Iowa Demos Pass Remap Plan

IOWA SENATE DEMOCRATS BEAT down a Republican-sponsored temporary reappointment plan Wednesday and passed their own plan by a 34-22 vote. The bill now goes to the House.

The plan would increase the number of senators from 59 to 61 and would rearrange districts to give more representation to heavily populated areas. It would make no change in the House.

Approval by the House and the governor would put the plan into law in time for the 1966 elections.

Rejection of the GOP plan came on a straight party line vote, 34-21.

Wilkins Linked to Death Gun

A YOUNG ALABAMA KU KLUX KLANSMAN on trial in the night-riding slaying of Viola Liuzzo was linked in FBI testimony Wednesday to the murder weapon.

The defendant, Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, had been described by an FBI informer as using a .38-caliber revolver to shoot Mrs. Liuzzo, a white civil rights demonstrator from Detroit and the mother of five children.

After the March 25 slaying the FBI recovered the gun described by FBI informer Gary Thomas Rowe Jr. and three spent bullets, taken from the victim's car. These were offered in evidence and Marion Williams, a bald, bespectacled FBI expert from Washington, testified that he tested the gun and compared the results with the death bullet.

Rhatigan Named Dean at Wichita

JAMES J. RHATIGAN, ASSISTANT COUNSELOR to men and off-campus housing, has been named dean of students at Wichita State University, Wichita, Kan. He will assume the position this summer.

Rhatigan has been a member of the U of I staff since August, 1960. He holds a B.A. from Coe College, Cedar Rapids, an M.A. from Syracuse University and expects to receive the Ph.D. Degree in education from the U of I in August.

$700 Million to Fight Viet Cong

THE HOUSE VOTED SPEEDY APPROVAL Wednesday of President Johnson's request for $700 million to fight Vietnamese Communists and the Senate set final action for Thursday.

Many senators announced they will approve the measure but several expressed misgivings about having their votes interpreted as "blanket approval for waging undeclared war anywhere." That was the way Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) put it.

U of C Students March Again

HUNDREDS OF UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA students marched on the Berkeley draft board headquarters Wednesday, presented the board coordinator with a black coffin, and 40 students burned their draft cards.

Leaders of the group said they staged the "symbolic protest" against "the invasion of the Dominican Republic."

23 Killed in Airliner Crash

A FOUR-ENGINE AIRLINER of the Spanish Iberia company crashed near the Canary Islands Wednesday night and at least 23 persons were killed, aviation officials said Thursday.

They said there were survivors but could not say how many. The plane was said to be carrying 42 passengers and a crew of seven on its regular flight.

Sheppard Ordered Back to Prison

DR. SAM SHEPPARD'S NEW FREEDOM was jolted Wednesday by a federal court in Cincinnati, Ohio, which ordered him back to a life prison term for his wife's slaying, but his attorney vowed to keep him permanently free.

The 41-year-old osteopath, convicted after a trial which drew worldwide attention in 1954, was guaranteed 20 more days of freedom with the German divorcee he married soon after a federal judge ordered him released from prison last July 15.

His lawyer, F. Lee Bailey, said in Boston an appeal would be carried to the U.S. Supreme Court, if necessary.

Four Marines Are Wounded In New Action

Americans Rumored Captured; U.S. Casualty Toll: 7 Dead, 56 Hurt

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Sharp gunfire broke out in various parts of this capital city Wednesday after contending forces in the Dominican civil warfare ratified and amplified a cease-fire agreement.

Official military sources said four Americans were wounded and there were unverified reports that at least four American soldiers were captured by the rebels.

THE LATEST casualties brought to 56 the number of U.S. battle wounded. Seven Americans have died.

The spokesman said the four wounded were shot in separate actions not connected with corridor widening operations early in the day.

There were no details given on these incidents.

A U.S. Marine patrol and rebel soldiers exchanged gunfire near Independence Park in the center of the city's commercial district where the insurgent command is located.

There was a sharp increase in firing in the vicinity of the U.S. Embassy and in the southern section of the city where the Marines were in control.

In the downtown area, the small freighter Santo Domingo listed to starboard and burned near the breakwater entrance to the harbor. U.S. military people charged that the Santo Domingo opened fire on paratrooper positions near the mouth of the harbor Tuesday night and then was fired on.

REBELS CHARGED that the Dominican-registry freighter carried no guns and was fired on without reason by the paratroopers.

There also was shooting reported along the northern corridor between the Duarte Bridge and the Marine lines in the west. The rebels charged that U.S. forces, by sending patrols into their territory, are trying to provoke a reaction and an excuse for occupying the whole city.

Rebel chieftain Francisco Caamaño Deno said that although the cease-fire had been signed, his side was negotiating to obtain permission to open a passageway through the U.S. paratrooper corridor across the northern part of the city.

5 Students Pay $270 For Two-Block Trip

Five University students each paid more Wednesday for a two-block train trip than it would have cost them to take a train to New York City.

The students didn't buy tickets for the two-block ride. They each paid a $50 fine on disorderly conduct charges.

The charges were filed after the students took a Rock Island switch engine in the railroad yards last week and abandoned it in a street intersection after a two-block trip.

Police Judge Roger H. Ivie fined the students $100 each, but suspended $50 of each fine. Each also paid $4 in court costs.

The students "drove" the train, which had been left idling over a trestle and through several switches. They even had to throw a couple of switches to put it at the intersection.

One of the students is the son of a railroad engineer. Police discovered the identity of the students when they returned to the scene of the incident in an automobile. Someone had written down the license number of the car the night of the theft, and Iowa City police were watching the area for the car.

The students said the incident

Library Now Open 'Till 12 Saturday

The University Library will remain open two extra hours on Saturday nights from now until May 29th.

The extension of hours is the result of a request by the Student Senate.

The library will be open until midnight on May 8, 15, 22, and 29. The building's regular closing hour was 10 p.m.

There will be no desk service, but readers may charge books at the guard desk as usual.

Twisters Hit Western Iowa

Tornadoes skipped across western Iowa Wednesday afternoon, and one reportedly swept through the Church of Brethren near the town of Callender. The parsonage also was reportedly damaged.

Another twister demolished a barn on a farm southwest of Farnhamville and a tornado funnel was sighted, aloft west of Sibley, but did not touch ground.

High winds, hail and rain pounded Fort Dodge, and there was a report that a roof was ripped from a house there.

The winds knocked down power lines in the Callender area, and also produced power failures in Fort Dodge.

Marchers Demonstrate On Campus

Picketers demonstrated in front of Old Capitol and marched through the Union Wednesday, protesting the war in Viet Nam and U.S. action in the Dominican Republic.

The Iowa Socialist League organized the demonstration in conjunction with a nationwide demonstration called by the May 2 Movement, according to Barbara Chasin, G. New York.

Mrs. Chasin said the League "would like to see more people take an interest in what's going on in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic."

The May 2 Movement was described by Mrs. Chasin as a loosely organized, leftist movement that started at Harvard and Radcliffe.

She said, "It's intellectual in that it calls for debates and seminars on U.S. aggression."

The demonstrators picketed from 12:15 to 2:30 p.m.

Mystery Weapon

Ku Klux Klan defense attorney Matt Murphy Jr. holds up the pistol he is expected to try to connect with the slaying of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo. He would not reveal how he will connect it with the murder of the Detroit civil rights worker. He said, "I took it away from FBI informer Gary Rowe Jr. before he killed someone and blamed it on us." Murphy is defending Klansman Collie Wilkins Jr. in the Alabama killing of Mrs. Liuzzo. The trial enters its fourth day today. —AP Wirephoto

Speaks to City Council—

City Manager Urges Bypass Support

City Manager Carsten D. Leikvold has urged the citizens of Iowa City to "take a strong stand in favor of" the southwest expressway in the location proposed by the State Highway Commission.

Leikvold, speaking to the city council Tuesday, said, "Unless this community takes a strong stand in favor of this expressway, we will most likely not get it."

Leikvold listed six reasons why he feels the expressway is vital to the city and the University.

• The expressway will be an important trunkline and access from Interstate 80 to Iowa City.

• This expressway also will be an important trunkline directly between Iowa City and Cedar Rapids.

• The expressway will serve, directly, the central business district, industry in the south part of town, the University and the growing residential and business development all along Highway 6.

• It will relieve the pressure on our present arterial streets.

• Eighty per cent of the traffic on this expressway will be local citizens going to work, to school, to markets and on social visits.

• This project will cost hundreds of thousands of dollars, a large percentage of which will be spent in Iowa City for materials, labor and services.

Strong opposition to the highway commission's proposed route has been voiced by owners of property at and near the southwest edge of the city.

Campus YDs Will Attend State Meet

About 30 Young Democrats from the University will attend the YD's state convention in Davenport this weekend, according to Paul Fiala, A2, Cedar Rapids, president of the local group.

Gov. Harold Hughes and Rep. John Schmidhauser (D-Iowa) will speak at banquets during the three-day affair.

Fiala said between 500 and 500 delegates are expected to attend the convention.

"THIS WILL BE one of the most enthusiastic conventions held in recent years," he said.

New state officers and district committeemen will be elected at the meeting. Bill Lehman, E2, Iowa City, vice president of the campus YDs is running for First District committeeman and Julie Walters, A2, Iowa City, secretary, is running for reelection to a committeeman spot.

Miss Walters' younger brother Jim, a senior at University High, is running for state president.

Besides electing officers the convention will consider resolutions on state, national and international affairs.

University YDs have four resolutions to present. They will ask the state organization to condemn the House Un-American Activities Committee (HUAC) and support the Mississippi Freedom Democratic party.

They will also present a resolution condemning U.S. Viet Nam policy and calling for a cease-fire and initiation of negotiation in Viet Nam.

THE LAST RESOLUTION was passed at a meeting Wednesday night. It condemns U.S. interventions in the Dominican Republic and calls for a withdrawal of U.S. troops.

Fiala said that while the University resolutions may not be passed, he expected some form of them would be accepted by the state YDs.

MSH Policy To Change On June 3

June 3 has been set as the starting date for a new rule of eligibility for obtaining married student housing apartments.

To be non-retroactive, the new policy provides that applicants for University married student housing must have completed 90 semester-hours of course credit and must be at least 21 years old at the time they register for classes in the session in which they seek University housing. Generally, students with 90 credit-hours are classified as seniors.

Purpose of the new requirement is to "stretch" the supply of housing for married students in the professional colleges and in graduate study, in view of greater demands brought on by raising enrollment.

Last fall there were 30 students living in married housing who were under 21 and there were 35 residents who were over 21 but did not have 90 semester-hours of course credit at that time.

Reid Saw Revolt Coming

EDITOR'S NOTE — Allan Blanchard, staff writer for the Detroit News, is on assignment in Santo Domingo. Blanchard set up an exclusive interview with Donald Reid Cabral, 41, provisional president of the Dominican Republic who was deposed in the rebel uprising. Blanchard's exclusive interview is offered to Associated Press members by the Detroit News. A portion of the interview follows:

By ALLAN BLANCHARD
Detroit News Staff Writer

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic — In this city, where many men live with fear, a slight, quiet-mannered auto dealer, who protests he is not a politician, moves secretly between the homes of friends while he waits out the conclusion of this latest Latin affair in silent patience.

HE IS Donald Reid Cabral, 41, provisional president who was deposed in the rebel uprising that set Santo Domingo afire more than a week ago. He is now in hiding. Reid, whose father is a Scot and whose daughter is an American, was deposed in the rebel uprising and by William Giandoni, Latin-American editor of the Copley News Service, with the aid of Dominican friends who set up an exclusive interview.

With him were his wife, Clara, and his youngest daughter, also Clara, 7. His oldest daughter, Georgia, 16, is a student at a girls' school on Long Island.

Reid said he was held captive by the rebels for 72 hours.

He said the revolution was precipitated by his firing of four generals.

"FOR a long time it has been known things were coming," he said, "but it was not supposed to be that day. It was advanced because of the four army officers."

Reid said his chief of staff, Gen. Marcos Riviera Cuesta, went to the army camp in the northwest part of the city that day. He had told his aide of the impending firings.

The aide, however, was part of the planned coup organized around supporters of ousted Pres. Juan D. Bosch.

The first thing the rebels did, Reid said, was to pass out 15,000 guns to the general populace. From then on, he said, "disorder took over almost all of the city."

HE SAID he contacted Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin, who heads the anti-Bosch military forces, but who also no longer supports Reid.

Reid said it was not Wessin who vacillated in putting down the rebellion immediately but officers under him who refused to shoot against fellow military men.

Instead, the rebels were given until 5 a.m. Sunday to halt their revolt. By Sunday morning, it was too late, Reid said.

He and Ramon Troncoso, who shared secondary leadership of the provisional government with him were arrested and held at the palace.

"WE WERE kept there until the Communists tried to get us," Reid said. "Rebels in the military stopped them and decided to move us."

"We were kept in private places until Wednesday and then released. I have been hiding since in different houses."

Reid laid blame for much of what has happened on the Communists.

Where are we going?

THE TIME HAS COME for someone to try to formulate an intelligent expression of American foreign policy. In addition to our questionable, to say the least, position in South Viet Nam, the United States is now up to its neck in the Dominican Republic.

In the Dominican conflict, American Marines were landed at first ostensibly to get the Americans out of the area of the revolt. But President Johnson eventually made the announcement that it was his expressed intent that no Communist country developed.

From all the reports that we have seen, the Communists did not begin the Dominican revolt. The official U.S. line now says that the Communists are now in charge, but must be accepted on faith.

As it stands now, the policy of this Administration in foreign affairs can be described as simply anti-Communist. But this is not particularly an intelligent approach; it is too pat for the global complexities.

It seems to work out that the United States will support any regime that is anti-Communist, including military dictatorships or other forms of government that may work to oppress the people of any given country.

We are not working, as Walter Lippman suggests we should, on the theory of spheres of influence. If we were, we would be out of Viet Nam.

There are many sides to the Dominican issue: should we let countries have their own revolutions, even if it might mean a Communist government eventually; should we be the global policeman and prevent conflict by controlling both sides; or should we invade countries at will when there is the slightest hint of Communism.

But before any specific questions can be decided about any one country or situation, there must be some set of guidelines established by the policy-makers. Johnson's pragmatic approach is often too impulsive and creates worse situations.

The man in the street is becoming increasingly aware of the lack of direction of our foreign policy and perhaps he should be more vocal. But even if he isn't, the people at the top should formulate some meaningful policies and present them to the public.

It is one thing to be flexible enough to take all situations into account and it is another to make decisions without benefit of previous intelligent discussion.

Don't be so detailed to no purpose

A BILL TO RAISE state gasoline taxes from six to seven cents a gallon passed the Iowa Senate Tuesday, but it won't become law until the Iowa House passes it too.

The House passed a bill raising the tax earlier in the session, but the Senate's bill has a rider requiring half the revenue increase be used to widen highways now less than 20 feet wide.

The added revenue is badly needed to bring Iowa's highway system into tune with modern driving needs, but it is unfortunate the state senators saw fit to put in the highway widening provision. The Highway Commission should be given an adequate budget and allowed to proceed with the construction projects it deems most necessary.

Requiring that some money must go for only certain types of construction, while other money must go for other projects will lead only to confused bookkeeping practices in the end. That is, other funds which would have been used for widening highways will be used instead for building new highways, projects which would have been listed as resurfacing but be redefined as "widening" so as to qualify under the law.

Specific decisions such as whether to widen or build another route, etc., should be left to the administering agency in charge (in this case the Highway Commission) with that agency's actions subject to review by the legislators.

Whenever the legislators attempt to make administrative decisions while writing laws, the result is usually a more complicated and inflexible government.

When the story of the Dominican Republic's revolution unfolds, you may hear about a great, unsung hero whose name is Sidney.

Nobody knows Sidney's last name, but the whole course of the revolution would have been changed if it hadn't been for him.

Sidney was an American tourist visiting Santo Domingo when the fighting broke out. As you may remember, President Johnson sent in Marines to protect Americans who could possibly be hurt. Unfortunately, the evacuation went off so fast that in 24 hours there wasn't an American left in the capital except Sidney.

When Sidney showed up at the pier to be taken on board ship, he was stopped by a Marine colonel who said, "I'm sorry, you can't leave, sir."

"WHY NOT?" Sidney wanted to know. "Because we've been sent here to protect Americans and you're the only American left. If you leave, we'll have to pull out."

"Nuts to that," said Sidney. "I want to get out of here. They got a bunch of crazy people in this town."

"My orders are to keep you here, sir. We made a mistake in evacuating the Americans too fast and now we need you more than you need us."

"That's not my problem," Sidney said. "I want to go on that ship out there."

TWO MARINE sergeants raised their guns. "It's not possible, Sidney," the colonel replied.

"If the OAS arrived and found no Americans here for us to protect, we would be in a very sticky position. But you'll be perfectly safe. President Johnson is sending in 10,000 more troops to protect you."

"To protect me?"

Not all are true drug addicts

By MALIN SWOPE Staff Writer (Fourth in a series.)

Not all who depend on drugs are true drug addicts. Addicts are persons who have developed both a physical and mental dependence upon the drugs.

Some drugs, such as marijuana, are habit forming, rather than addictive. Those who use the drugs do not become physically dependent on them.

When addictive drugs are kept from those who use them, these persons will suffer from withdrawal symptoms. Such symptoms do not develop when marijuana is taken away from its users.

THE DANGER from marijuana, drug authorities say, is that it often leads to the use of addictive drugs. Those who use marijuana soon become dissatisfied with the "kick" it gives and thus turn to the more potent drugs, heroin and morphine.

Those who use heroin shoot the drug into their blood stream with a hypodermic injection. Frequent use of the drug will usually leave scars at the point of injection.

MARIJUANA, on the other hand, is used in the form of a crudely-rolled cigarette, commonly called a "reefer" or "Indian Hay." It comes from the dried leaves and flowers of the "cannabis sativa" (Indian hemp).

According to medical authorities, hemp does have several beneficial uses. For example, it is used for production of commercial twines, ropes and cables, canvas and certain grades of paper. Hemp in the form of marijuana is harmful to the human body. The drug "breaks down" moral barriers, induces hallucinations and may cause temporary madness.

Marijuana is regarded by medical authorities as the first step toward drug addiction. Why, then, do people use it?

ACCORDING to David P. Carew, associate professor of pharmacy, most people are drawn to marijuana out of curiosity and a search for new "thrills."

"Usually they just want to find out what it's like," he said. "Sometimes they try it out of a 'date' from their peers, especially teenagers."

Carew said that, although the effects of marijuana vary from one user to the next, continued use of the drug usually leads to the use of addictive drugs.

"MARIJUANA is unpredictable so far as its particular effect on each individual user," he said, "but it is well recognized in the medical profession that this drug leads most people to the use of heroin and other addictive drugs."

According to Carew, the two chief dangers of marijuana are its unpredictable effect from one user to another, and its general tendency to lead to more potent drugs.

"Marijuana is not as potent as some other drugs," he said, "but it often leads people to do things they normally wouldn't think of doing. This is not to say, however, that these acts will inevitably be of a criminal nature."

"Yes, sir. We're going to build a nine-mile perimeter around you so nobody can get near you. I assure you nothing can go wrong."

SIDNEY took his bags and went back to the hotel. The next morning he was visited by the general in charge of the paratroopers. "Are you okay, Sidney?"

"Yeah, I'm okay. But I want to go home." "Just be patient and everything will be all right."

While the general was talking, a platoon set up a machine gun on the balcony. Two tanks were parked in front of the hotel and an anti-aircraft gun was placed on the roof.

"What's all that for?" Sidney wanted to know. "JUST TO SEE that no one hurts you. You're very, precious to us."

"Yeah, well if I'm so precious, why don't you get me the hell out of here?" "We will as soon as we feel it's reasonably safe. For the moment you're the only humanitarian reason for our being here."

"I don't know what's going on, but all I know is I'm being held as a hostage."

"Sidney, have you ever heard of the Monroe Doctrine?" "Yeah, I guess so."

"WELL, YOU'RE PART of it. Your name will go down in history books with Teddy Roosevelt and Adm. Dewey. When school-teachers ask their pupils who saved the Dominican Republic from going Communist, the children are going to have to answer, 'Sidney.'"

Just then the phone rang. The general picked it up. "It's the President, Sidney. He wants to speak to you."

"Yes, sir, Mr. President. No, I'm just fine. I'll stay here as long as you want me to. That's nice of you to say. You're a good American, too."

Advantage by accident

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Special Correspondent

The chaos generated by the explosion in the Dominican Republic presents an attractive opportunity to Communist and pro-Castro elements to attempt to start what they call a "revolution" of national liberation.

A determined show of the U.S. flag will not necessarily discourage them if revolution is their goal. A protracted stay by U.S. troops in a Latin-American nation would suit Communist-Castro propaganda purposes throughout the hemisphere.

An anarchical situation could persist for a long time even if the junta under Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin were not physically thrown out.

What appears to have happened in the confused situation is this: A group of young officers tried to stage a coup with the purported intention of overthrowing the junta and restoring Juan Bosch to the presidency. He was elected in December 1962, and deposed by Wessin in 1963.

The young officers then appeared to lose faith in their operation. Evidently, the principal leaders decided to quit and went to the U.S. Embassy to announce this intention. By this time it was too late.

Opportunistic leaders of such elements as the Popular Socialist — Communist — party, the Castro-like 14th of June Movement and other extremist organizations saw the chance to move in.

The 14th of June and the Communist organizations may pretend to support the return of Bosch, but when he was in office they denounced him as a "demagogic imperialist agent."

Indeed, if Bosch actually had been put back into office by the young officers' coup, it would have cut the ground from under the Castro-Communists, because technically it would have restored constitutionality to the government.

To the Editor:

In 1964, or it may have been late '63, President Johnson announced that one Thomas C. Mann had been named as Assistant secretary of state for Latin American Affairs. During his term of office the situation in Latin America deteriorated at a gallop.

Mann said that his policy toward recognition of Latin American regimes would be "pragmatic." This has resulted in continued U.S. support for semi-totalitarian regimes in Nicaragua, Paraguay, Honduras, Ecuador and the Dominican Republic.

Military men in the area were delighted. They continued to meddle in Argentina and took control of the governments of Bolivia and Brazil. To these men "pragmatism" was most appealing.

BUT IT DEALT a severe blow to the prestige of the men who are our greatest hope in Latin America: the evolutionary democrats.

Figures of Costa Rica, Betancourt of Venezuela, Munoz Marin of Puerto Rico, Frei of Chile, whose alliance with President Kennedy and whose dictum of withholding recognition from military juntas had begun to gain influence, have been viciously undercut by Mann's policy and by Johnson's Dominican debacle. Watch the election results from Chile and Venezuela.

Now we are assured that there is a Red under the Dominican bed. Leftists are rife in the land, say alarmed U.S. senators. More likely, the Dominicans want Bosch back. He was the first legally elected president the country had seen for more than 40 years. He promised separation of church and state, land reform and he consistently supported civil liberties for all, including Communists (which the U.S. cannot boast).

NEEDLESS TO SAY the "big three" (church, landowners and military) were most upset. For these groups, civil and social justice have never been salient issues. So Wessin y Wessin and cohorts took over and sang the old soothing lullaby "There was a Red under our bed, and we've thrown him into the chamber pot." It was the same tune made popular in Guatemala, Honduras, Brazil and Bolivia. The U.S. swallowed the bait, and supported the junta.

And when the dictatorship was bothered by rebels, Johnson sent in Marines.

Sending Marines into the Dominican Republic or any Latin American country is like sending Cossacks into Poland or Moors into Spain. It was the most serious psychological blunder in hemispheric affairs made by an American president in the last half century. It gives credence to claims of both the anti-yanqui and Communist propaganda in Latin America.

WE WILL PAY for this mistake politically and economically and we will feel the effects most obviously in the U.N. The Alliance for Progress has been damaged; the Good Neighbor Policy has been trampled under foot. The OAS may recover, but it will take years to win back the confidence of Chile, Uruguay and others.

The Army could have been sent to intervene. That would have been bad enough, but Marines? LINCOLN GORDON in Brazil screamed loudly for U.S. support of a revolution which was to destroy Communism. Instead there was a thorough purge of moderates in that country and hundreds of non-Communists and non-leftists lost political rights.

If the United States continues support of the rightist junta in the Dominican Republic, the Communists will take over the liberation movement. They are the only international, disciplined party in the hemisphere and can now hope to claim a much broader base of support, thanks to the intervention.

Within the span of a month Johnson has managed to alienate both India and Pakistan and all of Latin America. That's about 700,000,000 people. Whither now, Lyndon? David Hoyt, 6

HOW THEN, in the name of all that's reasonable, can anyone say, "The bulk of Americans are behind us" when Americans only think what they think they think.

If any tribunal, as such, is to serve any purpose other than the token image of governmental sincerity, they had best turn their efforts elsewhere; toward the average American and build up the plurality they claim, and at least attempt to accumulate some semblance of DEMOCRATIC LEGITIMACY.

Jerry R. Warner, A3
415 S. Capitol

Indeed, if Bosch actually had been put back into office by the young officers' coup, it would have cut the ground from under the Castro-Communists, because technically it would have restored constitutionality to the government.

Comedy Ridicules Society

"The Country Wife," by William Wycherly, opens at 8 tonight in the University Theatre. It will run through Saturday night and from May 10 to 15. "The Country Wife" is the final University Theatre production of the season.

THE PLAY is a waggish Restoration comedy which ridicules the London society of Wycherly's time. In 1709 Sir Richard Steele described "The Country Wife" as "a good representation of an age when Love and Wenching were the only business of life."

"The Country Wife" is Margery Pinchwife, a naive country girl whose jealous husband is determined to protect her from the rakes of London. His determination is not enough to prevent her from becoming involved with Horner, a Restoration man-about-town.

Horner has gained the trust of the men of London by spreading the rumor that he is impotent. The rumor is false, but it accomplishes exactly what Horner hoped it would. Unsuspecting husbands encourage his flirtations with their wives so that the ladies can have affairs without compromising their honor.

Margery Pinchwife is played by Rebecca Cox, A3, Iowa City. John Peakes, G, Coralville, plays Horner. Margery's husband is played by Ron Vanlieu, G. Wooster, Ohio.

David Knauf, assistant professor of dramatic art, is the director of the production. The assistant director is Lucille Megerdichian, G, Union City, N.J.

OTHER CAST members are Gene Wilkins, A2, Memphis, Tenn. as Harcourt; Richard Potter, A3, Nyack, N.Y., as Fidget; Jae Hughes, A3, Elkader, as Althea; Bing Bills, G, Urbana, Ohio, as Sparkish; Justice Giannetti, G, Iowa City, as Lady Fidget.

Carol Ann Berkowitz, A1, Springfield, Ill., as Dainty; Judith Sorensen, A2, Hazel Crest, Ill., as Squeamish; Kathryn Stuntz, A1, Santa Clara, Calif., as Lucy; Patrick Jordan, A2, Cedar Falls, as Quack; Ralph De Witt, A1, Fort Dodge, as a servant and a bookseller; Jan Kerkhoff, A1, Omaha, as a servant; and Richard Fazel, A1, Perry, as a parson.

Tickets for the play may be obtained at the Union East Lobby ticket desk for $1.50 or upon presentation of a student ID card. Tickets are still available for all performances although there are only a few seats left for May 8.

The ticket desk is open from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily except Sunday.

Vocational Study Shows—

Employment Increase Rapid

(Two in a series about an 8-county vocational school.)

Employment is increasing at a "rapid pace" in the eight counties of east central Iowa, according to a study recently completed by U of I personnel. The study is part of the eight-county effort to determine the curriculum needs for an area vocational school which will serve the people in the eight counties.

E. Robert Stephens, co-ordinator for the eight counties which seek to establish a post-high school vocational center for the area, said the study points up the fact that manufacturing will be the "most predominant industry" in the eight counties by 1970.

"Manufacturing will grow and be the most predominant industry, and by 1970 will employ nearly 26 per cent of the experienced civilian work force in the eight counties of Benton, Cedar, Delaware, Iowa, Johnson, Jones, Linn and Washington," he said.

Agriculture, once the most important industrial employer in the area, had 35 per cent of the workers in 1940. By 1970, agriculture will drop to second with only 13 per cent of the eight-county working force.

Other significant "growth industries" in the eight counties will be retail trade, education, government, professional and related services.

Projections for employment in the eight counties by 1970 show that 18,000 workers will have been added to the labor force during the 10-year period. By 1970, the total work force will be nearly 140,000 men and women. The 70,000 male workers will be an increase of 8,000 over 1960; the 50,000 female workers will be an increase of more than 10,000 from 1960.

Five Named Murray Scholars

Five University of Iowa students, named Murray Scholars for the current semester, were awarded $500 each in ceremonies Tuesday.

Award winners were Lynn Barricks, A4, Des Moines; Petre Sarlette, A4, Sioux City; Roger Grinstead, B3, Iowa City; Richard Hall, L1, Cedar Rapids; and Gerald C. Heetland, L1, Lakota.

The scholarships, presented by Pres. Howard R. Bowen, were awarded on the basis of scholarship, promise of ability and qualities of leadership. They are made possible under terms of the will of the late Mrs. Bessie Dutton Murray, Wheatland. Her husband, John F. Murray, a native of Monroe, became a millionaire through his ventures in the fields of advertising and sales promotion. He died in 1936.

Miss Barricks, a journalism student specializing in advertising, will receive her bachelor of arts degree in August. An Honors Program student, she will complete her University course work in three instead of the usual four years. She is a member of Mortar Board, senior women's honor society; Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism honor society; Junior Panhellenic, Central Party Committee, Union Board and Orientation Council.

Miss Sarlette, a news-editorial student in the School of Journalism, has maintained a 3.47 grade point average in her studies at the U of I and Stephens College, from which she transferred in 1963. She is a member of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism honor society; Phi Theta Kappa, national junior college scholastic honor society; and an officer in the Iowa Lutheran League.

Grinstead, a business administration student specializing in management and industrial relations, will receive a bachelor of arts degree in August. A graduate of Danville High School and Burlington Community College, he has maintained a 3.73 grade point average. Grinstead earned most of his expenses through part-time employment. He has received a Western Electric Scholarship and recently was awarded a U of I graduate scholarship.

Heetland is the highest ranking student in his class, while Hall is ranked 10th. Hall was graduated from the U of I in 1962, with a bachelor of arts degree in business administration.

Evy Talks of Sports Expansion

Athletic Director Forest Evy has announced that the University of Iowa's Athletic Board is interested in a long-range plan for an increase in competitive athletics here, which in turn would benefit all future students, faculty and staff members.

"The Board has discussed such things as increasing the seating capacity of the football stadium by enclosing the north end of the field as was done with the south end several years ago," he said.

"We've also talked about enclosing the roof of the press box for more usable space in that area, the possibility of an ice-skating rink, an outdoor sports practice building, the possible purchase of areas near the Stadium for new athletic fields, and of constructing additional tennis courts," he said.

Evy explained one of the goals of the Big Ten conference officials is to get more boys to compete in more sports. As enrollment grows everywhere in the conference, a proportionately fewer number of students are competing each year, he said.

Evy himself is a member of this Big Ten planning committee. "We've discussed such things as hockey, soccer, lacrosse and both junior varsity and 150-pound football on some sort of regular schedule basis," he said.

An idea has been proposed to turn the Iowa basketball court around to a north-south axis to add 3,000 more seats. That would give the Field House a seating capacity of about 15,000, about the same as any of the new arenas in the conference.

Evy pointed out that he doesn't think this is such a good idea. "For right now at least, we can't do that because it just wouldn't leave Cretz's trackmen anywhere to run during the indoor season, and that's one sport where we're really hurting as far as indoor facilities are concerned," he said.

"I think Cretz has done a terrific job in view of the circumstances he puts up with indoors. If you've been over there in the afternoon during the winter, you know what a circus it is. The trackmen run when, and where, they can in the midst of baseball indoor workouts, other athletes getting in shape and military drill classes."

"We really need a practice building for such sports as baseball, track and football," he said.

"Until we can get such a building, we will have to work carefully around the idea of remodeling the Field House to any great extent."

The University is planning to build a new, 2,500 seat auditorium sometime in the future. Since it ner for five hits over the last four innings but was unable to score as the Hawk defense turned in two double-plays.

In the seventh the Kohawks put together their biggest rally of the day on consecutive singles by Gary Schlarbaum, Don Dempsey and Tom Frisch. However Schlarbaum was thrown out at the plate on a good peg from centerfielder Larry Rathje as he tried to score on Frisch's hit. A double-play then erased the scoring threat.

The final Coe threat was in the eighth inning when the Hawks got driven across by Rathje's single a double-play just in time to avoid a Kohawk run. Lee Polk singled but Dick Smith hit back to Renner who turned the ground ball into a double-play.

IOWA scored three in the second inning, Mickey Moses singled, Jay Petersen walked and Moses scored on a throwing error by Coe hurler Ed Schwenke, who was trying for a force at third on Ken Banaszek's ground ball. Petersen scored on a single by Russ Sumka and Banaszek tallied on a wild pitch.

In the seventh inning Sumka got on via a two-base error and scored Renner's infield hit. Renner was driven across by Rathje's single for the final Iowa run.

Iowa now has a 7-9 record for the season. Coe stands at 5-4-1.

Group To Sing 'King David'

The Cantata Singers of Cedar Rapids will present the oratorio "King David" at 8 p.m. Monday at the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church.

Written by the 20th century French composer Arthur Honegger, the oratorio has been called one of the greatest choral works ever produced. It is scored for narrator, soprano, alto, and tenor soloists, chorus and orchestra.

Featured in the performance will be Mr. Larry Barrett, program assistant, Radio Station WSUI, as narrator.

An ensemble of brasses, percussion, and harp from the University Symphony will participate in the performance.

Featured among the soloists in the oratorio will be local singers Diane Butcher, 507 E. College, soprano, and Alice Carlston, 520 Normandy Dr., alto. The role of the Witch of Endor will be portrayed by Jo Ann Holt, 707 N. DuBuque.

The Cantata Singers are an ensemble of professional and semi-professional singers from the Iowa City and Cedar Rapids area.

—Week in Des Moines— Program Evaluated

The student interns who visited the Iowa state Legislature over Easter break apparently came away with a greater awareness and appreciation of the legislative process.

This conclusion was drawn from the questionnaires five of the interns recently completed evaluating the "Week in Des Moines" program.

Under the program eight students were in Des Moines from April 12 to 15. They were assigned to legislative hosts and attended sessions of the House, the Senate and committees.

Four students represented the Democratic Party and four the Republicans.

ACCORDING TO the questionnaires, the visit to Des Moines tended to strengthen the student's party affiliation and interest in politics.

Darrell Netherton, A3, Jamaica, a Democrat, said he was impressed with the youth and vigor of the by their state leaders.

"I feel that working under a handicap of inexperience, they are doing a remarkable job," he said.

On the Republican side, Jay Hamilton, A4, Hampton, and Lyle Krewson, A3, Van Horn, said they found that they generally agreed with the ideas expressed by their state leaders.

Krewson is president of the University Young Republicans. Several of the students said they better realized the strengths and problems of the Legislature.

"WE WERE better able to understand the actual maneuvering that occurs in the legislative process, which cannot be learned from books," Krewson said.

The students seemed to feel that one of the greatest strengths of the Legislature was the legislators themselves.

"It was the very different personalities of each of the legislators that impressed me," Jo Ann Chmura, A2, Des Moines, said. Hamilton said that although there was often extensive criticism of the legislature, he thought many legislators were extremely capable.

Putting in a good word for other legislative workers, Netherton said, "I had not realized the effectiveness of an excellent clerk or a good lobbyist until I talked with legislators about this aspect. Attending committee meetings also served to indicate the powerful role of a good committee."

THE LEGISLATIVE hosts for the program were the Lieutenant Governor, the Speaker of the House, the Senate majority and minority leaders, the House majority and minority leaders, and the two party whips.

The students said they discussed current issues with their hosts and the legislators seemed quite interested in the program. They also talked to lobbyists.

In making recommendations for the next program, the interns urged closer contacts with legislators and lobbyists. Several suggested that legislators be invited to lunch and discussions.

The other student interns were David Beed Jr., A1, Cedar Rapids; Larry Goetsch, A4, Monticello; Carolyn Lukensmeyer, A2, Hampton; and Michael Schiavoni, A4, Burlington.

The "Week in Des Moines" program was sponsored by the Student Senate External Affairs Commission. Judy Kinnaman, A3, Iowa City, and Dan Nicol, A2, Millford, were chairmen of the program.

A similar program is scheduled for the next session of the State Legislature.

Panel To Discuss Prof To Head School Study

Every student realizes all too well that his is a busy life, but few are aware that their instructors are equally pressed.

The Union Board "Issues and Answers" Series will explore the topic "Do Our Instructors Have Time to Teach?" at 3:45 this afternoon in the Union Pentacrest Room.

The discussion will attempt to provide an insight into the demands made on instructors' time which deplete the time they may devote to teaching.

Eugene Garber, assistant professor of English and director of the undergraduate Writers' Workshop; Joseph Baker, professor of English and department head of Contemporary Thought; and Michael Osborn of the Department of Speech will be on the panel.

A University faculty member has been appointed to lead a foreign language study at an institute to be held at the University of Alaska this summer.

The University of Alaska recently announced that Dr. Eugene Dorfman, visiting associate professor of romance languages, will be Professor of Applied Linguistics of the National Defense Education Act (NDEA) French Institute.

The Institute, to be held from June 24 to August 11, will offer a program of studies for secondary school teachers of French. The institute will consist of 10 faculty members and 40 persons are to participate in the seven-week program.

Lloyd-Jones To Speak—

'Style' Is Topic Of Last Lecture

Richard Lloyd-Jones, associate professor of English, will speak in the Union Old Gold Room at 7 tonight as part of the Last Lecture Series.

His topic, "Style," was prompted by his observation of the student personality and the nature of his communication, Lloyd-Jones said Wednesday.

"The student may not want to admit it but he commits a lot of himself to paper," said Lloyd-Jones.

The lecture, Lloyd-Jones said, will be "a demonstration of the degree to which sense of reality is molded by point of view rather than by any objective state."

Lloyd-Jones said he would arrive at this conclusion by reading statements about spring by several poets and contrasting these with theoretical statements about the nature of expression.

"All of the poets saw similar reality but have different interpretations of it," Lloyd-Jones said. He said he would show that some of the theoretical statements were questionable in actual practice.

His topic is a notion which is fundamental to all human relationships, Lloyd-Jones said.

Humanities Society Lecture—

Freedman To Speak On Prose Narrative

Ralph Freedman, professor of English will speak on "Image and Object: Types of Prose Narrative" May 10 at 8 p.m. in the Old Capitol Senate Chamber.

The speech, sponsored by the Humanities society, was originally scheduled for April 29.

Born in Hamburg, Germany, Professor Freedman moved to England in 1939 and to the United States in 1940 and became an American citizen in 1942. Educated in the primary and secondary schools in Germany, he attended the University of Washington in 1942 before entering the U.S. Army, where he served from 1942-45. He was awarded an A.B. Degree in philosophy in 1947 by the University of Washington, an M.A. Degree in philosophy by Brown University in 1950 and a Ph.D. Degree in comparative literature in 1954 by Yale University.

While at the University of Washington, he was named to Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic society.

Professor Freedman joined the U of I faculty in 1953 as an instructor and was named a professor in 1964.

His books include "Divided," a novel for which he received the Lewis and Clark Northwest Award in 1948, and "The Lyrical Novel," a study of Herman Hesse, Andre Gide and Virginia Woolf, published in 1963.

He has also written articles for PMLA, journal of the Modern Language Association, Accent, Texas Quarterly, Perspective, North Carolina Studies in Comparative Literature, Wisconsin Studies in Contemporary Literature, the Iowa English Yearbook and Western Review.

Clinics Presented By Student Winner

Twenty-three student winners of the College of Dentistry's yearly clinic competition presented their clinics at the meeting of the Iowa State Dental Association in Des Moines this week.

The dentistry and dental hygiene students presented displays and demonstrations on various aspects of dentistry.

The student who had the top clinic in Des Moines will compete at the national convention of the American Dental Association Nov. 2-11 in Las Vegas.

U.S. Foreign Policy Subject of PSDC Meet

Representatives of different political positions will discuss "U.S. Foreign Policy" at 7:30 today in the House Chamber of Old Capitol. The discussion is sponsored by the Political Science Discussion Club (PSDC).

The participants are Ron Zobel, A1, Oelwein, president of the Young Americans for Freedom; Paul Fiala, A2, Cedar Rapids, president of the Young Democrats; and Larry P. Walshire, A2, Solon, president of PSDC.
