Rent a Date and a Car

Mrs. Laura Benfield, who with her husband has formed an escort business at the fashionable seaside town of Bournemouth in England, stood alongside the Rolls Royce recently that goes with the date. Both Laura and her husband are available for escort dates, and they have three young men available as escorts. Presumably they plan to rent other cars if there is a rush of business and more than one is desired. —AP Wirephoto

A Family Business; Husband For Sale, Wife For Rent

LONDON (U) — Would you send your pretty, young wife out on a date with a perfect stranger? Or, would you rent out your husband to a woman stranger for the evening? Peter and Laura Benfield are prepared to. In fact, they will be delighted at the prospect. "I know it sounds unusual," said Peter, 32. "I also know that many husbands wouldn't dream of it, but I know my wife'll be safe." Laura, 25, said she felt the same way about Peter going out for the evening with another woman. Peter and Laura have started an escort business at the fashionable seaside town of Bournemouth. Other than the husband and wife, the business consists of a switchboard operator, a receptionist and three young men who will act as escorts. "Every hour on the hour Laura will telephone me," explained Peter, "and she'll let me know that she's all right. And — she has to be in by midnight." The same rules generally will apply when the husband and the other three male escorts take on a job. In special cases, however, they may remain out beyond midnight. Peter said the fees will vary according to the job, but a night out should cost the client about $5.88 — plus expenses. Bournemouth — the scene of operations — is frequented by rich widows and widowers.

Hope Fades for Alp Victims of Avalanche

Glacier May Split Again

SAAS FEE, Switzerland (AP) — Dense fog and driving rain Tuesday night forced a suspension of effort to reach about 100 victims trapped under the ice of an Alpine avalanche. Hope faded that any were still alive. The victims, workers on a hydroelectric construction project, were buried by huge masses of rock-like ice that broke from an overhanging glacier Monday. There was no authoritative count of the victims. The tally varied from a report of 102 men and one woman buried under the avalanche to a Swiss agency count of 86 missing. Five bodies were recovered and one man who was injured died in a hospital. Under the impact of the rain, the glacier showed signs of splitting again and sending down an even larger mass of ice than the fatal slide. Police barred access to the disaster area. Alpine pilots failed earlier in the day to dislodge with dynamite charges edges of the glacier that threatened the rescue operation. Only a scattering of rocks fell after eight charges were exploded. The signal to resume the search was given again and the rescuers returned to the site, disregarding the towering mass of ice above them.

Disaster Still Threatens

Some of the survivors of Monday's ice avalanche Tuesday as a giant glacier hanging over the site threatened rescued and rescuers. Dynamite failed to shake loose the hanging danger from the Swiss Alps Tuesday. Rescue operations went on. —AP Wirephoto

Guarding the Rioters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
National Guard troops in three states will be "training" this Labor Day weekend near vacation spots wracked by riots on past holidays. At other resorts scattered across the country, plans have been made and police reinforced to handle any outbreaks such as have marred this traditional end-of-the-summer vacation in recent years. AUTHORITIES AT the beaches, lakes and mountain playgrounds were reluctant to spell out details about preparations, but almost all expressed determination to keep order. "Nobody's going to get out of hand this year," said an aide to New Hampshire Gov. John W. King, when asked what precautions were being taken at Hampton Beach. There last year some 10,000 young people ran wild in an orgy of destruction. New Hampshire state and local police had to call on state troopers from Maine and finally the National Guard to restore order. At the peak of the riot, club-swinging troopers literally beat the rioters back across the Massachusetts state line three miles away. SERIOUS INJURIES were surprisingly light, but 218 persons were arrested. This year, a National Guard battalion will be drilling near Hampton Beach and 50 state troopers will be standing by at Portsmouth Army. Across the nation, near Seaside, Ore., a special mobile infantry unit of the National Guard will be training at a camp minutes away from the northern coastal town. With them will be a special riot squad of the state police. RIOTING YOUTHS have rocked Seaside during the Labor Day weekend for the last three years. There were 99 arrests last year and 130 to 140 each in 1962 and 1963. A Missouri National Guard unit also will be training during the weekend, at an unpublicized location in the Ozarks, and several other units have been placed on "semialert" status. In addition, state highway patrolmen's leaves and vacations were cancelled and all were assigned to 12-hour shifts beginning Friday. The precautions stem from rumors or possible trouble at Rockaway Beach and the Lake of the Ozarks.

Troops 'Train' Over Labor Day Weekend

Tomorrow's Phones, Today

Push-button and picture-phone telephone service, now just beginning around the country, are only the first of the innovations that will be made in the communications field by the year 2000, according to Roy A. Williams, manager of Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. Williams spoke on "Communications, Prologue to Tomorrow" at the Kiwanis Club luncheon meeting Tuesday. In his prepared speech, Williams predicted a telephone system in which shopping, banking, library research and starting the oven could be done from a distance. One of the aids to such a system, Williams said, is the Electronic Central Office (ECO) to handle local calls. ECO would make it possible to transfer home calls to another phone, to have a tone signal if someone is trying to reach you while you are talking, and to use an abbreviated two digit code to dial any number. The first ECO system is scheduled for a New Jersey city this year. Williams also said that developing data communications service will make it possible for machines to talk to machines, sending payrolls, business reports,

Senate Go Go's For College Aid

WASHINGTON (U) — The Senate Labor Committee approved unanimously Tuesday a $4.7-billion, five-year program to help colleges handle mushrooming enrollments and to provide grants, as well as loans, for students. The committee wrote into the higher education measure a new program to strengthen teaching staffs in poverty-stricken areas by various means, including creation of a national teacher corps of experienced teachers. All 11 Democrats and 5 Republicans on the committee voted for the bill. Sponsors expect the Senate to take it up Wednesday with passage expected quickly. The major change from the version presented by the education subcommittee last week after a five-month study was to hold increased authorizations for college construction aid to one year. This reduced the five-year total from $5.5 billion.

B52s Score Two Strikes

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (U) — B52 jets from Guam staged their first doubleheader raid against suspected Viet Cong concentrations Tuesday night. A U.S. spokesman said the aerial mammoths dumped bombs on targets 30 miles north and 320 miles northeast of Saigon. Among ground war developments, the Government reoccupied An Hoa, an outpost 10 miles west of the coastal city of Quang Ngai, which a battalion or so of guerrillas overran and set afire in the night. Troops were lifted in by helicopter shortly after noon. Briefing officers said Viet Cong casualties were not learned, but losses among 100 militiamen who garrisoned the outpost were moderate. The site is about 20 miles southwest of the Van Tuong peninsula, where U.S. Marines killed 600 guerrillas in a mid-August battle. Speaking in Ban Me Thuot, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said the Vietnamese armed forces will launch an offensive at the close of the current monsoon. Seasonal rains that hamper the movement of heavy equipment ordinarily end in October or November. Students who have been demonstrating against both a recent draft-expansion decree and the military Government itself drew a warning from Ky, a brigadier general who still commands the Vietnamese air force, that he will get tough. "The present Government has an open ear for constructive criticism," he said, "but shall not sacrifice its concern for the general welfare by kow-towing to senseless opposition." The raids by the B52s were the 15th and 16th strikes by the eight-engine Strategic Air Command craft since June 18. It was disclosed Monday that military authorities considered the Jumbos' saturation strikes were effectively damaging Viet Cong morale and facilities and that they would be stepped up in a daily basis.

7,705 Pupils Now With More Later

First-day enrollment at the Iowa City public schools, which opened Tuesday, was 7,130, according to Superintendent of Schools Buford W. Garner. Garner said about 575 students from the district are expected to attend University schools, which open Monday. This will bring the total district enrollment to 7,705, an increase of 305 from last year. The breakdown of enrollment was 843 in kindergarten; 3,692 in grades 1 through 6; 1,458 in junior high and 1,137 in high school. Slight enrollment increases are expected when families return for the start of University classes Sept. 23.

Double Life Leads To Meeting First Spouse, Children

OMAHA, Neb. (U) — An Omaha man whose double life in Omaha and Akron, Ohio, was revealed early this spring has held a reunion with his Akron family. Attorney Harry Farnham of Omaha said Tuesday that John F. Fritz Johnson met with Mary Lou Bader, his Akron wife, and their four children Sunday and Monday at LaGrange, Ill. Fritz was Lawrence Bader of Akron before he disappeared while on a fishing trip in 1957. He appeared in Omaha a few days later as Johnson and later married Nancy Zimmer. Doctors have said they can find no evidence Fritz recalls his life as Bader. Fritz met Mary Lou a few weeks ago and the meeting with his wife and children was set up. In Omaha Fritz and Nancy had two children. When the double identity was revealed, Fritz and Nancy obtained an annulment of their marriage. Farnham said no attorneys or other relatives were present at the LaGrange conference. He said the two talked over mutual problems but no decisions were reached. The attorney said Fritz told him he had no recollection of his Akron family. He described the Bader youngsters as "wonderful children."

News Director Named As Shelley Replacement

DES MOINES (U) — Robert H. Harter, general manager of the WHO Broadcasting Co., announced the appointment Tuesday of Robert W. Wilbanks as news director for WHO radio and television. Wilbanks will replace Jack Shelley, who resigned to accept a teaching position at Iowa State University. A member of the WHO staff of five years, Wilbanks previously served as assistant news director of KTTV-TV, Sioux City, and news director of WMIR, Marion, Ind. He is a graduate of Indiana University, where he also served as a television news instructor in the Department of Journalism.

Power Returns To Schaeffer Hall

The power was turned back on in Schaeffer Hall about 3:15 p.m. Tuesday after secondary repair work was completed on the building's transformer. The power had been shut off Friday when the work started. According to Duane C. Nollsch, Physical Plant superintendent, the need for repairs was realized last winter when the previous transformer burned out and another one was put into use. The repairs were then scheduled for the interim period when few persons would be in the building.

Tree Falls Man

A West Branch man, Lee Krouth, was listed in serious condition Tuesday night at University Hospitals following an accident earlier in the day. Hospital authorities said a tree fell on the man.

'Under Pressure,' Man Re-Enlists

LA JOLLA, Calif. (U) — One of the 10 divers in the Navy's 205-foot-deep Sealab 2 re-enlisted Monday under pressure — 100 pounds per square inch. Navy officers made a big thing of what they called the first ceremony of its kind, held on the bottom 1,000 yards offshore in a 12x58-foot steel cylinder pressurized to six times normal to resist the weight of the ocean. Capt. George F. Bond, medical director of the 45-day project to test underwater endurance, swam down from the surface with Capt. Walter F. Mazzone to sign up Billie L. Coffman, 36, Willimantic, Conn., who first enlisted in 1948. Coffman, a torpedoman's mate in a first class, didn't have much choice.

Tokyo To Honor Bowen

Iowa alumni in Tokyo, Japan, will honor University Pres. Howard R. Bowen at a dinner Saturday at Tokyo's International Cultural Center. Pres. Bowen is in Tokyo to attend the fourth general conference of the International Association of Universities at the University of Tokyo, Aug. 31 through Sept. 6. Thirty Iowa graduates live in Japan. Invitations have been extended also to parents of Japanese students presently studying at Iowa. The honorary president of the Tokyo branch of the Alumni Association is Nobumoto Ohama, president of Waseda University in Tokyo. Dr. Robert L. Dryer, associate professor of biochemistry, and Dr. C. Adrian M. Hogben, professor and head of physiology, are in Tokyo for the 23rd International Congress of Physiological Sciences and are expected to attend the meeting. University alumni Kozo Fujita, 1928 graduate in industrial management, Akira Noguchi, 1955 graduate in economics, and Tetsuo Meshizuka, 1956 graduate in physical education, are arranging the alumni meeting. They are among Japanese graduates, who because of their desire to remain associated with the University, formed the Tokyo branch of the Alumni Association five years ago. At that time, alumni in Japan met with Allan Dakin, administrative dean, when he stopped in Tokyo during a world trip in connection with Rotary Clubs International.

Medics OK Man On Moon

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (U) — Extensive physical checks of astronauts Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. apparently have proved the United States has qualified men for flights to the moon, the Gemini flight surgeon said Tuesday. "I have seen nothing to date," Dr. Charles A. Berry told a news conference, "to lead me to change my views expressed last Sunday, that we have qualified men for the moon." IN FACT, Berry said, Cooper and Conrad returned from their eight-day journey through the space void in better condition than astronauts James McDivitt and Edward White did after only four days aloft in the Gemini 4 mission. "At the moment," he said, "I can say that Cooper and Conrad appear to be certainly no worse off than the Gemini 4 crew, and in many respects they look somewhat better. They look less tired, as if the flight took less toll of them physically than the Gemini 4 mission." TWO DAYS of exhaustive tests have been taken since Cooper and Conrad were flown here Monday from the deck of the aircraft carrier Lake Champlain following their Atlantic Ocean splashdown. Berry said he had been nothing in the tests "which would worry me" about the Gemini flight scheduled for Dec. 9 in which astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. will stay up two weeks. "I'd be ready to go for 14 days tomorrow," he added. Cooper and Conrad each lost approximately eight pounds during the long ordeal in their crippled space ship, but Berry reported this was "not out of line." He said he doubted that the weight loss would continue on longer flights. Among other things, changes will be made in the astronauts' diet next time, Dr. Berry said. "They enjoyed the reconstituted food," he said. "They ate it all. But they didn't care for the bite-sized food. It tended to be dry and was not so appetizing. We'll change that diet."

Racial Troubles Touch-off in South

PLYMOUTH, N.C. (U) — Pistol abdomen and another was cut without the street and were headed toward the center of town when the whites moved in behind them. The shooting occurred after Police said one of the Negroes reached down, pulled a pistol from a white group on Main Street. The Negroes approached from the ending wildly at the white men.

Tell those names

THE BIG NEWS of the day anymore doesn't seem to be so much who's making headlines as who isn't.

Post Office employees aren't — the boss won't release their names. Neighborhood Youth Corps workers aren't, at least in Des Moines, because their boss won't release their names.

Ralph Norris, Polk County school superintendent, won't release the names of NYC boys in his area because he wants to "protect" them. Iowa City NYC employers aren't so concerned about all that "protection" and have no qualms about releasing names.

Norris' idea that the boys need "protection" is unsound. Persons who get an opportunity to improve themselves should be proud of having taken that opportunity, not ashamed of it.

Would it be sound for University of Iowa graduates to be "protected"? The registrar could refuse to release their names on the grounds it would be an insult to suggest they needed a college education.

Most people, however, are proud they went to college. By the same token, it is likely that underprivileged people, when they take advantage of a chance offered them, are proud of their achievement.

Gov. Hughes and Iowa Employment Chairman Henry Carter say the names should be released, and they are correct. Withholding names for "protection" only draws attention to the NYC employes and embarrasses people who have no reason to be embarrassed.

Iowa's fall crop

POLICE ARRESTED some Californians earlier in the week who were picking marijuana along the highways in Iowa, because the stuff is getting to be so expensive in California.

Although marijuana is a valuable crop to grow, it is not legal to process it or use it in this country. It would be wise for the state either to find some place where marijuana is legal and arrange to ship Iowa's crop there (it would be quite a booming industry), or to get all the stuff now growing cut down so as to avoid presenting the temptation for pushers, users and industrious businessmen who might be interested in setting up a profitable business based on the marijuana plant.

Starting School

Iowa City Grade school children returned to teachers, desks, books and play Tuesday when the schools opened. For some, it was their first day, such as the twins, Tina and Terry, who are shown being assigned to their kindergarten teachers at the Horace Mann School. The kindergarten children, unlike the other elementary school children, did not attend school Tuesday. They were, instead, assigned either to a morning or afternoon section and assigned to one of the two kindergarten teachers. Tina and Terry were split up. The children were shown where to put their coats, and materials, and were allowed to inspect the various toys at their disposal.

Busy Teachers

Teachers are helpful, many of the kindergartners found out. While mother looked over the rest of the school or took an older brother or sister to meet their teacher, the kindergarten teacher showed them around.

The young man above is already cutting up and is perhaps his first experience with a desk and his first grade class has not even started. This is pretty restless already.

Two New Staffers for U I Alumni Association

Two new staff members have been appointed by the University of Iowa Alumni Association to fill the positions of field secretary, and the newly created position of chief accountant and office manager for both the Alumni Association and the University of Iowa Foundation.

James J. Rauker, 28, 534 Terrace Rd., will serve as a field secretary for the Alumni Association, and Larry C. Bruse, 27, Meadow Brook Court, as chief accountant and office manager for the association and the U of I Foundation.

Rauker replaces Richard F. Houston, who resigned to join the Iowa Department of Public Safety. He received a B.A. Degree in social studies education from the U of I in 1961, and an M.A. Degree in secondary school administration from the University in 1965.

During three years of teaching in the Iowa City Community

School District, Rauker coached football, track and basketball. While studying at the University, he was a member of the Iowa Lettermen's Club.

Rauker was born in Wickliffe, Ohio, is married, and has two children.

As field secretary he will be responsible for membership drives, coordination at spring class reunions, and will deal directly with the Iowa and the National Alumni Council on organizational matters.

Bruse's position as chief accountant and office manager was newly created this year because of an expanding staff and work load, and to release more association and foundation personnel for field work.

He was born in Preston, is married and has two children. He received a bachelor of business administration degree at Iowa in August.

Accident Victim Is In Good Condition

Martha Hohenshell, 64, a dietetic worker in nutrition, was listed in good condition at University Hospital Wednesday evening after suffering a broken pelvis when struck by a panel truck about 4 p.m. Monday.

The driver of the truck, Otto W. Schmidt, 30, of 514 Sixth Ave. SE, Cedar Rapids, was charged with failure to yield to a pedestrian.

According to police, Miss Hohenshell was walking east on the sidewalk along the tenth block of West Jefferson Street when the truck, backing out of a private drive, hit her.

Applicants are to submit a publication manuscript based on their thesis or dissertation to the Senior Member Prize Committee, American Water Works Association, 2 Park Ave., New York. The manuscript should be submitted during the calendar year in which the thesis is submitted. Winners will be announced by Mar. 15 of the following year.

No Community Building After for Coralville

The $180,000 bond issue for a proposed new Coralville community building was incorrectly reported as being approved in Tuesday's Daily Iowan.

The vote Monday yielded 229 yes and 188 no votes for a 54.9 per cent majority. However, 60 per cent approval was needed.

Under Iowa law, the issue cannot be voted on again for at least six months.

HIGHWAY MAN DIES—AMES (AP)—John G. Butter, 70, former chief engineer of the Iowa Highway Commission, died at Mary Greeley Hospital here early Tuesday.

His career with the Highway Commission spanned 40 years, during which he worked up from instrument man on a survey party to the commission's top administrative post.

Funeral services for Dr. Wendell A. Johnson, 58, noted speech pathologist, will be held at 2 p.m. today at the Gay-Outback Funeral Home. The Rev. William Weir, pastor of the Unitarian Church, will officiate.

The department of speech pathology and audiology, in which Johnson was a professor, will be closed this afternoon in his memory.

Johnson had been on the University faculty for 35 years. He earlier earned his B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. here.

Survivors include his wife, the former Edna Bockwold; a son, Nicholas of Washington, D.C., U.S. maritime commissioner; a daughter, Katherine Louise, of Toronto, Canada; and three grandchildren.

Active pallbearers for Johnson, named Wednesday, are Frederick L. Darley, Rochester, Minn.; Keith Goltry of Fairfield; Duane C. Spriestersbach, dean of the Graduate College; Dr. Charles H. Read, 310 Golfview Dr.; Scott N. Reger, research professor in otology; and Dean E. Williams, director of the speech clinic.

The honorary pallbearers will be A. A. Heckman, Minneapolis; Kenneth O. Johnson, Washington; Dewey B. Stuit, dean of the Liberal Arts College; James F. Curtis, head of the speech pathology department; John R. Knott, professor at Psychopathic Hospital; and J. B. Stroud, professor of education.

Women Lead Salary Race

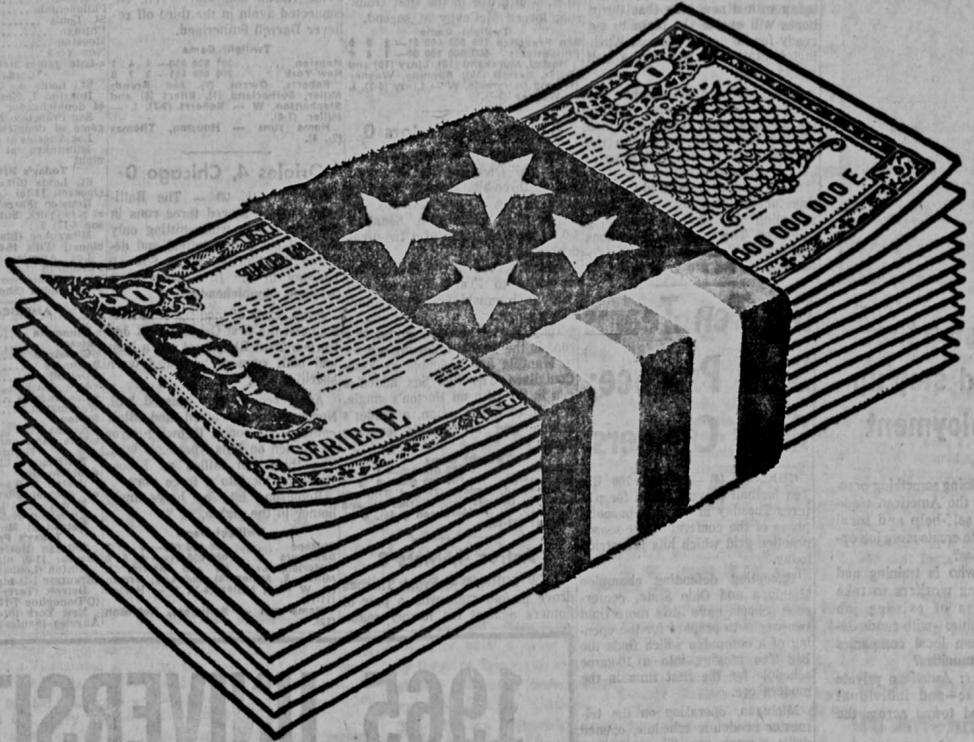

Women graduates of the School of Journalism in 1965 are earning average starting salaries of $106.53 a week, compared to $100.22 a week for their male counterparts. The average weekly starting salary for all B.A. graduates this year was $103.38.

These findings are from a first-job survey conducted by the journalism placement office. Of the 35 B.A. graduates at the January and June commencements, 15 went to graduate school or the military. Of the 20 who took first jobs, 15 reported their starting salaries and are in the survey.

According to the placement office, about five jobs were available to each graduate during the first seven months of 1965. A total of 146 job offers were received between Jan. 1 and Aug. 5.

The starting salary for women graduates this year counters a decreasing trend for the past three years. Beginning in 1962, the average salary for women dropped from $99.84 to $90.50 last year.

Star-spangled security

The millions of Americans who buy U. S. Savings Bonds know security is a two-way street.

You and your family are only as secure as the country you live in. When you start saving with U. S. Bonds you insure your own future and help keep your country strong at the same time.

Bonds give you a guaranteed rate of interest—3 1/4% when held to maturity—so you don't have to worry about the ups and downs of market trends.

And Savings Bonds aren't subject to state or local income taxes, either. If you like, you can defer the federal income tax until you cash your Bonds.

When you buy your Bonds, you can't help feeling a little proud. You're doing your part in strengthening the cause of freedom. And that's the best security in the world.

Quick facts about Series E Savings Bonds

- ✓ You get back $4 for every $3 at maturity
- ✓ You can get your money when you need it
- ✓ Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen
- ✓ You can buy Bonds where you bank, or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work

Large Crowd at Iowa Press Day

Prospects for a good year are causing more than usual interest in Iowa football. The annual Press, Radio-TV Day that kicks off football practice each fall attracted the largest number ever of reporters, photographers and radio-TV men.

Over 800 attended the noon luncheon at Hillcrest Dormitory, according to Eric Wilson, Iowa Sports Information Director.

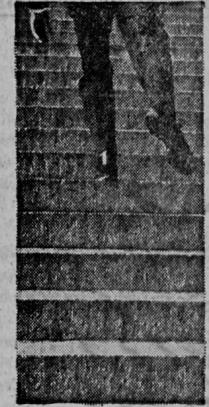

In the morning radio men were able to tape interviews with the coaches and immediately after lunch head coach Jerry Burns held a press conference for newsmen.

After the coaches and players assembled on a practice field for a picture taking session. Despite threatening skies, they accommodated photographers for about two hours.

The squad will begin practice today with a new plan that Burns hopes will enable the team to get ready for its opener against Washington State just two and a half weeks away.

In the morning the coaches will work with the defensive players for an hour and a half and then dismiss them and work with the offense. Both squads will practice in the afternoon.

Burns said he planned to continue this for at least six days before returning to straight two-day practices. The twice daily sessions will last until at least Sept. 11, depending on the progress made.

The step that could step up employment

Who is doing something practical—in the American tradition of self-help and local action—to create more job opportunities?

Answer: American private enterprise—and individual cities and towns across the country.

And now American industry is taking a new step to boost employment. Through the National Association of Manufacturers, private enterprise has launched a major, nation-wide program called STEP (Solutions To Employment Problems). STEP is searching America to find more jobs and to fit people for available jobs.

STEP is offering without charge verified case studies on solutions to such employment problems as how to discover or develop job opportunities within a community, and the most effective methods of job training and retraining to fit individuals for job openings and job changes.

For more information, write to STEP, National Association of Manufacturers, 277 Park Avenue, New York, N. Y. 10017.

Big Ten Teams Start Practice; Early Openers

CHICAGO (AP) — About 700 Big Ten football players posed for pictures Tuesday in the only peaceful phase of the conference pre-season practice grid which hits full stride today.

Excepting defending champion Michigan and Ohio State, conference schools have little more than two weeks to prepare for the opening of a campaign which finds the Big Ten moving into a 10-game schedule for the first time in the modern era.

Michigan, operating on the trimester academic schedule, opened drills a week ago. The rest start bumping heads in practice Wednesday.

Ohio State, lone conference team still playing a nine-game schedule, opens a week later than the rest of the league with the Buckeyes meeting North Carolina at home Sept. 25.

MINNESOTA is the first Big Ten team under fire, facing Southern California at Los Angeles Friday night, Sept. 17.

The following day Michigan is at North Carolina, Oregon State is at Illinois, Kansas State at Indiana, Washington State at Iowa, UCLA at Michigan State, Florida at Northwestern, Miami of Ohio at Purdue, and Colorado at Wisconsin.

The Midwest's powerful independent, Notre Dame, also launches practice Wednesday with 17 days to prepare for the Sept. 18 opener at California.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dave Morehead and Dick Radatz combined for a three-hit shutout Tuesday night as the Boston Red Sox defeated the Washington Senators 4-0 in the first game of a two-night doubleheader.

Boston scored in the first inning on walks to Frank Malzone and Carl Yastrzemski and Felix Mantilla's single.

Tony Horton singled home two runs in the second following a walk to Mantilla and a double by Tony Conigliaro. The Red Sox added a run in the fifth on Horton's single, a walk to Bob Tillman, a fielder's choice and Morehead's squeeze bunt.

Coach Jerry Burns Says—

8-2 Season Won't Be Easy

By BILL PIERROT
Sports Editor

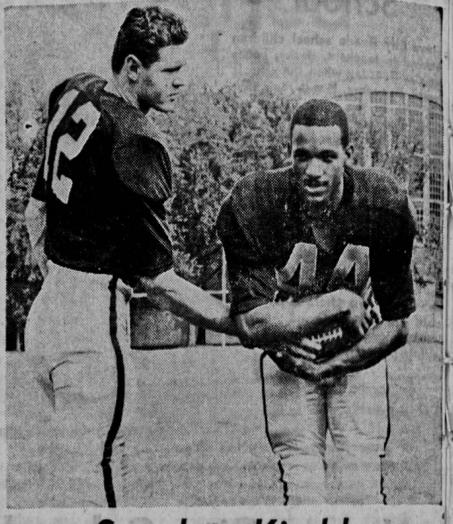

Iowa coach Jerry Burns didn't uncover any secret plans for the coming year and he didn't promise any miracles at the annual press day Tuesday, but did admit that the Hawks should be improved both offensively and defensively this year.

"As I look at the schedule," Burns said, "I don't think there is any team we don't have the ability to beat. And there is no team that doesn't have the ability to beat us. How we develop through practices and games will play a big part in how good a season we have."

"Knowing the breaks of the game, I'd say an 8-2 or even 7-3 record is hard to come by."

About the only new piece of information he gave the sportswriters of the state was that he is going to develop ten men to play both ways for the Hawks this fall. By doing this the depth at certain weak spots will be increased. This is especially important for away games since only 38 men are on the traveling squad.

Those men are: John Niland, an offensive guard who will be trained for defensive right tackle; John Diehl, offensive right guard and defensive left tackle; John Hendricks, offensive right tackle and

The Iowa squad includes nine aggressive, McDowell is a letterman on the first offensive unit and nine lettermen on the first defensive team.

The Hawks meet Washington State, Purdue, Minnesota, Michigan State and North Carolina State at home, and Oregon State, Wisconsin, Northwestern, Indiana, and Ohio State away.

The Hawkeyes will go through two-day drills for about two weeks before tapering off.
