Hubert: Barry's LBJ Attack Is Desperate

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey whipped through the Midwest on Wednesday and charged that Barry Goldwater's soft-on-communism attack on President Johnson "was the last argument of a dying political man."

Referring to Goldwater's statement in Cincinnati on Tuesday night, Humphrey said: "If the Republican candidate has had to reach down into the bottom of the barrel to dig up that old, old smelly argument, then all I can say is that he will die in the stench of his political argument."

THE DEMOCRATIC vice-presidential candidate turned his fire on Goldwater during a noon-time rally in Detroit's Kennedy Square before swinging down to try to put an LBJ buckle on the corn belt.

At Moline, Ill., Airport, serving the Iowa-Illinois quad-cities, Humphrey was welcomed by the governors of both states, Otto Kerner of Illinois and Harold Hughes of Iowa.

AFTER DRIVING in a motorcade across the Mississippi River, Humphrey told an Iowa AFL-CIO convention that "Goldwaterites are the rear guard of a defeated past" and he urged they be "defeated as never before in any election."

Flying to Des Moines, Humphrey said in his prepared remarks, "Sen. Goldwater's record on agriculture, by itself, is enough reason for any Iowa, any Midwesterner, any American to vote against him."

The nation's farmers, he said, have the choice between President Johnson "who has consistently and enthusiastically supported legislation to help the farmer and the man who has never in his Senate career voted for a bill that would help the farmers."

IT WAS IN Detroit, however, where Humphrey set off sparks. To a crowd of about 2,000 Humphrey noted that Goldwater said Johnson was soft on communism.

"Well, shades of Nixon," he hooted. "That is the last argument of a dying political man."

Describing Johnson as a patriot, Humphrey said:

To Record Crowds—

Barry: U.S. Fighting 'By Mistake' in Viet

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater charged Wednesday the Democratic administration got into the fighting in South Viet Nam "by mistake" and President Johnson is using a "lie and lie" technique to cover up conditions here.

Wheeling across Ohio in a 19-car special train, the GOP presidential nominee challenged President Johnson to go on television and "tell the American people exactly what is going on down there."

That is what he would do if he becomes President, Goldwater said.

He added that the people should know what the United States has committed in weapons and personnel to hostilities which he said the country had become involved in "by mistake in that the secretary of defense went there and told these boys to start shooting when we were only supposed to be instructing."

THIS ACTION presumably occurred in the administration of the late President John F. Kennedy, but Goldwater called it "Johnson's war."

Goldwater said the President won't release information on this phase of the operation, adding: "We used to say they 'spend, and spend and elect and elect.' Today we say they lie and lie and elect and elect."

GOLDWATER said he has no

Humphrey said "and here comes this great man from Arizona as he runs out of invectives — he called our President everything he could. He has called him a fake and a phoney, and now he says he is soft on communism."

"OH, MY GOODNESS, I must say, I didn't think the campaign was that close to being over," declared Humphrey.

Chas. Malik To Speak At 8 Tonight

Charles H. Malik, former United Nations General Assembly president, will open the 1964-65 University Lecture Series at 8 p.m. today in the Main Lounge of the Union.

Malik, who was president of the General Assembly in 1958-59, will speak on "The Struggle for Peace." He will examine the questions of war and peace and the challenge the West to help the masses understand the changes taking place in today's world.

Malik is a former foreign minister of the Republic of Lebanon and was ambassador from that country to the United States from 1945 to 1953. In his 14 years at the U.N., he was chairman of the Lebanese delegation, chairman of the Commission on Human Rights and president of the Economic and Social Council.

In 1956-57, he was Lebanese minister of national education and fine arts.

Computer Will Pick AID Dance Partners

By LINDA WEINER
Editor

Ya pays yer money — but ya don't gets yer choice. The choice will be left up to Ann Landers with wires — a computer.

A computer dance, sponsored by the Student Senate's Project AID, will be held Nov. 7, and SUlowans will have a chance to see how good a matchmaker a computer is.

Frank Patton, B4, Wilmette, Ill., commissioner of Project AID, presented the plan to the Senate Tuesday night and the Senate approved the idea.

"THE COMPUTER dance will be used to raise funds for the AID scholarship fund," said Patton, "and will also be part of a social science research project."

Computer dances have been held on other campuses throughout the country, but, as far as Patton knows, this is the first time one has been held for scholarships.

"Students will be required to take a personality test of 100 questions," said Patton, "and then the information will be programmed in a computer. Each person will be matched up with three partners during the evening."

TICKETS WILL be sold in housing units for 50 cents next week and at a booth in the Union starting Oct. 7.

These tickets will admit students to the testing areas — to be scheduled sometime during the week of Oct. 11. Patton said that men and women will be separated for the personality test.

"This is so that couples won't be able to sit together and write the same answers," he said.

AS THE STUDENTS leave the testing areas, they must pay $1, which admits them to the dance at the Union Nov. 7. Thus the total admission cost is $1.50.

"We'll cut off the sales Oct. 9 but if there is a difference in the number of men and women, we'll sell tickets over the weekend to make up the difference," explained Patton.

THE PERSONALITY test results will be processed through the computers, rented from the University.

"It's quite possible that pinnates or other couples will find themselves matched up at least once during the evening," said Patton. "Many couples are planning to go to the dance just to see whether they will be."

THE KEY TO the whole experiment will be a five-question rating filled out by students as they leave the dance. The results will be announced as soon as possible after the dance. Students must leave their ID's before entering the dance and will have them returned after handing in the ratings.

"There is a married couple that wants to go through the testing and dance just for fun," said Patton.

All profit from the dance will go into the Project AID scholarship fund, handled by the Aid Iowa Development Fund.

District Court Rules Johnson To Remain on Iowa Ballot

Judge Dismisses Suit Against Sec. Synhorst

DES MOINES (AP) — District Judge Wade Clarke ruled late Wednesday that the names of President Johnson and his vice presidential running mate, Hubert Humphrey, shall remain on the Iowa ballot Nov. 3.

The judge dismissed a suit brought by two Winterset attorneys, Gordon Risher, and his mother, Mrs. Blance Robbins Risher, against Secretary of State Melvin D. Synhorst.

The Rishers contended the names should be kept off the general election ballot because they were not certified as the Democratic party's official nominees until one day after the deadline.

SAID JUDGE Clarke: "The intent and spirit of the general election law, particularly as it relates to the Presidential election, is to allow the names of the nominees of all legitimate political party organizations to have their names on the ballot, to the end that the free will of the people may be expressed at the polls."

He said certification of President Johnson and Sen. Humphrey by state party leaders "in the case was a mere formality confirming known fact."

JUDGE CLARKE said the nominations of Johnson and Humphrey at the Democratic National Convention in Atlantic City was "a fact widely disseminated... a matter of common knowledge."

State Democratic Chairman Lex Hawkins delivered the names of the party's standard bearers to Synhorst Sept. 1, one day after the filing deadline. Synhorst decided on his own the following day to place the names on the Iowa ballot.

THREE DAYS later Risher, Conservative party candidate for attorney general and his mother, brought suit to force Synhorst to keep the names off the ballot.

Judge Clarke said there is "no language anywhere in the Code of Iowa which makes it the duty of the secretary of state to reject a certificate of nomination."

THE COURT also ruled that Synhorst had not failed to perform any duty required of him by law, and that the plaintiffs failed to show that Synhorst neglected to perform his duty.

EUGENE DAVIS of Des Moines, Democratic attorney hired by the state to defend Synhorst, contended that the law on which the Rishers relied imposed no duty on the secretary of state, but only on the state chairmen of both parties.

The law, Davis said, doesn't say the secretary of state cannot accept certifications of candidates after the deadline has passed.

The Republican nominee, who made seven stops in zigzagging across Ohio to this lake port industrial city, professed to be encouraged in what he has described as an underdog battle against Johnson by the "wonderful crowds and wonderful enthusiasm" he had encountered in politically doubtful Ohio.

IN A DAY of open-air campaigning under sunny skies, the Republican candidate was credited with drawing larger throngs than turned out for former Vice President Richard M. Nixon when Nixon made many of the same stops in the 1960 campaign in which he carried the state against Kennedy.

Everywhere he went — to Middletown, Dayton, Springfield, Columbus, Marion, Lima, Deshler and on to Toledo — Goldwater was met with the cheering chant of, "We want Barry."

Johnson Plots Summit Meet If Elected

Also Wants Conference With Western Europe Heads of State, NATO

WASHINGTON (AP) President Johnson hopes to meet fairly soon — probably next year — with Soviet Premier Khrushchev to explore further steps to lessen East-West tension.

And if re-elected, the President expects to go to Europe in November or December to confer with leaders and representatives of the 14 other North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries.

THIS TRIP, it was learned, would involve an appearance either at the November meeting of NATO parliamentarians or the December session of the NATO council. Both are in Paris.

White House press secretary George E. Reedy, asked about stories on the trips, called them "purely speculative," but said he was neither discounting nor confirming them.

And State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey's only comment was that no preparations have been made.

BUT OTHER informed sources gave this version of the President's thinking:

Johnson considers the limited nuclear test ban treaty, establishment of a Washington-Moscow "hot line," and last winter's wheat sale to the Soviets as hopeful signs and wants to explore with Khrushchev any further moves that can be made.

This summit meeting, contingent of course upon Khrushchev's willingness to meet, would be preceded by meetings with leaders of Allied countries.

THE PRESIDENT'S appearance at either of the NATO conferences would not be an effort to turn either of them into a summit session bringing in the heads of member governments.

It is known that Johnson is anxious to meet individually with President Charles de Gaulle of France, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany and the prime minister of Great Britain after the October British election.

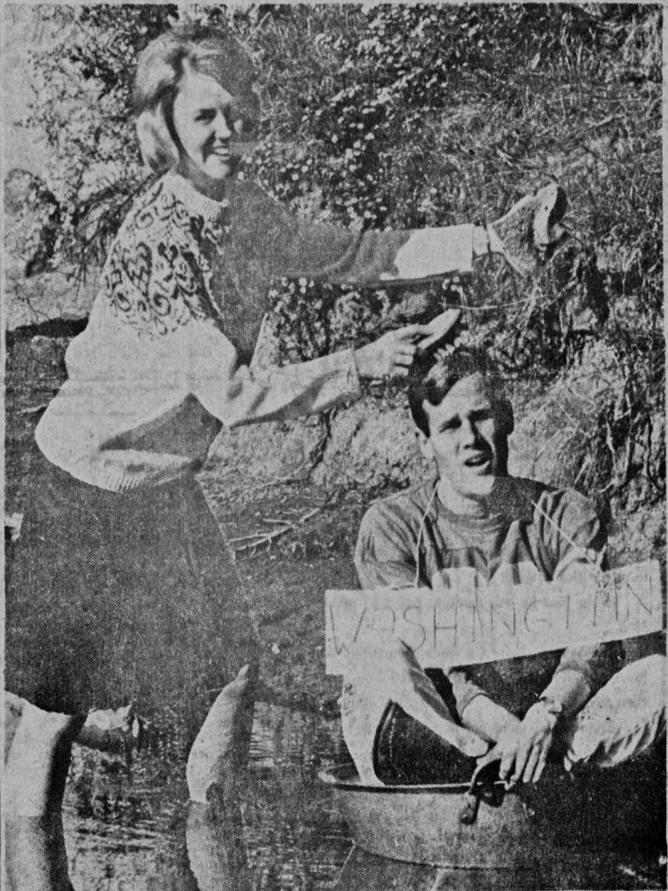

JOHNSON HAS had some past connections with the NATO parliamentarians, an unofficial body composed of appointed representatives of the parliaments and congresses of NATO countries.

Weather to Remain Fair for Today

Traces of rain in northern and northwestern counties broke Iowa's sunny spell Wednesday, but a return to generally fair skies was predicted Thursday.

Clear to partly cloudy skies and temperatures in the 70s and 80s were in the offing for Thursday.

The outlook for Friday called for partly cloudy skies as another frontal system approached from the Rockies.

Wash Out Washington

"Wash Out Washington" is the theme demonstrated by Debbie Ehlers, A1, Grundy Center and Dave Beed, A2, Cedar Rapids for the Iowa-Washington football game pep rally. The rally is planned for 7 p.m. Friday on the Union terrace. It will be followed by an informal dance.

Pep Group—

Grids for Washington Game

The "Fighting Hawks" are going to "Wash out Washington" in Saturday's football conflict, according to the predictions of the SUI Pep Club.

The second pep rally of the year will be held at 7 p.m. Friday on the Terrace Lounge Patio of the Union. Cheerleaders, pep band, team members and, hopefully, Forest Evashvski, director of athletics, and Jerry Burns, head football coach, will put in an appearance.

"Five Famous Americans" scheduled to be presented in the rally skit will tell all SUJowa why they feel the Hawks will "Wash out Washington."

Following the rally a dance will be held on the Terrace Lounge. Free refreshments will be served. In case of bad weather, the dance will be moved to the Main Lounge of the Union.

"This is our last home game until Homecoming, and we want a bang-up performance at the rally," Dave Knyer, A3, Pep Club president, said.

But Pep Club is responsible for

A similar cheering section for basketball games and a series of synchronized cheers are listed among the top objections of the current pep club.

Pep Club is composed of a 15-member executive council and several sub-committees. Each council member is a co-chairman for a subcommittee. Subcommittees have been established for rallies, special events, publicity, physical arrangements, and cheering bloc.

Knyer, who was formerly Pep Club vice president, took over the presidential duties after the resignation of Larry Herb, A4, Long Beach, Calif., this fall.

"Many people have asked me how they should go about joining Pep Club," Knyer said. "We feel every student is a member of Pep Club and it is every student's duty to participate in the functions and traditions of SUI."

Organizations should follow Senate lead

STUDENT SENATE MET for the first time this year Tuesday night and a new mood was introduced into the Senate.

In his opening remarks, Senate president Wally Snyder expressed the usual hopes for a bigger and better year, but also indicated a new concern for the position of the Senate.

Snyder stated that big campus organizations have often operated in conflict with each other, attempting to establish authority in new areas.

"We (the Senate) hope to get together with other organizations and give students a big voice in University affairs. This will go far in justifying the existence of the Senate and other organizations," said Snyder.

The worth of the Senate was questioned last year, perhaps not constructively, but recognition of the issue on the part of the Senate is a step in the right direction. The recognition of the need to show that Senate can function as a representative body takes the Senate closer to becoming that body.

It is difficult to argue effectively against establishing an effective student voice, one that will react to complaints from below, and also one that can at least make itself heard to the powers above.

But before this can be accomplished, as Snyder pointed out, it is necessary that the groups on campus that supposedly act in behalf of the students attempt to work out their areas of responsibility.

Part of the difficulties that the Senate-sponsored Spring Festival encountered last spring were a result of conflict between organizations, not necessarily reflecting animosity between the groups, but rather a lack of coordinated planning.

It would be in the interest of SUI students if the other organizations on campus followed the Senate's lead in attacking this problem.

SUI adopts another 'human touch'

THE UNIVERSITY has presented good news to forgetful and unaffluent students. This year one late payment of a University bill will be permitted before the usual $5 penalty fee will be assessed.

When the 12th of the month deadline rolls by this year without a payment of the bill, the student will be reminded of his obligation and be given until about the 20th to pay with no penalty.

In the past he was made to pay a $5 penalty after the 12th.

This year, as before, a student must pay by the 20th or be dropped from registration. A $10 re-instatement fee is then assessed before the student can continue school.

The late payment privilege will only be given once a year, however, so students who forget to pay or run short before the next pay check should not make late payments a common practice.

We do not know how much extra work the new policy will cause the University, but we think it will be worth it. The new policy gives the University business office the appearance of something more than a cold, bureaucratic machine without understanding of human weaknesses.

As the University grows, retaining allowances for these weaknesses grows proportionally.

In NY school system

Wayward bus, neighborhood confusion

By ART BUCHWALD

We walked into the office of a New York newspaper the other day and found a Negro friend of ours completely downcast.

"What's the matter?" we asked him.

"I just moved to a nice section of the Bronx," he said, "into a lovely house on a nice street with grass and flowers and trees. The neighbors gave me no trouble — as a matter of fact, they were very nice to me. The kids were happy as could be. It cost me $3,000 a year more, but I didn't care. It was worth it."

"What happened?" we asked.

"Now they want to bus my kids to school in Harlem."

"THAT DOESN'T sound right."

"They figured my kids should be with underprivileged kids so they'll know what it's like. But I told them my kids know what it's like in an underprivileged school and we'd like to try an over-privileged school for a while."

"What did they say?"

"They said I should have stayed in Harlem if I wanted my kids to go to a good school. I can't expect them to go to a good school if I'm going to live in a good neighborhood. That wouldn't make sense."

"They have a point, you know," we said. "If everyone who lived in a good neighborhood sent their kids to a good school, whom would you send to the bad schools?"

"Because the schools in a bad neighborhood are bad, and you wouldn't want to send them to a bad school, would you?"

"That's why I moved in the first place," he said.

Well, you should have thought about it before you moved. Just because you live in a good neighborhood is no reason why you should send your kids to a good school."

"IT'S NOT as simple as that. I have a friend who lives in a bad neighborhood, but, because of the bussing, the authorities de-ceded to make it a good school. They fixed it all up and brought in some first-rate teachers. Then they bussed his kids to a good neighborhood which had a lousy school. He complained he wanted his kids to go to the good school in the bad neighborhood but they told him his kids had to be bussed to the lousy school in the good neighborhood, so the kids from the good neighborhood would have a good school to go to in the lousy neighborhood."

"Well," we said, "if that's true, why wouldn't your kids be able to go to a good school in a lousy neighborhood?"

"Because the school they want to send my kids to is a lousy school in a lousy neighborhood. Besides, how are my kids going to meet any kids from the good neighborhood if they go to the lousy school?"

"Maybe on the bus?" we suggested.

"I don't think so. I believe there is only one solution. I think I'll move back to Harlem and send the kids to private school."

Food rots in America while others starve

The Christian Science Monitor

The Food for Peace program scraped through Congress with very small political leeway to spare. It is renewed for two years. And there was a compromise on the controls that Congress itself wanted to impose on the program. We can only hope that they don't seriously embarrass its operation.

They probably won't. For everyone knows that it would make no sense to let surplus food rot in storage. There is no prospect of checking the flood of farm production that is pouring constantly into all sorts of im-perished storehouses. This is what is known as the farm problem — an embarrassment of the riches from the soil that Congress doesn't dare, and the political parties don't dare, to check. They fear that the price might break and they don't want to embark on Government production controls to avert it.

So hungry people and countries like India with its current shortfall in wheat are the beneficiaries. The dispute in Congress boiled down to a policing matter. Congressmen want to supervise the spending of local currencies with which the food is bought by other countries. The State Department considers this properly part of the foreign policy of the United States.

Senate and House finally agreed to let the executive handle all defense expenditures but funds for development are subject to Congress' objection within a stated period of time, if anyone wants to object.

This ought to work.

Fear of Goldwater seen as big obstacle in campaign

By DORIS FLEESON

WASHINGTON — These crucial weeks of the Presidential campaign find American voters applying the test of pragmatism to the candidates. The truth they seem to feel is to be tested by the practical consequences of belief. They are rejecting Sen. Barry Goldwater because they are scared of the results his brand of political thinking will bring about in their lives. Goldwater is the major issue of the campaign, and this condition is forcing him into desperate attempts to remove their distrust.

Lately he has turned from modifying the views to which he clung firmly as late as his acceptance speech in defense of extremism. Instead, he has adopted the weapon of attack on President Johnson as personally unfit to occupy the occupy the White House.

WILL IT WORK? This election is not a popularity contest. So far the voters are embracing the Presidency and concluding that it is working, if not perfectly, in their interest. They are not saying they dislike Goldwater personally. They show fear of how he would handle the Presidential power. The President must be pleased that his talents are recognized and respected. But it must galling that the issue is being joined in a manner which appears to represent him as the lesser of two evils.

BARRY GOLDWATER

Scaring the folks back home?

He took office under agonizing circumstances and in only 10 months has proved himself not just to his party but in unlikely places for he has carried on in the liberal tradition.

IN ATTEMPTING to jostle him from the high road where he is succeeding so well, Goldwater is seeking to establish a whole new frame of voter reference which concentrates on the manner of Johnson's rise and labels it scandalous.

He thus skirts close to one of the hidden issues of the campaign which one editor calls

"the pocketbook war." The press is acutely aware of it because newsmen are flooded both with liberal indictments of all recent Democratic Presidents and with abuse from those who read and believe them.

Republicans have scrupulously avoided official contact with such volumes, but their extremist allies have pushed their circulation to staggering heights.

Democrats are quietly pushing a counter-defense of sober volumes which suffer from poor readability and sometimes from a complete lack of objectivity. Outwardly, they are ignoring the whole matter.

DEMOCRATS HAVE long accepted it as a fact that Johnson is unusually well qualified to be President. They did not give him serious consideration in 1960 because they feared that the Texas political and money ethics with which he was touched would prove damaging in states vital to them.

They are satisfied he has surmounted this barrier by his actual conduct of the Presidency. Republican defections support this view but are based more largely on the fear of a Goldwater future which Goldwater himself has aroused.

Goldwater is asking the voters to look back in anger at Johnson instead of looking forward in fear of him. It will be a major reversal of the trend if he succeeds.

The GOP gut fighter

(From The Nation)

Electors will decide which of two men will be the next President of the United States; but they will also be deciding which of the two other men will be next in line. This is not a remote possibility. In the last 20 years two men have succeeded to the Presidency through the death of the incumbent.

President Johnson gave conscientious consideration to this aspect of the election. It hardly seems possible that Sen. Goldwater did likewise. He is on record as saying that one of the reasons he wanted Miller is that "he drives Johnson nuts."

This would not seem to be an outstanding qualification for the Presidency. Among other reasons presumably the fact that Miller is a Catholic and an Easterner played a part, but these also have no bearing on possible developments.

For campaigning objectives, Miller has one other attribute that may have influenced Goldwater. He has been billed a "gut fighter." That he is. A gut fighter, and a gutter fighter.

He opened his campaign with a gutter attack on Humphrey, practically identifying Americans for Democratic Action as a Communist front. He impugned Mr. Johnson's integrity, his patriotism and his war record.

Asked about Goldwater's record on social security on the Sept. 13 "Meet the Press" program, Miller denied everything. The panelist read him a direct quote from the "New York Times": Miller still denied that Goldwater had ever said he was for a voluntary social security program.

This behavior, which by itself should condemn Miller, is of a piece with his whole record. His service in Congress was wholly rights all that time, the pioneer and leading spokesman on disarmament, an authority on farm policy and labor.

Even the Goldwater supporters, if they will think for a moment and visualize the two second men in the highest office, might have qualms about their choice.

Letter— Reader slams cycle rules

To the Editor: The wheels of SUI, grinding slowly and finely, have again produced another regulation for students. This time the collective might of the University was concentrated on the problem of what to do with the motor bikes causing an aesthetic problem on our superbly planned and beautiful campus. Their answer — concentrate them all into one area when on the east side of the river or move them out into the on-street-parking.

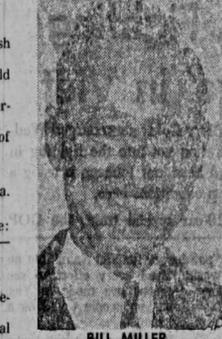

Apparently the committee responsible for this regulation did not count as important the effect their action will have on the already over-crowded parking facilities in the campus area.

(Or possibly they reasoned that a committee had to do something in order to justify their jobs and organization!)

One motor bike parked on the street will use the same amount of space as a car. Hardly a beneficial result to the person who must drive that car to his work or classes on campus.

Blau would certainly have enjoyed recording the dysfunctions of this organization.

J. Fricke, G 742 Hawkeye Apts.

BILL MILLER

undistinguished and he was about to come to an end — apparently Miller had concluded that he could not be re-elected.

His only distinction was as a political huckster in the post of Republican National Chairman. It is the one role in which he is proficient.

Contrast this man with Humphrey. Decent, idealistic, hard-working, honest, experienced, put him alongside Miller and it hardly seems possible that the two are running for the same office.

On foreign and domestic policy alike Humphrey is as well informed as any man in government, past or present. He has been mayor of a great city, a senator for three terms, a stalwart on civil

To Present 'Cosi fan Tutte'—

Met Studio To Appear Here

The Metropolitan Opera Studio, an auxiliary of the New York Metropolitan Opera, will present Mozart's comic opera "Cosi fan Tutte" at Macbride Auditorium at 8 p.m. October 14.

This is the same abridged version which the Opera Studio performed in the winter of 1962 at the White House at the request of Mrs. John F. Kennedy. One member of that cast, Gimi Beni, will appear with the six-member troupe coming to Iowa City. Other members of the Studio are Dorothy Coulter, June Genovese, Robert Gregori, Stanley Kolk and Barbara Stevens. Miss Stevens has appeared on the Voice of Firestone, the Ed Sullivan and Perry Como shows and in the national company of "The Music Man."

Taft-Hartley Act Used Against Longshoremen

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson invoked the Taft-Hartley Labor Act Wednesday night against a threatened Atlantic and Gulf Coast strike by 60,000 longshoremen. The main issue was automation on the docks.

Members of the labor act are Herbert Scherz, chairman, and James J. Healy and Theodore W. Kheel, Healy, a Harvard professor, and Kheel, a New York expert on labor arbitration, have been serving on a special Presidential panel striving to avert the strike.

Officials of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association walked out on peace talks in mid-afternoon, and the union set its strike machinery in motion.

IT WAS the first time Johnson has used the labor law since he became president last November. Presidents John F. Kennedy, Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman used the Taft-Hartley law against the ILA during their administrations.

LESS THAN three hours later, an executive order from the White House set up a three-man board of inquiry, a preliminary step to invoking the 60-day cooling off period provided under the labor act.

Ticket sales start October 9 at the Union. The cost is $2. Mail orders are being accepted now and should be addressed to the Metropolitan Opera Studio, Iowa Memorial Union. All seats are reserved.

National Security Office To Discuss Job Opportunities

A staff member of the National Security Agency (NSA) will discuss job opportunities with interested students and faculty Wednesday, Helen M. Barnes, director of the Business and Industrial Office, has announced.

George F. Wooten will speak at two unannounced meetings. Students must sign up at the Placement Office, 102 Old Dental Building immediately to attend the briefings.

Applicants for NSA positions must successfully complete a test to be given at SUI Dec. 12. Applications for admittance to the examination should be forwarded to the Educational Testing Service no later than Nov. 27, Miss Barnes said.

ALTHOUGH Johnson has the endorsement of the ILA for reelection, he obviously was unwilling to expose the nation to the damaging economic impact of a longshoreman's strike.

Bulletins and test applications are available at the Placement Office.

NSA positions require knowledge of mathematics, sciences, English, international affairs, cryptology, history and foreign languages.

Because of the security aspects of NSA work employees are thoroughly investigated before acceptance.

More than 100 accountants and tax specialists from the Midwest are attending the annual Tax and Accounting Seminar which opened today at SUI.

The seminar is designed to provide Iowa tax specialists with new developments in accounting practices and trends at both the state and national level.

SUI Official Says—

Fringe Aids Help Recruit

By FRANK BOWERS Staff Writer

Faculty recruiters from SUI will have an additional weapon in the competition for top-notch faculty if the Board of Regents approves a "moving-money" proposal, according to Gordon B. Strayer, Director of University Relations.

teachers would give their eye teeth to join our Speech Pathology or Hydraulics Research departments," he added, "even if the move involved a salary cut."

But salary is still the most important reason teachers come to SUI, or leave it, for that matter, according to Strayer.

"I'm not the best authority on campus on faculty recruiting," Strayer said, but I think it is evident that faculty recruiting is a highly competitive business and our department heads can use any ammunition they can get to bring in new faculty members."

SUI BELONGS to a university group which compares salary figures and requests a salary appropriation on the basis of the salary figures found. Other schools in the group are Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Wisconsin.

The figures showed SUI ranking sixth in salary for Liberal Arts full professors, sixth for associate professors, third for assistant professors, and eighth for instructors.

Suggested by SUI president How-Bowen last week, the moving-money proposal before the Board of Regents will supply new SUI teachers with funds to aid in changing their residence to Iowa City.

"Because the Iowa Legislature meets only once every two years," Strayer said, "we're shooting at a moving target with salary requests." Despite this, however, a part of the eleven schools showed the salary spectrum.

THE FIGURES did not show the value of fringe benefits, such as retirement funds, health insurance, and last but not least, moving money. SUI is quite liberal in fringe benefits, Strayer said.

MOVING MONEY is just one fringe benefit which would help bring teachers to SUI, Strayer said. "Other factors almost too numerous to mention play a part in a teacher's decision to move to SUI. Climate, availability of typical small town residences with yards and lawns, elementary and high schools with full class days, short driving times between work and home, and many other factors bring teachers to SUI."

ANOTHER consideration for most teachers, Strayer said, is the reputation of the SUI academic department in their field. "Some

Although the docket for the Board of Regents meeting, Oct. 23 and 24, which will be held at SUI, has not been completed, further action on SUI President Howard Bowen's moving money proposal will be considered.

Local Man Shot Tuesday By Prowler
An Iowa City man was shot by a prowler Tuesday night while investigating a light in his garage.

Paul Spicer, 34, of 218 E. Church St., told police he was shot in the shoulder about 10:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Spicer said he stepped through the walk-in door of the garage and met a man he described as being about 5 feet 11 inches tall with dark bushy hair. Police said Spicer told them the man fired at him at point-blank range, then darted out the garage door.

Spicer said the shot spun him around and that he was unable to stop the prowler from escaping.

The gun used was thought to have been a small caliber. Spicer, who was not seriously wounded, was treated at University Hospital and released.

SUBVERSIVES FOUND
KUAL ALUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Deputy Premier Abdul Razak said Wednesday authorities have uncovered a subversive organization linked with Indonesia seeking to overthrow the government.

He said that seven persons connected with the undercover group, called the "Greater Malay Republic Action League," have been arrested. His statement said the league was formed after Indonesia mounted its "crush Malaysia" campaign.

$20,000 Damage Suit For Bad Water Filed

A $20,000 damage suit, alleging water pollution, has been filed in Johnson County District Court by Delbert F. and Mayola I. Pollet of near Swisher.

Defendants in the action are Frank Martin, Harvey Viall, Wilbur Pudil and the town of Swisher.

The Pollets filed the suit as a result of damages allegedly resulting from the pollution of a stream crossing their property near Swisher.

The suit alleges that the Pollets failed to get action from the Swisher Council when they asked that sewage not be dumped into the stream, and that the three property owners have not complied with requests. The plaintiffs said the water has a stench and that it is unsafe for their cattle to drink.

They asked damages they say because their cattle cannot drink from the stream and because the

Labor Board Orders Firm To Pay Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Labor Relations Board ordered the Kohler Co. on Wednesday to reinstate with 2½ years back pay 57 of the 77 key strikers fired during the firm's classic dispute with the United Auto Workers.

The board, which in 1960 had ordered the Wisconsin plumbing fixture firm to rehire hundreds of other strikers but excluded the 77, modified that 4 to 1 on grounds that Kohler had brought on the strike by refusing to bargain in good faith.

Seventeen of the 77 were denied reinstatement because they "physically and violently assaulted non-striker or threatened members of non-striker families" during the 6½-year strike, which began April 5, 1954. Three of the 77 have died.

Kohler Vice President Lyman C. Conger denounced the board as overstepping its power and going beyond the intent of Congress in the Taft-Hartley Act. He said the firm will appeal.

No Coffee for Library-Builders

A tall, lean, earnest man, Lloyd Stock of Cedar Falls, directs a dozen men who raise buildings. Stock and his crew are currently working on the SUI Main Library addition.

"We're not taking coffee breaks," the soft-spoken foreman said. "It seems like we're always too slow... just a little behind."

Stock said he and his men were delayed by slow arriving building supplies, but he is optimistic about prospects for enclosing the library by the time snow falls. Work can continue indoors through the winter when the shell is complete, he said.

He also keeps a close eye on Board of Regents activities. "I notice the Regents have appropriated $3 million for another SUI Main Library addition," he commented. "This is going to be quite a library, when it's finished."

Stock explained that the pressure to rush library construction isn't the only reason for his no-coffee policy.

The policy also keeps away the small boys who usually peddle ice cream and coffee. "We'd sure hate to have anybody hurt," Stock explained.

Coffee breaks are not in the worker's union contract. Stock works for Henkel Construction Co., Mason City.

SUI Prof At Conclave In Far East

IOWA CITY — Professor George W. Forell, of the School of Religion at The State University of Iowa, is one of two American theologians invited to give papers at the second All-Asian Conference of the Lutheran World Federation, Oct. 8-18 in Ranchi, India.

Professor Forell will speak on "The Ecumenical Movement," Oct. 9. During the week of Oct. 9-16 he will give a series of talks on "Scriptures and Creed." Some 200 theologians and church leaders from Asia are expected to attend the conference as well as representatives from European countries.

An internationally-noted theologian, Professor Forell has traveled and taught throughout the United States, Europe and Africa. This will be his first trip to the Far East.

SAVANNAH DOCKS

ROTTERDAM, the Netherlands — Nine water jets from fire boats spouted high in salute when the U.S. nuclear ship Savannah moored Wednesday.

"I will long remember this magnificent docking," said Capt. David B. Michael of the Savannah at the welcoming ceremony.

He was greeted by Dutch Traffic Minister Jan Van Aartsen and Mayor Gerard Van Walsum, who said Rotterdam "wants to be in the vanguard when revolutionary developments are manifesting themselves."

25th Annual Event—'Iron Men' of '39 To Hold Reunion

Team members of SUI's 1939 football squad are arriving in Iowa City Friday to kick off their 25th annual football reunion.

The 28 teammates will first be honored at a luncheon in Cedar Rapids' Hotel Roosevelt as guests of the Cedar Rapids I-Club.

Mr. Frank Carideo, president of the Club and backfield coach for the '39 team, will speak at the event.

Team members will be the guests of the Iowa City Athletic Club at a 6 p.m. dinner party given by the SUI Athletic Department.

Mr. Max Hawkins, director of the Alumni Field Activities, will be host for the group Saturday morning at a pre-game luncheon at his home, 607 Melrose Ave.

Immediately following the game between SUI and Washington, the "Thirty-Niners" will be available for informal get-togethers around the Iowa City area.

The turbulent thirties were marked by three coaching changes as it took years for Iowa athletics to recover from a 1929-30 suspension from the conference.

Iowa rose to second in the Big Ten in 1939 with a 6-1-1 record during Dr. Eddie Anderson's first year as head coach. The 1939 "Iron Men" were led by Nile Kinnick, Iowa's All-America halfback and the Associated Press back of the year.

Kinnick later was killed in action during World War II.

SUI Professor Named To Health Council Post

Bruce E. Mahan, Dean Emeritus of the SUI extension division, has accepted an appointment to the state's hospital and health facilities advisory council.

The appointment was made by Gov. Harold E. Hughes. Mahan's term on the council will run through June 30, 1968.

The council's duties are advisory and consultative with the administration of the state Department of Health.

The Council includes the Commissioner of Health, ex-officio chairman, and seventeen others. Five are from the field of hospital administration, five are doctors, one is from organizations or state agencies concerned with rehabilitation, one is a dentist, one a nurse and four others who are interested in the area.

Mahan is also vice chairman of the governor's advisory committee on aging.

Goldwater Endorsed by Iowan Dilley

DES MOINES — Robert Dilley of Des Moines, Conservative party candidate for governor, Wednesday endorsed Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), for president.

Dilley said that Goldwater, the Republican nominee for president, is "a proven constitutional conservative who wants to maintain limitations on government power giving people more freedom to think and act for themselves."

Dilley, president of the Dilley Manufacturing Co., has said he is a member of the John Birch Society.

In a news release, Dilley said that "Conservative party candidates plan to lower taxes by the only honest means. They plan to cut spending and reduce the size of government."

Dilley said he does not want to raise taxes, adding "that's the program of Gov. Harold Hughes and all of the Democrats who support him."

Warnings of Cuba Invasion Reported Heard by Exiles

MIAMI, Fla. — Cuban exile sources said Wednesday they heard a Cuban military broadcast indicating an anti-Castro landing. Official sources in Washington said it sounded only like maneuvers.

The version given by the exile sources quoted a Cuban militia unit as reporting over an intramilitia radio network "at the fundamental point, action is developing but communications with chiefs of militia units have been lost because of very bad weather."

In Washington, official sources expressed doubts that there was any fighting between forces of the Fidel Castro government and anti-Castro Cubans.

"From what we have been told of the content of the broadcasts originating in Cuba, it appears they relate to a military exercise. It will be recalled that such exercises were announced some time ago."

New Fighter Jet Bomber Displayed

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. — A new jet fighter designed to knock down any bomber known in the world bolted down a runway and into the sky Wednesday in a breath-taking display of new U.S. defense might.

The YF12A, once called the A11, was deliberately kept below its better than 2,000-mile-an-hour top speed in the demonstration — first public showing since the interceptor was announced by President Johnson last February.

Air Force officers told newsmen the YF12A has more than doubled the range at which U.S. fighters can intercept invading bombers and is "many times superior" to current aircraft such as the F106 in detecting and knocking down hostile aircraft.

Hilda Heads For Coast Of Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS, La. — Hurricane Hilda, a youngster with a growing wallop, churned up through the Gulf of Mexico Wednesday toward a Louisiana coast hastily mobilizing for a threatened onslaught.

Hilda, which graduated from a tropical storm into the season's fifth hurricane at mid-morning, packs winds of up to 80 miles an hour near its widening center. It appeared to be picking up strength as it moved northward.

HURRICANE reconnaissance planes reported the storm about 440 miles south of Biloxi, Miss., at 1 p.m. CST.

Hilda was moving in a west-northwesterly direction at about 10 miles an hour. It was expected to turn gradually and take a more northerly course, which could mean it would hit the low, swampy coastal region between New Orleans and Lake Charles.

The New Orleans Weather Bureau ordered a hurricane watch eastward from the Texas border to Mobile, Ala. Small craft were urged to seek shelter.

RED CROSS and Civil Defense agencies mobilized shelters and supplied on land. Oil companies took steps to secure their multi-million-dollar offshore investment.

Civil Defense officials in Cameron Parish, where 500 lives were lost in 1957 when Hurricane Audrey swept inland, pondered whether to order coastal residents evacuated.

An evacuation would be hampered by the loss of a pontoon bridge across the intercoastal waterway. The bridge, struck by a towboat in August, has been replaced temporarily by a ferry. Attempts were being made to borrow an Army pontoon bridge from Ft. Polk, La.

OIL COMPANIES began removing crews and equipment from their vulnerable offshore oil rigs in the hurricane's path.

The Weather Bureau said high tides, up to seven feet, will sweep inland from Morgan City, La., to Biloxi, Miss. Heavy rains and winds also were expected.

People were urged to keep off of St. Joseph and Padre islands at Corpus Christi, Tex., because of rising water on the beaches.

Dam Break; Indian Flood Kills More Than 1000 Persons

NEW DELHI, India — A rain-swollen reservoir burst, sending a 10-foot-high wall of water surging through a southeast Indian town and drowned more than 1,000 persons, unofficial reports said Wednesday night.

The disaster, worst of its kind in India, struck Macherla, a town of 25,000 in Andhra State, on Tuesday as late summer monsoon rains floods spread death and misery through a total of seven Indian states.

Thousands of persons were reported perched on housetops and clinging to trees in Macherla. Helpless patients were carried away by the flood when the torrent hit a hospital. There were heavy casualties in a crowded bus station.

The disaster, blamed on an unprecedented three-day deluge, came a few days short of the first anniversary of a similar tragedy in Italy. The Valot reservoir in northern Italy was hit by an avalanche on Oct. 9, 1963, and nearly 2,000 died in a flood wave 150 feet high.

Even before the Macherla disaster, Irrigation Minister K. L. Rao told Parliament that floods had killed 145 persons, washed away 2,900 head of cattle and affected 6.5 million persons living in 18,000 villages.

Rao said 6.1 million acres of Indian land was under water including 3 million acres of cropland.

Iowa's Kimble Named 'Midwest Back of Week'

Iowa's fleet sophomore halfback and leading scorer, Dalton Kimble, has been named the United Press International's "Midwest Back of the Week", it was disclosed Wednesday. The award is usually reserved for letterman performers.

Hawks Drill For 2 Hours; Please Burns

Iowa's Hawkeyes drilled for two hours in full gear Wednesday, receiving a favorable reaction from Coach Burns.

Burns called the practice a good workout with lots of hustle shown by the squad.

"Today's practice showed more spirit than yesterday's and was a good workout," he said. "We recognize Washington as the No. 10 in the country and are favorites for Saturday's game, but we are going all out to show people that we're better than we've been given credit for," he added.

Iowa is rated as a 13-point underdog in Saturday's contest.

Assistant Coach Bill Hoppel, said the defensive secondary, which showed flaws against Idaho last week, seems to be better than at this time last week.

"However, I can't really tell about their improvement until they come up against Washington Saturday," he said.

Assistant Coach Wayne Robinson also noted some improvement in the defensive line play Wednesday. "This is probably due to the fact that they have now played in a game together and have learned a great deal from it," he said.

Coach Burns was satisfied with the pass protection Wednesday, saying "it stood up well in the live contact portion of the drills."

Burns said Washington has as many fine backs as Iowa will see on any single team it faces this season.

BUD SUTER IN HOSPITAL—Iowa's sports coordinator for radio and television has been admitted to University Hospital for a routine test for a coronary, it was reported Wednesday.

So far all tests have been negative. This indicates he has no heart trouble. He expects to be released by Friday.

ing assignment, I can't handle some of them the way I want to," he said.

Since Kimble ordinarily plays on offense in Coach Jerry Burns' two platoon football system, he usually doesn't have to worry about trying to bring down a bruising 225-pound fullback or a fleet 190-pound halfback.

Kimble doesn't think the Hawkeyes will finish as low in the Big Ten race this year as predicted.

"If THE TEAM stays together, I think we should do better than the writers have predicted. I'm not counting ourselves out from winning the Big Ten title," he said.

"Jerry Burns is a wonderful coach who knows what he is doing," he added.

Kimble is presently leading the Big Ten in scoring with 18 points. The next highest scorer is Purdue quarterback Bob Griese with 17.

Detroit Tigers' left fielder Willie Horton clutches the ball and leaps in vain trying to snare a ball hit into the lower left field seats at Yankee Stadium by Mickey Mantle in the first game of a two-night doubleheader Wednesday. The blast was Mantle's 35th homer of the year. It ignited a New York five-run outburst in the second inning. The Yankees won 7-4.

Indians Shut Out Red Sox Twice: 5-0, 3-0

BOSTON (AP) — Sam McDowell and Luis Tiant both shut out the Boston Red Sox Wednesday as the Cleveland Indians swept a doubleheader 5-0 and 3-0.

Tiant struck out 11 in the first game and McDowell fanned seven to give Cleveland a major league record of 1,130 batters struck out by a team in one season.

Fred Whitfield's 10th home run of the season in the sixth gave McDowell all the runs he needed in the nightcap as he picked up his 10th victory in 16 decisions, allowing just seven hits.

Max Alvis and Leon Wagner hit home runs in the opener to account for all of Cleveland's scoring behind Tiant.

Tiant allowed only four hits in gaining his 10th victory against Boston. Tiant also chalked up 11 strikeouts.

LOPEZ SIGNS 2-YEAR PACT — CHICAGO (AP) — Manager Al Lopez signed a new two-year contract to remain in charge of the Chicago White Sox, still nursing a glimmer of an American League pennant chance this dying season.

Syracuse's Floyd Little Named AP Back of Week

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Floyd Little, Syracuse University's dazzling sophomore halfback, is a man with a mission. And it is last Saturday's performance was any indication, he can't miss.

The fleet 190-pounder from New Haven, Conn., ran roughshod over Kansas, scoring five touchdowns in one of the finest one-man performances in Syracuse football history. It brought him the Back of the Week award by The Associated Press Wednesday.

And in a way it was all for Ernie Davis, an idol fatally stricken with leukemia at the height of his career.

Davis, who won All-America honors and became the first Negro to win the Heisman Trophy, awarded annually to the nation's top college football player, died in 1963, a year after his graduation from Syracuse.

"I was pretty shocked," Little told The Associated Press in recalling that telephone call informing him of Ernie's death.

The soft-spoken Little, then in his final year at Bordentown Military Academy in New Jersey said, "It hit me right at the time of exams and it shook me up. He meant a lot to me. He had that special something that made me look up to him."

Floyd said he "decided then and there to go to Syracuse."

"I knew Ernie was a great football player and a lot of people expected him to go on to greatness as a pro. Well, I wanted to go to Syracuse and go as far as he did and then go on and maybe people could see him through me."

- BELOW IS a list of honors won by Redman in the past two years:
- SOPHOMORE YEAR (1962)
 - AP Honorable Mention All-American
 - UPI Honorable Mention All-American

 - Big Six Lineman of the Week (following Iowa game of Oct. 5)
 - Williamson All-American, second team.

Husky Linebacker Stops 'Em Cold Up the Middle

With his senior season still ahead of him University of Washington linebacker Rick Redman already has captured more All-American honors than any other Husky in a decade.

From his middle linebacker spot Rick last season and also in his sophomore year earned the constant praise of opposing scouts, players and coaches week after week.

HE'S THE type who will make the big defensive play when it's most desperately needed. He capitalizes on his exceptional speed (he was a fullback in high school) and his uncanny ability to know where the play is going at all times.

The 5-11, 210 lb. senior is the holder guy in the Huskies, respected by his team mates both for his playing ability and leadership qualities. Rick this season will be the defensive signal caller for the UW eleven.

After playing an integral role in the 1963 Huskies' march to the Big Six (AAWU) crown, Redman probably enjoyed his finest performance in the Rose Bowl game against Illinois.

THE FIGHTING Illini had driven to the Husky two yard line and with first down started its scoring offense with Jim Gabrowski.

Three times the Illini fullback charged at center and three times Redman almost single-handedly stopped the play for no gain.

On the final down the Illini, learning its lesson, skirted end for the score and went on to win, 17-7.

IN 1962 Oregon State's Heisman trophy winner Terry Baker had broken loose from the Husky secondary at his own 20 and was headed for a touchdown when Redman gave pursuit and nailed him at the 50. The play preserved a 14-13 victory for Washington.

These are just two of the highlights in a career liberally sprinkled with outstanding individual defensive efforts by Redman.

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Cardinals maintained their hold on the National League lead Wednesday night, extending their winning streak to eight games with an 8-5 victory over Philadelphia that virtually eliminated the Phillies from the pennant race.

The victory assured the Cardinals of no worse than a tie for the lead after the night's action. The Cincinnati Reds, who started the day tied with the Cardinals for first place, were still playing Pittsburgh.

Curt Simmons got the key victory against his former Philadelphia teammates, extending the Phillies losing streak to 10 games and leaving them in a position to do no better than tie for the pennant. The Phillies have only two games remaining.

Simmons pitched no-hit ball for 6½ innings but finally weakened at the end and needed relief help from Ron Taylor and Gordon Richardson in the ninth. The victory brought Simmons' record to 18-9 and gave him 16 victories in 18 decisions against the Phillies since they released him in 1960.

Ticket Pickup. Some Agreements Reached Deadline Set On GM-UAW Strike Talks For Tuesday

DETROIT (AP) — Negotiators for General Motors Corp. and the United Auto Workers Union concentrated on local, at-plant demands Wednesday in efforts to end a costly nationwide strike of some 260,000 assembly line workers.

"I think the thing has started to roll," said Louis G. Seaton, GM vice president in charge of personnel.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther did not come out of the negotiations room to talk to newsmen during a lunch break.

The strike, which GM said is costing the workers some $7 million daily in wages, was called last Friday when negotiators failed to reach agreement on noneconomic issues, such as working conditions, union representation and disciplinary procedures.

Both sides reported there is virtual agreement on money matters along with the general pattern of an economic package negotiated earlier this month with GM's chief competitors, Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp.

This includes higher pensions, increased wages, longer vacations, additional holidays and other fringe benefits.

In what the union terms selective strike strategy, workers have walked out only at plants producing GM's 1965 automobiles.

An estimated 90,000 others continued reporting for work at GM plants which turn out parts and accessories sold to other automotive firms, thus exerting maximum pressure on GM for a settlement.

Cinema 16 Movie 'The Detective' Presented Tonight

"The Detective," second in the Cinema 16 free-movie series, will be shown at 8 tonight in the Chemistry Auditorium.

Sponsored by the Union Board as an experimental series, tonight's selection stars Alec Guinness as the famous Father Brown who manages to play detective and outshine Scotland Yard.

Lary Rapoport, Union movie director, said attendance at last week's film was good considering "Hamlet" was being shown in downtown theaters. Any SUI student may attend the movies, he said.

Coming attractions are "Passionate Summer," "A Night at the Opera," "The Green Man" and "Strange Deception."

LBJ's Trip To Europe Called Political

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — President Johnson's "plan to go to Europe must be branded as purely a political play," the Republican candidate for vice president said Wednesday night.

"If ever a trip was talked about or leaked or semiofficially announced strictly for its political impact, this is it," Rep. William E. Miller of New York said in a statement issued during a campaign visit here.

Miller commented on reports from Washington on Wednesday that the President was hoping to meet in Europe late this year with leaders and representatives of the 14 other North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries.

It also was learned, the Washington report said, that Johnson expected to meet fairly soon with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, if the latter is willing.

Miller said, "The answer to this country's disintegrating alliances is not a quick Lyndon Johnson political trip to Europe, and it is not a quick summit conference with Khrushchev in order to let him know how accommodating he will be with the Communists."

The answer, the GOP candidate asserted, "is the election of Barry Goldwater as President of the United States so that we can deal from a position of strength with the Soviet Union."

The reports from Washington said that no firm plans had been made for a Johnson visit to Europe and specific details would have to await the election results.

Miller continued an extended campaign swing to the Midwest and West.

He flew Wednesday morning from Laramie, Wyo., to Grand Junction, Colo., where he continued hammering at Johnson and Sen. Hubert Humphrey, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, on a wide range of issues.

Off-Train Unions Prepare To Strike

CHICAGO (AP) — Members of 11 off-train railroad unions have voted to strike if demands for higher pay, more fringe benefits and increased job security are not met, a union spokesman said Wednesday.

George E. Leighty, chairman of the union negotiating committee, said 450,000 employees would walk out if the strike is called.

Leighty said strike votes were taken by each union separately, and all were heavily in favor of a walkout.

Presidential mediators have been appointed, Leighty said, and are trying to settle the disputes without a strike. If they fail, they will report any recommendations for further negotiation to President Johnson by Oct. 18.

Thirty days after that, the unions will be free to strike.

Student Claims—SNCC Civil Rights Worker Pistol-Whipped by Policeman

By LINDA WEINER Editor

Steve Smith, A2, Marion, who spent the summer working for COFO in Mississippi, had one of the least dangerous assignments in the Summer Project, but had the most hazardous experiences of any of the nine SUIwans in Mississippi.

Smith, who plans to major in sociology, was assigned to do research in the Jackson, Miss., SNCC office, but encountered trouble his first day in the state.

WHEN HE GOT off the train in Jackson, June 28, after attending the training session in Oxford, Ohio, Smith was involved in an incident with a man over a suitcase at the train station. The incident received attention in newspapers in Iowa, but was not serious.

Smith's research work was concerned with the federal retraining programs. There were six volunteers assigned to this phase of the COFO project.

"We mainly did research on medical care programs, housing situations, school care and the 1962 Manpower Development Training act," said Smith.

"IN MANY PLACES," announcements concerning these retraining programs were not publicized for the Negroes," said Smith. "It was only known in the white community, and I wasn't very welcome when I tried to find out where and when these meetings were."

Smith said that he identified himself as a factory representative in some places — in order to get information.

"IT WORKED for a little while, and I left as soon as I had my information," he said.

Smith's second encounter with trouble was much more serious than the train station incident. He was pistol-whipped and arrested by police outside of Canton, Miss., after they stopped him for traffic violations.

"I think the charges finally were reckless driving and resisting arrest — they changed them a couple of times," said Smith. "I received a continuance on the charge."

Nolan Claims Waste Of Highway Money

State Sen. D. C. Nolan (R-Iowa City), who initiated a probe of the Highway Commission, said Wednesday "this present Highway Commission should consider resigning."

Nolan, in an interview, said he believes the five commissioners should quit "because they certainly haven't been doing the job they're appointed to do."

Nolan was instrumental in passage last spring of a legislative directive that the Legislative Interim Committee investigate Highway Commission operations and the reasons for a switch to asphalt on a segment of Interstate 80 near Iowa City prepared for portland cement paving.

The Interim Committee wound up a five-day hearing into commission operations Tuesday. The six Republicans on the committee said they were not satisfied with the reasons the commissioners gave for the paving switch.

"I feel the hearings brought out what we have contended all along," Nolan said, "that there has been a great waste of public funds by the Highway Commission in making the change."

SUI Graduate Begins Study In Taiwan

SUI graduate — Timothy A. Ross of Des Moines — is one of 17 students from the United States chosen to study Chinese in Taiwan this academic year.

Ross and his family left Des Moines this month for Taipei, Taiwan, where he will study under a $4,400 grant from the Inter-University Program for Chinese Language Studies. The program, an inter-institutional project to promote fluency in written and spoken Chinese, is administered by Stanford University.

Ross, who was the first student to graduate in SUI's relatively new program of Chinese and Oriental studies, also is the first student from SUI to win such a grant. The 17 winners were chosen on the basis of a nationwide test.

Ross began his Chinese studies in 1959. A year later, the Chinese Language and Area Center was established at SUI under a federal grant. At that time, SUI was one of nine U.S. universities with a Chinese language center.

Since the Center does not offer a graduate program, Ross enrolled in the Department of History following his graduation from SUI in 1961. He received a M.A. Degree in history in 1963 and was working for a Ph.D. Degree when he received the language grant.

Ross, his wife, Janet, and two daughters will be in Taiwan until next August. During their stay abroad, his wife will teach English at Chiaotung University.

Third Dieticians' Meeting Thursday On Therapy

The third of four one-day conferences on "Diet Therapy — U.S.A.," a program for dietitians, will be held Thursday at SUI.

The first session at 9 a.m. will be held in the Union; the afternoon session will be in the Pharmacy Auditorium.

Thursday's program will help dietitians keep up with an ever-expanding knowledge of nutrition in relation to disease processes; to use this knowledge in providing effective diets for patients; and to adapt teaching techniques to the counseling of patients.

Annette Gormican, SUI dietitian, is chairman for the program, a discussion of "New Tools of Diet Therapy and the Contributions of Governmental Agencies."

Margaret A. Olson, professor of internal medicine and director of nutrition services at University Hospitals, will speak. Other talking part are Helen Souders, U.S. Agricultural Research Service; Charles V. Wright, Environmental Engineering and Food Protection, U.S. Public Health Service; Dr. C. A. Imoden Jr., chief of the Coronary Heart Disease Section of the Bureau of State Services, U.S. Public Health Service; Harlan Keller, Iowa Department of Social Welfare; Mary Macomber, Iowa State Department of Health; and Jewel Graham, Agricultural Extension Service, Iowa State University.

The nutrition conferences are sponsored by the College of Medicine, Department of Internal Medicine, University Hospitals and the Department of Nutrition.

Co-sponsors are the Iowa Medical Society, Iowa Hospital Association, the Iowa Dietetic Association and the Iowa State Department of Health.

The final conference is scheduled for Nov. 12.

Talledega Students Call SUI Big, But Friendly

SUI is big but friendly according to two exchange students from Talledega College in Alabama.

Carolyn Walden, A3, Greensboro, N.C., and James Hartsfield, A3, Tampa, Fla., who arrived in Iowa City Sept. 13, said SUI is "totally different" from Talledega.

"It's a very beautiful campus, especially the river," Carolyn said. "And there are more class opportunities here."

HARTSFIELD, a chemistry major, said the laboratory equipment here is more advanced. "At Talledega our largest chemistry class would number about 40 to 45," he said. "Here, I've found my classes to be in excess of 100."

Talledega, enrollment about 500, offers no sports other than intramurals, Hartsfield explained. For that reason, the predominantly Negro college fails to attract many boys, he said. Girls outnumber boys three to one at the Alabama school.

Hartsfield, who was president of his class at Talledega for two years, said the school is hoping to begin a basketball team for inter-school competition this year.

THE CHEMISTRY student, who spent the summer registering voters in Talledega, is no stranger to campuses outside his own school. In February, he went to Columbia University in New York as part of a week-long exchange between Talledega and Columbia University and Barnard College.

Hartsfield was also active in the Talledega Student Senate and served as a student counselor in his dormitory. He is a member of Kappa Alpha Psi, national social fraternity.

The Student Health program here is quite naturally more extensive than the one at Talledega, Carolyn said. After her first week here, Carolyn contracted a virus and had to spend a day in Student Health.

"They were so nice to me," she said. "At Talledega we have only one nurse, and the doctor comes only for an hour a day. If you really get sick when the doctor isn't there, you have to go downtown and pay for a call," she said.

CAROLYN, who is a member of Alpha Kappa Alpha national sorority and was queen of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity, said Talledega's strongest areas are music and sciences, but even so, her largest music class had seven members.

Exchange Students

"Here my music lecture classes have as many as 40 in them," she said.

"There the scope of our music courses is much more limited. We have only voice and organ and piano," she explained.

Neither of the exchange students has had any trouble adjusting to SUI socially. "Sometimes people try to be friendly, but here there seems to be an air of genuine friendliness. And everyone is very helpful," Carolyn said.

Carolyn and Hartsfield are only half of the semester exchange program. As the complementary portion of it, Barbara Penny, A2, Iowa City, and Dean Mills, A4, Mt. Pleasant, are attending Talledega.

THE EXCHANGE students pay tuition at the school at which they originally enrolled and room and board at the school they are attending.

The difference in Carolyn and Hartsfield's room and board is made up by the Friends of SNCC, which will also reimburse them for their travel expenses.

Highway Comm. Investigation Ends

DES MOINES (I.P.)—The Legislative Interim Committee's investigation of State Highway Commission operations came to an end late Tuesday after about 250,000 words of testimony.

But the six Republicans on the 10-member committee all said they were not satisfied with reasons given during a five-day hearing for a change in paving on a 14-mile segment of Interstate 80 near Iowa City.

"I'm not at all satisfied," said Sen. Clifford Vance (R-Mount Pleasant), committee chairman. "The highway commission didn't give us any reasons for the switch—they just gave us alibis."

THE OTHER Republicans also said they did not believe the commissioners told the whole story in explaining why they approved paving the interstate segment with asphalt instead of portland cement as originally planned, and against the recommendations of their top engineers.

They were particularly critical of testimony by L. M. Clauson, chief engineer for the commission, that it cost $104,000 to remove six inches of grading, prepared for portland cement paving, to ready the highway for the thicker asphalt paving.

Clauson had testified earlier that he thought the cost was only about $47,000, and some of the commissioners had said they were told the cost of removing the dirt would be negligible.

Reporter Goes For Ride— Marines Take To The Air

By PETIE SARLETTE

Flight suits have 14 zippers and they are bright orange. You get into them feet first, but that's all I know about flying military aircraft after a ride in one.

The ride was in a T34B, a Marine Corps training plane. Captain Vincent J. Guinece, the pilot, said the one-engine craft is the first one prospective pilots fly and the one pilots use for refresher training.

"The plane and Captain Guinece are in Iowa City through today as part of a three-day Marine Corp recruiting program. They have been giving rides to prospective Marines as a preview of Flight School.

Flying the plane is more complicated than getting into the suit. The first step is getting into the plane, and it's tricky, especially if your flight suit is too big, as mine was.

You climb onto the wing and slip one foot into the slot marked "step." Then you throw the other foot into the cockpit, pull the rest of yourself in behind it and somehow collapse into the seat.

If you master this you next find room for your feet among the instruments, pedals and stick. Then begins the "sealing-in" process.

After hooking a strap around each leg and one across each shoulder, the captain assures you that you're now strapped into the parachute, but that you still have to be strapped into the seat. This process takes only three hooks, and one lever, but after that lever is pulled you can barely move.

Next comes the helmet—snug hood with a microphone for communicating with either the pilot or the ground.

Then the captain showers you with a set of instructions: The yellow tab opens and closes the canopy, unless it's stuck, in which case you pull the red lever.

Push the white button to talk to the pilot; the black one allows you to communicate with the ground.

Don't put your feet on the pedals or pull on the stick.

This lever releases you from the seat; that one opens the parachute. Dive for the back of the wing if you have to get out in an emergency.

And after those encouraging words, the pilot does his "run-ups," which means he checks the plane before take-off. Then, somehow, you're up in the air and everything below is miniature.

The fun begins with acrobatics—steep turns and upside down flying.

"This is the way we see it if a prospective pilot has the stomach for flying," the pilot explains as he banks the plane and the ground seems to come up to your side.

Flying upside down gives an odd sensation. You look up and see the ground, but you can't move your arms or legs. "That's the pull of gravity," the pilot says. "Are you feeling all right?"

When you tell him that you are, he rights the plane and asks if you'd like to try flying it for a while. He directs you to put your feet on the pedals and your hand on the stick.

It's similar to riding a tricycle, but every slight movement alters the course of the plane until you are zig-zagging all over the sky.

After approximately 45 minutes aloft, Captain Guinece lands the plane. Then comes the reverse of getting in—it's no easier.

Once out of the plane and flight suit, you discover that the plane cruises at about 150 knots per hour and that its maximum speed is 240 knots an hour. A knot tells you, is approximately 1.9 miles.

Next stop for Captain Guinece and the T34B is their home base, Plainville, Ill. From there, they will visit other campuses in Iowa and Illinois.

SUI Keeps Records— Iowan's Opinions Are Source for Research

Some 25,000 IBM cards, reflecting opinions and attitudes of Iowans on topical issues during the past six years, are being transferred to SUI this week to serve as a resource for faculty and student research.

The cards were donated to the University by the Iowa Poll of the Des Moines Register and Tribune and will be kept in Laboratory of Political Research in SUI's Department of Political Science. Arrangements for transferring the data to SUI were made by Glen H. Roberts, Iowa Poll director.

Last week, the University received cards from nine opinion polls conducted during the 1948 and 1949. In the next few weeks, data from polls taken through 1964 will be deposited in the laboratory. Most of the information is on political issues and personalities, however some polls asked for attitudes on current fashions and fads, social customs and education issues.

"The data will be invaluable for research and teaching," said Professor Donald Johnson, chairman of the Department of Political Science. "It will be particularly helpful as a source of historical information for analysis of Iowa's political history."

Professor Johnson said one research project which will be aided by the cards is one which he and Professor Samuel Patterson, of the Department of Political Science, are conducting on Iowa politics.

The Laboratory for Political Research was established in 1962 to

Malik: We Moral Aw

By JIM 1 Staff V

Dr. Charles H. Malik, former General Assembly, told an spiritual and moral reawakening Western world is to keep pace with the gains of Communism.

Addressing a crowd of about 900 at the Iowa Memorial Union in the first talk of the University Lecture Series, Malik said, "It is time to tell Western universities that atheism, skepticism, and cynicism are not the necessary components of intellectualism. You can know all the truth of everything and still believe in God and absolute values."

MALIK, WHO has also served as foreigner minister of Lebanon and ambassador from Lebanon to the United States, said he saw little evidence that the West had made any progress in such places as Africa and the Middle East. "What is making progress," he said, "is either non-western or anti-western."

Malik said the intellectuals of Africa, Latin America, Asia, and the Middle East are becoming alienated to the values of Western tradition and that atheism, cynicism, and rebellion were being mixed with the attempts to secure economic and social justice.

"WHAT IS BELOW man is at the helm, and what is above man is nowhere to be seen," he remarked.

Malik stressed that a more positive approach to Communism must be taken by the free world. He said the forces of freedom, by accepting such things as atheism, were adopting Communism rather than combatting it.

"NUCLEAR WAR is unthinkable today," he said, "and so long as the Communists are not going to risk war, the free world must penetrate the Communist world with true values."

Malik said the thing that disturbed him more than anything else was that "... the wonderful values of freedom are no longer believed in by the children of freedom themselves."

TO ILLUSTRATE what he felt to be a lack of concern by the West, Malik said that "peaceful co-existence," to a Communist, ultimately meant "a Communist world without war."

He said he doubted, however, that a Westerner would view the term as ultimate "liberated world without war."

"THE REST of the world wants truth, and the West should provide that truth," said Malik. "It is time to proclaim that war and clash can be arrested and that reason can curb desire."

Citing the increasing threat of Red China, he said the West must have a positive message for the Chinese people. "We must seek to reach them and to identify with their sufferings."

SNYDER On to Washington

SUI A

By RON ROSECRANS Staff Writer

"I'm not being optimistic or pessimistic, just realistic," said Dr. Ted McCarrel, executive dean of student services, concerning problems caused by increasing enrollments at SUI.

"The University could accommodate 2000 more students and not be hurt," McCarrel said, "if the increases came in the right areas. There are many classes in such fields as the Classics which have a few a 10 students and could have as many as 30; it's all a matter of distribution."

McCarrel admitted that the
