

Ends 'Six-Week' Stay—

Executive Hostess Will Leave Union

'Millie' will not be found in her Union office by returning students this fall.

Mrs. Mildred LeVois, the Union executive hostess, has added her feminine touch to Union functions for 13 years.

MILLIE LEVOIS To Retire in July

Mrs. LeVois began work as a hostess at the Union in 1943 and worked for two years while her husband was stationed in the Pacific. In 1954 she returned to help out during a busy season. What began as a six-week stay spanned eleven years.

'It has been a long six weeks,' Mrs. LeVois said. As executive hostess, Mrs. LeVois' duties have ranged from providing guests with Band-aids to hanging art exhibits. Officially her responsibilities are to provide services to Union guests and to direct the Union Board program.

Mrs. LeVois works closely with the Union Board directors, assists in the planning of special projects and advises the art area.

Three hostesses are under her supervision.

Mrs. LeVois doesn't plan to lose contact with University life following her July retirement at the Union. She'll be busy as a faculty wife to her husband, Camille LeVois, professor of romance languages, and playing hostess to her sons and their friends.

Two of her sons, Michele and Maurice, are University students. The youngest, Malcolm, is a sophomore at University High School.

Mrs. LeVois' absence will be felt by many staff members and students at the Union.

'There are literally hundreds of former students to whom the Union means Millie LeVois,' according to Loren Kottner, Union Director.

'She has been friend, adviser, substitute mother and teacher.'

'The students have always called her Millie, which shows the affection all students involved in the Union have felt for her.'

State To Steal Hour of Study Time Saturday

Plan to study most of tonight and catch an hour of sleep from 2 to 3 a.m.? Don't set your hopes on it, because that hour won't be there.

Iowa's new daylight savings time law goes into effect at 2 a.m. Saturday. This means that persons who go to bed before that time should set their clocks ahead an hour.

For example, if you go to bed at 1 a.m., set your clock at 2 a.m. More important, remember that final exams will be given on the legal time, which will be daylight time Saturday.

The daylight savings time law, passed by the Legislature this spring, says that daylight time shall be observed in the state from Memorial Day through Labor Day. In years when Memorial Day falls on Sunday as it does this year, the law states that daylight time will begin the preceding Saturday.

Iowa City Boy, 2, Burned Critically

A two-year-old Iowa City boy was in critical condition at Mercy Hospital Thursday night following a fire in the basement of his home.

Kevin Christensen, 2, 2309 Miami Drive, suffered second and third degree burns over 95 per cent of his body. His brother, Jeff Christensen, 7, and father, James Christensen, 27, were in satisfactory condition with burns on the arms and face.

Horse Racing Bill Mired in Senate

DES MOINES (AP) — Sen. Howard Reppert (D-Des Moines) tried but failed Thursday to get a bill out of the Senate Ways and Means Committee to legalize betting on horse races in Iowa.

The Senate earlier sent to its judiciary committee and apparent oblivion another race betting bill sponsored by Reppert. The Ways and Means Committee voted 8-6 Thursday in favor of sending his second bill to the floor by suspending the rules without referring it to a subcommittee. It failed because ten votes are required.

Time and Finals Press Hard on Students

By SHARON BAKER Staff Writer The time is now 6 days, 14 hours, and 25 minutes until the last exam will be over and he can go home. 'He' is a student, and, like all students, he was amazed at the impending arrival of May 25, the start of final week.

And he must now read until the final chapter closes... or the library closes... or his eyes close. With these frantic visits to the library comes the time he must admit to himself and to various authorities that the book which he has been checking out all semester is irretrievably lost.

Unfortunately (or not, depending on your point of view) final exam time is also warm weather time in Iowa. What can any red-blooded student do but go to the lake or the sun deck or the backyard, equipped with a vial of Coppertone and a semester's accumulation of lecture notes.

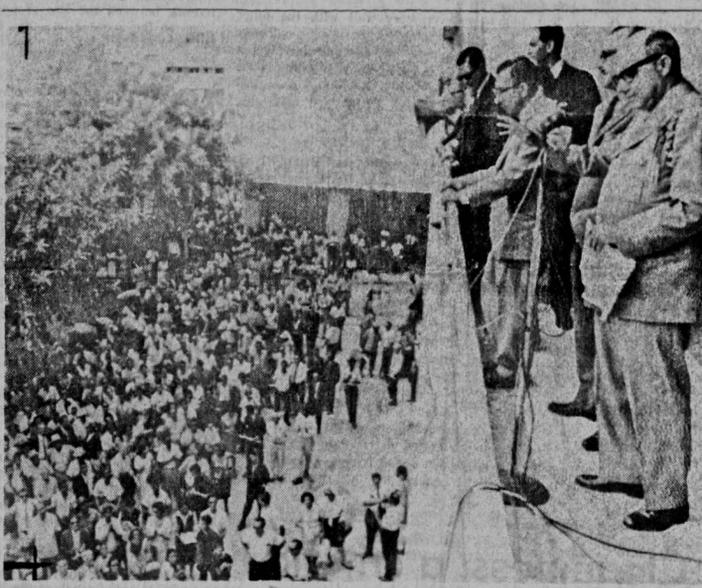

Two hours later, at 9:30 a.m., he will walk out of the test, his mind flashing like an IBM computer and will suddenly realize he completed an entire exam without one conscious thought.

Time is master during final week, but it is measured in blocks of hours and minutes, not by the numbers on the face of a clock. It is not 8 a.m., but 3 and one half hours until his first exam and 6 days, 14 hours, and 20 minutes until he can go home... or start resting up for summer school.

Southwest College Proposal Defeated

DES MOINES (AP) — Appropriations of $62 million a year for operating Board of Regents institutions in the coming biennium and $21,150,000 for new buildings and major improvements were voted by the Iowa House Thursday.

The $62 million annual appropriation for operating the six institutions was passed 117-1 without amendment.

Retailers Kill Plan To Open Extra Night

Iowa City retailers decided Thursday they would not open a second night during the week.

The merchants defeated the proposal by a voice vote. Their decision is not binding on the individual stores, however.

About 40 persons attended the meeting which was called by the retail committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Those in favor of extending the hours pointed out that the shopping center being built outside of Iowa City would draw customers away from downtown if something was not done.

The majority of the merchants present, however, seemed to think that the extra hours would not be profitable.

The main problem in attracting customers, in their opinion, was the downtown parking situation.

Viet Raid Kills 85 Guerrillas Near Da Nang

Other Action Involves Planes, U.S. Ships; 3 More Americans Die

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. - Vietnamese task force smashed a Viet Cong gathering Thursday 25 miles south of the Da Nang air base reputed to include many Red unit officers of that strategic area.

Against the death of one Vietnamese soldier, about 85 Viet Cong were killed and 27 suspects were captured in this potentially crippling action against the guerrillas' regional command.

A FLEET of U.S. Army armed helicopters, called gunships, and two battalions of Vietnamese troops joined in the attack, staged on a day that saw a flurry of other developments.

—More than 90 warplanes hit again at Communist North Viet Nam in a series of raids that, for the third straight day, took place in the Vinh area midway between the border and Hanoi.

—A U.S. Navy F8 Crusader jet was shot down by heavy ground fire in a raid on the Vinh railroad yards and the pilot failed to bail out. Listing the pilot as killed, the Defense Department in Washington said he was Cmdr. Doyle W. Lynn of La Mesa, Calif.

—U.S. 7th Fleet destroyers, assigned to the anti-infiltration patrol in the South China Sea were reported to be shelling Viet Cong shore installations. An American military spokesman said four of the warships have fired more than 370 rounds against Communist targets in three coastal provinces in the last week.

MOSCOW (AP) — Smoldering Soviet-Red Chinese friction over the war in Viet Nam flared up Thursday. The Russians implied that the Chinese are trying to start a world war.

The Communist party organ Pravda, in an attack on Chinese policy, commented: 'It would be incorrect to hold that only a world war can bring about the unity of the Socialist camp and of all the world Communist movement.'

Pravda said true Communists should be occupied 'not in waiting for a world war to break out, but in averting a chain of events that is liable to trigger it off.'

Suspensions of Soviet-Chinese policy differences over Viet Nam were tacitly confirmed in the Pravda attack.

—A military spokesman announced a government victory in a three-week operation by elements of the Vietnamese 44th Regiment in Phu Yen Province, 240 miles northeast of Saigon. He said 176 Viet Cong were killed and 51 captured in the drive, which ended Wednesday, while 35 government soldiers were killed and 75 men, including a U.S. Army adviser, were wounded.

—REPORTS FROM the central highlands disclosed two U.S. Army advisers and at least four Vietnamese soldiers were killed by guerrilla fire Wednesday on missions to relieve ambushed government detachments.

The Defense Department in Washington identified one of the Americans as Capt. Fleming B. Brainerd III, Vermillion, Ohio. The toll of U.S. dead in combat in Viet Nam is 389.

Iowa Senate Passes Bill Allowing School Mergers

DES MOINES (AP) — A bill to allow Iowa school districts which do not adjoin each other to merge into a single school system under certain conditions passed the Senate 43-5 Thursday.

The bill, which goes to the House, would permit merging an independent or non-high school district with a non-adjointing high school district under these conditions:

The independent or non-high school district was sending a majority of its high school students to the high school district on a tuition basis before Jan. 1, 1964.

County boards of education in the county or counties involved approve.

The State Department of Public Instruction approves.

Sen. Gilbert E. Klestad, D-Council Bluffs, said the bill would help solve a Pottawattamie County problem.

Iowa-Iowa State Grid Rivalry Was Intense for 1918 Game

By GEORGE M. SHEETS
For The Daily Iowan

(About the writer — The writer admits to being an ardent football fan who has been attending university games since 1904. As a newspaper writer he has been given field passes to Stagg Field by Mr. A. A. Stagg. Iowa games he has witnessed since 1906, some played in snow, some in rain and some with patches of ice on the field, many of them highly dramatic but none more so than those in which the Iron Men and Nile Kinnick gained the victory for Old Gold.)

For Ames spirit he likewise has great admiration, having watched them fight doggedly against Oklahoma at Norman and Nebraska at Lincoln and never giving up even when they were out-matched by such super stars as Darrell Royal.)

"FOOTBALL FANS STAND UP ALL NIGHT TO GET IOWA-AMES TICKETS" was the headline which greeted my eyes as I turned the handle of a microfilm reader last March and came on the sporting page of The Davenport Democrat published Monday, November 10, 1913. I was doing historical research in the commercial and journalistic field, not in sports, but had read so much down-grading of an Iowa-AMES game in current newspapers that a fresh point of view, even if a half century old, attracted my attention.

To me the inference was that if state rivalry was so intense to stand the fans in line from 6:30 Sunday evening until the ticket window opened Monday morning that today with the tremendous increase in enrollment of students as well as number of alumni at both IUI and ISU, in addition to Iowa City area and Iowa population growth there is little reason to worry about lack of interest in an Iowa-AMES football game among sports loving Iowans.

The publicity potential would of course be tremendous now just as it was 52 years ago when Governor of Iowa George W. Clarke, the grandfather of IUI's immortal Nile Kinnick, headed the list of distinguished visitors, The sports writers of the almost forgotten past billed the Iowa-AMES games as for the state college football championship or the top game of that sport in Iowa. Homecoming at Iowa was held on the big week end. If all of the build-up potential were employed today concern might be for too large rather than too small an attendance.

As for a possible season loss in gate receipts from substituting a game with Ames for one with either a Washington or Oregon team, that result appears remote considering the combined drawing power of the two leading Iowa universities in their home territories. Two games between Iowa and west coast teams in one season along with a far away North Carolina school as this season are of course interesting and give Iowa opportunities to display its exceptional skills but they are artificial rather than natural school rivalries.

THEY ALSO entail traveling expenses which are defrayed out of game receipts. No one seems to begrudge these far-away competitors their just share of the admissions intake at Iowa Field. But some of the financially minded analysts appear worried over the prospect of ISU sharing the dollar for dollar with IUI should the Cyclones have the Hawkeyes on their football schedule. What's so wrong about that? Then all the gate receipts would stay in Iowa rather than be shared with out-of-state treasuries.

My interest having been aroused by The Democrat's story on November 10, 1913 I kept — the Iowa-AMES game in mind as I turned the microfilm reader thru the ensuing week until I reached the November 18 issue. There on page 12 I came on another sports story reading "OVER 8,300 AT IOWA-AMES GAME" — "IOWA CITY GATHERINGS LEAVE EVERYBODY FEELING GOOD." The lead paragraph refers to "the record-breaking crowds which Iowa City entertained over the past week and may be gathered from figures issued today by Manager N. A. Kellogg of the University Athletic Association. Kellogg's books show that there were between 8,300 and 8,400 people on Iowa Field Saturday, exclusive of complimentary tickets which for many reasons ran up into the hundreds. The Athletic Association was enriched by $8,400 in cash and in addition to this there have been something over 1,200 all-year tickets sold, each of which of course was in use."

THE STORY goes on to say "The Ames Athletic Board of course gets half of the receipts, but the locals share is still enough to go far toward relieving the load of debt which has been carried by Iowa athletics for some years past. Another great crowd is expected at Lincoln next Saturday when the Iowa team plays Nebraska. With good financial returns from the other games of the year the Hawkeye management should be able to finish the season out of debt and in shape to build more cement bleachers on the east side of the field." This was the second annual Iowa Homecoming game.

AS A RETIRED member of the University of Iowa library staff, a friend and admirer of our late beloved President Virgil M. Hancher and of his predecessor President E. A. Gilmore and a close acquaintance of a great many IUI faculty members over a 30 year span, I have also never been so insular as not to have a high admiration for Iowa State University, for its preminent colleges of engineering and agriculture and for many of its distinguished faculty. I have covered the addresses of Prof. P. G. Holden, seed corn apostle; Prof. Swiney, the creative chemist and Dean Curtiss. Dean Floyd Andre gave me excellent support when I was conducting the Iowa Centennial Farms program at IUI and Prof. Don Kirkham is currently giving strong support to my administration of Eastern Iowa Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution. Athletic Director Gordon Chalmers gave me fine cooperation when I wrote "The History of Handball at IUI and in Iowa."

From personal contacts with leading men in both these great institutions I feel it would not be difficult for those in authority at IUI and ISU to recognize each other as of equal eminence in athletics as well as in scholarship and responsibility to our state government and to resume their historic relations not only in football but in all inter-collegiate sports. Such a handclasp, I believe, would receive the blessing of Iowa public opinion.

As an indication that my interest in Iowa football is current as well as historic I might mention that this year I am arranging for the purchase of forty tickets to football games at Iowa City for my Battery B, Iowa National Guard comrades of 1916 Mexican Border Service.

Slammin' Sam Won't Quit Pro Golf Trail

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — You'd think a fellow fairly well along in the fifties, with more triumphs and more prize money than any other sports professional, would be content to clip his coupons and count his blessings.

But not Sammy Snead, the balding slammer of the links who is awaiting the next major golf tournament with the eagerness you'd expect of let's say someone like his 20-year-old son Jack.

"I'll continue on the tournament trail until I feel I got no chance at all," said the 53-year-old Snead who, after more than 30 years of competition and 116 triumphs in major tournaments, still has one major incentive.

"I'd like to win the U.S. Open," he said wistfully. "That's the only big one I haven't been able to bag. I'd had lots of opportunities, though."

Snead plans another crack at the U.S. Open, scheduled for St. Louis next month. "If I qualify." Before that, however, he will compete in the Buick Open, slated for Flint, Mich., next week.

Slammin' Sammy took time out Thursday to attend an annual's Father's Day luncheon here. Golf-dom's all-time great, and his son, Jack — another son, Terrence, is 14 — have been named Father and Son of the Year by the National Father's Day Committee.

Jack, a junior at Miami University in Florida, where he is studying medicine, is apparently a chip off the old block judging by his scores, usually in the low 70's.

The elder Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W.Va. most famous citizen, has captured the Masters and PGA title three times each. But he never could do better than second in the Open. He has done that on four occasions.

BUENA VISTA WINS — STORM LAKE (AP) — Buena Vista College, the host school, won two games, both in extra innings Thursday, to remain undefeated in the opening rounds of the NAIA Area 4 double elimination baseball playoffs.

Baseball Roundup

Sox 2, Twins 0
BOSTON (AP) — Relief ace Dick Radatz preserved Dave Morehead's three-hit shutout by striking out two pinch hitters with the bases full in the ninth inning Thursday and the Boston Red Sox defeated the Minnesota Twins 2-0.

The defeat knocked the Twins out of the top spot in the American League. Morehead got himself into hot water by walking three straight batters after striking out Harmon Killebrew in the ninth. Radatz came out of the bullpen at this point and fanned pinch hitters Don Mincher and Sandy Valdespino.

An error by third baseman Frank Kostro and a sacrifice fly by catcher Bob Tillman accounted for both Boston runs in the seventh inning and broke up a scoreless pitching duel between Morehead and Minnesota's Jim Kaat.

Mets 8, Cubs 5
NEW YORK (AP) — Ed Kranepool, Johnny Lewis and Ron Swoboda hammered home seven runs among them to lead the attack as the New York Mets outslug the Chicago Cubs 8-5 in a parade of eight pitchers Thursday.

The Mets piled up a 7-0 lead in the first four innings, but Gary Kroll, the starting pitcher, needed help from three relievers to register his third victory against two triumphs.

Ernie Banks, who did not start, was Chicago's Big gun as the Cubs tried to get back in the game with three runs in the sixth and two more in the seventh.

Banks drove in a run with a pinch-hit single in the sixth and knocked in two more with a bases loaded single in the seventh.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gaylord Perry set down the Cincinnati Reds 9-2 with a three-hitter Thursday, getting home run support from Jesus Alou and Cap Peterson.

Perry didn't give up a hit until two were out in the fifth. In picking up his fourth victory against three defeats, Perry struck out six and walked three.

Alou, who hit only three homers in 1964, got his fifth of season with the bases empty in the first off Cincinnati starter Joe Nuxhall, who took his second loss in three decisions.

Peterson, normally the Giants' No. 1 right-handed pinch hitter, got his first homer in the fifth, a three-run shot off Jim O'Toole, the third Reds' pitcher. Batting .333 coming into the game, Peterson played left field in his first start of the season.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Senators handed Don Chance his worst pummeling in two seasons Thursday night, knocking out the Cy Young Award winner in the third inning en route to a 9-6 victory over the Los Angeles Angels.

It was Chance's fourth straight defeat. He has won three games. Chance was tagged for eight hits and seven runs and walked two in 2 1/2 innings.

A two-run triple by pitcher Marshall Bridges finished Chance in the Senators' six-run third inning, which was topped off by Joe Cunningham's first homer of the season off Don Lee.

Frank Howard hit one of, if not the longest home run in the Senators' four-year occupancy of D.C. Stadium, off Lee in the fourth inning. It was a blast off the machine in dead center, at least 600 feet from the plate.

Bolt Leads Indy Tourney After 18
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Tommy Bolt threw birdies instead of clubs at tough Greentree course for a three-under-par 68 and the first round lead in the $87,500 Speedway Festival Open Golf Tournament Thursday.
Bolt, renowned for his terrible temper, bagged identical rounds of 34 on Greentree's par 35-36-71 course to grab the one-stroke lead over a pack of six players tied for second with 69s.
Instead of Bolt, it was 150-pound, six-foot Dave Hill who cut a temperamental caper as 143 pros launched a bid for the $15,000 top purse.
Hill, who three-putted six holes, understandably broke his wedge and threw his putter in a pond and wound up using his driver as a putter on the last three holes en route to a 78.
Knotted for second at 69 were Doug Ford, who won the first two Speedway Opens in 1960 and 1961; Joe Kirkwood Jr., Art Wall, Joe Campbell, Claude King and Bill Martindale.

Plan Okayed For Rezoning Of U. Heights

If University Heights and Iowa City merge, property in University Heights will be rezoned to conform to the present use of the property. This motion was unanimously carried by the Iowa City Planning and Zoning Commission Thursday.

All of University Heights is presently zoned R1A, which is single-family residence zoning. However, there are three nonconformities in the area, the Grandview Court Apartments, the University Athletic Club, and Lausen's Fine Foods.

According to the motion, all property would be zoned R1A, with the three exceptions. It was the general attitude of the Commission that they would not make any abrupt changes in zoning the areas surrounding University Heights.

Another motion was carried which stated that in the areas surrounding University Heights, the Planning and Zoning Commission would use buffer zones to avoid abrupt changes in zoning. In general, the commission would treat each area on its own merits, the same as in zoning an area in Iowa City.

Berlin Greeted British Queen

BERLIN (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II got a roaring welcome to Berlin Thursday. She took a look at the Red wall and pledged British support for West Berliners.

Half a million West Berliners lined the route of her six-hour lightning visit, behind the Iron Curtain to give the British monarch the most enthusiastic greeting of her 11-day tour of Germany.

She drove past the Communist wall surrounding the city, got a smart salute from Red soldiers at the Soviet War Memorial but was snubbed by the Red regime of East Germany.

At the City Hall on John F. Kennedy Square, she told West Berliners their courage was "a glowing inspiration to the whole free world."

Cheered by 100,000 people massed in the square where the late President John F. Kennedy made his famed "I am a Berliner" speech on June 26, 1963, she pledged the continuing support of the British government and people for West Berlin's struggle against Communist encroachment.

Officially the queen and her husband, Prince Philip, came to West Berlin to review the 3,000-man British garrison. The East German regime had declared earlier this month it had no objection to her visit on that basis.

But the Communists chose Wednesday and Thursday to undertake repairs on the 110-mile highway through East Germany that links the city with the West, causing a huge pileup of traffic at both ends.

Of the grant of immunity to prosecution, Judge Campbell said he interpreted it as protecting Giancana against prosecution for any crime "with the sole exception of perjury."

He told Giancana and Waddens that if he finds the grand jury has applied the immunity statute correctly and Giancana still refused to testify, "it has been my practice to commit the witness to the custody of the attorney general until such time as he complies with the order to testify."

Peace Corps Program—

MSU Offers M.A.

A new graduate program, combining Peace Corps training and advanced study leading to a master's degree in education and teacher certification, was announced recently by Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Volunteers in the 3-month program will spend 24 months with the Peace Corps in Nigeria and 6 months on the MSU campus.

The program will begin on Sept. 25 and is open to any student with a bachelor's degree. It is offered jointly by the Peace Corps and MSU's College of Education and Continuing Education Service.

The program, the first anywhere, came in response to a request by the Government of Nigeria for additional professional secondary teachers.

Students will spend the first 12 weeks at Michigan State, followed by two weeks of additional training at an overseas site. MSU faculty members and returned Peace Corps volunteers will comprise the teaching faculty.

Volunteers will begin teaching duties in January, 1966. While in Nigeria, students will acquire MSU credit through independent study, supervised teaching and seminar work.

Volunteers will return to MSU for an additional term of study to complete their degree work and certification requirements.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Labor Department is setting up a series of federal-state conferences named in honor of former Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, who died in New York City two weeks ago at the age of 83.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said the conferences, to be held periodically, will be aimed at "advancing the well-being of workers."

Georgia Negroes Walk In Two Rights Marches

CRAWFORDVILLE Ga. (AP)—Negroes staged two marches Thursday in this small east Georgia town protesting the failure of the school board to renew contracts with six Negro teachers and seeking to desegregate a cafe and automatic laundry.

Forty-nine Negroes, most of them teen-agers, marched around the courthouse several times and held a prayer session. A few hours later, 29 Negroes and three white youths walked to the Liberty Cafe and stood on the sidewalk about 10 minutes. They left after being told the place was closed.

The third group, including two white youths, walked up a hill to the courthouse square and tried to enter an automatic laundry. They carried laundry bags on their shoulders. They also left when they found the business closed.

Small groups of white spectators stood around the square. There was no trouble. A dozen state and county officers were in the area.

Wednesday, Tony Scruton, 25, of Chewelah, Wash., a field worker for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, was beaten by several white men.

Scruton was dragged into a pickup truck and beaten, then pulled from the vehicle in front of a cafe where he was taken into custody by the sheriff.

Scruton said in an interview that he was returning from a march Wednesday with two Negro companions in a car. He said they were forced off the road by two white men in a pickup truck.

Scruton, whose father is the Rev. Norman Scruton, pastor of the First Congregational Church in Chewelah, had a scratch on his forehead, another on his neck and one on his arm. He was not hurt seriously.

The extensions often make it impossible to make a refund within 45 days of the original due date — but the interest obligation goes on all the same, Campbell wrote.

The report said there are indications that applications for late filing are increasing.

U.S. Moves Against Chicago Underworld

CHICAGO (AP)—The government, moving against the national crime syndicate, invoked a legal stratagem Thursday by which it hopes to make traditionally mum underworld figures talk.

It amounts to, "Tell what you know or be locked up until you're ready to tell."

The move was made in U.S. District Court against Momo Salvatore (Sam) Giancana, 57, reputed top man of Chicago's branch of the Cosa Nostra.

HE HAS been granted immunity from prosecution by a federal grand jury now investigating the underworld. Thus he has no basis for pleading silence for fear of incriminating himself.

But because he has refused to testify the government took its next tack. It asked for a court order to compel him to talk.

Judge William J. Campbell, who heard the government request, delayed his ruling on the order until Friday to give Giancana's lawyer, Thomas Waddens, an opportunity to study the transcript of the grand jury testimony to date.

WADDENS SAID he was unacquainted with some persons named in connection with the inquiry thus far.

Of the grant of immunity to prosecution, Judge Campbell said he interpreted it as protecting Giancana against prosecution for any crime "with the sole exception of perjury."

He told Giancana and Waddens that if he finds the grand jury has applied the immunity statute correctly and Giancana still refused to testify, "it has been my practice to commit the witness to the custody of the attorney general until such time as he complies with the order to testify."

Senior Nurses Recognized At Banquet

Eighty-five seniors in the basic program of the College of Nursing received graduate pins and the wide black stripe of the graduate nurse for their caps Thursday evening at the class banquet at the Ranch, Cou Falls.

Dean Laura C. Dustan of the college was the banquet speaker, and Lucy Colbert, assistant to the dean for the basic program, and Ida Johnson, senior class advisor, presented the graduate pins and stripes for the nurse's caps.

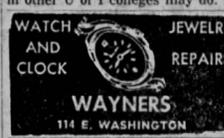

Kathleen McGee, N4, Manchester, president this year of both the Student Nurses Organization and the senior class, received a special award from the faculty of the college, a guard for her graduate pin, in recognition of her outstanding contributions as a leader. The senior class gave Miss McGee an engraved silver bowl as an expression of the group's appreciation of her leadership.

Miss McGee was general chairman for the banquet, with Sally Geissler, N2, Decatur, Ill., and Barbara Haywood, N4, Moline, Ill., assisting with arrangements.

Seniors graduating from the basic program in nursing June 4 comprise the first class to complete the four-year program centering around the academic year and freeing students for the summer to pursue other activities as students in other U of I colleges may do.

Seniors will begin teaching duties in January, 1966. While in Nigeria, students will acquire MSU credit through independent study, supervised teaching and seminar work.

Volunteers will return to MSU for an additional term of study to complete their degree work and certification requirements.

Iowa Road Safety Is Responsibility Of Drivers: Sueppel

The next eight weeks will determine whether Iowa will be able to keep its automobile death toll to 300-400 a year, William F. Sueppel, commissioner of public safety, said at a Rotarians luncheon Tuesday.

Sueppel said that it was up to drivers whether Iowa would be a 300- or a 900-fatality state.

"There has never been a bill passed, nor will there be, that will, of and in itself, save a life," the commissioner said.

There are not enough law enforcement officers, Sueppel continued, to force people to obey traffic laws they don't want to obey.

Sueppel said that Iowa's 1965 death toll is 35 less than last year, but 35 more than 1963.

Oaknoll Fete Speaker To Be Senator Miller

Groundbreaking ceremonies for Oaknoll, a 54-unit retirement home at the west edge of Iowa City, will be held at 3 p.m. today.

Sen. Jack Miller (R-Iowa) will be the main speaker.

Oaknoll, which is scheduled for occupancy by next spring, will cost about $1.2 million to complete. Construction is to begin soon. The home will be located at 1101 Crest St.

Christian Retirement Services, Inc., a non-profit and interfaith organization, is the sponsor of the home.

Oaknoll will resemble a regular apartment building. Residents will live independently in their choice of a single non-cooking unit; a double non-cooking unit; a double bedroom apartment; or a two bedroom suite apartment.

The home will also have a dining hall, a lounge and a 32-bed infirmary. A registered nurse will be on 24-hour duty and a doctor will be on call.

The cost of the apartment units will range from $7,500 to $12,950. The purchaser will become the lifetime owner of his unit. A monthly fee for food, utilities and services will be assessed.

Applications for residence are now being taken by Mrs. Mabel Edwards, resident associate at the institute of Gerontology, and Larry Laird, Oaknoll chaplain and administrator.

Architects for the home are Lind, Hansen & Meyer. Viggo Jensen Construction Co. will do the building.

Also speaking at the groundbreaking will be the Rev. Frank Doten, pastor of Bethany Baptist Church, master of ceremonies; Willard L. Boyd, academic vice president; D. R. Williamson, assistant superintendent of University Hospital; Dr. J. Gordon Spendlove, superintendent of Veterans Hospital; Dr. George H. Scamion, representing Mercy Hospital; H. Lee Jacobs, assistant professor of gerontology; the Rev. Roy Wingate, president of the Iowa City Religious Leaders Association; and Mayor Richard W. Burger.

Poverty War Unit Planned

A steering committee of citizens to establish an Economic Opportunity Program in Iowa City will be appointed by the Rev. John Craig, chairman of the Johnson County Chapter on Social Planning.

Craig was named for this job at a Tuesday night meeting of groups interested in the program.

Economic Opportunity programs, part of President Johnson's "War on Poverty," are designed to help persons in low income groups help themselves.

Included are Operation Head Start and the Neighborhood Youth Corps projects which were recently approved for Iowa City.

Administrators of the program on its final basis will be appointed by the steering committee.

Speaking at the meeting were Lloyd Scott, assistant to the state coordinator for Economic Opportunity Act programs, and Fred Cerny, administrative assistant, Linn County United Community Services.

Living Costs Continue Climb In April Jump

WASHINGTON — Food, clothing and gasoline led a wave of price increases that boosted living costs three-tenths of one per cent last month, the government reported Thursday.

It was the biggest April jump in five years and pushed the consumer price index on its ever upward trend to a high of 109.3.

The index shows it took $10.93 to buy goods that cost $10 in the base period — thus chipping another 3 cents from the purchasing power of a $10 bill.

"It's a little out of balance, but not tremendously," said Deputy Asst. Commissioner Sidney A. Jaffe of the Bureau of Labor Statistics in describing the April rise.

Senate Oks Money Bill

DES MOINES — The Iowa Senate struck from a State Board of Control appropriations bill Thursday a provision that Gov. Harold Hughes could veto any building plans.

The Senate then passed the 5.6 million appropriation 40-6. The funds would be used for capital improvements at the board's institutions in the biennium starting July 1.

As passed by the House the bill would require the board to obtain approval of the governor and the state comptroller of plans and contracts for new construction. The measure returns to the House for action on the Senate change.

THE $5.6 MILLION appropriation compares with $5 million in the current two-year period. The board had asked for $14 million. The bill's critics complained of a provision which would require the board to sell most of its 6,000 acres of farmland. The sale was recommended in a study of the farmland made for the board earlier this year.

They said a decision on whether to sell should be made by the board, rather than by the legislature.

Backers of the bill said the farms are unprofitable and their use in rehabilitation has been replaced by more modern methods.

WHILE THE BILL would appropriate $5.6 million, it would obligate spending about $8.2 million. The difference would be made up from sale of the farms.

A major new item would be a security hospital for the mentally ill, probably to be located on grounds of the State Sanatorium at Oakdale. The bill appropriates $2.6 million for the hospital.

million for this project but would allow the board to spend more. Other appropriations include $700,000 for the addition of a children's hospital and the mental Health Institute at Independence and $500,000 for adding an infirmary at the Iowa Soldiers Home at Marshalltown.

Another $1.8 million, plus land sale revenue, would be used for whatever capital expenditures the board requires.
