

Okay $92.5 Million Budget

DES MOINES — A total budget of $92,528,370 for 1965-66 was approved by the Board of Regents Friday for all operations run by the University of Iowa.

About 40 per cent of the total was appropriated by the 61st General Assembly for support of the general University and the Medical Center units it maintains.

The remaining $54 million represents a number of self-supporting activities directly related to the educational program (such as dormitory operations), grants and earnings, workshop and other special program operation, and a number of "internal" transactions involving payments by University departments to other departments for services such as mimeographing, data processing, etc.

PRES. HOWARD BOWEN briefly outlined the contents of the University's "green book" line budget — which is about four inches thick — to Board members before they approved it. He said he considers it "a great milestone" for the University to have made third place in average faculty salaries based on a comparison of other universities in the 12-state midwest area.

He said the University will add about 80 new faculty members to its staff this year.

The budget represents a $4.5 million increase for University operations — about 20 per cent more than last year.

"Although this is a tight budget," Bowen told the Regents, "it represents some genuine strengthening of the University's programs."

BESIDES THE faculty salary increases, the new budget also provided for non-faculty salary hikes and half a million new books for University libraries. Bowen said enough money has been set aside from the legislature's two-year appropriations to all next year's University budget to also provide healthy pay raises.

Budgets for the five health services units for 1965-66 will total $18,396,831.

The units are: University Hospitals, $13,578,863 (up $1,486,938 from 1964-65); Psychopathic Hospital, $1,800,783 (up $211,063); the State Sanatorium at Oakdale $1,349,646 (up $52,186); the State Bacteriological Laboratory $594,504 (up $98,529); and the Hospital School, $1,073,035 (up $129,855).

The health service units are supported by a combination of appropriated funds and fee earnings.

During the next two years the University will also budget $9,817,000 in funds appropriated by the legislature for new buildings and additions, utilities and the equipping of other structures. Federal and other "matching" funds will add materially to the value of such construction during that period, according to University officials.

Negroes Heed Pleas, Delay Rights March

Bogalusa Mayor Asks Lull To Ease Tension In Wake of Shooting

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — Negro leaders bowed to urgent pleas from the mayor and the governor Friday and suspended civil rights marches through racially troubled Bogalusa for the time being.

"There will be no march today and tomorrow," A. Z. Young told Negro youths massed for a march. "We will abide by the city's request." He hinted at a possible march Sunday.

The town's 36-man police force, backed up by 200 state policemen, kept an uneasy peace here, where a white man was shot and seriously wounded Thursday when he attacked Negroes during a protest march.

YOUNG, PRESIDENT of the Bogalusa Civic and Voters League, promised his followers, "We will not sell you out. We will not sell you short."

His announcement followed a City Hall conference with Mayor Jesse Cutrer and State Police Supt. Tom Burbank.

At a news conference in Baton Rouge, Gov. John McKeithen said he, too, had appealed to Voters League officials to suspend demonstrations.

McKeithen said he would dispatch more state police to this troubled southeast Louisiana mill town if need be. But he said he has no plans to use the National Guard.

VICTIM OF Thursday's shooting, Alton D. Crowe Jr., of Pearl River, La., was listed in satisfactory condition at a New Orleans hospital.

A pistol slug is lodged in the right side of his chest. Surgery has been delayed.

Two Negroes were held at an undisclosed jail for investigation of aggravated battery. They were identified as Henry Austin, 21, and Milton Johnson, 26, both of Bogalusa. Police said Austin admitted firing the shots.

Witnesses said the shooting came after Crowe attacked the Negroes who were helping an injured girl marcher into a car. The girl had been struck by a brick.

The shooting was the first serious incident here since last month when a Negro deputy sheriff was slain from ambush.

Ike, Nixon May Attend Hoover Birthday Rites

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and possibly former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will come to West Branch Aug. 10 for the 91st birthday anniversary ceremony for Herbert Hoover.

Nixon will be the featured speaker at the ceremony. Eisenhower has been invited to introduce Nixon but there has been no official confirmation of this acceptance yet, according to James Harper who is in charge of anniversary arrangements for the West Branch Heritage Foundation.

Other invited dignitaries include Gov. Harold Hughes, Sens. Bourke B. Hickenlooper and Jack Miller and Rep. John R. Schmitz. As yet no replies had been received from any of them, said Harper. Hoover's two sons, Allan and Herbert Jr., also are expected to attend.

Harper also said other dignitaries would be invited but he could not release their names at this time.

A luncheon for the dignitaries will be held in the Herbert Hoover Elementary School Gym. Tentative plans include a program on the Presidential Library grounds at 2 p.m.

A commemorative stamp honoring Hoover will be issued by the Post Office Department the same day. It will be the first time that a first-issue stamp has been made from the West Branch Post Office during the library program.

Strauss Attacks Calendar Banning

The refusal of the city council to appropriate funds for calendar books to be sent to local teachers on the grounds that it would be "religious information" was attacked today by Human Rights Commission Chairman Simeon Strauss.

Strauss said the calendar books, which note the origin of national and religious holidays, "not by the largest stretch of the imagination could be construed as religious."

The council voted 3-2 Tuesday night against allocating the funds. Councilmen James H. Nesmith, Max Yocum, and Mayor Richard W. Burger voted against the request, and councilmen William C. Hubbard and William K. Maas voted for the funds.

Hubbard said he felt the dissemination of material about religious and ethnic groups was the job of the commission according to the ordinance that set it up.

Senate Approves Voting Bill

THE HOUSE, SPURRED BY SOUTHERN VOICES supporting the measure, passed a bill Friday night designed to sweep away the last resistance to Negro voting in the deep South.

This sent the legislation, a major follow-up to last year's sweeping Civil Rights Law, to a Senate - House conference committee to work out a compromise. The Senate passed a somewhat different version May 26.

Seven Southern states — Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Georgia, South Carolina, Virginia and parts of North Carolina — would have their voting-rights literacy tests suspended under the House bill. Federal officials could be sent in to register Negroes.

The bill also outlaws poll taxes in state and local elections, a provision that could lead to difficulties with the Senate in working out a final version of the legislation. The Senate refused to ban poll taxes, but would subject them to a quick court test.

High Level Russian Official Missing

A MEMBER OF THE SOVIET UNION'S TOP COMMAND was missing Thursday and Friday, without public explanation, from a session of the Supreme Soviet — Parliament — of the Russian Federated Republic.

The missing official is premier of that republic, the Soviet Union's largest, and, more important, a member of the top-level Community party Presidium. He is Gennady I. Voronov, who rose to prominence in the era of Nikita Khrushchev. Voronov's last reported public appearance was June 4.

President Holds Press Conference

PRESIDENT JOHNSON PREDICTED FRIDAY that the war in Viet Nam "will get worse before it gets better." He said more American troops will be sent there beyond the 75,000 already announced.

Johnson went over the Vietnamese situation — "I have neither a rosy nor a gloomy report," he said — with newsmen at his White House office before flying off for a weekend at his Texas ranch.

The diminishing Dominican crisis — Johnson seemed encouraged about that — Europe's Common Market troubles, the balance of payments and U.S. finances got some attention at the informal 23-minute news conference.

But with the President's appointment of Henry Cabot Lodge to succeed Maxwell D. Taylor as ambassador to South Viet Nam and the guerrillas' stepup of their monsoon offensive, both Johnson and the several-score reporters crowded about his desk focused mainly on the great Southeast Asian problem.

Marine Force Crushes Viet Assault Unit

Air Force Jets Make Deepest Penetration Into Reds' Territory

SAIGON, North Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines rushed to the rescue of a Vietnamese naval headquarters overrun by the Viet Cong on An Hoa Island Friday and a spokesman announced they crushed the assault force in bloody fighting.

Thirty-eight U.S. Air Force planes made the deepest penetration of North Viet Nam with a raid on an ammunition depot at Yen Boy, 75 miles northwest of Hanoi and a similar distance south of Red China's frontier.

AMERICAN paratroopers and their Australian and Vietnamese allies in a 2,500-man task force wound up their second and most successful combined operation against the Viet Cong in the D-Zone jungle and pulled back to their base at Bien Hoa, 12 miles northeast of Saigon.

The announcement of 16 American combat deaths brought the toll in Viet Nam since December 1961 to 489.

These were highlights in a day of heavy activity.

THE MARINES dashed in amphibious vehicles from their Chu Lai beachhead to break up the Red operation on nearby An Hoa Island, which sprawls like a three-limbed crab off the coast 345 miles northeast of Saigon. The spokesman gave these details:

The Viet Cong had slain at least 18 men — 16 Vietnamese of the coastal junk force and two U.S. naval advisers attached to the naval headquarters. A U.S. Navy destroyer cruised close to see that the raiders did not escape by sea.

The Marines encircled and stormed the shattered headquarters. They killed eight Viet Cong and captured 16. Fifty-two other men were rounded up as suspects. Marine losses were three killed and 11 wounded.

The air strike against the ammunition depot at Ye Bao, made in two 19-plane flights 10 minutes apart, put the American pilots temporarily over two communications links between North Viet Nam and Red China — the Rouge River and the Hanoi-Kunming railroad.

No Raises Given For Summer Term

University faculty members teaching summer school did not get raises as of July 1 when the majority of University employees received a pay hike under appropriations approved Friday by the State Board of Regents.

According to Wayne R. Pietsch, head of personnel records, most faculty members teaching summer school on a nine-month basis will receive one thirty-sixth of their nine-month salary for each week they teach summer school.

Measure Similar To House Version

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed Friday night a historic bill to establish a comprehensive program for 19 million Americans over 65 and to raise all present Social Security benefits.

The vote was 68 to 21.

The bill, most far-reaching extension of Social Security since the original act was passed 30 years ago, was sent to conference with the House. That branch passed its version, 313 to 115, on April 8.

Democratic leaders expect to start the conference sessions Tuesday or Wednesday and put the legislation into final form by late next week.

The senate version is estimated to carry about $7.5 billion in additional benefits for the first full year of operation, compared with about $6 billion for the House measure.

Dozens of amendments were offered and a few minor ones were adopted. But the Democratic leadership had no trouble repulsing all Republican efforts to block or make major changes in the administration bill.

Most past bills which made their way even part way through Congress dealt mainly with hospital care under the Social Security system.

The nearest thing to a major change came when the bill's managers reversed themselves and accepted an amendment by Sen. Vance Hartke (D-Ind.), putting an unlimited hospitalization feature into the bill.

Under the bill as it came to the floor, a patient under the basic plan would be entitled to 60 days of hospital care per spell of illness for which he would pay a $40 deductible, and an additional 60 days for which he would pay $10 of the cost of each day.

UNDER HARTKE'S amendment, the additional days beyond the original 60 could continue indefinitely, but with the patient still paying $10 a day.

The House made substantial additions to the health program as submitted by Johnson this year, but he strongly endorsed its version.

Both House and Senate bills contain these programs designed to take care of most of the health needs of Americans over 65 as a matter of right:

1. A basic plan financed under Social Security covering hospital stays, post-hospital nursing-home care, out-patient hospital diagnostic services, and home health visits.

2. A voluntary, supplemental insurance plan covering doctors' fees for services at home, in the office or the hospital, as well as other services not included in the basic plan.

Both versions would increase all present Social Security payments 7 per cent for 20 million present beneficiaries under the retirement, survivor and disability programs. These would be retroactive to Jan. 1.

New President Elected—

Regents Enjoy Busy Day

By JON VAN Editor

DES MOINES — The first meeting of a brand new Board of Regents was packed with activity Friday.

Four new Regents, along with five veterans, elected a new president of the Board, saw a two hour slide show on University of Iowa campus planning, approved a site for a new low-cost dormitory in Iowa City, welcomed the dean of Iowa newscasters as a faculty member of Iowa State and generally got acquainted with the rigors of running Iowa's state schools. They even finished their meeting early.

The day started with the announcement that Ned E. Perrin, a farmer from Mapleton, would replace John Oberhausen as the fourth Republican on the Board.

Board business opened with the election of a president. Mrs. Joseph Rosenfield, Des Moines Democrat, declined the nomination and put the name of Stanley Redeker before the Board. The Boone Republican was the unanimous choice.

Iowa State Pres. Robert Hilton broke into routine Board business about 10:30 to ask its approval of a new faculty member. He explained it was difficult to keep the name away from the press.

With Board permission he then announced that Jack Shelley, long-time news director of WHO radio and television would start this fall as an associate professor in broadcast journalism at Iowa State.

The rest of the morning and part of the afternoon was spent listening to two representatives of Sasaki & Associates, the architectural firm charged with campus planning at the University of Iowa.

John Adelberg, one of the representatives, said his firm is planning on the assumption that the University will grow to 30,000 students in the next 15 to 20 years and that much of the increase will be in graduate enrollment.

The architects explained their plan involves providing a basic "teaching core" which would encompass the Pentacrest and areas south of Burlington Street. Outside this "core" — within which a student could walk from classes at opposite ends of the core during the 10-minute class breaks — there will be other University areas, such as a "research area" around East

Hall (teaching would be removed from that area).

Iowa's long range plan also provides for a physical plant area, a medical center, a life science center and several other clusters removed from the central teaching core.

Adelberg said his firm's plans call for much University expansion south of Burlington Street because that's about the only place where the University can still acquire land.

The architect's demonstration, which consisted primarily of charts, tables, drawings and pictures shown with a slide projector, included plans for rerouting traffic away from the proposed teaching core, building parking ramps for 8,000 more staff automobiles (5,600 east of the river and 2,400 west of the river), 5,000 more parking space for students, riverbank landscaping, and several "recreation centers" for decentralized dormitories.

Adelberg said the Iowa River and Iowa City's skyline are two main assets which should be fully utilized in making the campus beautiful. He called Hillcrest dormitory "an example of how not to build a building along the river." He praised Iowa's new Zoology building and said his firm hopes to get more structures of this sort on campus.

The only Board action required after the planathon was completed was an okay for a 600-unit low cost dorm site catty-corner from the southwest edge of the County Courthouse.

Regent Jonathan Richards, who had questioned the cost of the site in June, made a motion to buy the site, but not to commit the Regents to the Sasaki plan or to limiting the size of the new dorm to 600 beds. The Regents unanimously passed the motion.

With dorms and planning polished off, the Regents approved Iowa's 1965-66 budget in a matter of minutes, finished its routine business, and adjourned into executive session to reconsider the question of raising salaries for presidents of the two state universities.

The public part of the meeting — finished well before 3:30 — was some sort of record for speed, and all in a one-day meeting. Next month the Board will go to its usual schedule of two-day meetings, Aug. 12-13.

Nonpartisan outfit

GOV. HAROLD HUGHES commented to newsmen earlier this week on the troubles he has filling positions on state boards and agents without breaking Iowa's many laws.

It seems the governor had in mind a replacement for Dubuque Regent John Oberhausen, whom he recently appointed judge.

The man the governor had in mind would have made an excellent Regent, he said, but there was one drawback. Oberhausen is a Republican. Although his would-be replacement has been a Republican for the last 20 years, he switched affiliation for the last election (as did several voters).

Iowa law requires the Board of Regents be appointed on a political basis. Since five democrats have already been appointed to the nine man Board, a technical democrat cannot fill the vacant seat.

A law passed by the last Legislature removes the political restriction (and many others) from application to employees of the Board known formerly as the Finance Committee. It is unfortunate the Legislature didn't go a step farther and cut the political restrictions on Board members themselves.

We cannot recall an instance when any decision made by the Board was split along party lines, or when partisan politics cropped up in any Board discussion. Regents are not elected politicians. They are concerned about the education of Iowa's young people, not in the votes of their parents.

Gov. Hughes' reference to the party affiliation requirement for Regents was the first political reference we've heard regarding the Board for some time. It was probably also the last.

President needed

JOHN GLENN did it, Ronald Reagan did it, and speculation has it that Forest Evashevski may do it. The strange and often unpredictable world of politics has taken a great liking recently to men whose big names were made outside the political arena.

And now, even Jean-Paul Sartre may forsake his role of commentator for that of participant. La France, always it seems in need of new leaders, is holding a presidential election this year, and so far the Communist faction is without a candidate. Sartre, who is not a Communist, has been mentioned as a top-ranking prospect.

M. Sartre supposedly has been following the Red party line closely in recent years, all of which apparently makes him a front runner.

Should Sartre accept the honor of being the Communist party's representative at the French polls, it would be a boon to literary enthusiasts at least. And should he be elected, who knows but what France's whole national concept of existence might be affected.

"There seems to be a trampoline down there"

'Man on Moon' is full of fun

By NICK MEYER
Iowan Reviewer

Movies, as some people have no doubt already noticed, can do some pretty terrific things. It is seldom, however, that their creators allow their imaginations to run riot. They are content to photograph best-sellers, approaching them with great reverence but not much daring, and the same can be said of the usual treatment given a hit play. (It always comes out looking like a hit play.) But every so often the movie people get together and film a book which really cries out for cinematic treatment because there are things about the book which are wonderfully visual.

THERE'S NO telling how far you can go with science fiction classics. Walt Disney's version of "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea" was a film masterpiece, as was the movie George Pal made of H. G. Wells' "War of the Worlds." Playing at the Varsity now is a wonderful adaptation of another H. G. Wells classic, "The First Men in the Moon."

In an age that has grown up with astronauts and spaceships, imagine how difficult it would be to perform with authority this wildly improbable story of Wells. His travelers, using a mysterious substance which cuts off all gravity beneath it, arrive on the moon, and what is more, discover civilization living beneath the lunar surface.

Nevertheless, this Columbia-Charles Schneer production succeeds in spellbinding completely. It is an engrossing and exciting film, which somehow goes down without choking the viewer on its improbability. CREDIT RUNS rampant in many directions: First, to Nathan Juran, who approached the film with reverence, (but not cowardice), and managed to get convincing performances out of all his actors, and some very exciting ones, too. THEY HAVE very wonderfully made the whole adventure into a flash-back, which begins when a U.N. rocket finally lands on the moon for presumably the first time in history, and finds, of all things, a tattered Union Jack.

The sets are marvelous and beautiful, the costumes are worthy of high praise, and I'm tempted to say the camera work is out of this world. Not only were the moon shots exceptional, but also those of the colorful English countryside in the year 1899.

FINALLY, the actors. Lionel Jeffries does a very wonderful job as the excitable scientist, Cavor, and manages to get away with the old line: "We can't go, there's so much to learn here!" and make it sound as if you've never heard it before. Edward Judd is a fine hero, (Bedford), being not only handsome, but able to act as well.

One of the most difficult things for an actor to do is to convince his audience of something happening that is completely beyond the realm of possibility. (eg. monsters on the moon). "First Men on the Moon" is a whale of a lot of fun and as such, I recommend it.

Mayer sparks 'Rehearsal'

By PAUL THORSON
Iowan Reviewer

Jean Anouilh, the contemporary French playwright, is as the program notes inform us, "a master of dramatic form, epigrammatic pungency, and a precision of thought unmatched in the theatre since Shaw." He is also a bit of a sentimentalist, with a penchant for melodrama that occasionally gets out of hand. The summer repertory theatre production of "The Rehearsal," directed by David Knauft, reflects all of these qualities, but intelligent direction and some fine acting combine to emphasize the play's substantial virtues while minimizing its defects.

The most striking thing about the production, and one that goes a long way toward establishing a willing suspension of disbelief, is its overall atmosphere of civilized charm and grace. Everything contributes to this impression - the set, costumes, lighting, the actors' speech and mannerism - supporting the somewhat fantastic but credible world created by Anouilh.

Even the translation works well, rendering the polished flourishes of gallic elegance into a smooth and believable English equivalent. AS A RESULT, the characters emerge with depth and dimension, allowing us to become involved enough in their lives to care about what happens to them. Without this identification, the characters become caricatures whose fate is of little concern to the audience as it is to themselves.

Having once established the solidity and credibility of the milieu and the protagonists, the play can go on to reveal the emptiness and sadness behind the facade of the beau monde - the lost or twisted values, the cruelties and betrayals. For the story is essentially one of betrayal, a multiple betrayal of love, friendship, and self. A crime is committed against the heart, but it remains "an elegant, sophisticated crime," rendering it all the more real and terrible.

Mr. Gillette's thoughtfully designed setting provides a level of quiet good taste that is consistently observed in the decor. Flanking panels of elegant filigree frame a spacious drawing room appropriately furnished and decorated, with flair rather than flamboyance. The costumes, by Margaret Hall, seem to me exactly what persons of taste and means would choose to show themselves to advantage. The device of shedding the powdered wigs early in the proceedings beautifully establishes the ambivalence of a twentieth-century drama being enacted in a Louis XV ambience.

THE LIGHTING, again by Rex Winget, was generally appropriate, with the exception of the occasionally melodramatic fade to highlight equally melodramatic scenes. The same is true of the music, which obtruded upon both the mood and the action. But these are, I suspect, more faults of direction than of the technical crew.

The acting in the opening performance, though marred by a general nervousness and a few too many dropped lines and muffed cues, managed to sustain a level of pleasing competence. I am aware that the word 'competent' is an epithet most actors regard as the vilest of insults, but considering the lack of competence displayed in the first two productions, I intend it as a compliment.

THE EXCITING exception to this category is Jerry Mayer, who appeared as the count's friend and betrayer, Hero. Mr. Mayer exhibited a degree of technical skill and control that made his performance a delight to watch. Always in command of his role, of the situation, and of the audience, he held the play together at moments when it seemed in danger of faltering.

He has several qualities which, whether natural endowments or the result of expert training, well equip him for an acting career. Among these are an ability to speak English as if it were his native tongue, rather than an artificial patois learned at the behest of a speech therapist. He also knows how to make every gesture, expression, movement, twitch of an eyebrow, contribute to the creation of a substantial and consistent character. No mean task.

Donald Schulte, as the Count, acquitted himself well; Hazel Hall, as the Countess, less well. Cathie Chandler, playing Hortensia, was particularly charming and attractive, every inch the lady. JoAnne Belanger's Lucille seemed rather flat and colorless, but I attribute much of this to the director's attempt at contrasting her role with the false brilliance of the other characters. Craig Kuehl and Martin Benson did well in supporting roles.

Always in command of his role, of the situation, and of the audience, he held the play together at moments when it seemed in danger of faltering.

Highlights of the concert will include the TV program theme from Mr. Lucky by Henri Mancini and marches by Carl King and John Philip Sousa. Other selections have been chosen for the band by Davis.

According to Larry E. Barrett, program assistant for WSUI, the concerts are a permanent summer activity for the community and are in their ninth season.

Members of the band are from the community, the local high schools and the faculty and students of the University.

There will be no charge for the concert.

City Planner
Attends Meet

A special conference on urban and regional development held at Massachusetts Institute of Technology (M.I.T.), Cambridge, Mass., June 21 to July 2, gave 61 representatives from six different countries a chance to air their problems.

Earl Stewart, Iowa City's city planner and associate professor of civil engineering, represented the University at the conference. Representatives came from Puerto Rico, Canada, Spain, England, Sweden and the United States, after applying for acceptance to attend.

Among the things discussed were urbanization problems, the social and economic structure of cities and the development of new countries. Primarily it was a conference to give planners a chance to express themselves, Stewart said Friday.

Although nothing definite was discussed, Stewart said he considered the conference worthwhile and very enlightening. It touched on matters and problems sometimes overlooked, he said.

For 11 years, Stewart was a professor of architecture at North Dakota State University. At the same time he was planner and urban renewal director of Fargo, where the university is located.

Last year Stewart heard of the University's new graduate program in urban-regional planning as well as Iowa City's opening for a city planner. He then joined the University faculty and also became Iowa City's city planner.

On-campus Housing activities will be covered extensively by the University Edition of The Daily Iowan.

Baseball Roundup

Angels 4, Indians 3
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vic Power singled across the winning run in the ninth inning Friday, giving the Los Angeles Angels a 4-3 victory over Cleveland in the first game of a two-night doubleheader.

Don McMahon started the inning by retiring the first two batters. Then Joe Adcock singled and stole second. Bob Rodgers was walked intentionally, and pinch hitter Bob by Smith also walked. Power followed with a single over shortstop.

Twins 8, Yanks 3
MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — Don Mincher drove in four runs with a pair of long homers and Harmon Killebrew smashed a three-run homer, powering the American League-leading Minnesota Twins to an 8-3 victory over the New York Yankees Friday night for their eighth straight triumph.

Killebrew and Mincher slammed consecutive homers in a four-run first-inning explosion against Jim Bouton. Mincher also tagged rookie Jim Breneman, making his first major league appearance, for a three-run homer in the seventh. Sandy Valdespino drove in the Twins' other run with a single in the fifth.

Astros 6, Mets 2
NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Morgan's bases-loaded triple highlighted a five-run explosion in the second inning that carried Houston to a 6-2 victory over the New York Mets Friday night.

The Astros loaded the bases against starter Jack Fisher in the second on Jim Wynn's double, a walk to Gus Triandos and an error by Chuck Hiller on Bob Lillis' pop fly. Morgan then lashed a triple into the rightfield corner, clearing the bases.

Musgrave (5), Kroll (8) and Cannizzaro (3) pitched for the Mets. Fisher (3-4), L — Fisher (6-10).

Two Golfers Share Lead in Iowa Amateur

MASON CITY (AP) — Rod Bliss III and Sarg Fontanini, both of Des Moines, shared the lead after the first round of the Iowa Amateur golf tournament here Friday with two under par 70s.

Close behind were Ralph Campiano, of Des Moines; J. D. Turner of Perry and Todd Tischer of Fort Dodge, each with a 71.

Those five were the only ones to break par, although the opening round was played under near perfect conditions.

Four other golfers were deadlocked at even par 72. They are Jim Ransley of Des Moines; Dave Sergeant, of Fort Dodge; Frank Dickerson of Iowa City, and Paul Ahrens, of Grinnell.

Defending champion John Liechty of Marshalltown was well back in the field with 76.

Two former champions were within striking distance, Rod Bliss II of Des Moines with a 73 and Bob Leahy of Iowa City with a 75. Each has won three previous Iowa Amateur titles.

Turner, the Perry slugger, had an unusual round. He shot a 39 on the front nine where most golfers had the most trouble. But he carded a 32 on the back nine, which included six consecutive three-stroke holes. This ran from the 12th through the 17th holes.

A score of 83 was good enough to survive the first round cut. After Saturday's second round of 18 holes the field will be trimmed to the low 50 and all ties for Sunday's 36-hole final.

Griffith - Gonzalez Fight Must Be Rescheduled

NEW YORK (AP) — Welterweight champion Emilio Griffith's non-title fight with Jose Gonzalez slated for next Tuesday night was called off Friday because of an arm injury suffered by Gonzalez in training.

Gonzalez pulled a ligament in his upper left arm while working out Thursday. A spokesman for Madison Square Garden said it was too late to obtain a substitute for the Puerto Rican boxer.

The bout may be rescheduled for a later date.

Speedy Scott Is Favorite

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Defending champion Speedy Scott, with an imposing career record of 43 victories and two seconds in 54 starts, is the short-priced favorite to whip seven rivals from six countries in the $100,000 International Trot at Roosevelt Raceway Saturday night.

His expected victory would give the United States a 4-3 edge in the short history of 1 1/4-mile race.

The Castleton Farm's barrel-chested 5-year-old son of Speedster will meet an entirely new cast of foreign trotters as he attempts to match the record of Su Mac Lad. Su Mac Lad gave the United States its two other victories, in 1961 and 1963.

Experience Is With N.L. Star Pitchers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Records, reputation and experience are on the side of the National League pitching corps for Tuesday's All-Star baseball game at Minnesota-St. Paul.

All-Star veterans Don Drysdale of Los Angeles and Juan Marichal head the hard-throwing NL staff, which all told has five men who have competed in past midseason classics.

Only one American League pitcher has All-Star experience — Milt Pappas of Baltimore, who worked a total of two innings in the two 1962 games.

Manager Gene Mauch of the Nationals chose Drysdale and Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers, Jim Maloney and Sammy Ellis of Cincinnati, Marichal of the Giants, Bob Gibson of St. Louis, Bob Veale of Pittsburgh and Dick Farrell of Houston as his eight-man staff. Koufax and Veale are the only left-handers.

IN ADDITION to Pappas, Al Lopez of the Americans selected one man from his Chicago White Sox staff, relief ace Eddie Fisher, along with Sam McDowell of Cleveland, Mel Stottlemyre of the New York Yankees, Jim Grant of Minnesota, Bob Lee of the Los Angeles Angels, Pete Richert of Washington and John O'Donoghue of Kansas City. McDowell, Richert and O'Donoghue are southpaws.

All eight NL pitchers are starters, while Fisher and Lee of the AL are strictly relievers.

The Nation's pitchers had a combined record of 84-40 through Thursday's game, led by Koufax's 14-3 and Ellis' 12-3. AL pitchers were 51-36 with Grant tops at 9-2 and O'Donoghue with the unlikely All-Star record of 4-11.

DRYSDALE appeared in five previous All-Stars, starting four, but his record for the fixture is 0-1. Marichal has been in three and has won two, including last year's at New York, where John Callison's three-run homer in the ninth inning gave the NL a 7-4 victory that tied the series at 17-17.

Farrell also has pitched in three, Koufax in two and Gibson in one. Since both starting line-ups are

British Open Is Taken By Thomson

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Peter Thomson of Australia emerged from the shadows of near obscurity Friday with a 285 total for his fifth British Open Golf Championship that placed him within one rung of the immortal Harry Vardon.

The 36-year-old professional from Melbourne battled through rain and blustery winds for sub-par rounds of 72 and 71, completely smothering one of the strongest American challenges ever mustered.

Of the four-toughened Yanks, only defending champion Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., made a fight of it, moving within one shot with two holes to play. But he faded with a fat six on the final hole and had to settle for a tie for fifth place. With rounds of 75-74, Lema finished with 289.

A tough little Welshman, Brian Huggett, and Ireland's Christy O'Connor were closest to Thomson with 287 and Roberto de Vicenzo, the long-hitting Argentine, was fourth with 288.

Snell Loses Again, But Won't Quit Yet

PRAGUE (AP) — Middle-distance master Peter Snell lost his ninth straight race Friday — but said he was encouraged and would keep trying — while two Polish girls broke the women's world record for 100 meters in the International Rosicky Memorial Track and Field Meet.

Snell, the 800- and 1,500-meter Olympic champion and for years practically unbeatable from one-half mile to a mile, said he was encouraged after his third-place finish and scotched reports he would retire immediately.

"I will continue to run and I am not going to quit before I reach my top form again," the New Zealander said. "The Prague run gave me new confidence. What I now want is some good training."
