LATE NEWS

GOVERNMENT TROOPS smashed into a Viet Cong unit on the Ca Mau Peninsula, killing at least 70 Communist soldiers, a U.S. military source said Tuesday. One U.S. Navy officer was killed. Government troops suffered three killed and eleven wounded in the action which began Sunday when a helicopter assault was launched against the Viet Cong near Vinh Loc. A second helicopter assault was carried out Monday.

AROUND THE WORLD

NEGROES TRIED five times to march downtown Monday as part of a voter registration drive but were halted by police who bombarded one group with tear gas and smoke bombs when they refused to disperse, in Camden, Ala.

Two groups of marchers stood on the sidewalk and sang and chanted after they were halted. Twelve marchers were taken into custody by police.

Mayor Reginald Albritton told the adult marchers they were free to walk to the registrar office, with a police escort if desired, but could not stage a mass march.

U.S. WARPLANES blasted the Vinh Linh radar station and shot up some North Vietnamese rolling stock Monday. Ground fire was reported absent to moderate.

A U.S. spokesman said a fighter-bomber was downed, but the pilot was recovered. The New China News Agency, whose statistics rarely agree with those released in Saigon, declared in a broadcast that four of the raiders were shot down and many others damaged.

Communist MIG fighters, which felled two American raiders Sunday, failed to show up during this 18th day in the series of aerial attacks launched by the United States and South Viet Nam Feb. 7.

SOVIET COMMUNIST CHEFTAIN Leonid I. Brezhnev and Premier Alexi N. Kosygin arrived Monday in Warsaw to renew the Russians' 1945 alliance with Poland for two more decades.

ACROSS THE NATION

THE UNITED STATES declared Monday night that South Viet Nam is a victim of a form of Communist aggression that uses threats, murder, kidnapping and terror.

U.S. Delegate Francis Plimpton replied in these words to charges by Soviet Delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko that the United States is the aggressor.

SKIN DIVERS guided four trapped spelunkers to safety through the murky waters of a flooded cave Monday. One of the divers collapsed at the mouth of the cave and died after helping out the last of the explorers.

In Washington, the Navy identified the diver as one of a three-man Navy team flown in from Washington for the rescue effort — Chief Damage Controlman Lyle E. Thomas, a veteran of 22 years service with 14 years of diving experience.

SAM NEWMAN, a Knoxville, Tenn., advertising agency executive, confirmed Monday he posed for a bust of the late President John F. Kennedy made by a famed New York sculptor.

"It's true," Newman said when shown a copy of an Associated Press story saying sculptor Jacques Lipchitz had made the bust of Kennedy.

U Sing Finals Narrowed To Seven Choral Groups

Seven choral groups qualified for finals of the Mothers Day weekend University Sing during semi-final competition Monday night in Macbride Auditorium.

The groups were Delta Chi and Alpha Delta Pi; Delta Tau Delta and Kappa Alpha Theta; Sigma Nu and Kappa Kappa Gamma; Delta Upsilon and Chi Omega; McBroom house of Burge; Wardell and Daley of Burge and Quadrangle; and Wellman of Burge and Hillcrest.

Judges for the semi-finals were: Dr. Rosella Duerksen, 2820 Eastwood Dr.; Jim Fudge, G. Grand Forks, N.W.; and Olaf Malm, G. Tacoma, Wash.

Dr. Duerksen is the choir director at the First Presbyterian church in Iowa City. Fudge, a Ph.D. candidate in the department of music, is on leave from his position at the University of North Dakota as director of core music. Malm is a candidate for a Ph.D. in choral literature.

University Sing finals will be held on May 2 in the Union Main Lounge.

Concert Band Will Perform Thursday, April 8

The Hawkeye Concert Band will present a concert Thursday (April 8) at 8 p.m. in North Music Hall at The University of Iowa.

No tickets will be required for the concert, which will be open to the public.

Frederick C. Ebbs, director of bands at the U of I, will conduct the opening number, "Dedicated Overture" by Clifton Williams.

Robert Glidden, University High School Band director, will conduct the last half of the program.

Conducting one number each will be graduate students Gordon Boyd, Bradner, Ohio, and Marvin Belford, Des Moines.

No Flood Danger Now Predicted For Iowa City

Rex Harrison, Julie Andrews Win Best Actor, Actress Oscars

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — Rex Harrison won the Oscar for the best actor of 1964 at the Academy Awards Monday night for his performance in "My Fair Lady."

Julie Andrews was named best actress for "Mary Poppins."

Peter Ustinov, the bungling jewel thief of "Topkapi," scored a surprise win as best supporting actor of 1964 at the Academy Awards ceremonies Monday night.

It was the second such Oscar for the British-born actor, whose award was accepted by comedian Jonathan Winters. Ustinov was selected in 1960 for his supporting role in "Spartacus."

Ustinov was in Europe, directing Paul Newman and Sophia Loren in "The Lady L."

Other awards included: Sound, "My Fair Lady," Warner Bros., George R. Groves. Sound Effects, "Goldfinger," Eon Productions, United Artists, Norman Wanstall. Special Visual Effects, "Mary

BULLETIN

The NBC Broadcasting network reported Monday night that key Viet Cong units were moving out of South Viet Nam. The men in the units told South Vietnamese natives that they would return in two or three years.

President Johnson is expected to comment on the development in his speech at Johns Hopkins University Wednesday night.

Easter Sing Tonight at 8

Tickets are still available for the Easter concert presented jointly by the University Symphony Orchestra and the Oratorio Chorus at 8 tonight and tomorrow night in the Union Main Lounge.

Blue tickets will be distributed for tonight's performance and yellow tickets for Wednesday night's concert, at the Union Information Desk.

Some 250 students and faculty members will present a program consisting of Cherubini's "Requiem Mass," and Poulenc's "Stabat Mater."

In addition to the approximately 2,200 persons who will hear the program live at the Union, people from six surrounding states will listen to radio tapes of the concert. The states are Iowa, Illinois, South Dakota, Missouri, Wisconsin, and Minnesota.

Daniel Moe, associate professor of music, will conduct the combined groups, and Dorothea Brown, instructor in music, will be soprano soloist.

"Requiem Mass" by Cherubini is divided into nine parts, and composes the first half of the program.

Poulenc's "Stabat Mater" was first performed in 1951 at the Strasbourg Festival and won the Critic's Circle Award for the best choral work of the year.

Poulenc was born in Paris in 1899. He is the composer of "Gloria," which was performed in Iowa City for the first time in 1961 with Moe directing.

Closing Early

Due to circumstances beyond anyone's control, most of City Park was closed before 10:30 p.m. Monday. In addition to flooding in the park, the Iowa River covered Dubuque Street (background) by late afternoon. — Photo by Ken Kephart

But High Waters May Impede Travel

Iowa City is in no immediate danger from the floods that are threatening surrounding communities and areas around the state.

The level of the Iowa River stood Monday at about 68.52 ft. and could rise another foot before presenting a serious problem, according to Coralville Dam employees.

Paving Project, Annexation Plan To Be Heard

Ten public hearings will be held when the Iowa City Council meets at 7:30 tonight in the Civic Center.

Included in the hearings will be Iowa City's proposed annexation of a 3.7 square mile area surrounding and including the Johnson County Poor Farm in the western part of the city.

A public hearing also will be held on Iowa City's proposed street paving project. Citizens who would be assessed in this project have already been notified by the city.

The state weather bureau reported, however, that the Iowa River was expected to crest 6½ feet above flood stage at Marshalltown Monday night. The river was also expected to crest 4½ feet at Wapello by next Monday.

Although it has not crested in this area, the Iowa River began flowing out of its banks Saturday morning, flooding lowlands south of Iowa City and edges of city park. The flooding was blamed on melting snow in northern Iowa.

During the weekend, Coralville reservoir engineers have opened floodgates to accommodate an outflow capacity of 10,000 cubic feet per minute. Engineers reported that a measure of 8,500 cubic feet per minute was being maintained.

Increased vegetation and decayed material in the water supply have created a higher demand for chlorine purification and this explains why local water has had a swimming pool smell and taste lately, Cleo Kron, manager of the City Water Department, said Monday.

The ice moved downriver to Lehigh Monday, where some families were evacuated from their homes as a precautionary measure.

Five highways were closed Monday night because of high water. These were old Iowa 5 at the east edge of Cherokee, Iowa 14 north of Marshalltown, Iowa 31 north and south of Correctionville, U.S. 59 at the south edge of Cherokee and Iowa 147 from U.S. 18 to Rockford.

FLOOD WATERS were over-running nearly a score of other highways and slowing traffic, but not stopping it. Also, many county roads were impassable because of mud and high water.

The Des Moines River was expected to crest Friday at 25 ft. at 2nd Avenue in Des Moines, where flood stage is 23 ft. and at 28 ft. at SE 14th Street in Des Moines, where flood stage is 21 ft.

Rain and cloudy skies held temperatures generally in the 40s Monday.

Cloudiness will decrease from west to east today and afternoon highs are expected to range from the lower 40s north to the upper 40s along the southern Iowa border.

Warmer temperatures are expected to return to the state Wednesday under partly cloudy skies.

Saturday Class Order Stands

The protested regulations governing Saturday morning classes will not be changed, according to Dr. J. Richard Wilmeth, associate professor of sociology and anthropology and chairman of the Faculty Committee.

Those departments with special problems in scheduling, according to Dr. Wilmeth, are urged to see Richard Gibson, administrative assistant in the Division of Student Services.

George C. Hoyt, associate professor and chairman of business administration, questioned the efficacy of the regulations governing Saturday morning classes at the Faculty Council special meeting April 1.

The council is scheduled to meet again at 3:45 p.m. today at the House Chamber of Old Capitol.

Hoyt said the new rule requiring one-third of all morning classes to be held on a Tuesday-Thursday-Saturday sequence will actually reduce the use of classrooms on Tuesday and Thursday mornings to only 40 or 50 per cent.

Classrooms are now used on Tuesday and Thursday mornings at perhaps 70 per cent, he said. Obviously, this is too great a loss of utilization of facilities on Tuesday and Thursday mornings to be made up by the addition of a relatively few Saturday classes in each department, he said.

Gibson said that about 3½ per cent of all courses would be scheduled on the Tuesday-Thursday-Saturday sequence, according to Wilmeth.

Wilmeth said in the special meeting of the Faculty Council that he had received several letters from faculty members objecting to the Tuesday-Thursday-Saturday scheduling of classes on the basis that it imposed a new burden on the faculty.

Faculty Council Informed Schedules Must Change

About a dozen people signed the letters, Wilmeth said.

Those who attended the meeting as guests and who had written letters objecting to the Saturday classes were Edwin B. Allaire, associate professor of philosophy; Ralph Freedman, professor of English; Joe R. Fritzmeier, associate professor and chairman of accounting; Jessie L. Hornsby, associate professor of the romance languages; Roger A. Hornsby, associate professor of classics; Dee W. Norton, associate professor of psychology; and Eugene Spaziani, associate professor of zoology.

Wilmeth explained that the new burden imposed on the faculty would be that many faculty members would have to reorganize their time.

This would mean, he said, that in the smaller departments, it would be difficult to give a faculty member a large block of free time to do research, to conduct personal business or to have leisure time.

The larger departments such as English and sociology were having less trouble in scheduling their faculty for equal time loads, Wilmeth said.

President Howard R. Bowen and Willard L. Boyd, vice president of instruction and dean of faculties, apologized for not consulting the Faculty Council about the new scheduling regulations, according to the minutes of the April meeting.

"Mr. Bowen stated that he thought a schedule which kept the students in town on weekends might encourage academic excellence," according to the minutes.

Drake University, Des Moines; Grinnell College, Grinnell; Iowa State University, Ames; and the State College of Iowa, Cedar Falls, now schedule Saturday classes.

According to the minutes, Pres. Bowen said the objective of the new regulations is to operate the University more efficiently.

He said he was willing to allow a review of the directory to obtain more flexible regulations.

Gibson said he designed the regulations in the division of student services under the supervision of Ted McCarrel, executive dean of student services, according to the minutes.

The plan was distributed to the deans and was discussed by the Academic Board, according to the minutes. It approved them and they were sent to departmental executive officers.

Robert Boynton, associate professor of political science and a member of the Faculty Council, said Monday in a telephone interview with The Daily Iowan, "A medium-sized department like ours will absorb this change fairly well. The problem is how to handle the increasing enrollment if there is no more space."

"We find that in trying to reschedule our government we must stand in line to get space and times."

Dr. George N. Bedell, associate professor of internal medicine, and secretary of Faculty Council, said Monday he thought the protestors of the Saturday scheduling of classes made their point at the Faculty Council meeting.

"We were concerned that the faculty had not been consulted in the decision. The administration said it was sorry," he said.

Game without winners

THE WAR IN VIET NAM is by no means a game. The 60 tons of bombs that were dropped on North Viet Nam Saturday were certainly not toys.

But away from the battlefield, in the newspaper stories and official statements concerning U.S. policy, discussion of the war has become a game of semantics. If you know the terms and their simple definitions, it's quite easy to play.

First of all, there is North and South Viet Nam; the North is Communist, the South is not. "Communist" is an essential part of the game; it means "the enemy" and lumps together several important groups.

One of these groups is the "Viet Cong," which is the group that the United States and its "allies" in the South Vietnamese Government are fighting. In the game of semantics, "Viet Cong" is also referred to as "infiltrators," who "invade" from the North.

But there are some fine points in the game, in addition to these very basic terms. (Many people find that they can play the game using only the basics, but this approach isn't very challenging.)

For the advanced players, an important phrase is "by invitation." This explains the presence of the United States in South Viet Nam and, according to the rules of the game, the term is valid over an indefinite period of time. The game is best played if no events are allowed to affect the "invitation" from the time it was first issued.

For the very advanced players, the phrase "losing face" becomes reserve ammunition.

Some old-fashioned players may want to use the phrase "making Viet Nam safe for democracy," although it is rather out of date and is usually expressed more subtly.

The semantic game also provides ways of discrediting anyone who challenges the players. If someone suggests that perhaps it is not advantageous to all concerned that the United States be so actively involved, you may call him a "neo-isolationist" and then let the implications of the term disqualify him.

The advantages of the game are many. It is a simple way of understanding what is happening and demands no thought or evaluation by anyone. The game also defines the good guys and the bad guys explicitly, and produces warm feelings of righteousness in those who play.

The disadvantage of the semantic approach is this: it deals only with words — very poorly defined words, at that — and stifles any rational approach to the actual situation.

It is a most dangerous game. —Linda Weiner

Letters — Barnett: corn-fearing comedian

To the Editor: Congratulations are in order to the student body of SU, the PSDC, and Gov. Ross Barnett, for the extremely amusing and entertaining evening we provided for ourselves, last Thursday night.

It is not often you can go to a concert for the sake of auditory titillation and be able to play second fiddle at the same time. However, if anyone had the misfortune to be on the sidelines, those not entering into the frolic of the occasion, it was the local Campus Police; renowned far and wide for their devout interest and firm commitment to the safe sports of parking tickets incorporated, football and basketball round-up, and jolly wagon riding (regardless of the weather).

Their attendance at the meeting Thursday night and especially their glazed James Bond look may support the claim that anti-segregationism is basically a Communist inspired movement.

Did they expect a demonstration? As Mr. Barnett said, "Iowa is the best place to live, for the corn grows tall." Certainly this is true and therefore, how could anyone, especially corn-fearing citizens such as our Campus Police are, even contemplate a demonstration, inspired by any patriotic group!

If this be the case, then just why were they there and whom were they protecting, Gov. Ross Barnett, SNCC, or the student body? Seriously, who would bother to physically question and react to one of the most practiced comedians in the business, Gov. Ross Barnett.

April Fool is only salvation

To the Editor: Friday's letter by Mr. Wilson convinced this visitor to your campus that Wilson is really a conservative. He is trying to discredit the Left by posing as one of them and playing the fool. It must be, for not one of his conclusions could be seriously drawn from his premises.

The basic patterns are: if you support a group, one of whose members once held an unpopular view, then you and all like you support that view; if you ever wrote an article for a magazine, then you and all who hold other views you hold in other areas, stand for that magazine; if you hold common principles with a man who had an associate who was once an associate of an anti-Semite, then you hate Jews; and if one of your associates is homosexual, then anyone who holds any principles in common with you supports perversion.

By the first argument, used to blacken HUAC, anyone who refuses to reject categorically the support of a communist for his cause, is a communist.

By the second argument, used to slander Fulton Lewis, Norman Mailer is a homosexual because he wrote an article for One magazine, and so are his readers.

The third principle, third-hand guilt by association, always evokes cries of McCarthyism, etc. from the Left, except, of course, when they use it.

By the fourth principle, used to link McCarthyism with querdrom via Cohn and Schine, the Jenkins matter establishes a dark link with perversion and the Great Society.

A cause is no more reasonable than the logic behind it. On Mr. Wilson's showing, anti-conservatism is the very pastion of anti-intellectualism and unreason; his only salvation will be that his letter was an April Fool joke.

"OP" ART OF OUR TIME

Negroes must decide

To the Editor: I had the opportunity the other evening to listen to Gov. Ross Barnett. His defense of the governmental policies of the Southern states shows clearly that his belief in the syllogism he has set up with regard to the Negro is such, he is not to be convinced otherwise by reasoning — much less by derision and insult.

What was revealing to me at the meeting was not Gov. Barnett's ineptness as a champion of apartheid. He is an unimportant as the lingering traces of the night which refuse to acknowledge the advent of day. What was revealing is the imperative need for the Negro to make an honest appraisal of himself and his movement.

It seems to me the Negro must begin by defining very unmistakably the goals of his movement. Are his demonstrations aimed at achieving political equality or are they aimed at complete integration in the American community? Is he asking for his right to vote or is he asking for acceptance by all his fellow-Americans?

More was expected

To the Editor: Many thanks to Fred Wilson for his letter of April 2, giving us such a simple way to evaluate a political position.

To show that conservatives support fascists he begins by saying that conservatives support HUAC. He tells us that Edward Sullivan, HUAC's first "Chief Investigator," addressed "Hitler's American front, the German American Bund," in the days before World War II.

He gives us another example of a HUAC "Chief Investigator," supporting fascism by quoting one sentence, assures us that these are but two examples of many, and concludes that conservatives support fascists a rather shaky conclusion in itself, even if we grant all the premises, thereby implying that all conservatives support the goals of fascism!

Having established this method of "logic," Mr. Wilson employs it to demonstrate that conservatives are also anti-Semitic and anti-Negro.

Thus it seems that all we have to do to evaluate a political position, and all the people who profess it, is to find a belief of one man (or a few men) who participates in an organization supported by this political position. From this we can reason that those who profess this political position support the belief of the one man in the one organization.

Really, Mr. Wilson, I would have expected better from you. But perhaps I made the mistake of reasoning that since one of the liberals I have spoken with is intelligent, all those who support the liberal position should be intelligent.

Away with agitators

By JON VAN
Managing Editor

We recently had the pleasure of interviewing one of the nation's last Great Patriots, Floss Quartet, former ruler of that great laboratory of experimental democracy — Sippimmippi.

The former ruler was in town to give the Word to local folks on how us patriots can put an end to the Left Wing conspiracy which those traitors in Washington are trying to put over on us.

"Why it's terrible," he told reporters at his press conference, "how all these agitators come in an' stir up folks and cause trouble. They's talkin' 'bout lettin' folks vote who ain't even been to law college an' can't pass our simple literacy test in constitutional law."

"If'n ya let everybody vote, why, ya can't tell what they might do, or who they might vote for. An' it's all, I'm perty sure, them Communists. They're only using these people and stirrin' things up so as to take over the gubvment."

"ONE OF THESE guys was talkin' at a bunch of beatniks over national television, an' everybody could see he was a Communist. He tole those demonstrators that it wasn't jes votin' he wanted, but he wanted to get the Negro to vote enough to lect the state officials an' control the state house!"

"These people are tryin' to take over our gubvment. That's right, take it over — they's all a bunch of Communists."

"Floss," we asked the good patriot, "can you tell us just why it is that you believe the civil rights agitators are Communists?"

"Why of course, son, Ah'd be glad to. Ya see, Ah've got this here picture at home of Martin Luther King a settin' on a stage up there with three Communists, jest listenin' to 'em an' huddlin' up close with 'em, like a covey of quail."

"An' Ah knows these three was Communists cause they all been certified Communists by the Georgia Board of Education. You can see from this picture, if Ah had it, how these Communists control these misguided po' folk and use beatniks to stir up trouble."

"Why, we have good race relations in Sippimmippi — best in the country — without these outside agitators comin' in. Even today on a personal basis we've got the best race relations."

"THE OTHER day a colored man stepped on my foot in a bus as he was movin' to the back, an' Ah didn't even have the conductor put him off. This kinda thing happens every day in our state. We treat our Negroes fine. They's the happiest and richest Negroes in the country. An' they won't leave Sippimmippi — they love it there."

"One fella, colored fella, left an estate of over nine million dollars here jes las' fall — he was lynched for winkin' at a white woman — ya see our Negroes are really rich."

VAN

"The coloreds up here otta come to Sippimmippi. They'd like it."

"Mr. Quartet," we asked, "the President has declared war on the Ku Klux Klan after recent murders involved in civil rights incidents in Alabama. Can you give us your opinion of the Klan?"

"Certainly, sir. Ah'd like to say first that Ah don't have all the facts on the alleged trouble with Klan members that the President has. Ah think our laws should be enforced an' we won't permit them bein' broken. On that basis, Ah would say that while there may be some bad individuals in the Klan, Ah wouldn't criticize the group because of it. 'As a matter of fact, Ah've nevah criticized any group publicly. Ah only judge individuals."

"WHAT ABOUT CORE, SNCC, NAACP and other groups you've linked with the Communist party?" we asked.

"Well, Ah haven't criticized those organizations as groups; Ah'm only sayin' that most of their leaders are Cominist agitators comin' in an' causin' trouble. Ah will say Ah'm against all Communists. We otta get rid of all of 'em in this country."

With that statement, the press conference was over and the former ruler was escorted to the lecture hall where he was scheduled to speak. His party found the crowds so large it was difficult to get into the hall.

"Excuse me sir," Quartet told a campus policeman, "Ah'd like to get through this line here."

"Oh you would, huh?" came the reply, "well you'll have to wait just like everyone else. You think you're special or somethin'?"

"Sir, Ah'm Ruler Quartet, tonight's speaker!"

"Oh, a wise guy, huh? We're giving this guy special protection from clowns like you, now move along or I get out my cattle prods. You outsiders should stay home and not come in here and cause trouble," the officer was getting angry.

"But sir, Ah..."

"You'll be on your way fella, or I'll take you in. We got enough trouble here directin' traffic. Move along."

QUARTET MOVED along and found the back entrance to the hall. When he took the stage, he began, "Friends, Ah'd like to thank y'all for invitin' me here. If'n Ah hadn't been invited, Ah wouldn't a come."

"The trouble — the only trouble — with our race relations in Sippimmippi," he continued, "is the outsiders comin' in. They all otta stay home and let us alone. Why if'n you don't believe how fine our Negroes get along with the whites — come on down and see for yourselves."

"I sure don't want to go down there, one fresh man told us after the speech 'that guy sounded too strange, but I think I'll have my uncle send one of his salesmen.'"

"What's your uncle do?"

"Makes washing machines. He has a special model that should really go over big in Sippimmippi. It's made especially for sheets — has a real effective inside agitator. The Klan might be interested."

A choice for Pres. Parisi

By JOHN BARRETT
Senate Analyst

The Student Senate will clearly demonstrate in the next few weeks exactly where it intends to drag the belabored and demoralized carcass of student government. As the first full meeting of the new Student Senate draws near, Pres. Parisi and his associates might well remember last year's experience of how quickly the tone for the entire Senate session was established during the first few meetings.

In cabinet appointments, executive-sponsored resolutions and the immediate formulation of cliques within the Senate, the retired Student Senate got off to a dubious start and improved throughout the year only in so far as it became more lethargic and did less to muddle an already chaotic situation.

The new Senate, on the other hand, although blessed with a few returnees, appears to be more amenable to what has become the fashionable mode of government: consensus. Absent from the new group of campus leaders will be such familiar Young Turks — now grown rather aged — as Merle Wood, William Hieronymous and even Tom Stone.

In their places sit new and relatively inexperienced people. Not being tied to any particular faction within the Senate, the majority of them are ripe for molding into a form of unanimity needed for any aggressive program which the president may support.

THE BURDEN, however, is on Pres. Parisi. With the program he advocates, with the cabinet appointments he makes and in the way he exercises his official and unofficial prestige, Parisi will be responsible for determining what direction the new Student Senate will take.

It will be the president's conception of the "proper role" of student government and his understanding of what areas are the legitimate concern of students that will determine the success or failure of the new Student Senate.

Traditionally, three basic alternatives have been presented to each new Senate: (1) a policy of continuing past programs and activities; (2) one emphasizing "student services"; and (3) an as yet untried approach of transforming the Senate into a student forum and voice for problems beyond the myopic brain of the stereotype, pep-club-oriented collegian.

THE FIRST alternative — that of a slavish continuation of past traditions — seems to be more of a rut than a road for the Senate. During a period when the University of Iowa is facing a vast number of problems — from married student housing to extensive changes in the curriculum — the confused and meaningless debates which have characterized the Senate in the past would present a ludicrous paradox.

That Pres. Parisi could follow this course after the implications he raised in his campaign, boggles one's good senses.

Senate reorganization was one of Parisi's primary campaign pledges, and should he hoodwink the new Senate (as his predecessors did, once they were elected) he would lose much of the advantage common to every Senate president.

The second alternative, entailing an expansion of student services, is only slightly more attractive than the first. Currently, what services there are — Spring Festivals, computer dances, Pep Club ticket distribution, etc. — are handled by the numerous Senate commissions and Senate-approved organizations. Admittedly, the commissions are in need of thorough disciplining, but it is to be hoped that Parisi doesn't accomplish this at the expense of broader concerns of the student body.

THE IDEA of concentrating on "services" to the exclusion of other matters might have the additional disadvantage of permanently damaging the Student Senate.

As the Senate progressively relinquishes its command over more activities and responsibilities, other groups assume them. Conceivably, the day may come when the Senate has abdicated from all of its major responsibilities as it has done in the areas of student civil rights activities, married student problems, hours regulations and many others.

What the Senate will be left with is a matter of interesting conjecture, but if the current trend continues, the Senate will be responsible for greasing the pigs for the Spring Festival, handing out football tickets to screaming coeds and joining and disjoining NSAs.

By encouraging the Senate in its predilection for the problems of the raccoon-coated crowd, Pres. Parisi could obliterate any chance of ever transforming the Senate into a meaningful institution for the majority of students.

THE THIRD, and by far the most difficult, alternative available to Parisi encompasses a serious reassessment of the entire purpose of the Student Senate. There are today a vast number of University problems which directly affect every student. Past Senates have made only exploratory trips into these areas (as, for instance, two years ago when they approved the tuition raise, post facto) but most of the excursions have been miserable failures.

The reason why they failed seems clear. When any group of students is forced to dally-waddle with the puny problems of the Pep Club or the Spring Festival, they become conditioned to the notion that they should deal with nothing of importance.

Then, as with the parking problem debacle of last year, when negligent administrators refuse to discharge their own duties, and instead throw a bone to the Senate, student government is caught with its B.V.D.s down.

THE MINUSCULE problems of the Senate can be handled well by a reorganized structure of Senate commissions, as Pres. Parisi has suggested. The new stop, however, is not to wait for the occasional treats which the Committee on Student Life sees fit to bestow on the Senate, but to take the initiative in presenting the Student Senate's view on the problems and programs facing the University.

It shouldn't matter if the Senate's view doesn't find favor with the president of the University, the Board of Regents or C.S.L. Few dissenting voices are heard now with respect to "administrative policy" (including the elusive faculty council) and for the Senate to assume this role would be a welcome and needed relief.

It is the shame of the Student Senate that it has not, as yet, managed to extricate itself from the trivialities of Varsity Life long enough to express its views on more important matters. Pres. Parisi is in an excellent position to change this orientation, and we will soon see if he intends to.

In the final analysis, Parisi can be either a witness to the Senate's continued intellectual emaciation or the initiator of a radically different and exciting era in student government.

State To Present Local Job Lists For June Grads

The Iowa Employment Security Commission has announced that it will present June's list of job opportunities with a variety of career opportunities available in their home state.

The Commission said the Iowa State Employment Service (ISES) would gather a list of job openings available to the June graduates and would send interviewers to work with college placement offices to interest graduating seniors in these jobs.

The program will allow the smaller company to better compete with larger firms that maintain their own campus scouting and hiring systems, the Commission said.

It added that the smaller company often has openings just as attractive as those offered by the large firm but has no means of tapping the college talent directly.

The ISES will contact as many employers as possible for a list of job openings requiring college graduates. However, the Commission emphasized that employers interested in this program should contact their nearest Iowa State Employment Service as soon as possible.

VA Officials To Update Formulary System Policy

The Veterans Administration has announced that it will update its pharmaceutical "formulary system" policy as a result of recommendations by four professional organizations.

A formulary is a list of medicines with their formulas and directions for combining them.

Veterans Administration Hospital Director, Dr. J. Gordon Spendlove, said the VA will discontinue its present policy by which physicians gave blanket prior authorization for the dispensation of alternate brands or "equivalent" brands of medicine with no specific trade names.

In the future, the agency will adopt a system which provides for the physician, at the time of his prescription, to approve or disapprove the dispensation of alternate brands if he chooses.

It also provides for the appraisal and use of drugs not included in the formulary, he said.

According to Dr. Spendlove, the recommendations were made by the American Medical Association, the American Pharmaceutical Association, the American Hospital Association, and the American Society of Hospital Pharmacists.

Drive Underway For Cancer Society

April is "cancer month" and the drive for funds in Iowa City is now in full swing. About 300 volunteers began soliciting Iowa City homes Thursday in an effort to aid the American Cancer Society's fight against cancer.

Among the volunteers are members of Sigma Delta Tau sorority, who are calling upon apartment residents in downtown Iowa City. Robert B. Anderson, 715 W. Park Rd., Johnson County crusade chairman, has announced that the drive at both residential and business levels will continue through Friday.

Co-chairmen for the residential drive are Mrs. Edward Baker, 305 Koser Ave., and Mrs. Walter Hauer, 1720 Glendale Rd.

Hawkeye Spring Teams Fly South to Arizona Sunday

Weather miseries of the midwest will be left behind by 51 Iowa spring sports teams athletes Sunday when the four squads fly to the sunny southwest for a week of competition and practice at the University of Arizona in Tucson.

It is the first venture of its kind ever undertaken by a Big Ten university. On the flight will be 21 baseball players, 18 track and field athletes and six men each in golf and tennis. The chartered flight arrives in Tucson at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Unless the Iowa weather does a quick reversal, it seems that the athletes of all teams will go to Arizona without having had any outdoor work because of cold weather or soft playing areas.

Iowa's baseball team had three games with Western Illinois last week cancelled because of wet grounds and it appeared Monday that the Hawkeyes would be unable to get on the home diamond for Tuesday and Wednesday games with Luther college.

The ball team will be the most active, since the Hawkeyes are scheduled for six games with Arizona, opening Monday and closing Saturday with two games. A dual tennis meet is set for April 12 at 7:30 p.m. and a golf meet on that day starts at 2 p.m.

Coach Francis Cretzmeier said that the track meet, set for Wednesday evening, probably will be a non-scoring exhibition affair. The Arizona coach says that he cannot present a complete team without using freshmen and the yearlings are not eligible to compete against the Big Ten team.

In baseball, the Hawks meet Arizona at night Monday and Thursday and Saturday, with afternoon contests set for Tuesday and Wednesday and Saturday.

Baseball Debut Is Cancelled For 2nd Time

The Iowa Hawkeyes' baseball debut has been delayed for a second time. The two game series with Luther College has been moved back one day, setting single games for Wednesday and Thursday afternoon.

The rain which fell most of the day Monday left the Iowa field in questionable condition but Coaches Dick Schultz and Otto Vogel were hopeful that a change in the weather would dry the wet spots by Wednesday.

Field Coach Schultz has his pitchers named and ready to go if the games can be played. Bob Gebhard, who had a 4-3 mark in 1964, will start Wednesday's game pitch last year because of a sore arm but Jim McAndrew, who didn't start but was 4-0 in 1963, will open in Thursday's contest.

Since it will be the first outing for both men, Schultz won't permit either to pitch more than five innings. Bob Schauenberg, 3-4 in 1964, will relieve Gebhard and Joe Madden, 0-0 last season, will probably back up McAndrew.

Should weather force cancellation of Wednesday's games Schultz hopes to play two seven-inning games on Thursday before the Hawks leave for their Arizona trip during the Easter recess.

Glenn Gailis Takes Second In Nationals

Iowa's 1964 All-America gymnast, Glenn Gailis won second place in the still rings event at the National Collegiate Gymnastic meet on the Southern Illinois campus at Carbondale, Ill., last weekend.

The Iowa senior from Oak Brook, Ill., also placed fifth on the horizontal bar and sixth in the side horse in other individual competition.

Other individual finishers included Ken Gordon of Iowa, who tied for second on the side horse; Jim Selby of Iowa State, who placed sixth on the long horse; and Jerry Crowder of Iowa State, who tied for fifth on the parallel bars.

Glop

It's time for that seasonal cry "Play Ball," but not on the Iowa campus. Our Hawkeyes were scheduled to host Luther College today, but their opener has been cancelled for the second time this spring. This time to give the mud on the home diamond a chance to dry up. This scene was taken Monday afternoon from the Iowa dugout. Field

Coach Dick Schultz hopes two games with Luther — on Wednesday and Thursday, or a doubleheader Thursday — may still be played if the weather cooperates. Next Sunday the Hawkeyes take off for a six game series with the University of Arizona in Tucson. Let's hope it's a little bit drier down there! — Photo by Marlin Levison

Pitchers Begin To Get Hot In Last Week of Exhibitions

By The Associated Press

Pitching dominated the action Monday as baseball moved into its final week of exhibition play. The top performance was turned in by two Chicago White Sox pitchers — veteran John Buzhardt and a rookie added to the roster only two days ago, Bob Locker. They combined to blank the Philadelphia Phillies 2-0, permitting just one single between them.

Gene Oliver's bases loaded single in the 12th inning broke up the tightest pitching duel of the spring and gave them Milwaukee Braves a 1-0 decision over the Los Angeles Dodgers. Bob Sadowski and Dan Osinski shared the seventh-inning hit for the Braves while Claude

Osteen and Jim Brewer worked for the Dodgers.

Bob Gibson, who throttled the Yankees in last year's World Series, worked six innings against New York and was tagged with St. Louis' 3-2 loss when Phil Linz reached him for a three-run homer. Linz also homered off Gibson in the ninth inning of the final game last October.

Rookie Tom Parsons and veteran Larry Bearnarth made strong bids for regular jobs with the Mets, hurling New York to an 8-1 victory over Minnesota.

Stanley Cup Playoffs Continue With Tilts Tonight

Punch Imlach is counting on home ice, home cooking and home nagging to get his Toronto Maple Leafs back into the game against Montreal in defense of the Stanley Cup.

Chicago Coach Bill Reay doesn't have so many factors going for him, but he hopes the change of scenery, and maybe the resilience of slightly younger hockey players, will serve the Black Hawks against the Detroit Red Wings.

Toronto won the Stanley Cup, hockey's most desired trophy, last year after finishing third in the regular season. This year they are already two down to the Montreal Canadiens after the first two games of the semi-final playoffs. Detroit, the NHL champion, leads Chicago 2-0 in the other series.

The playoffs resume tonight with Chicago and Toronto at home after playing the first two games on foreign rinks. They will have to win there to have a chance of saving the best-of-seven series. The fourth in each series will be played Thursday.

only run in the six innings he worked and Bearnarth, trying to come back after arm trouble last season, finished up with three perfect innings, after walking the first man he faced.

Detroit's Joe Sparna held Houston to two hits for the first seven innings, but the Astros jumped on reliever Bruce Brubaker for three runs in the eighth and a 4-3 victory over the Tigers. Rookie Chuck Harrison's two-run double was the key hit for the Astros.

Willie Stargell and Donn Clendenon each cracked two-run homers off Jim Maloney as Pittsburgh whipped Cincinnati 7-3.

Don Lock's sixth homer of the spring, a three-run poke, started Washington to a 6-4 victory over Baltimore. Brooks Robinson homered for the Orioles and Ken McMullen had three hits for the Senators.

ERNIE BANKS belted a two-run homer for the Chicago Cubs and Willie Mays had a two-run shot for San Francisco, but it was a bouncing, pinch single by Jimmy Stewart that drove in the winning runs in the Cubs' 7-6 victory over the Giants.

Rudy May and Ron Piche combined for a six-hitter as the Los Angeles Angels' beat Cleveland 4-1. Rookie Jack Warner had a two-run homer for the Angels.

FOOTBALL EXHIBITION—GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The Green Bay Packers and the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League will meet in an exhibition game at City Stadium Saturday night, Sept. 11. Packer Coach-General Manager Vince Lombardi said Monday.

99 Winter Athletes Receive Sports Participation Awards

A total of 99 awards, 54 of which are major letters, have been awarded to Iowa athletes in five winter sports by Athletic Director Forest Evashevski.

The major letters include 14 in swimming, 12 in basketball, 11 in gymnastics, 9 in wrestling and 8 in fencing. The track awards will be made in June after the outdoor season. Seven minor letters and 37 freshman numerals were granted.

Two Yankees Face Beating Charges

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Roger Maris and Cletus Boyer of the New York Yankees face court action on separate dates on separate dates on charges by a male model that they beat him in a barroom.

Jerome Modzelewski, 25, swore out warrants accusing Maris and Boyer with assault and battery last Thursday.

Municipal Court set Maris' arraignment and trial for 9 a.m. CST, Wednesday. Boyer's case was delayed until May 11. By then, he will be playing with the Yankees in the North.

After being served with the warrant, Boyer entered the courthouse with his lawyer and was freed on $200 bond.

"I better not say anything. This is the first time I've been here," Boyer said on leaving.

Modzelewski signed the warrant Thursday night against Maris, who said he was trying to break up the fight. On Saturday, another warrant named Boyer, who was in Puerto Rico with the American League champions on an exhibition baseball tour.

Robert J. Burns, 46, said in a statement he saw Boyer hit Modzelewski in the mouth.

American Legion Official Proposes Basketball Boycott

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A boycott of Russian-U.S. basketball games, proposed by a Missouri American Legion official, is not warranted by official policies, established by Legion conventions or its executive committee, National Commander Donald E. Johnson of West Branch, Iowa, said Monday.

"I have not yet seen a copy of the proposal purportedly originating in St. Louis and dealing with the forthcoming visit of the Russian basketball team," Johnson said, adding:

"Any proposal such as this would have to be brought to the attention of the national organization of the American Legion in the form of a properly processed resolution. To my knowledge, this has not been done."

Thomas E. Wicks Sr. of St. Louis, member of the Missouri Legion's publicity committee, last week objected to the U.S.S.R. team's American visit "while they or their allies are killing our men in Viet Nam."

The team has scheduled games in Las Vegas, Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Indianapolis, St. Louis and Boston.

RELAY CHAIRMAN—DES MOINES (AP)—The appointment of Robert Cline, partner in a Des Moines real-estate-insurance firm, as chairman of the Drake Relays Committee was announced Monday.

Vice chairman will be Tom Higgins of Des Moines, a former Drake trackman. The Relays are scheduled here April 23-24.

Sophomores...

Here's what the new 2-year Army ROTC program means to you

A new Reserve Officer Training Corps program permits selected college sophomores to be commissioned as Army Second Lieutenants in two years. You can do this by:

1. Completing a special 6-week summer camp between your sophomore and junior years.
2. Completing the 2-year Advanced Course at any school offering the ROTC program.

What are the benefits of Army ROTC training?

- Management training for success in civilian or military life.
- $40 per month pay while attending the Advanced Course, plus uniforms; pay and paid travel for summer camps.
- Eligibility for free flight instruction at selected schools leading to a private pilot's license.
- A commission as an Army officer, with all of its accompanying benefits, including higher income, greater opportunity for advancement and officer status.
- The personal satisfaction that comes from knowing you're trained to assume leadership responsibilities.

These benefits will put you a step ahead of other college graduates and will pay off for the rest of your life. You owe it to yourself to investigate these new opportunities.

For complete information, see the Professor of Military Science at your school, or send the coupon below.

Minor Injuries Caused In 2 Monday Accidents

Two students suffered minor injuries in separate accidents Monday.

In an accident at 1:30 p.m., Richard O. Adams, A4, Iowa City, received a neck injury when his car was struck from behind by a car driven by Larry L. Mueller, 20, of Tipton.

Adams said he was stopped, waiting to make a left turn from Highway 6 onto Rocky Shore Drive. Mueller was driving east on Highway 6 when the accident occurred. Mueller was charged with speeding by Iowa City police. He suffered a minor head laceration, but was not taken to a hospital.

Adams said the rear of his car received damage estimated at $326. The Mueller car was damaged on the front end, but no estimate on the damage was available Monday afternoon.

At 7:30 a.m. Monday a car driven by Robert A. Holst, M3, Center Junction, collided with a truck driven by Eldon D. Fox, Coralville, according to Iowa City police. Fox was reportedly turning into the Siesta Motel, Highway 6 West, when Holst's car struck the rear of the truck.

Holst was listed in good condition with minor lacerations in University Hospitals Monday afternoon. Police charged him with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

In a minor accident about noon Monday, cars driven by James K. Buckalew, instructor in Journalism, and Sara A. H. Moody, 25, of North Liberty, collided at the intersection of Governor and Bowers streets, police said. Damage to both cars was estimated at $350. No charges were filed.

Gemini Crew Selected

Commander Walter M. Schirra, left, and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford listened Monday to questions that were being put to them by newsmen in Houston after they were named as the crew for the fourth Gemini flight late this year or early next year. Next Space Crew Chosen

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford were selected Monday as the primary crew for the first Gemini docking and rendezvous mission.

The backup crew for the fourth manned Gemini flight scheduled late this year will be Air Force Maj. Virgil I. Grissom and Navy Cmdr. John Young.

Schirra, a Navy commander, and Stafford, an Air Force major, were the backup crew for Grissom and Young when the manned phase of project Gemini began March 23 with a three-orbit flight.

Two more manned flights are planned before the fourth manned Gemini spacecraft is in rendezvous in space with an unmanned satellite.

The selection of Schirra and Stafford as the rendezvous crew was announced at a news conference at the Manned Spacecraft Center, the training base for astronauts.

Take one folk singer (male), six University coeds, a houseful of feminine teens. Add a parakeet named Joe to disarrange hair-do's and you have Gamma Alpha Chi's Saturday visit to the Iowa Annie Wittenmeyer Home for orphans in Davenport.

GAX members visited Cottage 13, a two-story brick house which is "home" to about 20 teen girls. At first, the coeds stood, smiling, while the Wittenmeyer girls sat, watching. Parts of both groups finally drifted into the study where they unaged Joe the parakeet, which took an immediate liking to guitarist, Rollie Perkins, A2, Davenport.

After a tour of the cottage and a trip to the Canteen, a recreation center, the group "settled down" to a hootenanny.

GAX took souvenir "Iowa drinking mugs" and a big inflated Easter bunny to the Wittenmeyer girls.

Two Charged With Spying

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI seized two men Monday and charged them with an 11-year conspiracy to sell U.S. defense secrets to the Soviet Union.

One, Army Sgt. Robert Lee Johnson, was assigned to Army intelligence in West Berlin when he allegedly began his $300-a-month espionage career in 1953.

The other, James A. Mintkenbaugh, was recruited by Johnson while also serving in Berlin, the FBI said. It charged he later collected secret data from Johnson and transmitted it to the Soviets through contacts in Washington for between $250 and $350 monthly pay.

Johnson, 43, was arrested by FBI agents at the Pentagon, where he was assigned as a courier in May 1964.

Mintkenbaugh, 46, was picked up at his brother's home in Castro Valley, Calif., not far from his San Martin home.

THE FBI complaint didn't explain it, but Johnson was missing from his Pentagon job for two months last fall. He turned himself in, was court-martialed, reduced in rank, fined $600 and reassigned to the Pentagon, an FBI spokesman said.

At his arraignment in Alexandria, Va., Johnson was held in lieu of $20,000 bail for a preliminary hearing April 15. He told U.S. Commissioner Thomas Moncreur he didn't have the money to make bond or hire an attorney and asked the court to appoint counsel.

The two men are charged with conspiring with each other and a number of persons to spy for the Soviet Union. The others include a "several persons identified only by Russian, Vitaly Ourjoumov, and

Iowa City Beauty Pageant To Stress Talent Category

The girl chosen Miss Iowa City for 1965 is yet a mystery, but the Iowa City Junior Chamber of Commerce already predicts that she will be one with considerable talent.

This is a foregone conclusion because of the increased emphasis on the talent show portion of the beauty pageant, Bob Lehnertz, Jaycee pageant program chairman, said Monday.

The contest, sponsored annually by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, this year will be held May 21 in the City High Auditorium.

All unmarried Iowa City and University women between the ages of 18 to 28 are eligible to enter the competition, Lehnertz said. Contestants must be sponsored by a housing unit or a local business firm.

ENTRY BLANKS and contest regulations will be available after April 20 for those who wish to enter the contest, Lehnertz said. No deadline for submitting entries has yet been set.

"If there are a lot of entries, we may have to hold some sort of eliminations before May 21," Lehnertz said. "Otherwise, each girl will appear in the pageant that night."

Lehnertz said that Jaycee pageant representatives would be sent to University housing units to inform coeds of the entry requirements and contest procedures.

A PANEL of six judges will evaluate each contestant on her performance in the swimsuit, evening gown and talent competitions, he said.

The contestants might possibly be asked impromptu questions during the first two phases of the pageant, but their displays of talent will be the determining factors, Lehnertz said.

The winner of the Miss Iowa City title will participate in the Miss Iowa contest in Davenport this summer. The girl chosen Miss Iowa will then go to the Miss America contest in Atlantic City, N.J., this fall.

Earthquake Kills 20, Injures 200 In Greece

MEGALOPOLIS, Greece (AP) — Greece's worst earthquake in years shook a dozen sleeping villages into ruin Monday in the Arcadian central Peloponnese, killing at least 20 persons and injuring 200.

The rolling quake struck this area 100 miles southwest of Athens at 5:13 a.m. It was the fourth earth shock in a week in Greece and the third in a month causing death.

The dead and injured in the latest tremor were trapped in their beds as the simple one-story buildings of the farmland and grazing country in the heart of Peloponnese collapsed.

BY AFTERNOON, 17 bodies had been recovered and rescue teams dug through the rubble of villages, five of them 90 per cent destroyed, in search of other victims. Police said the death toll probably would be a score or more.

Fifty of the injured were in critical condition. Helicopters were used to fly them to hospitals in larger cities. Premier George Papandreu, at an emergency meeting of the Cabinet, declared the whole area an emergency zone. Red Cross units and rescue teams rushed to the scene with medical supplies, tents and blankets.

For hours after the violent shock, survivors in the worst-hit centers around this 2,300-year-old town wandered dazedly through the rubble that had been their homes.

TENT TOWNS were being put up hastily to house thousands left homeless or in fear of returning another night to dangerously damaged homes.

The quake area is roughly halfway between ancient Olympia and ancient Sparta. One of the worst hit towns was Megalopolis, whose name in Greek means "great city" but which has dwindled through the centuries to a village of 2,500 population.

It was built about 370 B.C. as a bastion against Spartan invasion of Arcadia. In those days it became a mighty power. Ruins of its once great walls and of ancient Greece's largest open-air theater, seating 20,000, have been excavated.

Two Get Grants From Alum Group

The Delta Chi Alumni Association will present tuition scholarships for the spring semester to Bill Rosebrook, A3, Ames, and Thomas Arvetis, A2, Chicago.

The scholarships will be presented to the students at the executive council meeting of the Alumni Association Wednesday.

The scholarships are given on the basis of the past semester's grade point, need, and house participation. The minimum grade point for the award is 2.2, according to Mike Schiavoni, A4, Burlington, chairman of public relations for Delta Chi.

Schiavoni said the scholarships are a pilot program for the association, and they hope to give six scholarships next fall.

STUDENT RIOT—

LIMA, Peru (AP) — University students rioted Monday protesting a rise in bus fares to the equivalent of a 50-cent fare. The rioters threw stones and Molotov bombs from San Marcos University of 6½ cents from 4½ cents, cocktails at passing buses.

Sioux City Packers On Strike

SIoux CITY (AP) — About 65 union members refused to report for work Monday at the Raskin Packing Co., apparently because the firm purchased cattle from the strike-bound Sioux City Stockyards Co.

Members of Local 662 of the United Packinghouse Workers of America decided at a meeting not to process stock from the struck yards.

Sidney Raskin, president of the packing company, said the firm believes the local's action "constitutes a secondary boycott and violates the collective bargaining agreement between the company

Proposed Farm Program Would Hike Cost of Food

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson asked Congress Monday to authorize new farm stabilization programs that would shift part of their cost from the treasury directly to the consumer.

One effect probably would be an increase of a little more than a penny a loaf in the price of bread and an increase of from 5 to 7 cents a pound in the cost of rice. Flour and other wheat product prices also would advance.

Chairman Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., of the House Agriculture Committee translated it this way: The bill would mean "a slight increase in the price of bread" of $1.60 a year for each person "and in the case of rice, only 30 cents per person per year."

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., head of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said one of the most important changes the bill would make "is that for the first time in many years an administration has asked that farmers receive full parity price for that part of wheat production used domestically."

"WE HAVE A minimum wage and the labor laws to help labor, we have tariff laws and special tax laws to help business, therefore why not special programs to help agriculture?" he said.

In addition to seeking to maintain grower incomes on 1966 and 1967 crops of wheat and rice, Johnson recommended a two-year extension of the present stabilization programs for feed grains and wool.

AGRICULTURE Department officials said the net effect of the President's recommendations would be to reduce government farm aid costs by more than $200 million a year, but increases in the retail cost of wheat products and rice could be expected to add $300 million to the consumers' annual food bill.

About $100 million of the increase paid by consumers would go mainly to wheat growers in the form of higher income.

James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers Union, said the bill is unsatisfactory in its present form.

"The major deficiency," Patton said, "is the failure of the bill to provide the income that farm families and rural Americans need if they are to survive."

"The President has entrusted farm policy formation to those in government who know least about agriculture," Patton said, "and the bill reflects their know-nothingness."

SENATE

Passed and sent to the House bills to:

Raise from $10,000 to $25,000 the amount of insurance a creditor may buy to cover debtor groups; remove the $20,000 limit on group life insurance policies and allow group insurance to be issued to groups of as few as two public employees instead of the present minimum of four.

Authorize registered engineers and surveyors to use seals for marking documents, and to require that they sign a certificate saying they have in fact supervised preparation of certain documents if their name is listed as supervisor of the work.

HOUSE

Passed eight noncontroversial bills, including measures to:

Require that all buildings and facilities constructed with use of tax funds be made accessible to and functional for the physically handicapped.

Increase salaries of municipal court clerks and bailiffs by $2,000 a year.

Set a 4 a.m. opening hour for state parks.

Debated but did not pass a proposal to increase from 25 to 35 per cent the amount of the primary highway fund that may be spent in cities and towns for primary highway extensions in any one year.

Court Affirms Questioning By Defendant

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court affirmed Monday the right of a defendant in a state criminal case to face and question witnesses against him.

Such confrontation is fundamental and essential to a fair trial in all criminal proceedings, federal and state, said Justice Hugo L. Black for a unanimous court.

Thus, what started out as a $375 holdup case in Houston, Tex., in June 1962, developed into another extension to the state level of Federal rights guaranteed by the Constitution's Bill of Rights.

Two years ago, in its Gideon decision, the Supreme Court declared a defendant's right to an attorney in all key stages of a criminal proceeding is just as obligatory upon the states as upon federal courts under the U.S. Constitution's Sixth Amendment.

"WE HOLD today," wrote Black, "that the Sixth Amendment's right of an accused to confront the witness against him is likewise a fundamental right."

The Sixth Amendment, part of the 10-amendment Bill of Rights added to the Constitution in the early days of the nation, guarantees an accused a speedy public trial by an impartial jury, to be informed of the charges against him and "to be confronted with the witnesses against him," "to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor and to have an attorney."

The court said denial of a defendant's rights to a lawyer and to face one's accuser also violates the 14th Amendment.

The court made another bit of history of another sort: It said it is abandoning the practice of announcing decisions only on Mondays. Hereafter, when the court is in session, decisions will be announced when they are ready.

THIS MEANS decisions could routinely come except Fridays which still will be reserved for the justices' private conferences on cases argued and deciding which appeals to hear.

Before starting a three-week Easter recess, the court also:

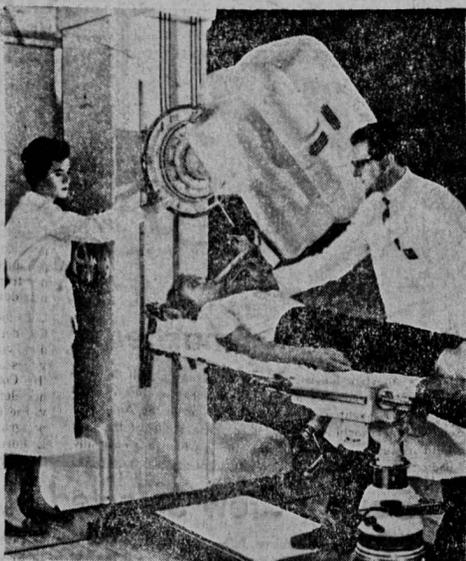

—Ruled 7 to 2 that the Colgate-Palmolive Co. deceived the public with television commercials designed to show that its shaving cream can soften even the toughness of sandpaper.

—Overturned without comment on the basis of earlier decisions sit-in demonstrations, the convictions of seven Negro and four white "freedom riders" who tried to integrate a lunch counter in Montgomery, Ala., in 1961, and the convictions of eight Negro college students who tried to integrate a cafeteria in Nashville, Tenn., in 1962.

—Agreed to review next fall the obscenity convictions of Ralph Ginzburg and Edward Mishkin of New York.

GINZBURG was sentenced in U.S. District Court in Philadelphia to five years in prison and fined $28,000 for mailing Eros magazine, the Housewife's Handbook on Selective Promiscuity, and Liaison News Letter. Mishkin was sentenced to three years and fined $12,000 on charges of possession of obscene books with intent to sell.

The decision upholding a defendant's right to face and question witnesses against him was a victory for Bob Granville Pointer, who was sentenced to life for holding up the manager of a food market. He said he had no attorney at a preliminary hearing to question the manager. The manager's testimony was later read to the trial jury because he had moved from Texas to California. Pointer's trial lawyer objected to the reading.

Betatron-plus

An 18-million-electron-volt Betatron for treating cancer will soon be installed at the Medical Center. About half of the cost of the instrument is being paid by the Iowa Division of the American Cancer Society. The Betatron will be the first to be used in Iowa to treat cancer and is one of the few in use in the Midwest.

Four Petty Thefts Here Reported Over Weekend

A motorcycle windshield, four hubcaps and two ceramic ash trays were stolen over the weekend in Iowa City.

Richard A. Leavitt, A4, Washington, told Iowa City police a windshield was stolen from his motorcycle Saturday when it was parked in a cycle rack in the 200 block of S. Clinton St. He said the windshield was valued at $17.

James V. Wessels, A3, Des Moines, told Campus Police four spinner hubcaps were taken from his car while it was parked near Hillcrest. He said the theft occurred between 9 p.m. Saturday and 6 p.m. Sunday, probably during dark hours. The hubcaps were worth $40 to $50, he said.

Two ceramic ash trays were taken from Burge Hall Monday, according to police. An unidentified source at Burge said the ash trays were taken by two thought to be Parsons College students.

J-School Judging Press Contests For State Group

Seven 1965 Iowa Press Association (IPA) contests are being judged at the School of Journalism, four by faculty members and three by student organizations.

The faculty-judged contests are for general typographical improvement and excellence in advertising layout and design, open to all IPA members, and best use of illustrative material and general excellence in typography, open to weeklies and semi-weeklies.

Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalism society, judges the contests for editorial excellence and master columnists, which includes classes in each for dailies, weeklies and semi-weeklies.

Also open to both classes of papers is the coverage of women's news contests being judged by Theta Sigma Phi, honorary fraternity for women in communications.

Winners will be announced at the annual IPA meeting April 10 in Des Moines.

Students Urged to Enter City Arts and Crafts Fair

University students have until Saturday to enter their original work in crafts, painting, drawing or sculpture as part of the Iowa City Arts and Crafts Fair April 25 at the Recreation Center.

The registration deadline for entering works in the fair is Saturday. Registration blanks may be obtained at the Recreation Center or from Mrs. F. W. Stamler, 385 Lexington Ave., phone 338-1542.

Pottery and jewelry by University students and instructors already have been entered in the fair, which is both an exhibit and a sale.

Other types of work which will be shown include fabrics, metal other than jewelry, wood carvings, painting, sculpture, printing, and creative photography.

Entrants who want to have individual sales tables must provide sales personnel throughout the show. Members of the Craft Guild will serve as sales clerks at the general sales tables. Items may also be entered for exhibit only. The 1964 fair, the first such event held here, attracted approximately 2,000 visitors and showed the works of approximately 90 artists and craftsmen.

Summer Institutes Planned By NDEA for Teachers

Two National Defense Education Act (NDEA) institutes will be held here for geography and English teachers this summer.

The Institute for Advanced Study in Geography — the only one of its kind to be held this summer in the United States — is designed to prepare specialists and supervisors of geography for state departments of education and large school systems. It will be carried on from June 21 to July 30.

The Summer Institute in English will begin June 9 and continue through Aug. 4. It is designed for teachers of English in grades 9-12 who have little more than an undergraduate minor in English.

The NDEA now extends to institutes in geography, English, history, remedial reading, education media, school librarians and the disadvantaged youth. Previous NDEA institutes were limited to science, mathematics and foreign languages.

Clyde Kohn, professor of geography, will direct the geography institute. The program will bring participants up to date on the nature of geography and geographic methods of inquiry.

Kohn said that several states, including Iowa, are currently looking for qualified specialists in geography to work with schools and school districts.

The English Institute will be under the supervision of Richard Braddock, associate professor of rhetoric. The program will include three graduate courses, each of which deals with a critical area in the teaching of English.

Braddock said that the institute is designed for teachers who have a minor degree in English — roughly no more than 30 semester hours of English courses. "About half of the English teachers in the United States fall into this category," he said. "The institute is planned to assist these individuals in upgrading their teaching ability in the field."

Applications for both institutes must be received by Apr. 15.

Atom Smasher Purchased

A $50,000 neutron accelerator for use in cancer research will be purchased with a grant from the Iowa Division of the American Cancer Society.

The accelerator, a "baby sister" of the giant atom smashers used in nuclear research, will be used by the University's Radiation Research Laboratories to study chemical and biological specimens, to produce short-lived isotopes and neutrons, and to serve as a teaching device.

In announcing the grant from the Cancer Society, Dr. Robert C. Hardin, vice-president for medical services at the University and dean of the College of Medicine, said, "The accelerator will be of tremendous value to the basic cancer research program of the Radiation Research Laboratories. Not only will it allow the researchers to expand their studies, it will also save a great deal of time. To study biological specimens with neutrons, it has been necessary for University scientists to travel to Argonne National Laboratories at Argonne, Ill., 250 miles from the campus.

"In the area of cancer treatment, the Iowa Division has recently awarded $60,000 to University Hospitals to provide about half the cost of a Betatron, a radiation therapy instrument which produces six times more energy than the one presently used. It will be the first Betatron in use in Iowa and one of the few in the Midwest," Hardin said.

"Cancer research is expensive in terms of equipment, time, and manpower. Throughout its 19-year history the Iowa Division of the American Cancer Society, through the generous contributions of Iowans, has provided more than $1 million for cancer research activities in Iowa, with a large portion of the funds used to support programs at the University's College of Medicine.

"An initial grant of $35,000 for purchase of equipment made possible the establishment in 1947 of the Radiation Research Laboratories, a unit which over the years has made valuable contributions to our knowledge of cancer.

"A $43,000 grant in 1955 from the Iowa Division gave University Hospitals a Cobalt Teletherapy unit for treating cancer, the second such unit in the state. In addition, funds have been provided for research projects covering almost every conceivable approach to the problem of cancer.

"These projects have included research in radiology, chemotherapy, biochemistry, immunology, virology, surgical techniques and cellular metabolism — all aimed at more efficient and effective means of detection, diagnosis, and treatment of cancer," Dean Hardin said.

By act of Congress and Presidential proclamation, April has been declared "Cancer Control Month" throughout the United States. More than 45,000 American Cancer Society Crusaders in Iowa will be calling at homes to distribute educational material on cancer and to give the public an opportunity to contribute to the cancer control programs of the American Cancer Society and its Iowa Division.

Reds Block Berlin Traffic; Defy Western Air Rights

BERLIN (AP) — Soviet jets roared across Allied air corridors to Berlin and the Communist East Germans blocked the Berlin Autobahn in defiance of Western access rights on the 110-mile highway through Red territory.

Communist announcements said the measures were taken in connection with Soviet-East German military maneuvers. Westerners expressed belief, however, that the Russians and East Germans were acting in retaliation for West Germany's plans to assemble its Parliament and Cabinet in West Berlin Wednesday to emphasize its contention the Red-encircled city is part of West Germany.

Communist MIG jets maneuvered for more than seven hours over Berlin and sonic booms thundered down on the city.

ONE SOVIET JET fighter screamed over the French sector's Tegel Airport — used by commercial aircraft — at an altitude of about 300 feet. Western officials claimed the buzzing was a clear violation of air safety rules.

Hundreds of Soviet and East German tanks, heavy artillery pieces and motorized rocket units rumbled over the countryside west of Berlin as Communist police blockaded Autobahn travel for the first time since the Berlin blockade of 1948.

Travel on secondary roads from Frankfurt and southern Germany was permitted. Railroads ran normal schedules. However, the West Berlin Barge Association said a number of river and canal routes were blocked.

IN WASHINGTON, a State Department spokesman said the United States rejected a Soviet attempt to restrict flights in the three 20-mile-wide air corridors.

"We made it clear that access rights of the three Western Powers are unrestricted," the spokesman said.

He said the Soviet Union would be held responsible for the safety to Allied aircraft flying in the corridors.

In East Berlin, President Walter Ulbricht met with Soviet Marshal A. A. Grechko, commander of the Warsaw Pact forces, in what the East German news agency ADN called a discussion of "current developments and other questions of mutual interest."

THE EAST GERMANS claim the West Germans have no right to hold a Parliament session in West Berlin because, in the Communist view, it is not part of the West. The Communists said the session could provoke international incidents.

The last time a West German Parliament met in West Berlin was in October 1958. A month later Nikita S. Khrushchev, then Soviet premier, issued an ultimatum for the United States, Britain and France to get out of Berlin within six months or be forced out. He never followed through.

East-West tension mounted anew when East German guards slammed down the barriers on the Autobahn at 9:30 a.m. Monday. They announced the highway would be closed until 4 p.m. But at 1 p.m., the barriers were raised in Berlin and an hour later they went up at Helmedt, on the western end.

THE COMMUNISTS gave no explanation for cutting the blockade short. In West Berlin, however, there had been reports the United States planned to send an armed Army convoy to test East German determination. There was speculation the Russians ordered the blockade lifted in order to avoid an armed confrontation with the Americans.

In addition to blocking off the Autobahn, the Communists notified the Allies that because of air maneuvers the three Allied air corridors from West Germany could not be used by Western airlines. A Soviet announcement said jet fighters would fly in the corridors at altitudes of between 2,000 and 4,000 feet.

Since Western planes normally fly at between 6,000 and 7,000 feet, there seemed no great danger and the Allies said all flights were given a go-ahead to carry on normal schedules.

Governor Directs Traffic

WATERTOWN, Wis. (AP) — Gov. Warren Knowles received firsthand experience Sunday night with Wisconsin's traffic accident problems.

The governor and his driver came upon a three-vehicle collision on Highway 30 near this southeast Wisconsin town.

Knowles called the Jefferson County sheriff's office, then directed traffic on the highway until officers arrived.

The accident involved two cars and a semitrailer truck driven by Darrell Adams, 45, of Anamosa, Iowa, who was treated for minor injuries.

Douglas Smiljanic, 26, of Menomonee Falls, Wis., was seriously injured and Robert Carr, 20, of Hartland, Wis., received minor injuries.

Dirksen Addition May Cover Texas In New Vote Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders and Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach hammered out Monday night new terms to broaden the right-to-vote legislation proposed by President Johnson.

At the same time, they drafted a revision that would aim the measure only at states and counties where at least 20 per cent of the population is not white. That would eliminate its impact, in most cases, outside the South.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois told of the revisions as he conferred with Katzenbach, Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and other lawmakers.

Dirksen said the proposals will be offered Tuesday when he expects the Senate Judiciary Committee to begin closed-door consideration of the bill.

Dirksen said the changes would extend the bill's coverage outside the seven Southern states that now are its prime targets.

For example, he said, President Johnson's home state of Texas would clearly be covered.

Dirksen said one proposed revision would let the attorney general go to court with charges of discrimination. The court could then order federal registration of voters.

Swami to Talk on Hinduism

The nature and philosophy of Hinduism will be discussed by Swami Chinmayananda, Indian spiritual leader, at 8 p.m. Thursday in 106, Gilmore Hall.

Swami Chinmayananda is in the United States on a three-month world tour. His visit to the campus is sponsored by the School of Religion, the Department of Oriental Studies and the Indian Student's Association. The lecture is free to the public.

A native of Kerala, India, the Swami holds an M.A. in English and a Bachelor of Laws Degree from Lucknow University. He was initiated into the Hindu order of Sanyas in 1943 and assumed the name Swami (meaning monk) Chinmayananda (meaning Knowledge-saturated Bliss).

A POWERFUL and fluent speaker in English, he gives philosophical discourses on the Geeta and the Upanishads (the Scriptures of Hindus) throughout India, frequently before crowds of 15,000.

He is the founder and managing trustee of the Tara Cultural Trust which runs "Sandeepany Sadhanalya" (The Academy of Knowledge) on the outskirts of Bombay. Open to foreign and Indian students, the Academy course of instruction is Vedantic philosophy and religion. Classes are conducted in English. This year, approximately 20 Western students will be accepted for admission. Room and board, books, tuition and medical aid will be provided free.

A former journalist, Swami Chinmayananda has written several books and owns his own publishing company. Two of the company's publications, "Tapas Prasad" and "Tyagi" are popular throughout India.
