym or having games during the week, a practice which is avoided by the school system.

More coaches would be needed, Garner said, and a special conference for the competition would have to be set up.

Alston Explains Dodgers' Plight

CHICAGO (AP) — Manager Walt Alston of Los Angeles' low-dipping Dodgers is a quiet man, given these days to stubborn optimism and philosophy.

"We've been really racked up by injuries, but consider that six or 16 losses to date have been by one run," Alston said Wednesday as rain washed the day's Dodger-Cub date into a twin bill today.

THE WORLD champion Dodgers, strange National League basement buddies of the Houston Colts and New York Mets with a 10-16 record, have a 2-6 record in one run decisions.

"Last year, we won the pennant scoring 200 fewer runs than we did in 1962 — but we took 33 one-run decisions," recounted Alston.

"That meant the pitching was good, as everybody knows with Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale mainly carrying the load, but also that we got the timely hit or the other team's big error."

"NOW, even with Koufax and Johnny Podres ailing, we still have surprisingly good pitching — with those two kids Joe Moeller and Phil Ortega doing real well, but we can't seem to tie it up with clutch hitting and our own miscues are hurting."

Moeller now stands 1-3 and Ortega 1-2 and — of the Dodger big three — only Don Drysdale, 4-1, is a winning pitcher. Koufax, all-yearlong last season with 25-5, nurses a 2-3 record and sore-winged Podres has 0-1.

KOUFAX, trying to shake a stiff back lingering from a San Francisco chill Saturday, and Drysdale will close out the Cub series against Dick Ellsworth, 2-3, and Larry Jackson, 5-1 today.

"It's a funny thing about Moeller and Ortega," mused Alston. "Like sometimes happens to youngsters, one season they suddenly be-

Badger Leads Conference Sluggers

CHICAGO (AP) — Wisconsin football star Fred Reichardt appears a good pro baseball prospect, too.

The 6-foot-3, 205-pound junior back seems headed for his second successive Big Ten batting title which should set a modern conference precedent.

Reichardt has a nine-game average of .515, heading official statistics posted Wednesday. The Badger centerfielder won the title last season with .429 and for his last 15 Big Ten games is batting .593.

Iowa's Steve Green has the conference's best earned run average, although he has won only one of three games while pitching 12 1-3 innings; He has not given up an earned run.

The Hawkeyes' Jim Koehn is tied for ninth in batting with a .323 average.

Minnesota's fine pitching staff owns a composite earned run average of 1.65 for 65 innings.

The four-man Gopher Corps is headed by Joe Pollack, one of a trio of unbeaten Big Ten three-game winners.

Dark: Baseball Better Than Ever

HOUSTON (AP) — Alvin Dark says he would hate to go into baseball now and try to hit .300.

"I know baseball is better now than it was 15 years ago," the manager of the San Francisco Giants said Wednesday.

"When I started playing, if you went to town for three days you knew you were going to get one lamb. You knew you were going to bat against one guy who you could get two or three hits off of — and if you had a real good day you could get four."

Dark, whose Giants are playing the Houston Colts in a four-game series, says it is not that way anymore.

The former Louisiana State University athlete said all teams have more hard-throwing young pitchers around than there ever has been before.

Remodeling Nears End Of First Phase

The first phase of the $650,000 renovation of the Field House is nearly completed with the North Gym and part of the swimming pool area already remodeled.

The construction project, to be completed by next fall, is designed to improve the appearance, safety and comfort of the indoor athletic facilities.

The SUI Athletic Board and Athletic Director Forest Evashevski wants to do everything possible for the safety and comfort of spectators and athletes, said Bob Flora, administrative assistant to Evashevski.

"The board wants to provide the best possible facilities for spectators and all those students, faculty and staff members and varsity athletes who take part in the athletic program at SUI," Flora said.

The rest of the pool will be remodeled next. A variety of changes in the present situation are planned to make the pool more attractive and comfortable for both swimmers and spectators.

The south, east and west walls of the pool area will be covered with four-inch tile, colored blue to match the pool water, up to window height. The remaining wall space will be painted with a new synthetic paint which dries to a tile-like finish. The ceiling will be covered with acoustical tile.

In addition, high-intensity mercury vapor lamps will replace the present incandescent lighting, and a new heating system will be installed.

Also planned for the remodeled pool area are a new scoreboard, a record board indicating pool records, and a concrete 18-foot platform at the west end of the pool which will support two high-diving boards.

The two high and low boards at the west end of the pool will provide SUI with the needed diving equipment for possible NCAA meets or other major swimming events.

Two men vitally interested in the new construction are Gymnastic Coach Dick Holzapetel and Swimming Coach Bob Allen.

Holzapetel, whose varsity gymnasts perform in North Gym said, "The new lighting, in particular, is a tremendous improvement. We already have the finest equipment available, and the total remodeling gives us one of the best gymnastic workout areas in the country."

Allen, who has already moved into his new office, said, "our pool itself is one of the best in the country already. The modernization of the surrounding area will give us one of the finest pool facilities found anywhere. Now we can hope to compete with Big Ten schools like Michigan and Wisconsin, which have recently built new pools, in recruiting high school talent."

Although plans for the third phase of the renovation program — involving the basketball area of the Field House — are still in the development stage. Athletic Director Forest Evashevski outlined a few changes which will undoubtedly be included in the plans.

A new ceiling will cover the beams and girders over the basketball playing and spectator areas, and a new lighting system will be aimed at the court and track areas. The entire area will be painted, and seats will be covered with fiberglass now used in the football stadium. New press facilities are also planned.

Among other improvements, said Evashevski, will be a renovation of locker facilities below the Field House; larger and more attractive concession areas; and possible construction of a letterman's lounge above the trophy case in the front lobby.

It is hoped that these and additional improvements will be completed in time for the beginning of school in the fall.

Black Criticizes Iowa Housing

By BRAD CHURCH Staff Writer

H. M. Black, owner of a student dwellings known as "Black's Graduate House," accused the "affluent city of Iowa City" of discrimination against SUI students in their housing.

In an interview with The Iowan, Black said the residents live in the better residential sections of the city and make living from students, dorm students to live in these town.

Black accused the city of a just adjustment with discrimination against him for trying to better student housing. A son refused a building permit from the City Council may appeal the decision to the Board of Health, whose decision is final.

"University professors, parents, the university payroll and other affluent citizens pass up an opportunity against better student housing," Black said.

BLACK CITED a recent meeting of the Board of Adjustment meeting was seeking permission to bathroom to his apartment but was refused. Black criticized Elwin Joffile, vice president of SUI business and for voting against the permit.

"These people make the permit from students but won't allow the same housing privileges to have," Black said. "I've been living for the past 30 years, students," he continued, "but people don't like to admit

Black Criticizes 'Affluent Citizens'— Iowa City Landlord Cites Housing Discrimination Issue

By BRAD CHURCH
Staff Writer

H. M. Black, owner of a group of student dwellings known as "Black's Graduate Houses," has accused the "affluent citizens of Iowa City" of discrimination against SUI students in offering them housing.

In an interview with The Daily Iowan, Black said the people who live in the better residential sections of the city and make their living from students, don't want students to live in these parts of town.

Black accused the city board of adjustment with discriminating against him for trying to provide better student housing. Any person refused a building permit by the City Council may appeal the decision to the Board of Adjustment, whose decision is final.

"University professors, people on the university payroll and various other affluent citizens seldom pass up an opportunity to vote against better student housing for students," Black said.

BLACK CITED a recent Board of Adjustment meeting where he was seeking permission to add a bathroom to his apartment house, but was refused. Black especially criticized Elwin Jolliffe, vice president of SUI business and finance, for voting against the permit.

"These people make their living from students but won't allow them the same housing privileges as they have," Black said. "I've made my living for the past 30 years from students," he continued, "but some people don't like to admit it."

Jolliffe refused to comment on the issue.

Black, whose houses are located in the 400 block of Brown Street, claims he wants to furnish better housing for students but the city won't let him. His houses include a 120-year-old dilapidated brick house and an N-shaped complex built from materials which were salvaged from throughout the countryside.

The porch on the brick house sags and the boards on the ceiling threaten to fall any minute. Inside, rooms are untidy, drab and unclean. Black claims he has spent $10,000 improving the house, but admits it is "still a firetrap."

HE CHARGES $45 monthly rent for single rooms, and apartments range from $100 to $125 monthly. The house was formerly owned by a University professor, Black said, and it was on the approved list then. "When I bought the house three years ago, it was taken off the approved list," he said.

Behind the house is an ancient stone hut in the process of being connected to the house. Near-by is the complex of houses he calls the "Gothic House," "Chateau de Porte," and the "Lodge." They are connected by single rooms, forming one N-shaped line with varying roof heights and architectures. Some are covered with tar paper or unpainted board. A few salvaged window frames show the remains of paint from the original buildings.

BLACK SAID he has often been criticized for the buildings. "I've been accused of having houses not fit to live in," he said. He claims these rumors were started by his neighbors because they don't want students for neighbors.

Black is now building an L-shaped duplex, which he says will cost $40,000. It will be located behind the brick house. The zoning laws don't permit building on the back of a lot, but Black received his building permit before the new law was passed.

"SEVERAL of the rooms in the house are too small," Black said. He said he has tried to get permission to alter the original blueprint and make the rooms larger, but the Board of Adjustment refused.

Black also said the blueprint calls for an open stairway in the basement. "F. J. Kilpatrick, director of the inspection division of the SUI Health Department, says open stairways are fire traps," Black said. "Yet the board of adjustment won't let me change it."

Black also claimed the board won't let him provide a second entrance to the basement, as Kilpatrick recommends.

Hillcrest General Council Passes Two Amendments

An expected fight on the floor of the Hillcrest General Council meeting Tuesday night didn't develop as the council voted on ten proposed amendments to the Hillcrest Association Constitution.

The first six amendments, which would have eliminated the Presidents' Council, were voted down in a block 10-6. The President's Council is made up of the presidents of the 16 houses in Hillcrest.

President Robert Hobart, AS, Centerville, contended that the council had no power and was not needed. A letter, signed by ten of the 16 presidents, protested the amendments.

Two other amendments failed to pass. One would have made a minor change in the judiciary and the other would have made it more difficult to amend the constitution.

Two amendments were passed, however. One created a new section stating that the General Council should represent the residents of Hillcrest in accordance with the constitution.

The other amendment passed added the KWAD Radio Network Committee as a standing committee.

Dolphins To Hold Annual Glutton Contest

"I scream, you scream . . ." Members of the Dolpin Fraternity will all scream for ice cream at their 35th annual "Glutton Contest" Saturday from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the Sanitary Farms distribution plant across from the Communications Center.

The contest will separate "the ice cream eaters" from the boys. Each member of the Dolpins will try to put away more ice cream than the other members within the two hour time period.

Those who don't keep the ice cream down will be disqualified. The record for the "Glutton Contest" is 11 pints, held by Richard Neff, E4, North Muskegon, Mich. He gobbled his way to the record in 1962.

Two prizes will be awarded to the "gluttons" who can eat and hold the most ice cream. A large piggy bank, symbol of the glutton, will be given to the active Dolpin member who eats the most and a smaller bank will be given to the freshman probationary member who does likewise.

Irving Weber, a vice president of Sanitary Farm Dairies, was the first all-American swimmer at SUI and is a past president of the Dolpin Fraternity. He provides the ice cream for the contest each year.

Representative Calls Tax Reform, Schools Key Issues

State Rep. David Stanley (R-Muscatine) Wednesday said that "tax reform and better schools will be big issues in the 1964 elections." Stanley spoke before a meeting sponsored by the SUI Young Republicans and Young Democrats.

Stanley, Republican candidate for State Senator in the Cedar-Muscatine district, said, "We need more state financial help for local schools to relieve the property tax burden. Iowa over-uses the property tax and we should shift a large amount of school costs from property taxes to state taxes."

"Governor Hughes' plan for a big boost in state income taxes would slow down Iowa's growth," Stanley charged. "The money for school aid and property tax relief should come from more efficient government, better enforcement of existing taxes, and from sales and excise taxes."

Stanley said, "Governor Hughes proposed a budget last year which would have crippled SUI and other state schools. The Republican legislature had to raise Hughes' education budget several million dollars so that our universities can keep growing."

Summer Job Prospects 'Non-existent' in City

Job prospects for people seeking summer employment in Iowa City are "almost non-existent," according to a report issued by the Iowa City office of the Iowa State Employment Service Tuesday.

The report states that this is the first surplus of job-seekers for some time in Iowa City. In March, job openings numbered 304 while the number of applicants was only 223.

The present level of employment in manufacturing is expected to hold steady until July or August, when a slight decline is possible, the report states.

According to the report, retail trade is expected to hold present levels until the back-to-school sales begin.

Model Code Will Be Basis of Ordinance

Authorities—

to participate in the public hearings which will be necessary before any municipal housing ordinance can be adopted, he said. "WE FEEL THAT adoption of this ordinance by the Council will provide Iowa City with a valuable tool for gradually eliminating sub-standard housing and its concomitant hazards to human health and safety," the Citizens Committee report said.

Leikvold said he has been authorized by the Council to use this model code as a starting point for further studies into the housing problem.

COUNCILMAN William Hubbard called this recommendation a "step in the right direction," and Councilman William Maas said the City Council would "probably give this recommendation every consideration."

"The Citizens Committee recommendations were very complete," Mayor Richard Burger said. "We will study this code and use it as a base. We may end up with exactly the same thing or with something entirely different, but at least it's a start."

THE COUNCIL will study the Citizens Committee model code thoroughly, the mayor said, and will then work the ordinance into the form it deems appropriate.
 A public hearing or hearings—there will be as many as are necessary—will follow. The ordinance will then be revised into its final form, Burger said. All ordinances require three public readings before the Council can vote on them.

CORRECTION

Mr. and Mrs. William Hubbard, co-owners of 9, 11 and 13 E. Burlington St. said Wednesday these houses are managed by Don Monroe. The buildings are now occupied by 26 students.

A room referred to as having inadequate ventilation does have a sizable window, according to the manager. The report was taken from student remarks.

Joe Merz, G. Chicago, Wednesday said he feels this housing is quite good, relative to similar housing in Iowa City. A former resident of the building revealed the information of the basement now, not anyone living there now.

Retiring Staff Expresses Nostalgia, Relief

By DON KLADSTRUP
 Staff Writer

Appreciation, nostalgia and, in some cases, relief were the feelings expressed Wednesday by 11 faculty and administrative staff members who will complete their full-time service to the University at the end of the academic year.

"I've reached the age but not the inclination," Prof. James H. Wick, head of operative dentistry, said. Wick and 10 others will be honored at the annual Faculty Recognition Banquet at 6:30 tonight in the Main Lounge of the Union.

"I've had 43 years of very enjoyable work at the University and have made many, many wonderful associations," Wick continued. "I'm only sorry the time has come for me to quit. I hate to break off after all these years."

WICK SAID he will probably do some part-time teaching at SUI next year. "I'd also like to make a few trips my wife and I have thought about for many years."

Wick received his D.D.S. in 1931 at SUI. He became professor and head of operative dentistry at SUI in 1955.

"One cycle is coming to a close and another is opening up," Elmer T. Peterson, professor of higher education and Dean Emeritus, said. "My wife and I are ready to retire and welcome it. When you retire, you should pull that curtain and pull it tightly," he said. "We plan to enjoy life with no regular responsibilities."

PETERSON, who has served at SUI for 40 years, received his Ph.D. at SUI in 1927. He received his B.A. in 1917 at Augustana Col-

Playwright Wins Hollywood Trip, MCA Fellowship

Ralph Arzooonian, G. Cranston, R.I., has accepted an offer to go to Hollywood for a month this summer to watch the creation of a TV show. From preliminary meetings to final production.

He is one of 27 students in the country currently holding fellowships in playwriting from the Music Corporation of America (MCA).

In addition to the trip, which he will make in August, with all expenses paid, Arzooonian also received a renewal of his $3,000 MCA fellowship for the next academic year to enable him to continue work toward a Ph.D. degree in dramatic arts at SUI.

lege and his M.A. in 1922 at Columbia University. In 1951, he received his L.L.D. at Augustana College.

Gladys S. Benz, associate professor in the College of Nursing, described her nine years of service at SUI as "pretty exciting."

"I've really enjoyed it," she said. "Now I'm planning to remain right here in Iowa City. Mrs. Benz received her B.S. in 1931 at Columbia University and her M.A. in 1940 at the University of Minnesota before resuming her present position at SUI in 1959.

IRVING H. BORTS, director of the State Bacteriological Laboratory and professor of hygiene and preventive medicine, said he was grateful to have had the chance to "serve the public and public health" the past 40 years. Regarding his retirement, he said "It's a hard decision to make, but I think I've done my job."

Borts has conducted extensive research on brucellosis, an infectious disease transmitted from animals to human beings, which is especially prevalent in Iowa.

Borts, who has been director of the lab since 1943, said he will continue research on his own in addition to writing a history of the bacteriological laboratory.

GLENN D. DEVINE, assistant professor of athletics since 1937, described the high point of his career as the year the SUI football team finished second in the conference in 1939 behind Ohio State. This was the year that Nile Kinicki injured his shoulder and had to miss the final game against Northwestern. "We didn't think we could win but we did," Devine said.

Devine said he would like to go to the Olympics in October "but it's pretty late to get reservations. If I am able to go, I'll teach here next year to make up for the two and one half months I'd miss here." Devine has this much time remaining before he officially retires.

Devine was SUI football backfield coach during World War II and golf coach in 1957.

M. Pearl Spanswick, instructor of SUI Photographic Service since 1947, said "I've been here so long, and principal serologist at the State Bacteriological Laboratory," said "It's all been wonderful."

MRS. SPANSWICK has been active in Iowa public health work for 35 years. She received her B.S. in 1917 at Beloit College and her M.S. in 1918 from the University of Wisconsin.

Sidney G. Winter, professor of accounting and former Dean of the College of Business Administration at SUI, described his 40 years at SUI as "extremely interesting."

Winter came to Iowa in 1924 and became a professor in the College of Business Administration in 1929. He received his B.A. in 1921 at Colorado College and his M.S. and C.P.A. in 1923 at the University of Illinois.

Frederick W. Kent, manager of SUI Photographic Service since 1947, said "I've been here so long, it all seems like one long line of progress. I started taking pictures in 1911 and have been taking them ever since."

KENT, who received his B.A. in 1915 at SUI, said he has no definite plans after the school year ends.

Robert L. King, professor of zoology since 1937, said he has no definite plans either. "One thinks of what one might do but then again there are always other things. I'll still have a lot of work to do," he said, referring to his connection with the Lakeside Laboratory.

"I've certainly enjoyed myself and it's been a wonderful privilege," Charles B. Righter, associate professor and administrative assistant in the office of the president said regarding his 34-year career at SUI.

RIGHTER, who is on leave of absence, was band director from 1937-1954. He received his B.F.A. in 1926 at Nebraska University and became administration assistant at SUI in 1957.

President Virgil M. Hancher also will be honored tonight after almost 24 years of service as president of SUI.

HANCHER, who will spend the next two years as an educational consultant for the Ford Foundation in India, has received numerous degrees from many colleges and universities.

The institutions include SUI, Oxford University, Grinnell College, St. Ambrose, Cornell College, Northwestern University, Beloit College, University of Southern California, Coe College, Florida University, Michigan State University, Central College, and Montana State College.

The Junk

A strange piece of sculpture Thursday as students huddled around a miscellany rose skyward "1964" Alas, then it was buried.

Quick 'Art'

A 'Hap' Happen

Strange things were 'happening' between the Art Department and a large crowd of spectators and finally mingled among people who were — among things — painting a bathtub, building a raft and painting pictures. CLASSICAL MUSIC played a loudspeaker. Water skiers, ers and canoers observed the penings from the water.

"It's a happening," said several of the painters. "We're doing thinking," said one of the artists.

People from Art and Workshop were among those work. Students from photo and sign classes were taking part for an assignment. At least on class was assigned to watch was "happening."

One painter explained that happening to be a success, the participants must feel as if they created something together.

HAPPENINGS are usually vate, and everyone who is invited is encouraged to participate. are also usually disciplined, said.

"But this one is neither planned nor private," said Dor, G. Chicago.

Upon completion of the v of art, all of them were built on a float Thursday afternoon, a girl building the float, it took a work of art. "This is a of sculpture," she said.

WHY DID THIS strange happening take place? It seems the idea happened simultaneously among a group of art students, lunch a few weeks ago, group spent about 20 dollars to lumber for the raft.

Actually, it seems that "it" place to publicize an entire, ferent show from the one of River.

An art show, sponsored by Board and the Art Department opens in the Terrace Lounge Union tonight. "This is an a tement for the Patio show," one girl.

The best explanation of a pening" is that it happens.

Council To Meet To

The City Council will hold third special session in four at 4 p.m. today in the Civic ter to discuss the park pro and the possibilities of mee the park board and rec commission.
