Book Fight Reviewed At TMTW

The conflict over the prices of new and used books flared again Friday at an informal meeting of representatives of Town Men, Town Women (TMTW) and two of Iowa City's bookstores.

Three suggestions offered by Bob Katz, A2, Chicago, and John Cheeks, A4, Decatur, Ill., president of TMTW, were:

- that the 20 per cent mark up on new books be reduced,
- that the bookstores either pay more in buying back used books or charge less in reselling them,
- that the bookstores buy back more used paperback books.

Ray Vanderhoef, owner of Iowa Book & Supply, stated that his 36 years in the book business and the offices he has held in the National Association of College Bookstores have made him familiar with the problems in the industry. He described three of the major problems in meeting the suggestions.

A major economic problem is having only the first few days of each semester to make enough of a profit to keep the store open the rest of the year, during which there must be an intensive effort to order and stock books for the next semester.

He pointed out that "work will begin early next month in ordering and stocking the books for next fall."

In ordering these books, Vanderhoef said, it's necessary to estimate the enrollment in the various classes. The stores must also estimate the number of recommended, but not required, books to order. An error in estimation costs the store money either in unsold books or in the cost of making special orders.

Vanderhoef said increased competition from publishers trying to sell new books to the faculty — which has an annual turnover of about 25 per cent — causes the list of required texts to have about a 40 per cent change a year. This ability to choose the latest, best edition of a text is an important freedom for the University, but it poses a serious problem in ordering books and in re-purchasing used books.

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Segregationist Sheriff James G. Clark was stricken with chest pains and taken to a hospital Friday and some 200 Negroes knelt in the rain to pray for his recovery.

The veteran sheriff, who has become a symbol of resistance to the civil rights campaign, was admitted to Vaughn Memorial Hospital for observation and rest.

WHEN WORD of Clark's illness reached the headquarters of the civil rights movement at Brown's Chapel church, Negro leaders led another of their frequent processions to the Dallas County Court house, but this time to pray for the sheriff.

They knelt in heavy rain on the sidewalk in front of Clark's office. Some carried signs which said: "Get Well, Jim Clark, In Mind and Body." No effort was made by police to remove them.

Clark, 42, who has held office since 1956, became ill in his apartment at the county jail early Friday. A hospital bulletin said the sheriff "is doing fine."

Clark's illness came about 12 hours after one of the Negro civil rights leaders, the Rev. James Bevel, had been moved from jail to a hospital, placed under guard and his legs chained together.

BEVEL, WHO was charged with contempt of court during a right-to-vote demonstration at the courthouse last Monday, together with more than 50 other Negroes, was fined $50 and sentenced to five days in jail.

He was moved to the Burwell Infirmary late Thursday after he developed a high fever. His physician, Dr. E. A. Maddox, said the Negro minister apparently was suffering from viral pneumonia. Maddox said one of Bevel's ankles was chained to the bed but Chief Deputy Sheriff L. C. Crocker, speaking in Clark's absence, said the shackles were fastened to both ankles and not to the hospital bed.

Crocker said it was customary procedure to put leg-irons on prisoners who have to be hospitalized. He explained that they might become hysterical and try to escape confinement and might hurt someone.

WHEN IT IS determined that a prisoner is in serious condition, the chief deputy added, the manacles are not used. He said the shackles were removed from Bevel on Thursday night at the written request of his doctor and after the official report of his condition.

Viet Cong Force Smashed Near Da Nang Perimeter

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Defenders of Da Nang air base, the jumping point for a retaliatory U.S.-South Vietnamese strike Thursday against North Viet Nam, smashed a Viet Cong band found dug in Friday near the sector perimeter.

Vietnamese planes bombed the band and then a ranger outfit closed in. Five of the Red guerrillas were killed and 10 captured to destroy that threat of a Communist attack against the base.

Military intelligence men consider Da Nang, 80 miles south of the border, No. 1 now on the list of potential targets of Viet Cong mortar crews, though such a thrust could mean another reprisal raid on their North Vietnamese mentors.

Red crews, operating with American-made mortars captured in battle, took a heavy toll of American lives and aircraft at Bien Hoa Nov. 1 and at Pleiku last Sunday.

It was the attack on Pleiku, where eight Americans died that led Washington and Saigon to order the first of the retaliatory strikes.

U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor flew to Nha Trang, on the South China Sea 180 miles north-east of Saigon, to visit some of the American servicemen wounded in that attack and hospitalized in Nha Trang.

He also looked in at Qui Nhon, 100 miles up the coast, on casualties from the Viet Cong terrorist bombing Wednesday night of a U.S. enlisted men's billet in that supply base.

Accompanying Taylor was Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the Commander of U.S. military forces in Viet Nam.

Work details still probed the wreckage of the four-story concrete billet at Qui Nhon.

Two Americans were killed by the explosions and 19 are missing and feared dead. Twenty-two of the survivors were wounded, five seriously.

The exodus of 1,819 American dependents from Viet Nam continued, with next Wednesday the target date for completion of the withdrawal. A total of 398 departed Friday.

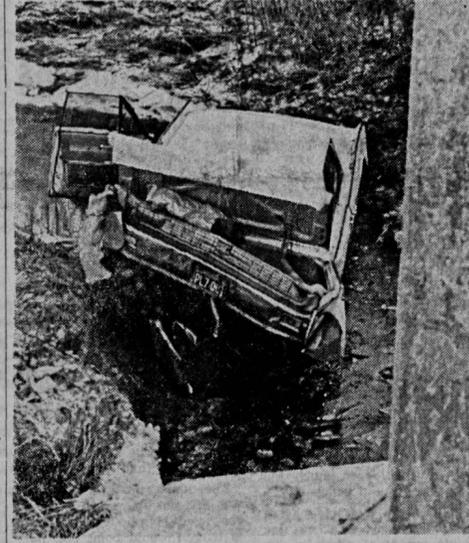

U.S. Air Force pilots who took part in the 160-plane attack Thursday on North Viet Nam said the joint U.S. - Vietnamese action against the Chap Le barracks was certainly a success.

SPINSTERS TO DESCEND ON FRATERNITY HOUSES

Five spinsters, dressed as witches, will descend upon fraternity houses from 5 to 8 p.m. Monday to present skits.

These witches have taken to their brooms to advertise "Spinsters' Spree" an annual girl-ask-boy dance sponsored by the Associated Women Students Freshman Council. The dance will be from 8 p.m. to midnight, Feb. 26 in the Union Main Lounge.

Tickets for the dance can be purchased at the door.

Two Teams To Vie Sunday In First Union Quiz Bowl

By MALIN SWOPE Staff Writer

Two teams of student "experts" will match wits in the University's first College Quiz Bowl at 3 p.m. Sunday in the Union Pentacrest Room.

Sunday's match will be the first in a series of elimination matches involving students from fraternities, sororities, dormitories and off-campus housing units. Each team will have four members.

Each match will last 30 minutes and will test the students' knowledge in such areas as literature, fine arts, social science, mathematics and current events.

Eight teams will vie for silver trophies and plaques to be awarded during the Union's Spring Festival in April. Union Board's Forums and Lectures Committee sponsors the matches and will present individual and team awards.

The type of questions to be asked will be those which "students should know but often times don't," according to Sally A. Foss, N2, Des Moines, a member of the sponsoring committee.

"The questions are basically like those asked on the College Bowl on TV," Miss Foss said the idea for holding the quiz bowl was taken from similar quiz programs at other universities.

Questions to be asked during each match were selected by a group of honor students and members of the Forums and Lectures Committee.

"We chose 10 honor students, stuck them in a room and told them to come up with about 30 questions apiece," Miss Foss said.

"They drew their questions from encyclopedias, college texts and current literature."

Miss Foss said the contestants have agreed to abide by the decisions of the moderator of the matches. Bruce A. French, A2, Reinbeck, will moderate the matches.

"We will allow alternate answers in some cases," she said, "but in case of disputes, the answer supplied by the moderator will be final."

Two types of questions will be asked — toss-up and bonus. Toss-up questions will be worth 10 points and bonus questions, 20 to 40 points.

Members of both teams will be supplied with answer buttons, which they push the instant they think they know the answer to a question. The contestant who pushes his button first must answer for the rest of his team.

Contestants will be given five seconds to answer both the toss-up and bonus questions. A team will be eligible for the bonus questions if its team member successfully answers his toss-up question.

The quiz bowl has received such enthusiastic support from potential contestants that it will likely become a regular event each semester, Miss Foss said.

Diplomat Sees U.S. Raids As Russian Provocation

MOSCOW (AP) — Continued American air raids on North Viet Nam could draw the Soviet Union into at least a limited war with the United States, according to a neutral diplomat who has had access to Soviet thinking at high level.

The diplomat said Friday he had found Soviet leaders both angry and worried that the Viet Nam situation might explode into something bigger than a limited war.

The Russians told the diplomat they do not want a Vietnamese showdown with the Americans. But they indicated they have no intention of backing away from commitments to help protect North Viet Nam because of this danger.

The diplomat, who declined to be identified, had unusual opportunities to talk with top Soviet leaders after the U.S. air raids Sunday and Monday and with a high official after Thursday's raids.

The diplomat quoted the official as saying the first two raids left some hope here that the situation would calm down as it did after the Gulf of Tonkin incidents last summer.

But Thursday's raids and talk in Washington of continued raiding created a feeling in Kremlin circles that the Soviet Union is being forced to take strong action, the diplomat reported.

Meanwhile Premier Alexei N. Kosygin said Friday "imperialist provocations" in Communist North Viet Nam have brought the Soviet Union closer to Red China and its allies.

His remarks at a meeting in Pyongyang, North Korean capital, as reported by the Soviet news agency Tass, suggested that his talks with party Chairman Mao Tse-tung, Premier Chou En-lai and other Chinese leaders in Peking Thursday produced some measures of agreement.

Union Board Exhibits Ads

The opening of a new exhibit, "European Posters," was announced by the Union Board Exhibit Committee Thursday.

The posters represent a sampling of advertising from 10 European countries. They are part of a collection of the Hopkins Center of Dartmouth College, and are on a nationwide tour sponsored by the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service.

The exhibit will be at the Union through Feb. 28, and will be open to the public during the Union's open hours.

The Smithsonian wants to stimulate an awareness in American advertisers of the effectiveness of this form of advertising, and to illustrate the extent to which it is used in Europe.

U.S. Air Force pilots who took part in the 160-plane attack Thursday on North Viet Nam said the joint U.S. - Vietnamese action against the Chap Le barracks was certainly a success.

Keynote and Admissions Open Mock UN Sessions

The only workable solutions to the Viet Nam and Indonesian problems must be made by the Southeast Asian nations involved and not by outside powers, according to Gerald S. Maryanov, assistant professor of political science.

Maryanov, speaking before the opening session of the Mock United Nations General Assembly Friday night, told an audience of 100 that no acceptable solutions could be attained if they are made in Washington, London, Moscow, or Peking.

In his keynote address, Maryanov, who has spent some time in Southeast Asia, asserted that no solutions seem near at hand in either Viet Nam or Indonesia. At the same time, however, a spark in either area could set off a world war.

Maryanov, a Southeast Asia specialist, told the audience that the driving force is independence in Southeast Asia, as well as in the other emerging nations.

The major powers must realize that such a force exists, and these powers must listen to the voices of the emerging nations.

The movement toward world organization, the cold war, and national liberation are the three major movements which have placed the world in its present situation. According to Maryanov, each movement tends to conflict with the others.

Reuss Wants U.N. in War

Henry S. Reuss (D-Wis.) advocated U.N. intervention in Viet Nam Friday night during a question and answer period following his lecture in Shambaugh Auditorium.

Reuss was lecturing on "Economic Policy for America and the Free World."

He said, "I don't think we should ever have entered Viet Nam and our 'go it alone' policy there is dangerous."

"Each of the three alternatives available to us is impossible," he continued. "We could muddle along fighting the difficult guerrilla war, or pull out completely, or carry the war into North Viet Nam. But I would hope to see instead a peace-keeping force in Viet Nam."

Reuss was replying to a question seeking his opinion of the consequences of recent American retaliatory actions against North Viet Nam.

Reuss is head of the Internal Finance Committee, a subcommittee of the House Currency and Banking Committee.

He is also a member of the Joint Economic Committee of Congress.

He was introduced to the audience as "an outstanding economist" by Dean Billy L. Barnes of the college of Business Administration.

Reuss spent Friday on campus conferring with students and faculty from the college of Business Administration and related departments. He participated in a seminar Friday afternoon and concluded the day with his evening lecture.

Reuss appeared on campus during the congressional vacation for Lincoln's birthday.

Regents Criticize Education Askings

By JON VAN Staff Writer

DES MOINES — Drastic action may be necessary if the Legislature does not add to Gov. Harold Hughes' appropriation requests for Regent institutions. This was the tone of a statement issued at Friday's Board of Regents meeting.

Limited admissions, increased tuition and fees, or both may be necessary to meet rising costs in the face of slashed state increases in funds, according to the statement.

Failure to employ these tactics, the Regents said, would lead to what Mrs. Joseph Rosefield, Des Moines member, termed "a counterfeit education." The Board agreed this alternative was unacceptable.

The statement acknowledged "the sincere interest in education for Iowa boys and girls" shown by Gov. Hughes, but said "the state budget does not provide the money needed to keep up with enrollments and rising costs in the next two years."

Hughes' budget provides Regents only 60 per cent of the requested operations increases and well under 50 per cent of the sum asked for capital improvements.

Regents affirmed "the Board's requests represent only the most pressing needs of the institutions."

If adequate state support is lacking, the statement said, the best instructors in Iowa's system of higher education will seek employment outside the state.

"We are convinced that the public will support whatever revenue measures might be necessary to meet these critical needs," the statement concluded.

Copies of the statement were made public Friday, and the governor should receive a letter containing Regent views today.

In other business, the Regents denied a request from the Iowa City School District for 50 acres of University land which it wants for a 512-unit addition to Hawkeye Apartments which will go east of the present apartments.

Officials said the University and the Regents are sympathetic with expansion problems facing the Board of Education. It was recommended that future development plans for the land west of Hawkeye include 10 acres reserved for possible future acquisition by the school board for a primary school, should the need arise.

Regents denied two other requests for state land as educational construction sites. A request for 10 acres by the Vinton Community School District and a request for land by the United Community School District at Boone were both rejected.

The Vinton land is owned by the Iowa Braille and Sight-Saving School and the Boone land is the property of Iowa State University. Both rejections — like the one for Iowa City — were based on the belief that expansion will require the land be used by the state.

Not a surprise, but not pleasant either

DEATH, TAXES AND RENT HIKES.

All are certain under the present system of things and there are also good and bad points in all three.

The Board of Regents Thursday passed a motion to raise the rental of married student housing on campus — and also approved the construction of 512 new housing units.

The two events are closely related. President Bowen has requested the rent increase to help finance a building program for married students which he deemed urgent. The new program can only be financed under the new rent rates.

The rent increases are staggered, from $4 more a month to $16.50. Hawkeye Apartments will experience the biggest increase and the barracks apartments the smallest.

As those living in married student housing will be the first to say, it is unfortunate that the new program must depend on a rent increase.

Many students living in Hawkeye may find that the $16.50 a month increase is just too much for them to contend with. And even though $4 a month is not an astronomical sum, it may be a strain on many of the barracks renters at present. (Perhaps the mice could be induced to pay their fair share of the rent.)

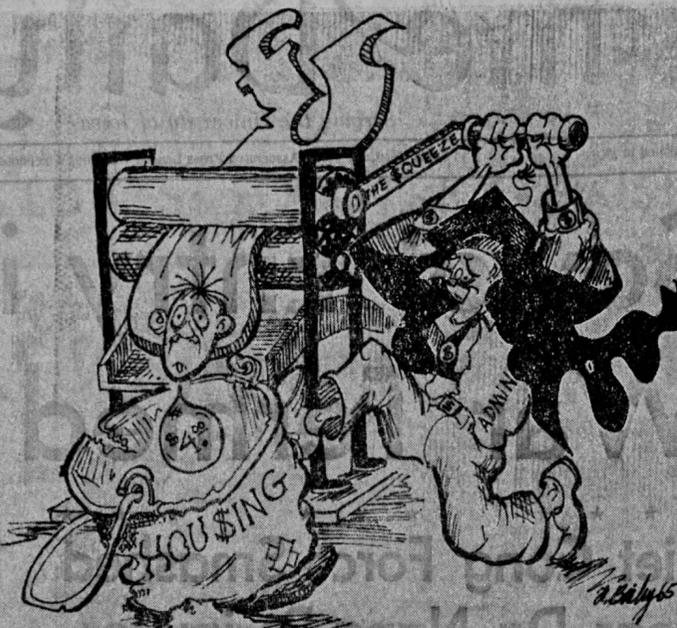

The new apartments will be, from the released plans, grand old-fashioned living units, with privacy built in. This is an admirable direction for housing to take.

President Bowen has said that there is also a need for inexpensive housing for married students, which is very expensive to the students. Considering the aesthetic qualities of the barracks, this type of housing should have received attention before Hawkeye II.

Arrangements for cheaper housing should be made as quickly as possible. Even though private industry in the Iowa City vicinity may begin to increase building to provide more housing units, it is unlikely that it will contribute to building low-rent housing.

The rent increase does not really come as a surprise; it was hinted at earlier when the restrictions were set up for married student housing. But no one was cheering in the streets, either.

Legion head replies to editorial

To the Editor:
I have read with a great deal of interest the editorial by Linda Weiner entitled, "Uneducational proposal for schools," which appeared in your newspaper on January 16, 1965, and I would like to state the position of The American Legion on this subject.

The word, communist, does have "only one possible meaning" — world domination. And, communists, whether of the Russian, Chinese, Cuban, French, Italian or American variety, in spite of minor ideological differences, do have a "harmonious consensus among their ideas" — the seizure either by subversion from within, or by violence if necessary, of the established government of a particular country in order to add one more link in the chain to encircle the world with communist domination.

The illusion that the Communist Party, USA — or the American communist — is somehow different from the others is exactly what the CPUSA is striving to project by claiming to be just another political party of the United States and, therefore, not allied to any foreign communist regime.

It is inconceivable that decision making representatives of our universities can be duped into exposing the impressionable youth of our nation to the insidious lies and deceit of the communists under the guise of academic freedom. Leading communists have brazenly spelled out in detail their immediate plans to invade the college campuses of this nation, not for educational purposes, but to gain "new blood."

The leaders of the Communist Party, USA are now getting old and it is imperative that they obtain a new cadre to take over the reigns of the Party if its aims and goals are to be perpetuated. It should be apparent to officials of certain universities that Gus Hall was not referring to a social gathering when he said: "The youth program of the (Communist) Party is so important that he or any other national leader would go anywhere to meet with young students even if but one student is met."

The American Legion has never been against academic freedom; it is against academic license. The communists, as in the past, will continue, wherever and whenever possible, to exploit academic freedom to further their cause as long as they receive the co-operation of our colleges and universities.

There are many qualified citizens who can speak on the subject of communism and, thus, enlighten the student body. How often are they afforded the opportunity to do this? How often are they even granted equal time to refute the false statements made by communists appearing on the campuses of our colleges and universities?

Therefore, if "anything of an educational value has a place in an educational institution," The American Legion feels that, until such time as communist speakers are barred by law from appearing on these campuses, it is the responsibility of such institutions, permitting their appearances, to provide a qualified member of their faculty or a knowledgeable citizen who would appear before the same audience.

We believe there would be no debate because you would have but one speaker. The known communist always resorts to the First and Fifth Amendments when appearing before investigating committees of the Government but is willing and ready to expound before students of this nation when unopposed.

It therefore, follows that he would be conspicuous by his absence when confronted by a qualified faculty member, or another speaker of the same caliber, in an open debate on the subject of Americanism vs. communism. Surely this is not the same "undefined type of speaker" to whom you refer, whose presence on our college campuses is so necessary to our educational process!

Sponsor of hours bill comments

To the Editor:
As sponsor of the Senate proposal for the extension of women's hours passed with only one dissenting vote, I feel compelled to reply to the criticism of it raised by Sue Mockridge in Friday's paper.

Her largest criticism seems to be one of administrative difficulty. While it is granted that certain administrative difficulties would exist, these are hardly insurmountable.

Seniors would simply be extended the privileges currently extended to women over 21. Since most seniors are 21 anyway, this would cause no problems. Juniors would have unrestricted hours on weekends. Again, this would present no serious problems, and could be handled in much the same way as the 21 policy.

Sophomores would have hours only one night per weekend. One possible means of administering this section of the resolution would be to post a list of the names of all girls authorized sophomore hours on the advisor's door which could be initiated for the nights on which the privileges will be exercised.

Miss Mockridge also makes the rather amusing observation that the Senate proposal is inconsistent; that it "implies that some nights the coeds need watching, whereas other nights, they can be responsible for themselves."

It is my belief that it is not the responsibility of the university to police the morals of its coeds; and if it is the University's intention to do so, the present hour's policy is markedly ineffective.

She makes the valid point that obviously women are no more responsible on some nights than on others. I would humbly add that women are no more responsible at midnight than at 2 a.m. Her position would seem to permit only two alternatives: Six o'clock hours, or no hours at all. The Senate resolution is a concession to the "go-slow" policy in which Miss Mockridge takes so much pride, rather than a final answer.

The final point that she raised was that not all women want unrestricted hours. This we grant is true. I would point out, however, that no one is forced to make use of late hours. As for the women who want restricted hours so that they will have an excuse to make their date take them home, I submit that if they haven't the guts to simply say, "Take me home," then it is not the function of the University to provide them with an excuse at the expense of the other coeds.

On other campuses — International study program developed

By TOM DUGGLEBY
Exchange Editor
Indiana University and Purdue University last fall to form a joint auxiliary campus, are now merging in another stride as they offer students an international study program to boost educational achievement through special foreign study centers.

Located in France, Germany, Italy and Spain, these centers have been created to give students who are proficient in the languages of the chosen countries a chance to work in outstanding overseas universities under careful supervision.

Under the new program, a center has been created in the University of Strasbourg for those proficient in French, in the University of Hamburg, West Germany, for those fluent in German, in the University of Bologna for students of Italian and in the University of Madrid for students in Spanish.

TO QUALIFY, the applicant must have proven preparation in his major field, a high grade-point average and two years of foreign language. In addition, he must be tested on foreign language comprehension and personally interviewed before he is considered for this opportunity.

Construction will begin soon at the University of California for the extensive Earl Warren Legal Center, first of its kind to be built in the western United States. Planned to round out the Berkeley Law Center, the two-year project was touched off in 1963 with the ground-breaking by the Chief Justice himself, a California alumnus.

At a cost of over $3 million, the complex will contain a research center to provide the California legal profession with "a living laboratory of the law," and classrooms and a dormitory for law students. Funds for the project have been drawn from alumni funds, private contributions and state sources.

COMMUTER STUDENTS at the University of Minnesota will find that it is easier to find a ride to and from campus this spring under the new Minnesota Student Association car pool plan set in motion this past week. With help from MSA, those who want rides or riders are now forming pools open to all students registered for such service with the MSA.

To take advantage of this plan, the prospective passenger must register his residence and the times at which he usually leaves and arrives on campus, while the driver must fill out these dates as well as the districts through which he passes each day.

On the basis of this information, car pools of three or more riders are formed. Future plans for the system will include an attempt to acquire reserved space in central parking lots for students using this service.

Married Students Blast Rent Increase

If first impressions are any indication, the rent hike in Married Student Housing (MSH) units is not going to rank among the most popular decisions of the Board of Regents this year.

According to a Daily Iowan random sample, taken Friday, MSH residents think the rent hikes are too high and will place hardships on too many people.

One resident of Riverside Park thinks present rent rates are adequate and fair, and a raise is not necessary. He said, "We appreciate very much the barracks housing, but any more money for them is too much."

Another barracks resident objected to barracks people's having to finance the new addition to Hawkeye Apartments. In his opinion, the married "have-nots," are having to pay for housing for the married "haves."

Hawkeye Apartments residents also appeared to be disgruntled by the raise in rent.

Most Hawkeye residents expected a rent raise of some amount, but think the proposed raise is too much. One Hawkeye renter says a raise of eight or ten dollars instead of the proposed $16.50 would be adequate.

Hawkeye residents also expressed concern over a raise in rent that is too high in relation to the raise in barracks housing rent. They think the barracks raise should be higher if their rent is going up.

As one married student put it, "The rent raise is going to hurt young married couples where it hurts the most, in their pocket-books."

Cause of Controversy

Hawkeye II, new married student housing apartments, are shown here in an architect's conception. The planned apartments will be financed by a raise in present MSH rent which has aroused protest from students who will be affected. The new apartments will be located near the present Hawkeye apartment complex.

Longshoremen's Strike Terminated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Longshoremen agreed Friday to end a 33-day dock strike in most major East Coast and Gulf ports. And President Johnson ordered new efforts to settle the lingering dispute elsewhere — in southern Atlantic and western Gulf ports.

This meant that ships again will begin moving Saturday out of such major ports as Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and New Orleans.

Thomas W. Gleason, president of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association, ordered his union's members to return to work at 8 a.m. Saturday in ports where agreements already have been approved.

Theta Sigs to Chicago

Five journalism coeds will represent the University at the Theta Sigma Phi Careers-in-Journalism weekend, sponsored by the Chicago chapter of the professional fraternity for women in communications. The meetings will be held at the Sheraton-Chicago Hotel, Feb. 20-22.

Members of the Iowa chapter who will attend the meetings are Mary Ann Johnson, A3, Cedar Falls; Denise O'Brien, A4, Jefferson; Julia O'Connor, G, Richmond, Va.; Ruth Ann Peppie, A3, Keokuk; and Carla Schumann, A4, Davenport.

D.M. Will Host Foreign Students

More than 1,700 foreign students from 105 countries have been invited to the 12th annual Foreign Students' Weekend in Des Moines Saturday and Sunday.

The event is sponsored by the City of Des Moines with the help of the Boards of International Education. The students will stay overnight at private homes.

National booths will be set up at the Veterans' Memorial Auditorium. On display will be costumes, flags, paintings, sculpture, musical instruments, and other items characteristic of the individual countries.

MONTY MAY TEACH

CAIRO (AP) — Britain's Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery has been invited to teach in Cairo's new Nasser Military Academy, the paper Al Misraa reported.

Cupid Adopts Contemporary Card Form

BY THE STAFF CUPID

Hearts and flowers, yes, but on everything from men's underwear to sweatshirts?

Sunday is Valentine's Day, and somebody let the business world in on it early. Now, we're not knocking Valentine's Day.

As an institution it's not all that bad, but why, oh why, in an effort to sell cards, did some screwball ever design a card saying "Just because we don't always see eye to eye doesn't mean I don't like you. . . . After all you're taller than me."

And so a card too good to resist gets mailed to a girl who has been looked up to (literally) for most of her life.

All this havoc is released on the world in the name of a man who lived a long time ago and doubtlessly had no idea of what he was starting. The issue is further complicated by the fact that there were two of them, the Saints Valentine, that is.

Valentine is the name of a number of saints. But two of them were martyrs, and their feasts are celebrated simultaneously on Feb. 14.

One was a Roman priest, the other a bishop. The history of both is cloudy, and you can argue forever as to which was which, if you're interested.

Anyway, as closely as can be ascertained, both lived during the same time, died on the same day, and both were buried near the same road, but at differing distances from Rome.

The real blow comes when it is discovered that, apparently, neither had anything to do with Cupid, greeting cards, boxes of candy, flowers or the rest of the nonsense associated with St. Valentine's Day. They get blamed because their feast happens to fall in early spring, a pure accident.

Sir Winston Churchill Bequeaths $439,000

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill bequeathed an estate worth 156,961 pounds — $439,490.80 — mainly to his wife and three children in a will made public Friday.

A far greater sum is thought to have been poured into a trust fund which Sir Winston, the will disclosed, set up for his children and grandchildren in 1946.

Associates believe the former prime minister's income from his writings since World War II alone exceeded $2.8 million. Virtually all of it went into the trust fund, which is exempt from estate taxes. The fund is known as the Chartwell Literary Trust and is named after Churchill's country home in Kent.

Willard's Fashion News

from California

by Miriam Eisma Cullen

'Tis the month of famous birthdays, lots of cherry pie in honor of a great first man, and on the romantic side, St. Valentine. No, I'm not writing for Hallmark cards, although they do say "it" very nicely. We must agree that it is fun to receive a little something from those we love on Valentine's Day. I am most certain that any lady love would be more than delighted with a pretty wrapped package from Willard's, whether it contains a "frock" or a separate, or maybe a strand of those unusual Beads DeAnne. No doubt milady already has diamonds and pearls, so — be original!

Spent a night out on the town very recently — dining at my favorite restaurant in the world; the very famous Scandia on Sunset Blvd. in Hollywood. Perhaps those of you who have spent any time in this metropolis are familiar with this place. It is considered to be one of America's finest and is truly a gourmet's paradise. The smorgasbord, Kalflet Oskar, and Viking Sword are just a few of the exceptional Scandinavian dishes. And the view! Well, it's fantastic. Here you are, perched high on the Strip, overlooking an unending basin of multicolored lights and statuesque structures with mountains in the distance. . . . After this superb experience, we were off to the Crescendo down the Strip where one finds the cream of the night club circuit entertaining nightly. We were delighted by the up and coming folk singing group, The Serendipity Singers. This group is really "cool" — what a sound! Perhaps they have entertained at Iowa already. If not I do hope that you have the opportunity to host them.

Several weeks ago I had the pleasure of spending a day with Marge Edlerman, Willard's very personable manager. As many of you know, Marge was in L.A. for market week. We spent the day downtown at the California Fashion Mart buying savory garments for you fashion lovers and managed to work in some chatter over lunch. We are very excited about the Miss Ellette collection. Her dresses and costumes for day and late-day are noted for their soft approach to fashion and for their complete femininity. For instance, the three-piece costumes arriving now at Willard's are surely created for the fashion connoisseur. The softened collar-collared over blouses of crepe, compliment cut-away jackets and skirts of textured, rayon bark cloth. All of this expressed in subtle shadings of bone or frost blue. . . . saffron, splattered with powder blue, describes the silk surah print blouse which teams with a powder skirt, and saffron jacket. What a combination! . . . And, of course, there is the classic suit, so distinctly Miss Ellette's. Silkshah (rayon and silk) fabric of cocoa or navy and a matching silk print blouse boasting huge circles of white provides the ideal costume for daytime. The same fabric of oyster or powder has been employed again for an elegant late-day costume with beautifully beaded dress bodice. Ideal too, for the mother of the bride-to-be. . . . The epitome of femininity is to be seen in Miss Ellette's A-line dress, Spicy — with its red or navy polka-dot. Sweetness — expressed by the Gibson Girl white top which has long, puffy tucked sleeves. . . . I could go on and on raving about this fabulous collection!

Filly Wears White To Formal Debut

By BOB COOPER
AP Sports Writer

LExINGTON, Ky. (AP) — White Beauty, freshly scrubbed and looking as prim as any debutante, made her debut Friday as the first white thoroughbred ever on a race track.

Chaperoned by her owner, Herman Goodpaster, the 2-year-old filly was escorted by stablemate War Colors. A colt that is red, white and blue — no kidding.

The rare pair made a handsome couple as they galloped twice around Kenneland's training track in the brisk, sunny morning. Both are scheduled for their first races during the track's April 3-22 spring meet.

White Beauty, by Ky. Colonel-Filly O'Mine, is one of only three thoroughbreds ever officially listed as white. The others haven't raced. War Colors' official color is roan.

White Beauty and War Colors were both by the same sire, a month apart. At birth, both were white, although the colt had a chestnut splotch on his head.

Since then, hundreds of small speckled or reddish marks have appeared on War Colors' coat and there is blue where his skin shows through.

The filly still is pure white.

Baseball Personalities Make News on Coasts

Predict Yankee Sale Will Be Found Legal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said Friday he is confident Senate investigators will find nothing wrong with the purchase of the New York Yankees by the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Chairman Philip Hart (D-Mich.) said his Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee will begin four days of hearings on the deal Thursday.

There also were indications that this might be only the beginning for professional sports, with football being called on the carpet as a result of the signing of college players before their eligibility expires.

Hart said two weeks ago that some lawmakers favor legislation to remove antitrust exemptions from any professional sports team that signs a schoolboy or college athlete before he completes his eligibility.

Hart's subcommittee is considering a bill to exempt from antitrust regulation certain essential practices of professional sports. Baseball had held this exemption for many years under a Supreme Court ruling.

Both Frick and American League President Joe Cronin have been summoned to appear before the subcommittee next Friday.

BRONCOS MAY GO

DENVER (AP) — A member of the six-man group holding 52 per cent of the Denver Broncos stock said Friday that if his group could sell the American Football League franchise to local interests "without making too big a sacrifice," it would try to do so.

Home Town Mourns Loss Of Cage Star

ANACONDA, Mont. (AP) — Wayne Estes, who wrote new chapters in basketball history in Montana and at Utah State University, was buried Friday in his home town.

Flags were at half staff at public buildings. Business establishments and schools were closed for the funeral.

Estes, 21, was killed Monday, two hours after he had scored the basket giving him 2,001 points in his college career. He accidentally walked into a 2,300-volt electrical wire knocked from its pole by an auto accident.

Funeral services were at St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Anaconda. Public services followed in the high school gymnasium where Wayne started his rise to basketball fame.

Estes was the nation's second leading collegiate scorer and only the 18th to ever surpass 2,000 points in a college career.

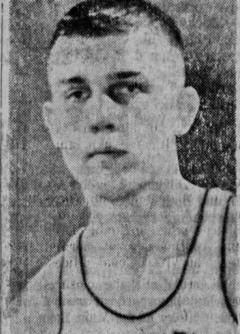

'Must' Game for Hawkeyes Today Face Rugged Ohio State Buckeyes

Iowa's basketball team tackles a dangerous Ohio State five this afternoon in a game that it must win if it is to stay in serious title contention in the Big Ten.

Courth Ralph Miller views the game as "critical" in the sense that the Hawks must bounce back from their defeat at Michigan Monday night or else go down the final stretch with three defeats. They have two games remaining against both Minnesota and Illinois, the teams currently in second and third place in the Big Ten.

The team left Iowa City Thursday, almost 24 hours ahead of schedule, to beat a blizzard reportedly on the way.

The game will be played in St. John arena in Columbus at 1:30 p.m. Iowa time.

Forward

IOWA HASN'T won a basketball game at Ohio State since 1956, in the last year of the Fabulous Five, so the Hawks will be battling a jinx as well as a pretty good ball club.

The Buckeyes, who have won or shared the conference title for an unprecedented five straight seasons, are not in the role of title challenger this year, but they are a young and improving team which is dangerous in any game, and a team which Coach Fred Taylor said would act as a spoiler in the conference race.

Without an all-American center for the first time in five years — the tenure of Jerry Lucas and Gary Bradds — the Buckeyes this year are depending more on team balance, the fast break, and a variety of defenses.

After Michigan's success against the Hawks with a zone defense, Ohio State will probably employ that defense much of the time.

DICK RICKETTS, six-foot senior guard who has started every game for Ohio State since he joined the squad as a sophomore, is the only returning Buckeye regular.

Jim Shaffer, 6-8, who started 16 of Ohio State's games last season as a forward, is now the regular center.

Two sophomores and a junior round out Ohio State's usual starting five. Sophomore Ron Sepic, 6-4, a forward is the Buckeye's top scorer for the season and has a 19.7 average in the Big Ten for 10th place in the scoring race.

His running mate in the front line is Andy Ahijevych, a 6-6 junior. The soph in the back court is Al Rowley.

ALTHOUGH Ohio State is 2-4 in the Big Ten and 8-8 overall, it has given everyone a battle and Monday night led Illinois 49-48, after 25 minutes before fading down the stretch to a 86-71 loss.

The Hawks are now fourth in the Big Ten with a 5-2 record and 11-6 overall. They hope to come shooting back today with more aggressive play in general and greater speed than they were able to muster in their defeat by Michigan.

MILLER was disturbed with Iowa's Wednesday evening practice — the last before the team left town — but he said he didn't know whether the squad was still stale and tired after the Michigan game, or simply trying too hard to atone for its failures in that contest.

Miller said he plans no changes in the starting lineup from that which has started since the second Indiana game almost four weeks ago.

That lineup, which toppled fourth-ranked Indiana, top-ranked UCLA, and Northwestern before the loss

Illinois Faces Minnesota In Key Loop Tilt

CHICAGO (AP) — Two key games within three days — Illinois at Minnesota Saturday and Indiana at Michigan Monday night — may just about tell the basketball title story in the Big Ten.

The Illinois-Minnesota clash pits two perfectly matched co-runners up, each with a 5-1 conference record and 13-3 over-all.

While the Gophers and Illini go at each other in a regionally televised matinee, top ranked Michigan Saturday and Indiana at Michigan Monday night — may just about tell the basketball title story in the Big Ten.

INDIANA, ranked eighth in the national AP poll despite a 4-2 Big Ten record, must win at Northwestern 2-4 Saturday night in order to carry a title challenge to Michigan Monday night.

Also Saturday afternoon, Iowa's still-perking Hawkeyes 5-2 appear at Ohio State 2-4 and Wisconsin and Purdue match limp 1-5 records at Lafayette, Ind.

It will be the season's second Illinois-Minnesota meeting. The Illini, currently ranked 10th nationally, shaded the Gophers 75-72 at Champaign, Ill., Jan. 16.

A MINNESOTA triumph would be of some concern to pace-setting Michigan which still must face the Gophers and March 6 at Minneapolis and March 6 at Ann Arbor. Michigan already has beaten Illinois once, 89-83, and meets the Illini again Feb. 27 at Champaign.

Minnesota, leading Big Ten field of 72.5 points with the league's second best offensive club in Illinois whose 86.8 average is topped only by Michigan's 94.0.

The Illini's free-wheeling attack — topping the 100-mark seven times this season — is paced by Skip Thoren, third best Big Ten scorer with 24.0. Thoren also is the top conference rebounder with a 7.2 average.

Hawkeyes Lead Big Ten In Field Goal Average

The Iowa basketball team continues to lead the Big Ten in field goal averages with a .472 per cent, and is second in defensive averages, with 73.4 per cent. Minnesota is first in this department with a 72.5 average.

The Hawks are fifth in offensive average, and last rebounding average.

Fencers Lose Two

Iowa's fencers lost meets Friday night to Wisconsin, 18-9, and Michigan State, 14-13, in the Field House.

Capt. Mike Kinsinger was the only Iowan to win all six of his matches. Kinsinger participates in the foil division. He now has a 14-3 season record.

Bill Tucker won four and lost two matches in the epee division.

NAACP Warns Negro Athletes Against U of Ill.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — A University of Illinois chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), charging "racially discriminatory practices" by the athletic department, said Friday it was advising Negro athletes against enrolling at the Big Ten school.

Specifically, a chapter resolution charged that certain coaches warned Illinois Negro athletes "to limit their educational social contacts to fellow Negroes." The coaches were not identified.

David D. Henry, University president, and an athletic association spokesman both declined to comment on the resolution because they said they had not seen it.

VA Hospitals Rescind Halt Admission Edict

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Veterans Administration announced Friday it is again admitting patients to the hospitals and soldier's homes whose closing was delayed by congressional action.

The VA, announcing last month its plans to close the institutions by June 30, had ordered a halt to admissions. But Congress stepped in and attached to an appropriation bill a rider which delayed until May 1 any action to close out the hospitals or consolidate regional offices.

President Johnson signed the law Thursday. The VA announced Friday it is acting to comply, but emphasized it has not abandoned its original plans. It said in a statement:

"This compliance will include the resumption of regular admissions to the 11 VA hospitals and four domiciliarys scheduled to be closed and the continuance of normal operations at VA regional offices. The VA still feels the closings and consolidations are necessary to promote efficiency and cut costs, the agency said.

Mapleton Private, 22, Missing in Viet Nam

MAPLETON (AP) — The mother of a young Iowa soldier reported missing in the rubble of a dynamited U.S. Army billet in Viet Nam said Friday his letters home were always cheerful.

Her voice breaking at times, Mrs. Howard D. Ferris told The Associated Press in a telephone interview she last heard from her son, Delmer, 22, around Feb. 1.

He had been in the Army less than a year, and in Viet Nam less than five weeks.

The Defense Department notified the Ferrises by telegram Thursday night that their son was among 19 servicemen still missing in the Wednesday night terrorist bombing at Qui Nhon. Two Americans were killed, and 22 wounded.

"He was very happy... his letters were real cheerful," Mrs. Ferris said. "He had been working real hard the past month."

Young Ferris, a private first class, took his basic training at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., and went to typing school at Ft. Dix, N.J.

He left there last Aug. 12, and arrived in Saigon last Sept. 19. From Saigon, his mother said, he was sent to Pleiku, scene of last week's bloody attack on U.S. personnel. Ferris spent only three days at Pleiku before being sent to Qui Nhon.

He attended high school here, St. John's Lutheran Junior College at Winfield, Kan., and Concordia Teachers College at Seward, Neb. Members of the family include a sister, Mrs. Ardith Vinell of Denison; the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dethleff of Ute, and the paternal grandfather, Carl E. Ferris of Norfolk, Neb.

Grad College Dean Okayed

Dr. Duane C. Spriestersbach, professor of speech pathology, has been appointed dean of the Graduate College.

The appointment was approved by the State Board of Regents Friday.

Dr. Orville A. Hitchcock, professor of speech, was named associate dean. Hitchcock had been serving as acting dean of the Graduate College since last June when former Dean John Weaver left to accept a post with Ohio State University. Both appointments become effective March 1.

Dr. Duane S. Spriestersbach, who is widely known within his profession for research on cleft lip and palate and related disorders, holds a joint appointment in the U of I departments of Speech Pathology and Audiology and Otolaryngology and Maxillofacial Surgery. Over the last decade, his research at the University has received extensive support from the National Institutes of Health and the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation.

The new dean is the current president of the American Speech and Hearing Association, an organization of 12,000 persons in speech and related areas of study, and past president of the American Cleft Palate Association, which is composed of speech pathologists, dentists, and physicians. He is also a member of various other professional organizations, including the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Iowa Speech and Hearing Association, the Society of Sigma Xi, the American Association of University Professors, and the United States Committee on Deafness, Speech and Hearing of the International Society for the Rehabilitation of the Disabled.

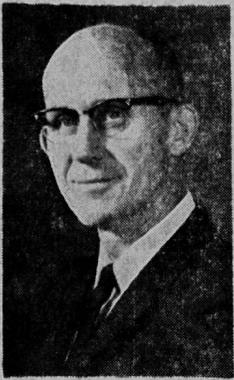

Prof. Spriestersbach was originally scheduled to attend Friday's Regent meeting in Des Moines, but bad weather postponed the trip. He will meet Board members at their March meeting in Des Moines.

Dr. Spriestersbach graduated cum laude from Minnesota State Teachers College in Winona in 1939, and earned his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the U of I in 1940 and 1948 respectively. He is the author or co-author of more than 30 articles and two books, one of which — "Diagnostic Methods in Speech Pathology" — is a widely used text.

Dr. Hitchcock earned his B.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the U of I in 1932 and 1936. He was a member of the faculties of the American University in Washington, D.C., and the University of Akron before returning to Iowa in 1946 as an associate professor. He became assistant dean of the Graduate College in 1962.

Dr. Spriestersbach will receive a $19,500 salary as dean of the Graduate College. He previously received $17,500 as a professor.

DOCTOR CRASHES BANK — HAMBURG, Germany — A physician broke into a local bank and figures it may have to pay him damages. He fell through the floor of his apartment above and dangled briefly over the cashier's desk as a result, he claims, of a recent renovation of the bank offices that weakened the ceiling supports.

Dorms Named For Former U of I Profs

Additions to two University of Iowa residence halls will carry the names of two outstanding University faculty members. The State Board of Regents approved the namings in Des Moines Friday.

The addition to Currier Hall residence for women students will be called Carrie Stanley Hall, and the Quadrangle addition for men students will be called Robert E. Rienow Hall.

Prof. Stanley taught English at Iowa for 34 years until her retirement in 1954. She then taught in the Lone Tree public schools until her death in 1962 at the age of 76.

Born in Toledo, Kan., Professor Stanley graduated from Corning High School in 1903. She received two degrees from the University and taught high school in Des Moines, Marshalltown, and Boise, Idaho.

Prof. Stanley has been called "one of Iowa's greatest teachers" by Prof. John C. Gerber, chairman of the English department. "Her writing laboratory was a model for others throughout the country, and it remains a continuing testimony to her," he said.

The Quadrangle Addition is named after the University's first dean of men, Dean Rienow, who served in that capacity from 1913 to 1942, died in 1946 at the age of 71.

Dean Rienow helped to found the National Association of Deans of Men in 1917. Two years later he aided in the creation of the University student health service.

The Quadrangle, one of the first men's dormitories in the Middle West, was built in 1918 during Dean Rienow's administration.

At the time of Dean Rienow's death, the late University President Virgil M. Hancher said: "Some men work for wealth, some for fame and some for the good of their fellow men. Dean Rienow belonged to this latter group."

LBJ's Mann To Replace Harriman

WASHINGTON — President Johnson reshuffled the State Department's top ranks Friday, naming Thomas C. Mann, a fellow Texan, undersecretary of state for economic affairs.

Mann, 52, a career diplomat, will replace W. Averell Harriman, the 73-year-old international trouble-shooter. Harriman was named ambassador at large, a job which will free him from administrative work.

Presidential press secretary George E. Reedy said in announcing the changes that Harriman "will handle specific highlevel assignments in the department and abroad."

Harriman had the title of undersecretary for political affairs. In the past the No. 3 job at the department has been filled by undersecretaries for either political or economic affairs.

Mann's designation, Reedy said, underscores the President's great interest in international economic affairs. The new undersecretary is familiar with foreign economic policy as he was assistant secretary of state for economic affairs in the late 1950's.

Mann will vacate the job of assistant secretary for inter-American affairs, Johnson named Jack Hood Vaughn, now ambassador to Panama, to replace Mann in that post. Mann, it is understood, will no longer act as special White House adviser on Latin America.

The changes caused no surprise at the State Department. It has been reported for some time that Harriman found his job taxing and would eventually be replaced by a confidante of the President. Mann is a longtime friend of Johnson.

Regents Give Dormitory Contracts

Contracts totaling $1,811,973 for construction of a new residence hall for men at the University were awarded by the State Board of Regents in Des Moines Friday.

The Regents also approved purchase by the University of an Iowa City property and the purchase of scientific equipment for the new Zoology Building addition.

Fane F. Vawter and Co., West Des Moines, won the contract for general construction of the Quadrangle addition, to be known as Robert E. Rienow Hall, on a low bid of $1,303,102. The bid included carpet in lieu of vinyl in corridors; a library, music room and practice rooms, and aluminum windows rather than steel. These were alternates in the bidding specifications.

Other successful bidders were Natkin and Co., Omaha, Neb., $276,625, mechanical work; E. R. Belt and Associates, Inc., St. Louis, Mo., $148,245, electrical work; Barber-Colman Co., Rock Island, Ill., $5,389, temperature control, and Westinghouse Electric Corp., Madison, Wis., $78,612, elevator.

The 523-bed dormitory has a total budget of $2,350,000 which includes planning, architect's fees, equipment, utilities connections, contingencies, and construction.

The building will be located near the southwest corner of the Quadrangle and will have a basement, ground floor and 11 additional floors. All rooms will be double rooms except for single rooms for advisers on 12 floors. As with all student housing, the cost of building and operating the structure will be paid from revenues of the student housing system.

The Iowa City property to be purchased by the University is at 303 Melrose Ave. and it is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Bruce E. Mahan. The purchase price is $32,800 for a land area approximately 60 by 300 feet on which is located a two-story frame house and frame garage, tool shed and screened porch.

Funds for the purchase will come from the General Endowment Fund. The property will be used for faculty housing until it is assigned for specific educational or dormitory purposes. It is located within the general campus boundaries and is bounded on the east and south by University-owned land.

Several items of scientific equipment will be purchased for the Zoology Building addition from the Matheson Scientific Co., Chicago, Ill., for $6,711.

In other actions, the Regents received a report in which University officials recommended that approximately 10 acres be reserved in the area of Hawkeye Apartments as a possible site for acquisition by the Iowa City Community School District for an elementary school should the need arise.

The University denied a request from the Iowa City board of education for acquisition of 50 acres west of the Hawkeye Apartments as a site for a high school. Although they understood the expansion problems facing the school district, University officials said, the request was denied because of need for additional student housing in the area in the near future. Long-range development plans will likely require the use of most of the University land in the area for expansion of housing or for educational buildings, they added.

The University also accepted a quit-claim deed from the city of Iowa City for the north 18.5 feet of Davenport St. between Clinton and Capitol. The land involved is along the south side of Currier Hall residence for women.

Regents Okay Dormitory Furnishings

DES MOINES — Plans to purchase more than $700,000 worth of equipment for two new buildings at the University were approved by the State Board of Regents here Friday.

The University was authorized to proceed with purchase of equipment and furniture for Phillips Hall (College of Business Administration building) and the Physics Research Center. Both are scheduled to go into use next fall.

The Physics Research Center project involves an expenditure of $550,000, which includes $30,000 for moving equipment out of the present quarters, and $39,000 for equipment associated with a 24-inch telescope which has been purchased for a new University astronomy observatory. The funds will come from state appropriations ($385,000) and federal grants ($165,000).

Funds for Phillips Hall equipment and moving expenses total $250,000 which will come from state appropriations. Equipment and furniture will be for the library, classrooms, statistical aid office management laboratories, auditorium, and offices.

CAREERS IN INSURANCE

A trade association for Fire and Casualty Agents who sell the policies of many different insurance companies, with the customer's interest always their first interest.

In 1763 there was exactly one insurance company in America; today there are thousands. And it takes over one million people working in the insurance industry to service the vast, growing horde of policyholders.

Insurance is mammoth and growing each year. The wide range of opportunities for careers in insurance is growing at the same phenomenal pace.

The insurance industry today is populated by a new breed of aggressive and talented people. The old stereotype of the door-to-door insurance salesman pulling policies of dubious worth out of a cracked-leather briefcase like hawkers' wares is gone. To be sure the salesman is still there, in fact he is working at the very frontier of the opportunities existing in insurance. But today he is a very highly respected business man whose advice is eagerly sought and adhered to.

Backing up the salesman, however, is a vast array of specialists. Mathematicians, doctors, lawyers, public relations counsels, electronic computer specialists and a boundless number of others are behind the scenes, making this giant industry move with amazing ease.

The craving for economic security on the part of Americans is self-evident. We have a fabulous industrial civilization, but we are also aware of the caprices of life. As long as there are economic hazards, as long as there is birth and death, Americans will continue to buy new policies and increase their old ones.

What are the opportunities in this field for you? Attend the Business Careers Conference and find out.
