Russia Slams Door On Peace Mission

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Union jolted Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Viet Nam peace mission Wednesday, refusing to allow it to visit Moscow. The mission of four Commonwealth leaders also has been rejected by Red China and North Viet Nam.

Nevertheless, the mission made up of Wilson, the president of Ghana and the prime ministers of Nigeria, Trinidad and Tobago refused to give up.

"It is the intention of the mission to go to whatever capitals it is able to," said a spokesman for the British Commonwealth conference under way here.

Washington and Saigon are the only capitals left. Secretary-General U Thant of the United Nations has agreed to meet the mission in Geneva next month.

Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin's action came after the Red Chinese and North Vietnamese publicly denounced the projected mission as a fraud serving American interests.

Kosygin's rejection seemed certain to rob the mission of all practical value.

Kosygin's explanation of why Russia won't meet the group read like a schoolmaster's lectures to his pupils:

"The mission should first have approached the North Vietnamese government and the National Liberation Front of South Viet Nam who are under American attack."

"It then should demand an end of 'armed intervention' by the Americans and an American withdrawal from South Viet Nam."

"Finally it should recognize any peace talks must have 'the consent and participation of the Vietnamese themselves.'"

Kosygin concluded: "As to the Soviet Union, it has not been authorized by any body to conduct talks on a settlement in Viet Nam and the Soviet government does not intend to conduct such negotiations."

"Any final decision on the mission will have to be taken by the conference as a whole Thursday or Friday when the meeting winds up."

Swiss, Soviet Contrast Well

"Newspapers reflect the true image of a country, even though it is unfavorable," said Dr. Alston, assistant professor of history.

His speech, "Swiss and Soviet Press" was given Wednesday night to the summer session workshop of The Newspaper in the Classrooms of a Free Society.

Alston called Switzerland and the U.S.S.R. "a good contrast."

"The Soviet Union is the most highly centralized major industrial nation in the world," he said. "And Switzerland is the smallest major industrial nation in the world."

Alston said that Russian newspapers are more important than in the United States because this is the way the Russian government represents itself to the people.

"And," he said, "the basic function of their newspaper is to spread propaganda."

The Swiss papers on the other hand dwell less on propaganda and more on the problems of other countries, he said.

"These people reflect realism and a need to survive. They have all the problems of any civilization," Alston said.

"Both papers though represent the problem of the youth and the inability of the society to control it," he said. "This we must learn to control in our own country."

Rebels Accept OAS Group's Peace Scheme

Dominican Elections, Interim Government Included in Proposal

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Softening their previous rigid stand, the rebels accepted with some changes Wednesday an Organization of American States peace proposal.

Most significantly, the rebel regime agreed to a provisional government, with general elections in six to nine months. These are the main points in the OAS plan to settle the nine-week-old Dominican conflict.

THE RIVAL CIVILIAN-MILITARY junta has promised to hand its reply to the OAS shortly.

The OAS peace committee, headed by U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, went into the rebel zone and received the reply — 10 typewritten pages.

The rebel statement made no recommendations as to the make-up of the provisional government, and it said nothing of its previous insistence on restoring the 1963 constitution before any new regime took over.

Instead, the rebels suggested that the bill of rights in the 1963 constitution be incorporated in the institutional act by which the provisional government will rule until elections.

A key point in the rebel government's statement suggested that weapons in the hands of civilians be turned over to the provisional government.

ANOTHER POINT SAID all rebel armed forces members, including those recalled to service after the start of hostilities April 24, should be reincorporated into the Dominican army. They would retain the rank they held in the rebel army.

The Inter-American Human Rights Commission would remain in the country until the electoral process was completed. General amnesty would cover only crimes of a political nature, the rebel statement proposed.

The rebel statement was signed by the executive legislative and judicial chiefs of their regime. These were President Col. Francisco Caamaño Deno, Presidential Minister Hector Aristy, Foreign Minister Jottin Cury, Attorney General Salvador Jorge Blanco, Senate President Anibal Campagna, Chamber of Deputies President Arevalo Cedeno Valdez and the president of the Supreme Court, Alfredo Conde Pausas.

There was no immediate reaction from members of the OAS committee after receiving the rebel plan.

Planes Blast N. Viet Base

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force pilots staged their third and apparently most destructive raid Wednesday on the Son La military base, 110 miles west-northwest of Hanoi. Fifty buildings were destroyed and 43 were damaged, a spokesman said.

Three barracks and a bridge were reported destroyed in a strike last Friday at Son La, 25 miles above the 21st Parallel marking the Hanoi Line and 80 miles from Red China's frontier. Newsmen were told nine buildings were destroyed and 20 damaged in the second raid Tuesday.

While a 37-plane fleet staged the third strike, Communist gunners hit and set afire one of a four-plane team of U.S. Air Force Thunderchiefs on a road reconnaissance mission farther south.

Regents May Approve Tuition Increase Today

Public Meeting On Proposed Merger Today

By NORM DUNLAP Staff Writer

The proposed merger between Iowa City and University Heights will be discussed at a public meeting at the Iowa City Civic Center at 7:30 this evening.

Commission members from both municipalities will be presented to air questions concerning the proposed move.

At past meetings, commission members agreed that merging the two municipalities was a good move, but the question arose as to whether this is the correct time to pursue such an issue.

THE BASIC consolidation argument is that University Heights and Iowa City comprise one community with common interests.

Preliminary studies by the commission raised questions about how University Heights would benefit by the merger. Tax rates in University Heights are several mills

Ben Bella Accounting Due

ALGIERS (AP) — Algeria's Revolutionary Council announced Wednesday it will publish a white paper setting forth all "the black misdeeds" of deposed President Ahmed Ben Bella.

The announcement said the document would furnish proof that Ben Bella committed high treason, acted as "a self-willed, demagogic dictator," squandered public funds, sought to divide the nation's leaders and humiliated the ruling party, the National Front of Liberation.

$40 Nonresident Boost Mentioned

By JON VAN Editor

Requested increases in University tuition rates are expected to be considered for approval by the Board of Regents when they meet today at the Union.

Pres. Howard Bowen mentioned some of the proposed increases in an informal discussion with members of the Regents' policy committee at a meeting here Wednesday.

According to Bowen, most of the requested increases will apply to nonresident students — probably an increase of $40 a semester — although several minor fee adjustments will be requested which would affect all students.

A $10 fee for applications will be asked, for example, which would not be refundable. The final date for receiving a refund on the $50 admissions deposit now charged by the University would be moved from Aug. 1 to June 1 if the Board approves University proposals.

The application fee would earn money for the University, while the change in refund dates would primarily be to aid officials in estimating enrollment figures more accurately. Iowa fees for out-of-state students are slightly below the Big Ten average, the president told committee members, while fees for residents are slightly higher than average.

Both Iowa and Iowa State now charge less tuition for out-of-state graduate students than they do for out-of-state undergrads. SINCE grad instruction costs more than undergrad instruction, the case can be made that tuition should at least be equal, Bowen told committee members. On the other hand, residents of nearly any state can get a good undergraduate education without leaving the state. This is not true for graduate work.

"If a student wants to do graduate work in speech pathology," Bowen said, "he should come to Iowa, no matter where he lives."

The president also pointed out that federal funds finance many graduate instruction expenses; this would tend to justify allowing grad students to cross state lines without cost penalties.

The Regents can expect to hear more today than merely fee and budget matters.

DR. WALLACE JOHNSON, associate professor of operative dentistry, is scheduled to outline a plan for "intramural dentistry" before the Board today. Under this plan dentists on the University faculty would be allowed to spend part of their time using University equipment to see patients referred to them by other dentists.

According to Willard Boyd, dean of faculties, who outlined the plan in a committee meeting Wednesday, this plan would allow faculty members to keep their skills sharp and earn extra money on the side. Since patients would be seen only if they were referred from another dentist — or if they have no dentist — University officials say this plan would offer no competition to Iowa City dentists.

The College of Medicine now has a similar plan for doctors. A lawyer representing a group of Iowa City dentists (the Iowa City Dental Association) is scheduled to meet with the Regents Friday to discuss the proposed plan.

PRES. BOWEN told a Regents committee Wednesday that the plan should be viewed in perspective as part of a move to "make the College of Dentistry flower into an institution of the highest standing" comparable to the University's College of Medicine.

Regents Committee

University officials said some persons had turned down job offers on the dental faculty because Iowa does not have a dental practice plan in addition to regular teaching and clinical duties.

In a meeting of the Regents' building and budget committee Wednesday, action was delayed on location of a site for proposed low-cost dormitories.

Architects have recommended a block of land which would cost the University $250,000 to buy. Regent Jonathan Richards of Red Oak asked that the architects attend the next Regent meeting to explain why such an expensive piece of land is needed for a "low-cost" dormitory.

THE PROPOSED site is somewhere west of the County Court House and east of the river, south of Burlington Street. Exact location was not disclosed.

A proposal to set up an admissions committee for the College of Nursing similar to committees now functioning in law, medicine and dentistry was explained Wednesday to the policy committee and will be considered by the full Board today or Friday.

The purpose of the committee, according to Dean Boyd, would be to cut down the "mortality rate" for University nursing students.

No Conception Of Conception?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph D. Tydings (D-Md.) told a Senate hearing Wednesday there are a number of mothers of illegitimate children, on relief in Washington who "do not understand how the conception of a human being takes place."

"They don't even know about the birds and bees," he said, adding that while it seemed incredible he had learned it was true as a member of the Senate Committee on the District of Columbia.

Loss of Recognition Threatened —

Anti-Bias Rule May Catch Campus Greeks

By BILL SHERMAN Staff Writer

Some fraternities and sororities may lose University recognition when an anti-discrimination membership policy for all student organizations goes into effect here October 1.

Dr. Robert P. Boynton, associate professor of political science and chairman of the student organization subcommittee of the Committee on Student Life, said his organization has investigated incidents of possible discrimination on other campuses involving five fraternities or sororities with chapters here.

THE UNIVERSITY REGULATION, which was written into the Code of Student Life three years ago, says that by Oct. 1, 1965, "local student organizations must be able to exercise free choice of members on the basis of their merits as individuals without restrictions as to race, color, or national origin. Any organization unable to exercise such free choice will have its Certificate of Recognition revoked by the Committee on Student Life."

Boynton said this is a broad rule that applies not only to by-laws of all campus organizations but includes such things as gentleman's agreements and alumni pressure.

"Anything that restricts membership on the basis of race, creed, or national origin becomes official grounds for revoking University recognition," Boynton declared.

IF A FRATERNITY or sorority were denied University recognition it could not operate a chapter with University approved housing. All students under 21 must live in approved housing.

According to Boynton, a fraternity whose national organization shows evidence of discrimination could retain University recognition by disassociating itself with the national organization. Fraternities or sororities can operate with University recognition as independent local organizations, Boynton emphasized.

Dean M. L. Huit said the independent locals would have all the same privileges and obligations of national fraternities. These include membership in the University Inter-Fraternal Council.

"IF ANY CHAPTER loses University recognition because of activities of a national organization, they will be aided in every way possible to remain on campus," Boynton said.

"But," he added, "this is a state institution and therefore we can't justify supporting or recognizing organizations which violate Federal law, the Iowa constitution, rules of the Board of Regents and, most important, our sense of justice."

Sigma Chi fraternity is one organization currently being investigated by the student organization subcommittee. That fraternity recently received national press coverage when the chapter at Stanford was suspended by the national organization. The suspension took place in April, four days after a Negro student pledged the fraternity.

Harry V. Wade, national president of Sigma Chi, denied that the pledging was the reason for the suspension. But Stanford Sigma Chi members said they were suspended because of the pledging.

BOYNTON DECLINED to name the other four Greek organizations his subcommittee is investigating. However, he did say that fraternities and sororities seem to be the only organizations with chapters on this campus that are violating the anti-discrimination policy.

No action will be taken against Sigma Chi or any other fraternity or sorority until Oct. 1. At that time, if evidence of discrimination exists, this procedure will be followed to revoke University recognition;

Members of the student organization subcommittee will discuss the discrimination issue with members of the local organization. If the subcommittee members feel discrimination exists within the organization, they will recommend to the Committee on Student Life that University recognition be revoked.

A HEARING will then be held before the Committee on Student Life. After the hearing the committee will make a decision on the matter which will be forwarded to President Bowen for final action.

The student organization subcommittee is composed of three faculty members and two students. Members during the 1964-65 school year were: Boynton, Dean M. L. Huit, Dr. Milton E. Rosenbaum, associate professor of psychology, Sue Mockridge, A4, DeWitt, and Mike Schiavoni, A4, Burlington.

Dean Huit, Miss Mockridge, and Schiavoni are members of Greek organizations.

Members of the Committee on Student Life are appointed by Bowen. Allan D. Vestal, professor of law, chairman of the Committee on Student Life, appoints members to the Student Life subcommittees.

Radio Free Iowa

WEDNESDAY NIGHT'S summer symphony concert played excellent music to a sellout crowd. The crowd was sold out by the first of the week, and several disappointed music lovers had to stay home and listen to the concert on the radio.

In a few years similar concerts will be held before sell-out crowds in an auditorium. The auditorium concerts may play to 2,200, 2,500 or perhaps 3,000 or 3,500. It depends how big it is.

As University enrollment grows like missile plants in California, there is no question but what a capacity crowd of 1,500-1,600 at the Union today could fill a 3,000 plus seat auditorium tomorrow.

The difference between the proposed building of a small auditorium and the size we should have is the difference between 600 persons hearing a concert in person or on the radio.

Rules with teeth

WE ARE HAPPY TO hear that Prof. Boynton, head of the discrimination subcommittee of Committee on Student Life, intends to enforce the spirit as well as the letter of the CSL's anti-discrimination regulation which will take effect this fall.

The regulation stipulates that University organizations shall be able to exercise free choice of members without restrictions connected with race, color or national origin. Many Greeks on campus — this new ruling is aimed at Greeks — have believed that this ruling didn't really mean much.

So long as local Greek chapters didn't have any written restrictions of discrimination — or at least so long as they obtained a national waiver from such restrictions — it would be okay to pledge any white person around.

Prof. Boynton's interpretation of CSL's rule doesn't allow for loop holes, agreements and national pressure.

When a national fraternity, — Sigma Chi is the most recent — boots a local chapter somewhere in the country because of pledging a Negro, the Iowa chapter is going to be in trouble. If investigation shows there really is discrimination, the University regulation will be enforced.

Meaningless rules which deal only with by-laws, waivers and words are worse than no rules at all. It is encouraging to see that Iowa's rule is not intended to be meaningless.

Spending spree

THE EXCISE TAX CUT should bring on a spree for big time spenders (which means mainly ladies) and a boost in the economy — something economy seems to be in need of from time to time.

It is interesting to note that the Johnson Administration favors tax cutting as a tool of economy boosting. Actually it is easy to see why. It's relatively easy to get politicians to cut taxes (even for the sake of a deficit spending which many of them shun like Black Death).

Tax cutting is a quick way of giving the Gross National Product some pep since it puts money into the economy immediately.

There are a number of other reasons for LBJ's love of the tax slashing approach to economic policy, but they should not cloud his view of the country's real needs.

Tax cuts mean more money for consumer spending, but there is a limit as to how many new dresses, electric can openers and brands of detergent one woman needs to buy.

Eventually some of this stuff gets to be a bit much — at that point the economy should be boosted through school construction, highway widening projects and things like that. These projects are financed by taxes, so tax cuts don't aid them much.

It's harder to put public programs through Congress, and it takes longer for them to start sparking the economy. That's why the Administration should start pushing for more public works right now — while the economy rides the waves of the latest tax cut.

Walking on the Champs-Elysees—

Race for space ends in Gay Paree

By ART BUCHWALD

The decision by the President to send astronauts Edward White and Charles McDivitt to Paris, caught NASA officials in Houston by surprise. Although both men had orbited around the globe and one had even walked in space, no one knew how they would be able to stand up under the rigors of a full entertainment schedule in the French capital.

Medical authorities in charge of the space program voiced anxiety. One of the doctors said, "We hadn't planned on any American astronauts landing in Paris until 1967. We feel there was a great deal more to be learned before we were willing to risk the lives of these two men. Even preliminary trips around the United States by other astronauts have shown how hazardous it is for these men once they get back on the ground."

The belief here in Washington is that the President made his decision because the Russians had sent cosmonauts Titov and Gagarin to Paris and this put the Russians ahead of us in ground travel.

When the President gave his order, Houston went into action. Tracking stations all over Paris were alerted. A rescue helicopter squadron was sent to Orly airport, the carrier Wasp was anchored off Le Havre.

Although McDivitt and White had trained for this trip in various officer's clubs around the country, neither one of them knew what they would be up against in Paris.

While they were suited up at Andrews Air Force base, both men kidded with each other, but showed none of the anxiety they must have felt.

The blast-off went perfectly and the men reported into Gus Grissom that everything was A-Okay. "We're on target," White said, "and we can see the Eiffel Tower off two degrees to our left."

Grissom gave them permission to make a three-day orbit around Paris.

There was a slight scare early in the trip when the astronauts got into a traffic jam at the Arc de Triomphe, and the tracking stations lost them. But by using their retro-rockets they managed to get through.

A few hours later came the toughest part of the trip. The astronauts were instructed to rendezvous at the Lido night club and White was to take a walk on the stage while McDivitt filmed him in color.

The nation could hear every word they said.

SNCC cites need for citizen reaction

An Open Letter to Aroused Citizens:

There are three things happening in Washington and Mississippi that demand our immediate action.

President Johnson has just appointed J. P. Coleman to the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals. The Senate Judiciary Committee will soon begin hearings on this appointment.

As the former governor of Mississippi, Coleman signed into law the Mississippi State Sovereignty Commission, a government agency designed to insure that the power remains in the hands of white Mississippi. The Commission has underwritten the White Citizens Council to the tune of $195,000. At the present time Coleman is serving as attorney for the five challenged Mississippi Congressmen.

If the Senate confirms this appointment it will be a slap in the face not only to the disenfranchised Negroes of Mississippi, but to all Americans who believe in equality under the law. If the Senate refuses to confirm his appointment it will be saying that Congress will no longer tolerate the mockery of the democratic process in Mississippi.

Pressure put upon the clerk of the House by the Mississippi Congressmen has brought the Freedom Democratic Party challenge to a virtual standstill. At a June 4 meeting the clerk had promised to print all affidavits of voting discrimination gathered by FDP lawyers. This material constitutes the legal platform of the challenge. It appears that this clerk has reneged on his promise.

Write or telegraph your Senators urging them not to confirm Coleman's appointment and pressuring them to demand immediate printing of the depositions.

Last week well over 500 people were arrested while peacefully protesting the opening of a special session of the Mississippi Legislature in Jackson, Mississippi. Among those jailed were 33 people from Holly Springs, Miss. Reports regarding police brutality have been coming from the Volunteer Medical Committee and from people who have been released from jail. People who are sick and have been beaten must be helped out.

Mail donations can be sent to: SNCC Bail Fund, 360 Nelson SW, Atlanta, Ga. Bail loans of $100 or over can be sent to Mississippi Bail Fund, 100 Fifth Ave. No. 803, New York, N.Y.

These loans will be non-interest bearing and will be repaid at any time during the life of the fund, on a 30-day notice, in proportion to the amount of monies loaned which have not been allocated to bail. The Mississippi Bail Fund will be terminated Oct. 1, 1966, at which time all monies then in the fund will be returned on a prorated basis and monies tied up in bail will be returned to the lenders as it is received from the courts.

Yankee dates intrigue Reds

By FRED COLEMAN

LENINGRAD, U.S.S.R. — "What kind of job does your father have and how much money does he make," young Russians ask an American student bluntly, right after meeting him.

Later they might ask what Americans do on dates or how college exams work in America.

There were few political questions in nine months of study for the Russian-speaking American here.

"ONLY WHEN things got hot," one American student said.

"For example, when we started bombing North Viet Nam they would ask, 'Why?'"

There are only a handful of American students here for a year under the U.S.-Soviet cultural exchange program. All are fluent in Russian. The few contacted here moved relatively freely around Leningrad and thought their year of study and travel a valuable experience. Eased asked that his name not be used.

THEY GOT INTO Russian homes and found many were one-room apartments. Four families, each with a one-room flat, might share a kitchen and a bathroom.

American students rarely telephoned Russian friends at home. One student said the older generation was suspicious and afraid of its sons and daughters running around with Americans. But Americans did meet older Russians, too.

The older generation would talk about the war, an American said, but never about Stalin. To those too young to remember the dictator's terror, however, Stalin was sometimes a hero.

ONE AMERICAN said Russians now have better clothes and more consumer goods than before, but are far from satisfied. "They've had a taste of the good life and they want more, right now," he said.

The American Embassy in Moscow lists American students in Leningrad by college rather than by home town.

Among those in the 1964-65 academic year were: Miss Joan Aferica, Smith College; John Alexander, Indiana University; James Hassell, Cornell University; George Majeska, Indiana University; Gilbert McArthur, University of Rochester; Echeal Sigan, University of Chicago; William H. Chalsma, University of Washington; and Marshall Shtatz, Columbia University.

'Memoirs of Coxcomb' brightens cinema scene

To the Editor:

It is not an everyday occurrence that a truly great film is shown in this town. It is a once-in-a-lifetime event when one may not only see a truly great film in this town, but talk to the artist himself who produced it.

The name of S.O.B. DaMilz and risque 18th century English novels have been inseparable in the public's mind for the last two decades. And with good reason, as the venerable Mr. DaMilz has over 400 risque 18th century novels which he has converted into cinema to his film-making credit.

AFTER HIS last effort, "Confessions of an Eighteenth Century English Oakum Picker" met with dismal critical and box office approval several years ago, the name of DaMilz has faded considerably from the cinema scene. This year Mr. DaMilz put his name back on the map with another risque 18th century English novel film adaptation of the famous under-the-counter classic, "Gluteus Incline, Or, Memoirs of a Risque Eighteenth Century English Coxcomb" which is currently being shown at the Strand Theatre together with the co-hit, "Closed For The Summer."

Amazingly enough, it was at exactly this time that the North English American Legion decided

"How is it out there?" Grissom wanted to know. "Great," White said. "It's just beautiful up there. You've never seen anything like it."

"You dirty dog," McDivitt said, "you're clouding up my windshield."

"I think I'm losing control," White said.

"Your blood pressure seems to be rising," Grissom said anxiously.

"There's just too much to see at one time," White said. "I wish every American could be up here with me."

"You better get back now," McDivitt said.

"I'm having too much fun."

Grissom said, "That's an order, White," and White reluctantly left the stage. He said afterwards, "It was the happiest 20 minutes of my life."

When they were safely out of the night club, President Johnson put in a call to the men. "The nation is proud of both of you," he said. "How would you like to come down to the ranch when you come back?"

"We'd like that, sir."

"Fine, and be sure and bring those films with you."

© 1965 Publishers Newspaper Syndicate

to stage its very first Fine Arts Festival, held in conjunction with its annual pie-eating contest, and in addition to this, decided to fly Mr. DaMilz in from Hollywood to lecture on "The Future of the C-Movie and the Risque Eighteenth Century English Novel."

"Film making with me is not a profession; it's a compulsion."

THE INTERVIEWER then asked Mr. DaMilz why he first began making films, and what was the central message, if any, of all his work.

"The central theme of all my pictures is: the world contains evil forces and one must adjust to them. The answer to the first question can be found in a horrible traumatic experience I had in late adolescence which exposed me to evil in the world. I'll never forget it."

"My mother, as a birthday present, decided to treat me and my two best friends, Ed Bickford and Sam Royce, to a night on the town. It was around midnight and all four of us were sitting in the back of a Hollywood tavern when Ed Bickford decides that he's very hungry. Bickford didn't have much money left so he could either ask my mother for a loan and then have enough to choose between halibut fricasse or an egg roll, or be forced to buy a peanut butter and jelly sandwich with what he left of his own money.

JUST AS Bickford had finished asking my mother for a loan, my dear friend Sam Royce who had more to drink than any of us, said, "Excuse me, but I feel a little dizzy and I think I'm going to take a little nap."

Just as Royce finished saying this, he slumped down in the booth, and as he did so, his wallet was thrust half-way out of his coat pocket. What my mother did then was the thing that threw me out of innocence and exposed me to the evil in the world."

"What does your mother do?" asked the interviewer. "Leave," Bickford no choice?"

"No. Rolls Royce. I never realized before that there was evil in the world and in a way, I guess I've never gotten over it."

"WHAT CAN the public expect from you in the future?" asked the interviewer.

"Just loads more of those 18th century novel film adaptations, that always seem to be so popular."

"I'm toying with the idea of adapting 'The Risque Eighteenth Century Modern Library.' I think Rusty Warren might do a pretty fair job if she can get over the language problem. Anyway, I've always got my royalties. And with this his cigaret lighter sprang to life.

Swedes Cross Atlantic

Swedish boat builder Per-Erich Pech, and his wife, Syrene, and their son happily landed their 27-foot sailboat at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Tuesday, ending a tough 53-day Atlantic crossing from Africa. The trio in their motorless boat were buffeted by a 5-day storm and then detained for a day by armed soldiers when they pulled into a Dominican Republic port to rest. They plan sailing on to Boston where Pech plans to study boat construction. — AP Wirephoto

Weir To Join Jail Protest

Rev. William M. Weir, minister of the Iowa City Unitarian Society, will fly to Jackson, Miss., today, in connection with the alleged police brutality shown prisoners in that city.

Weir will join other religious leaders in Jackson to participate in showing concern over the prisoners' treatment.

He said he hopes to bring back some films and tape-recordings showing the conditions in Jackson.

Weir was asked to make the trip by the Unitarian-Universalist Association, he said. He plans to remain in Jackson about a week.

More than 800 demonstrators were arrested in Mississippi last week, according to reports received from the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party (MFDP) headquarters in Jackson.

About 200 women demonstrators were housed in the Jackson jail; the remaining prisoners were in a compound at the fair grounds, MFDP headquarters reported.

Congress was informed of the police brutality in Jackson Tuesday.

The demonstrators were protesting the composition of the membership of the special session of the state legislature now meeting in Jackson. In the name of MFDP, they maintained that the legislature was illegally constituted because of the broad denial in Mississippi of the right to vote.

Weir has been active in the MFDP's challenging of the Mississippi elections. He also took part in the demonstrations at Selma, Ala., last April.

Satellite Corp. Given Approval on Early Bird

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal communications commission cleared the way Wednesday for a space age milestone — commercial operation of the Early Bird communications satellite beginning next week.

The FCC authorized the Communications Satellite Corp. to operate the satellite, hovering over the Atlantic Ocean, in conjunction with its earth sending and receiving station at Andover, Maine.

lower than they are in Iowa City.

One of the strongest supporters of the program, University Heights Mayor Russell Ross says the millage rate for various services would make up much of the tax millage rate difference. The proposed 1966 budget for University Heights includes increased millage rates to cover the cost of more services to be purchased from Iowa City if the two municipalities do not merge.

INCLUDED ON THE proposed University Heights budget are six mills to purchase park and recreation service, and four mills to cover the cost of the library, cemetery, and airport. In previous years, University Heights has not purchased these services, but continued to use them free of charge.

Some University Heights residents oppose the proposed merger and have expressed a desire to pay a higher millage rate, thus retaining their own government and purchasing wanted services from Iowa City.

At the Merger Commission's June meeting members discussed what zoning changes might ensue from the move, as well as other possible changes.

Iowa City City Attorney Jay Honohan said that for areas surrounding University Heights, the Planning and Zoning Commission would endeavor to avoid any abrupt zoning changes. He noted that changes would be gradual with property either moving up or down the scale to the next zoning level.

IOWA CITY CITY Manager Carsten Leikvold pointed out that the city's public works department would be able to handle street cleaning, garbage removal and snow clearance in University Heights, with few adjustments. He said garbage would be picked up once each week, and that snow would be removed from University Heights as soon as possible after a snow fall.

Observers Dispute Trisection Claim

The trisection of an angle by Euclidean means is still an unsolved problem, according to a mathematics graduate student who has seen a construction that is alleged to be an accurate trisection.

The drawing was made by William Haney, a Blairtown science teacher. Haney has said that using Euclidean means — a compass and a straight edge — he can trisect any angle. Such a trisection has been considered impossible since the time of the ancient Greeks.

WEDNESDAY morning Haney presented his construction to about 60 interested persons, including professors and graduate students in mathematics and physics.

One of the graduate students, Mark Levin, Bettendorf, said afterwards that it was the consensus of the mathematicians present that Haney's proof of the construction was not valid.

The flaw, according to Levin, was that Haney assumed that three points used in the trisection lie on a straight line when they do not.

Levin said that Haney's proof was not complete and, therefore, not correct. If the trisection were proven, Levin continued, it would destroy mathematics.

HANEY said Wednesday afternoon that what he had was a construction of the trisection of an angle that someone else had described as exact. He said he knew the geometric proof was not perfect and that this was being worked on.

A professor of physics who was at the meeting commented, "Haney may very well have trisected an angle, but he may have violated Euclid's assumption that the ruler has no marks on it."

There are mathematical proofs, the professor said, that without any marks on the straight edge, the trisection is impossible. With any two marks, he added, the trisection of an angle could be done.

Church Heads Meeting Here

An institute for Lutheran pastors, which started Monday and ends Tuesday is currently meeting at the University.

The institute, sponsored jointly by the Board of Theological Education of the Lutheran Church of America and the Central Lutheran Theological Seminary, Fremont, Neb., is designed to deepen the professional knowledge of the pastors.

Speakers at the week-long conference include University members George Forell, professor of religion, and David Belgium, associate professor of religion; Wesley J. Fuerst, professor at Central Theological Seminary and Francis K. Wagaschal, chaplain at Waterloo Lutheran University, Waterloo, Ontario, Canada.

Coordinator of the institute is Rev. C. Theodore Molen, assistant pastor of the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church in Iowa City.

Green Trees Group's Aim

"We're trying to maintain an island of green in Iowa City," said Edward L. Bailey, city park director. Bailey proposed to the city Wednesday that the Neighborhood Youth Corps program be continued through the fall and winter to help the city dispose of diseased elm trees in the annexation area.

"This could help bring the annexation area up to the city's standards in tree sanitation and removal," Bailey declared.

There are currently 40 youths between the ages of 16 and 20 in the program, doing park beautification work for the city through the summer. There are no funds at the present time to extend the program.

The project is part of the federal government's "War on Poverty" program and is financed almost entirely from federal funds.

Midwestern Power Report Impending

Congressmen from 10 Midwest states will receive a progress report on the Mid-Continent Area Power Planners (MAPP) accomplishments in a series of meetings currently being held in Washington.

According to James E. Stewart, district manager of Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company, this report will cover the status of 3,350 miles of high-voltage electric transmission lines and seven new electric generating units totalling more than 2.1 million kilowatts of capacity.

The MAPP organization is coordinating, planning and constructing several billion dollars worth of new electric generation and transmission facilities in the Midwest and in Manitoba province, Canada.

Among the facilities to be constructed in the near future is a 345,000-volt line which will extend 520 miles from Minneapolis, Minn., to Hills, just south of Iowa City, and on to St. Louis, Mo.

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Medical Association's policy-making body put off until Thursday any official attempt to decide the question: Should member doctors be urged to boycott Medicare?

Cops Learn New Tricks

New methods of investigation are among the topics being studied by some 70 Iowa law enforcement officers at the annual Peace Officer Short Course currently meeting at the University.

The short course schedule includes daily classes, special lectures, demonstrations, and films, covering such areas as new Iowa laws, the use of new weapons and ammunition, and crowd and riot control.

The short course is sponsored by the University Bureau of Police Science in cooperation with the College of Law. Assistance is given also by the Iowa Department of Public Safety, the Attorney General's Office, the Iowa State Sheriff's Association, the Iowa Association of Chiefs of Police and Peace Officers, and the Iowa State Police-men's Association.

The workshop, which started Monday, will end Friday.

New Pads for '66

1966 is the year that two new additions to the dormitory system will be completed, one for the boys and one for the girls.

For the guys an addition to Quadrangle dormitory will be built directly in front of the present Quadrangle.

The structure will tower 13 stories and will cost $2.4 million. It will house 523 men.

The main floor of the new dorm will have accommodations for 29 men in 15 rooms. In addition there will be recreation facilities, offices, a main lounge and lobby.

The main area of residence will be on the above 11 floors. On each floor there will be 20 double rooms, one double with a bath, a single room, and a floor lounge. Each will have accommodations for 45 men.

The thirteenth floor will house a library, a music appreciation room, and several music practice rooms.

The new addition will be named Rienow Hall for the first dean of students.

According to Jerry Burke, assistant director of Hillcrest, the building plan will be similar to Hillcrest. The main differences are that the predominance of double rooms and a top floor of special rooms.

The dormitory for the girls will be a 563-bed addition to Currier Hall. The addition, a 10-story structure, will cost $2.5 million. The rooms will be patterned after the rooms in Burge Hall, according to Miss Patricia Philpott, Currier house operations manager.

Of the Currier appropriation, $200,000 will be used to remodel the kitchen and service area where all residents will eat this fall. The remodeling is to be done when the dorms start serving meals on September 21, said Miss Dorothy Leslie, assistant director of Women's Residence Halls.

IKE TO SPEAK—WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will address a luncheon meeting of the Republican National Committee Monday, National Chairman Ray C. Buss announced Wednesday.

Bliss said the Eisenhower speech will be a highlight of a two-day meeting of the committee

Dubuque's Square To Honor Kennedy Seeks 2nd Access

AMES (AP)—A delegation from Dubuque, representing the proposed Kennedy Square shopping center, appeared before the Iowa Highway Commission Wednesday seeking an additional access to their commercial development.

The group asked the commission to notify the city's planning and zoning commission in writing that the commission make a study of the situation.

The proposed center would include 17 shops, three large department stores, two supermarkets, a drugstore and a variety store. It would be located one mile west of a recently developed shopping center.

The area at the west edge of Dubuque has been annexed by the city.

English Classes Find One Home for Fall '66

What used to be the north end of the University Library parking lot is now under the huge steel frame of one of the University's newer constructions.

This is the site of the new English building. The building will house all the classrooms and offices of the English department now sharing space in University Hall. It is scheduled for completion in the fall of 1966.

The modern construction will be in the shape of an off-center "T". The offices will be in the 6-story top wing of the "T" near the river. The classrooms will be in the 5-story base wing of the "T".

The top floor of the building will also be used for the Center of Modern Letters. The center has been organized by the English Department to group together all work in literature, criticism and writing. Included here will be Writer's Workshop, composition, translation and contemporary literature.

According to John Gerber, head of the English Department, $2 million has been appropriated for the building's completion. A special grant of $300,000 was recently received from the federal government since part of the building will be used for graduate work.

The new building will relieve the cramped quarters that now exist in University Hall. "We've been in nine different buildings. For the first time, we'll be under one roof," Gerber said.

5 Students In Rockies For Studies

Five students are enrolled in the summer field course in Rocky Mountain geology at the Indiana University Geologic Field Station in Montana.

The course began June 12 with a motor caravan from the University in Bloomington to the Station, with study of geologic features along the route. The Station is located in the Tobacco Root Mountains, in an area with a great variety of geological features.

Sixty students from 30 universities and colleges are enrolled in the course.

The five students are: Mark A. Sholes, A4, Center Point; Harley J. Knebel, A4, Riverside; Jo S. Drechsler, A4, Iowa City; John E. Price, A4, Clinton; and David E. Smit, G, Hinsdale, Ill.

2 Workshops Added to List

MUSIC WORKSHOP

Some 30 teachers and administrators are attending a workshop on the teaching of general music in the junior and senior high schools, which started Monday and will end Friday. The workshop will include special sessions on school choral music.

Eva Mae Struckmeyer, supervisor of junior high school music in the public schools of Wausau, Wis., is the workshop leader. The program will include discussion of song materials, the changing voice of the teen-age student, classroom organization and curriculum planning and will feature demonstrations with junior high students.

Prof. Neal E. Glenn of the music faculty is director of the workshop, which is being sponsored by the School of Music, the College of Education and the Division of Extension and University Services.

PE WORKSHOP

In other workshop action, some 40 teachers are attending a Workshop in Physical Education for the Elementary School which also started Monday and ends Friday.

The workshop program will feature new activities for children of elementary school age, information concerning motor development and the planning of a progression of skills and observation of children taking part in creative activities.

Joan Tillotson, instructor in physical education, is director of the workshop. Lecturers will include Bradley Loomer, principal of the Elementary School and William Van Atta, an assistant professor of physical education for men.

Art Student Wins Sidewalk Show

Dan Wood, A4, Fort Dodge, won the top prize in the Fort Dodge Sidewalk Art Show held Monday. His winning entry was a still life oil painting of gourds done in blues and greens. Wood's painting was purchased by the Fort Dodge Chamber of Commerce for its display.

Wood will receive his B.A. in August and will be teaching art in Carson and Treynor. He exhibited about ten other works in the show, including drawings, water colors, oil and ceramics.

WAY OUT FRONT IN THIS EVENT!

America's standing in the world is something we all think about. So it's good to know that our nation is way out front in a very important measure of strength — electric power.

Take the top six nations of the world ranked in terms of the electricity they produce. The U.S.A. heads the list, with more electric power than the other five combined. And we have more than 2 1/2 times as much as the Soviet Union.

Why are we so far out front?

You are one of the reasons—your interest in new things... your desire to live in a more satisfying way... your plans for the future! This helps spur every business onward, including more than 300 American, investor-owned electric light and power companies — like Iowa-Illinois.

It is not by chance that Americans enjoy the greatest abundance of electricity in the world. The wants and wishes of people—provided for by business management working in a free economy — make a winning combination.

This way of doing the job assures you of plenty of dependable, low-priced gas and electric service now and in the years to come.

As the rain comes down, cars are marshalled on the starting grid for the beginning of the President's Cup race held last Sunday at Elkhart Lake, Wisconsin. In the upper picture, Texan Jim Hall is shown discussing strategy with his teammate Hap Sharp (in car) after it was announced that the race would be shortened from 160 miles to 80 miles due to bad weather conditions. Hall won the race in his rear-engine Chaparral, which features an automatic transmission. Sharp, who was co-winner (with Hall) of the 1965 Sebring 12-Hours Race in April, was forced out early in the race when a car spun out in front of him and he damaged his car taking avoiding action. The President's Cup race, for modified sports cars, was the feature event of the annual June Sprints racing weekend at the four mile Elkhart Lake course. — Photos by Bob Baron

Cassius Wants His Marriage Declared Void

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cassius Clay asked a court Wednesday to declare void his 10-month marriage to a one-time model, complaining that she broke a promise to convert to his Muslim faith.

The 23-year-old heavy weight champion who has been a Muslim since he won the Olympic title in 1960 filed the suit as "Muhammad Ali, also known as Cassius Clay."

He said 26-year-old Sonji Clay promised to adhere to Muslim prohibitions against tobacco, whiskey and facial makeup and Muslim requirements that "all female adherents cover their bodies with floorlength dresses of plain and simple design."

"On numerous occasions, defendant would leave plaintiff's abode only to return with renewed avowals that she had converted to the Islamic faith . . . and in fact defendant had no intention to so convert," said the complaint, filed in circuit court.

It was an argument over one of those "plain and simple" floor-length dresses that finally broke them up.

Clay, who could not be reached for further comment, did not say whether he had divorced Sonji according to the Muslim code, which requires only that the husband tell his wife face to face, "I divorce you. I divorce you. I divorce you."

BEGIN INTERVIEWS—

GRAND FORKS, N.D. (AP) — The University of North Dakota Athletic Board of Control Wednesday began personal interviews with candidates for the vacant football line coaching position.

At Wimbledon— Ralston Advances

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Dennis Ralston, no longer bothered by his sore thumb and likewise undisturbed by slippery courts and cold blustery winds, breezed into the third round of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships Wednesday with a 6-3, 6-2, 6-2 victory over Roger Leclercq, France's No. 4 player.

Ralston played without a bandage on the thumb he strained last Friday. Delayed by intermittent rains until the light was beginning to fade on a cold evening, Ralston was the complete master of the left-handed Frenchman. Leclercq had a good serve but that was about all he had to offer.

The victory clearly established the 22-year-old Bakersfield, Calif., star as America's chief hope at Wimbledon. He is seeded only fourth, here, although he's No. 1 in the U.S. rankings, but many observers think he has a better chance against Australia's aces than third-seeded Jan Erik Lundquist of Sweden.

Australia's defending champion, Roy Emerson, also moved up with a straight-set victory, beating veteran Mike Sangster of Britain 6-5, 6-3, 6-2. Margaret Smith of Australia, the women's singles favorite, won an easily, beating Mrs. Maria Leyrer of Austria 6-0, 6-1.

Others moving into the third round were U.S. college champion Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., and 18-year-old Cliff Richey of Dallas, both winners over French Davis Cup players, sixth-seeded John Newcombe of Australia and fifth-rated Wilhelm Bungert of Germany.

Dempsey Is 70, And Still Magic

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Dempsey still is a magic name.

When the boys gather Thursday to help the old Manassa Mauler celebrate his 70th birthday, there will be old tales told, old memories rekindled and old names remembered.

Babe Ruth will be hitting home runs again. Bobby Jones will be splitting the fairways. Red Grange will be dancing past tacklers. But, most of all, Gene Tunney will be getting the long count and Jack Dempsey once again will be losing his chance to win back the world heavyweight boxing title.

It has been 38 years since that September evening in Chicago when Tunney rested while the referee tried to get Dempsey into a neutral corner.

Dempsey and Tunney are old friends now. In fact, Gene probably will be present at the party:

Sportsmanship is the clearest and most basic expression of morals, Prof. James Keating of the DePaul University Department of Philosophy, said in a lecture given at the Men's Physical Education Colloquium Wednesday evening.

Keating gave his lecture, entitled "Sportsmanship as a Moral Category," in the Union River Room. About 250 students and members of the Physical Education Department faculty attended the lecture.

Keating said that the experts on sportsmanship tended toward two extremes; either they thought of sportsmanship as the ultimate in morality or they regarded it as a moral minimum.

Those who think of sportsmanship as a moral maximum think of it as a display of generosity, civility, co-operation and a desire for excellence, Keating said.

On the other hand, he said, the experts who call it a moral minimum say that it is a predetermined set of values, agreed upon by both sides, beyond which sport cannot go in its imitation of warfare.

Keating said he thought sports-
