McDowell Funeral Services Set

FUNERAL SERVICES for Ivory W. McDowell Jr., A3, St. Louis, will be held at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Beal Funeral Home, 4303 Delmar Blvd., St. Louis.

Burial will be Monday morning in the Washington Park Cemetery, Berkeley, Mo.

McDowell, a star Hawkeye football player, drowned in the Coralville Reservoir Monday afternoon.

A fund drive for a McDowell Memorial Scholarship had netted $355.73 by Friday night. The scholarship will be given to an outstanding athlete at Soldan High School, St. Louis. McDowell graduated from Soldan High.

Celia Starks, A3, St. Paul, Minn., one of the group of McDowell's friends who started the fund drive, thanked contributors Friday night.

She said further contributions for the scholarship could be mailed the Old Gold Development Fund.

Suede Coat Theft

FOURTEEN SUEDE COATS, valued at $2,219.42, have been taken from Seifert's women's apparel, 10 S. Clinton St., since April 30, police were told Friday morning.

The coats, 12 of which had mink collars, were taken from a downstairs stock room, according to store officials. The theft was discovered Thursday night. Police found no sign of forced entry into the store.

A store official said that it was a mystery how the coats were taken. She said it would have been difficult to carry the coats out of the store while the store was open.

Iowa City detectives were investigating the theft Friday afternoon. An inventory was to be taken Friday night to see if other items had been taken.

City Council Rejects Paving Bids

ALL FOUR BIDS submitted for the contract to undertake the 1965 paving program were rejected by the Iowa City City Council Friday.

The council acted on the recommendation of the city engineering department and Jay Honohan, the city attorney. Three of the companies submitting bids had given incorrect completion dates. The fourth company was the high bidder.

In the brief special council meeting, the councilmen also asked John Adamson, assistant to the city manager, to prepare a draft outlining the function and organization of the proposed youth commission.

Councilman William Maas, one of the sponsors of this group, urged the council to act promptly in approving the establishment of the commission.

He said action should be taken before summer vacation.

Subcommittee to See Flood Area

A CONGRESSIONAL SUBCOMMITTEE is scheduled to complete a tour today of the upper Mississippi flood area. The tour began Tuesday.

Rep. John R. Schmidhauser (D-Iowa) said the subcommittee was part of the House Public Works Committee.

The subcommittee, according to Schmidhauser, inspected the area of his proposed Cedar River Flood Control project and other areas where he planned to initiate flood prevention measures.

He said the group would fly over the Coralville Reservoir site on its way to the Quad Cities.

New Scholarship Fund To Begin

A SCHOLARSHIP FUND has been established in memory of Gene A. Schlaegel, 19, who died Monday after a swimming accident in Phoenix, Ariz.

Schlaegel was a University freshman the first semester. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene A. Schlaegel, 904 Fairchild St.

The scholarship fund was established by friends of the family. Contributions may be sent to the Old Gold Development Fund.

Memorial services for Schlaegel will be held at 10 a.m. today at the McGovern-Dwyer Funeral Home.

All Senior Coeds To Have 21-Hours

SENIOR WOMEN WILL HAVE THE privilege of unrestricted hours next year.

President Bowen has approved the recommendation from Associated Women Students, (AWS), and the Committee on Student Life to allow the extension of the "21 rule" to include all women with 90 or more hours of college credit.

The rule will be carried out as under the 21 program with the exception that women under 21 will need parental permission to participate in it.

The 21 program, which allows all University women 21 or over living in approved housing to have unrestricted hours, was adopted permanently by the administration this March after a year's experimental program.

AWS recommended to the Committee on Student Life the extension of the program to all senior women, saying, "We feel that a senior, having had an adequate period to learn to use her time wisely, should be given the responsibility to regulate her own hours without the aid of external controls."

Bill To Extend Tavern Hours Passes

BILLS TO ALLOW LIQUOR BY THE DRINK establishments and beer taverns to stay open an extra hour at night were passed by the House Friday.

The two measures, which now go to the Senate, would make the legal hours for sale of both liquor and beer from 7 a.m. to 2 a.m. Monday through Friday and from 7 a.m. to 1 a.m. on Saturday.

Nazi Is Not Opposed to All Jews

By MALIN SWOPE
Staff Writer

"The American Nazi Party is a group of dedicated, fighting Americans whose sole purpose is to prevent a Communist takeover in the United States six years from now. If such a revolution does not take place by then, we'll pack our bags and go home."

Such were the words of John Bishop, head of the American Nazi Party for the Davenport district. Bishop spoke Thursday night before a group of University students at the Christus House.

"We are known to represent a radical viewpoint," he said, "but this, of course, is not true. I'm sure that all Americans are concerned with the threat of Communism to the free world — we're merely trying to make the public aware of the threat in this country."

The bespectacled Bishop presented anything but the stereotyped image of a party member. No swastika armband, no khaki shirt, and no boots.

A PARTY member for less than two years, Bishop appeared to be well versed in party doctrine. Armed with a pack of cigarettes and several cups of coffee, he faced a three hour barrage of questions from a polite but hostile audience after his brief introductory talk on party beliefs.

"The two prime points of our party program," Bishop said, concern Jews and Negroes. Contrary to what many people believe, we are not opposed to all Jews nor to all Negroes.

"We (the American Nazi party) are concerned with equal rights, but not through Communist-aided movements. If this makes us bigots because we are fond of Negroes but not of colored Communist Negroes, then we are as bigoted as Abraham Lincoln."

Bishop said his party is actually only against a small minority of Jews who belong to the Zionist movement. Among modern Jews, Zionism is a movement for colonizing their race in Palestine, the land of Zion, either for religious or nationalizing purposes.

"It is this element (Zionism) that established the Communist party in Russia," he said. "In addition, 85 per cent of all American Communist party members who have been arrested have been members of the Zionist Jewish organization."

BISHOP further asserted that "because the heads of the three national television networks were members of the Zion organization, the American press has presented a prejudiced, slanted picture of his party and its activities."

"There's no question that the press in this country is controlled by Zionists, and any news that would cast an evil shadow on the Zionist organization is shoved to one side and forgotten."

In response to a question from the audience, Bishop said that his party did not allow Negroes to join because "our propaganda barrage of hate would blow sky high — we would lose the support of the lunatic fringe — a necessary evil for the growth of the party."

Bishop admitted that he did not approve of some "cheap publicity stunts pulled by the party," but insisted that much of it was intended merely to dramatize the threat of Communism to "an apathetic public."

Senate Heads Move To Choke Rights Debate

Uncommitted Senators Hold Fate of Cloture According to Survey

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders moved Friday to choke off debate on President Johnson's Negro voting rights bill. A survey of senators bolstered Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen's forecast of success in the showdown next Tuesday.

But a band of uncommitted senators, most of them Republicans, appeared to hold the balance in the cloture vote that will come one hour after the Senate begins its 24th day of debate on the measure.

If the two-thirds vote needed to halt the debate is mustered, it will be the second time the Senate has invoked its cloture rule on a civil rights bill.

That first happened a year ago, on a 71-29 vote.

If all 100 senators vote, it will take 67 of them to push across the cloture move. That would limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Iowa's two Republican senators are either uncommitted or unannounced on how they will vote next Tuesday in a showdown on efforts to stop the debate on President Johnson's Negro voting rights bill.

Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper said Friday he is not prepared to say what decision he has made on cloture, the shutting off of the debate.

Sen. Jack Miller declared himself undecided.

each senator to one more hour of talk on the measure the Senate began debating April 22.

Among senators who have made their positions known, in an Associated Press survey or through their public stands on the action, 25 were against cloture.

Fifty-eight senators made known their support of the debate-ending move, in the poll or by signing the petition.

Other senators were not available for comment, undecided or unwilling to announce their positions.

Last year's cloture vote came on the 75th day of debate, after a Southern filibuster that kept the Senate meeting early and working nights. This time there have been no long hours, and the bill's Southern foes have not staged a real filibuster.

Miss Iowa City Chosen Friday—Phyllis Heckman

Phyllis Heckman, A1, Oakland, was named Miss Iowa City at the community beauty pageant Friday night.

First runner-up was Marcee Merrill, A3, Bloomfield Hills, Mich., and second runner-up was Patricia Grossman, A1, Winnetka, Ill. Nine girls had entered the contest.

Miss Heckman will represent Iowa City at the Miss Iowa contest being held in Davenport this summer.

The pageant was the first one held in Iowa City in five years. It was sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The entrants were judged on their appearances in swim suits and evening gowns and on talent presentations. Miss Heckman received a $100 scholarship from the Pepsi Cola Co. All finalists received a gift from the JayCees.

The other entrants in the pageant were: Janice Astolfi, A1, Yorktown Heights, N.Y.; Paula Bissell, a City High senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis A. Bissell of 629 E. Market St.; Karen Collins, A3, Cedar Rapids; Carolyn Heeren, A1, Geneseo, Ill.; Lynette Schmidt, A1, Mount Prospect, Ill.; and Nancy Woolsey, A2, Naperville, Ill.

Junta Claims Victory In Domingo Suburbs

U-Band Will Tour E. Europe in 1966

Friday classes may be noted for their lack of enthusiasm, but Friday afternoon's symphony band rehearsal filled South Rehearsal Hall with anticipation.

Nothing extraordinary happened when Frederick C. Ebbs, director of University Bands, stepped to the podium and asked the band to tune to the B-flat major scale.

EBBS CHOSE TO START the rehearsal by working on the "National Emblem" march and Gliere's "Russian Sailors' Dance," which may have given some clue to the announcement that was soon to come.

Following the dynamic, fortissimo ending of the "Sailors' Dance," Ebbs calmly announced that the symphony band will tour Russia and eastern Europe in the spring of 1966 sponsored by the U.S. Department of State.

Ebbs was notified of the government's decision by a phone call from Charles M. Ellison, director of the Office of Cultural Presentations (ICP), Department of State.

EBBS SAID, "I AM immensely pleased for several reasons. First, it's a real tribute to the fine student musicians that we have in the band and to the outstanding work of our School of Music faculty which trains them.

"Second, the opportunity and experience which this trip holds for our students is fantastic. It will not only be a great musical experience, but it will have a tremendous effect on their entire lives.

"To represent our country, our state and our university in such a way is probably the greatest honor and responsibility that most of us will ever experience in an entire lifetime."

THE BAND WILL DEPART between Feb. 14 and Feb. 21 and will return to the United States the first part of May, Ebbs said.

After playing in several Eastern European countries and ten or more Russian cities, the group is scheduled to arrive in Moscow on March 21. Following the last performance in Moscow on April 27, the band will return home.

COMMENTING ON THE significance of the tour, President Bowen said, "The entire University is honored at the selection of our Symphonic Band as cultural emissaries to Russia and Eastern Europe.

"The many thousands of Iowans who have heard these fine young musicians perform will know that the Department of State could not have made a better choice. Their trip should be a wonderful educational experience, one from which we shall all benefit."

Arrangements for the tour have been made by Ellison. "University Band members will have an opportunity to gain a real understanding, particularly of the youth of the countries they visit," Ellison said. "An intensive program of activities outside their concert schedule will introduce them to students in other lands."

GROUPS are selected for the tours upon recommendation of an Academic Music Panel of 15 noted music educators who advise the OCP.

Troop Increase Planned by U.S. In N. Viet Nam

Boost May Amount To 50 Per Cent More Than Present Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — There will be a steady increase in the number of American troops, including combat forces, sent to Viet Nam, authoritative sources said Friday.

The additional troops may amount to a 50 per cent increase over the approximately 50,000 now in Viet Nam, it was learned.

Officials said that if a decision is made for the American troops to take a more active combat role, the manpower will be in a position to carry out such orders.

For the present, it is planned that additional forces will be used to extend the defensive perimeters around areas from which U.S. and Vietnamese aircraft are operating.

No one has set an absolute figure on what the total requirement may be in the future. But for the immediate period ahead, a total of 75,000 American troops in South Viet Nam is called "not unrealistic."

The question of a more direct combat role will "speak for itself as time and circumstances evolve," a well-placed source said. "We expect a more direct combat role."

As a result of the increased manpower demands in Viet Nam, the Los Angeles Times reported Friday, the formation of a new Marine Corps division through a call-up of reserves is being seriously considered by the Defense Department.

A Defense Department spokesman said "there are no plans at this time to call Marine Corps reserves." The Pentagon refused to comment on the reported plan to move the 1st Marine Division from California.

Weather Stalls Rocket Blast-Off At Cape Kennedy

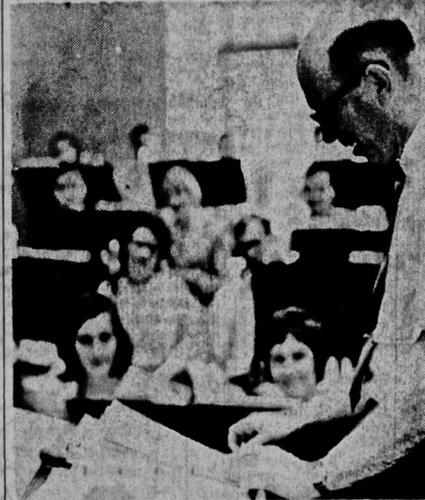

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Heavy clouds over the South Atlantic forced a 24-hour postponement Friday of an attempt to rocket a Project Fire spacecraft over a fiery ballistic course to measure the heat which will blister manned Apollo ships returning from the moon.

The launching of the Atlas booster was rescheduled for Saturday during a favorable firing period between 3:22 p.m. and 7:08 p.m.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration called off the shot when weathermen said there was little chance that cloud cover, ranging up to 95 per cent, would disperse to give trackers a clear view of the spacecraft as it re-entered the atmosphere near Ascension Island.

Partly cloudy and a little cooler today; highs in the 70s. Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday with showers or thunderstorms over about 40 per cent of west portion Sunday.

Partial U.S. Troop Pullout Announced

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) The civil-military junta claimed Friday night that all rebel resistance in Santo Domingo's northern suburbs had been smashed. Red Cross teams hauled dead and wounded from the battered area under a 24-hour cease-fire that halted the longest continuing battle in the month-old Dominican civil war.

The United Nations was reported trying to negotiate a 24-hour extension of the cease-fire.

In Washington, the United States announced it soon would start withdrawing some of its nearly 23,000 Marines and paratroopers now in the Dominican Republic.

NEWSMEN touring the four-square-mile battle zone said they saw bodies being burned in driveways and in the streets, apparently as a measure against possible spreading of disease.

A high official source claimed casualties in the five-day northern sector mop-up campaign waged by the junta had cost "no less than 400 dead and about 1,000 injured."

Brig. Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, the junta president, told newsmen "we are in full control of the northern sector." The cleanup was completed, he said, just before the start of the noon-to-noon cease-fire.

Col. Francisco Gaamano Deno, the rebels' president, said earlier that, despite junta gains, rebel pockets were still holding out in the north of the city.

JUNTA forces — using tanks and machine guns — had pressed their offensive right up to the 12 o'clock deadline.

Imbert has said his next target would be the rebel downtown enclave, which is surrounded by U.S.-controlled areas and the sea.

As everyone here wondered if the bloody fighting would resume Saturday noon, the United States announced in Washington it will soon withdraw about 1,700 of its troops from the Santo Domingo area.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker said the U.S. withdrawal would be equivalent to the number of Latin American soldiers in the Dominican Republic as part of an inter-American force authorized by the OAS.

IN NEW YORK, the U.N. Security Council voted down a Soviet resolution that would have condemned the U.S. intervention as a violation of the U.N. Charter. Another Soviet resolution demanding immediate withdrawal of all U.S. forces also was voted down.

U.S. Chief Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson introduced a resolution asking the 11-nation council to cooperate with the OAS to end the civil war. The council had authorized U.N. Secretary General U Thant to send a personal representative to Santo Domingo.

The Moral of This Story Is Don't Leave Texts Unattended

As the end of another semester draws near, officials of the University Main Library, Campus Police, and book stores are cooperating in an effort to control the theft of text books from people studying in the Library.

Near the end of a semester thieves apparently think it is easier to dispose of stolen books. The result is an increase in reported thefts.

Main Library officials said Friday that most books are stolen when the owner leaves his books unattended while he goes for a drink or to the restroom.

According to Douglas M. Hieber, head of the circulation services of the Library, library guards have no power to question people about privately-owned books.

"We advise students to call the Campus Police and book stores when they report a book stolen," Hieber said.

Bob Sutherland, manager of the book department of Iowa Book & Supply Co., said that if the victim would call and describe the stolen book immediately after the theft was discovered he would have a much greater chance of recovering it.

Sutherland said that most of the thieves take the stolen books directly to a store to sell them.

"We got one guy the other day just a half hour after he had stolen the book," he said.

Dick Lindsay, manager of Hawkeye Book Store, said they were doing all they could to catch the thieves. He said that the key to catching them was a description of the book immediately after it has been stolen.

Book store personnel are now requiring people selling books to show their I.D. There is a record made of the sale. If the book is identified as a stolen book, they have the name of the person who sold it.

After a thief is detected, the Campus Police take charge of the prosecution.

Ray Vanderhoef, manager of Iowa Book & Supply Co., seemed to represent the pleas of nearly all officials involved when he said, "The problem would be much smaller if only students wouldn't be so careless. Seventy-five per cent of the thefts come as a result of carelessness."

All is vanity

"VANITY, THY NAME is woman," that is, it was woman. Today it's just human.

Kaiser used to make steel and aluminum; now he also builds hotels. As with industry, so with vanity. Everything's diversified.

Consider a case in point. The term "bathing beauty" once was a strictly feminine phrase; today it connotes no gender. Follows as well as sweeties are often avid sun-worshippers. They spend hours in swimsuits "soaking up rays" by sitting on the lawn, lying on rooftops or decked out in deck chairs - doing nothing.

It may look healthy, he-manish and athletic to be a crisp golden brown all over, but the method by which one attains this condition should count for something.

A fellow who spends his mornings on the golf course, his afternoons on the tennis court and his evenings in the swimming pool will probably be a golden tan (as well as completely exhausted). This sort of chap ought to be thought of as a he-man athletic type; he's earned the title.

Another fellow, on the other hand, may spend the whole day just lying in the sun and still come out a healthy brown.

It may look nice, but it strikes us as being rather artificial - sort of like going to the beauty shop to get your bangs bobbed.

Of course, it may be that we're just reactionary about style and all that. Perhaps what this town needs is a good men's beauty salon - a place where males could sit under a sun lamp and look healthy all year long.

As a matter of fact, it might be a good idea for men to start wearing lipstick. Not after all - red lips are healthy lips. And all us red blooded American males ought to look healthy as can be. Isn't that right?

Who goes there?

WE MENTIONED THURSDAY the prominent need in this state for sensible liquor laws including legalized beer for 18-year-olds. Since then we've received two outraged letters from persons who are morally indignant at such a sinful suggestion.

Neither of the letters was signed.

We respect the opinions of those who disagree with us, and appreciate the opportunity to present them on our editorial page. Every letter, however, must be signed.

If the cause against beer for 18-year-olds is so moral, sound, should not it's champions be proud to display their colors publicly?

Diplomacy in action

Buchwald traces political history of La Enchilada

By ART BUCHWALD

No matter how people criticize American policy in Viet Nam, no one can take issue with what we've been doing in Central and South America. Our handling of the La Enchilada revolution just a few weeks ago will go down in history as a classic exercise in U.S. diplomacy.

As you may remember, the tiny country of La Enchilada was ruled by a ruthless dictator named Gen. El Fincio, whom our experts referred to as a "strong man." One day, much to our surprise, Gen. El Fincio was gunned down in the streets by a group of unhappy military officers who were dissatisfied with what their slot machines were paying off at the officers' club.

The people all cheered the death of El Fincio and when the junta leader, Gen. El Tacos, promised democratic elections their enthusiasm knew no bounds.

The elections were held within the year and much to our surprise the winner was a mild-mannered Social-Democrat-Liberal-Anarchist named Don Juan Inhel, who had been teaching at the University of Miami for the last 40 years.

Much to our surprise Don Juan called for land reforms, minimum wage laws, rent control, and cuts in the military budget.

This was more than the armed forces could stand, so much to our surprise they overthrew Don Juan Inhel's democratic government and installed a right wing Radical Nationalist government under the command of Gen. Henrique Henrico.

Henrico Henrico assured the Americans he was anti-Castro, anti-Communist, and anti-Red. And so we immediately recognized his government.

Unfortunately, Gen. Henrique Henrico was an army officer and, when medals were handed out for the roles the various officers played in the overthrow of the "Don Juan" government, he overlooked the air force general, El Gaspacho, who took it on himself to overthrow Henrique Henrico, much, of course, to our surprise.

Gen. El Gaspacho's first order of business as head of state was to reassure the United States that he was anti-Mao, anti-Ho, and anti-Cong. We were so pleased we immediately recognized his government and invited him to visit the New York World's Fair as Robert Moses's guest.

El Gaspacho appointed his brother-in-law inspector general of the armed forces, which infuriated Adm. Santos dos Santos, and one day he sailed into the capital on a destroyer and fired a shot at the palace. Gen. El Gaspacho immediately sought sanctuary in the Mexican embassy and Santos dos Santos was declared ruler of La Enchilada, a move that State Department officials assured the press was to the best interests of the Western hemisphere.

In the meantime, the Don Juan forces, with help from four army colonels who had been passed over for promotion, decided to try for a civilian government again.

Santos dos Santos immediately called on the American ambassador for help and warned him that if a civilian government was installed it would become Communist.

The word Communist was immediately decoded and sent to the White House. Bells started ringing all over Washington and seven paratrooper divisions were furiously dispatched to La Enchilada.

Don Juan's forces and Santos dos Santos's forces were fighting in the streets. First the U.S. asked the rebels to give up. They refused. Then they asked the Santos forces to give up. They refused. Then they asked that the Communists give up. They couldn't find any Communists.

In desperation the White House decided to send a truth squad of La Enchilada to debate with the various factions on American policy there. But at the last moment the leader of the team, McGeorge McGeorge, cancelled out, claiming he promised to debate our Viet Nam policy at the University of Michigan the same week end. Naturally everyone in La Enchilada was very disappointed.

Clean your own house

To the Editor:

Northern civil rights workers in the South are often reminded that they should "clean their own houses first."

Southerners point to numerous incidents of racial violence and discrimination in some of the northern cities. They claim that people might be wise to solve their own problems at home first before seeking to help others.

Nowhere is this suggestion more pertinent than in dealing with the current war on poverty. In our boundless generosity we seek to help those jobless, poverty-stricken citizens found in sections throughout the country.

But can we ignore the hungry look of "poverty" that stalks the campus of The University of Iowa? Only tonight I suffered a heart rending experience that has resulted in this call to action.

I saw just one more individual who has been "stigmatized" by his economic state.

Not only did this "grubber" have a six month's growth of uncombed hair, an unkempt beard and probably lice-ridden clothes, but he had truly reached the ultimate - no socks or shoes!

My first reaction of course was repulsion. Then I wondered how a loathsome "grubber" like he could actually possess enough nerve to eat dinner in the IMU Cafeteria or mingle anywhere in public for that matter.

I have seen "grubby" characters on this campus before; we all have. This example was truly the worst!

My call to action is certainly to rid the campus of this kind of blight. This "poverty" in our midst cannot be ignored. I for one resent having to associate with these people in any fashion. I'm sure that I do not stand alone in this opinion.

Let us "clean our own house first."

Professor backs colleagues

To the Editor:

The Academic Community is coming in for a good deal of abuse lately because of its public interest in U.S. Government policy in Viet Nam and elsewhere.

Some of this abuse may be fair and proper, but much of it is distinctly unfair and improper.

As a member of this community who has not been picketing and has not been publicly critical of our policy in Viet Nam, I find much of this criticism disturbing. Perhaps you will allow me to answer some of the criticisms I find unfair.

It is said that professors who are not experts in Southeast Asia should not presume to be critical of U.S. policy in that area, because they lack the information on which to base their criticism. There are two or three answers to this criticism.

• A professor who speaks outside his field speaks as a layman, an ordinary citizen. But his interest in, and his knowledge and understanding of history and politics are likely to be much greater than the interest, knowledge, and understanding of the average voter - not because his Ph.D. or other graduate degrees qualify him as an expert in citizenship, but because the qualities which led him to seek advanced knowledge in his special field are likely to have led him to seek better than average knowledge in public affairs.

• The lack of information on China and its neighbors in this country is a very bad thing. If professors are ignorant in this area, they are so because the whole country is ignorant. This widespread ignorance is unfortunate in itself, but it is doubly unfortunate in that it seems to be the policy of our government to promote and maintain it.

U.S. newsmen are largely prohibited from visiting China and Cuba. At home the news is managed and manipulated in a most frustrating way. For the government to keep people badly informed and then to reject criticism because it is based on poor information is simply unfair.

A so-called "dialogue" between administration spokesmen and college professors is likely to be frustrating because the administration spokesmen are in a diplomatic situation and cannot speak frankly.

• As an English teacher, I can claim no expert knowledge far East, though I have visited Hong Kong, Japan and other Eastern places, and I have directed more than my share of eight-inch shells at targets in North Korea. But I can and do claim to be an expert in the use and abuse of the English language.

In my opinion most of our government experts continually abuse the arts of rhetoric in their management of the news and in their replies to criticism. This, alone, is enough to justify the continuation of this criticism, and the pressure for genuine dialogue between the Academic Community and government spokesmen.

Do students care? Who knows?

To the Editor:

In the interests of peace and self-determination, the altruistic White Father is compelled to resume the bombing of North Viet Nam in an all out effort to eliminate the remnants of the pink monkeys and 14-year-old die hard communist conspiracy.

Meanwhile, U.S. Marines are colonizing the Dominican Republic in a major effort to protect the lonely U.S. citizen trapped there (and, of course, to help the poor Dominicans recognize their problems since we obviously understand their domestic conditions better than they do) and the True Americans of the South continue to wage their righteous war against such radical, foreign, and therefore, subversive beliefs such as One Man, One Vote.

What is the attitude towards this turmoil at the University of Iowa? Who knows? The rational, intelligent and sophisticated "intellectuals" are immersed in an escalating verbal war over the omnipresent enigma of the virtue and ultimate TRUTH of the Greek Way. Indeed,

Why not Pogo?

To the Editor: Pogo

After seeing the addition of several new cartoon features to The Iowan, I have but one question. Where's Pogo?

Carol M. Nelson, A3
5303 Kate Daum

(Much as we'd like to have Pogo, Peanuts, et. al, The Des Moines Register has state rights to the strips. We'd buy 'em if they'd sell 'em.-Ed.)

"Now How Do We Change Men-On-Horseback In The Middle Of The Stream?"

Are Greeks immune?

To the Editor: Let us pay homage to these noble creatures striving for self betterment, the betterment of mankind, and the education of the campus independent; for this is what the spokesmen for frat and sororities say they are doing.

While men such as Einstein, Marx, Darwin, Sitting Bull, Freud, Socrates, Murrow, Livingston, Tocqueville, Albert Schweitzer, Lincoln, and Washington were never so fortunate as to be graced by fraternity standards and sorority principles, they still seem to have risen to the top and put their donation into the human pot.

Yet men such as Gooseback, Stringfellow, General Custer, Chase, and Mr. Teefy (all great men of finance and patrons of the arts - what arts has not been decided) all benefited by and were complimented in that they lived and were nourished on the milk of "fraternity" and "sorority."

Reader calls Iowan story 'outdated'

To the Editor:

"Ask the man who owns one," they say.

And it would seem that Malin Swope should have considered the advice before he wrote his May 6 article on marijuana. His information is outdated.

Marijuana is one of many pedocelic or mind-changing drugs, others of which are L.S.D., mescaline, psilocybin, etc. Each achieves its own peculiar effects by temporarily affecting the chemistry of the brain. Marijuana is, by far the mildest of these drugs, none of which, contrary to Prof. Woods, is harmful to the body.

A study made for the Narcotics Bureau showed that marijuana is non-addictive, and less habit forming than cigarettes.

Why then is marijuana pulled into the narcotics category where it doesn't belong and made illegal? It was pushed through with the 1934 narcotics law by a very strong beer lobby that feared a loss in business if it caught on.

The result is that anyone who enjoys it must buy it from a criminal who would much rather get you hooked on a narcotic which costs you much more and which you would always need.

It is therefore the fault of the law, not the drug, that it can lead to other and worse things, and it is for this reason that many doctors have proposed that it be legalized.

One further refutation is in order. Prof. Woods states that the drug "breaks down moral barriers." In so far as this implies that you would do some immoral act you normally would not, it is patently false. While it is true that during a "high" the society's moral structure may seem absurd, you also feel a profound disconnection from other people. Because of this an act against the social-moral structure, or indeed any act, seems equally absurd.

The typical "hophead" (marijuana user), merely sits, watches and laughs.

The grant is part of a program that is in its eighth year at the University and is worth $29,614. Milton E. Rosenbaum, associate professor of psychology, will conduct research in social psychology under the grant.

City, Campus To Finance MSP Exchange

The 21 Negro students from Rust College, Holly Springs, Miss., who will study at the University this summer will be housed and financed on a "person-to-person" basis.

Campus groups, service organizations, business and professional associations and private citizens will be approached for contributions in units of $160, the cost of transporting one student to and from Iowa City, providing him with a daily noon meal on campus, and allowing him a small weekly sum for spending money.

The students will live with Iowa City families for a six-week period from mid-June to August.

The project is sponsored by the Iowa City Mississippi Support Program (MSP) and will be entirely community financed. It is believed that no similar effort has been undertaken anywhere else in the United States without Federal assistance or foundation aid.

Further details may be obtained by writing to MSP, P.O. Box 808, Iowa City.

Chapman Receives Award

Tom Chapman, Jr., Fort Dodge sophomore basketball player and golfer, has been named the seventh Iowa athlete to receive the Frank (Bucky) O'Connor Memorial award.

The award of $500 was set up in 1959 as a tribute to the late Iowa basketball and golf coach who was killed in a highway accident April 22, 1958.

Chapman is a pre-business student. He was a guard on Iowa's 1964-65 basketball team and now is an outstanding member of the Hawkeye golf squad. He was able to play in only 12 of the 24 Iowa basketball games last season because of a leg injury, but is regarded by Coach Ralph Miller as a player who will be a big help during the next two seasons.

The O'Connor award is made each May to a member or prospective member of the Iowa varsity basketball or golf team who, by his sportsmanship, scholarship and athletic achievement, best exemplifies the ideas for which Bucky O'Connor stood and sought to instill in the young men whom he taught.

It is financed by the income of the fund from public contributions established at the suggestion of Mrs. O'Connor shortly after her husband's death.

In Big Ten Track Meet—

MSU Leads After 2 Events

By BILL PIERROT
Sports Editor

Michigan State jumped into the first day lead in the Big Ten track and field meet here Friday with a first place finish in the broad jump and a third place finish in the discus throw.

These were the only two events completed Friday. Preliminaries were run in seven events. The finals in these and the preliminaries and finals in five other events will be held today.

Jim Garrett won the broad jump with a leap of 24-5/8. Boggie Redman of Illinois won the discus throw with a toss of 167-3/4, which set an Iowa field record. The old record was held by Iowa's Cloyd Webb, 166 feet, set in 1963.

Redman upset favored Tom Barnes of Minnesota, whose best throw of 149-10 was not enough to allow him to place.

Dick Gibbs placed fifth in the broad jump to give Iowa one point and a sixth place tie in the team standings.

IOWA HAD eight qualifiers Friday and set one Big Ten record. Jon Reimer won his heat of the 330-yard intermediate hurdles in :37, crasing the old Big Ten mark of :37.1 set by another Iowa runner, Don Gardner in 1963. The Hawkeye's Al Randolph won the first heat of the 330 hurdles in :37.3, which was an Iowa track record until Reimer ran.

Randolph and Dennis Kohl were Iowa's only double qualifiers. Randolph, a defensive back on the football team, placed second in his heat of the 120-yard high hurdles. Kohl placed third in his heats in both the 220 and 100-yard dashes.

Steve Goldston won his heat of the 100-yard dash in a time of :9.7, but rejured a hamstring muscle doing it. He ran in the 220-yard dash with his leg heavily bandaged, but wasn't able to run at top speed and finished last.

TED BRUBACHER was the only other Iowan to win his heat, taking one heat of the 880-yard run in 1:53. Dale Thompson finished fifth in his heat of the 880 and failed to qualify.

Bill Fraizer placed second in his heat of the 660-yard run, ending ing out the Iowa qualifiers. Fraizer gave the Iowa crowd something to cheer about when he moved out from last place with 3/4 a lap remaining and finished on the heels of Northwestern's Jim Harris. Fraizer was a sentimental favorite as he is making a comeback this year after injuries put him out of action last year. He was Big Ten champion in the 880-yard runs in 1962 and 1963.

Michigan's Kent Bernard, the only 1964 winner back, led the 440-yard dash qualifiers with a time of 47.8.
