Our Time Is Your Time, But Iowa's Time Is DST

By JUDY BRUHN
Staff Writer

There's no time like the present — but what time is it? For residents of Iowa it is now one hour later than it was Friday at this time.

DST, initials that stand for Daylight Savings Time but could conceivably be called something else by its opponents, began at 2 a.m. this morning.

TO KEEP UP WITH the time, clocks should have been set ahead one hour. Thus, at 2 a.m. the clock should have read 3 a.m.

Exceptions to the time change are several towns along the Mississippi River that have been on "summer hours" since April 25 and the Council Bluffs area, where unofficial central standard time is expected to prevail all summer.

The annual rock-the-clock game, a favorite Iowa summer sport, is being played under a set of new rules this year.

THE STATE LEGISLATURE didn't bother trying to keep up with its neighbors. Illinois, by state law, is on daylight time from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October. Nebraska bans daylight time.

The legislature adopted instead what it considered a compromise and proclaimed daylight time would be official time in Iowa from Memorial Day to Labor Day.

When Memorial Day falls on a Sunday, as it does this year, daylight time is to start on the preceding Saturday. No provision was made for Labor Day falling on Sunday.

THE COMPROMISE EFFORT brought almost as many problems as it solved. Some persons preferred to fight, not switch; others fought to switch earlier.

To University students the time switch is untimely. For those who were up all Friday night studying for finals, it meant that one of those hours allotted for sleeping wasn't there.

For those who plan to be up all night forgetting about finals, it means that the bars will close an hour earlier than they otherwise would.

Although the bus lines will run on daylight time, the railroad schedule will stay on standard time. This will complicate the Iowa City spring exodus with conflicts of old-new, fast-slow, and my-your times.

Such is the price to be paid for going off the central standard.

Toll May Reach 400—

More Than 200 Are Killed In Indian Mine Explosion

NEW DELHI, Ind. (AP) — An explosion so powerful it wrecked houses and killed men on the surface shattered a coal mine near Dhanbad Friday. More than 200 miners perished and it was feared another 200 were trapped or dead.

Fire broke out tonight in the mine, and it appeared flames and smoke were condemning many trapped men to a fiery death.

"It is very bad," a ministry of Labor spokesman said. "The flames are driving the rescue teams out."

The official death toll in the east Indian disaster was "more than 200." But unofficial reports reaching New Delhi said about 375 men already were known dead. It was feared the toll would rise to more than 400.

The disaster was shaping up as the worst in the history of India's collieries. R. K. Malviya, deputy labor minister, termed it unprecedented.

Officials flew from the capital to the scene immediately after a board of inquiry was formed.

A shift of 178 miners was being replaced before dawn by another of unknown size when the mighty blast thundered through the Bhorli colliery, near Dhanbad, 225 miles northwest of Calcutta.

A shock wave erupted from the mine shaft, killing a group of men working on the surface and injuring 16 others. Timbers blew into the air like straw.

An engine room structure and the mine record office were blown away and several houses near the mine field crumbled. The blast reportedly rocked a four-square mile area.

It was thought by officials in the Ministry of Mines that the explosion resulted when coal dust in the mine was ignited by an electrical spark or a small flame.

Ray will continue as the U of I faculty representative to the Big Ten conference.

Other faculty members of the Board in Control of Athletics are Willis M. Fowler, professor of internal medicine; Max S. Hawkins, field secretary, alumni, records secretary; Robert V. Hogg, professor of mathematics; Philip Hubbard, professor of engineering; Willard R. Lane, professor, college of education; Sherwood D. Tuttle, chairman of the department of geology; Gilbert P. Maynard, professor of accounting, and Louis C. Zopf, dean of Pharmacy.

14-Car Train Is Derailed; Coed Aboard

MARSEILLES, Ill. (AP) — A Rock Island Railroad 14-car passenger train, the Corn Belt Rocket, derailed in downtown Marseilles Friday night and 16 persons were injured, four of them hospitalized.

The train was en route from Omaha, Neb., to Chicago.

The injured were taken to Ryburn-King Hospital in nearby Ottawa.

Henry Fairchild, 58, 112 Fifth St. Place, Coralville, is listed among the injured. The injured are reported to be in "fair condition."

There were no reports of fatalities.

In Marseilles, a community of 4,300 in northeastern Illinois just south of Ottawa, the main street was cleared for ambulances.

A spokesman at the hospital said 12 persons were being treated, but had not been admitted as patients.

There was no immediate cause of the accident.

Mrs. Edna May Phorgaard, Iowa City, said she was in the diner when the accident occurred.

"At first there was just a feeling that the train was braking," she said, "then one or two fast brakes and we went off the tracks."

"Dishes sailed through the air and some of the people who were walking went flying," she added.

Mrs. Phorgaard said four or five passenger cars and couple of baggage cars derailed, but none overturned. She said the diner car went off the tracks.

Mrs. Phorgaard said she wasn't hurt, only shaken up a bit and hit by flying coffee.

Hamburg People Greet Britain's Touring Queen

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — The people hailed Queen Elizabeth II with cheers, foghorns and sirens on the windup of her German tour here Friday, but she has to wait overnight for the traditional gun salute to a departing monarch. That will be at sea.

The Free City of Hamburg, situated at the head of the Elbe River or estuary 55 miles from the North Sea, has never saluted a visiting ruler with guns. Cannon shots were reserved solely for warnings of high water.

Everywhere the queen went she was cheered by thousands of well-wishers. A fitting finale was her tour of Hamburg's harbor, Europe's third largest.

berty. The Seaton boy was hit when he ran into Dodge Street from Horace Mann School at 2:45 p.m. He was taken to Mercy Hospital where he is listed in satisfactory condition. No charges were filed against Beltz. —Photo by Ken Kephart

The band's opening selection will be "Dedicated Overture" by Clifton Williams.

The program will feature American songs such as "American Plantation Dances" by Maurice Arnold and Erik Leiden and selections from "Mary Poppins" by Richard and Robert Sherman and Irwin Kostal.

Five American marches will be included. They are "Pride of the Wolverines" by John Philip Sousa; "His Honor" by Henry Fillmore; "On the Hudson" by Edwin Franko Goldman; "Robinson's Grand Entry" by Karl King; and "National Emblem" by E. E. Bagley.

2-Year-Old Boy Dies of Burns

A two-year-old Iowa City boy, Kevin Christensen, died early Friday in Mercy Hospital of burns received in a fire in the basement of his home Thursday.

Kevin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Christensen of 2309 Miami Drive, received second and third degree burns over 95 per cent of his body.

Also burned in the fire and listed in good condition at Mercy Hospital were Kevin's father and a brother, Jeffery, 7.

Firemen said the fire, which caused little damage to the basement, apparently started when fumes from a can of gasoline were ignited by a water heater pilot light.

Christensen was burned while attempting to rescue the two youngsters who were playing in the basement.

Funeral arrangements are being handled by Jones Memorial Chapel. Burial for Kevin will be at 2 p.m. Saturday in Memorial Gardens.

Guerrillas Try 1st Serious Strike at Marine Defenses

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A collision of two U.S. Army helicopters in flight killed nine Americans and injured two seriously at the Bien Hoa air base Friday.

Flaming wreckage was scattered at the base, where 27 died May 16 in a series of bomb explosions officially called accidental.

Sister ships of the 118th Helicopter Co. — one rising from its pad and the other descending on a trip from Saigon — smashed into each other only 50 to 100 feet in the air. Other airmen of the company rescued the injured.

THE ACCIDENT came on a day of relatively heavy action in the ground war, sustained air strikes against Communist North Viet Nam and a rise of religious factors in Saigon's current political crisis.

Viet Cong guerrillas staged their first serious attack on the U.S. Marine beachhead at Chu Lai, 52 miles south of Da Nang, and subsequently cut Highway 1 between those strongholds during clashes with government troops in at least nine areas. They were reported to have partly destroyed one or two bridges.

ONE MARINE was killed and 10 were wounded in the brief opening fight, six miles west of Chu Lai. Six Viet Cong were killed and one was wounded and captured during the exchange of small arms fire and grenades.

Both sides made offensive strikes below Saigon.

Guerrillas armed with mortars and recoilless rifles overran a militia outpost at Mea Thanh Ha, 15 miles southwest of this city. They killed 24 men and wounded 12. A U.S. military spokesman said an undetermined number of militiamen were missing. One Viet Cong was reported killed.

A GOVERNMENT spokesman said 95 guerrillas were killed and 15 captured in a sweeping operation in Phong Dinh Province, 95 miles southwest of Saigon. Government casualties were 10 killed and 39 wounded. In addition four Americans — three ground advisers and a helicopter pilot — were injured slightly.

North of the border radar sites at Hon Matt, Hon Nieu and Cua Lo — a collection of offshore and inland early warning stations — were blasted in successive raids by American planes.

Installations on Hon Matt, 19 miles at sea, were hit twice.

THE HAWK Ballroom in Coralville will continue to operate under "probation" conditions, according to Coralville City Attorney Donald Diehl, but alcoholic beverages may not be served on the premises.

At a special session Thursday night, the Coralville City Council refused to reconsider reinstating the Hawk's beer permit and indicated it "would not act favorably" on a new application for such a permit for an indefinite period of time.

A complaint filed by the Coralville Police Department charged Don Kessler, proprietor of the Hawk with not keeping hours in connection with a private party held there May 8.

Diehl said the council had been informed of the complaint. A hearing on the complaint is scheduled Wednesday in Coralville Police Court.

Council members also agreed that any other infraction of the ordinance by Kessler would result in revocation of his dance hall permit.

Truck-Bus Crash Injures 2 Children

HILLS (AP) — A school bus and a truck collided at a road intersection with Highway 218 about two miles north of here Friday afternoon and two children were injured.

The youngsters, Tim Ruth and Patty Goodrich, students at the Highland Community junior and grade school, at Riverside, were taken to a hospital at Iowa City, treated and released.

The State Highway Patrol said the bus driver, John Tenner of Riverside, was charged with failure to yield after making a stop.

The southbound truck, driven by Ed Galle, of Montrose, went into a ditch and caught fire but the driver was not hurt.

Tired of waiting

WITH CHARGES of tyranny, coercion and unconstitutionality ringing in their ears, members of the U.S. Senate have passed a bill to guarantee Negro suffrage. Many long days filled with filibusters, accusations and counter-accusations were resolved in the 77-19 roll call vote.

President Johnson was elated with the success of his high-priority proposal; the bills supporters called it the answer to the civil rights problem. Assailants called it the most diabolical attack on the Union since the Reconstruction.

The bill would provide automatic checks on voting procedures in states which used literacy tests in the last elections and would authorize federal voter registration in any county where less than 25 per cent of the Negro population is registered.

But the bill will provide no panacea. Though it is a step in the right direction, the legal equality which it is to ensure will in no way guarantee improvements in the socio-economic status of the Negro.

President Johnson has assured the country that, with voting rights guaranteed, the Negro's demands for equality in other areas will be met "gradually." From the demonstrations — sit-ins, stand-ins, pray-ins and sleep-ins — of recent months, it would hardly seem the Negro is willing to wait for a gradual change.

Passage of the bill is the first step — but the Government can't afford to rest on its laurels. Civil rights activists — black and white — will no doubt keep reminding everyone that they are tired of waiting.

Truth told about Spring

By NICK MEYER
Iowan Reviewer

I unhesitatingly recommend "The Truth About Spring" as the finest film to have played in Iowa City for many moons. It is one of the most engaging and delightful films I have ever seen, and everyone ought to drop their studies and take two hours to see it.

Perhaps the secret of its greatness (and it has greatness) lies in its lack of pretentiousness. This is a film which aspires to no specific category.

It does not try to be "arty" and "foreign," neither does it incline to the slick finish of the usual chrome-plated Hollywood product. It is the kind of film that comes once in a blue moon and which they supposedly "don't make any more the way they used to."

TO BEGIN WITH there's the script, a fine one by James Lee Barrett. It is filled with genuine humor, real characterizations and genuine excitement, as well.

Some months ago we had a film here called "Father Goose," which was set in similar locales (this one takes place in the Caribbean) and "Father Goose" was a flop for trying to ooze out of itself the same unaffected charm that flows naturally and freely in "The Truth About Spring."

(Spring by the way, is not a season, but the tomboyish daughter of an old Caribbean salt who uses her as crew on his beaten up, but picturesque craft.)

NEXT IN LINE for praise is the fine acting. Among other things, the cast seemed to have a grand time making this film, and several notables gave the finest performances of their careers.

Hayley Mills was excellent as the daughter with the growing pains and equally fine was her father, John Mills, playing, by coincidence, her father.

(He was scarcely recognizable, either, since the suave handsome face he usually displays to the cameras was hidden by a splendidly defiant beard.)

THIS IS ONE of Mills' best performances and Lionel Jeffries is right behind him, playing Carak, a sort of villainous rival in the salvage business. James MacArthur in an unassuming role, delivers perhaps his finest performance as well as the rather shy, rich, Philadelphia college grad, who finds he has a thing or two left to learn about life (and girls) before he settles down.

David Tomlinson makes a brief but very funny appearance as the uncle of the aforementioned young man.

And the entire supporting cast deserves huge hunks of credit, as does director Richard Thorpe who is responsible for the picture as a whole.

The photography is wonderful — it is beautiful to the eye but never intrusive to the story.

The joys are many in "The Truth About Spring," and not the least of them is the wonderful feeling one gets that no point, no premise, nothing is being rammed down the throat of the viewer.

Instead, a story is being told, simply, with a dash of sentimentality — but with an authority and joyous feeling for life, a good understanding of what movies can do, and an illustration of how much fun they can be when they aren't trying so hard.

Seabees rebel—they're tired of American apple pie

By ART BUCHWALD
The United States Seabees, it has just been revealed, spent 18 days in Warsaw de-bugging the American Embassy. In his report to Washington, the American Ambassador to Poland, John M. Cabot, said he was quite apprehensive over housing and feeding the Seabees, as well as keeping them "isolated from the temptations which Warsaw has in abundance."

The Ambassador said he solved the problem of "temptation" by having a number of Embassy wives prepare dinner for the Seabees, which was served in the snack bar of the Embassy, and on week ends the Seabees were invited to the homes of members of the staff for food and entertainment.

"Everything," the Ambassador was quoted as saying, "worked out to our satisfaction."

There was a time when only the Russians kept such a watchful eye on their employees when they visited the outer world. But it seems that we Americans are just as nervous about our people when they go behind the Iron Curtain.

It must have been a very trying 18 days for everyone concerned.

I can imagine what went on. A Seabee chief petty officer is all dressed up in his blues, just about to leave the Embassy on liberty, when an Embassy staffer stops him. "Where are you going, chief?"

"I just thought I'd go into town and get myself a beer and see some of the sights."

"There's nothing to see in Warsaw, chief. Why don't you have a beer in the snack bar?"

King says— Nonviolence works

During his early student days, Dr. Martin Luther King studied not only Christian theology but also the works of Plato, Aristotle, Rousseau, Locke and Hegel. He also read Gandhi.

"Even now," he said, "in reading Gandhi's words again, I am given inspiration. The spirit of passive resistance came to me from the Bible and the teachings of Jesus. The techniques of execution came from Gandhi."

Today he studies civil rights struggle and particularly Selma events with the following spirit:

"The goal of the demonstrations in Selma, or elsewhere, is to dramatize the existence of injustice and to bring about the presence of justice by methods of nonviolence."

"Long years of experience indicate to us that Negroes can achieve this goal when four things occur:

- Nonviolent demonstrators go into the streets to exercise their constitutional rights.
- Racists resist by unleashing violence against them.
- Americans of conscience in the name of decency demand federal intervention and legislation.
- The Administration, under mass pressure, initiates measures of immediate intervention and remedial legislation.

"The working out of this process has never been simple or tranquil. When nonviolent protests were countered by local authorities with harassment, intimidation, and brutality, the Federal Government has always first asked the Negro to desist and leave the streets, rather than bring pressure to bear on those who commit the criminal acts."

"WE HAVE always been compelled to reject vigorously such federal requests and have rather relied on our allies, the millions of Americans across the nation, to bring pressure on the Federal Government for protective action in our behalf."

"Our position has always been that there is a wrong and right side to the question of full freedom and equality for millions of Negro Americans and that the Federal Government does not belong in the middle of this issue."

"During our non-violent direct-action campaigns we always have been advised, and again were so advised in Selma, that violence may ensue."

"Herein lies a dilemma: Of course there always exists the likelihood that, because of the hostility to our demonstrations, acts of lawlessness may be precipitated. We realize that we must exercise extreme caution so that our direct-action program is not conducted in a manner that might be considered provocative of an invitation to violence."

"ACCORDINGLY, each situation must be studied in detail; the strength and temper of our adversaries must be estimated and any change in any of these factors will affect the details of our strategy. Nevertheless, we often must begin a march without knowing when or where it will actually terminate."

"We know," Dr. King told his congregation at another time, "that there are many things wrong in the white world. But there are many things wrong in the black world, too."

"We can't keep on blaming the white man. There are many things we must do for ourselves."

"WE'VE GOT to face that. And we have to do something about our moral standards. And we've got to stop lying to the white man."

"Every time you let the white man think you think segregation is right, you are cooperating with him in doing evil."

"The next time the white man asks you what do you think of segregation you tell him, 'Mr. Charlie, I think it's wrong and I wish you'd do something about it by 9 tomorrow morning!'"

In other words, Dr. King's appeal to his Negro listeners to put their own house in order is reminiscent of Gandhi's appeal 67 years ago to the Indians living in the slums of Pretoria.

"LET US EXAMINE the reasons given by white men for segregation," King said. "Let us see which conditions we can do something about, and take action ourselves."

Before comparing with India, we should remember what Wilkins once said.

"Wherever Gandhi's techniques fit they can be used. But it must be remembered that in India the Indian was in the majority; he could stop the country."

In the United States, the Negro is in the minority; he can't stop anything very long."

Gene Sharp adds to this: "for the Negroes of the deep South to exercise restraint and to pray for their opponents in the face of bombings, physical assault, kidnappings and the threat of lynchings is of greater significance than is generally recognized."

"The psychology of the Ku Klux Klan is not unrelated to that of the Nazis toward the Jews. Despite all these unfavorable circumstances, and in the presence of certain favorable ones, considerable effectiveness has been demonstrated."

CONSIDERING THE depth of the racial problem in America, nonviolence has achieved a great deal in less than a decade. But it has also brought a cluster of problems which strongly resemble the classic pattern of all great social upheavals.

The civil rights movement has its own task and must deal with the problems and dilemmas which spring directly from it.

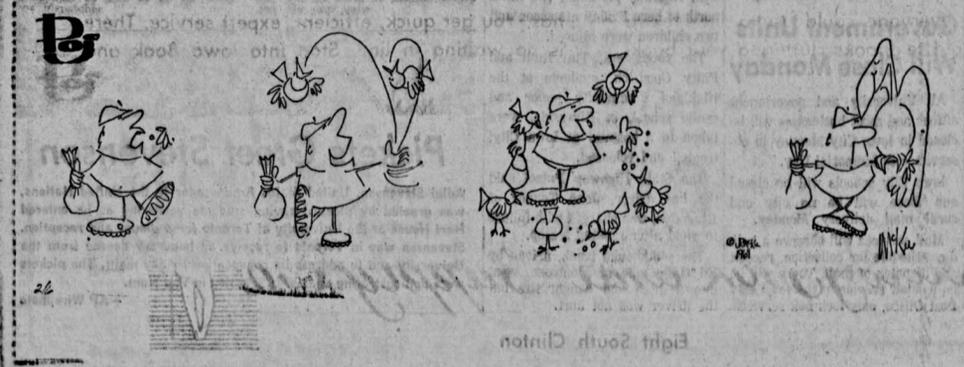

AS W. R. MILLER pointed out that "what underlies the basic dichotomy between expressive and instrumental behavior is the same thing that lies at the heart of the struggle between estranged or hostile groups — the need for insight and initiative addressed not merely to the observed external and certainly not to a projection of our own resentment, however justified, nor merely to the requirements of external legality."

"It is rare that it can enter into conflict by itself, and that is why we need the strategies and tactics of nonviolence — the boycotts, sit-ins and all the rest."

"But once we take love out of the abstract and view it in human situational terms, its relevance becomes evident."

Students To Leave Soon— Exodus May Be Scramble

By SHARON BAKER
Staff Writer

One side of the suitcase had a sign taped to it which said "University of Missouri" in large hand-drawn letters. The sign on the reverse side said "University of Iowa." The owner was carrying it resolutely down the hill and toward Highway 218 which leads straight south.

It was a spring Friday and the usual exodus of students was in full swing.

Iowa City public transportation is more thorough than in and out. Ozark Air Lines has four flights which touch down at the Municipal Airport. Two of these come from Chicago and Clinton and go to Des Moines, Fort Dodge and Sioux City. Two eastbound flights reverse the process.

A student with enough money is one hour and 30 minutes away from Chicago and 50 minutes from Des Moines. In both places he can get connections to almost anywhere. Anyone wanting to fly north or south must first travel east or west.

FOR INFORMATION ABOUT connections on other air lines, a student must talk to United Airlines in Cedar Rapids, or with Trans World Airlines in Chicago, Air France in St. Louis or KLM Royal Dutch Airlines. The latter three have an arrangement with the phone company whereby people out of town can give the operator what is called a Zenith number (listed in the phone book) and have the long distance charges automatically reversed to the airline.

And if TWA can't route a student where he wants to go, it will usually be glad to consult with another airline which can and call him back.

Trains through Iowa City are more numerous than planes. There are three trains a day to Chicago, three to Des Moines, and one to Omaha which connects with trains to the West Coast.

Traveling north and south is still a problem, however. To go in either direction a student would have to go to Cedar Rapids or take a train to West Liberty, 15 miles southeast of Iowa City, and catch another train there, or go to Des Moines or Chicago and then change trains.

The only railroad serving Iowa City is the Rock Island, and around Christmas and Easter there are a lot of people who want to ride its rails.

ALL OF THE TRAINS out of Iowa City but late night trains to Des Moines and Chicago require reservations, and the Rock Island ticket agent suggests that these be purchased a month in advance. For holiday traveling a reservation costs 50 cents and is not included in the price of the ticket.

Trains get so many students headed home for the holidays that they schedule student specials which run between Omaha and Chicago through Iowa City. These also require reservations.

Luggage on trains can be checked, though, according to the ticket agent, checking had best be done 24 hours in advance if you want your luggage to arrive at the same time you do.

Only 150 pounds of free luggage can be checked per ticket, and the railroad company frowns on breakables and large boxes of books. They expect the luggage checked to be mostly clothes and things normally carried by travelers, though they will make exceptions for items such as bicycles.

Buses run north and south, as well as east and west. Missouri Transit makes a 45 to 50 minute run eight times a day to Cedar Rapids, providing connections to northern Iowa and to Minnesota. It also runs to Springfield, and Continental Bus Lines makes direct connections to St. Louis. From these cities a student can travel by bus to most places north and south of Iowa City.

GOING EAST AND WEST is no problem by almost any public transportation and buses are no exception. Greyhound provides direct service to both coasts, and there are five to eight buses a day to Chicago and Des Moines, depending on the season.

The bus lines also schedule student specials around vacation time. The one to Chicago takes about five hours. There are no specials west, but regularly scheduled trips to Des Moines take about two and a half hours.

Of course there is always travel by car. Iowa City's Riverside Drive is U.S. Highway 218 and 6. A brand new Interstate connects college students with Des Moines and Chicago and points east and west.

Though many students arrive in Iowa City at the beginning of each semester in cars, quite a few of these vehicles return with mom and dad after son or daughter's belongings are deposited. Going home in a car seems to be the way most students want to make the trip, and it is probably the cheapest way, next to hitchhiking.

Bride Says Disinheritance Result of Negro Best Man

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A Texas millionaire and his granddaughter disagreed Friday on a statement by the young woman that she had been disinherited because a Negro was best man at her wedding.

The grandfather, whose personal wealth has been estimated as high as $200 million, said, however, he had not made a final decision on the matter.

The bride's mother said her daughter was just striking back after a family argument. Gladys Brown James, 24, granddaughter of Orange, Tex. industrialist Edgar Brown Jr., was married Thursday night to Marine Cpl. Sam James, a childhood sweetheart, also of Orange and now stationed at Ft. Meade, Md.

The wedding took place in the chapel at Ft. Meade with Ted Gay, Negro Marine friend of James, as best man.

Shortly before the wedding, Mrs. James told a newsman: "Granddad told me last Tuesday, 'If you go through with this you'll never get another penny of my money and I never want to see you again.'"

Mrs. James, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Brown III, also of Orange, said both her father and grandfather were invited to the wedding but would not attend.

Burlington Man Presented With Business Award

John Winebald, Burlington manufacturer, was named winner Friday of the Outstanding Iowa Businessman Award.

The award is given annually by the Sperry and Hutchinson Co.

Winebald, 44, is president and treasurer of the Winegard Co., manufacturers of television and FM antenna, amplifiers and systems accessories.

Osburn To Attend Oklahoma Meet

James O. Osburn, professor of chemical engineering, was recently selected to attend the Oklahoma State University's summer "Conference on Mathematics in Chemical Engineering," Monday to June 11.

The conference, sponsored by a $10,870 National Science Foundation grant, will be conducted by Oklahoma State's chemical engineering faculty.

General topics to be covered include "Numerical Analysis of Boundary Value and Initial Value Problems," "Optimization of Process Systems," "Practical Aspects of Applications of Statistics," and "Dynamics of Processes and Systems."

Tax Increase On Beer Fails In Committee

DES MOINES (AP) — An attempt to raise the state tax on beer failed Friday in the Senate Ways and Means Committee.

Sen. John Kibbie (D-Emmetsburg), asked the committee to report out a bill to raise the tax from $2.48 to $3.10 for each 31-gallon barrel.

Kibbie said it would raise about $900,000 additional per year for the state.

Sen. Vincent Burke (D-Sioux City), said it would cost that much in Sioux City alone because the resulting higher beer price would mean more persons going to Nebraska to drink.

Sen. Howard Reppert (D-Des Moines), failed for the second time in as many days to get a bill out of committee to legalize betting at horse races in Iowa.

Earlier Friday the Senate passed and sent to the House a bill to allow deductions for state income tax purposes for political campaign expenses and contributions to the two legally recognized political parties in Iowa.

An individual could deduct contributions up to $375 and up to $750 could be deducted on a joint return.

The measure also spells out limits on the amount of campaign expenses a candidate may deduct while seeking a particular office.

A measure to rewrite the Iowa law on court handling of juveniles completed its trip through the legislature, as the Senate, which first passed the bill, accepted House amendments striking out most of the secrecy provisions in the earlier bill.

One of the House provisions is that juvenile court records, including the petition, information, indictment, notices, orders, decrees and judgments shall be open to the public.

Coralville Garage Fire Causes $1,500 Damage

A fire in an empty house in Coralville late Friday morning caused an estimated $1,500 damage.

Coralville Fire Chief Bryce Wolford said the blaze began in a garage adjoining the building at 706 11th Ave., burned the inside of the garage, and spread to the roof of the house.

Neighborhood Youth Corps To Employ 500 for Cleanup

A special Neighborhood Youth Corps major disaster program for Iowa which The University of Iowa will sponsor was announced Friday.

Up to 500 economically disadvantaged youths between 16 and 21 are to be employed in the eight-week project beginning June 14 to help with flood-repair and recovery work, principally along the Mississippi River and in interior sections of the state.

Announcement of the federally supported program was made by Gov. Harold E. Hughes and U. of I. President Howard R. Bowen, who was asked by the governor to consider ways in which the University could assist with the program. The Neighborhood Youth Corps is one facet of the "war on poverty" and is administered through the U.S. Department of Labor.

President Bowen said that John C. Garfield, director of psychological services, State Services for Crippled Children at the University, will direct the program. Garfield, who has had considerable experience with community organization in connection with his work with children and youth in Iowa, has been granted a leave from his University position in order to head the program of flood recovery work.

The Federal Government will provide $315,000 to cover the pay of the youth workers, administrative costs, and the salaries of the director, a secretary, 50 crew supervisors and five area supervisors, said Garfield.

The University will provide office space for the director and necessary office equipment.

President Bowen said: "The University feels keenly its responsibility to help carry out this special program, which has the goals of speeding recovery from the tragedy and devastation of recent floods, and of providing opportunity for employment to a large number of young people whose future lives can be positively influenced by their experiences this summer."

One of the most important contributions the University can make, President Bowen continued, will be through its specialized personnel, who are urged to assist on a voluntary basis as technical advisers on work to be done, and in helping to develop a program of counseling and guidance for the benefit of the youth.

Garfield explained that the economically disadvantaged youths who participate will receive formal counseling and guidance, and will be given the greatest opportunity possible to develop job skills and attitudes that will help them secure and hold employment after the project is over. Youths who are still in school as well as those who have left school are eligible.

University specialists in such areas as counseling, psychology, social work, education, sociology, and engineering can help, the director said.

Garfield said applicants for the program must reside in the area of the recovery work while the work is under way. Applicants should contact an office of the Iowa Employment Security Commission, the agency that will process and select workers. Workers will be paid $1.25 an hour. Youths whose own homes were hit by floods will have priority in selection.

Although most of the anticipated work will be suitable only for young men, the contract calls for hiring up to 50 girls if there is

Private Diploma For Youth With Beagle Hair Style

COUNCIL BLUFFS AP

Stephen Hough, 18, a senior at Thomas Jefferson High School in Council Bluffs, will receive his diploma in private. It's because of the length and styling of his hair.

He has been told by school officials that unless he cuts his hair he will not be permitted to participate in the baccalaureate and commencement professional Wednesday.

The youth has declined to have his hair cut in the manner school officials had suggested because he is a member of a popular music combo and as such he said he feels his so-called beagle-type haircut is an asset.

Hough says his grades are about average. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Hough.

work they can do. College students will be hired as supervisors for the 50 teams of 10 to be formed. Garfield said the supervisors will be students who have or desire experience in youth work and counseling. Some will be from the University while others will be found at colleges in the flood areas.

Because of the magnitude of the damage in Iowa, the special program has authorization to perform recovery work on private property, if requested, as well as on public land, Garfield said.

The U.S. Office of Emergency Planning (OEP) is coordinating flood recovery work in Iowa in cooperation with H. Garland Harshy, Iowa City, the Iowa state disaster coordinator. Projects for the Youth Corps program will be selected through the OEP in communities that have already sought federal assistance. Other communities that have cleanup and repair projects due to the floods may bring them to the attention of the project director if they have not established contact with the OEP. Inquiries should be directed to Garfield at the Neighborhood Youth Corps, 129 S. Capitol St., Iowa City, Iowa, 52240.

Garfield said he expects that communities to be involved in the special program will be selected in about a week.

A native of Ames, Garfield earned the Ph.D. Degree in clinical psychology at Iowa in 1963. The son of Chief Justice Theodore G. Garfield, Ames, he earned a bachelor's degree at Iowa State University in 1951. Garfield also holds a master's degree in psychology from the U of I. He joined the State Services for Crippled Children in Iowa City in 1959.

Presently a member of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Social Welfare, Garfield once was chairman of the subcommittee on juvenile delinquency of the Governor's Committee on Children and Youth.

Congress Has Cut Pay 5 Times, Records Say

WASHINGTON (AP) — It may come as a surprise to learn that Congress has cut its pay at least five times since it first met on March 4, 1789. The last time was in the depression.

One of the reductions affected senators only.

Statistics published Friday night by the House Appropriations Committee in connection with a pending legislative money bill show that the first representatives were paid at the rate of $6 for each day they actually met. Senators fared a little better. They got $7 a day, or $1,470 for the 210 days they met.

In 1796, the dollar-a-day differential was removed and all of the Congress members were paid $6 a day.

Not until 1816 did Congress put itself on an annual salary. The yearly pay was $1,500 but it lasted only one year. In 1817, the pay reverted to $6 a day, which actually was a reduction, because of a short session.

In 1818, the salary was boosted to $3 a day and remained there until 1856 when annual pay of $3,000 was approved.

In 1866 the legislators decided they were worth more and raised their pay to $5,000 a year. Seven years later they voted themselves another boost, this time to $7,500.

The public reaction must have been adverse, for less than a year later the pay was cut back to $5,000, where it remained until 1907.

It went back to $7,500 in 1907 and to $10,000 in 1925.

The economy acts of 1932 and 1933 cut the pay of all government employees, including congressmen, whose official income dropped back to $5,500 in two stages.

Three separate raises in 1934 and 1936 restored the economy act cut.

The next raise came in 1946 and boosted salaries to $12,500, where they remained until a $10,000 raise was approved in 1955. Last year Congress decided $22,500 was inadequate and boosted its members' pay to the present $30,000.

Librarians To Attend Workshop

The 14th annual Library Workshop will be held Tuesday through Friday on the University campus.

The workshop, titled "Books—From Lists to Libraries," will be about book selection in specific areas. Tuesday, book selection in the area of fiction will be discussed. On each of the following days, book selection in the areas of poetry, biography and reference sources will be primary topics.

The speaker on the final day will be Helen Hunt, author of "Across Five Aprils," and runner-up for the 1965 Newbery Award.

Other facets of the conference will include visits to the Iowa City public library, curriculum library, Iowa City book stores, and University Library.

Mrs. Louane L. Newsome, College of Education, is in charge of the workshop.

A number of students have commented that they would like to purchase a copy of "Echoes of Old Gold" but because of a present shortage of cash, are unable to do so at the present time. Thus, the following procedure has been worked out. If you would like a copy of this 50-minute picture in sound of SUI, just pick up a C.O.D. order form at the locations mentioned below, fill it out, and you will receive a copy in the mail two to three weeks after school is dismissed.

ECHOES OF OLD GOLD

"Echoes of Old Gold" is a portrait in sound of the University of Iowa. It is a perfect gift for those who are enrolled now, those who are graduating in June, and for those who have graduated in the past. In ten, twenty, or thirty years from now this record will have lasting value, and will become more meaningful as time passes. It is interesting to imagine the pleasure one will receive listening to the record, not only now, but in the far off future as well.

Pick up a C.O.D. form at the stores in Burge or Currier, the desk in Kate Daum, or at the information desk of the Iowa Memorial Union. Orders must be made by Wednesday, June 2, 1965.

14-Mile Negro Vote March Proceeds Without Incident

BRANDON, Miss. (AP) — Negro marchers plodded through central Mississippi's piney woods country Friday toward this county seat town where they will try to register for voting Saturday. The 14-mile "march for freedom" began at a tiny Negro church north of here at mid-morning. It proceeded without incident along State Rt. 471 — a humid ribbon of blacktop through the red clay hills. About 100 persons were in the civil rights procession. They expect to be joined for the final mile Saturday by James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality. STATE TROOPERS and Rankin County sheriff's deputies kept a close watch as the marchers proceeded through the sparsely populated countryside. "We'll continue to protect them all the way to Brandon," said a deputy. "We're not expecting any trouble and we're not going to let any happen." "We're marching against the entire voter registration of Mississippi and the seating of the Mississippi congressional delegation, especially Prentiss Walker," said one marcher.

pending before Congress. While citizens in Rankin County paid little attention to the marchers. RANKIN COUNTY is about 50 miles west of Philadelphia — where three civil rights workers were killed 11 months ago in a crime that shocked the nation. Shortly before the march began, leaders warned the participants about conduct, use of portable restrooms, and talking with newsmen. During the march, however, the demonstrators stopped at houses along the way, passing up the restrooms. Leaders said the marchers would be segregated by sex in tents Friday night.

RANKIN COUNTY — just east of Jackson, the state capital — is in the district represented by Walker, the state's first Republican congressman since Reconstruction. Walker and the state's four Democratic congressmen are holding office under challenge by the Freedom Democratic party. This predominantly Negro party claims Negroes were denied the right to vote in last November's election and the congressmen thus were illegally elected. The challenge is

Interns Pack LA Hospital In Pay Feud

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Officials of County General Hospital faced a busy holiday weekend Friday hopeful they have stemmed a two-day flood of patients admitted by resident physicians in a "heal-in" pay protest. "We had an increase in admissions and a slowdown in discharges Tuesday and Wednesday but administrative action was taken and the situation had returned to normal last night," said the hospital administrator, Robert Thomas.

"Holiday weekends are always busy so we expect a heavy patient load for the next few days but we hope this will have stabilized by Tuesday." Thomas said a number of the 200 interns and 350 resident physicians in the 3,300-bed hospital were unhappy with a recent $10-a-month increase in pay, which ranges from $330 to $645 a month.

A delegation told County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn Thursday they had started what they called a "heal-in" by increasing admissions and lowering the discharge rate. "They were admitting patients who might otherwise have been refused and keeping under treatment some who might have been sent home," Thomas said. "In effect, they were saying that if they couldn't have a better pay increase they would do this to get the maximum teaching benefit from their work."

"There is nothing wrong with this as long as they stay within the range of the hospital's capacity and so far they have done so." The patient load last Tuesday was 2,503. It increased to 2,756 Wednesday and reached a peak Thursday of 2,916 — but Thomas said this was well under the capacity.

Dr. Williams Evans, medical director of the hospital, said the protest group has promised him "nothing will be done which interferes with the best care available to patients."

The facility will be manned by volunteers around the clock for 64 hours, starting at 8 a.m. Saturday. The club, recently organized for this specific purpose, expects to give away 12,000 doughnuts.

Mill Officer Asks For Separate Trials

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A separate trial is sought by one of six flour-milling company executives indicted on price-fixing conspiracy charges. Lawrence J. Weidt, vice president of Archer-Daniels-Midland Co., of Minneapolis, requested the separate trial in a petition filed with the U.S. District Court here.

The petition said much of the evidence that would be introduced at a joint trial, scheduled for September, would not relate to him. He said this would prejudice his right to a fair trial.

The period from 1958 through October, 1962, is covered in the indictment, which accused the executives and 12 flour-milling firms of conspiring to fix the price of flour sold to commercial bakeries. Weidt said he was involved in flour sales only from Jan. 1, 1961.

The 12 companies pleaded no contest to the indictment and were fined a total of $190,000. One of the companies was Inland Mills, Inc., of Des Moines.

Eight Injured In School Bus Crash

SHELDALH (AP) — Eight children were injured Thursday when a North Polk Community School District bus went out of control on a rutty gravel road and overturned southwest of here. Twenty-seven other children and the driver, Verlin R. Alleman, 30, of Sheldahl, escaped injury. The children were on their way to school at Sheldahl at the time. Highway Patrol Sgt. Andre Carstensen said Alleman estimated his speed at 40 miles per hour when the bus hit a deep rut. Carstensen said the left front spring apparently broke, causing the driver to lose control.

The bus went over about a 12-foot embankment, turned over on its right side and went through a fence on the Duane Harris farm.

Bank Cashier Held on False Entry Charge

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP) — L. J. Paulson, 54, former cashier at the Mechanicsville Trust and Savings Bank, surrendered to a U.S. marshal Friday on a federal charge of making false entries in bank records. At a hearing before U.S. Commissioner Kenneth Fuelling, Paulson was released on $5,000 bond pending arraignment before U.S. District Judge Edward J. McManus.

The muscular, 6-foot Paulson was charged with making false entries involving loans totaling $31,500. U.S. Dist. Atty. Donald O'Brien of Sioux City said this amount does not necessarily represent the alleged shortage at the 62-year-old bank. The State Banking Department said no determination has been made yet. Paulson was charged on three counts, one alleging he made a false entry last Dec. 29 purporting to show that Frank Filip, a bank customer, was indebted to the bank for $26,500. Filip did not owe the money, the complaint said.

The other two counts alleged false entries of $2,500 each for non-existent loans to Fred Kauffman March 6 and April 7. The shortage came to light when one of the customers insisted he had not signed a promissory note held by the bank. No date was set for the arraignment of Paulson, who resigned from his bank post Wednesday night at a special meeting of the board of directors.

The charge, upon conviction, carries a $5,000 fine or five years imprisonment or both on each of the three counts. The bank has $3 million in capital stock, surplus, reserves and deposits and any loss is covered by insurance, officials said.

36 Coeds To Complete Dental Hygiene Course

Certificates in dental hygiene will be awarded to 36 coeds at the annual Dental Convocation at 8 p.m. Thursday in Macbride Auditorium. Man's Hunger Strike Ends In Tragedy

VALHALLA, N.Y. (AP) — A Westchester County milk farmer, Henry Dresher, 59, refused to pay a $3 traffic fine last May 3 and embarked on a protest hunger strike in the county penitentiary. A one-day jail sentence became a 24-day self-imposed imprisonment during which Dresher claimed to have eaten nothing. His weight dropped 10 pounds. "He was well-mannered, gentlemanly and courteous, practically a model prisoner," said Warden William O'Brien. "He would do everything asked of him but he would not eat. He only drank water." Thursday, in the psychiatric division of Grasslands Hospital, Dresher collapsed and died. If he had any visions of a hunger strike to the point of starvation and death for a cause, he apparently was cheated of them. Dist. Atty. Leonard Rubinfeld said Friday an autopsy report showed a degenerative disease of Dresher's coronary arteries, a prior cardiac condition and the cause of death as a heart attack. Rubinfeld added: "There was very little evidence of malnutrition." However, the district attorney promised an investigation to determine if Dresher's constitutional rights had been violated during his imprisonment.

Armour Star Plant Closes in Kansas

KANSAS CITY (AP) — After nearly a century of operation, Armour & Co. closed down its big meat-packing plant in Kansas City, Friday. The company will continue a beef killing operation at a new location here but it will employ only 10 workers compared to the top of 2,000 employed in the big plant during its most lucrative years. Only about 400 workers were on the job this final day. The shutdown began last September when slaughtering was discontinued and 700 workers laid off. Friday only the smoke house, sliced bacon, canned meats and sausage departments were in operation. Some units finished their last tasks by noon. The plant began operations in 1871. LAST SURVIVOR DIES — PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (AP) — George Carr, 97, the last surviving member of the "Robert E." Peary arctic expedition of 1893-94, was buried Thursday. He died Monday.

Nebraska: Joan Heffelfinger, M2, Milo; Carolyn J. Dornier, M1, Des Moines; Sharon Lee Coleman, G, Decatur, Ill.; Linda Lee Reed, A3, Council Bluffs; Shelia Marie Nolan, M1, Guthrie Center; Hsin Lee Lin, G, Shu-Lin, Taiwan; Sara Millard, assistant professor of chemistry; and Nyla A. Heerema, G, Hull. A buffet supper followed the initiation.

Memorial Day Weekend hours at the Union will be the same as usual for Sunday and Monday, except that Union offices will be closed Monday. The University Library will also be open its usual Sunday and Monday hours. The library will be open from 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday during the interim between semesters. The reserve desk will be closed June 5.

A modern Dance Troup, directed by Sally Garfield, A3, Des Moines, will present a program Saturday night at the Des Moines Drama Workshop. The performers include Pate Anderson, A4, Iowa City; Diana Dinsmore, A3, Mcalean, Va.; Mary Lynn McRae, N4, Des Moines; Alan Murphy, A2, Iowa City; and Karen Pederson, instructor in women's physical education.

Also featured in the program is Ruth Ludwig, a folk singer from Des Moines.

Mill Officer Asks For Separate Trials

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A separate trial is sought by one of six flour-milling company executives indicted on price-fixing conspiracy charges. Lawrence J. Weidt, vice president of Archer-Daniels-Midland Co., of Minneapolis, requested the separate trial in a petition filed with the U.S. District Court here.

The petition said much of the evidence that would be introduced at a joint trial, scheduled for September, would not relate to him. He said this would prejudice his right to a fair trial.

The period from 1958 through October, 1962, is covered in the indictment, which accused the executives and 12 flour-milling firms of conspiring to fix the price of flour sold to commercial bakeries. Weidt said he was involved in flour sales only from Jan. 1, 1961.

The 12 companies pleaded no contest to the indictment and were fined a total of $190,000. One of the companies was Inland Mills, Inc., of Des Moines.

Eight Injured In School Bus Crash

SHELDALH (AP) — Eight children were injured Thursday when a North Polk Community School District bus went out of control on a rutty gravel road and overturned southwest of here. Twenty-seven other children and the driver, Verlin R. Alleman, 30, of Sheldahl, escaped injury. The children were on their way to school at Sheldahl at the time. Highway Patrol Sgt. Andre Carstensen said Alleman estimated his speed at 40 miles per hour when the bus hit a deep rut. Carstensen said the left front spring apparently broke, causing the driver to lose control.

The bus went over about a 12-foot embankment, turned over on its right side and went through a fence on the Duane Harris farm.

Bank Cashier Held on False Entry Charge

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP) — L. J. Paulson, 54, former cashier at the Mechanicsville Trust and Savings Bank, surrendered to a U.S. marshal Friday on a federal charge of making false entries in bank records. At a hearing before U.S. Commissioner Kenneth Fuelling, Paulson was released on $5,000 bond pending arraignment before U.S. District Judge Edward J. McManus.

The muscular, 6-foot Paulson was charged with making false entries involving loans totaling $31,500. U.S. Dist. Atty. Donald O'Brien of Sioux City said this amount does not necessarily represent the alleged shortage at the 62-year-old bank. The State Banking Department said no determination has been made yet. Paulson was charged on three counts, one alleging he made a false entry last Dec. 29 purporting to show that Frank Filip, a bank customer, was indebted to the bank for $26,500. Filip did not owe the money, the complaint said.

The other two counts alleged false entries of $2,500 each for non-existent loans to Fred Kauffman March 6 and April 7. The shortage came to light when one of the customers insisted he had not signed a promissory note held by the bank. No date was set for the arraignment of Paulson, who resigned from his bank post Wednesday night at a special meeting of the board of directors.

The charge, upon conviction, carries a $5,000 fine or five years imprisonment or both on each of the three counts. The bank has $3 million in capital stock, surplus, reserves and deposits and any loss is covered by insurance, officials said.

All Is Ready For Indy Run

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Wearily mechanics lightened the last safety bolts Friday on about a million dollars' worth of racing machinery which 22 veterans and 11 rookies will drive Monday in the 49th 500-mile Memorial Day auto race. The last chance to check out the cars at racing speed will be carburetion tests from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. EST Saturday and it appeared all 33 qualifiers would be ready.

Veteran Roger Ward's last chance to start evidently vanished when it was reported the car wrecked last Saturday by Lloyd Ruby, third-place finisher last year, would be ready for a shake-down in the carburetion period.

The only other questionable car had been that of Parnelli Jones, 1963 winner, wrecked in practice.

Terps Prove Top Threat At IC4A Meet

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP)—Sophomore Russ White's meet javelin record of 241 feet, 1/2 inch led a bulky Maryland advance through Friday's qualifying rounds and stamped the Terrapins a prime threat to Villanova's long-time dominance of the IC4A Outdoor Track and Field Championships.

Maryland, the Atlantic Coast Conference champion but never an IC4A titlist, pushed 13 individuals and a mile relay team through qualifying rounds and into Saturday's finals.

THE TERRAPINS also have a man, Mike Cole, who survived first-round 220 eliminations and will run in Saturday's semis.

All finals, plus semifinals in the 220, will be held Saturday. Only qualifying events were held Friday.

Villanova, which has won the last five team titles and seven of the last nine, had nine individual qualifiers and a mile relay team.

Harvard, the Hexagonal champion, saw its long shot chances fade with only five qualifiers, including meet record-breaker John Bakkenesen in the discus. Cornell had six but is not considered a serious threat in the meet that drew some 60 entrants from more than 50 eastern colleges.

BAKKENSEN, the defender, got off a throw of 173-0 and joined White as the only record-setters on the bright, sunny afternoon that drew only about 100 spectators to Rutgers Stadium.

Villanova's Larry Livers also bettered the meet mark with a 14-1/2 performance in the 120-yard high hurdles, but the mark is not eligible for record consideration because of a 10 mile an hour trailing wind.

Big Weekend Coming For Horse Racing Fans

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Horse racing fans start on a two-day betting binge Saturday and by the time the last race is run Monday the pari-mutuel machines will have clocked close to $50 million and the turnstiles counted a turnout of about 750,000.

A year ago when Memorial Day fell on Saturday, thoroughbred racing tracks reported an over-all two-day attendance, including Friday, of 742,666 and wagering of $48,996,616. The figures for Memorial Day alone were 478,360 and $30,268,277.

Every track will offer feature events both days with the top performers appearing in 12 headlines, ranging in value from $15,000 to $100,000 in added money.

Six of the dozen features at six major tracks will be raced Saturday. But the richest come Monday when Aqueduct offers the $100,000-added Metropolitan Handicap with Gun Bow and Affectionately the chief attractions and Garden State Park presents the $100,000-added Jersey Derby.

24th Annual Cal Relays Will Feature Prep Aces

MODESTO, Calif. (AP)—Interest centers on a pair of high school aces and a group of foreign stars Saturday night in the 24th annual California Relays which won't have the depth of past productions because of the NCAA-AAU track and field feud.

These relays are sanctioned by the AAU so university athletes from NCAA schools won't participate.

Jim Ryan, the high school senior from Wichita, Kan., who became the first prep runner to break four minutes in the mile, faces veteran competitors including Olympic runner-up Josef Odizil of Czechoslovakia.

Belgium's Eugene Allonsius also filed an entry for the mile along with United States stars Jim Greile, John Camien, Cary Weisger, John Garrison and Jack Kennedy.

Richard Flowers Jr. of Montgomery, Ala., a high school senior who has run the 120-yard high hurdles in 13.8 seconds, faces such seasoned competitors as Olympian Blaine Lindgren, former Southern California star Brian Polkinghorne and the Northeast Louisiana College duo of Roger Morgan and Roger Mann.

Australia's distance star Ron Clarke, holder of world records from three miles to 10,000 meters, heads the field for the two-mile which also includes New Zealand's Neville Scott, Canada's Dave Ellis and Americans George Young and Ron Larrieu.

Belinsky Has Broken Rib

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Bo Belinsky, Philadelphia Phillies southpaw pitcher, said Friday he has been pitching for eight weeks with a cracked rib.

The pitcher, who came to the Phillies last winter in a deal with the Los Angeles Angels, said he cracked the rib in West Palm Beach, Fla., April 2, while pitching against the Milwaukee Braves.

Negro Coed Proud for Race

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—Negro coed Vivian Malone said Friday she is proud to be the first of her race to be graduated by the University of Alabama. She graduates Sunday.

Miss Malone said she feels the path she has blazed will make it easier for Negroes to attend the formerly all-white institution.

Miss Malone discussed her past two years on the Tuscaloosa campus with newsmen at her dormitory residence.

The only thing abnormal about her university days, she said, was the social aspect.

"I did not attend many dances and that sort of thing," she said. "I feel that this type of activity is for having a good time and I didn't feel that this would have been the case for me."

She explained that she would have been welcomed, but that she probably would have just sat and watched the others.

Miss Malone was well composed and said she was much more at ease than on that spring day two years ago when it took 3,000 federal troops to gain her admittance.

The attractive 22-year-old coed said she held no bitterness for those who tried so hard to keep her from breaking the color barrier at the university.

Barnes Is Elected President of City School Study Panel

Arthur M. Barnes, professor of journalism, was elected president of the Iowa City School Study Council for the 1965-66 school year at the group's regular meeting Thursday night.

Other new officers were Dr. Fred Starnler, professor of pathology, vice president; and Jean Testen, 303 Third Ave., secretary-treasurer.

The council will host the state meeting of the school study council at 2 p.m. June 6 in the Union Pentecost Room.

NIGHT TOURISTS—WASHINGTON (AP)—Tourists who have been swarming to the Capitol in increasing numbers—40,000 of them came the day after Easter—may be swarming by night as well as by day.

Congress is considering extending the Capitol's visiting hours to 10 p.m. during the six-month summer session starting next March.

Man-in-Space To Rendezvous With Rocket

Trouble With Battery Halts Simulated Flight; Could Delay Launching

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Astronaut Edward White will attempt to approach to within 20 feet of his orbiting booster rocket when he steps into space from the Gemini 4 spacecraft next week, the space agency said Friday.

Officials said White and his astronaut partner, James D. McDivitt, are to practice the world's first man-in-space rendezvous mission during their four-day flight scheduled June 3.

They also disclosed that White will be the first spaceman to use a gas-powered maneuvering unit to help propel him outside his orbiting spacecraft.

The report came as technicians worked to replace a defective battery in the Gemini 4 spacecraft.

THE BATTERY forced postponement of a simulated flight planned Friday and officials said there was a slight possibility that the trouble could delay the launching feat.

However, they were optimistic that the schedule could be met, barring unforeseen difficulties. They expected to have the trouble corrected by Saturday morning.

Late Friday, space agency officials called a news conference to announce that McDivitt and White would attempt to rendezvous with the 7,600-pound spacecraft with the burned-out second stage of the Titan 2 rocket.

SUCH A FEAT has not been accomplished by either Russian or U.S. manned space flights.

Later, officials revealed that White himself would approach the spacecraft.

Warren North, of the space agency's flight crew support division, outlined this plan for the flight:

When the spacecraft separates from the second stage six minutes after launching, McDivitt, as command pilot, will fire jet thrusters to hold a tight formation with the spent stage, which will trail the astronauts by about 300 feet.

Throughout the first orbit, the astronauts will make a complete check of all their systems. At the start of the second orbit they will begin preparing for White's emergence, unpacking life support packs, the maneuvering unit and the 25-foot lifeline.

SWEEPING OVER the Indian Ocean during this orbit, they will begin to depressurize the spacecraft cabin and pressurize their space suits. Over Hawaii, McDivitt will maneuver the spacecraft to within 25 feet of the second stage.

White will open his hatch and at a point west of Guaymas, Mexico, he will leave the vehicle. That will be about three hours after launching.

Using the maneuvering unit, White will slowly rotate toward the second stage, which is 27 feet long and 10 feet in diameter, and will be equipped with two flashing lights. The astronaut will carry a 35 mm movie camera to take pictures of the earth, star background, the booster and the spacecraft.

After 10 minutes, over Florida, White will begin returning to the spacecraft. The cabin will be repressurized and the suits depressurized.

Then McDivitt will fire thrusters so that the spacecraft will move about 16 miles away from the booster. During the fifth orbit, about three hours later, the Gemini 4 again will be maneuvered so that it will approach the second stage high over Africa.

Comsat Puts $6,700-an-Hour Tag on Early Bird Television

WASHINGTON (AP)—Communications Satellite Corp. proposed Friday a rate schedule indicating that it will cost $6,700 or more an hour for one-way transatlantic television via the Early Bird satellite.

The rate schedule filed with the Federal Communications Commission will take effect June 27 unless the FCC objects.

Comstat also proposed a rate of $4,200 a month for each telephonic voice channel using the first commercial-type satellite.

The rates would be available only to communications common carriers, such as the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., and are therefore not the "retail" cost to the television networks or other ultimate users. AT&T has indicated its willingness to lease initially 100 of Early Bird's 240 channels.

The new rates are indicative, however, of the approximate charges Comsat may post for the networks, the press associations, a number of newspapers, and other media if FCC rules that these organizations are entitled to deal directly with Comsat, instead of through a common carrier and thus get a "wholesale" price.

Comsat told the FCC it would submit proposed charges for such groups when and if they are designated eligible.

The prices posted Friday actually cover television transmissions only part way across the ocean—from the United States ground station at Andover, Maine, to Early Bird. It is $2,400 for the first half-hour and $475 for each additional quarter-hour, or $3,350 an hour.

European authorities will set the price for the transmission from Early Bird to Europe.

Additional Students Quality For Commencement Honors

Additional students will receive honors degrees or degrees with special distinction for being in the top 10 per cent of their class academically.

Honors degrees are awarded to students who have maintained a 3.0 grade point average in the University Honors Program.

The top 2 per cent will be graduated with "highest distinction," the next 3 per cent with "high distinction" and the next 5 per cent with "distinction."

Receiving "high distinction" are Edward Dittmer, Boone; Walter

Eyre, Burlington; Mrs. Phyllis Weston, Cedar Rapids; Jerry Carper, Clarinda; Loretta Fingert, Des Moines; Philip Walk, Grafton; Karen Weiss, Grand Mound; Leslie Skurdal, Odebolt; Donald Kuiken, Sheldon; Melodie Koe, Scottsdale, Ariz.; and Stanley Verhoeven, Woodland Hills, Calif.

Those receiving degrees with "distinction" are Margaret Billings, Ames; Glenn Church, Bonaparte; Jennifer Howard and Biruta Lacin, Burlington; Diane Boitman and Linda Meyers, Clinton; Christopher Carlsen, Iowa City; Janet Armstrong, Iowa Falls; Diane Tremmel, Sibley; Jean Huff, Sioux City; and Jean Hentzel, Urbana, Ia.

House Unit Lauds Progress of LBJ's 'War on Poverty'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats on the House Education and Labor Committee said Friday the administration's anti-poverty program was begun well and should be continued with increased funds.

But, in a stinging minority report, committee Republicans blasted the program as badly administered, wasteful and ripe for plundering by power-hungry politicians.

The conflicting views were printed in the committee's formal report on a bill to continue the program until mid-1967 and double its authorization to $1.5 billion a year. The report fore-shadows a bitter partisan fight when the legislation comes up for a House vote in a few weeks.

The Democrats sounded notes of caution and concern about the program, but said they were impressed by what had been accomplished in the 10 months since the Office of Economic Opportunity got its money and started in business.

Doctor Urges Care In Aspirin Dosage

CHICAGO (AP)—A Salt Lake City doctor said Friday a small child should not be given aspirin except at the direction of a physician, and parents should learn that not every fever needs to be combated with aspirin.

The most severe instance of aspirin poisoning among young children resulted from therapeutic overdosage," said Dr. Alan K. Done.

CHILDREN TRAPPED—LONDON (AP)—Three small children who vanished from their homes in London a week ago were found Friday trapped behind the jammed door of a tiny shed.

All three were weak and dazed to tell what had happened.

Labor Crisis May Imperil U.S. Shipping

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government and union spokesmen warned Friday that an impending labor crisis threatens to tie up virtually every American merchant ship and cripple U.S. foreign trade on June 15.

"This industry is drifting into what could very well be an almost total strike," said Paul Hall, president of the AFL-CIO Seafarers' International Union.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz agreed that a strike crisis on the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf coasts is likely when union contracts expire June 15. Wirtz first said such a crisis seems "inevitable," but amended the statement to say "likely."

Hall said negotiations are at a virtual standstill and he blamed the government, saying it had failed to clarify federal maritime policy to give the shipping industry and the dozen unions involved a basis for further talks.

The Seafarers' and other maritime unions have long accused the federal government of adopting policies which encourage runaway U.S. shipping companies to place their vessels under foreign flags.

Wirtz and Hall, speaking before a Seafarers' convention, also engaged in an exchange of words on the case of who threw the coffin on the White House lawn.

Hall promptly denied his union had anything to do with the coffin incident last Friday during a demonstration by the AFL-CIO National Maritime Union. Two east-coast-shaped boxes heaved over the high iron fence onto the White House lawn were labeled "Don't bury the U.S. merchant marine."

Hall said the NMU should not be blamed either because it could have been done by "one drunk" or someone not a union member.

WARREN COMMISSION—WASHINGTON (AP)—The Warren Commission reported the assassination of John F. Kennedy turned out to be a big seller for the government printing office.

It sold 142,673 copies of the report and 1,491 26-volume sets of the hearings at a net profit of $191,400.

Klan Tries Ohio Revival, Is Resented

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—The Ku Klux Klan, a potent force in Ohio 40 years ago, looked Friday for a revival in a grassy field 40 miles from Cincinnati, but ran into resentment from neighbors and churchmen.

James R. Venable of Atlanta, Ga., leader of one national Klan group, was scheduled to speak Friday night in what was believed to be the Klan's first major rally in a Northern state in recent years.

Similar Klan rallies have been staged in the South.

Law enforcement officers gathered 200 reinforcements, but hoped they would be needed only for traffic control at the rally site in a field of uncut high grass near the village of Oregonia.

Most residents paid little heed to the Klan gathering. Surrounding farms sprouted "no trespassing" signs," reported Capt. Roy Wallace of Warren County Sheriff's office.

The general feeling, Wallace said, is, "We'd rather not have them."

The Klan invited "all Klansmen, their ladies and 100 per cent Americans."

But in Cincinnati three churchmen said in a statement, "We would think the only persons who should be there are reporters, law enforcement officials and the few Klansmen themselves with their sheets and their shame."

"It is in the ranks of the Klan that racist night riders, dynamiers and murderers are often found," said this statement by the Rev. David B. Sageser, president of the Cincinnati area Council of Churches; Harold K. Goldstein, president of the Cincinnati Jewish Committee, and Richard Stenger, president of the Catholic Interracial Council.

Salad Oil Swindler Sentenced; Chance For Early Parole

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Anthony (Tino) DeAngelis, whose flood of phony warehouse receipts touched off Wall Street's famous salad oil scandal, Friday drew a prison sentence that could range from three months to 10 years.

DeAngelis, 49, a chubby former butcher, was given a nominal maximum sentence of 10 years. But under a 1958 federal law invoked by the judge, he could be eligible for parole after three months.

The sentencing of DeAngelis—following a 19-month-old scandal that rocked scores of the world's biggest banks and commodity companies—thus was an anticlimax.

U.S. Dist. Judge R. J. Wortendyke Jr. told a crowded courtroom that a report to be issued on DeAngelis after he serves three months will be the basis of what will amount to a new sentence.

DeAngelis had pleaded guilty Jan. 8 to three counts of a federal indictment charging circulation of fraudulent warehouse receipts.

PALESTINE ORGANIZATION—CAIRO (AP)—Ahmed Shukairi, head of the Palestine Liberation Organization, boycotted the morning session of the Arab premier's conference in Cairo Friday after threatening to resign from his post.

Shukairi had voiced disappointment at the premier's hesitation to act decisively against Tunisian President Bourguiba's calls for possible Arab-Israeli co-existence.
