Malik: West Needs Moral Awakening

By JIM TUCKER
Staff Writer

Dr. Charles H. Malik, former president of the United Nations General Assembly, told an SUI audience last night that a spiritual and moral reawakening would be necessary if the Western world is to keep pace with the gains of Communism.

Addressing a crowd of about 900 at the Iowa Memorial Union in the first talk of the University Lecture Series, Malik said, "It is time to tell Western universities that atheism, skepticism, and cynicism are not the necessary components of intellectualism. You can know all the truth of everything and still believe in God and absolute values."

MALIK, WHO has also served as foreign minister of Lebanon and ambassador from Lebanon to the United States, said he saw little evidence that the West had made any progress in such places as Africa and the Middle East. "What is making progress," he said, "is either non-western or anti-western."

Malik said the intellectuals of Africa, Latin America, Asia, and the Middle East are becoming alienated to the values of Western tradition and that atheism, cynicism, and rebellion were being mixed with the attempts to secure economic and social justice.

"WHAT IS BELOW man is at the helm, and what is above man is nowhere to be seen," he remarked.

Malik stressed that a more positive approach to Communism must be taken by the free world. He said the forces of freedom, by accepting such things as atheism, were adopting Communism rather than combating it.

"NUCLEAR WAR is unthinkable today," he said, "and so long as the Communists are not going to risk war, the free world must penetrate the Communist world with true values."

Malik said the thing that disturbed him more than anything else was that "... the wonderful values of freedom are no longer believed in by the children of freedom themselves."

TO ILLUSTRATE what he felt to be a lack of concern by the West, Malik said that "peaceful co-existence," to a Communist, ultimately meant "a Communist world without war."

He said he doubted, however, that a Westerner would view the term as ultimate "liberated world without war."

"THE REST of the world wants truth, and the West should provide that," said Malik. "It is time to proclaim that war and clash can be arrested and that reason can curb desire."

Citing the increasing threat of Red China, he said the West must have a positive message for the Chinese people. "We must seek to reach them and to identify with their sufferings."

MALIK SAID the West can win the crucial "war of ideas" through its industry, its universities, its family concept, and its church.

In a brief reference to the United Nations, Malik said a world without the U.N. was more dangerous than one with it, but he emphasized that the U.N. alone could not secure peace. "I know its weaknesses and limitations," he said.

Group To Honor Malik at Luncheon

Dr. Charles H. Malik, visiting diplomat at SUI, will be the honored guest at a luncheon Friday in the Old Gold Room of the Union.

The luncheon is sponsored by the Asiatic Studies Faculty Fellowship, a group of faculty members specializing in Asian history and language.

The luncheon was arranged with the help of Dr. Albert Y. Badre, professor of economics, a relative of Malik. Prof. Y. P. Mei, chairman of the fellowship, said that some members of the political science and religion departments have received invitations.

Strike Closes John Deere In Dubuque

CHICAGO (AP) — Two John Deere & Co. farm implement plants, including that at Dubuque, were shut down Thursday in what a United Auto Workers (UAW) spokesman said was an unauthorized walkout.

Negotiations continued between John Deere and the UAW in Moline. A spokesman said the talks would continue on a day-to-day extension of a contract which was scheduled to expire at midnight Wednesday night.

A Deere spokesman said the John Deere Planter Works in Moline, which employs some 1,200 UAW workers, was shut down earlier Thursday and a few pickets walked outside the plant.

Some 2,700 UAW workers at the John Deere Dubuque Tractor Works also walked out. No picket lines were up, a spokesman said.

The John Deere Harvester Works in East Moline was shut down earlier by a walkout of some 3,000 UAW workers, but a union spokesman said the plant went back into operation Thursday afternoon.

To Dine with President—

SUI Senate President Invited to Washington

Wally Snyder, SUI Student Senate president, will head for the White House Saturday for a buffet supper and reception with President and Mrs. Johnson that night.

Snyder, Li, Belle Plaine, is among 200 college leaders invited from representative schools across the nation. The President has previously honored outstanding high school leaders at a similar White House function.

"SUI President Howard Bowen's assistant, Phil E. Connell called late Monday night and said 'Lyndon wanted to see me,'" Snyder told the Daily Iowan. "I was amazed."

Snyder said the President apparently contacted the University to issue the invitation. He said he is expecting a personal invitation in the mail any time.

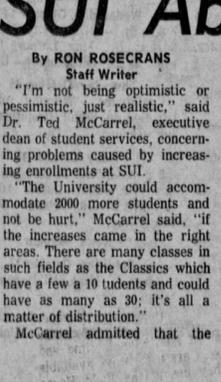

Snyder is scheduled to leave by plane from Cedar Rapids Saturday morning. Adlai Stevenson and Robert MacNamara, secretary of defense, will speak at the group.

Following the supper, the President's daughter, Lynda Bird, will be hostess to the group at a social hour.

The purpose of the program is to give student leaders an opportunity to become better acquainted with the executive branch of the Federal Government.

Hilda, spawned off the Cuban coast just two days ago, became the season's most powerful hurricane at midday. Its winds at that time surpassed those of Cleo which struck lower Florida at 140 miles an hour in August.

The New Orleans Weather Bureau said Hilda continued to gather strength as she churned northwestward at six miles an hour.

Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze said photographs taken by one to two inches of sand crust:

● The tail section, with the Thresher's draft number 593 visible, her stern plates and topside rudder.

● The tail, or conning tower, bearing the numbers 593, and the attached sail plane.

The Thresher went down in about 8,400 feet of water approximately 220 miles east of Cape Cod, Mass., with 129 men aboard on April 10 last year during diving tests. It was believed to have broken apart.

The deep-diving bathyscap, Trieste I, spent the summer of last year searching the area until the approach of rough fall weather forced the operation to be halted on Sept. 5, 1963, after 10 dives.

responsibility is greater when it comes to providing 100 single student dormitories with living facilities rather than 40 or 50 married students and their wives," he said.

IN THE LONG RUN, McCarrel expects the small colleges and junior colleges to take care of the overflow from the large universities. "Right now, very few of the small colleges are filled," he said.

McCarrel also said he could not foresee a time when a qualified student would not be able to get a college education. He also believes that the qualifications for entering college will not "go out of sight."

The problem of getting students signed up for classes belongs to the registrar, Dr. Donald Rhoades.

Rhoades said he was quite satisfied with the results of a change in procedure instituted this year. Before this year, students had to pick up registration materials at Macbride before registering. This fall, students picked up the materials upon entering the field house, thus, according to Rhoades, alleviating the wait in Macbride.

RHODES IS CONSIDERING other ways to streamline the registration operation. One possibility for cutting the long lines at the Rhetoric and other core course tables would be to mix the freshmen with the upper classes to spread them out over the entire registration period.

Rhoades pointed out that ID photographs could be taken at another time to eliminate that bottleneck in registration.

He also said that, if needed, car registration, picking up of degree applications and other operations not directly concerned with registration could also be done at another time.

RHODES SAID another possibility would be to set up more tables in the North Gym where various activity groups were located during last fall's registration. Also under consideration is the extension of the registration period for two days.

Rhoades said he thinks a system of pre-registration is a remote possibility. He believes its disadvantages outweigh its advantages. "At other schools which allow pre-registration," Rhoades said, "students are given no choice of instructor or time and advisors are not always available as they are at the Field House during registration."

Gulf Coast Readies for Newest Storm

Hurricane Hilda Forces Thousands To Evacuate Homes

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Hurricane Hilda aimed its terrifying 150-mile-an-hour winds at the Texas and Louisiana Gulf coasts Thursday night, sending several thousand refugees into highland shelters.

Hurricane warnings were hoisted from the mouth of the Mississippi River to the Texas border as the season's most powerful storm tried to make up her mind where to hit land. Hilda swirled through the Gulf of Mexico at six miles an hour — some 300 miles to the south.

Inhabitants of Louisiana's low-lying Cajun country were ordered from their homes. Aand by the hundreds Thursday night they were arriving at hastily opened Red Cross centers on high ground.

The Weather Bureau said Hilda was 315 miles southwest of New Orleans at latest report and moving northwest at six miles an hour.

Officials at Cameron in the southwest corner of Louisiana ordered a mass evacuation from the parish — county — in which 550 persons were killed by Hurricane Audrey in 1957.

Further east, all 500 residents of Pecan Island scurried to safety, as did the 200 inhabitants of Intracoastal City. Most of the 3,500 residents of Grand Isle — southernmost town in Louisiana — had moved inland before nightfall.

The exodus was speeded up as the Weather Bureau warned that wind-lashed tides of up to five feet threatened escape roads.

Early in the afternoon, the Weather Bureau had added the entire Texas Gulf Coast to a hurricane watch already extending from Lake Charles, La., eastward to Mobile, Ala.

The hurricane watch — one step below a hurricane warning — continued in effect along the Texas coast and east of the Mississippi River to Mobile.

The forecasters said Hilda — still growing in size and strength — should continue on its northwestward course at eight miles an hour for the next 12 to 18 hours, then make a slow turn northward.

Anxious Louisiana coastal inhabitants, mindful of previous killer hurricanes, streamed inland. Some schools were closed. Millions of dollars worth of off-shore oil rigs were deserted to storm-whipped seas. Ships scurried to safe harbors.

Red Cross shelters were readied all along the coastal areas. Civil Defense organizations sprang into action.

Hilda, spawned off the Cuban coast just two days ago, became the season's most powerful hurricane at midday. Its winds at that time surpassed those of Cleo which struck lower Florida at 140 miles an hour in August.

The New Orleans Weather Bureau said Hilda continued to gather strength as she churned northwestward at six miles an hour.

Student's Son Struck by Car

A 9-year-old son of an SUI student is listed in satisfactory condition at University Hospital today after being struck by a car at 4 p.m. Thursday.

He is Douglas Newman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Newman, of 402 Stadium Park. He suffered bruises when he was struck in the driveway of Roosevelt School by a car driven by Mrs. Robert F. Sullivan, 28, of 255 Koser Dr.

According to Iowa City Police, the boy tripped on the curb and fell into the path of the car. No charges were filed against Mrs. Sullivan.

Location Of Thresher Pin-Pointed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy disclosed Thursday that underwater search experiments this summer with improved equipment produced the most conclusive evidence so far pin-pointing the location of the sunken nuclear submarine Thresher.

Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze said photographs taken by one to two inches of sand crust:

● The tail section, with the Thresher's draft number 593 visible, her stern plates and topside rudder.

Pep Rally

The second pep rally of the year will be held at 7 p.m. Friday on the Terrace Lounge Patio of the Union. Cheerleaders, pep band, team members and, hopefully, Forest Evashevski, director of athletics, and Jerry Burns, head football coach, will put in an appearance.

"Five Famous Americans" scheduled to be presented in the rally will tell all SUIIowa why they feel the Hawks will "Wash Out Washington."

Following the rally a dance will be held on the Terrace Lounge. Free refreshments will be served. In case of bad weather, the dance will be moved to the Main Lounge of the Union.

Human Rights Group Elects New Chairman

The Iowa City Human Relations Commission elected Simeon Strauss of 708 W. Park Road as their new chairman. He is employed by the Capitol Oil Co., Iowa City.

The commission, meeting Thursday evening, also elected Mrs. Allyn Lemme as vice chairman and Father R. J. Welch as secretary. Mrs. Lemme is a research technician at SUI and Father Welch as a professor of religion.

Strauss, beginning his second year on the commission, succeeds Father L. D. Soens as chairman. The one-year terms of Father Soens and Mrs. Anthony Costantino have expired.

The City Council recently appointed Father Welch and W. F. Schmidt, vice president of the Iowa State Bank, to replace the two commission members. They were appointed for three-year terms.

The commission passed a resolution commending Father Soens and Mrs. Costantino for their contributions during the past year.

In other business, Mrs. Costantino reported that 1,000 brochures have been printed explaining the city's Fair Housing Ordinance. The commission is planning to make the material available on the University campus and at other places in the city.

According to Mrs. Lemme, the "Equal Opportunities Project" is being continued. Approximately 120 businessmen have not returned questionnaires to the commission, she said.

The questionnaires, sent out in July, concerned employment policies. Stickers showing "Equal Opportunities" employers are also being distributed.

After the questionnaires are studied the commission plans to make a report to the community.

A rough draft of the commission's annual report was approved and the final draft will probably be available about Oct. 15, said Father Soens. The report covers the work of the commission since its organization in September, 1963.

men could strike again after the 80 days if no settlement is reached. The walkout, involving several hundred ships along the East and Gulf coasts, began officially at 12:01 a.m. Thursday, although some men had left the docks Wednesday.

JOBS SECURITY in the face of automation was the major issue. Wages also are at issue. The basic wage for longshoremen is $3.26 an hour in New York and a few cents lower in most other ports. Contracts reached in New York usually set the pattern along the coasts.

The shipping association, headed by Alexander P. Chopin, accepted and the union rejected a settlement proposal submitted by a Presidential mediation panel.

The panel's proposal included 60 cents an hour in wage and fringe benefits over a four-year period. It offered changes sought by management in manpower utilization and, as a counterbalance, annual wage guarantees for workmen.

The panel recommended that the traditional 20-man work crews be reduced by two men on April 1, 1966, and that a third man be dropped in October 1967. Employers have contended that modern handling methods make fewer men necessary.

White House Uses Taft-Hartley Act

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal judge Thursday night ordered an immediate halt to the Atlantic and Gulf Coast strike of 60,000 union longshoremen.

Acting under the Taft-Hartly Law, invoked by the White House, U.S. Dist. Judge Frederick Bryan, in a temporary restraining order, enjoined the longshoremen from continuing their strike.

The order remains in effect until Oct. 10. Meanwhile, Judge Bryan scheduled an Oct. 8 hearing on a Government request for a preliminary injunction to provide an 80-day cooling-off period in the strike.

Thus the Government moved swiftly to choke off the strike that began on piers from Maine to Texas at midnight Wednesday.

LESS THAN 24 hours after it was appointed, a presidential board of inquiry headed by Herbert Schmeitzler handed up its report on the dock deadlock to President Johnson.

The President thereupon held that a continuation of the strike would "imperil the national health and safety."

The Justice Department promptly was ordered to seek an injunction under the Taft-Hartley Act to halt the walkout.

Schmeitzler conferred with officials of the New York Association, representing owners; and the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association, which called the strike in a contract dispute. Job security was the major issue.

Thomas W. Gleason, ILA president, said the men would obey an injunction order.

A cooling-off period would halt the costly tie-up until after the Presidential election Nov. 3. The

Senate Nears Final Action On Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress moved closer to final action on a $3.25 billion foreign aid program Thursday night when Senate and House conferees killed a legislative reapportionment rider over which the Senate battled for several weeks.

The conferees approved a compromise authorization measure — stripped of all reference to the hot controversy over Supreme Court-ordered reapportionment of state legislatures.

Several hours earlier the Senate passed the $3.25 billion foreign aid money bill for which the authorization provides legislative authority.

House conferees refused to accept the mild "sense of Congress" Senate rider which would not be binding on the courts. It was designed to allow district courts, in their discretion, to:

● Permit legislatures up to six months in which to reapportion.

● Permit the next elections of members of state legislatures to be conducted on the basis of state laws in effect Sept. 20.

Some House conferees had protested particularly that the rider had the effect of congressional endorsement of the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote guideline for apportioning both houses of state legislatures.

The rider was a compromise between those who wanted to try and nullify the Supreme Court ruling and those who said such a move by Congress would be unconstitutional.

SUI Able To Accomodate 2,000 More Students: Dean

By RON ROSECRANS
Staff Writer

"I'm not being optimistic or pessimistic, just realistic," said Dr. Ted McCarrel, executive dean of student services, concerning problems caused by increasing enrollments at SUI.

"The University could accommodate 2000 more students and not be hurt," McCarrel said, "if the increases came in the right areas. There are many classes in such fields as the Classics which have a few 10 students and could have as many as 30; it's all a matter of distribution."

McCarrel admitted that the conditions were worse in the core courses but he believes that students would have little trouble fulfilling their core requirements by changing either times or courses.

BEGINNING evening and Saturday morning classes and scheduling of more early morning and late afternoon class is a possible solution McCarrel suggested.

"At present," he said, "SUI achieves only a 50 per cent utilization of class periods as compared to 75 per cent for the University of Michigan."

McCarrel said the morning class periods of 8:30, 9:30 and 10:30 are 100 per cent utilized but the afternoon periods are less than 20 per cent utilized.

"Although the measure would be very unpopular with both faculty and students, increased future enrollments could cause the scheduling of more early morning and late afternoon classes," McCarrel said.

THE HOUSING shortage caused by this year's increased enrollment was most acute among married students according to McCarrel.

He said he understood that there are unoccupied places in men's housing but women's housing is rather tight.

In the future, McCarrel expects the construction of new and the remodeling of old off-campus housing to help solve the housing problem.

Commuting may also help. "After World War II," McCarrel said, "we had 500 students living in Cedar Rapids."

Iowa ballot decision defeats 'extremists'

THE COURT decision to include President Johnson and Sen. Humphrey on the Iowa ballot is laudable. It is, of course, the only fair and proper one possible.

Both Republican and Democratic officials in the state have been sensible in handling the "goof" which first created the problem.

The court suit which sought to keep Secretary of State Synhorst from putting the Democratic ticket on the ballot was brought by Gordon Risher, Conservative party candidate for attorney general.

We suspect one of the strongest reasons behind the suit was to publicize the minority third-party which has entered several contests for positions in this election.

At the hearing of the suit, the political "extremism" of Risher was publicized. His strongly vocal opinion that Earl Warren, chief justice of the Supreme Court, should be impeached; his support of such groups as the John Birch Society and the Minute Men; and other "extreme" positions of Risher were brought out.

The relevance of this material to the legal point in question was raised at the time. And such material may not have much legal connection with the case.

Risher's positions do give the public an indication of the political element in the state which would deny Iowans the right to a clear choice Nov. 3.

This element did not prevail in this case and we hope it will never prevail. The problems facing our state are sufficient to tax the talents of Iowa's political machinery without adding to them the problems of extremist partisan infighting.

"Mr. President! Please be careful!" said the candidate.

Sex, secrets, vice—that's conservative?

IOWA'S REP. H. R. GROSS has charged that U.S. missile secrets may have been stolen by a German beauty who attended parties given by a defense contractor.

We are not sure how the Fourth District representative obtained his information, but in a speech on the floor of the House, said that Elly Rometsch, wife of a West German soldier formerly stationed in Washington may be involved in a theft of Government secrets.

He also cited newspaper articles describing the woman as having taken nude baths in champagne at parties given by a defense contractor.

Hmmmm, it sounds as though Rep. Gross may not be as conservative as everyone thinks. This sounds like the raciest speech a Congressman has given in the last month.

Computers may write verse, but not poetry

THE MANY TALENTS OF COMPUTERS are just now becoming apparent. SUI is planning to hold a computer dance, where partners will be matched by an electronic Ann Landers, and a Fortune magazine release says that computers can write poetry.

"Auto-beatin'" verses are being written by R. M. Worthy's computer at General Precision, Inc., in Glendale, Calif. One of the samples from the pushbutton bard is

Lament for a Mongrel
To belch yet not to boast, that is the bug,
The high lullaby's bay discreetly crushes the bug,
Your science was so minute and hilly,
Yes, I am not jade organ's leather programmer's recipe.

As she is squealing above the cheroot, these obscure toilets shall squat.

Moreover, on account of hunger, the room was hot. Judging from this verse (?), it will be a long time before a computer is accepted in the Writer's Workshop. This is one area where automation won't take over.

LBJ visits Wally Snyder; receives valuable advice

By JON VAN
Managing Editor

Political history will be made Saturday when the summit conference to end them all convenes between Student Body President Wally Snyder and U.S. President Lyndon Johnson.

This well-timed political move by Johnson is an obvious attempt to gain the seasoned advice of SUI's veteran campaigner.

Although the two have not yet met, we can imagine the dialogue which will take place in Washington tomorrow. Johnson takes Snyder aside and the two discuss the problems both are facing in their respective roles.

"The poverty in West Virginia presents an acute problem to the country," says Johnson. "If our country is not able to solve this one, the state may one day go Republican."

"I wonder, sir," Snyder begins, "if you might help me with my biggest problem."

"WHAT'S THAT, Wally?" Johnson says in his folksy manner. "Dime-an-hour parking meters," the student answers.

"Well, you might try my approach to the poverty problem."

"You mean a war on parking meters?"

"Of course, and you could visit parking ramps and lots on a non-political fact finding tour. You know, get your picture taken talking to students who are down to their last dime."

"I get it," says Snyder, "and we could really wage an all-out war on the situation, perhaps giving a grant-in-aid to subsidize using the meters."

"NOW YOU'RE catching on," beams the President.

"Are there any problems I could help you with, sir?" Snyder asks.

"Well, of course, there's Viet Nam. That is really a touchy deal. No matter what we do our opposition can attack us. If we send more troops, they complain about our fighting a pointless war. If we pull troops out, they call us quitters and say we're soft on communism. If we settle the thing, they claim we're negotiating with the enemy."

"Suppose," says Wally, "you pass a resolution and refer the whole thing to a nonpartisan committee. They could delay any committee meetings until after the elections."

"TREMENDOUS IDEA," says the President. "I'll call a news conference immediately to announce it."

"You have quite a few sudden press conferences like that don't you?"

"Yes, I've found that new proposals are best received when backed by the press, you might try the same approach at the University."

"Sounds like a good idea — perhaps I could install a hot line phone from the Senate office to Harlan Miller in Des Moines," muses Snyder.

"Another thing to boost your political prestige," the President advises Snyder, "is to appear to be a broad-minded statesman. For instance, I'm going to visit Khrushchev — if Lady Bird can find the proper outfits to wear when she visits Mrs. Khrushchev."

"I GET IT," says Snyder. "I could arrange to meet with the president of Iowa State's student body."

"Right," says Johnson, "now Nikita and I will probably talk about disarmament, the Berlin Wall and Cuba. You should have some equally pressing problems to discuss with this fellow from Iowa State."

"Well, we could talk about the biggest problem in the state between our institutions — but it would probably get pretty hot. Emotions really fire up about it."

"What issue is that, Wally, appropriations from the Legislature?"

"No."

"Duplication of effort in extension areas and competition for new areas of influence?"

"No."

"YOU'RE NOT talking about the really important issue, are you? I mean that would be a bit hot to handle," cautions Johnson.

"Oh, then you don't think we ought to discuss an ISU-UI football game?" asks Snyder.

"No, you could talk about building co-educational dorms; staging an Iowa State party raid on SUI; or overthrowing the administrations of both universities through joint student action. But you better leave this issue alone, son. It just can't help you."

"I suppose you're right," agrees Snyder. "Well, sir, I'd better get moving if I'm going to get ready in time for Lynda Bird's party tonight."

"Fine, it's been a pleasure talking to you, Wally. Just one final word of caution before you go."

"Yes sir?"

"I UNDERSTAND a senate committee at the University is working on plans for a second Spring Festival this year."

"That's right."

"If you have a contest afternoon next year, like the one planned for the first one?"

"Yes?"

"Someone might accidentally grab the animal's ears to pick it up — you'd never hear the end of it."

"That's right."

"PARENTS COOPERATIVE BABY-SITTING LEAGUE. Those interested in membership call Mrs. Charles Hawley at 5-6622. Those desiring stickers call Mrs. Paul Newbauer, 5-6676."

"COMPLAINTS. Students wishing to file University complaints can now pick up their forms at the Information Desk of the Union and turn them in at the Student Senate Office."

"PLAYNIGHTS of mixed recreational activities for students, staff faculty and their spouses, are held at the Field House each Tuesday and Friday night from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., provided no home varsity contest is scheduled. (Admission by student or staff ID Card.)"

"WOMEN'S SWIMMING. The swimming pool in the Wame's Gym will be open for recreational swimming Monday through Friday 4:15-5:15 p.m. This program is open to women who are students, faculty, staff or faculty wives."

"YWCA BABYSITTING SERVICE. Call YWCA office, 52240 afternoon for babysitting service."

Memorial Oratorical contests, 'desert' training scheduled

By TAM DUGGLEBY
Exchange Editor

An informal committee at Louisiana State has tentatively set early December for the university's John F. Kennedy Memorial Oratorical contest, established late May as a tribute to the late president.

An outline for the event, which will be open to all LSU students, regardless of the number of hours carried, will be due for consideration by the Morale Commission committee this fall.

According to the act creating the contest, the first place winner will receive a $25 saving bond, and those in the top three positions will be presented with certificates.

Plans worked out this summer call for a contest banner of traditional red, white, and blue, carrying the name of the event and this famous excerpt from Kennedy's inaugural oratory, "Let the word go forth from this time and place... That the torch has passed to a new generation of Americans."

Back for its second year at Texas Tech, Lubbock, Texas, will be a "broad synthesis course" entitled "Public Opinion and Public Issues," offered again by the journalism department with the cooperation of nine departments of natural and social science.

This successful "great issues" course, taught by journalism head W. E. Garets, will be offered for both graduate and undergraduate credit two afternoons a week, with lectures offered by the departments of economics, government, and other social sciences, education and philosophy, biology, chemistry, and speech.

Included in the semester will be social change, government and the individual, research and discoveries, the American heritage in domestic and international relations and the meaning and responsibility of freedom. Work will also be given to the social role of the mass media and study of the mass mind.

Director Garets states that the course was added to Texas Tech because of the citizen's perplexity about most "great issues" before him and the need for such a course in the areas of natural and social science.

An accredited class for prospective "desert-men" began Wednesday at San Jose State College, San Jose, Calif., to turn out full-fledged "Arab" delegates for the collegiate Model United Nations conference at LA's Claremont Men's college in April.

Each year, San Jose and other western colleges, choose countries to represent, in this case, the UAR, and get together for a week to carry out the role of the United Nations. Before the upcoming MUN, San Jose students selected to be "Arabs" will earn two units as they spend the semester familiarizing themselves with the Arabs and the UAR. By attending classes for this, and representing the school at the conference, delegates will come out with three units in all, and new diplomatic experience.

In its fourth year of educational TV, Southern Illinois instructional television program is expected to aid more than 25,000 students on the pre-college level from 115 districts this year. At present, SIU is transmitting twenty courses to elementary and high school classrooms over WSU-TV to augment regular classroom teaching.

The series, with only a few minor revisions from last year, will begin with background on countries involved and follow up with interviews by high schoolers on the international students at the university.

This fall the sports spotlight at both Parsons and Southern Illinois will shine on three women gymnasts on their campuses who have earned positions on the U.S. and Canadian teams for the '64 Olympics in Tokyo this month.

Attending from Parsons, Jo Frieson, Associate in Physical Education for Women there, will leave Sept. 27 for the games. She has consistently placed in national competition and was named women's collegiate high-jumping champ before joining the Parsons staff in June.

Southern Illinois students competing in the Olympics will be sophomore Dale McClements, representing her native Canada. Before reaching this status, both were top scorers in their national competitions, and both represented their nations at the '62 World Games and the '63 Pan American Games. With their help, Southern Illinois won the AAU gymnastic championship this summer.

As college sports stars warm up for football games and other action, the members of Alpha Epsilon Pi, Iowa State's colonial fraternity, seem to have a new game up their sleeves. If the fund works out, this group hopes to have an "AEPi-Throw" to crown a "pie" queen from sorority nominees on campus.

While standing behind a board with headnotes, girls chosen would be splattered with custard pies, about a quarter a toss, and the nominee hit by the most pies would be "queen."

Former Yale prof publishes first poetry

"Preambles and Other Poems" is the first published work of a young New York poet, Alvin Feiman, a former instructor in philosophy at Yale University. The book will be published by Oxford University Press on October 22.

"This is a remarkable first book... there is an acute and subtle sensibility at work. 'Pilgrim Heights' is one of the best poems by an American that I have seen in many years."

—Allen Tate

"This volume may be regarded, some day, as now regard Wallace Stevens' 'Harmonium' and Hart Crane's 'White Buildings,' as a 'first book' of poems that became an essential part of the imaginative consciousness of the age."

—Harold Bloom

"... his poems are authentic because they bespeak... a unique sense of the precariousness and the crucial importance of poetry in our shattering time... these poems give one a momentary pang of insight, as of a felt gain in reality... we recognize a new poet of the first rank."

—R.W.B. Lewis

"This is a true metaphysical poetry, a poetry of the whole consciousness — feelings and all — a poetry of 'whole meaning.'"

'Iron Men' Return Today

25th Annual Reunion of '39 Hawkeye Team

By MIKE DUNN
Staff Writer

Members of one of Iowa's most famous football teams, the 1939 Ironmen, will hold their 25th reunion this weekend in Iowa City during the Iowa-Washington game. More than 25 of the original 43 man squad are expected to be present.

Back in '39 Dr. Eddie Anderson's team was an unheralded underdog to say the least. The previous year they had won only one game. However, when the season was over, Iowa had finished second in the Big Ten, lost only one game to Michigan, and tied Northwestern for a 6-1-1 record.

NILE KINNICK was named to practically everyone's All-American team that year, and he was known to football fans as "the cornbelt comet." The Associated Press voted him the number one U.S. athlete of the year, and he also won the Heisman trophy as the best college football player of the year.

Also, Dr. Anderson received the New York World Telegram Award as college coach of the year. This was the first time in history that a player and coach from the same school received these awards in the same year.

NILE KINNICK
1939 All-American

Kinnick, a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Iowa, was killed in action while flying for the U.S. Navy, during World War II. His memory will be honored at this week's reunion.

DR. ANDERSON went on to coach football at Holy Cross, and will step down this year. Anderson has been coaching football longer than any other active coach in the country.

Anderson was assisted that year by Glenn Devine, who has recently retired from the Iowa University Athletic Department. Frank Carideo, now an insurance man in Cedar Rapids and president of the Cedar Rapids quarterback club; and Jim Harris, who followed Anderson to Holy Cross and has recently retired.

The 1939 team received the name Ironmen because so many of the players had to go the full sixty minutes. Thirteen men played at least one 60 minute game that year. Nile Kinnick and Mike Enich led with six, captain Erwin Prasse played five, and Wally Bergstrom and Dick Evans had four each.

THE IRONMEN started out the season with a win over South Dakota, and then surprised Indiana 32-29. The Hoosiers once led 10-0, but Iowa tied the score and went out in front 20-10. With several minutes left to play, Indiana was again leading 29-27, when Kinnick passed for a touchdown and victory. This fourth quarter rally was to become the Ironmen's stock in trade, and they won four games and tied one in the final period.

Against Michigan, the Ironmen couldn't contain Tom Harmon, and although Iowa outgained the Wolverines in total yards, they lost their only game of the year, 27-7. The Ironmen came from behind twice in the fourth quarter against Wisconsin, and again it was a Kinnick touchdown pass, late in the game, that won it: Iowa 19, Wisconsin 13.

ALTHOUGH Iowa was twice held within the five-yard line without scoring, two blocked kicks led to safeties against Purdue. Final score, 4-0.

Notre Dame put an unbeaten record on the line against the Ironmen, but Iowa won 7-6 on a four yard run by Kinnick. Behind 9-0 in the fourth quarter against Minnesota, Kinnick passed for two touchdowns and a 13-9 victory.

EDDIE ANDERSON

IN THE LAST game of the season, Iowa faced Northwestern. A Big Ten title was at stake, but Iowa had to settle for a 7-7 tie and second place.

The returning teammates and their wives will be staying at an Iowa City motel, and will be the special guests of the Iowa Athletic Department.

There will be a dinner party Friday evening at the University Athletic Club, and prior to that, an afternoon of golf is planned for the men while the ladies go shopping.

Ironmen expected for the weekend are: Gerry Ankeny, Newton; Wally Bergstrom, Peoria; Russell Busk, Clinton; Dr. Ambrose Callaghan, Sioux City; Al Coupee, San Diego; Floyd Dean, San Antonio, Texas; Bill Diehl, Indianapolis; Dr. Jack Edling, Monmouth, Ore.; Dr. Lawrence Ely, Des Moines; Mike Enich, Boone; George Fry, Highland, Md.; Bill Greene, Cleveland, Ohio; Max Hawkins, Iowa City; Warren Junge, Bettendorf; Bob Leighton, Spirit Lake; Henry Luebecke, Chicago; Jack McKinnon, Omaha; John Mahay, Des Moines; Jens Norgaard, East Alton, Ill.; Matt Miltich, LaHabra, Calif.; Ray Murphy, Des Moines; Ken Pettit, Manchester; Erwin Prasse, Naperville, Ill.; Herman Snider, Chicago; Charles Tollefson, Green Bay; Carl Vergamini, Superior, Wis.

FOUR MEMBERS of the 1939 squad were killed in World War II. They were Larry Paul and Rogers Jenkinson, both of Iowa City, Burdette Gilleard of New London, and Kinnick.

A few members of the Ironmen couldn't come because of present athletic commitments. Dick Evans is now an assistant coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, Bot Otto is athletic director at Mankato State College, Jim Walker is athletic director at Wilberforce University in Ohio, and Bruno Andruska is a colonel in the Marine Corps.

Dr. Anderson's Holy Cross ball club is playing Syracuse Saturday. He sent his regrets and best wishes to his old squad.

President Bowen Kicks Off

SUI President Howard Bowen went even farther than throwing out the first football of the men's intramural season Thursday; Bowen kicked it out. Watching are team captains John Stahly, P3, Normal, Ill., Dave Beed, A2, Cedar Rapids, and Jim Mowen, A4, Algonquin, Ill. Holding the place kick is Dr. F. S. Bebe, head of the Men's Intramural Department. —Photo by Mike Toner

Waterloo East Risks Top Spot In H.S. Football

By The Associated Press

Waterloo East risks its top ranking in the Associated Press high school football poll tonight against last week's leader, Des Moines East.

Waterloo climbed to the top after rolling to its third straight victory, a 30-6 conquest of Charles City. Cedar Rapids Jefferson took second and Des Moines East skidded from first to third after it was tied 7-7 by Waterloo West.

Cedar Rapids Washington held fourth, Sioux City East retained fifth and Boone continued in sixth in the voting by sports writers and sportscasters.

Two teams dropped out of the top 10. Davenport Central, seventh last week, plunged after its 27-20 loss to Rock Island, Ill., and Mount Pleasant lost its ninth-place perch after a 20-13 scare by Washington. Iowa City placed eighth in the ranking.

Newcomers in the top 10 are Waterloo West, which took ninth, and Keokuk, which claimed 10th.

Iowa-Washington Tied in Series

Iowa will meet Washington's Huskies for the third time Saturday. They are tied 1-1 in the series with the Hawkeyes winning in 1933 and the Huskies winning in 1937.

Washington was a 10-point favorite over Iowa in Seattle last year, but the Hawks fooled the experts and whipped the Huskies, 17-7.

After four minutes had elapsed in the second quarter, Iowa quarterback Fred Riddle passed to Paul Krause for 44 yards and an Iowa touchdown.

Washington marched 69 yards in eight plays in the third period, scoring on an 11-yard burst.

Early in the final period Iowa scored again as it moved the ball 93 yards in 11 plays. Bobby Grier was the main ball carrier, driving for 19 and 43 yards at a clip. Riddle hit Cloyd Webb in the end zone from the Washington 20 but the pass was incomplete. After Washington was penalized for pass interference, Riddle scored on a quarterback sneak from the one-yard line.

Putting the game out of reach, Iowa place kicker Jay Roberts split the uprights on a 39-yard attempt a few minutes later.

Defensively, Iowa stopped the Washington running attack and recovered four of six Husky fumbles. Grier was the leading Iowa ball carrier with 95 yards in 14 carries. Karl Ryan gained 38 yards in seven carries.

City High, Regina Away, U-High Has Homecoming

Iowa City's Little Hawks face their stiffest test of the season tonight when they visit Cedar Rapids Washington.

Both are unbeaten as Iowa City has defeated Burlington and Davenport West while Washington topped Moline and Clinton.

Washington is ranked fourth in the state, Iowa City eighth. Kick off is slated for 7:45 p.m.

Regina's Regals travel to Tama-Toledo tonight in an attempt to win their first game of the season for coach Bernie Wyatt.

Tama-Toledo won its season opener at Grinnell, but has lost two straight since. The Regals have not won a ball game in three outings.

University High School celebrates its Homecoming tonight as its hosts West Liberty.

Kickoff is scheduled for 8 p.m. instead of the usual 7:30.

Iowa Coach Jerry Burns once again emphasized defense as he ran his Hawkeyes through a two-hour workout Thursday.

Extensive contact work tapered off Thursday as the Hawks ran in shoulder pads and shorts.

Every man on the squad will be available for duty in Saturday's game with Washington. Speaking of the Huskies, Burns said "We hope we are technically, mentally and physically prepared for Washington."

Left halfback Gary Simpson will play, but will again only be available for kicking duties.

The coaching staff agreed junior halfback Craig Nourse has been impressive with his running this week and probably will see more action against the Huskies than he did against Idaho.

Bill Douglas, Washington's No. 1 signal caller has fully recovered from his Rose Bowl game knee injury and is ready for heavy action against Iowa's Hawkeyes Saturday.

Douglas has moves similar to Idaho's Mike Monahan, who gave the Iowa defensive secondary a scare with his effect running of the option play last Saturday.

Douglas has been tabbed one of the nation's best on the roll-out, pass-run option play. In 234 plays last year, he rushed for 313 yards and passed for 929 more. He completed 62 of 111 passes and had three interceptions.

AS A NATIONWIDE TV audience and 97,000 fans in the Rose Bowl saw, Douglas suffered a severe knee injury just nine plays into the 1964 New Year's Day Classic.

Surgery was later performed and now, although unable to participate in spring drills, Douglas is again the starting quarterback for the Washington ball club.

Douglas' success story began in the fourth game of the 1963 season when the Huskies picked themselves up by the bootstraps after three straight losses to soundly wallop Oregon State, 34-7, and begin their march to the Pacific Coast championship and Rose Bowl invitation.

That day Douglas forever silenced those who had questioned his untested passing ability (he had played primarily defense as a sophomore) hitting on eight of 11 pass attempts for 135 yards and one touchdown.

The double defeat cut the Yanks, lead over the idle Chicago White Sox to 2½ games. New York has three to play and Chicago four. The White Sox resume play today with a two-night doubleheader against Kansas City. The Yanks play Cleveland in one game tonight.

N.L. President Makes Plans For Possible Pre-Series Playoff

CINCINNATI (AP) — National League President Warren Giles tossed a half-dollar in the air Thursday and started a complicated deal for the pairing of teams for possible two, three or four-team playoffs to decide the loop's 1964 champion.

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — Rookie Larry Stahl socked a tie-breaking home run in the 12th inning as the Kansas City Athletics beat Camilo Pascual and the Minnesota Twins 5-4 Thursday.

BOSTON (AP) — Dick Stuart hit the clinching sacrifice fly and Dick Radatz made his 78th pitching appearance in saving a 4-2 victory for Boston over Cleveland Thursday.

Two unearned runs in the second inning, driven in by Ed Bressoud's sacrifice fly and rookie southpaw Ed Connolly's double, snapped a 28½ inning scoreless streak for the Red Sox. They added the decisive run in the third, delivered by Stuart's fly.

Reds erupting from a brief slump in which the Pirates shut them out twice, gained slim but necessary ground on the 'idle Cardinals. Cincinnati has two games left with Philadelphia while the Cardinals play three with the New York Mets.

BILL DOUGLAS Husky Quarterback

and again against Cal. His performance against the Bears also won him the Associated Press' "Back-Of-Week" laurels for the nation.

AN EXTREMELY versatile field general, Bill mixes his plays with keen perceptiveness. He's cool and calculating, never makes a foolish mistake and more often than not is able to turn a bad situation into a good one.

His outstanding effectiveness with the run-pass rollout option enabled Douglas to completely dominate the Huskies' offensive statistics and place second in the Pacific Coast conference in total yards gained.

In 234 plays he rushed for a grand total of 1,242 yards.

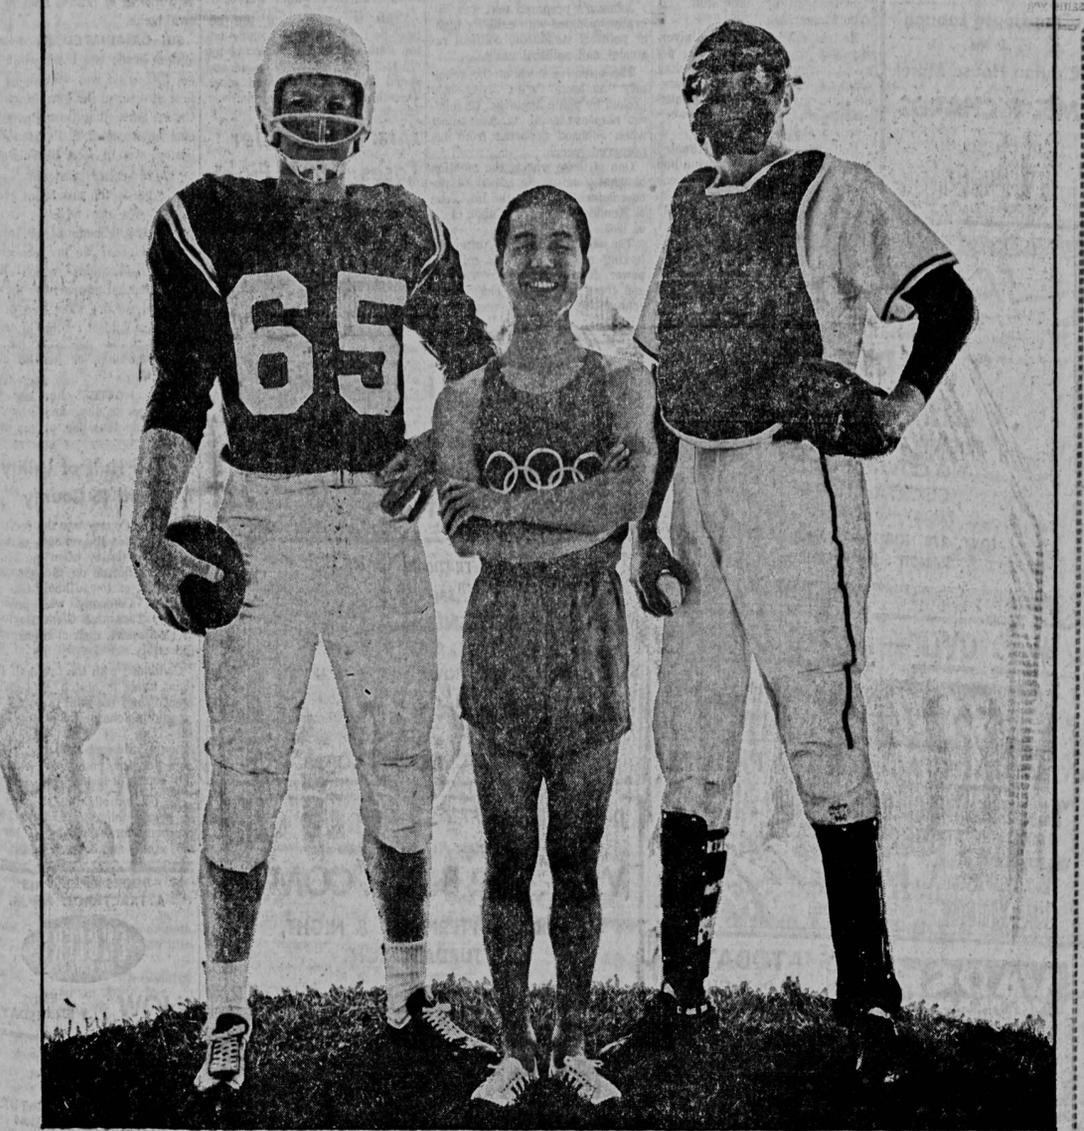

THIS IS THE most yardage for any Husky since the days of Don Heinrich in 1952.

He completed 62 of his 111 passes for a .559 percentage and threw only three interceptions all season. In successive games against Oregon State, Stanford and Oregon his completion average bordered on the phenomenal — 8 strikes in 23 attempts and not one interception.

An exceptional student, Douglas maintains an "A" average in the University's School of Business Administration and has been chosen for the Honors Program which recognizes scholars of high standing.

Last season Douglas won these honors: Major College All-America Academic Football Team, second team; All Big Six, first team; AP All-Coast Honorable Mention; UPI All-Coast, second team; AP National Back of the Week (following California game of Nov. 9).

Viet War Going Badly For Rebels

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor said Thursday that South Viet Nam's governmental crisis is a serious factor in the war, but the Communist Viet Cong has never been so far from a military victory.

"Despite their desperate efforts, despite long years of war and violence and heavy support given to them by their masters in Peking and Hanoi, today they are militarily farther from success than ever and their men must know it," Taylor told a news conference.

Taylor discounted the fact that the Viet Cong, which once staged attacks with single platoons or companies, are now using full battalions in some engagements. A Red battalion usually numbers 300 to 400 men.

The ambassador said the tempo has remained about the same since he took up his duties July 7 as successor to Henry Cabot Lodge.

"There has been a great strengthening of government forces, he said, and, while the Viet Cong are stronger too, their increase cannot match the government upswing.

The soldier-diplomat, former chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, said, however, the counterinsurgency program developed with U.S. aid cannot be used effectively unless the projected switch from military to civilian rule develops a strong and popular government.

"If it does, he said, the military problem may take care of itself.

Barry Claims LBJ Playing Political Game

WITH GOLDWATER IN INDIANA (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater accused his opponent Thursday of conducting a "lie-filled campaign" and playing "the game of politics" with foreign policy.

In one of his hardest hitting speeches of the campaign to date the Republican Presidential nominee called President Johnson "an interim President to whom everything is just a political game."
His main attack on the Democratic administration was in a speech at Indianapolis, one of seven scheduled on a one-day train campaign through the Hoosier state.

"This interim President who seeks to win an election by talk of war, doesn't understand the first thing about keeping the peace," Goldwater said.

"How can anyone who truly wants to keep the peace trust a man to whom everything is just a political game? We want peace and we know how to keep it far better than the present Administration with its policies of drift, deception and defeat."
"The cause of peace," Goldwater said, "is too precious to be entrusted to men who have a wishbone where they need a backbone."
"I will not be a wartime president," Goldwater said, asserting that "this nation has gone to war three times in this century but not under a Republican president."

Goldwater accused the administration of trying to picture him as a man who wants war.
"This is nothing but the big lie," he said. "This is nothing but the Administration's version of the old tactic of spend and spend and spend—elect, elect and elect. This time it's lie and lie lie lie."

Johnson's prepared text was liberally sprinkled with calls for higher political standards, political restraint and political unity.

The attentive hush of the scholarly audience was a frequently broken by polite applause. Its loudest response came at two points when Johnson departed from his prepared speech.
One of these was at the mention of what Johnson described as the cool determination of the late John F. Kennedy during the Cuban crisis of 1962.

The other came when, after referring to United States military power, Johnson declared: "The day and the time and the era of government by ultimatum was yesterday and is gone forever."

Mrs. Rockefeller Loses Court Fight For Her Children
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (AP)—Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller on Thursday lost her court fight to regain custody of her four children by her first marriage. She gave them up 18 months ago to marry the Republican governor of New York.
"Mrs. Rockefeller is deeply grieved by the judge's decision," said her lawyer, Edward S. Greenbaum. He said the question of appealing the decision is undecided.
State Supreme Court Justice Joseph F. Magliardi, in a 4 1/2-page decision, held that, "Both the mother and father, by education, character and material resources, are qualified to have the custody of the children."

Union Hostesses Aid Students, Guests

"We're called hostesses, in the sense that we are hostesses in our own homes," Mrs. Mildred LeVois, executive hostess at the Union said Thursday.
Mrs. LeVois, speaking for the other three hostesses and herself, said, "We like to see that everything does right in the Union, just as a mother or hostess does in her own home."

SUI ORIGINATED the hostess system in the late 1920's while Rufus Fitzgerald was serving as the first director of the Iowa Memorial Union. Since that time many unions have copied SUI's idea of a hostess system, Mrs. LeVois said.
"We're called hostesses," she said, "but we do just about everything." We are advisers to the Union Board committees in the program area; we are concerned with organizations which have meetings and conferences in the Union; and we are interested in the individual student who often comes to one of the hostesses for advice, friendship, or just to chat, she said.

EACH HOSTESS has her own unique personality, and a person often finds that one of the hostesses is best able to help him, she said.
The hostesses have their own office at the Union. However, it's not always easy to locate one of them. They don't stay there long, isolated from activities.
A "message mate," located at the New Information Desk in the Union, is used to page a hostess.
The easiest way to find one of the hostesses is to ask at the desk, "Would you please page the hostesses?"

Second Half of Utility Tax Paid to County
Johnson County was the recipient of a check in the amount of $240,333.07 Wednesday when the second half installment on the 1963 property tax of Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company was paid to County Treasurer Clem Boyle by J. E. Stewart, district manager of the utility.
Combined with the first-half payment made in March, this installment brings the total property taxes paid in Johnson County by Iowa-Illinois in 1964 to $480,666.51. This amount, Stewart said, is a new high for the company, which is the county's largest taxpayer.
He pointed out that 21 cents out of every dollar received by the company for service goes for local, state, and federal taxes.

U.S. Losing In Viet Nam

The United States is fighting a losing battle in South Viet Nam, Charles H. Malik, former United Nations diplomat, said at a press conference in Iowa City Thursday.
Malik, who opened the University Lecture series on Thursday night, told reporters Thursday afternoon that the United States is flying in the face of history in trying to hold guerrilla forces in South Viet Nam.

He said that guerrilla warfare is very difficult to combat and guerrilla forces have never been defeated in the past.

U.S. Losing Battle In Viet Nam: Malik

The United States is fighting a losing battle in South Viet Nam, Charlie H. Malik, former United Nations diplomat, said at a press conference in Iowa City Thursday.

Malik, who opened the University Lecture series as Thursday night, told reporters Thursday afternoon that the United States is flying in the face of history in trying to hold guerrilla forces in South Viet Nam.

He said that guerrilla warfare is very difficult to combat and guerrilla forces have never been defeated in the past.

"THE UNITED STATES is counting on holding South Viet Nam against these forces. If the U.S. succeeds, it will be the first time in history," Malik said.

Malik added however that if the United States had not intervened in South Viet Nam, the country would have been taken long ago.

The United States would face several problems in trying to withdraw gracefully from South Viet Nam, he said.

WHEN ASKED if the United States should have withdrawn before now, Malik said he did not know.

Malik also said he saw no immediate danger to the United States from the rumored development of a Red Chinese nuclear bomb.

"The Chinese people are industrializing, and China is going to be powerful," he said, "but China is not in a position to drop a bomb on the United States today. Russia can do that now."

RED CHINA could be in a position to drop a bomb on Formosa and other pro-Western countries, he added however, and the United States because of its ties with these countries, could be involved if one of them were attacked.

Malik said he has expected the Red Chinese nuclear bomb test for some time. "My only surprise is that it didn't come two or three years earlier," he said.

THE RED CHINESE bomb test will have great influence in Africa, Asia, and all over the world, according to Malik. "The Red Chinese are becoming powerful. The situation is disturbing, but so are many other situations all over the world," he said.

Malik is staying with Dr. and Mrs. Albert Y. Ladre, SUI professor of economics, until Saturday when he will leave for Illinois to continue his lecture series. The Ladres live at 725 S. Summit St.

DR. MALIK, his wife and their 10-year-old son live in Beirut, Lebanon.

Mrs. Ladre visited her sister, Mrs. Malik, for two months this summer. She said she did not learn that Dr. Malik was coming to SUI until she read about his lecture series in The Daily Iowan.

When they learned of Dr. Malik's coming visit, Dr. and Mrs. Ladre wrote him and invited him to stay in their home. Dr. Badre accompanied him to press conferences Thursday afternoon and to his lecture Thursday night.

Dr. Badre and his wife are from Lebanon also. He received his B.A. degree from the American University in Beirut in 1934. In 1946, he received a State Department scholarship to do graduate work in the United States.

HE ATTENDED the University of Chicago for one year and came to SUI to study the following summer.

Badre received an M.A. degree from SUI in 1947 and returned to Lebanon. He came again to the United States in 1950 and received his Ph.D. from SUI in that year.

Badre has been active in diplomatic affairs since his graduation from SUI in 1950. In 1961, shortly before he joined the SUI faculty, Badre was in the Congo as an economic adviser for the United Nations.

HE WAS an economic adviser of Cyrille Adoula, Prime Minister of the Congo.

Dr. and Mrs. Badre have five children. Among them is Albert Badre Jr., 19, who is a freshman at SUI.

Area YD's Hear Talks On Politics

Area Young Democrats (YD's) Wednesday heard speakers on different aspects of state and national politics.

William H. Hieronymous, A4, Iowa City, vice president of the SUI YD's, told Des Moines County YD's that the young people of this nation will "have the decisive voice in this year's election."

SPEAKING in Burlington, Hieronymous cited the political activities of voteless high school and college students.

"Perhaps the most important activity," he said, "is the help which the students are giving in the voter registration drive through out the nation."

"It is indeed ironic," he added, "that the future of the registration drive rests largely with those who are not even eligible to vote themselves."

CITING ESTIMATES which put Des Moines County's number of unregistered Democrats at nearly 3,000, Hieronymous told his audience there would be little doubt of a Democratic victory in the county if they would encourage these people to register and vote.

The SUI group, which is the largest campus YD organization in Iowa, has been handling much of the registration work in Des Moines, Lee and Scott counties.

SPEAKING TO Johnson County YD's State Rep. Minnette Doderer said revision of the state-local tax structure, with emphasis on increased state aid to local school districts will get top priority legislation in the next general assembly.

The Johnson County Democratic representative said property tax assessments within and among Iowa tax districts must be equalized so that state aid to local government units can be fairly apportioned.

SHE STRESSED the need for making vocational and technical education available to Iowans at both high school and post high school levels.

Mrs. Doderer also advocated a withholding system for state income tax collection.

More than a million cases of preventable food-borne diseases are estimated to occur within the United States each year, a representative of the U.S. Public Health Service said Thursday at a Diet Therapy Conference at SUI.

Charles V. Wright, regional program director for the Environmental Engineering and Food Protection Department of the U.S. Public Health Service, said that the American Medical Association reports that the number of food-borne infections are on the increase, and present a serious health problem for the nation.

"ALTHOUGH there are probably over a million cases each year, morbidity statistics do not show this because of inadequate reporting," said Wright. "Not only are there a small percentage of cases reported, but many disease outbreaks are not investigated and cannot be classified as to the source of infection, or even be confirmed as a food-borne infection."

"Our food sanitation programs are not adequate," he said. "Most need expansion and many require complete revamping. Effective programs are badly needed to protect the public, and these programs need the efforts of many different skills and interests."

WRIGHT emphasized the necessity for cooperative effort between the food industry and health officials.

"In the main, the U.S. Public Health Service programs are designed to assist state and local regulatory agencies and the food industries. Our objectives are to promote effective food sanitation programs in each state; to stimulate adoption of state and local control legislation with strict and uniform enforcement; and to encourage industry to support state and local programs."

TO MEET these objectives, Wright said, the Health Service engages in six major activities. These are developing program guides, conducting research and investi-

ROME Hints Pope May Visit India

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI still is considering a trip to India in November, the Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano hinted Thursday.

The newspaper, giving the first firm evidence that the Roman Catholic ruler was contemplating such a trip, quoted Valerian Cardinal Gracias of Bombay as saying the Indian Government had formally invited the Pope to attend the International Eucharistic Congress in India.

The Rev. Paolo Vicentin, a L'Osservatore Romano staff member, quoted Cardinal Gracias as saying in an interview that if the Pope decided to make the eight-hour flight he will announce it at least several weeks in advance.

GAX To Deliver Free Blotters

Four thousand desk blotters will be distributed free to students today by Gamma Alpha Chi (GAX), women's professional advertising fraternity, according to Carla Schumann, GAX president, A4, Davenport.

The yellow and blue blotters will be delivered this afternoon to the main lobbies of the dormitories. Additional blotters will be distributed to fraternally and sorority houses and will be available free at the Union, Miss Schumann said.

The blotters have a long history at SUI. They originated in the late 1940's as a joint project of GAX and Alpha Delta Sigma (ADS), men's advertising professional fraternity.

In 1951 the two fraternities brought out the blotter printers and handled all the business personally. "However," Miss Schumann said, "ADS went off campus and GAX continued it alone."

Local businessmen financially sponsored this year's venture. The SUI Printing Service produced the blotters this year.

Red Chinese Fete May Illuminate First Bomb Test

TOKYO — Red China celebrates its 15th birthday Thursday with speeches and parades amid reports the Red Chinese soon will explode their first nuclear device.

No doubt Chairman Mao Tse-Tung of the Chinese Communist party would like to cap the festivities with an announcement that Red China has joined the nuclear club.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said in Washington Tuesday that a nuclear test explosion by Peking may take place "in the near future."

But Mao and the Communist Chinese organs remained silent. Peking's official precelebration line was centered on advances in the economy. Chinese Communist papers predicted 1964 would go down in China's history as one of the country's best agricultural years.

The day's activity will end with tours of the SUI School of Journalism.

West Berliners Apply for Passes

BERLIN — Several thousand West Berliners lined up Thursday to apply for a precious piece of paper — a pass allowing them to cross through the Berlin wall to visit relatives in the Soviet sector.

The November crossing will be the second time the wall has been opened by the East Germans since it was built in August 1961. But there still will be only one-way traffic — West to East. The East Germans still have orders to shoot any of their own people trying to cross to the west.

Doc Severinsen Sets Half-Time Tempo Sat.

Carl "Doc" Severinsen, widely known as a trumpet soloist on television programs, will be guest soloist with the Hawkeye Marching Band in the group's show between halves of the SUU-University of Washington football game Saturday in Iowa Stadium.

Both the band and the SUU Scottish Highlanders will appear before the game and will give half-time shows.

Severinsen, who will be the soloist in four numbers for the band, is a top name in trumpet playing, known for his frequent solo appearances with Skitch Henderson's orchestra on NBC's "Tonight Show." He has been featured with the orchestras of Charlie Barnett, Tommy Dorsey, Benny Goodman and Gene Krupa and has worked with Vaughn Monroe on his "Camel Caravan."

As an NBC staff musician, Severinsen appeared on the original Steve Allen show and "NBC Bandstand," both as soloist and conductor. Also for NBC, he played in shows featuring Pat Smith, Dinah Shore, and Eddie Fisher. Entitled the formation of a bull ring, the band will add a Spanish touch to their program with the stirring "Virgín of Marcarena."

In Management—

Bunke Urges CPA's To Stress Consultation

Dr. Harvey C. Bunke, professor and head of the Department of Economics, urged Iowa Certified Public Accountants Thursday night to give increasing attention to management consultation and accounting principles aimed at a more productive total economy.

He addressed about 150 members of the Iowa Society of Certified Public Accountants from throughout the state at a "Recognition Dinner" honoring 13 CPA's newly-certified by the State Board of Accounting.

BUNKE recently was named president of Western Washington State College, Bellingham, Wash., effective Feb. 1, 1965. He told the Iowa CPA's that social and economic segments of American society have become so inter-related and complex they can no longer be regarded separately by the accounting profession.

FOR EXAMPLE, he explained, individuals who may work equally hard in different occupations may realize different incomes because of legislation or accounting and management principles governing their level of income.

Bunke suggested that CPA's, through "creative" development of accounting principles and through counsel to management, can contribute to a more productive total society while still serving the immediate interests of clients.

The CPA, Bunke said, is in a key position to influence legislation and business practices that directly affect all society. This is where CPA's should focus an increasing amount of attention, he said.

EARLIER THURSDAY, as part of the Iowa Society's eleventh annual tax and accounting seminar at SUU, the CPA's heard discussions on "Your Responsibility to the Client," by Irwin D. Smith, Chicago, Ill.; on "Multiple Corporations and the Federal Income Tax," by Stanton L. Wolkoff, Minneapolis, Minn.; and on "Multiple Problems with a New Client" by the Haskins-Sells accounting firm of Denver, Colo., and New York, N.Y.

Today's program will include discussions of "Flaring Accounting Graduates" by Miss Helen Barnes, director of the SUU business and industrial placement bureau, and "Re-appraisal of Executive Compensation Plans Under the Revenue Act of 1964," by Carl G. Ward, Hartford, Conn.

Harry B. Carlson, Des Moines, president of the Iowa Society, and Donald W. Herrog, Des Moines, treasurer, presided over Thursday's sessions. Robert J. Alexander, Waterloo, vice-president, will preside today.

All sessions are being held in Shambaugh Auditorium.

Adenauer Okay After Cracked Rib

CADENABRIA, Italy (AP)—Former West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has taken a fall, but a rib he cracked in a fall three weeks ago, but is reported feeling fit.

The 68-year-old statesman fell at his vacation villa on Lake Como near Cadenabbia, Italy, where he is working on his memoirs.

Despite the injury, Adenauer continued his daily walks.

VICTORY CLAIMED—

BUKAVU, the Congo (AP)—Congolese soldiers, reinforced by white volunteers, have claimed a major victory in beating off a strong rebel attack against Bukavu.

Col. Leonard Mulamba—whose troops repelled an earlier rebel attempt to take the town in August—said rebel losses were 32 killed, 14 captured.

followed by the closing of ranks into a trumpet outline for "Trumpeter's Lullaby."

Severinsen will be soloist in these and the following two numbers. After a concert formation for "After You've Gone," the Hawkeye musicians' final number will honor the guest soloist with a drill routine outlining "DOC" on the field to the tune of "Two O'clock Jump."

The band is under the direction of Frederick Ebbs. Two pre-game numbers by the Highlanders will be "Scotland the Brave" and "On Iowa." Between halves, the Highlanders will present five traditional tunes and marching maneuvers.

The highlight of the half-time Highlander show under Director William Adamson will be a dance new to Midwestern spectators discovered by the Highlanders while in Scotland on their European tour last summer.

Entitled "Shepherd's Crook," it features Highlander dancers accompanied by Ron Smallman, assistant director, playing the pipes. The dancers are Jane Taylor, Heather Adamson and Joyce Engel, all of Iowa City. Shirley Bell of Des Moines and Mary Ann Haase of Chariton.

Cost of Living Down Slightly During August

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the typical American family, the cost of living was a penny less for every $10 spent in August than it was in July.

The Department of Labor also reported that an overall decline in August is usual. Generally prices of fresh fruits and vegetables are lower because of the harvest and automobile prices go down as dealers clear their lots for new models.

Sales on women's and girls' apparel also helped bring costs down this August.

The cost of living index for August was 108.2 per cent, meaning that it cost $10.82 to purchase goods that could be bought for $10 in 1963 on the period used as a base for comparison.

The August index was a decrease of one-tenth of a per cent from July. It was 1 per cent higher than a year ago, the smallest over-the-year increase in the past 12 months.

Chances are that the September index will go up because clothing prices usually rise, along with food and gasoline, the department said. But there probably will be further reduction in auto costs as 1964 models are cleared.

Food prices dropped three-tenths of a per cent in August because of seasonal increases in supplies such as potatoes, grapes, tomatoes, green tomatoes, green peppers, apples and celery. However, meat prices advanced by seven-tenths of a per cent. On the whole food prices were up eight-tenths of a per cent from a year ago.

Housing costs rose one-tenth of a per cent.

Despite an increase in gasoline prices, with the end of price wars in Detroit and Los Angeles, transportation costs declined one-tenth of a per cent. Prices on used as well as new cars were lower.

Take-home pay for factory workers rose one-half of a per cent between July and August, averaging in August $92.26 for the worker with three dependents, and $84.47 for the worker without dependents. In both cases, this was an increase of $5.59 from a year ago, reflecting a 9-cent rise in hourly earnings, a slightly longer work week, and the reduction in federal income taxes.

The sources, answering newsmen's questions at a Kremlin reception for Sukarno, declined to specify what types of weapons.

The Soviet Union has provided more than $1 billion worth of arms to Indonesia since 1950 on low-cost, long-credit terms. Indonesia has been seeking even more for its campaign against neighboring Malaysia.

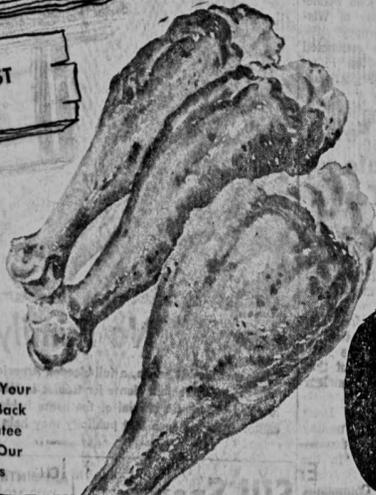

MOSCOW (AP)—President Sukarno reported his brief visit to Moscow has been very fruitful. Authoritative Indonesian sources said they expected it to lead to Indonesia's purchase of more arms from the Soviet Union.

The sources, answering newsmen's questions at a Kremlin reception for Sukarno, declined to specify what types of weapons.

City Editors Hold Annual Meet Here

The eighth annual City Editors Conference sponsored jointly by the IUI School of Journalism and the Division of Extension and University Services on behalf of the Iowa City Editors Association will be held at the IUI School of Journalism Oct. 16 and 17.

The conference will open at 1 p.m. Friday, Oct. 16, with an address by Loren Hickerson, executive director of the Iowa Alumni Association.

The editors will then meet with the Seminar on Dissemination of News about Science for a talk by Victor Cohn, science reporter for the Minneapolis Tribune. The Science News Seminar is being held Oct. 16-18 at STU under a grant from the Natural Science Foundation.

Saturday's program will include an informal discussion, "What's Your Problem?" which will be used by the editors to consider current and common problems of the city desk. Bernard Huston, city editor of the Ottumwa Courier and chairman of the City Editor Association, will moderate the discussion.

H. Doyl Taylor, city editor of the Des Moines Tribune, will speak on the "Organization and Operation of the City Desk" following the discussion.

The conference will close with the election of officers.

Professor Arthur M. Sanderson of the School of Journalism is in charge of arrangements for the conference, which is expected to draw city editors from a five-state area.

'Bonehead' Course In English Filled At California 'U.

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Even the best of California's high school graduates are so poorly prepared in English that almost half of them must take a remedial "bonehead" English course when they enter the University of California.

And, says Chancellor Edward W. Strong of the University of California at Berkeley, "I'll bet you'll find this problem on every campus in the country. It goes right on into graduate school."

The state university system admits only the top one-eighth of the high school graduating classes.

"Presumably these students should have a command of their mother tongue, but they don't," Strong told visiting education writers. Strong said the proportion of those who must take the remedial classes — about 50 per cent — hasn't changed over the years despite the post-Sputnik revolution in the classroom.

"The students are better prepared in science and math, but not in English," Strong said. "We have some students coming here who have had calculus and other advanced math in high school. But they can't write."

With about 9,000 freshmen entering the system's seven institutions this fall, the university is required to provide remedial English instruction for nearly 5,000 youngsters.

Strong said, "Maybe high schools don't have time to do the job."

"My own guess would be that students don't do enough writing — writing that is read and corrected. Class size limits the amount of work a teacher can do."

Coast-to-Coast Speeches Planned For LBJ's Tour

WASHINGTON B — The White House has announced plans for a series of speeches that will take President Johnson from coast to coast next week with stops in the Midwest and South.

Johnson will speak at Raleigh, N.C., Tuesday after seeing Mrs. Johnson off on her four-day whistle-stop train tour of the South.

Next Wednesday, Johnson is due to make a farm speech at Des Moines, at noon and then campaign through downstate Illinois in the afternoon and evening.

The White House said Thursday's schedule calls for visits to Gary and Indianapolis, Ind., and a speech in Cleveland, Ohio. On Friday, Johnson will go to Louisville, Ky., and then on to New Orleans for a dinner speech.

Saturday was left open. On Sunday, Johnson will be in San Francisco for a Columbus Day parade on the eve of the explorer's anniversary.

TALKS CONCLUDED—

WASHINGTON (AP) — A delegation representing the Congo Reconciliation Commission concluded its talks in Washington by assuring Secretary of State Dean Rusk that it did not come to challenge the sovereignty of the Congo.

The delegation representing African nations was named by Jomo Kenyatta, prime minister of Kenya, with the avowed intention of asking the U.S. administration to withdraw all its military aid from the Congo.

Nixon Tells Press—

Didn't Adv On Commu

By JON

Staff V

CEDAR RAPIDS — Form Nixon denied Friday that he Barry Goldwater's charge that Communism.

In a press conference at told The Daily Iowan "there must be some misunderstanding about this. I was asked that question earlier in the day."

NIXON SAID he has not talked about this issue with the Republican Presidential nominee.

"I advocated no questioning of the loyalty of President Johnson, Sen. Humphrey, Sen. Miller or Sen. Goldwater. They are all patriotic men."

"This is a question of policy rather than of individuals. The policies which the Democrats follow are weak and need to be strengthened. The individuals are strong," said Nixon.

GOLDWATER charged Johnson with being soft on Communism earlier this week. When questioned about the charge later by newsmen, he said that Nixon, former President Herbert Hoover and other Republican leaders had advised him to make the charge.

Goldwater said he hadn't repeated the charge because he was "waiting to see what kind of reaction it brings."

Questioned about control of nuclear arms, Nixon said he believes the President should have sole authority in deciding when American nuclear arms should be used.

SEN. GOLDWATER also believes this," he said.

The former Vice President called the control issue "one of the false issues of this campaign. The policy Sen. Goldwater advocated is already in effect. It was adopted under the Eisenhower Administration and was continued by the Kennedy Administration."

Nixon said this policy would allow the NATO commander in Europe "to use every weapon available" in the event of a nuclear attack on U.S. forces — if communications between our forces and the President were knocked out.

REPORTERS asked Nixon why Goldwater brought the issue up if it was already Administration policy.

"He wanted to spell this policy out in order to strengthen the NATO alliance," Nixon said. "This was no major statement he was making; it was part of an informal magazine interview."

"This is a false issue and I think President Johnson should go before the American people and tell them what Sen. Goldwater advocated is now our policy — unless the President has changed the policy which was in force. The public should know this too."

NIXON SAID he thought the contest between himself and John F. Kennedy was fought on a higher plane than the Goldwater-Johnson battle because of the debates. He said these debates made the campaign deal with the issues.

Nixon drew a chuckle from Evan Hultman, Republican candidate for governor, when he advocated a debate between candidates for governor in Iowa. Hultman challenged Gov. Hughes to a series of debates, but the governor only agreed to appear in one which was in September.

The conference closed with hearty laughter from everyone when Nixon expressed hope that President Johnson would agree to debate Goldwater. Nixon said the Republicans would be willing to buy television time for the program.

"I am so willing to help the President in the debate," said the 1960 Presidential loser, "that I'd even be willing to let him use the make-up man who worked on me for my first debate."
