

While many students seemed to know all about the finding, neither campus police, the Iowa City police nor either dorm could offer any information about the incident. The rumor was finally traced back to one student who admitted that the body finding was his creation and that he thought it would make a good joke.

Nehru Cremated Near Holy River

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Flames of a sandalwood bier consumed the body of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru Thursday before a vast and restless throng of mourners who shouted in the ancient Hindu ritual: "May he be immortal!"

Lindquist To Be Honored

E. F. Lindquist, professor of education and co-founder of the American College Testing Program, will receive an honorary doctor of letters degree from Augustana College, Rock Island, Ill., Monday during its 104th commencement exercises.

He was graduated from Augustana in 1922 and has been a member of the SUU College of Education faculty since receiving his Ph.D. degree in 1927.

He presently serves as director of research and development for the ACT, and as editor of the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. He is a founder and president of the SUU Measurement Research Center — a nonprofit corporation which provides educational test scoring and data processing services to schools and colleges throughout the country.

Ruby Goes Berserk, Subdued by Jailer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby, convicted slayer of former President John F. Kennedy's assassin, went berserk in his Dallas County Jail cell Thursday and was subdued by a jailer, Sheriff Bill Decker said.

The sheriff said Ruby, 53, broke his eye glasses, grabbed a cuspidor and threw it at a light bulb, breaking the light fixture.

Decker said the incident began about 4:45 a.m. and that Ruby was "raising the devil."

Ruby faces death in the electric chair after conviction in a Dallas court for the slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald who was charged with killing Kennedy.

Decker said a jailer reached the former night club operator and subdued him immediately after he smashed his glasses and the light fixture.

It was the second incident in which Ruby has become unruly while in the jail cell.

A few weeks ago Ruby butted his head against the cell wall and superficially injured himself.

Presidential Guard Pleads 'Not Guilty'

CHICAGO (AP) — Abraham W. Bolden, suspended Secret Service agent, pleaded innocent Thursday to a charge that he tried to sell evidence in a counterfeiting case for $50,000.

Bolden, countered with assertions that the prosecution was framed to discredit his accusations about drinking among Secret Service men assigned to guard the president.

Bolden's plea in U.S. District Court was made before Judge Joseph Sam Perry who set trial for June 12.

Bolden, the first Negro ever assigned as a presidential bodyguard, has asked the Warren Commission investigating the assassination of President John F. Kennedy to hear his charges about laxity among the late president's guards.

She was admitted to Mercy Hospital where she is listed in good condition.

Kennedy Tributes Set

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — This year, instead of celebrating the 47th birthday of John F. Kennedy today, his fourth as President of the United States, instead of a round of birthday parties which would have been held, observances are scheduled around the world in his memory. For it was just six months and one week ago that John Kennedy was killed by an assassin.

LBJ Honors Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson paid tribute to his predecessor, John F. Kennedy, at a White House memorial service Thursday.

Then the President and Mrs. Johnson motored across the Potomac to Arlington National Cemetery and placed a wreath of red, white and blue flowers at Kennedy's grave.

lacking, one newspaper guessed 1 1/2 million were on hand in final tribute to the wealthy, London-educated Brahmin aristocrat who devoted much of his life to bettering the lot of India's downtrodden, illiterate masses. He died Wednesday at 74 of a heart attack.

FRENZIED GRIEF was so great that two persons were killed and six injured in a stampede outside the prime minister's official residence before the body was moved away on a gun carriage pulled by 60 men.

Others were trampled during the six-mile procession to the river which took 3 1/2 hours.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, representing the United States, narrowly escaped injury in two brushes with the press, unruhly mourners.

RUSK STOOD near the gun carriage when it arrived with Nehru's body. The crowd surged forward and thrust him roughly aside.

The site was near the spot where Mohandas K. Gandhi was cremated in 1948.

MILITARY officers lifted Nehru's body to their shoulders, walked along a newly spread carpet of red earth and mounted seven steps to the sandalwood resting place.

Under watch of four priests in yellow and white robes, they gently unwrapped the tricolored Indian national flag that had shrouded the body, leaving it barefoot and clad only in a plain white sheet. The head was on a pillow.

Members of Nehru's family, including his daughter, Indira Gandhi, mounted the pyre and helped pile wood on the body. They sprinkled the corpse with water from India's holy rivers and religiously purified rice smeared with vermilion.

NEHRU'S GRANDSON, Sanjaya Gandhi, 17, applied a torch to the wood at 4:36 p.m.

"He is free of his earthly bondage," the priests chanted.

Two local youths, aged 14 and 15, have been cleared of all connection with recent vandalism at the new Recreation Center.

Detectives who had been questioning the youths said they were satisfied beyond any reasonable doubt the boys could not have caused the damage.

The vandals have not yet been found, police said.

Damages estimated at $1,500 resulted from the flooding of the Recreation Center's unfinished swimming pool. Damages were also done to water pipes and electrical conduiting.

Moon Flight Plans Start Impressively

Saturn 1 Launches Unmanned Spaceship; 6th Straight Success

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's Apollo man-to-the-moon test flight program rocketed to an impressive start Thursday when a Saturn 1 superbooster propelled into orbit an unmanned model of the lunar spaceship.

The feat raised National Aeronautics and Space Administration confidence that it can achieve the goal of a moon landing in the 1960s.

The mighty Saturn 1, the world's largest known rocket, registered its sixth straight test flight success in hurling the "boiler plate" Apollo capsule into an orbit ranging from 123 to 140 miles high.

Both rocket and spacecraft are early models of hardware that is expected to boost three-man Apollo teams into earth orbits starting in 1966, to practice for moon landings planned for 1969.

OFFICIALS of NASA hailed the success as a brilliant beginning for the Apollo program — which is expected to cost more than $20 billion before American astronauts plant the Stars and Stripes on the lunar surface. The price tag on Thursday's launching was more than $20 million, including $17 million for the Saturn 1.

George Mueller, NASA's associate administrator for manned space flights, reported "The success adds to our confidence in meeting our goal of landing men on the moon in this decade."

Major goals of the flight are to further qualify the Saturn 1, verify structural compatibility of the rocket and spacecraft during a jarring trip up through the atmosphere, and evaluate a new guidance system of the same type that will steer astronauts on the path of the moon.

Preliminary data indicate flawless performance by the mammoth booster. The first stage has a cluster of eight engines, generating 1.5-million pounds of thrust. The second stage, powered by high-energy liquid hydrogen, delivers a 90,000-pound thrust.

Crisis Talks Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson Thursday ordered his top defense and diplomatic advisers to Honolulu on June 1-2 for a special review of the crisis in Southeast Asia.

Communist military pressure in Laos was described as easing up. But concern remained over long-term prospects, and in the tangled diplomatic arena progress admittedly was slow.

Acting on Johnson's directive, as a White House announcement put it, "to review the situation in the entire area."

SECRETARY OF STATE Dean Rusk, now in New Delhi for the funeral of Prime Minister Nehru, will fly to Honolulu on Sunday after brief stops for talks in Bangkok and Saigon.

Joining Rusk for the Honolulu trip will be Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam; Graham Martin, U.S. ambassador to Thailand, and Philip H. Chabourn, deputy mission chief at Vientiane.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Joint Chiefs of Staff chairman, and intelligence chief John McCone will leave Washington on Sunday on another flight for Honolulu.

Also attending the two-day session in Laos will be a number of other high-ranking U.S. officials from Washington and elsewhere.

AMONG THEM is William Bundy, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, who hurried to London on Wednesday night for urgent consultations with the British. He told newsmen at the British capital that there is real danger of a Communist takeover in Southeast Asia.

The slowdown of the Red push in Laos was reported by State Department press officer Richard I. Phillips. He said the fighting now appears to be on a smaller scale than last week when the Communist Pathet Lao swept neutralist forces off the central Plaine des Jarres.

U.S. strategists believe the Reds may not try at this time to drive all the way to the Thai border, cutting Laos in two. But they note the Communists are in a position to move further in the future unless something is done to stop them.

AGAINST this background, diplomatic maneuvering is underway concerning not only Laos but also the rest of the Indochina area. The Communists are fighting also in South Viet Nam, while in Cambodia they are supporting Premier Norodom Sihanouk's call for a conference of the 14 nations signatory to the Geneva agreement on Indochina.

Rockefeller Criticized By Goldwater

Charges Him With Threats To Bolt Party

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, swinging into Northern California and calling for "responsible Republicanism," was charged by Sen. Barry Goldwater on Thursday with threatening to bolt the party.

Both stepped up the verbal slugging with California's GOP presidential primary — Tuesday — drawing near. At stake: the state's 86 GOP National Convention votes — winner take all.

The Arizona senator told a news conference in Los Angeles that Rockefeller was "soliciting votes on the implicit basis of a threat to bolt the party should the voting in this primary, or any subsequent voting, not meet his personal demands and pleasure."

HE CHALLENGED Rockefeller to pledge allegiance to whatever man the Republican party nominates for president. The New York governor, he declared, never has said he would support a Goldwater ticket.

At a Monterey rally, Rockefeller said the primary "is not merely a competition between two candidates. It is a contest between two different concepts of what the Republican party should be and stands for."

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Chronicle Thursday endorsed presidential delegates pledged to Nelson A. Rockefeller on the Republican ballot and to Gov. Edmund G. Brown on the Democratic ticket.

Goldwater earlier had said that Rockefeller, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and others not named had "ganged up to stop Goldwater." But Thursday he said former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton and Michigan Gov. George W. Romney had disavowed any part in a stop-Goldwater move.

Lodge supporters have been asked to switch their support to Rockefeller in the California campaign. The South Viet Nam ambassador's son, George, said Wednesday that Goldwater's nomination by the Republicans "would most likely set the party in decline from which it would atrophy."

ROCKEFELLER, who forged ahead of Goldwater in recent public opinion polls after trailing, accused Goldwater of trying to distract California voters with last-minute political charges and spoke out sharply against extremism in the Republican presidential primary campaign.

The New York governor alluded in a question-and-answer period to reports from his aides that all 12 Rockefeller headquarters in Los Angeles had received a series of bomb threats Wednesday.

He said it was "the kind of extreme tactics that have been evident throughout the campaign."

IN THE INTERVIEW on his arrival in Monterey, Rockefeller said it was understandable that Nixon, Scranton and Romney are maintaining neutrality in the presidential race.

"They are all ambitious and hoping lightning will strike," Rockefeller said. "What other position could they take?"

Army Corps OK's Ralston Flood Study

Efforts to control the flood potential of Ralston Creek moved a step closer to reality Thursday when the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers approved a detailed study of the creek's flood problem.

For city officials it was a long awaited announcement. City Manager Carsten Leikvold commented, "We have been hoping for this for some time."

The city has been working to alleviate the threat of the creek since late 1962 when the first serious attempts at federal assistance were considered.

The extensive study was requested last October after the Iowa City Council heard a preliminary report putting cost of the project at $850,000. The city would probably have to pay about $250,000, and the federal government would pay the rest.

Actual flood control work can begin after the study is completed. The federal government would pay for actual construction work while the city would acquire needed land, maintain the completed project and provide for needed changes in existing facilities.

No estimate has been made as to when construction can begin.

The creek, which wanders through most of the eastern and southern portion of the city, has caused considerable damage in recent years. The last major flood caused by the creek occurred in June 1962.

When notified of the authorization, First District Congressman Fred Schwengel said, "It has taken a long time to get recognition of the unusual problems in connection with Ralston Creek, but the detailed project report should make it possible to deal with them effectively."

SUI Men Face Dorm 'Squeeze'

By STEVE deWOLF Staff Writer

Current and future remodeling of Quadrangle will tighten up living facilities in the men's dormitories for at least the next three years, according to Virgil Copeland, Assistant Director of Dormitories and Dining Services.

During the three, or perhaps four-year remodeling and renovation period, about 90 rooms in Quadrangle will be continuously unusable as accommodations. These rooms, if utilized to full capacity, would house 222 men.

At the same time, requests for dormitory housing are certain to increase substantially, starting next year, as SUI's enrollment grows, Copeland said.

WITH THE "squeeze" coming on, Copeland cited two plans — one short-range and the other long-range — for alleviating the problem.

"The only way we can handle the immediate increase next year is by doubling and tripling rooms," he said. "We don't like to do this, but on the other hand we don't want to have to turn students away from the University for a lack of dormitory housing facilities."

Contrary to some speculation, particularly by Quadrangle residents, four men will not be forced to live in rooms designed as singles or doubles, Copeland said.

COPELAND said he felt "partial overloading" of rooms in Quadrangle, Hillcrest and South Quad would not make conditions unlivable.

"But whether the crowded conditions are entirely comfortable and convenient for students is another question," he said.

This semester men's dormitory residents felt the impact of "partial overloading" when construction of the southwest section of Quadrangle began in late April. At that time nearly 200 students in Quadrangle were forced to move

Bowen To Receive Honorary Degree

Dr. Howard R. Bowen, SUI president-elect, is a candidate for an honorary doctor of laws degree from Knox College, Galesburg, Ill.

Dr. Bowen will deliver the Knox College commencement address Monday.

Two other persons will receive honorary doctor of laws degrees at the 119th commencement exercises. Ralph Dods Stevenson, partner in the Chicago law firm of Isham, Lincoln and Beale; and Dr. Edna Heidbreder, professor emerita of psychology at Wellesley College, will join Bowen in receiving degrees.

Meardon Drive Gains Momentum

A campaign for the write-in candidacy of William Meardon, Iowa City attorney and former Republican county chairman, for state senator gained momentum Thursday.

"I'm not a candidate and I urge all Republicans to support Senator Nolan," Meardon said.

Nolan, the incumbent, is the only Republican candidate on the ballot for that office.

Friends of Meardon have indicated because of his law practice, Meardon will be unable to run for public office.

Voters wishing to vote for a write-in candidate on voting machines can open slots at the top of the machine. The slots are above each office listed.

Once the voter writes in a candidate, the levers by the candidate for that office listed on the ballot are locked and cannot be pulled unless the office has votes for two candidates.

$1 Million Gas Refund To Begin

Over one million dollars in refunds will be mailed Saturday to customers and former customers of Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Co. in the Iowa City area.

A total of $1,158,000 will be mailed in 22,000 checks to Iowa City customers of the company for the period between March 25, 1961, and July 4, 1963, and from Coralville and University Heights customers starting in May of 1961 and continuing to July 4, 1963.

Refunds will include interest at five per cent per annum and the Iowa sales tax, according to James E. Stewart, district manager of Iowa-Illinois. The typical residential customer will receive about $20 on payments for gas service and $50 on payments for electric service in excess of that provided by the Iowa City ordinance rates.

The Iowa Supreme Court ruled Nov. 10, 1963, the refunds should be made.

Still contested before the Iowa Supreme Court is the question whether Iowa-Illinois must refund the amounts charged over and above the old ordinance rates since July 4, 1963. The creation of the Iowa Commerce Commission and its assuming jurisdiction of rates as of that date is the basis for the controversy.

Stewart said briefs in the controversy are being filed with the Iowa Supreme Court and that the question should be submitted to the court near the end of June. A ruling may be handed down by the end of July, Stewart said.

Britain Denies Red Aggression Claim

LONDON (AP) — Britain sharply rejected Thursday a Soviet charge that U.S. flights over Laos violated the little nation's neutrality.

Then Britain and the United States agreed on a firm stand before taking part in a conference on Laos requested by the Soviet Union.

The British Foreign Office dismissed as "purely propagandistic" the Soviet declaration that the United States was openly violating the 1962 Geneva agreements in conducting aerial reconnaissance runs for the Laotian government.

He said it was "the kind of extreme tactics that have been evident throughout the campaign."

IN THE INTERVIEW on his arrival in Monterey, Rockefeller said it was understandable that Nixon, Scranton and Romney are maintaining neutrality in the presidential race.

"They are all ambitious and hoping lightning will strike," Rockefeller said. "What other position could they take?"

Superintendent Says— 'City School Bond May Be Delayed'

"If the air is clear" voters of the Iowa City school district will be asked in late October or early November to approve a $650,000 bond issue to build a new academic wing on City High.

Litigation pending in the courts may delay the vote, however, Buford Garner, superintendent of Iowa City schools, told the Iowa City Rotary Club Thursday.

A suit brought by eight residents of Coralville asks that the Feb. 13 vote merging the Iowa City and Coralville school districts be voided. As long as litigation is pending the election cannot be held.

The proposed academic wing is styled "phase one" in a three-phase building program for City High, Garner explained. The second phase would provide additional cafeteria and shop space; the third, additional physical education space. The second and third phases in the expansion plan might be combined, Garner said.

Garner said the flexibility built into City High by Ivor Opstad, former superintendent of schools, and former board members demonstrated a broad measure of foresight. That flexibility, however, is being lost because of increased enrollments, he said.

City High must now utilize additional space for study halls. Book-keeping is offered in the cafeteria and art in a former workroom under the auditorium stage. It is also necessary to schedule classes at 7:30 a.m. and until 4:30 p.m., time previously considered "before and after school." Garner said he expects six 7:30 a.m. classes will have to be scheduled by fall.

A special mourning this Memorial Day

OVER ONE MILLION Americans have perished in the wars of their country, and Memorial Day is the day set aside in remembrance of their deaths.

In services and private thoughts throughout the country, the parents, widows, children and grand-children of the men who died in the World Wars, Korea and earlier wars will remember their losses, perhaps grown less painful through the years.

The meaning of the day will be particularly fresh for six groups of friends and relatives — those who will be mourning the six men who died in the "non-war" of Viet Nam this past year.

But May 30 will have a special significance for all Americans this year — and many years to come. The entire country has a "soldier" to mourn, one who wore his office as a uniform — John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

Six months have passed since his death and the tragedy has lost its painful acuteness as it becomes more remote. But it will take many years before the unreality of that November day can be dismissed from our thoughts.

John F. Kennedy did not die fighting on a distant battlefield, but he has properly taken his place in Arlington Cemetery with the other men who died in the service of their country. Memorial Day is a fitting time to pay him tribute, as well as the million war dead. —Linda Weiner

Advertisement shows 'Hatch Act' folly

THE FOLLY of the recent talk about a "Hatch Act" type of law for Iowa was certainly demonstrated Thursday by the faculty sponsored advertisement in The Des Moines Register.

The ad urged Iowa's senators to support strong civil rights legislation and it bore the names of nearly 500 faculty members. It is quite right and proper for these educators to express their views on this pending legislation.

We hope that any faculty holding another view on the civil rights bill will also express their views publicly (either through an ad or a simple letter to the editor).

This action will hopefully bring more attention and discussion to the bill and encourage Iowa's senators to aid in bringing the legislation to a vote in the Senate.

If the Legislature were to pass a "Hatch Act," faculty members would be prohibited from political activity. Such legislation would not only take from them a basic constitutional freedom, it would also rob the state of the needed and well thought out views which they express. —Jon Van

Round 'n' round in foreign affairs

THAT PROVERBIAL vicious circle made the rounds again Wednesday night, this time with former Vice President Richard Nixon on the "Town Meeting of the World" television program.

Nixon expressed the typical attitude which he attributed to "most Americans" that we could not recognize Red China or allow her to enter the United Nations. To do this, he said, would cause us to lose too much prestige with the uncommitted nations in Asia.

So we must continually try to solve out many problems in South East Asia without even recognizing the cause of them — Red China — because if we were to officially recognize the situation as it exists, it would worsen.

How Mr. Nixon would solve our problems without recognizing them fully was not clear. Maybe some day we'll wake up to find that Red China really doesn't exist. Or maybe some day we'll just wake up. —Jon Van

Ex-Member questions Mountaineer government

To the editor:
As an ex-active member and former vice president of the Iowa Mountaineers, I would like to know why the governmental structure of this student organization is so strongly prejudiced against the student.
It is quite possible that the Iowa Mountaineers has one of the strangest governmental structures in the entire gamut of student organizations. There are three classes of membership within this organization, only one of which is available to the prospective student member.
The three classes include active membership ($4.00 annual dues), expeditionary membership ($3.50) and associate membership ($3.00).
The associate class is the only one available to the new member and strangely enough this purchase stipulates that said member shall have no voting rights or voice in his student organization, but does provide for a membership card and two to four issues of the three to five page club news bulletin.

THE EXPEDITIONARY memberships are for those ex-university affiliates who can no longer be active members or those primarily interested in summer expeditions.
Finally one arrives at that coveted membership category, the active membership, which allows the holder thereof to vote. There are, at present, approximately 35 active members, which to the writer's knowledge consists of one student.
With student interests so admirably represented one might inquire as to what this coveted voting right commands in respect to a voice in the operation of our student club? It allows said bearer to annually select, according to a copy of the by-laws Article VI, 10 active members for the ruling Council.
In the previous two elections I have noted three to five names on the ballot, of which the three receiving the largest tally become Council members.
To properly insure a pre-determined sequence of events a committee, usually of Council members, selects who shall have the privilege of appearing on the ballot, and guess who they usually select. Notwithstanding these restrictions on the student having a voice in the destiny of his club, the Council can then pack itself with up to 9 additional members who favor their point of view.
THE FINAL insult to self-determination rests with the restrictive and bureaucratic methods which the student must employ to achieve the dubious status of active membership. This course of action requires the student to submit (after having been an associate member for 6 months) to a non-student council an application for active membership.
If the council decides the stu-

Independents deny apathy charges

To the Editor:
Contrary to the article written by Judi Skalsky, and the opinions held by Jim Heaton, Allan Furney, and Gene Kiekhaefer apathy does not reign among off-campus residents. And furthermore, apathy does not reign among independents as the so-called "Greek student leaders" claim.
Just because we refuse to be "herded" in sororities and fraternities does not mean that we are apathetic!
However, the enthusiasm that independents have for campus activities is quickly dampened when application after application is rejected, activities planned at committee meetings are aimed solely at the Greeks, and the credit which is deserved is seldom given to independents.
This campus has forgotten that the majority of students are independents who are interested in the activities which they apply for and furthermore have NOT been forced to apply for these activities.
One of us, a member of the Student Senate Elections Committee, wonders how one can allege that the greatest number of voters are Greeks. At least the independents who did vote, voted because they wanted to and not because they had to in order to have dinner that night.
It is high time that this campus realized that allowing a small percentage of the students to lead activities will not result in a spirited, enthusiastic student body.
Try leaving some opportunities open for independents and you will see there is no more apathy among independents than among Greeks.

Apathetic attitude on safety

To the editor:
Mr. Mayner you are a dreamer, but thanks for your concern. The parents of Finkbine children attending Lincoln school have been trying for years to get help from the city and the University for a safer school crossing.
The lack of concern for the safety of these children is appalling. A prime example is the fact that on May 15, I called the city department responsible for painting the school crossing lanes asking that they be painted at Newton Rd. and Woolf Ave. (There have been no new crossing lanes this entire school year.) I was assured they would be out the following Monday (May 18 — 2 1/2 weeks before the end of school) to paint the lanes. On May 26 the lanes still are not painted.
The Woolf Ave. crossing is only one example of the apathetic attitude of the city, the University and a minority of parents for our children's safety.

Clear and forceful words of Kennedy

By JOSEPH L. BENHAM
AP Reviewer

THE BURDEN AND THE GLORY, by John F. Kennedy. Harper, $4.95. Of all the books by and about the late President John F. Kennedy which have deluged the market, this should prove one of the most enduring.

The Kennedy years have been characterized as years of ideas more than of actions, of words more than deeds — historians already are coming to agreement that he was struck down too soon to see many of his projects to conclusion — and this book contains some of his most characteristic words and ideas.

The volume, edited by Pulitzer Prize-winning biographer and historian Allan Nevins, with foreword by President Johnson, includes more than 50 selections from the second and third years of Kennedy's Administration, including the speech which he had planned to deliver in Dallas the day he was killed.

The selections are formal and informal, ranging from State of the Union messages to news conference comments. Each has with it a brief but incisive footnote from Nevins, recalling the events which provoked or accompanied the Kennedy remarks.

Like all Presidents, Kennedy used speechwriters, and unquestionably some of the material in the speeches did not originate with the late President.
But each selection contains the characteristic Kennedy phrases, as varied in makeup and mood as the man himself. He quoted de Toqueville in one moment and observed in another that "The time to repair the roof is when the sun is shining."

The reaction of the reader probably will vary according to how he felt and feels about Kennedy, but few would argue that Kennedy had a rare ability to express himself in clear and forceful terms. Anyone forgetting that will be reminded quickly by reading virtually any of the more than 50 selections in this book.

Texas finishes desegregation process

By RALPH MCGILL

Fourteen years ago the University of Texas — a Southern state, despite its southwest geography — desegregated its law school. This was four years before the historic decision by the U. S. Supreme Court ruling that the inequities and discrimination of education, segregated by race, enforced by state or local statutes and ordinances, violated the constitutional rights of those separated.

In passing to a later development at the state university in Texas, it is fitting to note that 1950 was the year of the law school desegregation. A great many persons, especially in the more directly affected Southern states, greeted the court's 1954 decision with stunned surprise.

There were angry charges that the decision had been made suddenly, capriciously, and without giving the 17 states which had segregated systems time to prepare. This, as the Texas story illustrates, simply was not true.

FOR AT least a decade before the 1954 decision, the federal courts had been ringing the awakening bell and blowing the warning whistle. There were early rulings in Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

These involved the first cases brought against discrimination in segregated education. They involved the graduate schools. It was one of the shameful facts of education in the South and its border states that no public law, medical, dental or other professional schools were open to the qualified Negro students in those states.

By the early 1950s decisions by federal district courts had opened the doors of university graduate departments in Arkansas, Texas and Oklahoma.

At least two years before Gov. Faubus' political ambitions influenced him to bring the chaos of riots to the Little Rock public school system, his state university had been graduating rather large numbers of Negro students at integrated commencements.

THE UNIVERSITY of Texas similarly had admitted and graduated Negro students in its professional schools. This university, which now has colleges and institutions in eight cities and a total of some 22,000 students, has completed the move begun 14 years ago.

It has desegregated all dormitories and dining halls. Athletic teams previously had been open to all students. There presently are about 150 Negro students in the main institution in Austin, and Negroes have attended other divisions.

Texas provides an example for other Southern states. Certainly none would argue that the Lone Star State was not a major member of the Southern Confederacy. It provided some of the better known military commanders; its troops gained great reputation by the ferocity of their fighting qualities.

The Southern tradition was nowhere stronger than in Texas. Some time ago, Texas decided it had no "divine call to stand eternal guard by the graves of dead issues." Texas learned that education and progress in research, science and the new industrial developments go hand in hand. The state has acted quietly without turning her educational decisions over to racist political demagogues.

THERE IS not a single Southern state university that could not complete the process as begun and concluded by Texas with the same ease. There is lacking only the will so to do.

The South is learning that she has discriminated harshly against her young people of whatever color, and that in so doing she has impaired her ability to move ahead.

Senate Plans Criticized

account that the people this article intimately described are members of our community who also have a definite need for acceptance and self-esteem. Relying on the statements of one neighbor as the basis for an article cannot be justified by the canons of good journalism. Because the anonymity of the people was not protected, the article did become unfortunately, an "expose." We do not wish to belabor this point.

Being a group of students who go to Summit Hill regularly under the direction of the Campus Ministers and the Johnson County Council on Social Planning, and who consider the children and parents there our good friends, we are concerned.

BUT OUR main question is when will our new student body president visit the depressed area? Since he, like President Johnson has begun a war on poverty, it seems fitting that he should sit on some door step and tell his new "friends" — "Work hard and all will be well." But President Snyder is no new-comer to poverty.

Three and a half years ago, we know, he was a member of a pledge class that "cleaned up" Summit Hill. We are thankful that our student body president has first-hand experience with this type of work. President Johnson has a general welfare clause in the constitution that gives him certain freedom; but where in our student body constitution does the president receive the power to become a social welfare agent for Johnson County?

Legally, however, we can be assured that somehow our "leaders" could expiate their action. Politically too, they could probably justify their sudden awakening. On the other hand, they may have some practical problems.

Instead of running head-long into a complex situation with which they are not familiar, by forming committees and not even realizing the consequences of their actions, the president and Senate, if really interested, should support and augment the already existing structure of the Johnson County Council on Social Planning and its volunteer staff of professionals. In relation to this group, the Student Senate committee seems superfluous.

THIS INFORMATION, or lack of it, was revealed in an informal discussion with "Sergeant Shiver" Mundy, President Snyder's special "general" in the "war on poverty."

It was startling that an official organization of the University could adopt a program and know so little about what was being done and what it was to do. Mundy looked at his purpose as that of being co-ordinator of groups that were visiting areas such as Summit Hill. But since there is only one group now involved, please tell us where is the need for co-ordination?

Why should a new organization so completely unaware of the situation elect itself co-ordinator when one established group can and has been doing the job? A second example of ignorance and unwise planning is that one of Mundy's first moves as director, before he had contacted its present co-ordinator and volunteers, was to visit Summit Hill and ask the residents there if he and his group might clean up the place.

This, on the surface, may seem like a very altruistic, thoughtful act. But on the initial meeting, to ask a stranger if you can clean his yard shows a poor understanding an inadequate appreciation of people and a condescending attitude that destroys rather than builds the work done by existing groups to help the people of Summit Hill to help themselves.

Primary Candidates

Republican Candidates In State and County

Evan Hultman, (not pictured above), incumbent state Attorney General, is the unopposed Republican candidate for governor. Lt. Gov. W. L. Mooty is seeking re-election and is opposed by Robert W. Naden. Chet B. Akers is the Republican nominee for state Auditor.

M. L. Abrahamson and Dean Reed are both candidates for state Treasurer, and W. N. Bump and Garry D. Woodward are seeking the candidacy for state Attorney General. In the other primary contest between two Republicans for a state office, incumbent L. B. Liddy opposes Harry B. Thompson for Secretary of Agriculture.

INCUMBENT Fred Schwengel, also unopposed for the Republican nomination for congressman from the first Congressional District. Schwengel has been representing the first district for 10 years.

D. C. Nolan, 513 So. Summit, who has been state senator since 1952, is seeking his fourth term in the senate. While serving as Johnson County's representative, he has been majority floor leader and worked on most major committees. He has been chairman of several important standing committees, such as the Highway Study Committee of 1960-61, during which time a needs and finance study were made of all Iowa highways and streets.

NOLAN said he would support adequate funds for educational institutions, and a shifting of some of the heavy taxes on property to a user tax base, but said he said the reapportionment issue will stand "in the forefront of the next General Assembly session." He favors a House of Representatives based on population, and a senate based on population and area. Erickson also said Iowa needs a broader tax base.

SAMUEL B. WHITING, served on the Iowa City Council from 1939 to 1943, and the Planning and Zoning Commission from 1950 to 1960. In the last four years he has assisted in the appraisal of property for the Iowa State Highway Commission.

Other candidates on the Republican ticket are Donald L. Wilson, 407 Terrace Road, who is unopposed for county sheriff, and Marion R. Neely, 704 Miller, who is unopposed for county Attorney.

Johnson County voters will have to choose between 22 Democratic candidates and 16 Republican candidates in the statewide primary election Monday. In the primary, voters are required to vote either for the Democratic ticket or Republican ticket, although inter-party voting is allowed in the national election to be held this November.

Topping the list of Democratic nominees is Gov. Harold Hughes who is seeking his second two-year term in office. Robert D. Fulton is the Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, and Gary L. Cameron is seeking the nomination for secretary of state.

Other candidates seeking the Democratic nomination for state offices are Lorne R. Worthington for state auditor, Lawrence F. Scollis for attorney general and Kenneth E. Owen for secretary of Agriculture.

JOHN R. SCHMIDHAUSER, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress from Iowa's first district, is unopposed in Monday's primary. He has served as Johnson County Democratic Chairman and as First Congressional District Director of Operation Support President Kennedy.

Schmidhauser said Thursday the compelling issue in the general election campaign is the need for new men in Congress to support the constructive programs of President Johnson. He said the "First District's greatest untapped natural resource is a working congressman."

Three persons, Don McComas, 615 8th Ave., Coralville; Robert J. Burns, Cosgrove, and Scott Swisher, 917 Bowers, are opposing each other for the Democratic nomination for state senator.

Democrats Seeking Offices Led by Governor Hughes

McComas, who was elected Johnson County Sheriff for six terms and has also been an Iowa City policeman, favors a reapportionment plan which would have one house on a strictly population basis, with the other house on population as much as possible.

Minnette Doderer, 2008 Dunlap Ct., and Bruce E. Mahan, 303 Melrose Circle, are seeking the Democratic nomination for state representative. Mahan served in the 60th General Assembly, and both he and Mrs. Doderer served in the recent special session of the Assembly.

MAHAN, who has been a Democrat since 1912, is Dean Emeritus of the SUI Extension Division. He served Johnson County as legislative consultant for nearly 40 years before being elected to the House of Representatives.

Mrs. Doderer first served Johnson County in the House of Representatives after being elected in February for the Assembly's special session. She has worked on committees for reapportionment since 1955.

In 1959 she was the secretary of the state committee for fair reapportionment through convention, and in 1960, she served as vice-president of a bi-partisan committee for reapportionment through legislation.

She said Thursday that "although the special session accomplished an acceptable temporary reapportionment plan, I will work hard to pass a better reapportionment plan." She said Iowa needs to establish vocational schools, revise the state tax system, write a better public accommodations law, and increase support for state institutions under the Board of Regents.

OTHER areas Mrs. Doderer saw as needing improvement were setting standards for schools, changing the terms of governor and lieutenant governor to four years, shortening the ballot, eliminating duplication and overlapping by revamping some state boards and commissions and eliminating secrecy in legislative committees.

Other candidates seeking nomination on the Democratic ticket are Dolores A. Rogers, 717 Brown, who is seeking re-election as county auditor, Daniel W. Boyle, 705 Eastmoor Dr., for county attorney, and R. Neilson Miller, 14 North Lucas, for clerk of District Court.

There are six candidates for the Democratic nomination for county sheriff. They are: Walker D. Sheldahl, 2275 North Duquesne; John A. McGaffey, 711 11th Ave., Coralville; Gordon Russell, 123 W. Benton; Harold E. Smith, R.F.D. 4; Carl J. Mencl, 1223 So. Riverside Dr., and Maynard Schneider, R.F.D. 1.

Democratic candidates for the 1965 term on the Board of Supervisors are Emil Novy, North Liberty, and Burt Falls, Hills, Ed L. Kessler, 306 Highland Dr., is a candidate for the 1966 term on the Board.

Polling places, pollworkers, and election judges for the primary election in Johnson County were announced Monday. The 162 workers will staff 39 polling places in Iowa City and the county.

Half as many pollworkers are required than in past elections due to the use of voting machines. Polls will be open in Iowa City from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Polling places in Iowa City are: First ward, first precinct, county courthouse; second precinct, Roosevelt School.

Second ward, first precinct, Union; second precinct, Fine Arts building; third precinct, Lincoln School.

Third ward, first precinct, C.S.A. hall; second precinct, Horace Mann School.

Fourth ward, first precinct, Central Junior High School Gymnasium; second precinct, Civic Center; third precinct, Iowa City High School; fourth precinct, Hoover School.

Fifth ward, first precinct, Welfare Building; second precinct, Longfellow School; third precinct, Mark Twain School; fourth precinct, South East Junior High School.

America's War Dead Are Honored on Memorial Day

This Saturday, May 30, Americans throughout the land will turn their thoughts to our country's fallen heroes — the soldiers, sailors, marines and airmen who died that their Nation might live.

The real meaning of Memorial Day is found in the aftermath of the Civil War. Four years of deadly combat created schisms in America which Appomattox could not heal.

Yet, the entire Nation was touched in 1867 by the gentle gesture of a small group of women in Columbus, Mississippi who went to the cemetery to place flowers on the graves of their Confederate dead — and stayed to decorate the Union graves as well.

IN 1868, the first commander of the Grand Army of the Republic designated May 30 as a day set aside for the members of the Union Veterans Organization to decorate the graves of their fallen comrades. The date was chosen, not because of a significant anniversary, but in order that, all across the country, there might be flowers in bloom that could be used in decorating the graves.

In 1882, the day was named Memorial Day. Throughout the land, the families of fallen servicemen will decorate the graves of their personal heroes. At the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery, just across the Potomac River from our Capitol, the Nation will pay collective tribute to its war dead.

A perpetual guard of honor keeps a day and night vigil over the tomb. EACH SENTINEL, walking his tour, marches at a rigid attention on a mat in front of the Tomb. Upon reaching the end of the mat, he stops, faces the Tomb and pauses 21 seconds to emulate the 21-gun salute.

This salute is the highest salutory honor in the United States. ENJOY YOUR HOLIDAY! NO MATTER WHERE OR HOW FAR YOU DRIVE! BUCKLE YOUR SEAT BELT

Published to save lives in cooperation with The Advertising Council and the National Safety Council.

Only the President and the head of a foreign country receive such a salute. Upon the Tomb are engraved these words: "Here Rests in Honored Glory An American Soldier Known But to God." Since October 24, 1921, three Unknown Soldiers have been selected.

Miller Defends the Purpose Of College Sports Promoters

By JOHN BORNHOLDT Sports Editor

Defending college sports promoters, new basketball coach Ralph Miller said there is not nearly as much sports promotion going on in colleges today as there is demand from the public for tickets.

"Without the people's basic interest, you wouldn't have a nucleus for a sports program. College athletics today is a big time business, depending entirely on the spectators," he said.

People come to our games in Iowa City or anywhere else to be entertained, to get some enjoyment and to release some emotion, said Miller. "I feel the public demands the services of the media — printed and electronic — to fill them in on their favorite college team. "Until this interest dies," he said, "there will always be people promoting sports on the college level."

THE UNIVERSITY administration may not want its athletic activities emphasized, but it's the public interest which demands extensive coverage of sports events, he said.

"The media, in turn, can't sell advertising unless they are broad-casting or printing what the people demand," he added.

Speaking of the athletes, he said anybody fortunate enough to have the ability to participate in college athletics has an opportunity to learn certain things the average collegian has no chance of doing.

"First, he learns what it means to compete with a 100 per cent effort every minute he is in an athletic contest.

"Secondly, he learns self-discipline, as well as team discipline.

"Thirdly, he knows what it means to sacrifice time and energy in practice to accomplish a purpose or goal. That goal is victory on the playing field," he added.

"RESEARCHERS have studied the backgrounds of the American servicemen who went over to the other side during and after the Korean War," Miller said. "They discovered the defectors came from various types of backgrounds and few of them, if any, had very little in common. But they noted that not one of the turncoats had ever participated in competitive athletics," he said.

"If a college ball player utilizes the lessons learned in the classroom as well as on the playing field, his opportunity for success in the future is increased," said Miller.

Turning away from the athletes, Miller commented on what he calls the "influential part of the women of the world contribute to athletics."

"The ladies control the world of sports," he said. "We're building new arenas all over the country now because more and more women have become interested in sports."

"WOMEN also control the growth patterns of their sons," he said. "I had a center at Wichita who was 6-9 1/2, and he had four brothers who were 6-6 or better. Their father was a little guy, 5-5 and about 112 pounds. Their mother was 6-2 and weighed 225, so look who the kids took after."

"Although no scientific study has been made, I have been watching this happen for the last 16 years as a basketball coach. It's amazing how many times this has cropped up in a player's family," he said.

Cubs 2, Mets 0 K.C. 4, White Sox 1

CHICAGO — Billy Williams, the National League's leading hitter with a .397 average, poled his 11th homer Thursday and led the Chicago Cubs to a 2-0 victory over the New York Mets.

Williams' wallop came off loser Galen Cisco leading off the sixth inning.

Larry Jackson gained his sixth victory against four losses by limiting the New Yorkers to three hits, all by Joe Christopher.

The Cubs grabbed an unearned run in the first when Lou Brock doubled after Mets' catcher Jesse Gonder drew an error for fumbling his pop foul fly. Brock then stole third, and scored on Ron Santo's infield out.

New York ... 000 000 000—3 2 Chicago ... 100 001 000—2 2 1

Cisco, Bearnaeth (8) and Gonder; Jackson and Bertoli. W — Jackson, (4-4). L — Cisco, (2-4). Home runs — Chicago, Williams, (1).

Colts 4, Braves 2

MILWAUKEE — The Houston Colts broke open a tie game with the help of Nellie Fox's suicide squeeze bunt and Mike White's two-run single in the eighth inning Thursday in route to a 4-2 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

With the bases loaded and the score 1-1, Fox laid down a bunt as John Bateman dashed for the plate. Bateman scored easily as Fox was thrown out by Milwaukee starter Warren Spahn. White then lined a hit to center for two runs.

Houston right-hander Ken Johnson had a three-hitter for seven innings, but was lifted after Denny Menke and Les Maye started the last of the eighth with singles. Hal Woodeshick, uncared upon in his last 10 relief appearances, preserved Johnson's fifth victory in nine decisions.

Houston ... 010 000 030—4 7 0 Milwaukee ... 100 000 010—2 6 1

Johnson, Woodeshick (8) and Bateman; Spahn, Tiefenauer (9) and Bailey. W — Johnson, (5-4). L — Spahn, (4-4). Home runs — Houston, Bond (8).

Giants 2, Cards 1

ST. LOUIS — Willie Mays' 18th home run, a two-run blast in the eighth inning, gave the San Francisco Giants a 2-1 victory Thursday night over the slumping St. Louis Cardinals.

The victory pulled the Giants into first place in the National League, one game in front of the Philadelphia Phillies, who lost 6-3 at Pittsburgh.

Curt Simmons had shut out the Cardinals on five hits and the Cardinals held a 1-0 lead going into the eighth. Cap Peterson started things for the Giants by drawing a walk, and two outs later Mays drilled an opposite-field shot to the 354-foot mark in right.

A fan in the stands touched the ball, and Mays was waved home by the umpires.

San Francisco ... 000 000 020—2 6 3 St. Louis ... 000 010 000—1 9 0

Hendley, Shaw (8), Pierce (8), Bolin (8) and Cravitz; Simmons, Craig (9) and Uecker. W — Hendley, (4-3). L — Simmons, (6-3). Home run — San Francisco, Mays (18).

Mets Begin Accepting All-Star Game Orders

NEW YORK — The New York Mets announced Wednesday they have begun accepting mail orders for reserved seats for the major league All-Star baseball game at Shea Stadium July 7.

The ticket prices are $8.40 for box seats, $6.30 for loge and mezzanine seats and $4.20 for upper stand seats. General admission tickets at $2.10 will go on sale on the day of the game.

Mail orders should include a check or money order payable to the New York Mets with an additional 75 cents for each order to cover registry and postage.

Orders should be sent to All-Star Tickets, Shea Stadium, Flushing, N.Y. 11368.

Cepeda's Lawyer Fights For $1 Million Libel

SAN FRANCISCO — Orlando Cepeda's attorney in a $1-million libel suit won court permission Thursday to travel to New York — at the defendants' expense — to take depositions from Look magazine personnel.

Cepeda, San Francisco Giants first baseman, claims an article published in Look more than a year ago held him up to ridicule because of its comments on his temperament and team play.

U.S. District Judge Lloyd H. Burke granted attorney Marvin Lewis permission to take depositions from Tim Cohane, author of the article, and editorial personnel Daniel D. Mick, William B. Arthur, Robert Meskill and Patricia Carbine.

KANSAS CITY — The Kansas City Athletics capitalized on four errors and handed Juan Pizarro his first loss by defeating the American League-leading Chicago White Sox 4-1 Thursday night.

Orlando Pena benefited from three unearned runs and brought his record to 6-3 with help from reliever John Wyatt in the ninth. Pizarro now is 5-1.

Pizarro gave up the A's first two runs in the second, but unearned. With a runner on second and two out, Charley Lau bounced to Pete Ward at third.

Ward tried to tag Dick Green coming down from second but failed and he threw to first base. His throw was wide and Lau was safe. Green took third.

Pena then singled to drive in one run and Wayne Causey singled in another.

Pirates 6, Phillies 5

PITTSBURGH — Dick Schofield lined a two-out single to right field and scored Jim Paganlioni with the winning run in the ninth inning as Pittsburgh nipped Philadelphia 6-5 Thursday night.

Schofield's hit off reliever Jack Baldschun came after Paganlioni walked and Willie Stargell blooped a single to short center, sending Paganlioni to third. Baldschun had retired the first two batters.

The Phillies played the game under protest. Manager Gene Mauch lodged the protest in the sixth inning because Pirates' relief pitcher Roy Face was in the scorebook in left field.

The loss dropped Philadelphia to second place, one game behind San Francisco, which edged St. Louis 2-1.

Stargell tied it for Pittsburgh 5-5 in the eighth inning with a lead-off home run, his seventh.

Philadelphia ... 004 000 010—5 10 1 Pittsburgh ... 010 300 011—6 15 1

Bennett, Rebeck (3), Wise (4), Green (4), Baldschun (7) and Triandos; Veale, Friday (5), Face (7), Green (8), McBean (9) and Paganlioni. W — McBean, (2-0). L — Baldschun, (2-1). Home run — Pittsburgh, Stargell (7).

Dick Schultz, Iowa Field Coach, Sets 11 Baseball Clinics

A series of 11 baseball clinics, open to boys from nine years old through high school age, will be conducted in Iowa for the second year by Dick Schultz, field coach of the Iowa baseball team.

The clinics will open June 2 and 3 at Charleston and will close at Ft. Dodge July 17 and 18. They have the sanction of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) and the National Baseball Federation.

Three daily sessions will be held, each of about two hours. One is for boys of 9-12, one for those 12-15 and the third for high school and Junior Legion players.

Coach Schultz said the clinics will be instructional only, with no competition among teams or groups. In some cases, Hawkeye baseball players will help Schultz.

For two seasons, Schultz has served as active field coach of the Iowa baseball squad. In 1963, the Hawkeyes finished in the Big Ten, losing the title in the first game of the final series with Illinois.

Injuries to seven men removed Iowa as a 1964 contender but the team finished with a 7-8 record in the league for a tie for seventh.

These are the nine other clinics: June 5-6, Cedar Rapids; June 11-12, Burlington; June 16-17, Ottumwa; June 22 through 25, Des Moines; June 26-27, Newton; July 1-2, Fairfield; July 6-7, Knoxville; July 10-11, Marshalltown; and July 14-15, Centerville.

Speedway Golf Open Played Amidst Racing Car Warm-ups

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The roar of sleek racers tuning up for Saturday's 500-mile auto race was matched by a Jack Nicklaus' blast at the $70,000 Speedway Golf Open, but failed to disturb big George Bayer's charge into the 36-hole lead with a nine-under-par 183 Thursday.

A TWO-HOUR tune-up run on the motor strip which splits the easy par-71 golf course within the vast Speedway grounds dinned into the cars of the 6-foot-5 Bayer, but it failed to affect his touch for a second-round 67 following Wednesday's opening 66.

Bayer, now 48th in the PGA money list with $5,275 and started for a two victory since the 1960 St. Petersburg Open, wound up the chilly wind-swept afternoon with a two-stroke lead over a quartet of 135 shooters.

The runner-up foursome included the first-round leader, California rookie pro George Archer who slowed to a par 71 after opening with 64 Wednesday.

DEADLOCKED with Archer were Australian Kel Nagle, Dean Clark, who set a qualifying record of 158.8 miles per hour, and teammate Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., practiced at about 155 miles an hour. Some observers said they were going much faster than that on the back stretch, out of the view of the other crews.

THREE STARTERS powered by supercharged Novi engines had assorted troubles during the last two-hour practice period, but none was serious.

Bobby Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., lost control of the novel four-wheeled drive Ferguson Novi in the south turn but spun without hitting anything. He, Art Malone of Tampa, Fla., and Jim McElreith, Arlington, Tex., were flagged off the track later because fuel was spewing out of their tanks. New gaskets will fix that problem before Saturday.

The last preliminaries to the race will be pit-stop rehearsals Friday morning and the annual drivers' meeting at 1 p.m. CST.

BUNCHED at 136, three strokes behind Bayer, runner-up to winner Billy Casper in the 1962 Speedway meet, were Gary Player, who rallied briskly with a 66; Negro star Charles Sifford, who shot 67, and Tommy Jacobs with a second-round 68.

Clark, who set a qualifying record of 158.8 miles per hour, and teammate Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., practiced at about 155 miles an hour. Some observers said they were going much faster than that on the back stretch, out of the view of the other crews.

Drivers Complete Shakedown Runs for Saturday's 500 Race

INDIANAPOLIS — Thirty-two drivers took their last shakedown runs Thursday before Saturday's 48th 500-mile auto race and Bobby Marshman waved his Lotus-Ford's twin exhaust stacks at 31 of them.

Marshman, a second generation racer from Pottstown, Pa., ran at speeds up to 156.9 miles an hour on a full tank of gasoline.

THAT WAS FASTER than anybody qualified in the 10-mile time trials, excepting Marshman and pole-position winner Jimmy Clark of Scotland in a newer model Lotus-Ford.

Clark, who set a qualifying record of 158.8 miles per hour, and teammate Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., practiced at about 155 miles an hour. Some observers said they were going much faster than that on the back stretch, out of the view of the other crews.

Eye Bank Founder Cited

The latest issues of two nationally-circulated magazines feature the unusual story of Dr. Alton E. Braley, head of the SUI Ophthalmology Department, who is credited with originating the far-flung amateur radio eye bank network.

The May 30th issue of The Saturday Evening Post includes a two-page spread on the humanitarian inventiveness of Dr. Braley and his fellow radio ham, Ted Hunter, professor of psychology. The article, entitled "Race Against Blindness," is written by Max Gunther.

Dr. Braley and the eye bank ham radio network also are included in a picture-story feature published in the June issue of Today's Health, official magazine of the American Medical Association. Written by D. E. Logan, Jr., the article refers to network operators as "Short Wave Samaritans."

The Today's Health story also cites Ruth Fisher, executive director of the Iowa City eye bank and associate of Dr. Braley, for her activities in administering many of the network details.

The medical technique upon which the eye bank system is based has developed rapidly over the past 15 years. Today, almost every young surgeon learns how to transplant the cornea, the transparent front shield which pro-

DR. BRALEY Receives Credit For Work

teets the eye's working parts. The cornea can become torn, pitted or clouded by accident or disease and must be replaced or the patient may become blind. Most corneal transplants are not emergency operations as far as the patient is concerned. However, the human eye deteriorates rapidly 24 hours after it has been removed from a donor and often must be hurried long distances quickly if it is to be usable.

The eye bank network began operation in the winter of 1962 with 15 members. Last year, it served 40 cities throughout the United States and was responsible for handling 74 rush cases. The network goes on the air each morning and evening. A centrally-located operator, often Professor Hunter, calls the roll and asks whether any eye bank needs fresh eyes or has them to give away.

Eyes are flown by commercial airlines from eye banks to distant hospitals when needed. They are transported in specially-developed plastic carrying cases, sterilized, refrigerated and placed under the personal responsibility of the senior stewardess.

Professor's Son Receives Degree

Sami Badre, 725 S. Summit St., has been awarded the Bachelor of Foreign Trade degree by the American Institute for Foreign Trade, Glendale, Ariz.

A 1963 graduate of Siena College, Albany, N.Y., Badre majored in French and Western European area studies and commercial documentation.

He has accepted a position with United California Bank, Los Angeles, Calif., in preparation for assignment in the Middle East.

He is the son of Albert Y. Badre, professor of economics at SUI.

MARAUDING ELEPHANTS — KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya — To the chagrin of conservationists, orders have gone out to destroy wild elephants marauding in rubber, oil and banana estates of eastern Malaya and threatening villages.

61 Reservoir Buildings Open to Bids

Sixty-one farm buildings in the Coralville flood control reservoir area north of Iowa City are for sale, according to an invitation for bids issued Wednesday by the U.S. Army Engineer District, Rock Island, Ill.

Sealed bids for five houses and the farm buildings will be opened at 2 p.m. June 17 at Clock Tower Building, headquarters of the Rock Island District.

Buildings included are five houses, two sheds, three smoke houses, ten cribs, a storage building, eight chicken houses, five hog houses, a wood shed, six barns, two garages, three machine sheds, a brooder house, a scales, a water tank and a granary.

Persons wanting to inspect the buildings should contact John Story, reservoir manager, at the Coralville Administration Building, Coralville.

Successful bidders must remove their purchased buildings within 60 calendar days after receiving an authorization notice to remove the property.

Scranton Consents To VP Nomination

HARRISBURG, Pa. — Gov. William W. Scranton said Thursday he would consent to having his name placed in nomination for the Republican presidential nomination only if the Pennsylvania delegation desired the move for tactical reasons.

Scranton made the comment in answer to a question at his weekly news conference but he went to considerable lengths to emphasize that he would not initiate placement of his name before the GOP National Convention at San Francisco in July.

New Drugs Complicate Prescriptions

Although the dozens of new drugs coming on the market each year complicate the doctor's job of prescription writing, several steps can be taken to simplify the task.

Se y m o u r M. Blaug, professor of pharmacy, teaches these steps to SUI medical students.

The instruction is given in the latter part of their sophomore year as a section of the medical pharmacology course.

Dr. Blaug said new laws call for simpler names for drugs. A combined committee from the American Medical Association and the scientists who work on the U.S. Pharmacopoeia now develop the names for new drugs. Dr. Blaug said he teaches students to use these official names, as well as the trade names given the drugs by manufacturers.

Blaug advises medical students to develop a close working relationship with their pharmacist who can provide countless details about dosage forms and the availability of various drugs.

The SUI professor familiarizes the medical students with two of the "bibles" of the pharmacist—the U.S. Pharmacopoeia and the National Formulary. Before drugs are listed in these official books, they must have proven effective and safe in use on patients.

One of the most complicated aspects of prescribing drugs is understanding the variety of dosage forms available. Dr. Blaug pointed out. For example, Pyribenzamine, an antihistamine, can be prescribed in the form of a plain tablet which will act for a limited number of hours, in a delayed-action tablet which will not start to work for three or four hours or in a sustained-action tablet which will have continuous effect over a period of eight hours.

Herbie the Snake Sneaks No More

DES MOINES — A 6½-foot boa constrictor named Herbie got stuck in the crack of a barbershop door Thursday.

Herbie, brought into Jon's Barber Shop near the Drake University campus by his owner Tom Schumacher, decided to go exploring.

He crawled into the inch-wide crack between the door and the jamb and found it too narrow for his body, which is about four inches thick.

"He's not causing any harm, and I think he'll get out all right eventually," said Ron Hill, a barber who is a partner of Jon Lettington in the shop.

No one, however, was going near Herbie for the time being. They thought he might be frustrated and angry.

Herbie was brought to Des Moines by Bob Netolecky, Drake University basketball player, as a pet.

Authorities vetoed the idea of keeping the snake in Netolecky's dormitory, and Netolecky gave Herbie to Schumacher, who has an apartment.

Mrs. Sands, 'Mother' of 700, To Retire from Phi Ep Post

There are few women who can claim a family of over 700 children, but Sonia Sands, house-mother of Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity since 1941, has earned that distinction.

Mrs. Sands, who will retire this spring because of her health, is the matriarch of SUI housemothers, having served in that capacity longer than any other "mother" on campus.

"The success of being a house-mother is to know when to be silent, when to be absent, and when to make your presence felt," Mrs. Sands said recently.

And, according to the Phi Ep's, Mrs. Sands has, indeed, been a successful housemother.

"This woman has been a kindly, gracious mother to all Phi Ep's through the years who both respect and love her," said Phi Ep president Bruce Strom, A3, Waterloo.

Being a housemother is a gracious way of growing old, according to Mrs. Sands, and working with human beings, especially young people, is a rewarding experience.

"Seeing these young people develop is like reading a good book, and not knowing how it's going to end," she said.

Sonia, as she is known to the Phi Ep's, puts her whole life into
