

Renewal Looms as Hot Summer Issue

(First of a two-part story on urban renewal in Iowa City.)
By MIKE TONER
Staff Writer

City officials forecast a summer of hot discussion on the proposed urban renewal of Iowa City's central business district.

If many businessmen remain as adamantly opposed to the face-lifting planned for the downtown area as they are today, the hot summer may not be long enough for Iowa City to plan the necessary details for renewal and rehabilitation of 20 square blocks of the downtown area.

IT'S NOT A matter that anyone takes lightly, and the small businessman is particularly worried. Just the name "urban renewal" brought wrinkles of doubt to the face of one Iowa City businessman. He had his reasons to worry.

The man, Max Ellyson, manager of the Campus Grill, said, "What the hell do they expect me to do while they're tearing down and rebuilding — I'll tell you what; they'll make me move."

He continued, "When a good share of your income is from a 10 cent cup of coffee and a 10 cent doughnut during a few prime hours in the morning, you have to work hard for that income."

"IF I HAD TO move away from this place across the street from the University for even six months, I'd be out of business because most of my traffic is University students and people from the bus depot."

The Campus Grill and several other restaurants, clothing stores, barber shops and drug stores are

"just across the street" from the Pentacrest, hub of the University.

Most of the businesses close to the campus slant their appeal to the college student.

Nearly all the owners of the small, walk-in, student-oriented businesses feel the same. The arguments are the same: "I can't afford to lose my choice position," or "I can't afford to shut down or move for even a short time."

Under the tentative urban renewal plan being considered by Iowa City, renewal and rehabilitation would be carried out on a block-by-block basis for all 20 designated blocks.

ACCORDING TO CITY Manager Carsten D. Leikvold, property would be purchased from the present owner, rebuilt, and hopefully resold to the same person. A Federal grant would pay for the first move in the temporary relocation of the business during the remodeling stage. The businessman would then be required to pay for the move back into his renewed building.

Both Leikvold and Urban Renewal Director Arthur Westerback are quick to point out that "urban renewal" is not the most accurate term for the plan.

Leikvold told The Daily Iowan that the proposed general plan does not call for any "wholesale bulldozing" of the business district. He emphasized that many businesses would likely need only "rehabilitation" by remodeling rather than renewal by rebuilding.

THAT IDEA IS something the city is making a special effort to communicate to the 478 business and professional people, the 250 property owners, and the 1,000 residents of the area that would be affected by urban renewal.

Even before Iowa City was notified by the U.S. Housing and Finance Agency that it would receive $171,000 in Federal funds to study urban renewal there were briefings for interested persons.

City Planner Earl Stewart and the Citizens' Advisory Committee held informational sessions for landlords and tenants of the affected area.

The city's position has not been one of "pushing" urban renewal, however.

It is true that members of the City Council and other officials feel Iowa City vitally needs an urban renewal program in the near future, but they also think the plan should be designed in detail by the people it will most affect — the businessmen themselves.

LEIKVOLD AND Westerback have repeatedly encouraged the organization of a new citizens' advisory committee on urban renewal to accurately represent business and professional people's opinions. Stewart said of the program in

More Marines Land in Viet Nam

THREE MORE U.S. MARINE battalions began pouring ashore on a South Vietnamese beach 340 miles northeast of Saigon Friday to secure an area on which a new combat air base is to be built.

The Marines came ashore in landing craft at a remote beach in Quang Tin Province, 60 miles south of Da Nang.

Senate Rejects Rights Amendment

THE SENATE REJECTED THURSDAY a Southern challenge to the automatic guarantee President Johnson proposed to enforce the voting rights of Negroes.

With a 64-25 roll-call vote, it turned down an amendment that would have put the federal courts in charge of new steps to end racial discrimination at the polls.

Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.), floor manager for the legislation, said it would have meant "total emasculation of the bill."

Dr. Sam Asks for Rehearing

DR. SAM SHEPPARD'S ATTORNEY said Thursday he has asked the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati for a rehearing on its Wednesday order that Sheppard returned to Ohio Penitentiary.

F. Lee Bailey of Boston told a news conference that he also had asked for a 20-day extension — to June 14 — in addition to the 20 days already allowed to answer the appellate court order.

Viet War Bill Passes Senate

PROPELLED BY THE TOP LEADERS in both parties, President Johnson's $700-million Viet Nam war fund bill crashed through the Senate on Thursday amid cries of blackjack tactics.

The Senate passed the bill by a roll-call vote of 88-3 after a fixed five-hour period of furious debate.

Senator after senator served notice that his vote for the money bill was not to be construed as blank check endorsement for policies that might bog this country down in large-scale land warfare in Asia.

Titan 3A Test Is Successful

THE THIRD-STAGE OF A TITAN 3A rocket hurtled into space as a flying launch platform Thursday from Cape Kennedy neatly executed four orbital shifts and unleashed a pair of satellites in an important rehearsal for future military space missions.

The fourth ignition of the third-stage engine occurred about 5 p.m., nearly eight hours after the rocket was launched, and placed it in an orbit ranging from 1,725 to 23,172 miles from the earth.

The Air Force said the fourth orbit try was a bonus test. It had been given only a 50-50 chance of success.

Dominican Rebels Kill Marines

GUNFIRE CRACKLED AGAIN in Santo Domingo on Thursday despite a cease-fire, bringing death and injury to U.S. Marines and paratroopers patrolling this revolt-stricken Caribbean country. Two Marines were released after being captured by Dominican rebels.

Two Marines were killed and a third presumed slain in a fierce battle between U.S. Marines and Dominican rebels. The U.S. command said the fighting erupted after a Marine patrol took a wrong turn.

Don't Take Love Poems to Heart

By CAROL CARPENTER
Staff Writer

One University professor wouldn't advise a lovesick student to find solace in poetry.

"Don't ever believe a love poem is written for you," Richard Lloyd-Jones told his audience Thursday night. "He's not telling you about the way you feel, he's telling you about what he feels."

LLOYD-JONES, associate professor of English, spoke on "Style" in the Old Gold Room of the Union as a part of the Union Board Last Lecture series.

Poets, said Lloyd-Jones, "take an external world and remodel it to suit themselves."

Lloyd-Jones read from the works of 15 poets and 11 writers to show that reality was interpreted differently by each. Each of the poems was an interpretation of spring.

"Each was seeing a different April and using April for a different purpose," Lloyd-Jones said. "Presumably each of these men had found a different definition for this word."

Klansman's Fate In Jury's Hands

HANEYVILLE, Ala. (AP) — The murder case of Ku Klux Klansman Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, went to a Lowndes County jury Thursday, but after more than four hours of deliberation the panel was unable to agree on a verdict and was sent to bed for the night.

The jury got the case Thursday afternoon after both the defense and prosecution denounced the civil rights aims of the victim, Mrs. Viola Liuzzo.

MRS. LIUZZO was traveling with a young Negro when she was shot to death on a nearby highway in Lowndes County, of which Haneyville is the seat.

Circuit Solicitor Arthur E. Gamble Jr., the prosecutor, told the jury of 12 white men. "It's repugnant to me. But she had a right to be here. She had a right to be here without being shot down in the middle of the night."

Wilkins did not take the witness stand. He was brought to trial in the March 25 slaying of Mrs. Liuzzo, 39, a white Detroit mother of five.

Defense attorney Matt H. Murphy Jr., told the jury: "I'm proud to be a white man and I stand for white supremacy, not for black supremacy. When white people join up with them (Negroes), they become white niggers."

INDICTED with Wilkins but not yet brought to trial were two fellow Klansmen, Eugene Thomas, 42, and William O. Eaton, 40. All are from the Birmingham area.

The state had called 15 witnesses, among them Gary Thomas Rowe Jr., 34, FBI informer planted within Klan ranks five years ago.

He was in the car with the three accused men at the time of Mrs. Liuzzo's slaying, he said.

Juror Clifford McMurry asked in court whether there were fingerprints on the .38-caliber re-

Both Sides Assail Mrs. Liuzzo's Aims

Rowe had testified that he had a pistol in his hand that night, sitting beside Wilkins in the back seat of the car, when the slaying occurred. He said he never fired his gun.

Marion Williams, FBI ballistics expert from Washington, also testified that he made no fingerprint tests on the .38 pistol, nor on five empty shells found beside the highway near the murder scene.

FBI agent Edward Lahey testified that when he took the .38 from Thomas's home the day after the slaying he did not examine it for prints.

It's 'Derbies On' To Sigma Chi Today

It's census day on campus. The Sigma Chi are out counting derbies (providing there are girls under them) in connection with tomorrow's 19th annual Derby Days.

The Sigs are participating in the event in an effort to accumulate points toward the Derby Day trophy which will be given to one housing unit Saturday afternoon.

The Sigs will cover the campus today wearing derbies and keeping an eye out for coeds wearing derbies. Upon reporting to a Sig, the girls will receive points for their housing units.

At the end of the day the Sigs will total the points. The housing units with the three highest totals will receive points toward the trophy.

A 22-year-old University coed was found dead in her apartment across from the Pentacrest shortly after noon Thursday. Authorities say she died from natural causes.

The coed, Phyllis C. Okubo, A4, Mundelein, Ill., was found lying face down on the floor of the apartment at 103 N. Clinton St. The body was clad in underclothes. William Handy, son of the owner of the building, who has an apartment directly below that occupied by Miss Okubo, dis-

Iowan Survives 200-Foot Plunge

DAVENPORT (AP) — A 31-year-old Davenport man survived a 200-foot plunge from a Mississippi river bridge into the swollen river here Thursday evening.

Police said Robert Archer, father of five children, climbed to the top of Central Bridge linking Rock Island, Ill., and Davenport shortly before dark.

He maintained his perch for about one hour, ignoring pleas to come down.

3 Negroes Kill White Boy

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Three Negro teen-agers, seeking members of a white gang to revenge the nonfatal stabbing of a Negro,

Funeral Arrangements in Mundelein, Ill., are pending.

Miss Okubo's apartment is on the first floor of the apartment house. There are apartments above and below it. About 10 other apartments are in the building.

Other residents of the apartment house said they had smelled a bad odor near the apartment for the past several days, but had not been suspicious.

Local law enforcement officers combed the dead girl's apartment early Thursday night for more information. They said such an investigation was routine.

EARLIER in the afternoon, Iowa City detectives questioned several of Miss Okubo's close friends. It was not known by police Thursday night when she was last seen.

A resident of the apartment house said Miss Okubo had had a party in the apartment about a week ago, but that she gave parties quite often.

To what purpose?

IT IS TIME the students of the University were told what the purpose of the proposed Art Center Auditorium is to be.

When the proposal for the auditorium was raised in the form of a request for increased tuition rates last year, we got the impression its purpose would be to supply the University with something new lacking. That is, a 2,800 to 3,400 seat building which would put Iowa in line for some "big time" performances.

These "big time" shows might include Harry Belafonte, Dave Brubeck, well known concert orchestras and ballet companies, or any number of top national performers.

With the present limits of seating capacity in the Union and seating arrangement in the Field House, it is difficult or even impossible to get many top performers to come out of their way to Iowa. They don't like the idea of appearing to small audiences (under 3,000) or giving more than one performance.

The cost of bringing such talent here is also a factor. Seating limitations mean the price per ticket must be high in order to pay the thousands of dollars these people charge.

We had also been led to believe the auditorium would be used for such all campus attractions as Spring Festival's Kaleido (those attending this year's show in the Field House can attest to the need for a new location).

We did not think the auditorium was to be tailored primarily to the needs of various student groups performing on campus.

Some people in the School of Music have expressed opposition to a large auditorium because they think it would be difficult for young voices to fill the place. This should not be a decisive consideration.

If the Old Gold Singers or University Chorus or some other group could not perform in a good sized auditorium, they could still use the Union or Macbride Auditorium and give more than one performance, if necessary.

It would seem that the University's major need now is a building which would accommodate outside groups having schedules and standards beyond local control.

THE UNITED STATES, judging from the latest approach to foreign policy as it has developed in the Dominican Republic conflict, has set a course of ideological warfare.

President Johnson seems to be engaged in a crusade on Communism, whenever and wherever it may appear.

The implications of such a policy are very disturbing. Our major criticism is that anti-Communism should not be the fundamental aim of our foreign policy; the avoidance of nuclear warfare is a more desirable guiding principle, because it is both in the best interests of this country and would work to promote global peace.

But there are other, less abstract, criticisms of a foreign policy defined as an anti-Communist crusade.

First of all, such a policy inaccurately lumps all forms of Communism together, not allowing for the fact that all Communist governments are not our enemy. Nor are they all similar in their foreign policy. One of the dangers of this lumping together is that it may tend to unite certain groups who are now in disagreement, creating a monolithic ideology with a common enemy — us.

Another implication of the policy is that Communism is the worst possible government. Certainly some forms of fascism are as dangerous to world peace and this country. But under the present approach, the United States would be in the position of supporting a fascist government in order to avoid a Communist one.

Perhaps the worst consequences of the stated U.S. policy is that ideological warfare is passe and would not be well received by our allies. They have already fought too many holy wars.

The basic problem with the policy is that it is too specific in singling out the arch-enemy. It does not consider the more fundamental goals of this country.

Senator replies to Barrett's column

To the Editor:

Judging by the last two articles which concerned the Student Senate and were presented to The Daily Iowan and Iowa Defender by the new Daily Iowan staff writer, John Cotter Barrett, it is necessary that subscribers of The Daily Iowan and the Iowa Defender know the truth, as well as, the humorously presented fairy tales. The truth is that the new student senators are not, in any way, having any of the troubles that the ill-informed Barrett seems to think.

Perhaps I should explain exactly what I mean when I write, "the ill-informed Barrett." Within Mr. Barrett's article, "Bring in the Sheep," a gross error was made when the unknown author said, "At no time was Mr. Pundt called upon to explain the curious logic of his amendment."

(The reference here is to the Housing Amendment which would permit men of Junior standing to live in unapproved housing even if they are not 21.)

Due to either poor ears or else the inability to follow discussion well, Mr. Barrett was unaware of the quite obvious reasoning which was presented. That curious logic was as follows:

1. Women under 21 are compelled by University Rules to "sign in" in the evening in regard to their hours if they are late.
2. Even if they are not 21, most men do not have hours, John.
3. People who live in apartments don't usually have anywhere to "sign in" if they are not 21.
4. The parents who have daughters attending school here would prefer that the young ladies have hours.
5. Consequently, since men do not have hours and since women do, it is at least feasible for men who are not 21 to live in apartments while, with University rules as they are, women can not.

This is why, and only why, the "half-a-loaf-is-better-than-none." Maturity, I can assure John after reading his article, has nothing to do with it.

After this, when he finds it difficult to hear, I would advise John to check the minutes of the meeting.

BUT THE MISCONCEPTIONS of Mr. Barrett do not end here. Apparently, in his Iowa Defender article Mr. Barrett thinks that the Student Senate should be a partisan political organization which should help formulate United States policy in Viet Nam and help write a Medicare Bill. I would like to explain that this Student Senate is a student body government for the students at the University of Iowa.

The Defender article seems to move into an interesting satire when Mr. Barrett writes, "Groups such as SNCC, the Young Democrats, Young Republicans, and, yes, even the Young Reactionaries are attracting large memberships and the most exciting leadership."

Being an active member of one of the above mentioned groups, I can say that out of the 450-plus, boasted members, less than 50 attended the "election of officers" meeting this spring and since that time the attendance has dropped.

In addition to this, it is interesting to note that one of the exciting leaders of the above mentioned group did not find it necessary to attend the committee meetings which he was required to attend in regard to the Political Affairs Conference. But he wasn't the only one who missed.

John Cotter Barrett missed the final meeting himself. Why this is indeed surprising. After all, according to Mr. Barrett's article in The Daily Iowan Wednesday, "Previously, the membership (of the last Student Senate) generally exhibited an amazing degree of leadership, particularly when confronted with the indecisive and overly cautious presidential ineffectiveness."

SINCE JOHN was a member of that past Senate, I expected to see him at that required Political Affairs Conference meeting. But he was not there!

I might add that if John's article doesn't appear next week, it's because he has broken his arm writing these articles. If this is the case, the Student Senate will probably run its own column in the D.I. With such a reporter unable to write, maybe the campaign promises reiterated by Jon Van in the May 6 Daily Iowan, may come true, as the student senators hope they (promises) will.

In conclusion I would like to refer John Cotter Barrett to check the "University Bulletin Board" printed in the same Daily Iowan in which his article appeared.

Beneath that title he will find "Written Complaints," students wishing to file University complaints can now turn them in at the Student Senate Office." The complaints notice has been a part of The Daily Iowan for two years and so far only nine complaints have been made.

I must say that I'm glad that John has found something to do since he has nothing to do.

Another reply

To the Editor:

In reference to Mr. Barrett's recent attack on the membership of the Student Senate it should be pointed out that he has failed to distinguish between attitudes of submission and those of cooperation.

An administration cannot hope to carry out its platform without first initiating certain necessary procedural changes. I feel that the Senate's willingness to adopt Mr. Parisi's proposed changes shows a desire on the part of senators to: first, give Mr. Parisi a chance to introduce his program as outlined in his platform, and second to get to the business of improving the structure and efficiency of student government on this campus.

It is unfortunate that Mr. Barrett sees Student Senate as a place for argument and agitation merely for the sake of stirring up dissent. If my constituents (including Mr. Barrett) consider cooperation with Mr. Parisi in his attempt to secure simple procedural changes as being "sheep-like" and submissive, then my reply is a firm, "BAAA!"

Mystery before Bond

By CHAP FREEMAN
For The Iowan

Once upon a time there was no James Bond. In these prehistoric days of the 1940's, the distinction had not yet been made between "art" films and merely entertaining ones; a movie was either good or it wasn't. One that was especially good then, and still is, is "Key Largo." The work of John Huston, it has the distinction of being not only a very entertaining film, but one that is psychologically and even thematically engrossing as well.

Set in a resort hotel in the Florida keys, the movie is concerned with the plot of a group of Milwaukee hoodlums to pass counterfeit bills to the representatives of yet another mob, these operating out of Miami. As a hideout they have chosen The Hotel Largo, owned by Lionel Barrymore and operated by his daughter-in-law, Lauren Bacall. Enter Humphrey Bogart, followed fast by a hurricane.

What happens then is fast, very slick, and full of surprises. With the now-almost-forgotten art of the action director, Huston makes every scene count, every line of dialogue contribute to the suspense. There is an alcoholic gun moll, played with surprising depth by Claire Trevor, and even an Indian chief, in this case a Seminole. "His ancestors go back to the gods," says Bacall. "He sells sea shells by the sea shore."

Edward G. Robinson, as the head hood, has henchmen named Toots and Angel. When Trevor reminds him that it was he, after all, who gave her her first drink, he retorts with "Sure baby, everybody has their first drink, but not everybody is a lush." Entertaining stuff like that.

Beneath the adventurous surface, moreover, lurks a questioning of the nature of heroism. Bogart, the first of the existential movie heroes, is at the top of his form in "Key Largo," tossing off lines like "Your head says one thing, your whole life says another, your head always loses." And a lady killer to boot. Like the Radcliffe girl said, "He's the kind of man who gets involved with women, but he's not having an identity crisis every three minutes."

The Art Guild is showing "Key Largo" this evening at eight p.m. in Shambaugh Auditorium. Go and see it. It makes James Bond look like a skit for third graders.

Narcotic drugs have three classes

By MALIN SWOPE
Staff Writer
(Fifth in a series)

The interstate sale of drugs is governed by provisions of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act.

Under the Act, drugs are divided into those that may be sold "over the counter," that is, without a prescription, and those that can be sold only when a doctor's prescription is presented by a patient to a pharmacist.

Drugs that can be sold only upon the presentation of a prescription bear (on the bottle or package in which they are sold by the drug manufacturer to the pharmacist) a warning such as "To be dispensed by or on the prescription of a physician" (or dentist or veterinarian).

Whenever such a warning appears, pharmacists must withhold distribution of the drug until a prescription for its use is presented by a patient.

A pharmacist cannot refill a prescription for such an item unless a physician has specifically authorized such a refill.

THREE CLASSES of narcotic drugs are prescribed by physicians and distributed at pharmacies, according to Edwin McLuen, pharmacist at Whetstone's.

"Class A narcotics are those drugs that require a doctor's prescription," he said. "Morphine is a class A drug commonly prescribed for pain relief."

Pharmacists are required by law to know who the doctor is before filling any prescription for narcotics, McLuen said. They must also be able to recognize the handwriting of the physician who signs the prescription.

"Class B narcotics are what we call 'oral' narcotics," he said. "These are drugs which can be prescribed by a physician over the phone."

McLuen said codeine, a less potent drug than morphine, is one narcotic drug prescribed over the telephone. The drug, he said, is used for relieving pain of tooth extractions and tooth aches.

"THE THIRD class of narcotics which we prescribe," McLuen said, "is what is called the 'exempt' class. The drugs in this class are of far less potency than those in either class A or B."

According to McLuen, class A and B drugs are not automatically refillable.

The patient, he said, must obtain a new prescription from his physician every time he needs a new supply of these drugs.

"Sometimes we call the patient's doctor to verify the dosage on the prescription," he said, "but normally his signature is sufficient authorization to fill the order."

McLuen said he has never filled prescriptions for marijuana because "it has no medical purpose."

Campus follows Van down that road....

By JON VAN
Shepherd of the Flock

Last week we were more or less like everyone else — a full time student. Oh, we were involved in a few things on the side, like being a newsmen, Communist dupe and patron of the bistrot up the hill from the Communications Center.

But now, why the change that has come over us is fantastic, it's like a whole new life.

You see, last Thursday we were invited to attend a luncheon for Campus Leaders in the afternoon in the Carnival Room and then a leadership banquet at the Union in the evening.

Well, it didn't take long for word to get around, and before long there we were — a Certified Campus Leader.

Since last week we've scarcely had a moment to spare. People have been telling us long and tragic stories of the problems in Iowa City which need to be solved such as "I can't find any place to park my car since the cops keep giving me tickets for storing it on the street" and "My landlady lives upstairs, and she snores like a buzz saw."

We've also been called upon to solve several problems important to University life.

Student have asked us such questions as: "Should I take 'Appreciation of Judo' before or after I've had 'Volleyball Skills I'?" and "Just what can we do about the bathrooms in Macbride Hall — there's no place to put your books?"

A few student have even confided some personal problems to us.

"THERE'S THIS boy I'm dating now," one coed told us, "and I don't like him much, but he's asked me to get pinned, and I don't have very much jewelry. What do you think I should do?"

"My folks don't know I dropped registration three weeks ago," one sophomore told us, "and they're gonna wonder how come when they don't get any grade reports on me. You know where I can get one of those forms to send 'em?"

And so it goes — day in day out. We can't even take a quiet walk around the campus anymore. Every time we set foot outside, people come up to ask where the Library or University Hall is. Once we get away from them, we have to keep helping freshmen across the street safely.

If we go to the Library, folks keep asking us where this book or that book is; why they can't smoke there; where's a Coke machine; why isn't there one; who hides all the dirty books; and how come I'm leaving so soon.

AND THEN there are those meetings with other Campus Leaders. "Does anyone have something for today's discussion?" we're asked. Sometimes no one says anything, and we all sit around basking in our glory and in the joy of not having to always be dominating conversation (so as to keep up the image).

But sometimes someone will have something.

"What about sidewalks?" asks the president of ALYP (Always Leading You Peasants).

"What about 'em'?" replies the president of DN (Direction Now!).

"THE STUDENTS have been putting gum on them," comes the answer. "It's a positive disgrace. Something should be done."

"I'll talk to my people at once," each of the presidents agrees in unison.

"The Iowan will denounce that sort of thing immediately," we assure everyone.

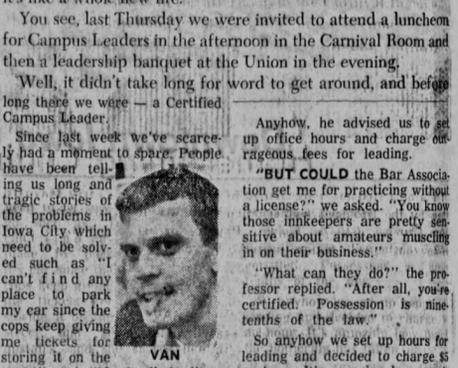

With the important business of the day finished, we get on to dessert.

We were talking to a history professor about our new activities the other day. (He's one of the few people on campus who doesn't want to be lead somewhere — claims he's riding the tide of history or some damn thing.)

"I have a profound respect for the seas as a moral teacher. No man can be thrown upon it without feeling his impotence and insignificance." — Aguecheik

A friend may well be reckoned the masterpiece of Nature. — Emerson

War its thousands slay, Peace its ten thousands. — Beilby Porteus

Anyhow, he advised us to set up office hours and charge outrageous fees for leading.

"BUT COULD the Bar Association get me for practicing without a license?" we asked. "You know those inkeepers are pretty sensitive about amateurs muscling in on their business."

"What can they do?" the professor replied. "After all, you're certified. 'Possession' is nine-tenths of the law."

So anyhow we set up hours for leading and decided to charge $5 an hour. It's amazing how much the bothering has fallen off.

But we did get this one customer. He came in wearing a derby with bermuda shorts and a sweatshirt.

"First of all," we said, "you ought to put your pants on. The getup you're wearing will prevent you from ever being much of a success, why look at me..."

"NO, YOU don't understand," he said. "This is part of Derby Days — that's what I wanted to talk to you about."

"Oh, what can I do for you?" we asked while pulling down the lever on the old taxi cab meter behind the desk.

"I need help."

"Of course, doesn't everybody?"

"Well, we're having Derby Days Saturday afternoon at City Park, and probably half the coeds on campus will be there, and we've invested a lot of time and money in planning a good time for them, and — well, we're worried. We want you to make sure it doesn't rain," the young man smiled.

"I ah... well, yes. For $15 I can assure you it won't rain."

"ITS A DEAL! we'll pay you Sunday," he said.

"That's fine," we said.

Tomorrow's the day and we've got our fingers crossed. It's really amazing the faith Iowa students have in their leaders. Oh, just in case it rains, we've booked reservations on the plane to Mexico City Saturday. This leadership business does have its drawbacks.

CSL Suggests Senior Women Be Hours Free

All senior women would have unlimited hours starting this fall under a plan recommended by the Committee on Student Life (CSL).

Dr. Allan D. Vestal, chairman of CSL, said Thursday the committee's proposal now goes to Ted McCarrel, executive dean of Student Services, for the final decision. CSL made the recommendation at its Wednesday meeting.

Senior women less than 21 years of age would have to have parental permission to get the privileged hours.

Women 21 years old had had privileged hours since Feb. 5, 1964. First experimental, the privileges were made permanent by CSL in April.

The privileged hours plan working now allows women to sign out in a "21 Book" at their housing units. They do not have to return by closing hours.

Also discussed at the CSL meeting was the work of the subcommittee on student organizations which is investigating possible discrimination in social groups.

After Oct. 1, CSL will revoke certificates of recognition of student organizations that cannot freely choose members without regard to race, color or national origin.

The University has had this non-discrimination policy since 1962, Vestal said.

Dr. Robert Boynton, associate professor of political science, is chairman of the subcommittee.

Tickets Still Available

'The Country Wife' Opens

"The Country Wife" opened Thursday night at the University Theatre for a nine-performance run to end May 15. The play, written by William Wycherly, is a roguish Restoration comedy which ridicules the London society of Wycherly's time.

"It is one of those plays that plays for itself, by itself, and needs no explanation," director David Knaut, assistant professor of dramatic art, said recently.

Tickets for the production are still available for all nights. There are only single seats left for Saturday's performance, however.

Tickets may be obtained at the Union East Lobby ticket desk for $1.50 or upon presentation of a student ID card. The ticket desk is open from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily except Sunday.

Performances begin at 8 each night. There is no Sunday performance.

First Night

The University Theatre production of "The Country Wife" opened Thursday. Characters in the comedy are (from left) Ron VanLieu, G. Wooster, Ohio, as Finch; Becky Cox, A4, Iowa City, as Marjory Pinchwife; and John Peakes, G, Iowa City, as Horner. Pinchwife disguises his wife as a young boy to hide her from Horner.

Space Bill Passes U.S. House Easily

WASHINGTON (AP) — With hardly a voice raised against it, the House passed a $5,183,884,850 space authorization bill Thursday including almost everything the administration requested.

The roll call vote on passage was 388-11.

Speaker after speaker from both Republican and Democratic sides praised the space exploration program of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. A few expressed minor reservations.

Idaho State Speech Prof To Intern

An Idaho State University professor will spend next year under the direction of Pres. Howard R. Bowen as part of an academic administration internship program.

The intern, Dr. James G. Backes, is chairman of the Department of Speech and acting head of the Humanities Department at Idaho State. He received his B.S. and M.S. degrees from Illinois State University and a Ph.D. from Southern Illinois University.

The program is sponsored by the Ellis L. Phillips Foundation and was established four years ago to help solve the problem of the growing shortage of effective college and university personnel in the United States.

Backes was nominated for the internship by Charles H. Kegel and Laurence E. Gale, deans at Idaho State University.

During his year at Iowa, he will observe the operation of the University through his work with college officers and discussions with teachers on their views of academic administration.

Phil E. Connell, assistant to the president, said that the academic internships were distributed on the basis of size and geographic location and that an effort was made to avoid picking a university for an internship more than once.

Cast of Repertory Theatre Faces Rigorous Schedule

Six weeks of rigorous work lie ahead this summer for students who have been selected as a cast member in the University Repertory Theatre.

The 15-member company will begin three weeks of strenuous rehearsals in June, then perform four plays in nightly rotation Monday through Saturdays for the following three weeks.

All cast members are required to register as students for the summer session. They can earn up to six hours of college credit for their Repertory Theatre work. Because of their intensive rehearsal schedule, they will not take any other regularly scheduled classes.

Fifty-six adults auditioned for roles in the Repertory Theatre. In addition, 61 children were interviewed for the seven roles available.

The company will present all comedies this season and, says managing director Larry D. Clark, "hopes to provide four plays of very high entertainment value for the audiences."

The plays, to be presented from July 2-24, are "The Misanthrope" by Moliere; "The Shoemaker's Prodigious Wife" by Federico Garcia Lorca; "Under Milkwood" by Dylan Thomas; and "The Rehearsal" by Jean Anouilh.

Concert To Feature Opera

The School of Music will present the first of two performances of two 17th century opera classics at 8 tonight in Macbride Auditorium. The two works are the reconstructed "Lament" scene of Monteverdi's "Adriadne," and a performing version of Lully's "Amadis."

The works are being presented by the Opera Workshop, Chamber Orchestra, Dance Theatre, and Collegium Musicum. They are in honor of the American Musicological Society, whose Midwest chapter meets in Iowa City this weekend.

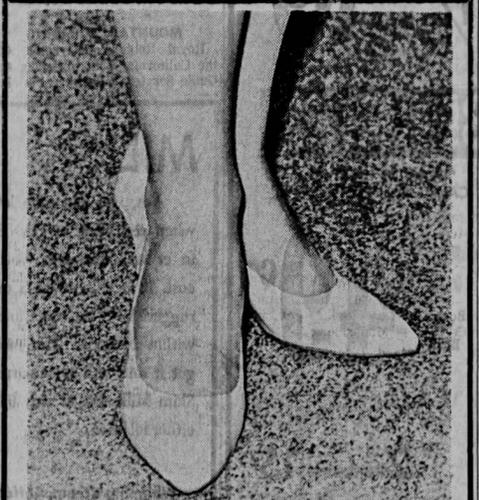

Prof. Robert Donington is responsible for both the reconstruction of Monteverdi's work and the performing version of Lully's opera. The ensemble will be conducted by Prof. James Dixon. Professor Dixon also conducts the University Symphony Orchestra.

The same two works will be presented at 8 p.m. Saturday in Macbride Auditorium. No tickets will be needed for either performance. The operas will be performed in full costume, scenery, and orchestra.

The cast of Lully's "Amadis" is as follows: Amadis — Sidney Murray, graduate assistant in music; Oriane — Connie Penhorwood, A3, Iowa City; Florestan — James Fudge, G, Grand Forks, N. Dak.; Corisande — Sue Sondrol, A2, Clear Lake.

Arcalaus — Alan Peters, G, Des Moines; Arachabone — Sheila House, G, Clovis, N. Mex.; the "Ghost" — Matthew Hart, G, Davenport; Alquif — Paul Geiger, A3, Beatrice, Neb.; Urgande — Margie Boston, G, Rockford, Ill.

Representatives from the following colleges will be taking part in the weekend's activities: the Universities of Kansas, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois, and Chicago; Michigan State University; Southern Illinois University; Roosevelt University; Western Illinois University; Ohio State University; and Alma College.

Prof To Fill Traffic Post

The University and Iowa City will initiate studies of campus traffic and transportation through the appointment of an engineer who will serve as Iowa City traffic consultant and associate professor of traffic engineering and urban transportation planning.

Lawrence K. Sieck, 47, a member of the Iowa State University faculty since 1953, has been named to the special position. He will serve Iowa City on a one-third time basis, for which the city will compensate the University, and will be an associate professor of civil engineering at the U of I.

City Manager Carsten Leikvold said Professor Sieck will start work for the city around Aug. 1. University officials will present the appointment to the State Board of Regents for approval, with the recommendation that it be effective in September.

"This is an excellent way for both the city and the University to work together," Leikvold said.

There's a little bug in every Karmann Ghia.

Underneath it all, this fancy bunk of car is still a Volkswagen. It's got Volkswagen's 4-speed synchromesh transmission. And the Volkswagen's chassis and torsion bar suspension.

The big wheels that rack up 40,000 and more miles on a set of tires are all VW.

And so is the air-cooled engine that can't boil over in summer or freeze up in the winter.

32 miles on a gallon of regular and no oil between changes are practically s.o.p. on the Karmann Ghia.

Not to mention the remarkable Volkswagen traction. The inexpensive and easy-to-come-by parts. The low insurance. The reasonably priced, reliable service.

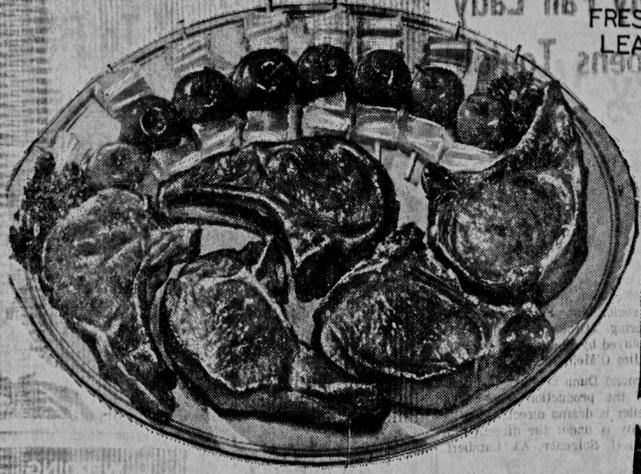

You can't see the "bug" part of a Karmann Ghia because it's traveling incognito in a sporty, Italian-designed body.

So you can drive a Karmann Ghia and most people won't even know it's got a bug in it. But you will.

In the late 1940s Young recorded on the mandolin for Ora Nelle records. He has been an accompanist for several Chicago blues groups.

Helfer, who gives lectures and concerts on Negro piano music, is an instructor in classical piano music. He also is a record reviewer for Down Beat magazine.

Helfer has studied and played Negro piano music in Chicago and New Orleans. He collected the album "Primitive Piano," which contains the works of older Negro pianists.

In Busy Session—

Senate OK's Regent Nominee

Approval Thursday of Gov. Harold Hughes' nomination of Rep. Casey Loss (D-Algona) to the State Board of Regents capped a busy day for the Iowa Senate.

Earlier, appropriations bills for a scholarship program and the State Conservation Commission were passed and an amendment to the controversial labor bill was proposed.

The nomination of the new Regents member was sent to the Senate earlier in the day and was approved on the recommendation of an investigative committee headed by Sen. Donald Murray (D-Bancroft).

Loss, an 18-year veteran of the legislature, was confirmed for a six-year term.

The appropriation measures passed by the Senate will now go to the House.

The scholarship bill would set aside $500,000 to be allocated by the Higher Education Facilities Commission to provide grants to able, needy Iowans attending universities and colleges in Iowa. The measure, approved 50-0, had strong support of the governor.

A bill passed 37-18 for capital spending by the Conservation Commission drew fire from the Republican minority because it would give the governor veto power over expenditures.

The measure appropriates $2,745,230 for the two-year period starting July 1, compared to an appropriation of $1.2 million for the current biennium. The commission asked $5.5 million for the next biennium and the governor had recommended $3 million.

The proposed amendment introduced in the Senate by Majority Leader Andrew Frommelt, (D-Dubuque) would erase the entire labor measure and substitute a simple provision to allow the union shop.

The move came as Gov. Hughes told a press conference he doubted whether enough votes could be mustered in the Senate to pass the bill as originally proposed.

The Hughes-backed bill, besides modifying the state's right-to-work law to allow the union shop, would prohibit courts from entering orders in labor disputes effective more than five days unless both sides are granted a hearing.

The right-to-work law stipulates that a person may not be required to join a union as a condition of getting or keeping a job.

In a union shop, a worker need not be a union member to get a job, but may be required to join a union within a certain period of time to keep his job.

In the House a proposed constitutional amendment for legislative reapportionment was returned Thursday on its second trip through the legislature. The final form of the measure still must be determined.

The Senate's first passage of the proposal called for a House of up to 100 members and a Senate up to half the size of the House. It included a provision that if the U.S. Constitution or the U.S. Supreme Court ever allow Senate apportionment on other than a population basis, some deviation from population apportionment must be built into the Iowa Senate.

The House passed the measure after changing this provision to make the deviation from population apportionment optional, rather than mandatory, if it ever is allowed.

On second consideration Thursday the Senate amended the measure to again make the provision mandatory. It passed by a 31-26 vote and was sent to the House.

House refusal to agree with the Senate on this point could send the measure to a conference committee.

In other House business anti-property tax forces won a battle to eliminate local tax levies as a means of financing a proposed system of state vocational-technical schools.

After three hours of debate, the House adopted 70-47 an amendment to a Senate-passed bill which would force such schools to depend primarily on state and federal funds and grants from industry for their financing.

The lengthy amendment also would remove the vocational-technical schools, junior colleges and community colleges from the control of the State Department of Public Instruction and put them under a separate State Board of Governors.

After adopting the amendment the House adjourned until Friday morning without taking a vote on the bill.

Discrimination In Local Hotel Ruled Out

A complaint about discriminatory service at a local restaurant was read at the Iowa City Human Relations Commission meeting Thursday night.

A University graduate student said in a letter to the Commission that a waitress at the restaurant had been abusive and did not wait on him properly.

The owner of the restaurant assured the commission that her business was based on student trade and she wasn't going to do anything to jeopardize it.

The commission passed a motion not to pursue the Burkle Hotel incident. An earlier complaint to the Commission told of alleged discrimination at the hotel but the committee said it was satisfied that none had occurred.

Mrs. Helen Lemme, a member of the commission, said, "We have to explain to the people that we are not in the housing or apartment business. This is an opportunity to do some community educating because the people don't understand what we are doing."

Summer Studies for 21—

MSP To Sponsor Negroes

By DANNY CHEEKS Staff Writer

About 21 Negro college students from Mississippi are expected to live, study and work in Iowa City this summer under the Mississippi Support Program (MSP). The students are enrolled at Rust College, Holly Springs.

Stanton P. Thalberg, assistant professor of rhetoric and MSP member, said Thursday that the Rust College students would participate in "an experiment in intercultural living."

HE SAID THE students have never been outside the South and that one purpose of their visit to Iowa City would be to provide them with a chance to get an "insight into life in the North."

Special courses in speech, composition, mathematics and reading will be provided for the students, Thalberg said. He said these courses would be taught by volunteers, and that the University had given MSP permission to use classrooms.

Most of the instructors are University faculty members and graduate students, Thalberg said. One of the instructors teaches at Coe College, Cedar Rapids, and the other has had teaching experience elsewhere.

THALBERG SAID

the students would stay in private homes. He said they would arrive in Iowa City June 13 and leave July 1 or 2.

With the cooperation of Iowa City businessmen, Thalberg said, MSP hopes to find part-time jobs for the students. He said MSP would solicit donations in Johnson County for money to allay expenses.

MSP was formed in September of 1964. Members include Iowa City townspeople, University faculty and students. The organization coordinates various civil rights and welfare programs in Holly Springs and Marshall County in northeast Mississippi.

ANOTHER PROJECT MSP is planning is support of the Asbury, Miss., Community Federal Credit Union which was established in 1963 by local Negroes.

Alan B. Spitzer, professor of history, said the credit union needs additional funds so that Negro farmers could make loans. He said members borrowed money from the Credit Union at "a good rate of interest."

Iowa Citizens are being asked to transfer money to the Credit Union.

YD To Seek Presidency At Meeting

By MALIN SWOPE Staff Writer

The president of the Pottawattamie County Young Democrats (YD's), Paul M. Culton, announced recently that he will seek the office of president of the Iowa Young Democrats.

The election will be held during the Iowa Young Democrats state convention in Davenport May 7 to 9.

Culton, second vice-president of the state Y-D's, has been active in the Democratic Party for a number of years and has been organizing Democratic Clubs in high schools around the state.

Culton, a native of Council Bluffs, is a teacher at the Iowa School for the Deaf.

Profs Challenge Doctrine Of 'Publish or Perish'

By MALIN SWOPE Staff Writer

For years a "publish or perish" doctrine has been preached by many colleges and universities—whether public or private, large or small. Under such a doctrine, any instructor who failed to publish a certain number of articles in a scholarly journal each year could be fired, regardless of his classroom teaching ability and reputation.

Three University professors challenged this doctrine in Thursday's "Issues and Answers" panel discussion in the Union Pentacrest Room. The discussion was sponsored by Union Board.

JOSEPH E. BAKER, professor of English, argued that mere publication or frequency of publication "is not evidence that an instructor is a good teacher."

"In fact, after reading some published material, it is obvious that many of these persons are not good teachers. But this in itself is not always a good indication of the quality of a teacher."

A chronic complaint of students in many large universities and colleges is that the faculty members have become so wound up in research activities that they no longer have time to teach, it was brought out.

ACCORDING TO Michael M. Osborne, assistant professor of speech, the increased emphasis on required research and publication has had bad effect on the quality of teaching.

"One of the great paradoxes in our educational system," he said, "is that students come to a university of this sort expecting to receive the highest quality instruction. Too often this is not the case, however."

"The tendency today is toward graduate oriented universities where undergraduate instruction is relegated to a secondary role. Students in my department feel they are being shoved to the background and receiving only the tidbits of a professor's research."

EUGENE GARBER, assistant professor of English, asserts that the "publish or perish" doctrine is "all part of the game."

"If a professor gets his name in a certain scholarly journal, he earns a certain number of points. At the end of the year he adds up his points and compares his total with that of other professors."

Osborne argued that it's largely a matter of supply and demand. "The sudden flood of students into universities and colleges," he said, "has led to an increasing problem of hiring enough qualified teachers. With so many students and so few teachers it has become necessary to rely more and more on graduate students for teaching assistance."

"IN A SENSE, we have given them the responsibility of filling the sandbags to hold off the flood."

Osborne suggested that a balance between teaching and publishing is becoming less likely as more and more stress is placed on how much an instructor can publish.

Evy Says Televised Games Cut Athletic Dept. Income

Iowa Athletic Director Forest Evashevski is mindful of how much television coverage of a football game can affect attendance. In 1961 Iowa was ranked No. 1 nationally and played USC in the Los Angeles Coliseum, which seats 101,000. The game was on national TV so only 30,263 people came to the game.

Iowa brought home a check for $35,000, which is a small sum in an expensive business like college football. Especially for a fight game that wound up 35-24 when USC missed a two-point conversion try in the final minute.

Iowa gets no larger share of TV money by playing before a regional audience. The Big Ten collects all of the TV proceeds for its member teams and splits it up into 10 equal shares each year.

didn't pick that one instead of the Michigan State game," he said.

Evy also pointed out that Iowa will be playing North Carolina State this fall instead of Notre Dame as the season's last game. While N.C. State is the defending Atlantic Coast conference champion, Iowa can't hope to draw as well for this November 20 game as it would have done against the Fighting Irish, he said.

Iowa's other home games are September 18 against Washington State, October 9 against Purdue (homecoming), October 16 against Michigan State, and November 6 against Michigan State.

"Hawkeye finances may do a bit better on the road. They are almost certain to play before full houses at Wisconsin and Ohio State but will probably play before less than capacity crowds at Northwestern and Indiana.

Committee Reports—

Air Force Academy Should Bring Football into Line

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special advisory committee said Thursday it is convinced that the pressures for a nationally powerful Air Force Academy football team must be resisted.

"Football at the academy must be brought into line with its fundamental goals as an educational and military institution," the committee said in a report to Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert and Gen. J. P. McConnell, Air Force chief of staff.

The committee, including retired and active Air Force generals, educators and an industrialist, discussed football in its report on a cheating scandal which rocked the academy at Colorado Springs earlier this year.

"It is distressing to note that football players were a prominent group" among the 105 cadets involved in the cheating, the committee said.

A TOTAL of 29 football players out of a squad of 80 resigned as a result of an investigation of the cheating which involved the theft and sale of examinations.

In addition to football players, 15 other athletes out of a total of 284 members of various athletic squads were involved, the report showed.

"The committee is fully aware of the pressures, prevailing in many areas of the nation, for big time football glory," the report said.

"Nevertheless, it believes that such pressures, if acceded to, may well affect adversely the environment and distort the true mission of the academy."

THE ACADEMY's purpose the committee said, "is not to produce the finest football team in the nation but to educate outstanding officers for an Air Force career."

The present football schedules and programs are not entirely consistent with this goal, the special group said.

It proposed that more realistic schedules be introduced as soon as practicable.

At Michigan, Michigan State— Iowa To Play 3 Big Games

Baseball Roundup

Cubs 5, Pirates 3 Orioles 5, Twins 1

CHICAGO (AP)—Larry Jackson enjoyed a perfect day at bat with three hits, including a two-run home run, and pitched the Chicago Cubs to a 5-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Thursday with a ninth-inning boost from relief man Ted Abernathy.

After Willie Stargell's second homer of the day and Jim Pagan's first homer had put the Pirates in front 3-2 in the top of the eighth, the Cubs bounced back with two runs in the bottom half.

Billy Williams' single, a walk to Ron Santo and Ernie Banks' scoring single tied the game and finished off Don Schwall who had replaced starter Don Cardwell in the sixth. Relief man Al McBean struck out Lenny Gabrielson and pinch hitter Jimmy Stewart but Don Landrum singled home the tie-breaking run and Jackson's third hit added an extra score.

Pittsburgh . . . 001 000 020—3 10 0
Chicago . . . 002 000 030—5 11 0

Cardwell, Schwall (6), McBean (8) and Bertel, Roznowski (8), W. Jackson (2), L. Schwall (9), W. Home runs—Pittsburgh: Stargell (2), Pagan (3), Chicago: Jackson (1).

The Iowa Hawkeyes dive headlong into the crucial stages of the Big Ten baseball race this afternoon with a game against the Michigan State Spartans at East Lansing before moving on to Ann Arbor Saturday for a doubleheader with the Michigan Wolverines.

The Hawks, with a 2-2 record in the Big Ten, find themselves in a percentage tie for third place with four other teams all carrying 3-3 marks. Michigan State is one of the teams in the tie behind the league leading Wolverines who sport a perfect 6-0 record.

Despite the 3-3 record in league play, Michigan State has proven itself a team to be reckoned with—as its 18-7 season total shows.

Today's game, however, shapes up as a pitchers' duel if past performance is any indication. Iowa Coach Dick Schultz said Thursday he would start righthander Jim McAndrew (2-2) against Michigan State's choice of southpaw John Krasnan (1-2).

ALTHOUGH NEITHER pitcher has an impressive won-lost record, the earned run averages tell a different story.

McAndrew picked up both of his losses against the hard hitting Arizona team in Iowa's pre-season trip. In his last outing, against Minnesota, McAndrew picked up a 3-3 win, with all of the Gopher runs being unearned. That lowered his earned run average to a commendable 2.45.

Krasnan has been Michigan State's hard-luck hurler. In 25 innings of pitching he has given up only one earned run for a stingy 0.34 earned run average. His two losses have resulted from 11 unearned runs.

MICHIGAN, riding the crest of a 10 game winning streak, will throw the same pitchers against Iowa that won two games from Illinois last Saturday. Clyde Barnhart, a lefty with a 2-2 record and a 2.91 ERA, will open and sophomore Bill Zepp, 2-2 and 6.00 ERA, will hurl the second game.

Iowa will counter with the remaining two-thirds of the starting combination—Bob Schaubert and Bob Gebhard.

Knudsen Has Stroke Lead In Colonial

FORT WORTH (AP)—George Knudsen rode lady luck and a temperamental putter to a two-under-par 68 Thursday for the first-round lead in the Colonial national invitation golf tournament.

The Canadian shot a three-under-par 32 on the back nine, and took a one-stroke lead over five familiar figures in golfing circles.

Several members of the 72-player field posed a challenge but one by one they yielded to high winds Trinity River layout.

Among the 69 shooters was Ben Hogan, who muffed an opportunity for a share of the lead by three-putting the final green.

Hogan missed six putts ranging from 5 to 15 feet to prevent a thorough conquest of the course he and the treacherous 7,132-yard holes had made famous.

Bracketed with Hogan were Johnny Pott, Gene Littler, Mike Souchak and Tommy Bolt.

Five players, shooting for the $20,000 top prize in this 100,000 event, equaled par 70, including Butch Baird, Billy Casper, Frank Beard, Chi Chi Rodriguez and Doug Sanders.

Tournament favorite Tony Lema and Sam Snead headed a 10-member delegation posting 72s.

Arnold Palmer faltered with a 73.

Bradley Is Knicks' First Round Choice

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Bradley, the Oxford-bound All-American from Princeton, was the first choice in the National Basketball Association draft Thursday even though there is virtually no chance he will ever play as a professional.

The 6-foot-5 Rhodes scholar was chosen as a territorial selection by the New York Knicks, who said there "is no ceiling on what we are prepared to pay him."

However, Bradley has stated repeatedly he will not turn pro. He plans to attend Oxford the next two years, then study law. The Knicks hope the collegiate Player of the Year will change his mind, perhaps after two years in England.

BILL BUNTIN of Michigan and Gail Goodrich, the All-American backcourt man who sparked UCLA to the national title, also were territorial choices. Buntin, hefty 5-7 rebounder, was taken by the Detroit Pistons and Goodrich, 6-1, 170-pounder, by the Los Angeles Lakers.

None of the other clubs in the nine-team league exercised territorial rights, which count as first-round picks but are given precedence over the actual opening round of selections.

San Francisco's Warriors wound up with the first two choices in the regular first round, under a new NBA draft rule, and named two All-Americans—Fred Heisel of Davidson and Rick Barry from Miami of Florida, the national scoring champion.

OTHER FIRST-ROUND picks were Dave Stallworth of Wichita, by New York; Jerry Sloan of Evansville, by Baltimore—Bill Cunningham of North Carolina, by Philadelphia; Jim Washington of Villanova, by St. Louis; Nate Bowman of Wichita, by Cincinnati; and Ollie Johnson of the University of San Francisco, by Boston.

The Warriors and the Knicks last-place clubs in the Western and Eastern Divisions, split the first four selections. San Francisco won the coin flip for precedence and since the Knicks took a territorial choice, the Warriors got Nos. 1 and 2.

Indiana's 6-5 Van Arsdale twins went one after the other in the second round, Dick to New York and Tom to Detroit. San Francisco opened the round by taking Wilbert Frazier of Grambling.

"IT'S ODD how things work out some times," Evy said. "For example, this fall we may come up with one of our better football teams and yet have one of our poorest years financially."

"We won't get much income from the game at Oregon State, although it should be an exciting one with our Gary Snook matched with Oregon State's Paul Brothers in a great passing game."

"The television people also picked our home game with Michigan State on November 6th for regional TV. That will cut into the size of our crowd for the game, especially if the weather happens to be bad."

"I DON'T THINK a telecast would hurt a great natural rivalry contest such as Iowa vs. Minnesota," but unfortunately they

Dodgers 4, Reds 3

CINCINNATI (AP)—Home runs by Derrill Griffith and Ron Fairly lifted the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 4-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Thursday night.

The victory gave the Dodgers a sweep of the three-game series and boosted their National League lead to two games over Cincinnati.

Griffith's homer, his first, came off John Taitouris in the fourth inning and broke a 2-2 tie. Fairly hit his fourth home run in the fifth off Joe Nuxhall.

The Dodgers opened with a first inning run when Wes Parker, who had tripled, scored on a wild pitch. The Dodgers scored again in the second when Jim Lefebvre singled and eventually scored on a sacrifice fly by Dick Tracewski.

Frank Robinson homered for the Reds, his fifth of the season. Cincinnati also scored in the third when Pete Rose raced home from third on a wild pitch, and in the eighth on Tony Perez' triple and an error.

Eagles in Dispute Over Stadium Use

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The mayor was charged Thursday with attempting to drive the National Football League's Philadelphia Eagles out of the city in a dispute over exclusive professional football rights for the proposed new $25-million stadium.

Eagles' owner Jerry Wolman told a news conference he is considering a suit against the city to force the mayor to live up to a 1964 agreement guaranteeing the team exclusive rights in the stadium, which is scheduled for completion by spring 1967.

"We now have the distinct impression the mayor is trying to drive us out of the city," Wolman said.

Asked why he felt the mayor had taken such a stand against the Eagles, Wolman said:

"Because he has a commitment toward some of his friends to bring an American Football League franchise here to play in the stadium."

A city spokesman said that Mayor James Tate had no comment on Wolman's statement. The spokesman said plans for building of the multipurpose stadium were going ahead, and that it would be up to lawyers to negotiate leases fair to all parties.

Tate has refused to grant the Eagles exclusive rights in the new stadium, but has approved such rights for baseball's Philadelphia Phillies.

PALMER NAMED CHAIRMAN—NEW YORK (AP)—Arnold Palmer will serve as chairman of a selection committee which will launch the choosing of a 10-man All-American college golf team this year.

Jack Nicklaus and Ken Venturi will serve on the committee of golfers and sports writers to pick the squad by ballot.

Receive Internships

Four Iowa college students have received internship awards with national interest groups in Washington, D.C., this summer. The students will work full time for two months.

The interns, and the organizations to which they have been assigned, are: Ellen Kay Downes, Dubuque, Clarke College, Dubuque, American Bankers Association; Howard Faulkner, Story City, State College of Iowa, Cedar Falls, National Council for the Social Studies; Thomas J. Miller, Dubuque, Loras College, Dubuque, National Education Association; John Allen (Jay) Williams, Cedar Falls, Grinnell College, Grinnell, American Medical Association.

Each student will receive $750. One-half of the awards are contributed by the participating organizations. The awards are made by the Iowa Center for Education in Politics here.

In addition to the cash awards, the student interns will earn academic credit through their internship, George B. Mather, director of the Iowa CEP, said. While working in Washington, the interns will do research for reports to be given here next fall.

Renewal—

December, "If we can't have the support of at least 70 per cent of the people in the central business district, we can't have urban renewal."

Westerback said the renewal program will mean that sacrifices will have to be made by all concerned, but he said long-range benefits would more than compensate for the short-term hardships.

The temporary relocation or possible shut-down during the renewal stage, of course, worries the small businessmen in particular.

FOR A BUSINESS based on rapid turnover of merchandise and sales to college students, a relocation or shut-down makes it difficult to begin again, even at the original location.

Still more frightening to the small businessmen, however, is the possibility that even if they survive the temporary move, they will not receive the original location when the city resells the renewed buildings.

"They can't guarantee me my place back," said Richard Lindsay, owner of Hawkeye Book Store. With that statement, the city officials concur.

City Manager Leikvold agreed that no guarantee can be made that each businessman will be returned to his previous location. He added, though, "Every effort will be made to see that each business is returned to its previous location."

ACCORDING TO City Councilman William Hubbard each business could be returned to its previous location if there were prior claim to the building, if a fair market price were paid for the renewed building, and if it were further developed in accord with the defined urban renewal program.

All city officials agree that one of the primary concerns of the whole program must be to maintain the small businesses.

The problem may be to convince the small businessmen of that. Whether he's highly critical or takes a wait-and-see attitude, the small businessman always talks about city government as "they."

It's an image the city wants to change to "we" this summer.

In spite of the voiced objections, Westerback said last week he expected the basic physical planning of the renewal to be completed by autumn. The city has already hired the Barton-Ashman Co. of Chicago to do the over-all physical planning.

Hilton Given Car By ISU Students

AMES (AP) — Dr. James H. Hilton, retiring president of Iowa State University, was presented a new Oldsmobile sedan Thursday by the 12,000 students at the school.

The surprise presentation came at opening ceremonies of the university's annual Velshea festivities.

The car, valued at $5,100, came in recognition of Hilton's 12 years of service to the university. He retires July 1.

He was the first Iowa State graduate to become president of the university.

British House Passes Steel Plan

LONDON (AP) — The Labor government's plan to nationalize the bulk of the British steel industry squeezed through the House of Commons Thursday night with a margin of four votes.

Labor members rose in their seats and cheered when the result of voting was announced: 316-306 in favor of Labor's white paper outlining nationalization plans. That was a four-vote margin, and there have been none lower since Labor took office last October.
