

Lack of responsibility shows need for law

THE DEMAND TO KNOW where the opposition to the proposed fair housing ordinance for Iowa City was coming from has been answered, at least in part.

The Iowa City Board of Realtors and the Home Builders Association of Iowa City have both issued news releases stating their reasons for opposing the ordinance.

The Board of Realtors release states that it has held to the principle that property rights are constitutionally guaranteed to each citizen, and that these rights are "indispensable to the maintenance of a free society of free men."

The release continues, "While we will not defend racial or religious discrimination, it does not follow that every possible action taken to eliminate discrimination is either good or necessary. Indeed, legislative action attempting to eliminate discrimination and bias may ultimately lead to the destruction of individual liberty."

The Home Builders Association attempts to remove itself from any responsibility for present conditions in housing practices by explaining that "discrimination in housing does not arise from builders bias, but results from the emotions and deep-seated attitudes of our customers. . . a builder can successfully sell or rent homes only under circumstances acceptable in the local market."

The most amazing piece of logic in the Home Builders release is the statement, "We are therefore strenuously opposed to the proposed City Housing Ordinance because we feel that it will undermine the progressive history of new construction and development in Iowa City. . ."

This is a rather strange concept of what is "progressive."

The fallacy in both sets of reasoning is, of course, that human rights are placed secondary to property rights, according to the Home Builders and the Realtors.

Both groups could have made steps to help solve the inequities of Iowa City housing, and perhaps have avoided the legislation which they so strenuously abhor. But they have not, nor have they shown any indication that they would move to do so in the future.

Legislation — effective legislation — is necessary because of a lack of responsibility toward human rights by those with influence. The Realtors and Home Builders have effectively shown their influence.

They have yet to show any signs of responsibility toward the public good of this community.

—Repertory Theatre— Season reviewed for future years

By LOUIS D. GIANNETTI
Iowan Reviewer

Although there have been superior individual performers in the past, the over-all quality of the actors of this season's Repertory Theatre has probably been the best since the inception of the repertory plan at SUJ. The calibre of directing, similarly, has been as good as that of any previous summer, and in some instances, considerably better.

YET, UNLIKE any previous season, ticket sales were slow. Regular theatre goers stayed home. Almost every house had from thirty to sixty empty seats, and in some casts, the house was less than two-thirds filled. Several of the plays met with disappointing — if not hostile — receptions.

With so much initially in its favor, something went seriously wrong with this season's presentations.

We need not search far to see what went wrong. Quite clearly, it was the selection of scripts. Now there is not much point in flogging a dead horse, and what's done is indeed done. At one time or another, most of us have admired thoughtlessly, have praised tastelessly. Most of us have blushed for embarrassing lapses from good sense. But there is always a next year, and for this reason, the subject of script selection must not be dismissed with a chagrined shrug.

UNFORTUNATELY, the selection of plays is not the easy matter that many might imagine. First of all, one must have variety. In the past, Shakespeare and Moliere have been standard items. There can be little doubt that the three-day sellouts in summers gone by have been largely due to the fact that these two authors have been the mainstay features of the repertory.

But both these authors present great difficulties in production. Large casts, elaborate sets, expensive costumes and complex acting styles, among other things, have often rendered the past productions of the works of such classic playwrights at last inconsistent, and often mediocre.

WHEN A CAST is large, it will be almost inevitable that the quality of the actors will vary considerably. In so many past productions we have seen capable leads, adequate secondary performers, and lamentable supporting performers.

The complexities involved in acting "period" plays are immense; in some cases, actors must be taught how to stand and move, how to wear a costume with natural ease, how to recite verse properly, how to capture the subtlest nuances in a line or even a word. Obviously, it is easier to work with five actors rather than fifteen. It is easier yet not to select period plays, which are usually the scripts that most severely present these problems.

SIMILARLY, costumes for period plays are expensive and complex. Often in the past there has been insufficient funds, time, and/or personnel to construct attractive and appropriate costumes. To costume three or four contemporary rather than period plays, therefore, is an obvious solution to this problem. For these and other reasons, then, Shakespeare and Moliere were dropped — probably with much reluctance — from the 1964 Repertory.

A SECOND ALTERNATIVE would be to produce all contemporary scripts, but with an emphasis on the "modern classics," such as Williams, Miller, O'Neill or the exciting (and small-cast) plays of Beckett, Ionesco and Adamov. The controversial nature of the Theatre of the Absurd would also inspire a refreshing return to the days when audiences took a more vital interest in the drama. (Witness the heated controversy in the DI letters column concerning the production of "Waiting for Godot" several years back.)

A THIRD ALTERNATIVE might be to produce two contemporary plays, and two period plays in modern dress. Shakespeare, Sophocles, Ibsen and Shaw are most effective in period costumes. It is true, but there have been many exciting productions of the classics in modern dress (witness Burton's current "Hamlet") which have had enthusiastic packed houses.

Seldom is everyone happy over the choice of scripts in a repertory. Some of the criticism of past theatrical seasons has been legitimate, such as the conspicuous and inexcusable absence of the works of Shaw, whom many would consider second only to Shakespeare in the entire gamut of English drama.

A GOOD DEAL of the criticism has been naive, ignorant and uninformed. The complexities involved in selecting a well-balanced, plausible season are vast, and they must be taken into consideration when an alternative scheme is proposed.

One thing, however, is certain: Any one of the above three alternative plans, or a mixture of them, would have been preferable to the disappointing productions of the 1964 Summer Repertory.

Reader deplures use of 'smears'

To the Editor:

The use of "smear" tactics in a political campaign should be deplored by every citizen. Mr. Erickson's use of the "smear" is more than deplorable; it is dangerous. His attempt to "gag" University personnel is an attempt to deny them basic political freedoms which are due to every citizen.

He claims: "Partisan politics must be kept out of our educational system . . . in the field of athletics, in the classroom, or in the general area of administration."

This would mean that the instructor is deprived of the opportunity to express his personal political opinion, if he wishes to do so. The student is thus deprived of the opportunity to be challenged to think in the area of politics.

Students are, or will be, voters. An educated person should be a responsible voter — a result of challenge and thought. Mr. Erickson's "gag" philosophy would be an infringement on academic freedom on the part of the instructor, more palatable to the citizen of Mississippi than to the citizen of Iowa.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Erickson is using the University to promote "partisan" politics (Republican, of course) in his personal attacks on Mr. Evashevski and Mr. Flora.

I wonder if his reaction to their activities would be the same if they were active in the Party (Republican of course). Mr. Erickson seems bent on limiting his campaign to personal invective, instead of dealing with state and local issues. If I may say so (as a student and an employee of the University), my personal reaction to these tactics will be a vote for the Democratic candidate. I would hope that this will also be the feeling of numerous other voters.

Letters to the editor—

Reader deplures use of 'smears'

To the Editor:

Each weekend during summer school my wife and I have traveled Highway 6 from Iowa City to Marengo and have come to some rather definite conclusions concerning the accidents on that stretch of road. First, we agree with the Highway Commission that "almost all accidents can be prevented."

We have not witnessed any accidents but we have seen many incidents that were close. In each case it was a matter of not obeying the traffic rules.

For instance, last Friday evening two drivers passed us and a truck immediately in front of us, in the face of oncoming traffic. In less than a mile each driver turned off Highway 6 onto a side road. Actually there was no need for their passing us at all as they did not gain any time, but risked their lives as well as those of other travelers.

Second, we are at a loss as to what has happened to the 50 mile speed limit for trucks. We have not heard of its being rescinded and the posted signs still indicate that it is the law. However the only time we find a truck going within that limit is when it is going uphill and does not have the power to travel at a faster rate.

We feel that if the trucks moved at a lawful speed it would be possible for automobile traffic to move around them without having to take so much risk as is now the case.

Third, we have observed that most drivers, and especially truckers, follow the vehicle in front of them too closely, making it necessary to pass two or three vehicles at one time, or crowd in between two vehicles in order to pass. This situation certainly increases the danger of passing. Of course, if one follows at a reasonable distance, some "eager beaver" will always pass and pull in between you and the car ahead.

We believe that if drivers would follow the posted rules and also use more common sense the accident rate would be drastically lowered on Highway 6 as well as on other roads.

Alcoholism, absenteeism

The mounting problem of alcoholism is such that we now estimate the cost to the nation — time and production loss, jail and hospital costs, accident insurance — at a conservative total of two billion dollars.

This is the cost of alcoholism and not drunkenness, though exact definitions are sometimes difficult. The alcoholic is the compulsive drinker. He is the addict, the man who knowingly or unknowingly craves the sedative effect of alcoholic beverages just as the heroin addict craves the needle.

The ordinary drunkard, on the other hand, becomes intoxicated and, the next day, is revolted by the idea of taking a drink.

But for the compulsive drinker, last evening was only the beginning. Instead of revulsion the next day, the alcoholic has stirred up his compulsion. He must continue drinking.

This difference is practically illustrated by job-absenteeism in Iowa industry. The average non-alcoholic is absent on only eight days in a year. The alcoholic's absenteeism runs as high as twenty-eight days a year. And this is just one statistic on the loss of factory production in our state.

Some psychiatrists express the opinion that one out of every fifteen social drinkers develop a detectable drinking problem in five to seven years.

This presupposes a tendency to use alcohol abnormally among one in fifteen young people once alcohol is experienced in the system of that young person. That is why, as one of its activities, the Iowa State Commission on Alcoholism will offer to high schools in September, a program of alcohol education built around a film titled "Verdict at 1.32."

Swisher
Won't Fight Suspension

Scott Swisher, former State Representative from Iowa City, said Friday he will not file an objection to a recommendation of the Iowa Supreme Court suspend his license to practice law for 90 days.

Asked by The Daily Iowan, "Will you file an objection?" the Iowa City attorney replied, "No."

Swisher, a Democrat, refused to make further comment Friday on the recommendation of a five-man Grievance Commission of the Supreme Court. He has 20 days to file an objection if he changes his mind.

The committee said Swisher should be reprimanded for his conduct. However, a disbarment would be too severe a punishment for the offense, it said.

The high court is expected to act on the recommendation in the term which begins Sept. 21. The complaint was filed by the Professional Ethics and Conduct Committee of the Iowa State Bar Association.

Swisher was convicted of failing to file federal income tax returns for four years, and was sentenced Dec. 11 to six months in the Federal Medical Center at Springfield, Mo. He was paroled March 10.

The Grievance Commission said that although Swisher's record didn't show any actions against the best interests of the clients in his practice, the complaint couldn't be dismissed.

The commission said the failure "has brought members of the profession generally into public disrepute," and added, "that lawyers are considered to have a higher degree of responsibility in their profession in these areas than members of any other profession, business or occupation."

The Grievance Commission consists of attorneys Robert M. Underhill, Onawa; John H. Mitchell, Fort Dodge; Alfred M. Pabst, Albia; Carroll Johnson, Knoxville; and L. J. Ehrhardt, Eldaker.

Lightning Strikes Thrice, Slight Damage Reported

The thunderstorm which hit Iowa City Friday morning sent firemen to three locations to investigate electrical disturbances.

Lightning which struck a utility pole on the east side of the city caused outlets in two homes to smoke. Firemen were called to the Willard W. Klotzbach residence, 33 Norwood Circle, and to the home of Russell J. Mishak, 33 Norwood Circle; however, only slight damage was reported.

A television set at the home of Herman Villhauer, 1911 H St., was also reported damaged by lightning.

$1-Million-Damage Suit Filed in District Court

A counter suit amounting to $1,000,000 was filed in Johnson County District Court Friday morning.

The suit was filed by the Red Carpet Lounge, Guy Sparrow and R. Drew McNamara against Ralph Wombacher who does business as Jeff's Music Company in Iowa City.

Several weeks ago Wombacher sued the Red Carpet Lounge, a night club located north of Iowa City, and Sparrow and McNamara for non-payment on musical sound equipment contracted from the music company.

The counter claim made Friday says that press coverage of the original petition damaged the reputations of the defendants.

Palmer Gains Tie for Lead With 67

MONTREAL (AP) — Arnold Palmer, golf's most feared comebacker, rushed up from four strokes off the pace Friday and grabbed a share of the second-round lead in the Canadian Open Golf championships.

Palmer, the Masters' champ from Latrobe, Pa., forged a four-under-par 67 over the Pinegrove course and tied big Bill Collins of Baltimore, each with 138 for 36 holes.

But Billy Casper, the chunky veteran from Corona, Calif., had the best round of the day over the rolling grounds of Pinegrove, equalling the course record with a brilliant five-under-par 66.

That went with his opening round 73 for a 169, one stroke off the pace and a tie with Rex Baxter Jr., of Amarillo, Tex., who holed out a 25-foot putt from just off the 18th green for a 69.

Gibby Gilbert, the 23-year-old rookie from Hollywood, Fla., who held the first round lead with a 67, blew to a 74 but remained just three strokes back with a group at 141.

Jack Nicklaus went one over for a 72 and 142.

Bears Scrimmage For All-Stars; Halas Satisfied

RENSSELAER, Ind. (AP) — The Chicago Bears began concentrating Friday on plays to be used against the College All-Stars at Soldier Field next Friday night.

Coach George Halas was satisfied, but far from jubilant, over Thursday's final scrimmage before his National Football League champions tackle the collegians in the 31st All-Star game.

"It was a spirited workout," Halas said, "but I didn't think the boys were as sharp as they were in our first scrimmage July 22."

The 45-minute scrimmage made it evident that it will take considerable time to develop a solid runner to replace Willie Galimore, killed with end John Farrington in a July 26 auto crash.

Only Ron Bull performed efficiently at the halfback spot Bull formerly shared with Galimore.

The All-Stars won by a field goal margin, 20-17, over the Green Bay Packers last year.

Records Continue To Fall In AAU Championships

LOS ALTOS HILLS, Calif. (AP) — America's teen-agers led by 15-year-old Sharon Stouder continued record shattering performances in the National AAU outdoor swimming championships Friday.

The tall Glendora, Calif., high school girl's time of 1:00.7 in the 100-meter freestyle bettered the previous record of 1:01.3 set by Chris van Salta in 1960. That was the year Chris reigned as the Olympic swim queen.

The 1:00.7 failed to challenge the world record of 58.9 seconds by Australia's Dawn Fraser.

Miss Stouder, swimming on the City of Commerce team from Los Angeles County, became that outfit's second record smasher. Thursday, 13-year-old Patty Caretto bettered the world record in the 1,500-meter freestyle with a time of 18:30.5.

En route she posted a new world record of 800 meters at 9:47.3.

In the 100-meter qualifying race, when Miss Stouder set her record, she was pushed all the way by Martha Randall of Philadelphia, who matched the previous American record of 1:01.3. Both she and Miss Stouder bettered the prior meet mark of 1:01.5 by Robyn Johnson of Arlington, Va.

Other meet records fell early. Anne Bancroft, former Washington, D.C. star now swimming for the Foothill Club in Los Angeles Hills, clipped one-tenth of a second off the 200-meter breaststroke record with 2:53.2. She bettered the record by Ann Warner of Santa Clara, also set in 1960.

Donna De Verona, 17, bettered her meet record in the 400-meter individual medley despite a sore thigh muscle. But even though her time of 5:23 beat her AAU meet record of 5:24.3, it was far from her 5:16.6.

The Santa Clara Swim Club's A team of California bettered the national 400-meter freestyle relay record. The time was 4:13.4, clipping three-tenths of a second off the 1963 mark set by the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

Franchhauser Still In Serious Shape But Doing Fine

BEMIDJI, Minn. (AP) — Tommy Franchhauser, injured Minnesota Vikings pro football player, was reported by an attending physician Friday as "doing beautifully."

"He is bright and alert, sharp as a tack," said Dr. Don Hoganson. He said Franchhauser, who suffered a brain hemorrhage in Wednesday's practice, has full motor function of his limbs and is continuing to improve although regarded in serious condition.

Franchhauser, 26, a defensive back, was injured making a tackle and a few plays later had to be rushed to a hospital for an emergency operation. He'll be hospitalized for several weeks and his football playing days may be ended.

Callison Hits 2-Run Homer In 1st Inning

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National League-leading Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-1 Friday night behind John Callison's two-run homer and clutch relief pitching of Jack Baldschun.

Tony Gonzalez opened the game with a single and was forced by John Herrnstein. Callison then slammed a Joe Moeller pitch over the right field wall for his 18th home run.

Moeller, who suffered his 10th defeat in 13 decisions, gave up only one more hit, a single to Richie Allen following Callison's blast. The Dodgers' right-hander then retired 17 batters in a row before being removed for a pinch hitter in the seventh.

The Dodgers, trailing 3-1, threatened in the eighth inning, driving starter Chris Short from the mound.

Baldschun, however, struck out Frank Howard and got Ron Fairly on an inning-ending grounder.

Braves Blast Chicago, 13-3

CHICAGO (AP) — Joe Torre and Denis Menke each hit a homer and a triple as the Milwaukee Braves routed the Chicago Cubs 13-3 Friday. Bob Sadowski, pitching in Warren Spahn's spot in the rotation, went all the way for his fifth victory.

It was the fourth straight loss for the Cubs, whose ace, Bob Buhl, failed to last out the second inning.

Sadowski, who moved into the spot rotation when 43-year-old Spahn was sent to the bullpen, scattered six hits.

Torre started the rout when he tripled home two runs for the Braves in the first. Cubs right fielder Doug Clemens made two errors in a two-run Milwaukee second.

Menke homered in the third and Torre in the fifth.

Hank Aaron capped Milwaukee's big day with a three-run homer in the ninth.

Chicago Cubs pitcher Dick Ellsworth suffered a hair-line fracture of his right cheekbone when he was struck by a liner off the bat of Dick Groat, St. Louis shortstop, Thursday.

—After Year Suspension— Karras Eager for Action

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich. — There's at least one player in the Detroit Lions camp who just can't wait for the first whistle of the 1964 season.

He's Alex Karras, the Lions' All-Pro defensive tackle from Iowa, who sat out the 1963 season under suspension, and who says he is looking forward to his return to the lineup like a child looks forward to the arrival of Santa Claus.

During Karras' peak years, the Lions finished in second place three straight seasons, 1960, 1961 and 1962, and last season the team dropped off to a fourth place (tie). What effect did Karras' loss have upon the team and how big was that loss in the win-lose column?

"That's a difficult question to answer but insiders in the Lions camp feel that things will be different with the return of the Hawkeye star.

Coach George Wilson himself admitted that Karras' loss was a terrific blow to the club, both on the field and in the morale department, as the hard-working Karras is one of the team's real leaders, both on and off the field.

"Alex is great at keeping the team loose," Wilson said, "as he has a real knack of keeping other players on their toes with his gentle, but effective, needling.

"I don't think we realized when we lost him just how much he meant to the overall play of the club, but we found out as we went along that he was almost impossible to replace."

Karras isn't saying much about his enforced layoff and his actions on the practice field indicate he means to take up where he left off when the 1962 season ended.

"It was a long, difficult year for me sitting in the stands watching the team play, and I hope to make up for the last time by coming back better than ever," Karras said.

Karras' coach, Les Bingaman, is the first to admit that the 245-pound Karras (he's under his former playing weight) hasn't lost a thing in the interim. "I sleep a lot better knowing that Alex will be back on the job this year," he said.

It could be that with Karras again teaming with Roger Brown in the middle of the Detroit defensive line, that a lot of other people around the league will start losing a little sleep again as the '64 season unfolds.

ROGERS DROPPED — WINNIPEG, Canada (AP) — Winnipeg of the Canadian Football League trimmed four American imports from its squad Thursday, including fullback Lonnie Rogers, who played college ball at the University of Iowa.

Mickey Wright Grabs Lead At Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Golf queen Mickey Wright, despite a bothersome stomach ulcer, fired a three-under-par 69 Friday to surge into a three-stroke lead with a 143 total at the halfway mark of the 72-hole $12,500 Milwaukee Women's Open.

The 28-year-old Miss Wright, who plans to take a week off from the pro circuit to visit her doctor in Dallas, was at her best in posting nines of 36 and 33 on the North Shore Country Club's 6,508-yard course.

Sandra McClinton of Mt. Pleasant, Tex., moved into second place with a 38-34-72 and a 36-hole total of 146.

Ruth Jensen, who shared the opening round lead with Jo Ann Prentice at 71, had a 38-39-77. Also bracketed at 148 were Kathy Cornelius, with a pair of 74 rounds, and Mary Mills, with 73-75.

Miss Prentice soared to a 79 for a 150 total.

Art Center $10 Million Total Cost Of Program

A cultural enrichment program which will ultimately cost an estimated $10 million, is "almost in reaching distance," according to Loren Hickerson, director of SUI Foundation.

"Although plans for a Fine Center are not at all definite things are beginning to crystallize," Hickerson said Monday.

Such a Fine Arts Center, would be located on the west bank of the Iowa River, would be not only the University student and faculty members, but also community and the state, he said.

Two aspects of the program already well underway. A $600 appropriation, made by the legislature in 1963, has been marked for expansion of the center.

Some 500 persons listened as Engle was eulogized. Among those present were Gov. Edmond G. Brown of California and former White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger, the Democratic party's choice to succeed Engle.
