Rain Predicted

Considerable cloudiness today with showers or thunderstorms during the morning. Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday with showers or thunderstorms over 30 to 50 percent of the state. Little temperature change; highs today 70s north-east to 80s southwest.

Senators Urging Return of Hubert

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Tuesday senators have a new message for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey: "Hubert, come home."
The Senate Democratic Conference went on record Monday as urging Humphrey to spend less time on Executive Department chores assigned to him by President Johnson and more in presiding over the Senate, his constitutional job.
Humphrey, on hand for the opening of the Senate session, told reporters he got the message.
"They want me around because they love me so much," he said with a grin.

Two Satellites To Determine Nuclear Tests

Mechanisms To Report Test Ban Violations Of Multi-lateral Pact

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Two Sentry satellites were blasted into the sky Tuesday and headed for outposts in space where they will detect violations of the nuclear test ban treaty.

The two 524-pound Vela vehicles, capable of detecting nuclear explosions on the earth's surface out 200 million miles, rode an Atlas-Agena rocket aloft in predawn darkness.

They entered initial orbits ranging from 132 to 69,000 miles high.

One is expected to be maneuvered into a circular orbit 69,750 miles out by Wednesday and the other into a similar orbit Thursday.

If they reach their final posts on opposite sides of the earth, their sensitive instruments will be capable of detecting any explosions violating the 1963 test ban treaty.

That treaty, signed by the United States, the Soviet Union and more than 100 other nations, prohibits nuclear blasts in the atmosphere, in space or under water. Underground tests are permitted.

A 12-pound pygmy satellite, assigned to study radiation in the Van Allen belt circling the earth, also rode as a hitchhiker on the Atlas-Agena.

The nuclear detection satellites join four others launched in pairs in 1963 and 1964 and still sending back valuable data. The older satellites have proved their ability to detect events 200 million miles out from earth.

One of the biggest challenges facing the new Vela twins is telling the difference between an atomic blast and a false alarm which might be set off by a large solar flare or a cosmic ray shower from the sun.

This problem will be a great one. Violent storms occur in 11-year cycles on the sun and are due again in a few years.

Soundoff Loses Soapbox Again

Soapbox Soundoff was held at the Union Tuesday, minus the familiar soapbox, but not the typical soundoffers.

Topics discussed in spite of the mysteriously missing soapbox included communism and U.S. foreign policy in world trouble spots.

Carl Fackler, MI, Indiana, chairman of the Soapbox Soundoff Committee, announced at the end of the two-hour session that next week one topic to be discussed would be Medicare. Potential speakers were encouraged to research the topic.

Fackler also asked that speakers give their names and University classifications as they begin to speak, and limit their remarks to 10 minutes. He stressed that only University students would be allowed to take part in the Soundoffs.

McNamara: Situation Bleak, But Not Black

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said Tuesday the Viet Nam situation still is serious, but not all black. That was his summary of a survey aimed at helping the Johnson administration determine the extent of the new U.S. military buildup.

"Over-all, the situation continues to be serious," McNamara told a news conference on the basis of his field trips and Saigon briefings in the last five days. "As a matter of fact, in many aspects there has been deterioration since I was here last, 15 months ago. But the picture is not all black by any means."

McNAMARA SKIRTED the issue of how many U.S. servicemen may be added to the 75,000 or so already on duty in Viet Nam.

"Based on my observations and discussions here, we will be making a report to the President at some time within the next few days," he said. "I can only tell you that our recommendations will be directed toward fulfilling the commitment of our nation to support the people of Viet Nam in their fight to win their independence."

Contrasting points of the war as summed up by McNamara: —"The size of the Viet Cong forces has increased; their rate of operations and the intensity of their attacks has been expanded; their disruption of the lines of communications, both rail and sea and road, is much more extensive; and they have intensified their campaign of terror against the civilian population."

—ON THE OTHER HAND, "The Vietnamese people continue to be willing to fight and to be willing to die in their own defense. The Viet Cong, as you know, are suffering increasingly heavy losses and the U.S. combat forces are adding substantially to the military power of the government."

The secretary headed back to Washington with his companions in the fact-finding mission. They included Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Ambassador-designate Henry Cabot Lodge, who is to relieve the retiring Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor in mid-August.

Police were reported holding four suspects, including two young boys, in a bomb plot that appeared to have been aimed at Taylor.

Reliable sources said the instrument was an electrically detonated device that hurls steel pellets like a shotgun. They said police discovered the explosive in a hollow log aimed at the entrance to the Saigon stadium and disarmed it 15 minutes before Taylor and senior Vietnamese officials were due to leave a National Unity Day rally.

The chief military ground action of the day stemmed from repeated Viet Cong attacks on a government camp manned by 200 Vietnamese special forces troops and six U.S. advisers at Bu Dop.

ROBERT S. McNAMARA Skirts Draft Question

Goldberg Is Appointed United Nations Envoy

Johnson Reveals Surprise Choice

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson plucked a reluctant Justice Arthur J. Goldberg from the hushed halls of the Supreme Court Tuesday and thrust him into the maelstrom of world politics as ambassador to the United Nations.

"I'd rather the President hadn't asked me to assume this duty, in all candor," Goldberg said after his surprise appointment to succeed the late Adlai E. Stevenson.

He said he agreed to step down from the Supreme Court "the culmination of everything I could have hoped for in life—" only because the President told him it was his duty.

THE WHITE HOUSE said Johnson announced the appointment only about an hour after coming to a final decision Tuesday morning to pick Goldberg from among a list of some 30 prominent Americans.

Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers declined to name any of the others considered for the post — the nation's top ambassadorship. Goldberg, former secretary of labor and before that a noted labor lawyer and mediator, pledged to work for peace through international law.

"It is that or doom — and we all know it," he said at the White House.

While the appointment stirred expressions of surprise in Washington and United Nations headquarters, longtime associates cited Goldberg's record as a labor mediator as a key factor in his selection.

"I WOULD LOOK for a change in the function of the ambassador to the U.N.," said one friend and former close associate of Goldberg.

"Arthur's a negotiator. There is a great deal of similarity in strike negotiations and international negotiations. Arthur knows more tricks of the trade . . . than anyone I know," this source added.

"I leave the court with great sadness and with great regret," Goldberg said at a news conference. "I have spent three of the happiest years of my life there."

Goldberg is only the third man in U.S. history to give up a lifetime Supreme Court post to take another appointment. He will now serve at the pleasure of the President.

But, indicating he believed the U.N. post could be an even greater challenge, he said in accepting the appointment:

"It now comes that the President has asked me to join in the greatest adventure of man's history — the effort to bring the rule of law to govern the relations between sovereign states," Goldberg said.

Dance the Frug To Popping Tops

The Iowa City City Council Tuesday evening passed an ordinance permitting dancing in Iowa City taverns that meet space requirements. However, you still may not be able to cut the mustard in your favorite tap.

In a poll conducted by The Daily Iowan Tuesday afternoon, nearly one-fourth of the Iowa City tavern owners said they would not permit patrons to dance in their establishments. Nearly all of them cited their lack of available space as the determining factor, although one proprietor said he would be "asking for trouble" to allow patrons to dance.

To permit dancing, many of the tavern owners would have to remove booths or pool tables.

Of the remaining tavern owners, the majority favored the dancing ordinance and said they will permit patrons to dance. A few, however, said they had not decided what their policy would be. They added that they would probably go along with the majority of the tavern proprietors.

Council Sets Merger Vote

In a more serious tone, the council set Sept. 20 for an election to decide the merger of Iowa City and University Heights according to an ordinance passed Tuesday night.

A letter from the Iowa City Mobile Home Association was read which called sections of an ordinance for the regulation of mobile home parks "old-fashioned." However, the association did agree with the council that an ordinance was necessary.

The letter asked that sections of the ordinance be deleted and other sections be revised.

University Traffic Manager Lawrence Sieck read a letter written to new students by the Campus Security and Parking Committee, and signed by Robert Hardin, dean of the College of Medicine and chairman of the committee.

The letter asked students to leave cars at home because of the inconvenience of parking and the heavy traffic around Iowa City and the University.

Li's Defection to Reds Minimized by Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Nationalist China brushed aside Tuesday the defection of former Vice President Li Tsung-jen to Red China but looked for the Peking Communists to exploit it as a major cold war victory.

Officials declined to talk about the crossover, saying they did not want to lend it undue importance. Li, 74, had been living in self-exile in the United States since 1949 and had been read out of the ruling Kuomintang party in 1952 after clashing with President Chiang Kai-shek.

Peking's New China News Agency announced Li's arrival in Peking by special plane and said he was greeted at the airport by Premier Chou En-lai and 100 higher Communist officials.

The agency reported Li delivered a blast at the United States, saying it was trying to isolate China and dominate the world.

Word of the defection had been in the wind on Formosa for a

Military Pay Raise Bill Almost Sure To Be Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 410-0 House vote Tuesday whipped a billion-dollar annual military pay raise bill to the Senate for almost certain shrinkage.

The bill's price tag is twice as big as proposed by President Johnson, whose House lieutenants made no effort to trim it down more to the administration's liking.

—Except for Student Reservists—

No Draft Danger Expected

Students will probably not be affected if the anticipated military build-up in Viet Nam becomes a reality — unless they are members of reserve units.

A substantial increase in U.S. troop commitments in Viet Nam would influence the entire military manpower pool, but according to an article in the current issue of Newsweek magazine "no plans for altering the deferment regulations are presently foreseen."

"Federal officials are unlikely to upset the classifications of 1.6 million deferred as students, 3 million deferred as fathers and 200,000 deferred for occupational reasons," the Newsweek article stated.

IF A VIET NAM build-up takes place, Newsweek speculated that selected reserve units would be called up to reinforce all active services.

According to local Army reserve unit sources, "It normally makes no difference whether a man is a student if his reserve unit is activated." The officials said that persons considered hardship cases may be released from duty. There is a possibility that a student within six months of obtaining a professional degree could be classed as a hardship case.

Reserve officials emphasized that there was no indication any reserve unit would be activated and therefore any comment about the effect this would have on students was pure speculation.

If students were forced to leave school because of military commitments, they would be given fractional credit if they had completed at least half a semester of work. Robert D. Leahy, associate director of admissions, said the specific fraction of credit would be determined after a policy used during World War II was reviewed.

LEAHY ALSO said that students forced to leave school because of military obligations would be given a refund. The amount of the refund that would be given has not been determined.

If student reservists were called to active duty, "there is nothing we could do to persuade reserve units to let those students stay in school," Leahy stated.

Undergraduate students must carry 12 hours a semester and graduate students must register for 9 hours to be considered full-time students and be eligible for a student deferment.

FOLLOWING EACH SEMESTER registration this information is reported by the Registrar's office to the state Selective Service headquarters. The information is then relayed to local selective service boards.

The Registrar's Office updates this information once a month. Any student who drops below the full-time student requirements can lose his student deferment.

String Music At 8 Tonight

The Iowa String Quartet and four other School of Music faculty members will present a chamber music concert at 8 tonight in the Union ballroom.

No tickets are required for the concert, another feature of the 27th annual Fine Arts Festival.

The String Quartet will open the program. The second and third compositions will feature woodwinds as well as strings.

University radio stations WSUI-AM and KSUI-FM will broadcast the concert live.

Milk Dispute Starts Again; Bad Rating

DES MOINES (AP) — The State Health Department said Tuesday that Nicholas Coad has not achieved a satisfactory rating in his job as state milk shantarian.

Coad, a farmer and a LeMars Democrat, was hired early this year to replace milk sanitarian Richard Denner, Republican of LeMars.

Republicans charged that Secretary of Agriculture Kenneth Owen, a Democrat, fired Denner for political reasons and replaced him with a man not qualified for the job.

Welcome Awaits New Miss Iowa

A HOMETOWN WELCOME awaited the new Miss Iowa, Marie (Trophy) Mushro, as she left Davenport, the site of her victory Saturday night, and headed for Sioux City, Tuesday.

Armed with several trophies and other awards, including the use of a new car for a year, scholarships, several new outfits, etc., Miss Iowa will now ready herself for the big trip to the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City this September.

Smallest Deficit in 5 Years

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT ended the fiscal year 1965 on June 30, with a deficit of $3.5 billion, $2.8 billion below the estimate of six months ago, the White House announced Tuesday.

Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers described the deficit as the smallest in five years. He said President Johnson was pleased that spending fell below earlier estimates and that receipts exceeded earlier estimates.

$2.8 Million in Stocks Stolen

TWO UNMASKED BANDITS boldly waylaid a teen-aged Wall Street messenger amid bustling lunch-hour throngs in the financial district Tuesday and robbed him of an estimated $2.8 million in stocks and bonds.

Owners of the certificates described them as negotiable — but a New York Stock Exchange spokesman said converting them to cash would be most difficult, although not impossible.

Nearly 35,000 shares of stock were included in the loot — among them such blue chips as Cities Service, Ford Motor Co., Detroit Edison, National Lead and Pepsi Cola.

Floods Rage Through Missouri

DEVASTATING FLOODS ROLLED through many parts of Northwest and West Central Missouri Tuesday night.

Triggered by two days of torrential rains, which ranged up to 21 inches at one point, the floods forced evacuation of a half dozen cities and towns; inundated valuable farm land and blocked highways and rail lines to the north and east of Kansas City.

There was one known dead. At least seven persons were reported missing.

Coleman Wins Approval

JAMES P. COLEMAN'S nomination to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court won 13-2 approval Tuesday of the Senate Judiciary Committee in face of vigorous protests against his role as segregationist governor of Mississippi.

The full Senate will vote on the nomination later.

Her Own Is No Winner

"MARRIAGE ITALIAN STYLE" won the best actress award for Italian actress Sophia Loren at the Moscow International Film Festival Tuesday.

One wag said, "This is carrying realism in the movies too far." Miss Loren's own marriage to Italian Carlo Ponti is still pending court action on bigamy charges.

Russian actor Sergo Zakhariadze won the best actor award for his role in the Soviet film "Father of a Soldier."

Bogalusa Police 'Get Tough' Now

BOGALUSA, Louisiana police showed a new "get tough" policy and officers scattered a group of whites heckling Negroes eating in a white restaurant Tuesday.

The change came as public officials and civic leaders here urged moderation. There have been no major incidents in the past 48 hours.

Several hecklers from across the street began shouting insults as five Negroes integrated a restaurant. City police ordered the whites to disperse.

The Negroes were served at three of four restaurants without incident. The fourth establishment, converted into a private club, was locked.

Bogalusa's firm police order followed a Justice Department suit Monday asking federal court to hold two top police officials in contempt for allegedly failing to protect demonstrators.

U.S. Dist. Judge Herbert W. Christenburg had issued an injunction ordering an end to harassment of civil rights workers.

WAVING THE FLAG

Barry Goldwater's secret revealed

By SANDOR M. POLSTER
For The Iowan

Nine months ago, a comedy occurred in which 28 million voting age Americans were left not laughing. The comedy has been referred to by many different names.

Some have called it a political blizzard in which a certain white-haired, soft-spoken politician got buried. Others have referred to it as a farce, burlesque, absurdity or any other adjective that came to mind.

Generally, however, it has been referred to as an election.

Recently, some shocking news about that election has come to this reporter's attention. It has often been thought, but never proven, that something fishy occurred during the campaign.

Now the truth is known.
BARRY GOLDWATER IS REALLY A DEMOCRAT!

HOW CAN GOLDWATER deny his party membership when just last month the Democrats awarded him the Alf Landon Award? (There is some evidence to indicate Landon also was a secret member of the Democratic Party.) This award is presented only to those who perform for the party above and beyond the call of duty.

An interesting sidenote to all this is Goldwater's nomination for an Oscar. It seems, however, that he was only good enough for supporting actor. President Johnson has been nominated for best actor, since the nominating committee felt that he had to be a good Thespian in order to fool all the liberals.

But back to Goldwater. He is also getting another award from the Democrats: This one is for getting Strom Thurmond out of the party.

Goldwater's secret affiliation has shocked the political pundits in Washington. Several of them at times thought Goldwater might be a secret agent, but in today's world of political reality, no one entertained this thought very long.

ONE FAMOUS columnist, who shall go unnamed, once questioned the former senator's party membership when he declared, "No one can be that stupid. He must be a Democrat."

The plans were for Goldwater to continue his subversive activities as an agent for the Democratic Party. But he got carried away when he formed his Free Society Association. His attempts to split er the Republican Party caused the men of Ray Bliss to become suspicious. The hassle in the Republican National Headquarters over the rifled desk resulted from Bliss' attempt to get evidence against Goldwater.

By using tactics learned at the Democratic Guerilla Training Camp (in Johnson City, Texas), Goldwater had thoroughly infiltrated the GOP and had placed his men in key positions. Now all he had to do was continue to disgrace the party. But when Bliss took the reins after the election, the Democrats began to worry. They knew what Bliss had achieved in Ohio and could achieve nationally.

So, emerged the Free Society Association to get the rich conservatives away from the Republicans.

But if all this isn't convincing, here are some facts from the election which prove beyond a doubt that Barry Goldwater is really a conscious agent of the Democratic Party.

DEMOCRATIC INNOVATIONS include the TVA, Social Security, Medicare and to a large extent, the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Goldwater opposed all of these. That in itself is not so unusual, seeing that he was pretending to be a Republican.

But when a supposedly astute politician campaigns, he is expected to campaign to win.

Instead of conducting a positive campaign, however, Goldwater's was negative. In TVA country, he advocated the sale of the TVA; in Social Security country, he sought the abolition of Social Security.

AND BECAUSE IT was popular with the conservatives, Goldwater strongly opposed a $6 million appropriations bill in September 1963. Secretly he favored the bill, so he voted for it, hoping he wouldn't get caught. But he did, and in order to maintain his secret identity, had to call the Senate clerk and have his vote changed to "nay." The Democrats told him not to worry, because in their hearts, they would know how he felt.

Still, it made him look like a fool. But then, he was supposed to be a Republican.

Now that the long-kept secret has been made public, and Goldwater is no longer useful as an agent for the Democrats, President Johnson may award him with an ambassadorship.

Barry Goldwater may be given the honor of being this country's first ambassador to the newly formed Republic of Mississippi.

"Yes, This Is The Food And Drugged Administration"

Reader looks for story's other side

To the Editor:

This is written in a spirit of impartial news reporting. The DI, together with other dailies, has recently printed a number of pictures calculated to exhibit "Police Brutality" over racial incidents.

Could there be another side to the story?

Could it be that nasal singing, shouting, nose-thumbing and obviously obscene gestures by marchers were coldly calculated to provoke alleged "brutality"? Could it be that photographers sniffling a photogenic picture slip from an angle designed to make all cops appear Nazis and Cosacks?

Could it be that stories such as that which appeared in the "Nation" — reprinted in the DI — alleging that a female-marcher was variously kicked, stomped, and abused in her private party by the cops was 80 per cent fantasy and 19 per cent perjury. Is there any corroborating evidence of her tale, whatever?

Here's my nickle's worth: In 38 years of experience with cops and cops' methods in all parts of the world and the United States my reflection is that you don't gather it unless you go looking for it. Cops, unless unduly provoked, let you go your untrammelled way; they are interested not in brutality but in performing an honest job for an honest buck.

I suggest that more often than not they have turned the other cheek to marches and marchers.

This letter like some of those quoted by H. L. Mencken in his old "Mercury" is designed to stir up, as he said, the "animals."

Birth control

NEW DELHI, India — The Indian Government disclosed Monday it is planning a massive attack against the nation's population explosion with help from cheap plastic devices and old-fashioned gossip.

Dr. Sushila Nayyar, health minister, told a news conference a widespread information program will begin Thursday to popularize a family planning effort.

India's population increase is estimated at 12 million annually.

Oil on troubled waters—that was no accident

By ART BUCHWALD

Last week an enlisted man aboard the U.S. aircraft carrier Shangri La supposedly turned the wrong valve on the ship and, instead of releasing 2,600 gallons of water, he released 2,600 gallons of oil.

This wouldn't have been too bad, except the carrier was anchored off the Riviera resort of Cannes and the oil floated into shore ruining the beaches and vacations of thousands and thousands of Frenchmen and tourists.

Many theories have been advanced in Washington as to why the sailor did it, and while no one is agreed as to which is the correct one, it is generally agreed that it was no accident.

One of the theories being bandied about is that the idea originated in the White House a few weeks ago at a Cabinet meeting.

The President happened to say, "Isn't there any way we can pour oil on the troubled waters of France and ourselves?"

Dean Rusk, who was sitting on the President's right, said, "We're working on it now, sir."

The Secretary of State put the problem to his people who said they didn't have the money to do it. Someone suggested turning the problem over to the Defense Department, which has been standard operating procedure in the State Department of late.

The Defense people said the best way to do it was to literally pour oil on the waters to show de Gaulle our intentions were friendly.

Not only would it be a dramatic way of showing the French our policies were peaceful, but it would also show them that, in spite of the fact we were short of gold, we did have oil to spare.

The Navy was assigned the job and orders were immediately sent to the Sixth Fleet to empty the oil tanks of the aircraft carrier Shangri La in the nearest French port.

The Admiral of the Sixth Fleet thought something had gone haywire with his "fail safe box," so he called Washington to confirm the orders.

He was told: "It's the President's idea."

So the Admiral passed the order on to his subordinates.

The valve was opened in the Cannes harbor and the oil started

California kiddy case

KIDS WILL BE KIDS, and what could be more natural. But then, what exactly are kids?

Are they civilized folks with a chance some day of behaving themselves properly and leading happy lives; or are they wild animals to be ruled by animal instincts? They are a little bit of both, but it is up to adults — especially parents — to lead the kids into following the civilized path more than the animalistic road.

A $240,000 damage suit has been filed by the parents of a dozen students whose school bus took them to the city jail instead of school.

The suit has been filed against the bus driver who took 22 allegedly rowdy riders to jail last Jan. 28. The cops hauled the kids out and released them to their parents.

The suit charges false arrest, false imprisonment, assault and battery, and invasion of privacy.

On the surface at least, the whole thing looks pretty rotten. There is a dangerous trend in America for people to look on law suits merely as a means of making some quick money. Even lawyers are taking this attitude.

If you're involved in an auto wreck and are uninjured and it was obviously not your fault — rejoice, there's gold in this situation. See a lawyer, develop a sore neck and settle for $1,000 from an insurance company out of court.

Going to court is a costly business, and an out of court settlement avoids a lot of uncertainty. But many court cases turn out to be little more than a type of legalized blackmail for a handsome out of court settlement.

It might look like a quick way to make a buck — suing for $240,000 — and it may be. But is it worth it?

When kids are so noisy on a bus the driver takes them to jail instead of to school, they should be spanked soundly by their parents. If their parents choose instead to exploit the situation to try and make a quick buck, what sort of impression will be made upon the youngsters?

Will they learn to respect authority, or will they learn the old game of anything for a buck?

But the short run profit of today will be the long run loss tomorrow. For pupils whose parents support their rowdiness through lawsuits, rowdiness appears to be desirable. In a few years, they may well participate in riots similar to those at Arnolds Park. They may, in short, cross that thin line between publicly accepted prankishness and outright police record holding.

In the longer run all society will lose by court suits of this sort. For if America's civil courts continue to be used as houses of legalized blackmail as well as means of settling true cases of injustice, the whole legal system one day will collapse.

Those dirty pictures

THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT IS complaining that American planes are flying over its nuclear bases and taking pictures.

This sounds familiar — sort of like complaints from Russia in the '50s about American U-2 planes taking pictures, or from Cuba more recently about U-2 pictures taken of that country.

About the only people who don't complain when U.S. personnel take pictures of their territory are the people on the moon or the people on Mars. And it may be that they just don't know our language, or they'd be complaining too.

It's not exactly clear what good it would do the United States even if officials here knew everything that was going on in French nuclear circles. U.S. statesmen have made it quite clear that this country is not in favor of France's nuclear force.

Do the French think America would bomb their nuclear complexes, or hire some secret agents to sabotage the operation? It doesn't seem likely.

Probably the main thing the French want to do is to embarrass the United States and further assert its own independence of this country.

The best course for American diplomats is to stick to their story of "our planes just wandered off course" and not give the French the satisfaction of a formal apology.

Is either side ahead in Viet Nam struggle?

EDITOR'S NOTE: Who is winning the war in Viet Nam? The day-to-day reports give a mixed picture of victories and setbacks.

Senator sees tax jumps

By the GOP

Iowans will be hit with an additional $30 million annually, in payroll taxes starting next year to pay for the new Medicare-Social Security bill, Sen. Jack Miller noted this week.

In addition, the Iowa Senator pointed out that employers will have to match this with another $30 million and farmers, professional and other self-employed people will be faced with increased self-employment taxes.

"The tragic part of it is that people in these lower income groups are going to be paying in tax money which they really need now to support their families to help finance medicare benefits for people over 65, many of whom have more income and more property than the very people who are paying these taxes," Sen. Miller said.

What are the basic conditions that led President Johnson to speak of "increased American response?" This article poses some of the questions in Americans' minds and gives the best available answers. The information comes from key people in Saigon and from The Associated Press war staff's observation of conditions in the field. The views expressed are a consensus of the AP staff in Saigon, but include the viewpoints of U.S. and Vietnamese officials, and, in some cases, the Communists' expressed aims.

By The Associated Press
SAIGON, South Viet Nam — Here are answers to some of the questions you may have been asking about the war in Viet Nam:

Q. How is the war going in South Viet Nam?

A. In many ways the war appears to be stalemated. Both the Viet Cong and its Vietnamese and American enemies have sharply increased the size of their forces. Fighting gets heavier each week but no decisive gains have been made by either side during the past year.

Q. Do American officials have hopes that this deadlock can be broken?

A. Yes. The American strategy in Viet Nam is now based on wearing the enemy out and bleeding him dry. American policymakers reason that resources on the anti-Viet Cong side will outlast those of the Viet Cong. Washington currently views this as a war of attrition, in which victory will go to the side with greatest staying power.

Q. What does the Viet Cong think about this view?

A. The Viet Cong, according to all its broadcast statements, also believes this is a war of attrition. However, the Viet Cong feels it will outlast both the Saigon government and the Americans. The second in command of the National Liberation Front Viet Cong told a Japanese reporter that he felt an American force of 4 million men would be needed to stop the Viet Cong. He added he didn't feel America was willing to make that kind of commitment.

Fly history

The second book in the Norton World Naturalist Series, "The Natural History of Flies," is a study of the hundred thousand different species which constitute the Order Diptera or fly family.

Harold Oldroyd of the British Museum reviews the effects of flies on man and his surroundings, he discusses the circumstances and habits of the disease-ridden mosquito, the killer Tsetse and the common house fly; and speculates on the possible future of flies in this rapidly changing world.

Oil on troubled waters—that was no accident

By ART BUCHWALD
Last week an enlisted man aboard the U.S. aircraft carrier Shangri La supposedly turned the wrong valve on the ship and, instead of releasing 2,600 gallons of water, he released 2,600 gallons of oil.

This wouldn't have been too bad, except the carrier was anchored off the Riviera resort of Cannes and the oil floated into shore ruining the beaches and vacations of thousands and thousands of Frenchmen and tourists.

Many theories have been advanced in Washington as to why the sailor did it, and while no one is agreed as to which is the correct one, it is generally agreed that it was no accident.

One of the theories being bandied about is that the idea originated in the White House a few weeks ago at a Cabinet meeting.

The President happened to say, "Isn't there any way we can pour oil on the troubled waters of France and ourselves?"

Dean Rusk, who was sitting on the President's right, said, "We're working on it now, sir."

The Secretary of State put the problem to his people who said they didn't have the money to do it. Someone suggested turning the problem over to the Defense Department, which has been standard operating procedure in the State Department of late.

The Defense people said the best way to do it was to literally pour oil on the waters to show de Gaulle our intentions were friendly.

Not only would it be a dramatic way of showing the French our policies were peaceful, but it would also show them that, in spite of the fact we were short of gold, we did have oil to spare.

The Navy was assigned the job and orders were immediately sent to the Sixth Fleet to empty the oil tanks of the aircraft carrier Shangri La in the nearest French port.

The Admiral of the Sixth Fleet thought something had gone haywire with his "fail safe box," so he called Washington to confirm the orders.

He was told: "It's the President's idea."

In Nationwide Field Day—

Local Ham Operators Reach 1,175 Stations in Contest

The Iowa City Amateur Radio Club is waiting to find out how the 1,175 contacts it made during a 24-hour continuous duty exercise ranks among ham radio clubs nationally.

Results of the field day exercise will not be available until August. The exercise, held June 26 and 27, was designed to test the emergency communications capability of licensed amateur radio operators.

Approximately 2,500 clubs throughout the United States and Canada participated.

IOWA CITY'S ham radio operators set up their emergency radio transmitting and receiving equipment on the west approach to the Coralville Dam. During the exercise they made contacts with stations in every state, the Johnson Islands, Guam, Mexico, the Canal Zone and several South American countries.

According to Frank Sharp, vice president of the club, contest points were awarded for the number of contacts made, and not for the distance over which the sound waves traveled.

Sharp said Monday evening that the objective of the field day was really to test equipment.

"It's always a pain in the neck to get people interested in testing emergency facilities because it gets awfully dry after a while. We make a contest out of it, and it does a lot for you. It helps your communications personnel learn how to get a message A from point A to point B rapidly, and concisely."

IT ALSO HELPS persons who are interested in equipment set-up, he continued, stressing that continuous operation of equipment over a long period of time was hard on the electronic components. Sharp noted that no equipment broke down during the field day.

The radio club meets the second Wednesday of each month at the Patient's Library of the Veterans Administration Hospital. About 40 members attend. Their objectives are to provide a public service and experiment with radio equipment.

Sharp explained that amateur radio differed from what is commonly known as citizens' band radio, which is for personal or business communications. According to Sharp, the Federal Government specified that citizens' band radio was not to be used for a hobby or pleasure communication.

Amateur radio bands are termed "hobby bands" by the Federal Government, he said.

THE RADIO club also carries on other activities. They are currently setting up a system of small portable radio transceivers to be used in the Radio Amateur Civil Emergency Service program.

The program, which will be semi-affiliated with the Iowa City Amateur Radio Club, is a civil defense project.

Last fall, the club members assisted in an Eye Bank Drive, serving as radio-dispatch taxis to help get donation cards signed and notarized.

Don't Dial New Numbers Until Aug. 1

Hold the phone! The Centrex telephone system at The University of Iowa and the new telephone numbers that it will entail do not come into use until Aug. 1.

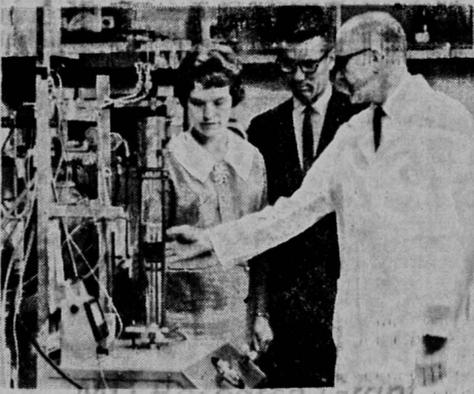

Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. officials in Iowa City reported Monday that some attempts have been made to place long distance calls from campus telephones using the new Centrex numbers — numbers that won't really exist until after midnight on July 31.

All of the some 4,000 University telephones to be affected by the switch to the modern equipment now have dial stickers with the new Centrex numbers, but these are supposed to be kept covered by temporary stickers containing the present numbers. Telephone company officials said some University callers apparently believe the new numbers are to be used immediately.

The result of using a Centrex number prior to Aug. 1 is confusion and delay while the operator learns the correct (current) number for the station from which the call has been placed.

In preparation for the Aug. 1 changeover, a number of explanatory materials have been distributed to University offices and a series of campus meetings are being conducted to familiarize telephone users with the new system and the new numbers.

But until Aug. 1, telephone company officials urged, present telephone numbers within the University must be used.

MD Research Grant

Minute measurements of muscle contractions can be made with this instrument in the laboratory of Dr. Byron A. Schottelius, associate professor of physiology. He explains his research on muscular dystrophy to representatives of the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, which has made a grant of $3,456 to help support research on the disease at the University.

490 File Applications For Advanced Degrees

Comprehensive examinations for the master's and Ph.D. degrees are being given in the Graduate College from July 12 through Monday.

According to W. A. Cox, registrar, 490 candidates have applied for advanced degrees. He estimated that about a hundred of them would not fulfill all the requirements and would have to try again.

The Graduate College reports 132 students have applied for the Ph.D. degree, and 358 have applied for the master's. Of those applying for the master's, 61 seek master of business administration degrees; 20, master of fine arts degrees; and 3, special education degrees. The others have applied for master of arts degrees.

Approximately one-third of the students receiving degrees are not on campus at the time their degrees are up for consideration, Cox said.

In some departments, only written exams are given. In others, written and oral exams are given in addition to preliminary exams.

MAYTAG SALES—NEWTON (Ia.)—The Maytag Co. announced Tuesday that net sales for the quarter which ended June 30 slightly exceeded sales for the same quarter of last year, but earnings declined a bit.

Campus Notes

JAPANESE FILM
"The Burmese Harp," a Japanese film by prize-winning film director Kon Ichikawa, will be shown at 8 p.m. Thursday in Shambaugh Auditorium.

The film is part of the Summer Institute on the Far East Film and Lecture Series. The plot tells of a private in the Japanese forces in Burma who chooses to remain there after World War II to bury the dead in expiation for the sins of the war.

The film won the San Giorgio Prize in Venice, and was described by David Robinson in "Sixty Years of Japanese Cinema" as a "marvelously poetic creation, a strange and gentle pacifist plea."

No admission fee will be charged and the public is invited.

PLAY DISCUSSED
An after-theatre discussion of "The Shoemaker's Prodigious Wife" will be held at the Westminster Foundation tonight. Prof. Harold Stein of the Drama Department will lead the discussion. Refreshments will be served.

ORIENTAL LECTURES
Ginoh King of the Chinese and Oriental Studies Department recently delivered two lectures at the Committee on Institutional Cooperation (CIC) Far Eastern Language Institute at Columbus, Ohio.

King lectured on "Chinese Calligraphy: Styles and Techniques" and "Chinese Flower-painting: Styles and Techniques."

More than 30 of Mr. King's paintings are currently on exhibit at the Art Gallery of Ohio State University, which is hosting the CIC Institute.

MUSIC SCHOLARS
Two members of the Department of Music are studying this summer at the Berkshire Music Center in Tanglewood, Mass.

James A. Dixon, associate professor, is studying in the performance department at the center.

William A. Hibbard, G. Newton, Mass., is studying in the composition department.

The Berkshire Music Center was established in 1940 by the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Its purpose is to provide a place where young musicians can continue their professional training and add to their artistic experience under the guidance of eminent musicians and teachers.

DENTAL EXAMINATIONS
Dental examinations will be given this afternoon to the children participating in Project Head Start. The examinations will be given at several of the dentist offices in Iowa City.

For many of the children this will be their first visit to a dentist office, according to the Johnson County Board of Education.

The Visiting Nurses Association and the Johnson County Health Nurses will work with the families of children needing dental correction to insure that they receive further professional services.

Transportation to and from the dentist office is being provided by wives of members of the Johnson County Dental Association.

Two Youths Admit Mail Vandalism

Two more youths admitted Tuesday to blowing up mailboxes recently, making a total of four youths linked to the recent vandalism, Maynard E. Schneider, Johnson County Sheriff said Tuesday.

More than a dozen mailboxes have been ripped apart by cherry bomb explosions in the Iowa City area in the past two weeks.

State and federal law provides fines as much as $1,000 and jail of up to three years for conviction of damaging mail boxes.

M. E. Snodgrass, U.S. postal inspector, conferred with Schneider Tuesday on the situation throughout the county.

Schneider said that investigation will continue.

INTERSECTION REOPENS
The intersection of Dodge and Washington Streets will be reopened to traffic today, according to city officials.

The intersection has been closed for the past three weeks for improvements.

Movies Added For Instruction In Dentistry

The College of Dentistry will integrate audio-visual aids into its instruction format during the fall semester.

Centering on "single concept films" which will break down the various steps in dental techniques, the program will give dentistry students insight into all phases of procedure.

"The films will show the student 'how' a treatment is performed. This allows the instructor a great deal more time to spend in telling 'why' a step is done," said Wallace W. Johnson, associate professor of dentistry and one of three co-investigators into the project.

Keith E. Thayer, department head of crown and bridge, and Ralph C. Appleby, department head of prosthetics, are the other investigators working with Johnson.

The United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare has granted the college $92,000 for this program.

The funds are being applied during this academic year to acquire data about the use of film as an instructional media. The testing of instructional medium, the testing of the film as a teacher's aid, will continue through 1966. Other expenses covered by the government grant include Fairchild movie projectors, film costs and processing the acquired data.

During the past two years freshman and sophomore dental students have received intensive training in operative dentistry procedures in a three-week course. The orientation gave these students more time in the classroom than they would normally receive in an entire year, according to Johnson.

County's Outdoor Attractions Cited

Johnson County is becoming one of the recreation centers of Iowa, Wendell Simonson, state conservation officer for Johnson County, told members of the Iowa City Kiwanis Club Tuesday.

"Approximately 500,000 persons from 44 states, visited Lake Macbride Park last year. This is 30 to 40 per cent ahead of previous figures. There were 25,000 registered campers at the park," Simonson said.

Simonson said that the formation of the County Conservation Board is an advancement in the recreation program for the county. One of the first projects of the Board was to send out a questionnaire to determine the recreational interests of the people of Johnson County. The results from the questionnaire are not available.

The Johnson County Conservation Program put up 100 nesting boxes for ducks last year, Simonson said. The program also enforces hunting regulations, makes tests on the supply of fish, stocks lakes and provides information for fishers and hunters.

Local Authorities Join In Water Safety Plan

The summer months' increase in outdoor activity brings a corresponding increase in boating and swimming accidents.

In an effort to curb the fatality rate and increase the recreational safety features of Johnson County, a committee of local authorities has joined forces in a water safety program.

The committee consists of William D. VanAtta, head of the American Red Cross in Iowa City; Gayle Casey, assistant manager of the Lake MacBride swimming area; Gene Bigelow, public information officer of the Coast Guard Auxiliary; and Ann Clement, instructor for Women's Physical Education.

The committee met Monday and will meet again Aug. 9.

VanAtta said Tuesday that the committee plans to outline a public information program for the entire year, coordinate the efforts of the people in the community and make a survey of the water danger spots in the area.

The public information would be distributed to all area schools. Included would be brochures on the "learn to swim" campaign held at the Iowa City Recreation Department and information on swimming, boating and water safety.

Baseball Roundup

Pirates 8, Reds 6

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Pittsburgh's Bob Veale survived a near-disastrous first inning and Bob Bailey hit a grand slam home run Tuesday in Pittsburgh's 8-6 victory over Cincinnati. Bailey drove in five runs.

Veale walked the first four men he faced and was close to being received as the Reds scored three runs on only one hit. He finally wound up with the victory although he walked nine and had two wild pitches. He needed help from Al McBean in the ninth.

The Pirates were held in control by the Reds' starter and loser, Sammy Ellis, until the fifth when Bailey hit his grand slammer — the first of his major league career. Ellis allowed only one hit before he fell apart in the fifth.

Giants 2, Cubs 0

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco's Bob Shaw lost his bid for a no-hitter when Ron Santo blooped a single to right field opening the eighth inning, but he went on to blank the Chicago Cubs 2-0 with a two-hitter Tuesday.

Santo appeared to check his swing and the ball looped into short right after the 31-year-old right-hander had retired 21 of the first 22 batters to face him. Don Landrum was safe in the fourth when Shaw misplayed a throw from first baseman Willie McCovey and was charged with an error.

Glen Beckert got the second Chicago hit, a two-out single in the ninth.

Willie McCovey belted his 20th homer in the sixth.

Shaw, who pitched his way out of the bullpen in May, struck out four and didn't issue a walk in recording his ninth victory against six defeats.

Chicago . . . 000 000 000—3 10 0
San Francisco . . . 000 011 002—2 7 1

Home runs — San Francisco, McCovey (20).

Yanks 6, Boston 4

NEW YORK (AP) — Pitcher Mel Stottlemyre clinched his own game with an inside-the-park grand slam home run Tuesday as the New York Yankees overcame the Boston Red Sox 6-4.

The youthful right-hander lined to Yankee Stadium's deep left center field against Bill Monbouquette in the fifth inning after the Yanks had loaded the bases against the Boston pitcher on a walk to Joe Pepitone, Clete Boyer's bunt single and a walk to Roger Pezop.

Tony Kubek homered in the fourth after Bobby Richardson's infield hit, giving the Yankees a 2-1 lead. Boston opened the scoring with Jim Gosger's homer in the first and got two more runs in the eighth on two hits, an error and a sacrifice fly.

Boston . . . 100 000 020—3 10 0
New York . . . 000 240 002—6 7 1

New York, Kubek (3), Stottlemyre (2).

Iowa Coaches Go To Clinic

Iowa's Jerry Burns, head football coach, and Ralph Miller, head basketball coach, will take part in the Wisconsin high school coaches' clinic August 2, 3, and 4 at the University of Wisconsin.

Appearing with Burns in the football section of the clinic will be Charlie McClendon of Louisiana State. John Erickson of Wisconsin will join Miller in the basketball portion of the clinic.

Burns will lecture on the Hawks' successful open offense, while McClendon will emphasize the methods and techniques of defensive play that have characterized his LSU teams the past three seasons.

Miller will talk on his pressure defense while Erickson will include floor demonstrations of techniques and drills applicable to all levels of coaching.

Wyatt Won't Play Pro Ball

Bernie Wyatt, former Iowa half-back and currently Regina High School football coach and athletic director, denied that he is going to play professional football this fall.

The Des Moines Warriors, a new member of the Football League of America, has announced that Wyatt would play with the club this fall and that it also hoped to sign Jerry Mauren, now the coach at Waterloo Columbus High School.

Wyatt said he knew nothing of the announcement until he saw it in a paper. He said he had not told the club he would play with them and has since advised them of his decision.

"I signed my contract with Regina in May and would not consider breaking it or taking on any additional commitments which might interfere with my duties there," said Wyatt.

Cards 4, Phillies 3

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals showed uncharacteristic muscle with three home runs Tuesday and edged Philadelphia 4-3 for their fifth victory in six games.

Tito Francona, Lou Brock and Tim McCarver homered off Phillie Phanatic right-hander Jim Bunning, with McCarver's homer in the sixth inning proving decisive.

The pitching victory went to Curt Simmons, although the one-time Phillie needed fine relief from Nelson Briles to boost his record against his former team to 16-3.

Briles took over in the seventh with one run in, two men on and two out and fanned Richie Allen. The young right-hander then put down the Phils in order over the final two innings.

Philadelphia . . . 000 200 010—3 10 0
St. Louis . . . 110 011 002—4 7 0

Home runs — St. Louis, Francona (5), Brock (8), McCarver (9).

Angels 9, Twins 1

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — Bobby Knoop got four hits and drove in three runs to pace a 15-hit Los Angeles attack which buried first-place Minnesota 9-1 Tuesday.

The defeat was the Twins' fifth in seven games.

Marcelino Lopez breezed to his 10th victory against eight losses, setting the Twins down on four hits.

The Angels tore into Twins starter Camilo Pascual for five runs and seven hits in two innings-plus, then kept up the bombardment against three Minnesota relievers.

Knoop singled home runs in the second, third and seventh innings, and added a double in the fifth. He raised his average 15 points to .264.

Los Angeles . . . 014 010 300—9 15 1

Home run — Los Angeles, Angels, Smith (11).

Braves 7, Mets 1

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee's red-hot Braves, blanked for six innings by Galen Cisco, exploded for seven runs in the seventh and crushed the New York Mets 7-1 for their eighth straight victory.

The loss was the 10th in a row for the Mets, deeply buried in the National League cellar.

Hank Aaron capped Milwaukee's big rally with a three-run homer against the third Met pitcher of the inning, Larry Miller.

New York . . . 100 000 000—1 5 2
Milwaukee . . . 000 000 700—7 9 0

Home run — Milwaukee Aaron (19).

Yankee pitcher Mel Stottlemyre slides safely home after hitting an inside-the-park grand slam homer against the Boston Red Sox to give the Yanks a 6-3 victory. Plate umpire Nestor Chylak watches with Yankees Clete Boyer (6), Bobby Richardson (1) and Joe Pepitone (25).

NCAA Rejects Moratorium

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Randy Matson, Texas A&M holder of the world shot-put record, is coming to Wichita after all but apparently won't compete in Friday night's U.S. National Team track and field meet, the Wichita Beacon said Tuesday.

The paper said it had learned

Orioles 6, Indians 1

CLEVELAND (AP) — Russ Snyder and Boog Powell each socked a two-run homer in support of Dave McNally's six-hit pitching as Baltimore whipped Cleveland 6-1 Tuesday night.

The victory was the first for the Orioles in six tries at Cleveland this season. In the first five, Baltimore scored only four runs while giving up 17.

Baltimore jumped to a three-run lead in the first. Snyder belted his first homer of the season after Luis Aparicio singled. Brooks Robinson singled, advanced on a walk and scored on an error by third baseman Max Alvis.

Baltimore added another run in the third on singles by Robinson, Curt Blefary and Jerry Adair. Baltimore . . . 301 200 000—6 10 3

Brass Undecided on Frick's Successor

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — A new commissioner will be the first item on the agenda when the annual midsummer baseball meetings open Wednesday — but there isn't likely to be any more than preparatory talk on the key issues.

The major leagues' top echelon apparently not only is undecided on whom it wants, but what it wants. Several club owners want a man from inside baseball to succeed the retiring Ford Frick. Others want a nationally prominent figure not connected with baseball, and still others want a two-man arrangement.

AMERICAN and National League brass will convene separately to discuss the commissionership. Each of the 20 clubs has submitted a nominee for the job to a special screening committee composed of owners John Fetzer of the Detroit Tigers and John Galbreath of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Fetzer and Galbreath have reduced the list and will brief the other owners on their assessment of nominees, as well as availability of nominees. No names are expected to be made public and, according to insiders, the meetings will not deal with personalities, but with qualifications.

THE OWNERS hope to settle on qualifications and lay down some guidelines to enable Fetzer and Galbreath to proceed with their screening.

"There are three trends of thinking," one club owner said Tuesday. "One is that we should select a baseball man, another is we should go outside baseball to get a figure of national stature, and the third is that we should get a prominent man for commissioner and appoint a baseball man to work with him."

According to one source, the Fetzer-Galbreath committee favors a man from inside baseball to succeed Frick, who is slated to retire in September after 14 years as commissioner.

"PEOPLE of national importance available don't meet the requirements, in the thinking of the committee, and those who do meet the qualifications aren't available," the source said.

The same man went on to say that Joe Cronin, American League president, remains the leading candidate if the owners agree on a baseball man.

Frick, 70, is nearing the end of his second seven-year term. He announced last year that he was stepping out this September but has since said he will stay on until his successor is named.

It takes a three-fourths vote of the 20 owners, including at least seven from each league, to elect a commissioner.

Miami Franchise in AFL To Be Auctioned Off Today

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A Miami franchise in the American Football League will be auctioned off Wednesday in New York, and groups of very rich men will be bidding millions of dollars.

The going price is expected to be in the neighborhood of $7.5 million for players and the right to field a Miami team under the AFL banner starting next year.

This was the price established for an Atlanta AFL franchise before the National Football League moved in and won the battle for that city.

AN AGREEMENT worked out with Miami city officials last week for use of the 76,000-seat Orange Bowl Stadium apparently was the last hurdle remaining before the AFL move into Miami.

Now the only question is who will get up the necessary amount of money to finance the team. That will be answered when the AFL expansion committee begins screening applicants Wednesday. It may be Thursday before the successful bidder is known.

Dan Topping, president of the New York Yankees baseball team, is reported interested in the franchise, in company with a Miami Beach group.

OTHER GROUPS in the bidding are these: Wometco Enterprises of Miami and the television comic, Jackie Gleason.

Danny Thomas, another television comedian, along with Joseph Robbie, Minneapolis lawyer, and Sullivan Barnes, a Denver investor.

Real estate developers Arthur Hillman and Bob Melnick and Herbert Haft, drug chain operator, of Washington.

Gulf American Land Corp., a Miami-based firm. Connie Mack Jr., an employe of Gulf American, is handling negotiations with the AFL.

Saul Silberman, owner of Miami's Tropical Park race track.

New Testimony in Brown Case Brings More Contradictions

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A mother and her 14-year-old daughter testified Tuesday they saw no marks on the face of Brenda Ayres about 12 hours after Miss Ayres claims Jim Brown slapped her around in a motel room.

Mrs. Audrey White and her daughter, Darnella, both answered "no" when asked if there were "any marks of violence" on the face of the 18-year-old girl when she was in their home June 20.

Miss Ayres has accused the Cleveland Browns fullback of assault and battery at the motel room the night of June 19.

THE 14-YEAR-OLD girl also said Miss Ayres did have a swollen face and bruises on her arm when she came to the White house June 22. The younger girl said Miss Ayres told her "Sam jumped on me again." Miss Ayres has denied saying this.

"Sam," has been identified in testimony as Samuel Johnson, a friend of Mrs. Barbara Ayres, Brenda's mother.

James E. Long, who described himself as a friend of Brown and a former part-time teacher at East

Tech High School here, was one of a parade of defense witnesses in the seventh day of the trial.

THE GIRL had been asked during cross-examination whether she had told Long that she didn't want to go to an East Side hotel with him because Brown's friends might see her there.

But Long testified Tuesday that she did tell him this in a telephone talk in mid-May. In cross-examination, Long said Miss Ayres had not mentioned Brown's name in the conversation but that both knew who they were talking about.

WAY OUT FRONT IN THIS EVENT!

America's standing in the world is something we all think about. So it's good to know that our nation is way out front in a very important measure of strength — electric power.

Take the top six nations of the world ranked in terms of the electricity they produce. The U.S.A. heads the list, with more electric power than the other five combined. And we have more than 2 1/2 times as much as the Soviet Union.

Why are we so far out front?

You are one of the reasons — your interest in new things . . . your desire to live in a more satisfying way . . . your hopes for the future! This helps spur every business onward, including more than 300 American investor-owned electric light and power companies — like Iowa-Illinois.

It is not by chance that Americans enjoy the greatest abundance of electricity in the world. The wants and wishes of people — provided for by business management working in a free economy — make a winning combination.

This way of doing the job assures you of plenty of dependable, low-priced gas and electric service now and in the years to come.

yours for better living
