Strawn Resigns As YD President

By JON VAN
Managing Editor

Fred Strawn, 31, Garrison, resigned as president of the SUI Young Democrats Monday in a cloud of secrecy which is reminiscent of the controversy generated by him last fall against John Niemeyer, 33, Elkader, then YD president.

Strawn resigned through a telegram to Robert Culbertson, G, Blairburg. The telegram, sent from Des Moines, said, "Let this telegram hereby serve as my resignation from the office of chairman of SUI Young Democrats. Dated this 18th day of May, 1964, best wishes — Fred Strawn."

Culbertson said he had no comment regarding the resignation. "This is a matter which has been settled within the club," he said. The Executive Council of the Young Democrats accepted the resignation in a special meeting held Monday afternoon at the Union.

Merle Wood, A3, Cedar Rapids, executive vice president, issued this statement, "The Executive Council has accepted unanimously the resignation for conduct unbecoming the office of president of the organization."

Wood said, "The actions of members of the club don't necessarily reflect the club as a whole. Wood would not comment further on the action, but would elaborate what the "unbecoming conduct" was.

Jerry Lawler, A3, Clare, was appointed acting president by the council, and Gary Malfeid, A3, Melbourne, was appointed secretary. Elections will be held next fall.

Student Dies After Crash

An SUI student, John Edward Hartsaw, 27, Coralville, died Monday of brain injuries suffered in a one-car crash May 11.

He had been unconscious since the accident, which occurred when the car in which he was riding failed to make a curve on Highway 149 near Walford.

The driver of the car, Norman M. Kaminsky, G, Iowa City, was not injured seriously.

Hartsaw was born in Colon, Panama, October 30, 1936. He was graduated from Western Military Academy, Alton, Ill., and served 3 1/2 years in the Marines.

Hartsaw is survived by his wife, Clarissa Marsola Hartsaw, one sister, Mrs. Joan Schwenke, Coralville, his father, Dr. John E. Hartsaw, Chapel, Neb., and his mother, Hannah Hartsaw, Oakdale.

He was a member of the Coralville Methodist Church, the University Botany Club and the American Orchid Association.

Funeral services will be held at the First Methodist Church at 2 p.m. Wednesday with the Rev. Ralph J. Barrons Sr. of St. James Methodist Church, Cedar Rapids, and the Rev. Eugene H. Hancock of the First Methodist Church officiating. Burial will be in Memory Gardens.

Cuban Refugees Report Castro Troops Active

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Refugees who just arrived from Cuba reported extensive troop movements there as indications of impending exile incursions against the Fidel Castro Regime mounted Monday.

"Invasion jitters have made the Communists desperate," said Ramon Espino, one of 48 fugitives from Cuba arriving by small boats over the weekend.

Espino, from Cardenas in Matanzas Province, east of Havana, added: "We saw continuous streams of trucks filled with troops on the highways, apparently en route to the coasts and mountains. Also tanks and camions."

THE REFUGEE added: "We heard that Cuba's prisons and concentration camps are overflowing."

Cuban radio stations, normally silent during the night, went on a 24-hour basis. An official network of Government offices and armed forces centers operated on an emergency basis. Radio Progreso, a major Havana station, also operated around the clock.

Exiles heard this mysterious short-wave broadcast: "The little tree is in the pasture. Indalecio."

Some speculated this might be a message to the Cuban underground that Manuel Ray landed in Cuba. They pointed out a twig is the emblem of the Revolutionary Junta, the organization headed by Ray, Castro's former underground leader. Junta headquarters said they had no news about any Ray landing, but he was reported to have left Puerto Rico, his exile home.

Monday's action was only the most recent in a long series of political controversies which have involved Strawn since last October when he presented a letter to the Executive Council asking for the impeachment of YD President John Niemeyer. At that time Strawn was second vice president of the organization.

Strawn then charged Niemeyer with misrepresenting the SUI club to state officers, not acting on business replies to the state organization and questionable tactics in All-Campus Elections.

The evening after Strawn presented his charges against the president, the executive committee turned the tables on him and gave him a vote of "no confidence." Niemeyer claimed that Strawn had agreed to resign if such a vote was taken, but Strawn denied this.

Niemeyer said he had accepted a letter of resignation at that time, but Strawn said he had not submitted such a letter.

The Young Democrats voted as a club later to support the Executive Council's action accepting Strawn's resignation.

In November the Executive Council of the Young Democratic Clubs of Iowa revoked the state charter for Niemeyer's organization. Strawn and Dennis Gray, A3, Mableton, immediately formed a new YD organization with a state charter. The chartered club operated in competition with Niemeyer for less than a month and after President Kennedy's death, Niemeyer dissolved his organization.

Strawn served as vice president of the new organization until the spring election when he was elected president.

Strawn was on a train between Des Moines and Iowa City Monday night and could not comment on the resignation.

Eighth Grade Pupils Assist SARE Plan

SARE-Friends of SNCC got some unusual assistance recently for its Mississippi Summer Project.

Thirty students in the eighth grade social studies class at University Schools staged a car wash Saturday at Randall's Super Valu, Coralville, to raise money for SARE-Friends of SNCC's civil rights work in the South this summer.

Charging $1 per car, the youngsters earned a little over $80. They were graduated from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

SUI's recent Civil Rights Week was partially responsible for interesting the eighth graders in the civil rights movement, Clifford Scott, G, Independence, the students' teacher, said.

"The students at University High School in general are socially conscious," Scott said. "And particularly so after our class began discussing the current civil rights movement in connection with the Civil War and the following period of reconstruction."

The youngsters gained further interest in the civil rights movement from hearing Mike Kenney, G, San Mateo, Calif., president of SARE-Friends of SNCC, discuss the movement during a current events class.

Chairman B. Everett Jordan (D-N.C.) has said he expects the committee to make some changes in it before submitting it to the Senate. And the GOP minority reportedly is working on a supplemental report.

Baker, a onetime senate page boy from Pickens, S.C., resigned his $19,000-a-year Senate post last Oct. 7 after questions were raised about his outside business and financial interests.

McLendon's draft report says the general pattern of Baker's business dealings "was built around the prestige of his office and his many friends" but holds his activities did not constitute a conflict of interest as the term is defined by law.

Wallace Opposes Maryland Senator

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, hunting Yankee votes in the third battle of his campaign against President Johnson, clashes with favorite son Sen. Daniel B. Brewster in Maryland's Presidential primary Tuesday.

State Democratic Chairman Harry Troth Gross conceded Wallace 25 to 30 per cent of the Maryland vote — but added he doesn't think the Alabama governor stands a chance of winning.

Some Democratic leaders fear Wallace, who followed his Midwest campaign pattern with a harsh and hectic attack on Johnson's Civil Rights Bill, could capture his first primary victory. But they were not talking publicly.

Seeks $125 Million—

LBJ Asks Added Aid for Viet War

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress Monday to provide an added $125 million to strengthen the Viet Nam war effort and the House Foreign Affairs Committee quickly called a top-level hearing on the request.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and David E. Bell, foreign aid director, were called to testify today at a closed committee hearing.

THE ADDITIONAL $125 million — $70 million for more economic aid and $55 million for military assistance — would be added to the Administration's $3.4-billion foreign aid measure now before the committee. The new request represents an increase of about 25 per cent in the present annual Viet Nam spending rate of $500 million.

"I'm for the increase, and think it is justified," committee Chairman Thomas E. Morgan, (D-Pa.) told a reporter. "I'm convinced Congress will furnish the money."

But the request drew fire from Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.), a persistent foe of U.S. involvement in South Viet Nam. He called it a subterfuge to enable the Administration to carry on a war without having Congress declare war. He expressed all-out opposition to the request.

THE PRESIDENT, in a special message to Congress, noted he had said in January that his budget made no provision for "any major new requirements that might emerge later for our mutual defense and development program."

"That need has emerged in Viet Nam," he said. He cited two major changes in the war-torn Asian country:

• The Communist Viet Cong guerrillas "have intensified terrorist action against the peaceful people of South Viet Nam."

• The new Government under Prime Minister Khanh has brought "new energy and leadership and new hope for effective action."

"We must share the increased costs of the greatly intensified Vietnamese effort," Johnson's statement said. "Increased Communist terror requires it."

JOHNSON said the $125-million increase will not affect the overall Government budget total for the coming fiscal year, because it comes within the budget's allowance for contingencies.

Baker Probe Hurt Senate, Report Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — A draft report by the Bobby Baker probe says the Senate has suffered heavily in respect and prestige and urges that senators and their employees be made subject to tight new ethical safeguards.

The report says that Baker, while a Senate employe, was guilty of gross improprieties and fraudulent practices but holds he was not legally guilty of conflict of interest.

Three fundamental principles are recommended as the basis for legislation or regulations in the aftermath of the disclosure of Baker's wheeling and dealing as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

They are:
1. A system of compulsory public disclosure of the identity of the financial interests of all senators, officers and employes.

2. Compulsory prohibition "of all associations by senators, officers and employes with persons and organizations outside the Senate who are engaged in conducting business with the government or have business before the government officers or agents."

3. A requirement by the Senate, as a matter of permanent policy, that all senators respond to requests from any of its committees to appear and testify about any knowledge they have of a subject under investigation.

Walkout By Teachers Idles Schools

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Virtually all of Utah's public schools opened Monday, but many quickly closed as most of the state's 10,000 teachers began a two-day walkout.

Some districts — mostly in rural areas — reported near-normal operations. But more typical was the situation at a high school in the Salt Lake City suburbs, where 2,000 students sat in the auditorium watching a Walt Disney cartoon because there were no teachers.

THE WALKOUT was called by the Utah Education Association (UEA), seeking national support in its drive for more financial aid. It was watched closely by disgruntled teachers in other areas, who expected it might set a pattern of protest.

The UEA says it represents 96 per cent of Utah public school teachers.

Utah teacher salaries now range from $4,400 to $7,000 per year, with the average $5,900.

At the Utah Capitol, Gov. George D. Clyde, whose refusal to call a special legislative session to appropriate more money triggered the teachers' action, met a delegation of protesting high school students.

1964 Hawkeyes Ready

Students who ordered 1964 Hawkeyes may claim their copies at the main entrance of the Communications Center starting today from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

I.D. cards must be presented to obtain a Hawkeye. Distribution will continue daily, except Saturdays and Sundays, for students who reserved yearbooks last semester and for seniors who are to receive a free copy.

Students wishing their Hawkeyes mailed to them will be charged a postage and handling fee of $1.00, according to Judy Stevens, A4, Iowa City, business manager.

Miss Stevens urged students to claim yearbooks this week before leaving campus for the summer. Students who have not claimed Hawkeyes by May 26 may pick them up in 201, Communications Center, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Want Control of Plaine— Pathet Reds Push Offensive, Outnumber Neutralists 4-1

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces pushed an all-out offensive Monday to seize sole control of the Plaine des Jarres region and, with it, northern Laos. The neutralist army was thrown into retreat.

Thousands of Red troops, striking at dawn behind a 24-hour artillery pounding, advanced on a front several miles wide on the eastern fringe of the strategic, barren plateau 110 miles northeast of Vientiane.

PATHET LAO forces overran the command post of neutralist Gen. Kong Le at Muong Phan, and drove neutralist defenders off Phou Kheng Hill about seven miles to the northeast. There was no word on casualties.

Kong Le retreated just before the mountain village of Muong Phan fell to the Communists.

Western military observers, who flew to the battle zone to evacuate wounded and women and children, said Kong Le's new hilltop command post at Ban Khong, a few miles southwest of Muong Phan, also was under attack. They said it was being evacuated and its fall was only a matter of hours.

HIS 7,000-MAN army, outgunned and outnumbered about 4-1 by the Reds, was strung out on a 22-mile semicircle of high ground running north and south along the eastern edge of the plateau. It appeared that the neutralist army may have been divided.

The Pathet Lao had made small advances to get sole sway over the area, which is strategically important because of the three roads crossing it. Two lead to Communist North Viet Nam and the other to Vientiane and the remainder of Laos.

PATHET LAO troops, which already control two-thirds of Laos' 90,000 square miles of mostly mountainous jungles, want the key region to cement their hold on northern Laos. It would also give them easy access to neighboring pro-Western Thailand.

Neutralist Premier Souvanna Phouma, discussing the military situation at a news conference, appeared worried and upset.

He lashed out at his half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the Pathet Lao, accusing him of ordering "this premeditated general offensive with the help of Viet Minh — North Vietnamese — Communists."

IN WASHINGTON, the United States pressed a strong diplomatic effort — including indirect approaches to Communist China — to cool off the fighting in Laos and preserve that Southeastern Asian kingdom's shaky neutrality.

State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the State and Defense departments also were weighing decisions which the United States could take with other powers to keep the situation in Laos from deteriorating into renewed warfare.

But McCloskey emphasized that he did not want to leave the impression "that we are considering a military move."

"We are engaged in considerable diplomatic activity with other governments," he said.

Asked if this includes an approach to the Chinese Communist Government, he said, "We hope that those governments with whom we have consulted who have representatives in Peking would do what they could" to influence the Communist-led Pathet Lao and supporting forces from Communist North Viet Nam.

City Council To Hear Protest Letters Tonight

City Retail Sales Reach $58 Million During 1963

Iowa City's retail sales reached nearly $58 million in 1963 with a rise during the final quarter of the year leading the way to the record figure.

Sales in the final quarter were $16,747,300, an increase of more than $1 million over sales for the same quarter of 1962.

Eight Rioters Arraigned At Anamosa

ANAMOSA (AP) — Eight inmates of the Iowa Men's Reformatory, the hard core of a prisoner rebellion May 7, were arraigned Monday on charges that could keep each of them behind bars for five additional years.

All were charged with riotous conduct with injury to person or property, and given until Friday to enter pleas.

THE MEN were escorted to the Jones County District Court two at a time, under heavy guard.

Acting Warden Benjamin Baer had vowed to "ban the trouble-makers this time" in the wake of the uprising, third at the 91-year-old institution in seven months. It was put down with tear gas and gunfire aimed over the heads of 20-25 diehards.

Among the eight was Joseph Leo James, 22, of Des Moines, identified by Baer as the "No. 1 cause" of the riot.

IT WAS James who seized a piece of pipe and demanded that two of his buddies being disciplined for a rules infraction be released. James' screams that it was "a bum rap" incited other inmates.

Baer, state director of corrections, and Jones County Atty. Rex Schrader had considered filing more serious charges of arson against some of the inmate ring-leaders for starting a small fire in the laundry, but decided against it. Arson carries a possible 20-year maximum sentence.

James, a parole violator, originally was sentenced to 10 years from Polk County for breaking and entering. Arraigned with him were:

RICHARD C. AUSTIN, 18, of Mason City; Frank J. Eversoll, 22, of Gladena, Ill.; Ronald E. Sanders, 22, of Fort Madison; John Anderson, 20, of Washington; Douglas Preston, 21, of Belle Plaine; George R. Austin, 28, of Antioch, Ill.; and Greg Roberts, 17, of Ottumwa.

Sanders, Anderson and Preston were serving sentences for cat theft and parole violations; Richard Austin as a juvenile delinquent; Eversoll for two counts of car theft and one of escape; George Austin for larceny from a person; and Roberts for larceny in the nighttime.

Eversoll, who escaped from the reformatory in July 1962 and was free for two days, has been disciplined six times for various rules infractions. The others had been disciplined at least once.

Two-Car Collision Kills Three Sunday

James A. Lillig, 21, Tiffin, and his fiancée, Kathleen L. Shabel, 20, of 821 Holt Avenue, were killed Sunday in a two-car crash.

Mrs. Vera Morrow of rural Knoxville was also killed. Her husband, Orlo, 68, was the sole survivor and is listed in satisfactory condition at a Muscatine Hospital.

The accident occurred on Highway 61 near Grandview, south of Muscatine, about 9:30 a.m. Louisa County sheriff's officers said the crash occurred when the north-bound car, driven by Morrow, had just completed passing another auto.

They said skid marks indicated both Lillig and Morrow slammed on their brakes in an effort to avoid the collision. Authorities said neither car overturned.

Coed Named Photo Queen

Maryann Ruud, A3, Rock Island, Ill., was named Miss Iowa Press Photographer at the Iowa Press Photographers' Association annual convention in Des Moines Saturday.

Selection of Miss Iowa Press Photographer is made on the basis of poise, beauty and the "All-American girl image," according to Bernie Ketchum, A4, Oelwein.

Limit Support To Primary In California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Backers of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge threw their support Monday to New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in the June 2 California primary.

But they emphasized that they did so only in the hope of ultimately winning for Lodge the Republican presidential nomination.

They denied it was a "stop-Goldwater" move.

But Sen. Barry Goldwater, (R-Ariz.), campaigning here for the nomination, said that's what it is, and "I don't think it will work."

The announcement from the California Draft Lodge for President, Committee followed Rockefeller's upset win over the South Viet Nam ambassador in last Friday's Oregon primary, in which Goldwater ran third. California's primary now looms as a crucial test between the Arizona senator and the New York governor.

LODGE is not on the California ballot and write-ins are not permitted.

The Lodge group said in a news conference statement: "We will work to mobilize the substantial Lodge support that exists in California and then ask these Lodge supporters to vote for the delegate slate of Nelson Rockefeller."

In New York City, Rockefeller said: "I am very pleased to have the support of the leaders. I think the trend already had set in after the Oregon primary when many of the Lodge people came over. Any additional help for my candidacy is good. I want to say again I have made no deals, nor will I make any."

GOLDWATER had this to say: "I forecast this about three weeks ago. If I were in the Democratic party, giving the Republican party, that's exactly the advice I would give."

"It's a 'stop-Goldwater' movement. That's all it is. I don't think it will work. It will have an effect, but it will take time to analyze."

"I can't say how much Lodge support there is in California. I know it's here. Lodge is now dead as far as the convention is concerned."

Jack W. Crumley of the Lodge organization, answering a question, said support of Rockefeller is limited to California only "because of the unique situation there."

HE READ a statement which said in part: "If one can believe the polls — and they must be correct some of the time — Ambassador Lodge is, in California, the most respected contender. We are convinced that the Rockefeller slate closely parallels the moderate Republican philosophy of Ambassador Lodge. We do not have the same conviction about the Goldwater slate."

"We are also convinced that when and if the California delegates are released by the liner of the primary there would be substantially more second-choice support for Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge in the Rockefeller slate than in the Goldwater slate."

Goldwater's campaign manager, attorney Denison Kitchel of Phoenix, said after a meeting of members of the senator's proposed slate: "We've got a real battle on our hands. We're kidding ourselves if we think we don't."

Editor's Note

The Daily Iowan is introducing a feature page which will appear two or three times weekly. The feature page will be designed to call attention to various aspects of University and community affairs.

By concentrating on a single feature we hope to present a more detailed examination of issues than would be possible in regular news coverage.

Summit Hill, or Goat Hollow as it is often called, is located to the north-west of Iowa City between Iowa City and Coralville. It is a depressed area. Nevertheless, we wish to emphasize that this is not an "expose" of conditions, but an attempt to inform the community of a problem that exists and should be recognized.

There are difficulties involved. Some of the most disturbing problems are those raised in merely approaching the issues.

There is a real sense, for example, that an attempt to deal with a depressed area is an invasion of privacy. The outsider, however good his motives, may rightly be regarded as an interloper, a snooper.

Not everyone's way of life corresponds, nor need it correspond, to the "middle class standard." Further, this middle class standard of "the good life" ought not to be imposed, for if it is, charges of meddling may be justified insofar as the imposition of standards is an interference with another's way of life.

Yet one definitely feels that health and educational standards could be improved in depressed areas. And attempts at improvement should be made in these instances, since they are beneficial to the depressed area, the surrounding communities, and to future lines of progress.

It is desirable that a depressed area receive some amount of attention since knowing is prerequisite for any attempt at improvement of conditions. On the other hand, no area should be emphasized to the exclusion of another. Summit Hill is not the only depressed area in Johnson County.

When an organization attempts to help in these matters, or when a newspaper attempts to examine these matters, the residents of the depressed area may feel they are receiving attention because they aren't "good enough." Certainly, no one has the right to presume he is better, or worse, than anyone else purely because of social circumstances. And, as stated, this is not the point of the attention.

The residents we talked with (on the so-called "lower level" only) were quite congenial, and we always found hospitality and kindness. Nevertheless, since a newspaper publicizes its findings, it is more open to the accusation of meddling than other organizations. There are dangers in publication inasmuch as the prides and sensibilities of people are involved.

Yet it is our hope that more good than ill will result from this feature in the form of community awareness. As Mrs. Charles Whipple, of the Johnson County Council of Social Planning put it, "A committee is only a substitute for a concerned community." We should like this feature to have the effect of furthering the realization of a concerned community.

More significantly, the areas are physically isolated from the surrounding community. Summit Hill is technically neither in Iowa City or Coralville. Further, the access to Summit Hill is solely by means of a dead-end, dirt road.

Recently, steps have been taken to effectively contend with these problems of poverty and alienation. During the summer of 1963, after a pilot project in 1962, an "Experiment in Community Living" was carried out at Summit Hill by the Community Concerns organization of the Association of Campus Ministers. The experiment, under the leadership of the Rev. Joan Bott of the First Presbyterian Church and the Rev. William Friday, of the First Methodist Church, was implemented with the long term aims of establishing a genuine rapport with the residents of Summit Hill as a prelude to the improvement of conditions, not on a basis of "charity," but on a basis of mutual understanding and cooperation.

Although there were misunderstandings, the experiment was successful. Sanitation is a major concern at present. Summit Hill has no provision for garbage collection and is in fact outside the province of Iowa City and Coralville sanitation codes.

There is a health problem here — not only for the residents of Summit Hill but for neighboring areas as well. The difficulty becomes more pressing as both Iowa City and Coralville grow.

According to Miss June Triplett, head of the Visiting Nurses Association (VNA), there are no major disease patterns at Summit Hill though there is potential for disease. She emphasized, however, that similar health dangers exist in other Johnson County regions and even in Iowa City where some isolated houses are without plumbing.

All water at Summit Hill is taken from wells and must be carried to the houses. There have been checks on the water supply that indicated it was safe, but apparently there is no regular check. "Johnson County has no water inspector per se," Miss Triplett said, though there is a district inspector. However, he is responsible for 12 counties.

Alienation from Community Problem in Poverty Pockets

By LEONARD KALLIO
Feature Editor

According to statistics in the May 3 New York Times there are some 9.3 million families in the United States who are classified in the "poverty group," that is, whose yearly incomes are under $3,000. These families represent approximately 20 per cent of this country's population.

Johnson County is no exception to the wide extent of poverty. In this area there are several "poverty pockets," or depressed areas. The Summit Hill area, between Iowa City and Coralville, is such a pocket. While this is a concern to the wide extent of poverty, it should not be thought of as a unique area because of this. It is an example of certain poverty conditions obtaining in Johnson County.

Because these depressed areas are not well-known in Johnson County, it is easy to assume they do not exist. If there are such depressed areas, why are they unnoticed?

First, as at Summit Hill, they are physically isolated from the surrounding community. Summit Hill is technically neither in Iowa City or Coralville. Further, the access to Summit Hill is solely by means of a dead-end, dirt road.

More significantly, the areas are alienated. Because of their physical isolation, their lower income patterns, their often sub-standard sanitary conditions and relatively proper educational backgrounds, the residents are excluded from the mainstream of community activity.

Recently, steps have been taken to effectively contend with these problems of poverty and alienation.

During the summer of 1963, after a pilot project in 1962, an "Experiment in Community Living" was carried out at Summit Hill by the Community Concerns organization of the Association of Campus Ministers. The experiment, under the leadership of the Rev. Joan Bott of the First Presbyterian Church and the Rev. ## Residents of Goat Hollow Haul Water from One Well

By PETIE SARLETTE
Assistant Feature Editor

The homes are mostly new; the streets are wide and paved. But then there is a turn-off and the paving is old and covered with gravel. The road winds down and under a railroad bridge.

Beneath the bridge the paving disappears and the road forks. The upper branch of the road climbs past an old house and through the wooded area of a clearing — Goat Hollow.

PROBABLY nothing approaches the clearing without being hailed by some of Goat Hollow's residents — adults, children, cats, dogs or all of them.

Jesse Mackey is the unofficial patriarch of the clan of nine families that occupies the land they cleared themselves.

His house, which he built himself, is the first one and sets below the others. He and his wife and four of their 13 children live in it with one of their older daughters and her two children and Mr. Mackey's sister, Mrs. Kincaid.

"I CAN'T read nor write," Mr. Mackey said, "but I got my driver's license here. I just walked in and marked the test like they said and got 17 right."

Before he got his driver's license and the car "a few years ago," Mr. Mackey walked every day to his job in the laundry at the Oakdale State Sanatorium.

However, he explained, he was originally a woodcutter and a farmer near Burdette, Ark. Between 1943 and 1946, he and his family migrated between Iowa and Arkansas cutting wood.

Then, for two years they settled in West Branch, while Mr. Mackey worked at Oakdale. They returned to Arkansas and farmed until 1954, when Mr. Mackey again went to work in Oakdale and moved his family to Goat Hollow.

"WE DUG TWO wells by ourselves," Mrs. Leena Mackey said. "One's no good now; it got all full of quicksand. We just got the one now, but we don't ever refuse anybody any water."

The remaining well is at the foot of a hill; an outhouse sits on the top. All the Goat Hollow residents draw their water supply from this well, except the Woodles.

Although the Mackeys have some electrical appliances, they do all their heating and cooking by coal that they transport "from town."

Under the back of the Mackey house, there is a dug-out. "We started a basement," Mrs. Mackey explained. "But it takes a lot of time and we just haven't got around to finishing it."

IN THE MEANTIME, a litter of puppies has taken over the hole and the youngest Mackey, Joseph, who is four, and some of his nieces and nephews have made it a play-house.

From the Mackeys', it's about 100 yards up a hill, past some junked cars, an outhouse, a shed, a couple of trailers and a plowed patch to the Wilkersons'.

Lassie Fay Wilkerson, one of the Mackeys' daughters, and her husband Albert Junior Wilkerson have three children.

Their children, like all of the children in Goat Hollow who are of school age, walk the three-fourths of a mile every day to the Coralville school.

"THEM KIDS don't appreciate what they've got," Mrs. Wilkerson said. "You can't hardly get them to school in the morning."

"I only got to seventh grade," she explained. "My sister and me used to take turns; this was in Arkansas. We had to have somebody in the fields all the time, so one week I'd go to school three days and she'd go two days. The next week we'd change. The rest of the time we had to stay home and work. But I got that far going that way," she said.

MR. WILKERSON is a truck driver, and he's home only a couple of days a week. When he is home, however, Mrs. Wilkerson said they work to clean the place up.

Mrs. Albert Woodle, a widow, and her two sons live on the same hill.

"They haven't got a good mind," said Mrs. Mackey. "They're mentalities," she claimed.

The Woodle boys, both of whom are in their forties, work at odd jobs around Iowa City and Coralville, when they work.

"Yep, I own the land," Mrs. Woodle said. "No," she added, "God owns the land; I'm only borrowing it."

THE WOODLES have their own well, but everyone else is afraid of "the boys," who, according to the Mackeys and Wilkersons, drink and "get rowdy." Consequently, the Mackeys' well is the main water source for the Hollow.

From the Mackeys' the road continues to climb about one-fourth a mile to the Gerards'. Mr. and Mrs. Gerard and their eight children have lived there since August and plan to move to Oasis, northeast of Iowa City, June 6.

They also carry their water from the Mackeys'. As in the Wilkerson family, the children usually get the job of pumping and carrying water every day.

MOST OF THE families in the Hollow have their own gardens, and Mrs. Mackey keeps a cow that provides the milk and butter for her family.

"Always lots of work," Mrs. Mackey said, "but I like out here where it's nice and quiet."

Court ruling and 1984

The growing invasion of privacy by both private and public agencies utilizing electronic gadgets such as the questionable detector and the insidious listening devices is a threat to America's privacy.

The warning that the country is fast following the path of George Orwell's "1984" came on the same day that the Supreme Court reversed the conviction of a folk woman whose premises had been "bugged" by police.

The Court held that such eavesdropping violated the constitutional guarantee of a reasonable expectation of privacy and that the government's use of such devices is not to be tolerated. And laws are needed to call a halt to the spreading evil then Congress should see that they are enacted.

the Editor: there is an interesting situation existing at the Reserve Room of the Library. If there are 500 books, 450 are either checked out, or in the file or "being read." Of the other 50, nobody is 30 anyhow. And in 18 of the remaining 20, somebody has a good enough to tear out important pages. (I have found two books with no trouble.)

Jimmy Rodgers Honored— Iowa Basketball Captain Receives O'Connor Award

Scholar and Sportsman

Jimmy Rodgers, captain-elect of the 1964-65 Hawkeye basketball team, receives the Bucky O'Connor Memorial Award from SUI President Virgil M. Hancher. Looking on are Ralph Miller, new SUI basketball coach, and Mrs. O'Connor, widow of the Iowa basketball and golf coach who was killed in a highway accident in 1958.

Jimmy Rodgers, Franklin Park, Ill., junior and captain-elect of the 1964-65 Hawkeye basketball team, has been named the sixth SUI athlete to receive the Frank (Bucky) O'Connor Memorial Award.

The award, the current amount of which has been increased to $500, was started in 1959 as a tribute to the late Iowa basketball and golf coach who was killed in a highway accident on April 22, 1958.

Rodgers, a pre-dentistry student, was named as Iowa's most valuable basketball player of 1963-64 and was picked as a guard on the Associated Press third all-Big Ten team. He was Iowa's second high-scoring last season with an average of 12.9 per game and was the team's best free thrower with a percentage of .838. He shared the conference's free throwing leadership with .855 in the league games.

The O'Connor award is made each spring to "a member or prospective member of the Iowa varsity basketball or golf team who, by his sportsmanship, scholarship and athletic achievement, best exemplifies the ideals for which Bucky O'Connor stood and sought to instill in the young men whom he taught."

It is financed by the income of the fund from public contributions established at the suggestion of Mrs. O'Connor shortly after her husband's death April 22, 1958. Previous winners were Nolden Gentry, basketball, 1959-60; Frank James, golf, 1960-61; Joe Redding, basketball, 1961-62; Terry Lyon, basketball, 1962-63 and Robert Gitchell, golf, 1963-64.

Bunning Pitches 1-Hitter As Phillies Regain First

HOUSTON (AP)—Jim Bunning allowed one hit, a ground smash past third base by Jim Wynn in the fifth inning, as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated Houston 4-0 Monday night and regained first place in the National League.

The triumph lifted the Phillies 10 percentage points ahead of the San Francisco Giants and tagged still another loss on the Colts' John Johnson.

The Colts had difficulty getting hits and Johnson now is 3-4. In the four games he has lost, including a no-hitter, the Colts have supplied him with only two runs.

Tigers 7, Senators 6

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ninth inning doubles by Gates Brown and Norm Cash delivered three runs as the Detroit Tigers came from behind and whipped the Washington Senators 7-6 Monday night.

Pinch hitter Don Demeter doubled with one out in the ninth and after Bill Bruner reached base on an error by Don Zimmer, Brown doubled the tying runs across. Then Cash's double brought Brown home with the winning run.

Iowa Splits With Indiana

Iowa split a double-header at Indiana Saturday, winning the first game, 10-8, and dropping the night cap in 10 innings, 2-1.

Returning to the lineup, Hawkeye third baseman Jay Petersen led his teammates to the first game victory by collecting four hits in six trips to the plate.

In the first game, Iowa scored three runs off Indiana pitcher Ron Keller in the first inning. Unable to retire an Iowa player, Keller was removed from the game.

Bob Sherman, Iowa right fielder, homered in the second inning. It was his second of the season.

Two more Iowa runs in the fourth inning made it 6-0 before Indiana scored three runs in the bottom of the fifth.

Center fielder Denn Krueger and shortstop Fred Nori paced the Indiana attack with three hits apiece.

Iowa added runs in the sixth and two in the eighth to insure a victory for sophomore pitcher Bob Schaubenber.

Iowa Coach Dick Schultz said he felt the team couldn't have played better ball, defensively, than it did this weekend. "Both Petersen and Banaszek made fine defensive efforts in both games," he said.

Iowa Golfers Finish 3rd In Triangular Meet

Iowa golfers finished third behind Wisconsin and Minnesota in a triangular meet held in Minneapolis Saturday.

Minnesota's Gophers, defending Big Ten champs, edged the Badgers 775-777. Iowa finished third with 797.

The only Hawks to finish in the top six was John Bergren with a 155 — (75-80) score for 36 holes. Bruce Thompson was eighth with 157 — (82-74) and Joe McEvoy finished ninth with 158 — (78-80).

Dick Blosson of Minnesota and Ralph Schlicht of Wisconsin tied for medalist honors with 150.

Mets 4, Giants 2

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—George Altman powered a three-run homer confounding San Francisco Manager Alvin Dark's strategy and leading the New York Mets to a 4-2 victory over the Giants Monday.

With two runners on in the eighth, Dark brought on left-handed Billy Pierce to pitch to left-handed hitting Altman. The big outfielder responded with his second homer of the year, scoring Dick Smith and Rod Kanehl ahead of him.

The big blast over the right field fence ended a 31-inning stretch in which the Mets hadn't scored a run against the Giants.

It gave Galen Cisco his second victory of the year against three setbacks and Bob Shaw his second loss against three victories.

Shaw had relieved Bob Bolin after Bob Taylor pinch hit a single to lead off the eighth. Smith forced Taylor at second and Kanehl beat out an infield hit.

New York ... 000 000 040—4 9 0

Finley To Ask Court To Enforce 7-yr. Lease

CHICAGO (AP)—Charles O. Finley, president of the Kansas City Athletics, said Monday he will ask the Circuit Court in Kansas City to force the City Council to restore his seven-year lease on Municipal Stadium.

The Athletics now operate on a four-year lease which Finley said "was forced on me with a gun at my head."

Fire Singes, Kills Race Horses

More Than 20 Thoroughbreds Die in Louisville Track Mishap

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Fire fanned by brisk winds swept through 12 wooden horse barns at Miles Park Race Track Monday, resulting in the death of more than 20 thoroughbreds.

Most of the animals died in the flames. Others were destroyed after injuring themselves in terror-stricken lunges into fences and other obstacles.

There were no exact figures available but as best could be determined 17 animals died in the fire, five were destroyed and one died of a heart attack. Officials said a definite count probably could not be made until later today.

A wooden feed farm also was destroyed. Track General Manager Horace Wade tentatively estimated damage to the buildings at $100,000, but said it might go as high "as a quarter of a million." No estimate was available on the value of the dead horses.

NO HUMAN fatalities were reported, but four firemen were overcome by heat — the temperature was 85 — or were burned slightly. They dodged stampeding horses as they set up equipment.

"About 30 horses came barreling toward five of us and we practically had to climb the walls to get out of their way," said one fireman.

The Horseman's Benevolent and Protective Association arranged to set up a claims processing desk at the track this morning. The organization's national disaster policy provides coverage on horses up to $5,000.

AT ONE TIME about 250 horses were running loose on the grounds. Some got out of the track area and galloped down nearby streets and highways.

Grooms turned the horses out of their stalls a barn or two ahead of the spreading flames.

Wade said after surveying the damage there probably would be no postponement in the 50-day summer meeting scheduled to start Friday.

Wade called the fire "devastating," and said it started in a tack room and "seemed to jump from barn to barn."

APPROXIMATELY 600 horses were at the park at the time. Many came from Churchill Downs where the spring meeting ended last week.

Monday's fire broke out shortly after 2 p.m. (CST) and sent huge clouds of smoke over a wide area.

Gilbert Philips, a trainer, discovered the blaze and led several horses to safety.

The area was a scene of confusion as the horses milled around, then began running through the best 77 broke.

"I SAW one horse that was burned," reported Tom Hardin, a photographer for the Courier-Journal. "He appeared to have been singed pretty heavily on the legs but was walking and trotting."

Some horses were injured while running around the barn area. One galloped into a parked car.

Another Courier-Journal photographer, Larry Spitzer, said "The fire got going and spread so fast that it was almost impossible to get it under control. It ran through almost a whole row of barns."

He said horses "were stamping all over the place. It was dangerous just to be in the area."

ALL UTILITY service into the area was cut off by crews from the Louisville Gas & Electric Co.

Nearly one dozen pieces of fire fighting equipment were sent to the scene and firemen reported the blaze under control about 40 minutes after it started.

SUI Student Wins National Music Composer's Award

An SU-Iowan was the only Iowa among 14 composers to receive a national award from Broadcast Music, Inc. (BMI) Saturday.

Charles Dodge, 44, Ames, received the $1,000 award for student composers at a luncheon meeting of the Iowa Broadcasters Association in Iowa City. The presentation was made by Robert Burton, president of BMI, who was also the luncheon speaker.

Dodge received the award in his composition "Duo for Flute and Piano," which has been performed in New York City; Amherst, Mass. and Urbana, Ill., as well as SUI.

Dodge received a $750 award last year, when he was again the one Iowan among the national winners.

Fast Thinking Saves Student

Quick thinking by Tony Riker, A2, Boone, and George White, A1, Davenport, prevented the drowning of a SUIowan in the Iowa River near City Park Bridge about 10:30 p.m. Sunday.

Don Nassif, A1, Cedar Rapids, swallowed water and developed cramps in his arms while swimming with a friend, Bill Harness, A1, Ottumwa. He apparently became caught in the current and panicked.

Hearing Nassif's cries, Riker dashed to the bridge from the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity house. He dove from the bridge into about five feet of water and pulled Nassif to the bank.

Caught in the current, Harness clung to the bridge abutment while Nassif was rescued.

18 Receive Major Awards In Journalism

Major awards for outstanding work in journalism were presented to 18 SUI journalism students at the annual Fourth Estate Banquet Sunday night.

Gary G. Gerlach, a February 1964 graduate of SUI and past editor of The Daily Iowan, received both the Luther A. Brewer Key and its accompanying $100 Howard A. Schumacher Award.

GERLACH was also named winner of the Sigma Delta Chi Award given annually on the basis of character, scholarship and competence to perform journalistic tasks by the SUI chapter of the national professional journalism society.

Donald Kladstrup, A3, Rochester, N.Y., was named winner of the WMT Stations News Scholarship in Radio-Television Journalism. Kladstrup will spend this summer working in the WMT newsroom at Cedar Rapids.

HAROLD YAHNKE, A3, Buffalo Center, was presented the fourth annual Leon Barnes Community Journalism Award. The award is presented to a junior showing promise in community journalism.

Eric Zoecler, A4, Stratford, Ont., Canada, became the first winner of the Jacob E. Reizenstein Prize for newsgathering. The prize is awarded each spring to the undergraduate student who has shown outstanding enterprise and capability in news gathering and news writing over the past year.

Zoecler was also one of three winners of the J. Hamilton Johnson Newswriting Awards. The others were Dallas Murphy, A2, Davenport, and Jon Van, A2, Des Moines. The awards are made for "the best news and feature writing in The Daily Iowan."

FRANK PATTON, A3, Wilmette, Ill., was named winner of the Ramsey Advertising Internship. He will spend the summer as a salaried member in the Davenport office of the L. W. Ramsey Co. studying advertising agency work.

Jon Wardrip, G, Racine, Wis., was presented the James Fox, Inc., Award in public relations. Judy Skalsky, A3, Cedar Rapids, was awarded the Conger Reynolds Achievement Award as the outstanding student in public relations.

Cathy Fischgrund, A4, South Bend, Ind., was named winner of the annual Ruth Baty Jones Memorial Award.

Robert Nandell, A4, Coralville, was presented the Cedar Rapids Gazette Photography Award for 1963-64.

Campus Notes

Physics Colloquium

Prof. Emil Kazes, of Pennsylvania State University, University Park, will speak on "Mass Difference" at 4:10 p.m. Wednesday in 301 Physics Building.

His lecture is part of the colloquium sponsored by the Department of Physics and Astronomy.

History Discussion

The SUI Department of History will present an informal discussion for undergraduate majors at 3:30 p.m. today in the Pentacrest Room of the Union. To be discussed are requirements, programs, benefits and other aspects of history.

Interested students are invited to attend.

Briggs Scholarship

The Iowa City Kiwanis Club will award the John Briggs Scholarships at today's noon meeting in the Jefferson Hotel.

The scholarships are awarded annually to an Iowa City high school senior planning to attend SUI and demonstrating academic ability and need.

The awards rotate among the city's three high schools each year in alphabetical order. This year's award will go to a University High student.

SARE Meeting

SARE-Friends of SNCC will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Pentacrest Room of the Union. An evaluation of this year's projects and a discussion of next semester's plans will highlight the meeting. Students are invited.

Teachers Initiated

Two Coralville school teachers, Mrs. Ruth Field, Route 1, and Mrs. Cholene Vesely, 714 E. Burlington, were initiated Thursday evening into the Alpha Upsilon chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, honorary society for women in education.

Optimist's Auction

The Iowa City Optimist's Club will conduct an auction sale at 1 p.m. June 1 on the northwest parking lot of Iowa City High School.
