

Cold Water, Mice Plague Apartments

By BOB FINCH
Staff Writer

Problems ranging from no hot water in the summer months to an abundance of mice in the winter were aired by married students Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the Joint Student Senate Housing Investigation Commission in the Union.

Richard Butcher, G, Plymouth, Wis., a resident of South Park, complained that South Park apartments are not provided with hot water during the months when the heating system is not in use.

BUTCHER SAID South Park residents pay the same rent as other barracks dwellers but are not given hot water during the warmer months, from mid-May to mid-September, when the central heating system is not in use.

Butcher claimed that when he notified the University about his lack of hot water nothing was done.

Another problem of South Park residents is the lack of snow removal, according to Butcher.

He said that to enter the parking lot, which is set off from the street, a car must back into the opposite driveway and get a running start to get up the steep driveway when it is covered with snow.

ALSO DISCUSSED was the $50 fine and repair bill levied on residents of Quonset Park if their plumbing freezes during the winter. According to a resident of Quonset Park, water pipes run out of the building above the ground and are vulnerable to freezing if not in constant use.

Jared Stein, G, West Des Moines, claims mice are a problem. He bought a cat to even his odds, he said, but apparently missed the fine print in his lease which stipulates "no pets of any kind."

STEIN CONTENDS the cat is clean, harmless and only a "house pet."

Stein said he thinks the "no pet" clause has no valid reason for its being. He said that stipulations should be made for small house pets which cause no trouble.

Stein's complaint will be referred to proper authorities, according to John Barrett, A2, Solon, a

In Student Senate—

Questionnaires Stir Dispute

By DAVE CRIPPEN
Staff Writer

A dispute flared in Student Senate Monday when George Mayer announced he had sent questionnaires to state legislators inquiring about their position on the capital punishment issue.

Mayer, A2, Keota, Student Senate public relations and publicity chairman, told the Senate he had sent out the questionnaires Monday afternoon because he thought he had been given authorization to do so.

THE QUESTIONNAIRES reportedly were originated by a student in the Sociology Department in connection with a study he was conducting.

Dave Goetz, A4, Iowa City, chairman of the External Affairs Committee asked for an explanation of Mayer's action. At a previous Senate meeting, the proposal that Student Senate undertake the study was referred to External Affairs for further consideration, according to Goetz.

MAYER STATED, "Since the Senate did not raise an objection at the last meeting, I assumed it was in favor of undertaking sending the questionnaires."

A Senate member pointed out that in the past approval of such proposals had been obtained through a vote.

As the debate became heated, Mayer said, "My integrity has been challenged. I wish Mr. Goetz would have the courage to censure me."

SENATE PRESIDENT Wally Snyder, LI, Belle Plaine, said, "No one here is questioning your integrity." Snyder then proposed action be taken by the Senate to send the legislators notification withdrawing Senate support of the questionnaires.

Mayer replied, "As publicity and public relations chairman, I think such action would be in the poorest possible taste."

He added, "I wasn't trying to go behind the Senate's back. I thought I had full authorization."

Snyder had said earlier that he believed Mayer's action was merely a mistake.

A MOVE to censure Mayer was proposed, but later withdrawn when Goetz and other members objected to such action.

In other action, the Senate voted that a resolution on a directive to Pep Club Council be referred to the University Affairs committee for further consideration.

Previously, the Senate had voted down a resolution that the cheering block be discontinued. The resolution was referred to the University Affairs Committee at the last meeting.

THE COMMITTEE returned its considerations in the form of the resolution supporting Pep Club and offering some changes.

The committee recommended that the cheering block be maintained, but that distribution of block tickets be made on the basis of the student identification numbers.

The committee also recommended that no more than two tickets be given to a student.

DISCUSSION FOLLOWED over the lack of enthusiasm on the part of students sitting in the cheering section. An amendment was offered that those students holding block tickets be required to attend one practice cheering session each week before a game. Failure to attend would mean loss of membership in the cheering section.

The resolution was then sent back to the University Affairs Committee for consideration of the amendment.

THE SENATE also received resolutions concerning changes in women's hours and a Student Senate flight to Europe.

The flight resolution made recommendations to the Committee on Student Life regarding how the trip might be planned and financed.

No action will be taken on these resolutions until the next meeting.

Precedent Ignored in Rights Case

Law Prof Comments

Court precedent was disregarded when charges were dropped recently against 21 men arrested in connection with the slaying of three civil rights workers near Philadelphia, Miss., according to Samuel M. Fahr, professor of law.

Fahr made the remark during an interview this week.

THE COURT PRECEDENT to which he referred was the one establishing "hearsay" evidence as permissible as the foundation for a federal grand jury indictment.

He said this precedent, set by the U.S. Supreme Court in a ruling in the case of gambler Frank Costello, was disregarded during the preliminary hearing last month of the 21 men accused in the slaying of the civil rights workers.

THE 21 MEN were arrested by FBI agents and charged with conspiring to violate the civil rights of the three rights workers. This is a violation of a federal civil rights law enacted shortly after the Civil War, according to Fahr.

After their arrest, the men were brought, in accord with the law, before a magistrate. The magistrate was U.S. Commissioner Esther Carter, who let the men go on bond.

THE MEN WERE then brought back before the commissioner for a preliminary hearing. The purpose of the preliminary hearing was to determine if there was sufficient evidence to turn the men over to a federal grand jury.

The FBI gave Commissioner Carter a confession that one of the men had made as evidence. Commissioner Carter ruled the confession was "hearsay" and inadmissible. As a result the Justice Department dropped the charges against the men and they were set free.

FAHR SAID Commissioner Carter was wrong in ruling that "hearsay" was inadmissible in the case. He said court precedent established in the Costello case "held that it was admissible for a federal grand jury to use hearsay evidence as the foundation for an indictment."

If this applies to a grand jury trial then it follows that it applies to a preliminary hearing, he said.

He added that the FBI had informed Commissioner Carter of this precedent but that she had refused to follow it.

ALL FEDERAL prosecutions must be initiated by a federal grand jury indictment, according to Article Three of the U.S. Constitution. Without such an indictment, the 21 men are free of any federal criminal charge, Fahr said.

Whether a federal grand jury will now be called into session to consider indicting the men depends on U.S. District Judge Harold Cox of Jackson, Miss., he said.

"If Cox refuses to call a federal grand jury into session, nothing can be done," he said.

If he does call a grand jury into session there is a possibility that the grand jury would not indict the men regardless of the evidence, he said.

Is Weight The Answer?

Roads Blocked In Mountains; Schools Close

Mercury Plummets As Winds Move Into Most of Western U.S.

A powerful, prewinter storm rumbled through the Northwest Tuesday, creating blizzard conditions that plummeted temperatures below zero, closed schools and clogged traffic.

Strong winds buffeted sections of the Northwest and West, scooping snow into deep drifts and damaging buildings.

SEVERE BLIZZARD conditions prevailed in Montana. The U.S. Weather Bureau said the combination of wind, snow and cold is almost unprecedented for the autumn season.

Cut Bank, Mont., was hit by 35-mile-an-hour winds as the temperature plunged to 27 below zero. The community of Summit was 38 below zero at noon, but warmed to -34 by darkness.

Heavy snow warnings were issued for Montana, Wyoming, North and South Dakota. Cold wave warnings were in effect for Montana, Idaho, parts of Wyoming, Minnesota, Washington, eastern Oregon, North and South Dakota, northwestern Wisconsin and most of Iowa.

Schools in Montana and Wyoming were closed because the blizzard made vehicular travel hazardous. Winds of more than 80 m.p.h. toppled a brick wall in a residential section of Cheyenne, Wyo.

FREAKISH WINDS — at one point reaching gusts of 95 m.p.h. — raked much of eastern and northeastern Colorado. U.S. 87 north of Denver was closed for a period after a series of auto collisions occurred in a dense blanket of dust lifted by the winds.

Powerful winds and bitter cold accompanied a one-to-three-inch snowfall in Washington state. Schools and highways were closed.

IN SEATTLE, wind gusts measured at 30 to 50 m.p.h. blew down a section of a brick and glass wall 140 feet long and 35 feet high.

In Wyoming, the snowfall ranged from 6 to 12 inches, but more snow was falling and piling up into huge drifts under 40 and 50 m.p.h. winds.

At West Yellowstone, Mont., near the Continental Divide, 24 inches of snow lay on the ground.

BLIZZARD conditions were forecast for North Dakota and parts of South Dakota. Four inches or more of snow was forecast for Minnesota, with considerable blowing and drifting.

Snow also fell over parts of Oregon, New York, Maryland and Michigan. About one-half inch of snow lay on the ground at Garrett, Md. At Frostburg, Md., the morning's low was 11 degrees.

In the southern half of the country, the weather was sunny but somewhat chilly, except for readings in the 70s in deep southern Florida. Rain fell over scattered southern sections of the country.

Protest Fast By Viet Nuns Planned Today

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Buddhist monks and nuns in Saigon will hold a protest fast Wednesday to protest "lies and distortions" by Premier Tran Van Huong's government, a spokesman announced Tuesday.

Thich Ho Giac, ranking spokesman for the Buddhist hierarchy, told the monks and nuns the food saved by the 24-hour fast would be contributed to flood victims in central Viet Nam.

THE MAIN reason for the fast was the failure of Huong to take notice of a fast by three Buddhist leaders called to bring about the downfall of his government, Giac said. The fast ended Monday.

Giac said that during the fast Buddhists will pray that Huong and his government would "mend their ways."

GIAC DENIED that Communists or political parties have had a role in directing Buddhist activities.

Earlier in the day, U.S. Embassy officials conferred for 3½ hours with Buddhist leaders Thich Tam Chau and Thich Tri Quang to head off an impending crisis, but with no apparent settlement. Neither side would comment after the conference, but the Buddhists evidently intended to pursue a hard anti-government line.

BUDDHIST sources threatened demonstrations. Buddhist propaganda condemned British Ambassador Gordon Etherington-Smith and demanded his recall.

Faculty Groups Restructured

A review of University faculty committees by President Howard R. Bowen has resulted in the elimination of some, combination of others and addition of new faculty committees, according to the Faculty Council. The committee restructuring has been undertaken to give the faculty increased participation in University policy-making.

The new committee set-up is composed of 18 general committee groups and five boards and councils.

Members are appointed to the committees and councils by the president upon nomination by the Committee on Committees of the Faculty Council.

In addition to the 18 general committees, special committees may be convened by the president to deal with questions of a more restricted and specific nature.

Terms for the approximately 160 committee members will be limited and staggered. If possible, the president stipulated, terms should be limited to two years, but in the case of longer terms, a committee member will be restricted to two consecutive terms.

The committees will file annual reports with the president and the Faculty Council on June 30 of each year.

Burger, Maas at Odds

Councilmen Swap Blasts

Two Iowa City councilmen exchanged sharp words at Tuesday night's regular council meeting about an informal council session held Saturday morning.

Councilman William Maas accused Mayor Richard Burger of holding a "closed" meeting Saturday.

Maas said, "It's time all our meetings should be open; the public is entitled to know what happens in all council meetings."

Burger replied that he had "never condoned closed meetings." He added that he resented Maas' accusation that he "had ever favored closed meetings."

Maas also criticized Burger for not offering to resign at the Saturday meeting. The councilman asked Burger why he felt "no one else is qualified for the position of mayor."

Burger said he did not say that other members of the council lacked qualifications. He added, "There will be a discussion on this matter within a few weeks."

Under the city manager form of government the mayor of a city holds his position until he formally submits a resignation. He is elected by members of the city council.

The Council was in agreement on other matters, though. It accepted a report from the Iowa City Board of Realtors aimed at "building a better Iowa City."

The 40-page report recommended that the city revise the height regulations of its building code to permit construction of highrise apartments, proceed with plans for relocation of the courthouse near the Civic Center, and work toward beautification of the central business district.

In other action, the council accepted the resignation of Police Judge Robert W. Jansen who had served in that position since January.

Roger H. Ivie, 1424 Laurel, will replace Jansen as police judge, Jan. 21, 1965.

Grad Student Found Dead Tuesday in His Apartment

Funeral arrangements were pending Tuesday evening for a University graduate student from India who was found hanging in his Burlington Street apartment shortly after noon Tuesday.

W. Wallace Maner, foreign student adviser, said the student was Y. Nanjunda Swamy, G, Bangalore, India. A telegram notifying next-of-kin has been sent to India, Maner said.

The body was found by his roommate, V. Ratnakumar, a graduate student in botany, a friend reported.

Ratnakumar reportedly left the apartment at 117 Burlington early this morning to attend classes and found the body when he returned around noon.

Iowa City police were called and moved the body to Jones Memorial Chapel, where arrangements are pending.

County Medical Examiner, George Callahan was handling the investigation, police said.

Y. Nanjunda Swamy, who was 29 years old, came to Iowa City last September. He was a doctoral candidate in the Department of Mechanics and Hydraulics. According to his friends, he had been noticeably depressed in recent weeks. He was not married and is survived by his father, a retired school teacher in India.

Swamy was here on an assistantship and had received an M.A. in science from the Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore, India.

A small dose of history

A LITTLE HISTORY - un-American style - is in order to put the movement to abolish the House Un-American Activities Committee in perspective. In the beginning, which was 1938, HUAC was formed as a temporary committee of Congress, under the direction of Rep. Martin Dies of Texas, who was an opponent of the New Deal. During the period of Dies leadership, President Roosevelt described HUAC as "sordid, flagrantly un-American."

Abolish HUAC

Dear Congressman: I believe that the House Un-American Activities Committee serves no beneficial purpose to our Congress of country. Because the Committee has not produced major legislation, which is the stated purpose of any Congressional investigation, and also believing that HUAC acts as an intimidating force in America, I urge you to vote to abolish this committee.

Immigration gates dam population flow

By JOHN F. KENNEDY

Immigration, or rather the British policy of clamping down on immigration, was one of the factors behind the colonial desire for independence. Restrictive immigration policies constituted one of the charges against King George III expressed in the Declaration of Independence. In the Constitutional Convention James Madison noted, "That part of America which has encouraged them (the immigrants) has advanced most rapidly in population, agriculture and the arts."

So, too, President Washington in his Thanksgiving Day Proclamation of 1795 asked all Americans "humbly and fervently to beseech the kind Author of these blessings . . . to render this country more and more a safe and propitious asylum for the unfortunate of other countries."

The fear of embolism in the wars between Britain and France helped the cause of the restrictionists. In 1798 a Federalist Congress passed the Alien Act, authorizing the expulsion of foreigners "dangerous to the peace and safety of the United States" and extending the residence requirement for naturalization from five to fourteen years. But the Alien Act, and its accompanying Sedition Act, went too far.

Both acts were allowed to expire in 1801; the naturalization period went back to five years; and President Thomas Jefferson expressed the predominant American sentiment when he asked: "Shall we refuse to the unhappy fugitives from distress that hospitality which the savages of the wilderness extended to our fathers arriving in this land? Shall oppressed humanity find no asylum on this globe?"

The increase in the rate of immigration in the 1820's and 1830's set off new waves of hostility, directed especially against the Irish, who, as Catholics, were regarded as members of an alien conspiracy. Some alarmed Americans believed that every Catholic was a foreign agent dispatched by the Pope to subvert American society.

A moment attracted considerable support. They elected six state governors and seventy-five Congressmen in 1854 and got almost 25 per cent of the vote for their candidate, former President Millard Fillmore, in 1856. But soon they, too, were split by the slavery issue, and the party vanished as quickly as it had appeared.

The seeds of bigotry, fear and hatred bore fruit again in the years after the Civil War. The Ku Klux Klan launched a campaign of terrorism against the Negroes, and in the 1890's the American Protective Association tried to revive popular feeling against Catholics. In the meantime, agitators on the West Coast denounced the "yellow peril," and Congress in 1882 passed the first of a number of laws banning Oriental immigration.

Except for Oriental exclusion, Congress ignored the nativist clamor, and most Americans regarded nativism with abhorrence. When a Protestant clergyman supporting James G. Blaine in 1884 denounced the Democrats as the party of "rum, Romanism and rebellion," he provoked a reaction which may well have lost the election for Blaine, who himself had a mother of Irish Catholic descent.

The First World War led to another outbreak of nativism. A new group, adopting the program of the Know-Nothings and the name of the Ku Klux Klan, came into being, denouncing everything its members disliked - Negroes, Catholics, Jews, evolutionists, religious liberals, internationalists, pacifists - in the name of true Americanism and of "Nordic superiority."

For a season, the new KKK prospered, claiming five million members, mostly in the South but also in Indiana, Ohio, Kansas and Maine. It died when a genuine crisis, the depression, turned people's attention away from the phony issue of racism to the real problems facing the nation. In later years, the Jew succeeded the Catholic as the chief target of nativist hysteria, and some Catholics, themselves so recently persecuted, now regrettably joined the attack on the newer minorities.

Under a special treaty arrangement with China, nationals of that country had been guaranteed free and unrestricted immigration to the United States. At the peak of that immigration, in 1882, there were only forty thousand arrivals; even in 1890 there were but 107,000 Chinese in America. Most of them lived in California.

In the early 1870's anti-Chinese agitation in California became organized and focused under the leadership of Denis Kearney, who was, ironically, an immigrant from Ireland. A campaign of organized violence against Chinese communities took form, and the hysteria led to political pressure too violent to be resisted.

President Hayes vetoed an act of Congress restricting Chinese immigration, but he did force renegotiation of the Burlingame Treaty under which the government of China agreed to restrict immigration voluntarily. Not satisfied with this remedy Congress then enacted and the President signed into law a series of measures shutting off almost completely immigration from China.

Shameful as these episodes were, they were, however, only an exception to the prevailing policy. A more serious warning of things to come was sounded in 1897 when Congress, for the first time, provided a literacy test for adult immigrants. President Cleveland vetoed the measure. Presidents Taft and Wilson vetoed similar bills on the ground that literacy was a test only of educational opportunity and not of a person's ability or his potential worth as a citizen. In 1917, with tension high because of the war, Congress overrode President Wilson's veto and the literacy test became law.

Anti-immigration sentiment was heightened by World War I, and the disillusionment and strong wave of isolationism that marked its aftermath. It was in this climate, in 1921, that Congress passed and the President signed the first major law in our country's history severely limiting new immigration by establishing an emergency quota system. An era in American history had ended; we were committed to a radically new policy toward the peopling of the nation.

"Immigrants at Ellis Island answered questions, submitted to physical and psychological examinations, and then (if admitted) were ready to be transported to their destinations. Some unfortunate ones were rejected. Steamship companies, by an act of Congress in 1891, were compelled to carry back to Europe all passengers rejected by United States inspectors. Above, women immigrants at a medical examination on Ellis Island around 1910." -From "A Nation of Immigrants," by John F. Kennedy. (Photo from Brown Bros. New York) establish a system of annual quotas to govern immigration from each country. Under this system 156,987 quota immigrants are permitted to enter the United States each year. The quotas from each country are based upon the national origins of the population of the United States in 1920.

Because of the composition of our population in 1920, the system is heavily weighted in favor of immigration from Northern Europe and severely limits immigration from Southern and Eastern Europe and from other parts of the world.

In 1953 the immigration laws were amended to give the Attorney General added discretionary powers to adjust the status of people admitted as aliens. A 1959 amendment further facilitated the reunion of families, and a 1960 amendment provided for United States participation in the resettlement of certain refugees. In 1961 a special status was granted orphans coming to this country for adoption by American parents.

THE ACT of 1921 was an early version of the so-called "national-origins" system. Its provisions limited immigration of numbers of each nationality to a certain percentage of the number of foreign-born individuals of that nationality resident in the United States according to the 1910 census. Nationality meant country of birth. The total number of immigrants permitted to enter under this system each year was 357,000.

ONE WRITER has listed six motives behind the Act of 1924. They were: (1) postwar isolationism; (2) the doctrine of the alleged superiority of Anglo-Saxon and Teutonic "races"; (3) the fear that "pauper labor" would lower wage levels; (4) the belief that people of certain nations were less law-abiding than others; (5) the fear of foreign ideologies and subversion; (6) the fear that entrance of too many people with different customs and habits would undermine our national and social unity and order.

Mrs. Bowen Expects Quiet Yule Season

By DENISE O'BRIEN
Staff Writer

President and Mrs. Bowen plan a merry but "very quiet, restful time" over the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Bowen said she and the president plan to relax, read and make plans for the next semester. "I'm not completely unpacked yet, either," the new U of I president's wife added.

The Bowen's sons, Jeff and Tom, will not be home for the holidays this year. Mrs. Bowen said the boys usually spend the vacation skiing and haven't been home for Christmas for several years.

The traditions of Christmas have been changed by the separation of her family in recent years, she noted. "I think you have to change the traditions of Christmas with the growth of your family."

Yuletide traditions at the Bowen home include a Christmas tree, a big wreath on the front door and homemade cookies and sweets. "But I don't know if I'll have time to make the cookies and sweets this year," Mrs. Bowen said.

While their children were growing up and President Bowen headed Grinnell College, the Bowens oriented certain traditions toward the boys.

One was an evening where children were invited to bring their musical instruments to the Bowen home and play. After playing through several works, the children sang carols and feasted on Christmas cookies.

Another tradition took place on Christmas morning when the whole family went ice skating while the turkey roasted.

Last year the Bowens spent Christmas in Nairobi, Kenya. "We spent the afternoon at the Nairobi Game Park which is bush country where animals are free to roam," Mrs. Bowen said.

"In the English hotel where we stayed, we were given balloons at Christmas dinner and we did have turkey," Mrs. Bowen recalled. "But it was warm weather and it didn't feel like Christmas to us. It was hard for us to think of the holiday in terms of white hats and summer clothing."

The Bowens were in Kenya during a four-month "round-the-world" trip. The purpose of the trip was to view universities and colleges in Europe, Ethiopia, Kenya, Thailand and Japan.

Mrs. Bowen said that in academic communities "you've had your Christmas by the time the students leave — with all the parties, caroling and concerts that go on."

The faculty tends "to take a big breath" after the students leave, Mrs. Bowen added, "But there is a lot of entertaining that continues even then."

Mrs. Bowen is "thoroughly enjoying" the music events this season on campus. She recalled that there was no Christmas music at all in Nairobi, but that it was a little pleasant to get away from the commercialization of the holiday that goes on in this country.

A group of students recently caroled at the presidential mansion. "We felt quite at home to have a group come and sing to us," she said.

Ted Going Home After 6 Months

BOSTON (AP) — It's out of the hospital and home with his family for Christmas for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.), who is planning to walk outdoors Wednesday for the first time in six months.

Kennedy is leaving the New England Baptist Hospital to fly Wednesday to Palm Beach, Fla., with his wife, Joan, and their two children, Kara, 5, and Edward Jr., 3.

He is to leave the hospital exactly 180 days after the plane crash in Southampton last June 19 in which his back was broken. So were three ribs and he suffered cuts, bruises and internal injuries.

Doctors say he is completely healed now, though he will have to wear a back brace for a while.

Kennedy has been practicing for that trip the last couple of weeks after he was moved out of an orthopedic treatment bed in which he had been strapped since the crash.

There were a few tentative steps in his hospital room, short walks on an adjoining porch, then a trip down the corridor a week ago to greet, and surprise, his father, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy when he emerged from an elevator for a visit.

Funeral Services Held for Professor

Funeral services were held at 1:30 p.m. (EST) Tuesday in Windsor, Ontario, for I. H. Zuberi, U of I professor of English, who died Monday morning in Windsor where he was a visiting professor at the University of Windsor.

Professor Zuberi, 54, was on leave from the U of I for two years. He came to the University in 1959 as a visiting professor and was named professor in 1962.

After services in Windsor, the body was flown to Karachi, capital city of Pakistan, for final rites.

Leaders See More Protests

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Widespread compliance with the public accommodations section of the Civil Rights Act has gratified Southern Negro leaders, many of whom expect to concentrate on improving educational and employment opportunities for their people in the new year.

But hard core pockets of resistance still remain, and it is unlikely that 1965 will see an end to demonstrations aimed at forcing restaurants and motels to integrate.

Most Southern cities — especially the larger ones — have gradually desegregated, with little unrest. Many formed biracial committees to help smooth the path to integration.

In some rural areas, where resistance is the strongest, there are no such committees.

In Selma, Ala., which has no community relations committee, all restaurants remain segregated.

In much of the rural South there has been no testing of the act. Paul Anthony of the Atlanta-based Southern Regional Council said businesses in most rural communities probably would comply if the act were tested.

John Lewis, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, said he was gratified by the degree of compliance in rural Georgia.

His organization was responsible for countless demonstrations throughout the South.

Surprise Move by McNamara—

Congress Could Stop Merger Of Reserves, National Guard

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, if it wants to, probably can block the Pentagon's plan to merge the Army Reserve into the National Guard, a defense official conceded Tuesday. He called it a knotty legal question.

"If they directed us to they probably could," the official said in reply to newsmen's questions.

LOUD PROTESTS from Congress, especially members of the Armed Services Committees, have

History Told Of Reserves, Guards' Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army Reserve and the Army National Guard have had basically the same mission in the past but now will have distinctly different roles in the U.S. defense setup.

When Secretary of Defense McNamara's new plan goes into effect, the National Guard — boosted to 550,000 men — will be organized in high priority units expected to be ready for deployment within eight weeks of mobilization.

THE RESERVE will be nothing but a big pool of perhaps 600,000 officers and enlisted men. Some will be ticketed to re-enforce specific guard units and some available to form entirely new outfits in event of a general mobilization.

The National Guard's roots go back much further than the Army Reserve — all the way back to the colonial militia. The Army Reserve came into being in 1912.

BOTH THE GUARD and Reserve now have the assignment of backing up the regular Army. The concept of both was built around the idea of general mobilizations as in World War I and World War II.

But in the strategy of today's cold war, defense officials believe the possibility of a general war requiring all out mobilization is remote.

What they do expect is a partial mobilization under crisis conditions of the sort that developed in the Berlin crisis of 1961. Then a total of 113,000 from both the Guard and the Reserve were mustered to demonstrate to the Russians that the United States intended to stand fast in West Berlin.

THE EMPHASIS today is on speed of readiness. The structure containing division organizations which would not be ready in less than a year after call up is now considered out of tune with the times.

U High Debaters Win First Place In Brindley Meet

University High School's Forensic Squad won first place in three rounds of discussion, according to over-all team averages compiled last weekend at the Brindley Discussion and Debate Conference in Cedar Falls.

Pat Dooling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Laurance Dooling, 1603 Glendale Rd., and Jim Walters, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Walters, Route 3, took second and third places, respectively, as high score discussants out of over 150 participants from 16 Iowa high schools.

Stephen Barker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barker, 354 Ferson Ave., placed fourth in the extemporaneous speaking event.

University High debaters also competed against debaters from 35 other schools in the Dec. 5 Iowa Forensic League Conference here, and were among the four teams to enter the semifinals.

been aimed mainly at Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announcing his plan without first asking formal permission of Congress. Objection to the details may come as the details become known.

So far the questions about details remain mostly unanswered, because the Pentagon is working out many of these details with Guard and Reserve officials and governors who control Guard units.

THOSE IN THE POOL would not drill or draw pay except possibly for summer training.

Among the unanswered questions was what will happen to the college ROTC training program which over the years has produced officers for the reserves.

President's Union Talk Set Jan. 14

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will deliver his State of the Union message to Congress and the nation on the night of Jan. 4. It is the second time in history, the White House said, that such a night address has been scheduled.

The address will be to a joint session of the Senate and House at 9 p.m. Presidential press secretary

George E. Reedy said that President Franklin D. Roosevelt also delivered a State of the Union message at 9 p.m., on Jan. 3, 1936.

Johnson's address will be available to radio and television networks for nationwide broadcast.

The date is the day the new Congress convenes. Roosevelt's address was also on the opening day of a congressional session.

Ordinarily, presidents have delivered this major address, which looks back over the past and into prospects for the year ahead, a day or two after Congress convenes, around noon.

Asked the reason for the night scheduling, Reedy said he thought it was the same that Roosevelt had: "The President considers this not only a report to the Congress but a report to the American people."

He said Johnson decided on the day and hour after consultation with Senate and House leaders, but that the idea for the change was Johnson's.

Holiday time is just around the corner! Stores are buzzing, Santa's workshops are open once again, and decorations which went up promptly after Thanksgiving (some at Halloween) are setting the mood of the season. This time of year in southern California is indeed different from the traditional season Iowans know. I often think of the expressive lyrics, "I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas. . . . Yet, it is pleasant here. As I drove through Beverly Hills yesterday I was enthralled by the lavish decorations on the streets and by the gorgeously decorated store windows. Regardless of the warm temperature I was put in the mood. . . . At this time of year a Californian's thoughts also turn to skiing and to resort weekends. It is not uncommon to see cars loaded with ski gear and within, weathered, expectant faces of people eager to return to the mountain slopes and snow not too far away. Stores not only show winter apparel and ski wear, but light and bright fashions for fun in the sun — say in Palm Springs, a winter haven for so many people.

W

'Tis the season to be jolly and to be a giving spirit as well! Let Willard's be your guide and you'll be looking radiant as you go places — perhaps heading straight for the mistletoe. And, your shopping problems are over as you will surely find that special something for the ladies on your list — and for yourself. . . .

W

The perfect answer is Jantzen's dazzling holiday collection which has just arrived. Truly fantastic in every way are these separates to mix or to match! . . . In the mohair group you will love "Frothy," the little stripe blouson pullover with boat neck. Color it "fun" with its bold multicolor stripes. "Spun Sugar" is so descriptive of another multicolor blouson pullover with elbow length sleeves. The colors will make you melt; so feminine, so very pretty! . . . The "Cozy" cardigan may be just the perfect gift with rack stitch border down the front and brass buttons. . . . "Coco" is an unusual number. A jacquard paisley border trims this three-quarter sleeve sweater-jacket. . . . Ideal for that coed daughter on your list would be Jantzen's "South Bound" — a long sleeve, six-button, double breasted blazer. . . . "Poetess" and its coordinating skirt make a stunning outfit. The V-neck cardigan features a poet collar and is trimmed with a contrasting border. Color this "beautiful"!

There are many more exciting sweater styles from Jantzen, so why not stop at Willard's and see for yourself. You will surely be captivated by the marvelous colors. And all of these tops will team up with Jantzen's flannel or "sweater" skirts and pants to keep you chic and cozy as well.

Now, Milady, it may well be that the knight in your life does not ordinarily read this section of the newspaper, and therefore may not derive benefit from the above. If that is the case, and knowing that you want his shopping experience to be a pleasant one, I suggest that you place your order with him now and direct him to

Boston's Holovak Is Top A.F.L. Coach

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Holovak, whose blitzing Boston Patriots will play the Buffalo Bills Sunday for the Eastern Division title, has been named Coach of the Year in the American Football League by an Associated Press panel.

Holovak, 44-year-old former star fullback and later head coach at Boston College, was named the winner over Lou Saban of Buffalo, his Sunday rival, in the voting of a 24-man committee, three from each AFL city. Holovak had 13 votes, Saban 11. They were the only coaches who drew any support.

By a strange quirk of fate, the man who won the coaching honors formerly served under the man he defeated. Holovak was director of player personnel for the Pats and offensive backfield coach under Saban at Boston in 1960 and part of the 1961 season. Holovak succeeded Saban after the fifth game of the 1961 season. Saban moved to Buffalo where he became head coach in 1962.

ROBERT ALLEN
Iowa Swimming Coach

Nine Veterans Stock Iowa's 1964-65 Varsity Swim Team

Iowa swimmers are intent upon stroking their way to a winning season next year, with the aid of nine lettermen, two of whom broke three all-time Hawkeye records last season.

THE BIG ONES include the "B" boys — Hal Bigger, Ralph Bextine and Ron Berry, plus a diver with seven straight dual meet wins, Michel LeVois. Several sophomores also may help Coach Bob Allen in the 10-meet schedule.

Bigger last year broke Iowa records in the 200 and 500-yard freestyle races, Berry set the standard in the 200-yard breaststroke and Bextine was a good sprint and breaststroke performer.

However, Coach Allen is worried about a lack of depth and the absence of a really "standout" swimmer. Iowa has had no Big Ten individual champion since 1958.

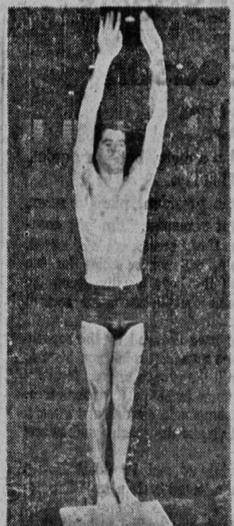

Other lettermen include Jim Cook, backstroke;

Gary Grey, individual medley; Bill Kanter, diving; Mike Petersen, 200 and 500-yard free style and Bill Sjostrom, sprinter.

BEST of the sophomores are Paul Monohon, butterfly; Tom Throckmorton and Lynn Wildblood, backstroke. Minor lettermen are Jon Miller, diving; Tom Nestrud, 200 and 500; Tony Riker, breaststroke; and Joe Roseman, sprints.

The varsity defeated the freshman team, 62-42, last week and this victory encouraged Coach Allen for the freshmen include six former state high school champions.

The schedule includes: Jan. 9, Nebraska and Kansas at Lincoln; Jan. 16, Michigan State and Minnesota; Feb. 6, Illinois; Feb. 13, at Northwestern; Feb. 17, at Wisconsin; Feb. 27, Purdue; Mar. 4-6, Big Ten at Madison; and Mar. 25-27, National Collegiate Championships at Ames.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — St. Joseph's held St. John's to a 16-point second half and jolted the seventh-ranked Redmen 71-56 at St. Joseph's Field House Tuesday night.

The lead changed hands 11 times in the first half before St. John's Ken McIntyre made two foul shots to give the Redmen a 40-39 edge at halftime. McIntyre was the game's high scorer with 19 points. St. Joseph's harrassing 3-2 zone defense smothered the Redmen in the second half.

Major League Telecast Rights Bought by ABC for $12.2 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball sold its first regular-season television package for $12.2 million Tuesday, giving the American Broadcasting Co. the right to telecast on a national scale 25 Saturday and two holiday games in each of the 1965 and 1966 seasons.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT was made jointly by owner John Fetzer of the Detroit Tigers and Boone Arledge, vice president and executive producer of ABC sports, at a press conference in baseball Commissioner Ford Frick's office.

The Saturday Spectacular, as it is called, is a joint project in which the revenue will be equally divided among 18 of the 20 big league clubs. Only the New York Yankees and Philadelphia Phillies are not participants.

Fetzer said he expected the Phillies to become part of the package before the start of the 1965 season and hoped the Yankees would join in 1966.

THE YANKEE television contract with the Columbia Broadcasting System extends through the 1965 season. The Phillies have a local sponsorship problem to iron out. The Yankee-CBS deal has been in existence about 10 years.

Under the terms of the two-year contract, the participating clubs

Ryan, Jurgensen Named To Head Eastern Stars

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Quarterbacks Frank Ryan of the Cleveland Browns and Sonny Jurgensen of the Washington Redskins will direct the Eastern Conference team in the annual National Football League Pro Bowl game here Jan. 10.

The squad was announced Tuesday for a game that has become a major postseason attraction in the NFL.

The squad was selected by the rival coaches in the division. None is permitted to name a player from his own team.

Ryan, fullback Jim Brown and five other Cleveland Browns were named on the 34-man squad. The St. Louis Cardinals, runner-up to Cleveland for the conference title, placed five players on the team.

million the first year and $6.5 million the second. This is equivalent to $300,000 for each club the first year and $325,000 the second.

The new contract also means that television viewers around the country will not be seeing baseball on an NBC outlet this season. The only games that will be televised nationally are the Saturday Spectacular on ABC and the Yankees through the CBS outlet on Saturdays and Sundays when they are playing at home.

"Baseball is very happy to have this new association with ABC," said Fetzer, head of the four-man television committee.

WHILE THE $12 million package is nowhere near the $28 million package engineered by the National Football League over a similar period, Commissioner Frick insisted that the baseball contract was more profitable than football's.

"You must remember," said Frick, "that the baseball clubs still maintain their individual rights to negotiate for the telecasts of their own games on a local scale."

"If you want to make a comparison," the commissioner added, "you have to take the total telecasts into account. The revenue from all baseball telecasts, including the World Series and All-Star games, prior to this contract, was roughly around $30 million. I would say this far exceeds the amount paid to football."

ONE OF THE main features of the Saturday Spectacular is that there will be no blackout anywhere except in the cities of the participating teams.

Under the terms, two games will be televised each Saturday afternoon, one in the Eastern part of the country, the other in the West. There will be a third standby game in the event of a postponement.

none? 1 inch? 1½ inches?

How much foam should there be?

You'll hear some people say there shouldn't be any head at all. They say phoony on the foam... where's the beer! They shouldn't. Not when it's Budweiser, anyway.

Budweiser is brewed so that it will kick up a healthy head of foam. We go to a lot of trouble to let Budweiser create its own tiny bubbles, rather than pumping them in. Natural carbonation and our exclusive Beechwood Ageing are two things we just won't get modern about. It takes a lot longer this way, and costs more money. (In fact, it gives our treasurer fits.) But the results—a good head of foam, real beer taste, smoothness and drinkability—are more than worth it.

So pour your Budweiser with about an inch-and-a-half collar of foam. Two inches if it's a tall glass. Watch those bubbles gather... then taste. (That's what we tell our treasurer to do when he starts fussing about the high cost of bubbles and beechwood. And he just smiles and swallows his arguments.)

Iowa senior, Hal Bigger, of Reseda, Calif., is seen making a turn in the Field House pool where, last season, he broke two school records in the 200-yard freestyle (1:53.4) and the 500-yard freestyle (5:20.7). Ron Berry, a junior from Moline, Ill., also broke a school record in the 200-yard breaststroke, swimming it in 2:22.4.

Generals Talk Over 1944 War Message

NEUBURG, Germany (AP) — The message was typed neatly on a big white cardboard almost a foot square.

"Nuts," was all it said, and it became a legend of World War II. The American general who sent it and the German general who received it talked Tuesday about their exchange 20 years ago during the Battle of the Bulge.

"FRANKLY, I didn't know what nuts meant," said former German Gen. Heinrich von Luetwitz, who now lives in a comfortable, two-family house in Neuburg.

"An interpreter explained the meaning of the word to me and asked if I was insulted. I wasn't. I recall having had the deepest respect for the American who sent it."

BUT retired Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, who now lives in Washington, remembered that he felt insulted when he sent the message in reply to a German demand that he surrender the Belgian town of Bastogne.

"It was the last sentence, that lousy last sentence that did it," McAuliffe recalled of the German ultimatum delivered to him in Bastogne on Dec. 22, 1944.

McAULIFFE said he sent his "Nuts" reply on an impulse but had it carefully typed up to make it look formal.

McAuliffe then had Col. Joseph H. Harper, now a retired major general in Washington, deliver his reply to a group of blindfolded German soldiers who had come through the lines under a flag of truce.

HARPER TOLD the German leader what the message said, and the German said he knew the word but didn't understand it in that context.

"It means the same as 'go to hell.' Do you understand what that means?"

LUETTWITZ, who was commander of the 57th German Armored Corps, said he had been ordered to take Bastogne as part of the last-gasp German offensive in the Ardennes Forest.

Steel, Union Talks Begin

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Labor contract negotiations vital to the nation's economy opened Tuesday between the United Steelworkers Union and the basic steel industry.

Eleven meetings started the negotiations, with teams from the United Steelworkers, AFL-CIO, huddling with representatives of 11 major steel producers: U.S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem, Jones & Laughlin, Republic, Inland, Pittsburgh, Great Lakes, Colorado Fuel & Iron, Wheeling Armco, and Youngstown Sheet & Tube.

Talks recessed after meetings lasting about two hours and were scheduled to resume this morning. Both sides agreed to start bargaining in advance of Jan. 1 when the USW formally plans to reopen the contract.

The significance of the Jan. 1 date is that some USW 450,000 members in basic steel would be free to strike 120 days later — May 1 — if no agreement is reached.

President Johnson has expressed the hope that a settlement can be achieved which would not prompt the industry to hike prices and set off possible price spirals in other industries.

On the eve of negotiations, the industry issued a statement asking the union to reconsider its plans to reopen the contract "and not put the country to the disturbance of a potential crisis date. The union must know that reopening notices will not induce the companies to grant demands that are economically unacceptable."

The statement also called the union demands excessive and intrusive, and gave figures on steel profits and employment wages. McDonald replied by saying, "We are determined to press our needs and proposals in these negotiations through free, private collective bargaining."

"We regret that the companies have seen fit to issue a set of statistics concerning their profits and steelworkers' wages. The union intends to do its negotiations at the bargaining table, not in the press," McDonald said.

12 Professors To Attend Speech Meet

Twelve U of I educators and a doctoral candidate will be participants in the program of the joint 1964 convention of the Speech Association of America (SAA) and the American Educational Theatre Association (AETA) in Chicago Dec. 27 to 30 at the LaSalle Hotel.

The joint meeting will mark the golden anniversary convention of the SAA and the 28th annual convention of the AETA.

Hugh F. Seabury and Douglas Ehninger, professors of speech at the U of I, will participate in a panel on scholarly writing. Both are also on the administrative council of SAA. Ehninger, editor of Speech Monographs, will be on the board until 1965, and Seabury, editor of The Speech Teacher, holds a term on the board which will expire in 1969.

Samuel L. Becker, professor and director of speech and television-radio-film, was elected by the SAA to serve on the council until 1966.

Paul J. Heinberg, assistant professor of speech, will participate in a panel discussion on phonetics, linguistics and voice science.

Taking part in a panel discussion on rhetoric and public address will be Orville Hitchcock, acting dean of the Graduate College.

Gary L. Cronkhite, a doctoral candidate at the U of I, will give a behavioral sciences report. He is currently on the faculty of the speech department at the University of Illinois, Urbana.

Donald C. Bryant, professor of speech, is on a committee for selection of papers which will be read during sectional meetings of SAA. Michael M. Osborn, assistant professor of speech, will deliver a paper on "The Evolution of the Theory of the Metaphor in Rhetoric" during one of the sectional meetings. A graduate assistant in the rhetoric department, James R. Rockey, will give a paper on "Changes in Semantic Compatibility During a Readers Theatre Production."

David G. Schaal, associate professor of speech, who is the project chairman for rare books, and Arnold Gillette, professor of dramatic art and director of the University Theatre, who is a past president of the group and is now on the board of directors. Professor Gillette's term on the board will end in 1966.

New Jersey Vote Plan Struck Down

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — The New Jersey Senate's novel weighted voting system was struck down Tuesday by the State Supreme Court.

In a 7-0 decision delivered one day after hearing oral argument, the court said that regardless of the merits or demerits of the controversial new voting plan, the Senate had used an illegal method of installing it.

The ruling put a quick end to the Senate's brief fling with a voting plan which had drawn interest from other legislatures around the nation affected by the "one man, one vote" decision of the U.S. Supreme Court. The state court ruling did not deal with the constitutionality of weighted voting, leaving it some chance of survival as a method of

New Trial Is Granted On Merchant's Claim

A precedent on absolute liability has apparently been set in Iowa law by Tuesday's state supreme court decision on the appeal of a ruling on local merchant Jack Lubin's suit for damages against the city of Iowa City.

The ruling upholds the district court's decision for a new trial. Lubin was awarded no damages by a jury on his claim of $4,963 against the city. Judge James P. Gaffney later ordered a new trial and the judge's ruling was appealed by the city.

Lubin claimed merchandise in his store at 118 East Washington St. was damaged by water from a city main which broke near the store.

Justice William C. Stuart, who wrote the opinion, said there was no evidence that the city was negligent in caring for the water main and that occasional breakage is expected. However, he said the city should pay for damages created by the breakage.

Conservatives Ask HUAC Retainment, Political Activity

Involvement in active politics was demanded by members of the Iowa Young Conservatives at a meeting in the Union Tuesday evening. The club also adopted a resolution demanding the retainment of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Ron Zobel, A1, Oelwein, presided over the meeting at which a committee was appointed to investigate whether the Iowa Young Conservatives should join the conservative organization Young Americans for Freedom and also examine their relations with the Intercollegiate Society of Individualists, a conservative educational organization. Since the Young Conservatives are now members of the ISI, they are prevented by club bylaws from engaging in active politics.

The committee consists of Richard Dickens, E3, Iowa City; Jay Brooks, A2, Tama; Rick Echternacht, A2, Fort Dodge; Jess Cole, A1, Ames; Zobel; James Fuhrman, G, Cedar Rapids; Diane Schmarje, A1, Muscatine; and Roger Stafford, G, Donnellson.

The proposals of the committee will be presented to the membership next month. Zobel urged members of the Young Conservatives to join the Young Republicans.

The club also voted to meet regularly the first Wednesday of every month.

Manslaughter Charges Result from Accident

MANCHESTER (AP) — Two eastern Iowa men were charged with manslaughter Tuesday in an Oct. 31 traffic accident which killed the wife of the Delaware County supervisor, Mrs. Dale Patton, 40, of Manchester.

Charged in District Court Tuesday were Herbert Dean Bailey of Rowley and George Kenneth Kirby of Marion.

Bond was set at $3,000 each, and their arraignment was scheduled for Dec. 23.

Both men posted bond.

$14 DRINK —

STONE, England (AP) — The manager of an electrical manufacturing company in Stone, England, announced Tuesday he will give a $14 Christmas bonus to employees who don't drink anything alcoholic at lunchtime on Christmas eve.

C. J. Law explained: "We'll shut down for the Christmas holidays after lunch on Christmas Eve. We don't want our people to drink and then drive home. We like our employees and want to see them again."

Court Rules On Sentence For Yocum

The writ of certiorari which delayed the five-day jail sentence of City Councilman Max Yocum was annulled Tuesday and the sentence upheld by the state Supreme Court.

The ruling will be appealed, according to William H. Bartley, Yocum's attorney. This action will delay carrying out the sentence at least 30 more days.

Yocum was cited for contempt in March by Judge James P. Gaffney in Johnson County District Court and was fined $100 and sentenced to jail.

Judge Gaffney issued a temporary injunction preventing Yocum from molesting his wife, while a divorce action brought by Mrs. Yocum in 1963, was pending. In March Mrs. Yocum appealed to the court to have Yocum cited for contempt.

When Yocum was cited, Bartley obtained a Supreme Court order for a hearing on the writ, which delayed the councilman's going to jail. The case was argued verbally before the Supreme Court in Des Moines last month.

The decision announced Tuesday that Yocum was "in violation of the injunction" issued by Gaffney.

Christmas Concert Repeated Tonight

A near capacity audience heard the annual Christmas Concert presented Tuesday night in the Union. The concert, conducted by Daniel Moe, associate professor of music, was performed by the University Choir, the Oratorio Chorus, and the University Symphony Orchestra.

Compositions presented in the program were "Cantata No. 140, Vachet auf, ruft uns die Stimme" by Bach, "Mass No. 2 in E minor" by Bruckner, and "Te Deum" by Kodaly.

Soloists for the concert were Dorothea Brown, instructor in music, Robert Eckert and Albert Gammon, both assistant professors of music, and Mrs. James Christensen, wife of a member of the University Hospital staff.

Miss Brown, Eckert and Gammon soloed in the Bach cantata, and all four soloists were featured in "Te Deum."

The concert will be presented again at 8 tonight in the Union Main Lounge.

Student Sentenced On Theft Charge

A University student was convicted of larceny Monday in Mason City and received a 10-year suspended reformatory sentence.

Roger Cary, A3, Mason City, pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny in the nighttime in connection with the theft of $1,200 from a Mason City supermarket last April.

Officers said he was arrested in Iowa City Nov. 23 after 57 money orders believed taken from the supermarket were found in his dormitory room.

AFROTC 'Arions'

and Cadet S/Sgt. Richard J. Floyd, A3, Des Moines. The team, organized in April, is making plans to visit Air Force bases in California and New York soon.

Spring Festival Plans Set

By JON VAN Staff Writer

Recreation, information and education is the theme of the 1965 Spring Festival tentatively scheduled for the weekend of April 24.

Announcement of the dates and tentative plans was made Tuesday by Bill Parisi, A3, Chicago Heights, Ill., at a meeting of the festival committee.

PARISI, committee co-chairman, outlined a three-day list of events which he described as planned basically for the enjoyment of students.

"Parents and guests will be welcomed at the festival events," he said, "but no attempts to attract them are planned."

TUESDAY'S OUTLINE began with a planned ROTC, Band and Highlander review on the Women's Athletic Field to open the festival Thursday afternoon, April 22. A street dance and picnic are planned immediately afterwards and a variety show in the Union is scheduled for Thursday night. Plans for Friday, April 23, call for educational and entertaining displays at different spots on campus. A carnival in the Fieldhouse is set for Friday night.

"We plan to use buses to take students to the different activities," Parisi said, "to cut down traffic tie-ups."

HELICOPTER shows, leg contests, canoe races and a boat show are in the works for Saturday afternoon.

"We are fortunate since the Foreign Student Festival is already scheduled for Saturday night," he said. "This will be a fine way to end our festival."

Other ideas have been discussed, according to Parisi, and there will undoubtedly be a number of changes in the festival between now and April.

A number of campus organizations are represented on the festival committee, which has been authorized by the Office of Student Services.

"WE HOPE to have each organization take and handle an event for the festival," Parisi said. This would include everything from supervising a picnic around the Union to running a booth at the Fieldhouse carnival.

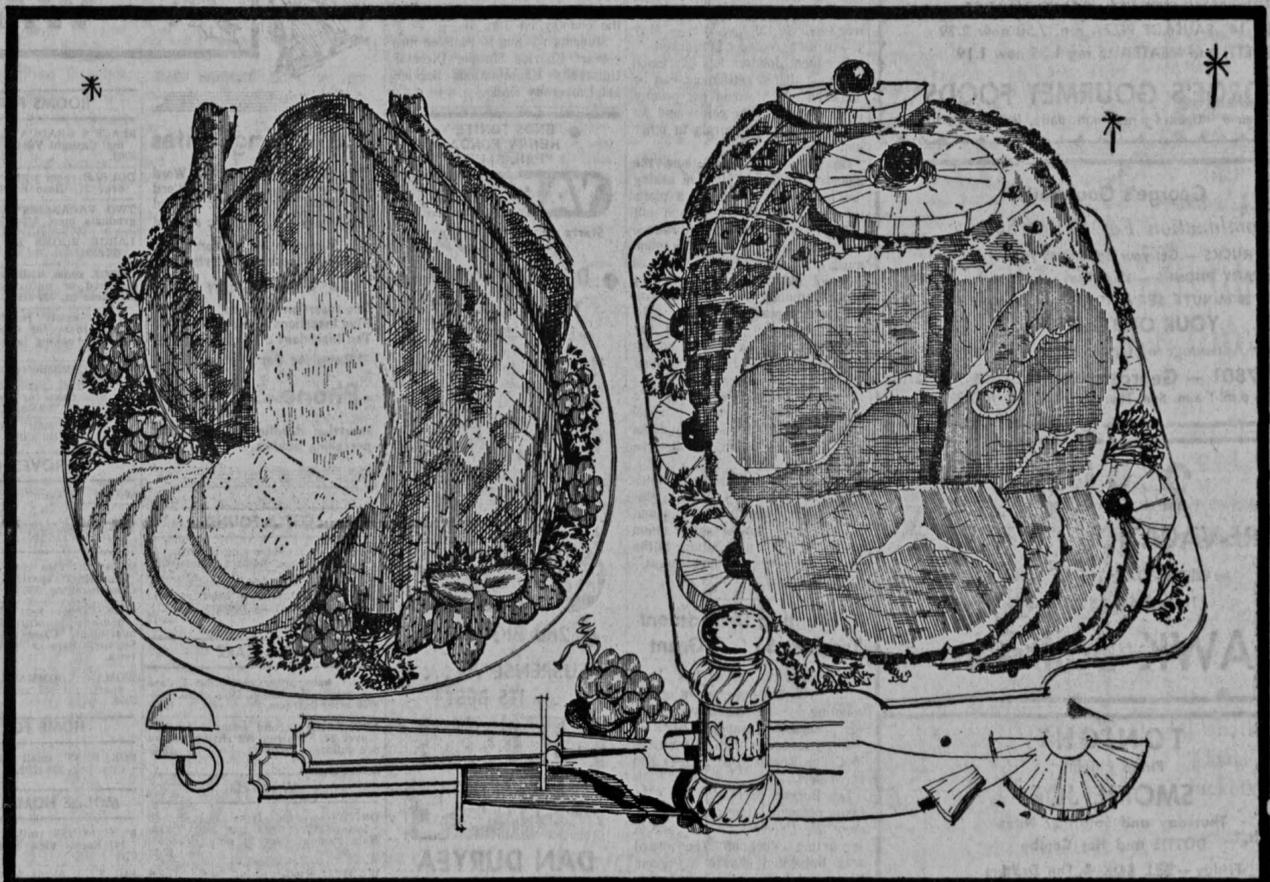

"Each organization represented on the committee is donating $25 to cover expenses between now and April," he said.

Jean James, A4, Iowa City, is Parisi's co-chairman. Robert N. Hubbell, assistant professor in the Office of Student Affairs, and Roger Munn, assistant director of the Union, are advisers to the committee.

MAP BEST SELLER—OTTAWA (AP) — The mapping branch of Canada's Mines and Technical Surveys Department has produced a best seller map of the world. Its first printing of 4,500 in English and 1,500 in French sold out in 10 weeks at $1 a copy after mid-July publication. A second printing of 10,000 was ordered for mid-December distribution.

IF HAM IS YOUR HOLIDAY HEADLINER... CHOOSE DUBUQUE!

These are Dubuque's first quality hams! Here's a friendly tip: Be on the lookout for hams that have water added to them. They're known in the food industry as "pumped hams." They result in high shrinkage; and don't forget... water has weight! If the words "imitation Ham" are on the wrapper... water has been added.

DARTMOUTH! THE FIRST CHOICE FOR THRIFT-WISE HOLIDAY MEAL-MAKERS!

A masterpiece for your Christmas table centerpiece is a Dartmouth U.S.D.A. inspected turkey! Tender 'n' juicy, with no parts missing... sure to please the biggest appetites and the smallest budgets!

Even turkey has been carefully cleaned and dressed... and has passed rigid inspection for our acceptance.
