Iowa City, Iowa—Saturday, December 12, 1964

U of I students may be surprised to learn that there are only 377 days until Christmas in 1965. Furthermore, there are only 10 drinking days, 5 class days, 1 Friday, and 12 actual days left until this Christmas. In case you've forgotten, it's time to give your love a present in a pear tree.

Cut Rumored For National Reserve Plan

McNamara To Bare 'Streamlining' Plan At Conference Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Brushing aside protests, the Defense Department moved ahead Friday with preparations for announcing Saturday its drastic streamlining of the Army Reserve and National Guard.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara scheduled a morning news conference. The subject was not disclosed officially, but all signs indicated that he would announce details of the Reserve plan at that time.

Announcement of the news conference came several hours after the Reserve Officers Association urged President Johnson to hold up the plan until fuller investigation can be made and public hearings held.

"We respectfully suggest that failure to exhaustively explore this plan in all its implications threatens real national danger," the ROA said, in a telegram to Johnson.

Several congressmen already have raised questions about this second major streamlining of the Reserve-National Guard structure in two years.

In effect, the 300,000-man organized Army Reserve would cease to exist. About half the men in its units would be shifted to the National Guard. The other half of its strength would get into a manpower pool for emergency reinforcement.

The National Guard would emerge as the sole ready backup for the 16 divisions of the regular Army.

National Guard strength, expanded from 400,000 to about 550,000 men with the addition of the Reserves, would all be in high-priority units.

Such units are allotted 80 per cent of their mobilization manpower, 100 per cent of their gear and weapons.

'Hard Nosed Cuts' Ahead, Regents Told

By JON VAN
Staff Writer

DES MOINES — Gov. Harold Hughes put his cards on the table Friday and told Regents he would have to cut their budget requests for political reasons before he submits them to the Legislature.

The governor spoke to the Regents after listening for nearly two hours to explanations of budget proposals. He invited Regents to attend a meeting next Friday in Des Moines of representatives of agencies submitting budget requests to the governor.

"We will look at all the budget requests together," Hughes said, "and also at the present sources of revenue that we have to meet them. Then we will see if you have the same ideas on budget."

THE GOVERNOR said he would have to trim Regent recommendations and asked presidents of the institutions concerned to aid him in making "hard nosed cuts."

"I am in the position of a man who wishes to meet all the needs of society," Hughes told the meeting, "but I don't know where to turn."

The governorship is the most vulnerable position in politics and politicians must watch their careers, said Hughes.

THE PEOPLE of Iowa are ready to pay for progress, he said, "but the question is how much."

He went on to say the fear of political suicide often acts as a break on government progress.

"I am sure that one of our university presidents would not want to make a decision that would end his career and send him back to a country school to teach the rest of his life," the governor said.

"IT IS A SHAME" when a man must destroy his career to bring growth to his state. This is perhaps a problem for the political scientists to solve."

Friday's budget hearings with the Regents marked the end of several sessions with state agencies for the governor. If all requests submitted to the governor were presented to the Legislature uncut, it would mean an increase of 67 per cent over the present state budget.

THE REGENTS asked for a 30 per cent boost over current app $133,826,757 for total operational funds and $39,683,450 for capital improvements.

Murray Given Writing Award

Prof Cited For 1st Novel

An Iowa writer who emigrated from Ireland in 1949 was named recipient of the $2,500 Meredith Press writing award Friday for his first novel entitled "Michael Joe: A Novel of Irish Life."

William Cotter Murray, 35, whose book will be published by Meredith Press this spring, was awarded the prize by John J. Hess, managing editor of the New York publishing firm, at a banquet at the University Athletic Club in Iowa City.

Murray was a graduate student in the U of I Program in Creative Writing when he began his novel and is now an assistant professor of English here, teaching literature and writing courses.

Half of the Meredith Press writing prize was awarded as an outright grant, while the remaining half represents a minimum advance against royalties. The book will be published under the Appleton-Century-Crofts imprint.

Hess also awarded a matching grant of $2,500 to the Program in Creative Writing directed by Paul Engle. The Writing Program serves as the coordinating agency for the contest.

The awards were the first of three annual prizes offered by Meredith Press which will total $15,000.

Some 200 manuscripts were submitted in competition for the Meredith Press prize, according to U of I Professor Eugene Garber, who serves as coordinator of the contest. After screening by Prof Garber and other members of the Creative Writing Program

WILLIAM C. MURRAY.
Graduate of U of I

he added, "There's no war between the British and the Irish in the book. That's all done. I'm tired of books like that and I happen to like the British."

Murray says the book has no big action. "The things which make up our lives are not the big moments," he said. "It's the little things we do to build our relationships with others that make life what it is."

The son of David and Susan Cotter Murray, Murray was born in Miltown Malbay, Clare County, a small farming village on the Irish coast. He left Ireland at the age of 20, and came to live in New Haven, Conn., intending to stay in America.

"There was no place for me in Ireland," he said. "When I finished school at St. Flannan's College in Ennis County Clare, the logical thing for me to do was to take over my father's farm. I didn't want to do that. I wanted to write. So when a friend of my father's visited us and encouraged me to come back to America with him, I did."

Continuing his writing, Murray worked in a Connecticut printing factory until 1951 when he was drafted into the U.S. Army. He emerged two years later a naturalized citizen, and used the G.I. Bill to attend college at Southern Connecticut State College where he founded a literary magazine called "Crescent."

He came to Iowa to study at the Program in Creative Writing where he began the book that won him the Meredith prize. After earning a master's degree in English at the University, he lived in San Francisco for two years working on his novel and teaching at the University of California at Berkeley.

He returned to Iowa in 1961 to study writing under Vance Bourjaily of the University's Writing Program. "It was then that I shifted the whole point of view of my book," he said. "I suddenly realized that after writing for three years, I really hated the main character of the novel. So I shifted from the young son to the father, and from then on, everything fell into place."

Murray visited his native Ireland last summer, concerned that his absence of 15 years had dulled the images of Irish life he wished to portray in his book. "I had to make a few minor changes when I returned, but in the most part, the book stood as it was."

The young novelist completed his work toward a doctoral degree last year. He plans to begin work on an American novel in the near future.

Murray is married and has two children, a son and a daughter.

Public Service Strikes Bring Day of Frustration to Paris

PARIS (AP) — The lights went up Friday night in Paris and all France. Trains, buses and subways began running. Gas pressure was high enough for housewives to cook dinner. A crippling 24-hour public service strike had ended on the dot of 9 o'clock, as planned.

It was a day of frustration. Elevators did not operate, many restaurants served only cold plates at lunch, heating was reduced, bakeries sold day-old bread, gas pressure for cooking was low.

Thousands of Paris workers did not bother to go to offices that were dark and cold.

Traffic out of the city was heavier than usual, indicating that many used the occasion for a three-day weekend. Those who stayed behind found traffic moving freely, because of the fewer number of cars and the absence of busses.

More than two million railway workers, public transportation employees, miners, civil servants, postmen, garbage collectors, school teachers, electricity and gas workers, gravediggers and airline ground personnel were called out on 24-hour strike for higher wages.

The government is refusing the wage claims, fearing further inflation. An estimated five million more workers were idled either by coordinated strikes in private industry, the difficulty of getting to the job, or the impossibility of working without electricity.

The first electricity cuts started about 9 p.m. Thursday. Three persons were killed in traffic accidents in the Paris region on the blacked out streets where many traffic lights were not operating.

No less than 17 traffic islands on Paris streets were damaged by cars after the lights were extinguished.

A few subway trains ran during the early morning hours, but all traffic was stopped by 11 a.m. In the afternoon a few trains appeared again. Only about 100 of the normal 1,600 buses were operating.

Rock 'n' Roll Singer Slain

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Negro singing star Sam Cooke was shot to death early Friday by a motel manager after he burst into her apartment in pursuit of a bar.

Cooke, 32, whose latest hit record boosted his total sales past 10 million, was clad only in a topcoat.

Lisa Boyer, 22, of English-Chinese background, told police Cooke kidnapped her after she accepted an offer of a ride home from the bar. He forced her to go to the motel, she said, and she grabbed most of his clothes and fled when he went to the bathroom.

The motel manager, Bertha Lee Franklin, 55, a Negro, said Cooke kicked in her door, accused her of harboring Miss Boyer and struck her twice with his fist. She fired three shots. One hit Cooke in the chest. Mrs. Franklin was not held.

The girl was found in a nearby telephone booth after the shooting.

Cooke gained prominence with his recording of "Darling, You Send Me," in 1955. Son of a Baptist minister, Cooke originally was a gospel singer, later handled rock 'n' roll and popular tunes with equal ease.

Correction

Friday's Daily Iowan incorrectly stated that an architect's office was in charge of the remodeling work necessary for the DI's new press. The Physical Plant is in charge. The story's headline incorrectly stated that the Regents approved the new press; approval came from Student Publications, Inc.; the building remodeling project designed to provide a place for the press was approved by the Regents.

Repetition of Mistakes Cited in Soviet Regime

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

MOSCOW (AP) — A deputy told the Supreme Soviet Friday the new Kremlin regime is making the same economic mistakes Nikita Khrushchev did.

In the face of this criticism, coming at the close of the three-day session, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin said the economy is making progress and problems are being overcome although deputies "have correctly pointed to the existence of shortcomings in the system of economic planning and management."

The Supreme Soviet then unanimously passed an economic development plan largely inherited from Khrushchev and a budget for 1965 emphasizing more and better consumer goods. It then adjourned.

The Parliament also named Leonid I. Brezhnev, who succeeded Khrushchev as Communist party first secretary Oct. 14, to take over as chairman of a commission drawing up a new constitution. Khrushchev had held that job, intending to draw up what he hoped would be known as "the Khrushchev constitution."

The sharp criticism on economic planning came from Konstantin Belyak, chairman of the economic council of the Zherznovo region. Naming Khrushchev publicly for the first time, he said the former premier was guilty of lack of stability in planning.

"THIS WAS DUE TO THE PRACTICE CULTIVATED BY COMRADE KRUSHCHEV OF PRESENTING THE DESIRED AS REALITY — THE DESIRE TO PUT DOWN IN PLANNING AS MUCH AS POSSIBLE ON THE CHANCE IT WOULD BE POSSIBLE TO ACHIEVE IT," BELYAK DECLARED.

He said the 1965 economic development plan contained "upsetting mistakes that repeat the errors of previous years."

Kosygin, speaking later, admitted the soundness of the criticism on shortcomings.

"MISTAKES ARE MADE; THE STRUCTURE OF THE APPARATUS IS SOMETIMES CUMBERSOME AND THERE IS DUPLICATION OF EFFORT BY SOME ORGANIZATIONS," HE SAID.

To Award 37 Memberships

Phi Beta Kappa Initiation Sunday

Initiation ceremonies will be held Sunday for 37 new members of the University chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honorary society.

The initiation will be held at 2 p.m. in the Senate Chamber of Old Capitol, followed by a reception at 3 p.m. in the Old Gold Room of the Union.

Seventeen of the new members are seniors at the University. Of the 18 who graduated last June or August, all but two are now enrolled in the University Graduate College, the College of Medicine or the College of Law.

To be eligible for membership in the Iowa chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, students must be a candidate for, or already have received a bachelor's degree in the College of Liberal Arts and must rank in the upper 10 per cent of their class academically.

The U of I chapter of Phi Beta Kappa was founded in 1895. President of the chapter this year is Arthur M. Barnes, head of graduate studies in the School of Journalism.

Students to be initiated are:

Jack Rudd, G, Bloomfield; Karen Eggers, August graduate, Cedar Rapids; William Head, G, Cedar Rapids; V. L. Vandervoort, August graduate, Cedar Rapids; Randall Maharry, M2, Clearfield; Robert Gitchell, M2, Cresco; Thomas Se, August graduate, Davenport; Margaret Caldwell, A4, Des Moines; Susan Mockridge, A4, Waterloo; Linda Stock, A4, Waukon;

Iowa Coaches Favor Frosh Cage Review

Iowa coaches Ralph Miller, Laney Van Eman and Dick Schultz will favor a review of the Big Ten's attitude toward freshman cage competition when conference officials hold their January meeting.

Van Eman, Iowa's new freshman coach, said recently that the conference committee will probably consider the possibility of playing against other league "B" teams and junior college opponents.

The Big Ten ruling now prohibits freshman cagers from meeting outside competition. It is believed to be the only conference to do so.

Under the present arrangements, Iowa's freshman team only plays before each home varsity game (when vacation does not interfere) against alumni teams.

Van Eman admits it is hard for him to get his team "up" for the alumni games.

"The players know that these games don't mean anything and tend to let down. I am racking my brain, trying to figure out something new that will hold their interest."

HE ADDED: "Our coaching staff is definitely in favor of outside competition for our freshman team." But he noted that a 25 or 30-game schedule would be too "extreme" and that a freshman program under those circumstances would eventually get out of hand.

The Big Ten philosophy in the past has been that the freshman year for any athlete should be a period of transition and adjustment to the academic world of each institution.

Proponents of a freshman basketball schedule point out that an individual might find the transition a little harder if he is unable to

Oriole Boog Powell Wins Slugging Title

BOSTON (AP) — John Boog Powell of the Baltimore Orioles beat out New York's Mickey Mantle, a four-time champion, in winning the American League slugging title for 1964, final official averages showed Friday.

Powell compiled 257 total bases in 424 official times at bat for a .606 average. Among the hard-hitting outfielder's 123 hits were 17 doubles and 39 home runs.

Mantle, the leader in 1955, 1956, 1961 and 1962, slugged .591 with 275 total bases in 465 official trips. He had 141 hits, including 25 doubles, 2 triples and 35 homers.

Here is the setting for the late-season drama:

The Browns, with a 9-3-1 record must win the game to be assured of the NFL's Eastern Conference title. A loss, coupled with a St. Louis victory over Philadelphia Sunday, would throw the title to the Cardinals, now 8-3-2.

The Giants, 2-9-2, need an upset victory to salvage some crumbs from their most disastrous season in history.

Title is the Giants' once feared Old Bald Eagle, now 33, ending his 17th year as a pro and benched the last two games in favor of rookie quarterback Gary Wood, formerly of Cornell.

In a sentimental move, New York Coach Allie Sherman named Title, instead of Wood, to start the game against the Browns. It will be the 17th game for Title, a National League record.

Besides the St. Louis-Philadelphia game, other Sunday offerings in the NFL have Green Bay at Los Angeles, Minnesota at Chicago, San Francisco at Detroit, Washington at Baltimore and Pittsburgh at Dallas.

In the American League, New York is at Houston, Kansas City at San Diego and Buffalo at Denver. Oakland and Boston are idle.

Will Attempt To Snap 2-Game Losing Streak

Coach Ralph Miller sends his charges against a powerful Creighton team here at 7:30 p.m. in an effort to make amends for the nonsense mistakes last weekend during defeats at Kentucky and Evansville.

It is the first of three straight home December games for the Hawkeyes before they take off for the post-Christmas Los Angeles Classic tournament.

The game also offers the Hawks a chance to avenge the 77-72 overtime defeat by Creighton here last December. Iowa, however, has won eight of twelve games in the series with the Bluejays.

Creighton is coached by John (Red) McManus, who served as Iowa freshman coach before going to Creighton. In five seasons there, his teams have won 60 per cent of their games and a year ago had a 22-7 record.

COACH RALPH MILLER said he will start the same line-up which opened the first three games. He also said that much work this week has been concentrated upon eradicating the mistakes, especially the turnovers.

These turnover mistakes probably are the easiest to correct. They were not due to efforts of the opposition but rather they were personal errors. And one of our other weaknesses has been allowing too many second attempt field goals," Miller said.

The new Iowa coach has been impressed with the courage, poise and second half comebacks of his team, even in front of hostile crowds. He declared that it would have been possible to lose by 20-30 points.

"The type of shots we have been

U-High Beats West Branch, 59 to 55

University High downed West Branch 59 to 55 in a conference basketball game here Friday night.

A tip-in basket by Joel Michaelson with seven seconds left clinched the victory for the Little Hawks.

Two big factors in the game were the rebounding of Michaelson and the second half play of Joe Lawton. Michaelson, who scored 16 points, had 15 rebounds. Lawton poured in 13 points. High scorer for the evening was Karl Hickerson with 18 points.

Mike Nash led West Branch scorers with 16 points.

Steve Koser, leading scorer in the previous games, had a cold evening from the field, scoring only six points before fouling out in the fourth quarter.

U-High now has a 3-1 record in the East Iowa Hawkeye conference.

SCI Meets Lamar Tech In Pecan Bowl

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — State College of Iowa and Lamar Tech of Texas clash Saturday in the inaugural of the Pecan Bowl, a game that will decide the championship of the NCAA Midwest College Division.

The Iowans, tri-champions of the North Central Conference, bring an 8-2 record into the 2 p.m. encounter while the Texans, winners of the Southland Conference, show 6-2-1.

The game appears a tossup with the Panthers enjoying an offensive edge with their Little All-America fullback Randy Schultz leading the way. He ran for 1,052 yards in 10 games.

However, the Cardinals are tough defensively with such stalwarts as Vernon McManus, who averaged 19 tackles per game, and Anthony Guillory, who averaged 14.

Schultz gets capable assistance from Bruce Montgomery, who scored 78 points, and quarterback Rich Oliphant, who has passed for 899 yards.

With defense their main weapon, the Cardinals fought back on four occasions for comeback victories.

Giants vs. Browns in Key Game

BALTIMORE (AP) — Y. A. Tittle comes off the bench Saturday and leads the last-place New York Giants against the heavily favored Cleveland Browns in a National Football League game that has all the earmarks of a Hollywood movie script.

The game will be played before a sellout crowd of 63,000 at Yankee Stadium and televised to the rest of the country.

Here is the setting for the late-season drama:

The Browns, with a 9-3-1 record must win the game to be assured of the NFL's Eastern Conference title. A loss, coupled with a St. Louis victory over Philadelphia Sunday, would throw the title to the Cardinals, now 8-3-2.

Moore 'Comeback' Winner

BALTIMORE (AP) — "Man, that's nice, particularly when things looked so shaky," responded Lenny Moore to his selection as comeback player of the year in the National Football League.

"I had been out of commission for mostly two years, and when you're getting older, you wonder about your ability to come back."

The lanky legged halfback for the Baltimore Colts made it all the way back. And he did it although not entirely free of injuries which plagued him for two seasons and led to wide speculation that he was washed up.

The Colt management tried to trade him, and he began the season behind Tom Matte, who had replaced him last year. Not only did Moore regain the post, but he is leading the league in scoring with 18 touchdowns. Along the way he has set a league record for scoring touchdowns in most consecutive games.

It was deemed the best comeback performance of the year by 33 out of a panel of 42 voters for the Associated Press. The other votes were scattered among Ollie Matson of Philadelphia; Sonny Jurgenson of Washington; Alex Karas of Detroit and John Henry Johnson of Pittsburgh.

Ivy Schools Declare Track Independence

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight Ivy League colleges, led by Yale, declared their independence of control of competition by the U.S. Track and Field Federation and National Collegiate Athletic Association Friday after their fellow members of the Eastern College Athletic Association made a bid to end the battle between the USTF and the Amateur Athletic Union.

The meet will be scored on an individual basis and team scores will not be kept. Athletes from Mankato State, Southern Illinois, Iowa State and State College of Iowa and various clubs are entered.

Klan Member Freed Under $5,000 Bond

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Going ahead with plans to carry its case to a Federal Grand Jury, the Justice Department dropped charges Friday against a 20th man arrested in connection with Mississippi's civil rights slayings.

James Edward Jordan, 38, an admitted member of the militant White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, was freed at the Government's request by a U.S. commissioner at Biloxi, Miss.

Government attorneys said evidence against Jordan and 20 other white men would be turned over to a Grand Jury just as soon as it is reconvened by U.S. District Judge Harold Cox.

However, in Washington a Justice Department spokesman said charges will be dropped against Barnette in order that all the cases may be presented to the Grand Jury at once.

Although not present at Thursday's preliminary hearing at Meridian for 19 of those arrested, Barnette figured prominently in the proceedings before U.S. Commissioner Esther Carter.

MISS CARTER refused to allow an FBI agent to read a purported confession by Barnette on the grounds it was "hearsay" evidence. When the Government declined to offer any additional evidence, she ordered the 19 men released.

Barnette, free under $5,000 bond, has asked for a preliminary hearing.

IN OSLO, Norway, where he received the Nobel Peace Prize, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. called the action a "tragic miscarriage of justice" and said he would appeal to President Johnson.

King called for an economic boycott against the State of Mississippi.

Nineteen of the 21 men were charged with conspiracy in the midsummer slayings of Michael Schwerner and Andrew Goodman, whites; and James Chaney, a Negro. The other two were arrested as accessories.

AFROTC Picks 'Flight of Month' For November

Winners of the AFROTC Cadet Wing "Honor Flight of the Month" competition were the following:

Flight A, Billy Mitchell Squadron, Group 1; Commander, Cadet 1st Lt. Robert N. Coon, A2, McGregor.

Flight A, Squadron 5, Group 2; Commander, Cadet 2nd Lt. Clarence L. Weston, A3, Mundelein, Ill.

Flight A, Squadron 8, Group 3, Commander, Cadet 2nd Lt. Gerald A. McGill, A2, Rockford, Ill.

The Honor Flight is chosen each month from all flights of the Cadet Wing on the basis of appearance of the cadets, flight drill, competence, and command ability of the commander. The Honor Flight of the Year will be selected from the winners of the monthly competition.

Tables Turned

W. Robert Parks, left, president-elect of Iowa State University, accepts congratulations on campus from his old boss, C. H. Mattern, head of the department of history, government and philosophy. Parks, who was named to the post by the State Board of Regents Thursday, was a professor in Mattern's department for eight years. Parks is turning to greet others in the welcoming party at Ames.

U.N. Blast—

into its East River headquarters in 1952. The U.N. area runs from 42nd to 48th streets, between First Avenue and the East River Drive.

Police and security guards had been alerted for trouble by an anonymous bomb threat and by an earlier tip from the FBI.

When the explosion shook the area, onlookers at first gained the impression a bomb had gone off, either inside or outside the United Nations. But eventually the site of the explosion was pinpointed as about 100 feet out in the East River, behind the building. It sent a geyser of water 15 feet into the air.

About two hours later, the bazooka was found in a marshy lot across the East River. It was mounted on a wooden box with a Cuban flag on top of it.

Police first said it was a homemade mortar with an alarm clock timing device. However, after examining it at the station, they said it was a four-foot bazooka with a range-finder.

They said someone apparently fired it manually and fled, since it could not have been fired with an automatic device.

The device was aimed in the direction of U.N. headquarters, a matchbox-like glass structure that dominates the skyline on the west bank of the river in Manhattan. The East River is about 900 yards wide at that point.

Maintaining third place requires more money, Hilton said, but this still leaves Iowa vulnerable to competition from schools on both coasts and from Texas which pay more than Midwest states.

Capital improvements needs total $1 million when they were first presented to the Regents, Maucker said. Several necessary projects have been postponed to cut that figure to under $40 million.

THESE REQUESTS involve 35 separate projects, he said.

Dr. Robert Hardin, dean of the U of I College of Medicine, addressed the governor on needs of University Hospitals. Dr. William M. Spear, superintendent of Oakdale Sanitorium, spoke on behalf of the needs of the small institutions under the Regents.

MRS. JOSEPH Rosenfield, resident from Des Moines, said she thinks the people of Iowa are ready to pay for progress, that they "share a new pride in our state."

"Iowans are prepared to pay increased sales taxes or income taxes to pay for better state schools," she said. Wilbur Molison of Grinnell endorsed this position.

THE UNIVERSITY'S requests for operational funds totaled $66.8 million compared to $50.5 million (this includes the hospitals). Iowa State's askings are $45.1 million compared to $32.4 million now. SCI requested $12.9 million; it last received $9.3 million.

Regent presentation with an explanation of enrollment increases and the costs they bring.

HE POINTED OUT that past estimates of enrollment increases have been conservative and future estimates are not "padded." The increases represent people who are as qualified or more qualified than students now enrolled.

Maucker also said increases at state institutions would come without taking potential students from private colleges in Iowa.

JAMES HILTON, president of Iowa State University, spoke to the governor and State Comptroller Marvin Selden about needed increases for salaries. Regents' institutions seek to offer salaries which put Iowa in third place compared to state schools in 11 other Midwest states.

U of Iowans Sing Along, Drink Cocoa

More than 400 University students, their parents and other guests gathered in the Union Main Lounge Friday evening to sing Christmas carols with the Old Gold Singers.

The 28-member singing group, directed by John L. Quinn, resident assistant in the Department of music, opened the program with "Jingle Bells." They followed with such traditions as "Deck the Halls," "Silent Night" and "Winter Wonderland."

The audience was introduced to a Norwegian Christmas carol called "I Am So Glad on Christmas Eve," during the first part of the program. After the break, those in the audience were given song sheets so they could sing along with the Old Gold Singers.

In keeping with the theme of the program, "Cocoa and Carols," hot chocolate was wheeled in on carts and served during the intermission.

The sing-along event was presented as part of the Union's Christmas pageant, entitled "The Twelve Days of Christmas."

cuts in these proposals, the budget will be presented to the Legislature. Regents and school officials will appear before a legislative committee to plead their cases sometime in January or February. Cuts or additions to the requests may be made then.

IN A LETTER to the business community, members of the city campaign executive committee asked local residents for "enthusiastic help in making this gallery campaign an outstanding success."

"This community not only can help keep the Elliott art in Iowa," the letter said, "but can bring it permanently to Iowa City."

PLEDGES to the gallery fund, payable over a period of as much as five years, are being made to the University of Iowa Foundation, located in Iowa Memorial Union. The Foundation is spearheading a statewide campaign for gifts with which to build the million-dollar gallery.

"We urge Iowa City residents to make their pledges during this campaign," the businessmen's letter stressed, "in order that the gallery's financing can be assured at the earliest possible date."

Child Health Problems Discussed by Nurses

A program on "Problems of Maternal and Child Health" was attended Thursday by 58 members of the Eastern Iowa League for Nursing.

"Speakers on the program, held at the Union, were Gladys Benz, professor emeritus in the College of Nursing; Dr. J. F. Lawlor, director of medical education at Broadlawns Hospital, Des Moines; Mrs. Violet Madsen, social worker; Anna E. Overland, associate professor of the College of Nursing; and Esther A. Brisendine, N4, Knoxville.

First Place Awarded To Iowa Alumni Review

The Iowa Alumni Review has been named for a first-place award in the annual publications competition sponsored by the Mid-America district of the American Alumni Council and the American College Public Relations Association.

The magazine is a publication of the U of I Alumni Association. It is edited by Dennis W. Binning, Iowa City, a 1964 graduate of the School of Journalism. The magazine was named best in the alumni publications category in judging which took place at the recent joint meeting of AAC-ACPRA in Topeka, Kan.

US To Give More Aid to Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — The U.S. Government has agreed to pour in more assistance to expand South Viet Nam's armed forces and economy for the anti-Communist war, Premier Tran Van Huong's troubled government announced Friday. The cost is undetermined.

Even as a government communique summarized South Viet Nam's view of decisions taken in recent urgent consultations in Washington and Saigon, the Vietnamese Buddhist hierarchy called for support from the United States in a revived campaign to oust Huong.

The Buddhist leaders — influential in the downfall of President Ngo Dinh Diem last year — charged in effect that the premier is losing the war by alienating the people. Decrying the use of armed force against demonstrators, they said "Huong is seeking revenge against us." Help was solicited from U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor.

But American backing of the Buddhist drive seemed unlikely.

The communiqué on war plans, drafted after a check with the American mission, made a point of saying that, "in the course of the discussions, the U.S. representatives expressed full support for the duly constituted government of Prime Minister Huong."

"The U.S. Government has offered additional military and economic assistance to improve the execution of the government's programs and to restrain the mounting infiltration."

of men and equipment by the Hanoi regime in support of the Viet Cong," it said.

"The government of Viet Nam has accepted this offer of support, which includes provision for increased numbers of military, paramilitary and police forces, the strengthening of the air defense of South Viet Nam and further economic assistance for a variety of forms of industrial, urban and rural development."

"For its part, the government of Viet Nam is reviewing ways of increasing the scope and effectiveness of its programs related to the development of security and local government in the rural areas."

Doughnuts, Pop Plus Candy Equals Contented Carriers

Fourteen dozen doughnuts, seven cases of pop and ten pounds of candy are the ingredients of a Christmas party given annually for the 47 carrier boys of The Daily Iowan.

Although there are only 47 carriers of the paper, Circulation Manager James R. Collier says at least three bottles of pop and three doughnuts are standard fare for growing boys.

Five of the carriers are girls; their routes are mainly in the girls' dormitories.

Films, including movies of the highlights of the 1964 Iowa football season, are an annual feature of the party, which will be held at 10 a.m. Dec. 19. Awards are presented to the carriers with top delivery records.

Attendance is usually perfect at the carrier party, partly because of the movie tickets which are given as presents.

Playing Santa Claus for 47 boys and girls is one of the unusual tasks a circulation manager performs but, according to Collier, it is also one of the most rewarding.

At least it provides a break in the daily routine of making sure about 10,000 papers are delivered by 7:30 a.m.

Pa Kettle Dies after Auto Accident

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Drawling killed. Kilbride underwent brain surgery Nov. 11 and died at 12:45 a.m. Friday at Chase Sanitarium. Death was attributed to hardening of the arteries in the brain and to pneumonia.

Kilbride is survived by a sister, Mrs. John L. Crowley of Los Angeles.

CANADIAN TOWER—

PARIS (UPI) — The Paris Municipal Council has voted to help Montreal's 1967 World's Fair create a tower higher than Paris' 384-foot Eiffel Tower, built in 1889 for a similar exposition.

The Montreal tower will be 1,060 feet high as a symbol of the 25th anniversary of the French founding of Montreal. The fair is to celebrate the 100th anniversary of Canada's confederation.

ALLAN SHERMAN/ARTHUR FIEDLER
The masters of musical satire take an affectionate poke at Prokofieff, Brahms, Beethoven & others

It was bound to happen! The top musical satirists of our time have joined forces in a lively new album that plays fast and loose with the music of the masters. Recorded "live" this high-spirited spoof includes Sherman's hilarious parody of "Peter and the Wolf" (which includes such items as Beethoven's Fifth Cha-Cha-Cha and Aida in Dixieland) plus the fresh and funny "End of a Symphony." And Allen makes his conducting debut here in a slightly swatted rendition of "Variations on How Dry I Am." It's all great fun—as 13,327 listeners who heard these selections in concert can attest. Recorded in Dynagroove sound, it's an album you'll enjoy over and over again.
